TAFT'S HOME STATE GIVES ROOSEVELT LANDSLIDE

STATE BOARD MAY BE SUED FOR OLD FEES

Medical Examiners Are Said to Have Spent $9,200 Illegally.

Attorney General's Assistant Confers With Public Examiner.

Civil Actions Rather Than Criminal Charges Are Proposed.

St. Paul, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state board of medical examiners, charged with having taken nearly $6,000 in money which the attorney general says belongs to the state, spent $9,200 collected in fees between May 14, 1910, and May 1, 1912, according to the report of the public examiner. Of this sum W. S. Fullerton, former secretary and treasurer, got $5,164.90, or more than one-third. Kenneth Fullerton got in on the "split," too, in July, 1910, when he was handed $6 for acting as proctor at a June examination.

Assistant Attorney General Hilton was in conference with Andrew Fritz, the public examiner, this morning, discussing a suit which may be brought against members of the board to recover $6,000 collected as "reciprocity fees," and used by them. It is probable the suits will be in the nature of civil actions and not on charges of embezzlement.

Opinion By Attorney General.

Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith adheres to the opinion he wrote in June, 1908, which said:

"I am further of the opinion that no examination fee can be charged to any physician licensed to practice in another state when he wishes to be admitted to practice in this state, unless there be an actual examination, and that in the absence of any act providing for the disposition of the $50

MISSION FUND IS UNDER FIRE

Disposition of Baptist Money May Be Inquired Into.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 22.—The annual convention of the Northern Baptist association formally was opened here today. Addresses of welcome were delivered by Governor Carroll and Mayor Hanna. These were followed by the annual address of President Emory W. Hunt.

"How many cents in the dollar subscribed for foreign missions ever reaches the mission field?" is the question expected to be put direct to the delegates by the special commission on home expenses of foreign missions, headed by Rev. John D. Goff Pidge of Philadelphia. It was intimated there would be sensational features in this report, the commission for which was appointed at the last convention.

The second of three conferences of the Women's Home Missionary society of the Northern Baptist convention will be held this afternoon.

OHIO CHARTER FRAMERS MEET

The Constitutional Convention Takes Up Last of Its Work.

Columbus, Ohio, May 22.—The Ohio constitutional convention today began its final session after a two weeks' recess to allow delegates to take active part in the primary election campaign.

Initiative and referendum supporters announced they will make an effort to place the direct initiative in the new constitution. Another controversy over the liquor question is expected. Equally determined are many delegates to put a damper on the good roads proposal, which provides for a bond issue of $50,000,000.

The convention has been in session since the first of the year.

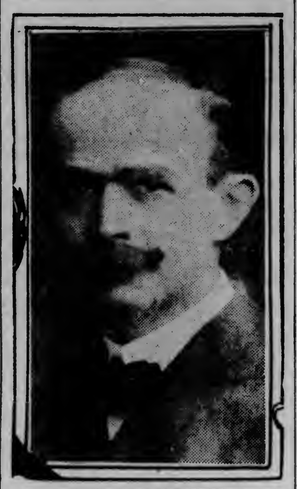
TORONTO AFTER THE "AD" MEN'S MEETING.

Dallas, Tex., May 22.—Outlines of huge feet were found stenciled all over Dallas' downtown streets today, each bearing the inscription:

"Beat it to Toronto in 1913."

This was Toronto's latest contribution to the campaign for the next annual convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America. The next host will be selected tomorrow. Baltimore and San Francisco "ad" men have started talking campaigns to aid their spectacular efforts to land the next convention. This forenoon the "ad" men went to Fort Worth for a day's outing and the promise of entertainment typical of the cattle plains of the Southwest.

RE-ELECTED BY BIG MAJORITY IN DENVER



BEN B. LINDSEY,
Judge of the Juvenile Court.

Denver, Col., May 22.—The citizens' ticket, headed by Henry J. Arnold for mayor, defeated that of the Speer Democratic organization at yesterday's election by a plurality of more than 12,328, according to late returns. Juvenile Court Judge Ben Lindsey was re-elected by an overwhelming vote.

Judge Lindsey today said:

"The victory is the culmination of a twenty-year fight. The pillagers and plunderers have been exposed and repudiated, as they have been in San Francisco, Pittsburg, Minneapolis and other cities. It was a great uprising of an indignant people."

NOMINATED TOO OFTEN

Abbot Thinks the Socialists Erred in Naming Debs Again.

Same Blunder That Other Parties Make in Selecting Candidates.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, May 22. — (Special to The Herald.)—The action of the Socialist national convention in renominating for the presidency Eugene V. Debs is held here to materially injure the prospects of that party for making a striking showing in the coming campaign. Mr. Debs is not wholly unlike Mr. Bryan in politics. Not that they stand for the same issues, though, as Mr. Bryan might say, there is a twilight zone where their convictions overlap. Like Mr. Bryan, Mr. Debs has been a nominee for the presidency three times, though unlike the Democratic leader his vote has continually increased. Like Mr. Bryan he is a man of unusual eloquence and of sincere conviction in the justice of his cause. Some may question the tenets of Socialism as a few millions rose up in wrath to swat "16 to 1." But no

CLAIMS NEGROES ARE KEPT DOWN

Committee Reports on State of Country to African Methodists.

Kansas City, Mo., May 22.—The "increasing tendency to prefer white foreign labor to that of the negro citizen," is doing the American negro a grave injustice, according to the report of the committee on the state of the country to the African Methodist Episcopal conference, which resumed here today.

"We remind the white citizens of this unfairness," says the report, "in view of the fact that the negro, in unrequited labor of 250 years felled the American forest, tunneled and bridged American rivers and tilled the soil, while the white men reveled in the advantages of education, leisure and wealth made possible by negro labor."

HINES BUYS ALL STEPHENSON CUT

Million Dollar Lumber Deal Is Announced at Marinette, Wis.

Marinette, Wis., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The consummation of a $1,000,000 lumber deal was announced today in the purchase by Edward Hines of the Edward Hines Lumber company of Chicago of the entire cut of two mills owned by Senator Isaac Stephenson.

INDEPENDENT MAN ON STAND

Bridge Company Official Testifies in Steel Trust Suit.

Percival Roberts Changes Statement as to Extent of Control.

New York, May 22.—When the hearings in the government suit to dissolve the United States Steel corporation were resumed today, Percival Roberts, Jr., a director of the corporation, asked to correct a statement in his testimony yesterday that the capacity of the American Bridge company was 38 per cent of the country's total, at the time of its organization in 1900. He said the figure applied to the year 1904, and that he was unable to say at the present time what the capacity in 1900 was.

C. D. Marshall, president of the McClintic-Marshall Bridge Company of Pittsburg, an independent concern, testified as to competitive conditions in the bridge industry. Marshall formerly was connected, he said, with the Shiffler Bridge company, one of the "bridge trust's" twenty-seven constituent concerns.

Not All Taken In.

Of these, the Pencoyd Iron works, the Keystone Bridge works, and the Lassig Bridge & Iron works were in competition in interstate commerce at the time they were taken over. There were several concerns larger than these, however, which were not taken in, he said.

After Judge Dickinson had gone through with the witness a long list of concerns not taken into the American

THIRD OF SCALES IN WISCONSIN BAD

Seventeen Per Cent of Those Inspected Are Condemned Outright.

Madison, Wis., May 22.—During the first three months of the operation of the new weights and measures law this year, 66.1 per cent of the 18,395 weights and measures inspected by the state department were correct. The number adjusted was 6.2 per cent and the number sealed 73.3 per cent of the total. The number condemned for repairs was 1,951, or 10.6 per cent, and the number condemned absolutely was 3,152, or 17.1 per cent.

It is not possible to estimate with any degree of exactness the pecuniary saving to the people of Wisconsin from the enforcement of the new law. State Inspector Fred D. Downing says it will amount to "thousands of dollars."

SUFFRAGETTE LEADER GIVEN PRISON TERM

MRS. EMMELINE PANKHURST.

London, May 22.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, and Mr. and Mrs. Pethick-Lawrence, joint editors of "Votes for Women," were found guilty today on the charge of conspiracy and inciting to malicious damage to property. Each was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment.

LUCCOCK IS IN THE LEAD

Heads Thirteenth Ballot for Bishop in Methodist Conference.

Henderson and Shepard Both Elected on the Eleventh Vote.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twelfth ballot on bishops for the Methodist Episcopal church today resulted in no election. Dr. N. Luccock of Kansas City, Mo., was first with 392; R. J. Cooke, New York, second, with 337, and F. D. Leete, Detroit, Mich., third, with 335. Necessary to elect, 502.

The thirteenth ballot also resulted in no election, N. Luccock being high man with 438; F. D. Leete, Detroit, Mich, second, with 410, and R. J. Cooke, New York, third, with 375. Necessary to elect, 518.

DIXON CALLS UPON TAFT TO QUIT RACE

Says Ohio Result Means Death Knell of President's Chances.

Claims Roosevelt's Nomination Is Inevitable and His Election Certain.

Washington, May 22.—Senator Dixon, head of the Roosevelt national headquarters, today issued a statement practically calling on President Taft to withdraw from the presidential contest.

"Ohio makes the tenth Republican state where the candidacy of Mr. Taft and Col. Roosevelt has been submitted to the Republican voters themselves for decision," said Senator Dixon's statement. "The verdict has been a unanimous one in every state. Taft and his campaign managers have fully realized that an adverse verdict in Ohio meant the death knell of the movement to renominate Mr. Taft.

"Realizing the situation, Mr. Taft frankly stated at Cleveland last Thursday in his speech: 'The vote in Ohio, my home state, will be the decisive one and will settle the question of the nomination.' The Republican leaders and the Republican voters so interpret the Roosevelt landslide in Ohio yesterday.

"The Republican party is bigger than the ambition of any one man. The one wise, patriotic thing to be done is for Mr. Taft and his managers now to accept the unanimous verdict of the Republican primary states, and to withdraw from the contest. Neither he nor his managers longer can withstand the nation-wide movement that calls for Roosevelt once again to assume the leadership of the Republican party. His nomination at Chicago is inevitable, and his election in November is certain."

SCHOOL FOR DEAF AT FLINT BURNS

Michigan Institution Is Set on Fire By Lightning.

Flint, Mich., May 22.—It is estimated that it will cost the state close to $600,000 to replace the buildings and equipment of the Michigan School for the Deaf, in this city, that were struck by lightning and burned early today. Among the important losses are many remarkable pieces of craftsmanship, the work of pupils of the institution. All of the 290 deaf children and teachers and employes who were asleep in the main building when the fire broke out were rescued without panic or injury.

SETTLES IT, SAYS TEDDY

Colonel Expresses Satisfaction at Outcome of Ohio Primaries.

Taft Makes No Comment, But Prepares for New Jersey Fight.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., May 23.—"The result in Ohio has settled the contest," said Colonel Roosevelt today.

The colonel was greatly elated at the reports from Ohio. After reading several hundred telegrams from all parts of the country, he dictated this statement:

"Naturally, I am very much pleased with the 'impulsive judgment' of Ohio.

"Seriously, I can only repeat what I already have said. I infintely prefer the deliberate judgment of the people to their impulsive judgment and in Ohio we got their deliberate judgment; and as I also have said, if I had to make a choice I would choose the impulsive judgment of the people rather than the deliberate judgment of the bosses.

"Could Have Won Without It."

"The result in Ohio has settled the contest. I believe we could have won without Ohio. Our opponents needed the substantially solid vote of Ohio in order to give them even a chance to make a contest at the Chicago convention.

"Victory in Ohio means that it will be hopeless to try to beat us at Chicago by unseating our delegates who represent the popular will in Washington, Indiana, Kentucky and elsewhere; nor will it be possible for them to win by seating delegations from Southern states which represent nothing but fraud.

"I am very profoundly appreciative of what the people of Ohio have done. It represents a victory not only for the plain people of the Republican party, but for every good citizen in the United States, for in this contest we have stood for the fundamental rights of good citizenship, and every honest and decent citizen, no matter what his politics, profoundly is con-

BRITAIN MAY SEE NEW MINE STRIKE

Miners' Federation Dissatisfied With Minimum Wage Law Results.

London, May 22.—The national conference of the Miners' federation, which has been meeting this week to discuss the operation of the recently enacted minimum wage act for miners, adjourned today after passing a resolution which indicates that the men are not averse to another fight.

The resolution, which was carried unanimously, records the federation's strenuous protest against the awards being given by the district wage boards. These boards, the members of the federation declare, fix the minimum wage for miners at a figure below the reasonable living wage which the government led the men to expect.

The executive committee of the federation was instructed to interview the government with the object of securing immediate action on this point, and afterward to summon another conference without delay to deal with the government's reply.

PRESIDENT WILL HAVE TEN VOTES

Remaining Thirty-Two District Delegates Given to the Colonel.

Harmon Gets All But Seven of Delegation to Baltimore.

Columbus, Ohio, May 22.—Nearly complete returns from yesterday's Ohio presidential primary indicate that Col. Roosevelt won 32 of 42 delegates to the Republican national convention selected in twenty-one congressional districts, and that President Taft was given ten district delegates, or slightly less than a quarter of the total number named.

On the Democratic ticket, Governor Harmon is believed to have won a larger percentage than did Col. Roosevelt, being credited with thirty-five district delegates as against seven for Governor Woodrow Wilson.

Although President Taft secured but ten out of the forty-two delegates, the Taft-Roosevelt fight will be carried to the state Republican convention, which, on June 3, will select six delegates at large to the national convention.

May Control Convention.

Of a total of less than 1,000 to the state convention, a large portion of whom also were named yesterday, almost complete returns indicate that President Taft has nearly a sufficient number to control. This may give the Taft managers the six delegates at large to be named by the state convention, and probably will make the president's total sixteen, just an even third of the Ohio delegation of forty-eight members which will attend the Chicago convention.

Governor Harmon, unlike Col.

SITUATION IN CUBA IS WORSE

Two Americans Report Being Assaulted By Armed Negroes.

Santiago, May 22.—The situation rapidly is growing more serious. It now is estimated that over 5,000 negroes have taken up arms in the province of Oriente alone.

Two American citizens, Floyd Schick and Joseph Bryan, have complained to Ross E. Holladay, American consul at Santiago, of having been assaulted and robbed by a band of armed negroes near Siboney.

Reinforce the Troops.

Havana, May 22.—Further reinforcements entrained here today for the province of Oriente to assist the government troops already there.

In the movement to surround the negro insurgents under Gen. Evaristo Estenoz and Gen. Ivonet, who are operating at El Caney, El Cobre and San Luis, in the vicinity of Santiago, there already are engaged more than 1,200 troops.

The government has received no advices from the disturbed districts since last night.

THREE COME BACK IN OHIO

Ex-Congressmen Win at Primary Election in Buckeye State.

Eighteen Members of Present Delegation Up for Re-Election.

Columbus, Ohio, May 22.—In the congressional contests in the Ohio statewide primary election yesterday, returns show that at least four of the five Ohio Republicans in congress have been renominated, and that out of eighteen districts heard from, fourteen Democratic members of the national house of representatives are candidates for re-election.

There are three Republican nominees who have "come back." These are Albert Douglass of the Eleventh district, who defeated Gen. Charles Grosvenor several years ago and who later failed to hold his seat; James Joyce of the Fifteenth district, who was defeated two years ago, and D. A. Holl-

THIS MOTHER MADE A REMARK THAT IS OF INTEREST TO YOU

One day last week a customer dropped this remark while buying a suit for one of her boys: "I know I cannot get better suits than the Oak Hall's. I have three boys to attend to and I have found that out from my own experience. The best is certainly cheapest in the end."

Now this is the point that we want to impress on you and on every person who has a boy to clothe—that a store that has made a specialty of Boys' Clothing; that has a trained staff of wide-awake buyers, who constantly keep in touch with requirements of both boys and parents, is bound by sheer force of concentration to give you the best values, the best satisfaction, the best service.

ENTHUSIASTIC LABOR RALLY

Union Members Pass Resolutions Supporting Street Car Men.

Speakers Outline What Union Labor Movement Stands For.

Those in attendance at the big labor rally last evening at Moose hall, adopted resolutions asking the management of the Duluth Street Railway company to grant the demands of the men and thus avert a strike.

W. E. McEwen, one of the speakers, declared that the people as a whole are in sympathy with the men. He said that if the company does not choose to be fair, agitation will begin for a municipally owned railway system.

The meeting was one of the series being held in connection with the Union Labor Forward movement in Duluth. There were nearly 300 present as well as a number of men prominent in national labor affairs.

The resolution urging the company to treat with the men was adopted amid cheers by a rising vote.

C. M. Feider of Los Angeles, representing the barbers, was one of the speakers. He said:

"While we all want shorter hours and more pay, that is not the principle for which we are working. It is something more vital. We are working to alleviate conditions; to make it impossible for children, from 6 to 9 years old, to get out and toil from early morn to late at night for a mere pittance; to make it possible for these boys and girls to obtain an education and the recreation out in the open air that is so necessary to the preservation of health.

"Unionism stands for conditions where the employes receive a living wage; where they are not driven like cattle. If you want to see the unions flourish, purchase union-made goods. Demand them. Refuse all others."

Other speakers were Daniel Harris of New York, E. G. Hall, John Walquist and Frank Kennedy.

CASE IS DISMISSED ON A TECHNICALITY.

Judge Dancer in district court yesterday dismissed the lawsuit brought by Allen L. Harwood against J. De La Motte, a local attorney, in which Harwood sued to recover $3,765 claimed to be due for services performed for Mr. De La Motte in the White Iron Lake fire cases in 1910.

The dismissal does not end the litigation, however, as a new suit involving the same matter will be brought. The court dismissed the action on the grounds of a technical flaw in the pleadings. Attorney B. M. Goldberg appeared for Mr. Harwood and A. T. Rock defended Mr. De La Motte.

BOY TO SEE STATE FAIR

One From Each County to Attend, All Expenses Paid.

Competition Essays on Farm Work to Determine Selection.

N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools; Neil McInnes, chairman of the county board, and A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of agriculture of the Duluth Commercial club, are the members of a committee to select one boy from St. Louis county to attend the boys' encampment at the Minnesota state fair this year.

The boy will be selected by competitive essays, and the competition is confined to boys between 16 and 19 years of age, actually residents and workers on farms. No boy, who has ever been regularly enrolled in any special school or college of agriculture in this or any other state will be eligible. Boys who have attended agricultural departments in high schools are not excluded.

The competition will take the form of an essay of not less than 400 or more than 600 words on "Our Home Farm." The outline suggested is: (a) Describe the farm; (b) why I desire to remain there; (c) what changes may be made in the present system of carrying on this farm to insure better financial returns; (d) what can be done to make farm life more enjoyable.

The farm boys' encampment has been inaugurated by the state fair board. One boy will be selected from each county in the state, and they will be given an opportunity to visit the fair, all expenses paid, in order to extend the educational advantages of the fair to the farms of the state and in order to stimulate greater interest in the fair.

Mr. Hostetter and Mr. Young have copies of the applications and detailed directions for distribution to boys applying for them. The essays must be in the hands of the local committee before July 1. The boys standing second and third in the markings will be designated as alternates and will make the trip to the fair if the winner should be unable to attend.

DIABETES

Treatment That Costs Nothing If It Fails to Benefit.

Diabetes has long been considered an incurable disease, and the only hope held out to patients has been to prolong their years by abstemious living. A newly discovered plant in Mexico called Diabetol herb has been found to be a specific in the treatment of diabetes, quickly reducing the specific gravity and sugar, restoring the weight and building up the system.

The treatment is very inexpensive; $1.00 worth of the herb will last two weeks and will remove the worst symptoms in the most aggravated cases. Call at our store and see the proofs and get a free booklet of diet lists, showing the proper foods for diabetes. Boyce Drug Store.

NO NECESSITY FOR DELAY

Duluth Citizens Want Prompt Action on Commission Plan.

Commercial Club May Name Committee—Favored in West Duluth.

With nothing to block the way to the establishment of the commission form of government in Duluth, some immediate action is hoped for.

The subject will be taken up this evening at the meeting of the Public Affairs committee of the Duluth Commercial club and a sub committee will probably be appointed to confer with the charter commission.

Meanwhile it is being freely discussed by the voters of the city, and there are few of them who do not warmly commend it.

H. F. Williamson of the Big Duluth is of the opinion that the commission form of government would be a very good thing for Duluth. "I have always been of the opinion that the commission form of government would mean a great step in advance for the city," said Mr. Williamson. "I am in favor of the plan and of immediate action. I believe it is an improvement upon the present form of city government and would mean many advantages to the city."

T. F. Wieland of the firm of Wieland & Wade urges a special election on the commission form of government and stated this morning that the residents of Duluth should start at once to work for the change in the city government.

J. J. Frey of West Duluth suggests a city-wide campaign to interest every voter in the commission form of government. "It is up to the citizens of Duluth to demand a special election and to vote on the question without any delay. The sooner, the better for Duluth."

"It is for the good of Duluth, that the commission government be established here as soon as possible," said P. H. Martin, Democratic candidate for alderman at the last election. Mr. Martin would have a number of speakers address the residents in every section of the city to further the plan.

Other West Duluth residents expressed themselves as pleased with the ruling of the state supreme court.

NOT TALKING ABOUT IT.

Frank B. Kellogg Has Nothing to Say on Political Situation.

Frank B. Kellogg of St. Paul, "trust-buster" and Republican national committeeman from Minnesota, is in Duluth today. Mr. Kellogg said that he is here on law business, and he declined to talk politics. When asked what he thought of the presidential contest, he smiled grimly and remarked: "I am not talking about it, whatever I may think of it."

ARGUE STATE LABOR CASE

Carmen's Charges Against Great Northern Heard By Supreme Court.

Is Threat to Discharge Man More Serious Than the Discharge?

St. Paul, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the supreme court of Minnesota draws a fine distinction between the act of discharging a man and threatening to discharge him, so fine, in fact, that the threat is a more criminal offense than the act of discharging, organized labor will have the Great Northern railway placed in a peculiar position. This odd situation is being argued before the court today by E. O. Hagen, county attorney of Polk county, and attorneys for the railroad company.

The case is important to labor unions engaged in railroad operation. L. R. Knebel, superintendent of the Great Northern at Crookston, and J. W. Smith, master mechanic, were arrested, charged with having discharged members of the carmen's union, because they belonged to that organization, and of threatening to discharge others if they did not leave it. The move, it was believed, was a beginning on the part of the railroad company to get rid of certain labor unions.

Freed on Habeas Corpus.

In municipal court at Crookston, a demurrer to the complaint against the officials was filed and overruled. A writ of habeas corpus was then sworn out before a district judge at Crookston, and the master mechanic and superintendent were discharged from custody. Appeal was taken by the carmen's union to the supreme court, and the case is up today on its merits.

Supreme courts of Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, New York, Wisconsin and the supreme court of the United States have held that any law prohibiting an employer from discharging an employe is unconstitutional—that a master has the right to discharge whomsoever he pleases, regardless of whether he belongs to a union or not. But the Minnesota legislature passed a law in 1905 which said:

"It shall be unlawful for any person, company or corporation, or any agent, officer or employe thereof, to coerce, require, or influence any person to enter into any agreement, written or verbal, not to join, become or remain a member of any lawful labor organization or association, as a condition of securing or retaining employment with such person, firm or corporation."

Action Less Than Threat.

Thus, the Great Northern railway, according to the decision of various courts, may discharge any or all employes it may see fit to discharge, but if it gives notice to them that they must leave a labor union or lose their jobs, it is guilty of a misdemeanor. At least this is the contention of attorneys for the carmen.

The case has attracted much attention in labor circles. If the law passed in 1905 is held constitutional, a railroad may discharge all the men it sees fit, but it does not dare to tell them it is going to do it if they do not quit their union.

GIVE DIAMONDS FOR SUFFRAGE

Two Rings Offered at Chicago Meeting—Mary McFadden Talks.

Chicago, May 22.—Two rings were offered in the cause of equal suffrage at the Mississippi valley suffrage conference today, when a plea for contributions to the Ohio campaign was made.

Rev. Mary Safford, a Unitarian pastor of Des Moines, Iowa, asked for the gift of jewelry for the cause, and offered a diamond ring which she wore. Her example was followed by Miss Rose Bowers of Rapid City, S. D., whose musical talent has been at the service of the Chicago suffragists.

Among the speakers today were Miss Mary D. McFadden of Duluth and Mrs. Alfred H. Bright of Minneapolis. Several of the Minnesota delegates will go from here to the conference at Milwaukee on Thursday. Mrs. Hall, in her address last night, described the work the suffragists have been doing in Minnesota and told of their plans.

"At the recent land show we distributed 8,000 leaflets and obtained 1,500 signers to petitions asking the submission of the equal suffrage question to a vote," she said. "We followed up these signatures with letters. It is our intention to carry out this same plan at the county and state fairs in Minnesota this fall."

"Do Spectacular Things."

Suffragists were advised to do spectacular things in order to obtain newspaper publicity, by Mrs. Edna Cutler, corresponding secretary of the Kansas City Equal Suffrage association. The subject of her address was "Methods of Reaching the Press."

"Be spectacular, which is possible without being outlandish," she said. "Do the things that will force the indifferent to read of suffrage. Particularly do those things which will prove that suffrage is not a fad of the idle rich, but that it stands for the betterment of all grades of our sex."

Mrs. Crystal Eastman Benedict of Milwaukee said.

"When you are in need of financial help for carrying on campaigns, go out and ask for it. Either they will help you because they are interested in the cause, or will give you something to get rid of you. If neither of these conditions exist, they will hand you something because they like your looks."

HOPING FOR NEW STATION

West Duluthians Believe They Will Win Case Against Railroad.

West Duluth business men are pleased with the results of the hearing on the Northern Pacific station given the West Duluth Commercial club by the state railroad and warehouse commission at the club rooms yesterday morning. Although the result of the hearing will not be announced for several days, local residents believe that immediate action will be required of the Northern Pacific railroad by the commission.

Thomas Olafson, member of the Commercial club and prominent in the fight for a new railroad station at West Duluth, said this morning that everything now points to a victory for the club. "I do not know just what kind of a decision Judge Mills will make, but am positive the railroad will be compelled to remedy many things as a result of this hearing."

L. A. Barnes, former president of the Commercial club, is confident that West Duluth will be granted a new passenger and freight station by the commission. "There is nothing else for the commission to do but order a new station or compel the railroad to build the present building a little larger," he said. "The law requires a larger waiting room than is at present in the station."

J. J. Frey, chairman of the railroad committee representing the club and who was the principal witness at the hearing yesterday morning, is positive in his belief that the West Duluth club has won its fight against the railroad. "The commission must order many changes, at least, on account of the hearing, and I sincerely believe that a new station would be much cheaper in the end. I am pleased with the way our side of the case was presented, and am confident of winning this agitation."

Other residents also expressed their opinions this morning on the subject, which is the main topic of discussion in West Duluth.

Woman's Realm

Duluth is again playing hostess to its popular little star, Miss Adelaide Thurston, who will spend a few weeks here with her sister, Mrs. F. E. Parker, and mother, Mrs. H. S. Sawyer, before leaving for New York, from which port she will sail for a summer in Switzerland.

Miss Thurston with a party will sail on the Amerika of the Hamburg-American line on June 13 and will spend the summer in Lausanne on Lac Leman, which will be a center for music lovers this summer.

"I am going to study music and dancing there this season," said Miss Thurston in an interview this morning. "It will be in general preparation for my work next year.

"I am going to have a splendid play next season, something much more pretentious than any of my other plays. It is being written for me now by Amelie Rives, the well known authoress. While we haven't named it yet it is based on her best book, 'Hidden House,' which reveals a dual personality in the girl.

"The Princess Troubetzkoy as Amelie Rives is known to her friends, is writing this play for me at the suggestion of some mutual friends of ours, and I have been working with her, giving her the technical part of a drama. It is to be ready for me on June 1 and I shall have to be back to New York by that date to go over the play before sailing for abroad.

"The principal character in the play, which will have just five people in it, is a girl with two personalities striving for control, and it gives a fine chance for varied work. One personality, that of Molna, is the sweet, lovable girl of passive nature, while the other nature, Robina is best expressed as a flame. Amelie Rives says that the 'difference between passion and sensuality is that the latter is warm mud and passion is a flame.' Robina is a flame. An elfish, wild creature of absolute abandon.

"I really am most enthusiastic over my work for next year and I expect to gain much from my summer abroad. I shall continue my studies of vocal music with Sheffield Marsh, who will teach at Lausanne this summer and will also study piano with Harold Bowers, the celebrated pianist, who will teach there. Besides our studies we expect to take little week-end trips through that country, and I am anticipating the mountain climbing with pleasure."

Miss Thurston will travel in Italy visiting Florence, Rome, Naples, Genoa and other points for two weeks before sailing on Sept. 13 for home. Rehearsals for the play will commence in New York on Oct. 1.

DULUTH ACTRESS HAS NEW PLAY

MISS ADELAIDE THURSTON.

FUND IS GROWING.

Y. W. C. A. Workers Have Collected Nearly $5,000.

"We had a nice little encouragement this morning," said Miss Trimble of the Y. W. C. A. in talking of the progress of the campaign. "We received from one woman a check for $100 without any soliciting on our part. She said that she noted the women were being approached and she would like to add her share. This check will help us a great deal for this rainy day has kept a good many of our workers at home and the visits of today were considerably cut down.

"Many of the people already visited by the women of the teams have taken the pledge cards and have promised to send them in before Friday afternoon when the campaign closes, so we hope to help in this way to reach our $1,000 a day mark even though all our workers could not get out."

Miss Trimble also spoke of a donation of $50 received yesterday from one grandfather, who said the solicitors had missed him and that "Baby Mary" the little granddaughter wanted to help so he sent a check for the $50. "Baby Mary's" grandmother also sent in a $1 bill for her membership and this young donor is honored by being the youngest member of the association.

The pledges for yesterday amounted to only $401 making the total reached in the first five days, $4,844.50, somewhat less than the $1,000 a day mark set for the work.

The workers are still in need of automobiles as a means of time saving in calling on the people on the lists. Many have not been visited whose names were on the lists owing to the distances which have to be covered and the time lost in waiting for cars or walking and many who have not been called upon have sent in contributions or have signified their desire to help and have been called upon by the workers.

Blue Bell Dance.

Members of the Blue Bell club will give a dancing party Wednesday evening, May 29, at Coffin's new dancing academy, Lake avenue and First street. This is the second of a series which they are giving and a large number of invitations have been issued for the affair.

The members of the committees in charge are: Entertainment committee, James Mulcahy, L. L. Caskey, Sid. McGowan, C. C. Power, Carl Johnson; floor committee, James Mulcahy, William Turner, George Whipple, Sid. McGowan, Melvin Nelson, Theodore Sandstedt, Gilbert Dias, William Dean, Art Munro and Phillip Pare.

The practice of going to a dancing party without a young lady partner is evidently tabooed by this club for on the back of the invitations is this little statement: "If you want to dance with my girl, bring a girl to dance with me."

Dr. R. W. Bowden clearly explained the nature of the purpose of the state, county and district organization of Sunday school teachers of different denominations. Dr. Bowden spoke of the advantage to be derived from a systematic study of combined forces in the work and the helpful suggestions which can be obtained from co-operation.

Mrs. A. G. Schultz, president of the district organization, presided, with Miss Maude Sherwin as secretary. A roll call of the churches of all denominations was read and responded to by the delegates. The Hazelwood Mission church carried off the banner for the largest number of representatives present. Miss Florence Williams gave a vocal solo and an encore.

The union will hold its next meeting Tuesday evening, May 28 at the West Duluth Swedish Baptist church.

THE EVENING STORY

THE SPICE OF LIFE

By Elizabeth Lincoln Gould.

As Mrs. Holden said good night to Mrs. Marston in the doorway of the Marston kitchen, both women took a long satisfying survey of the starlit sky. "It'll be a prime day for the county fair," said Mrs. Holden. "And it ought to be—many years as 'tis since 'twas held in Bushby."

"It certainly ought," assented Mrs. Marston. "And I expect we shall both have a grand time and a sight of things to our plan of keeping apart, I suppose?" She looked rather anxiously at her old friend as she spoke.

"I do so," returned Mrs. Holden, after a slight hesitation. "Folks that have lived side by side upwards for twenty years, and been everywhere together, stands to reason they need to separate once in a while. You aren't weakening on it, are you?"

"No, indeed," said Mrs. Marston, quickly. "I've told Josiah how we've planned to start different times and take the two roads, and so on. He's agreed to everything; said he hoped our plans weren't such that he couldn't get a word with your Amos now and again. Men folks are so dependent on each other."

"Amos said the same to me," admitted Mrs. Holden. "I suppose they'll try to get off into some corner together. Well, goodnight again." And she stepped briskly across the short "neighbor path" that led to her own kitchen door. It had been carefully planned that Mr. Marston should drive out of his dooryard at 8 o'clock the next morning, whereas the Holdens were not to start until half an hour later; but it was not 7:30 when Mrs. Holden appeared at the Marston's door, with an apologetic air.

"I know we said we wouldn't see each other," she began, "but I do so rely on your judgment, Mary Anne. Do you think its liable to blow up cool enough for me to need by gray shawl coming home, over my new jacket?"

"N—no." Mrs. Marston considered a moment. "I tell you what—I'll take along my little black cape extra; you could have that in case of need."

"Thank you," said Mrs. Holden eagerly. Well, goodby. I suppose we'll catch glimpses of each other during the day. Have you heard about Anna Stacey's—but, mercy me, I mustn't delay you a minute. That news will keep!"

"Josiah," said Mrs. Marston, when they were well on the road to Bushby, "have you heard any news about Anna Stacey?"

"Anna Stacey?" repeated Mr. Morston, with a ruminative air. "Now who might she be?"

"My land," cried his wife. "You do try me, Josiah, if you are good as gold. She's the girl Willie Hobbs wants to marry. Now do you know?"

"M—m yes, it comes to me now," said Mr. Marston. "No, I haven't heard anything about her that I can recall." There was a look of exasperation on his wife's face which for some reason or other failed to disturb her husband. He drove tranquilly on, talking of the fields and houses they passed, apparently not noticing Mrs. Marston's lack of interest in his chosen topics. When they reached the fair grounds, he pointed out a group of people to his wife, and waved his hat to one of the men. "There are the Hillside folks you've laid out to keep company with today," he said cheerfully. "I'll set you down here so's you can join 'em without losing any time. I'll go pick out a suitable hitching spot." Mrs. Marston descended from the vehicle and gave her skirts a careful shake.

"I s'pose there isn't any sign of the Holden's yet," she said, looking over her shoulder and trying to speak unconcernedly. "Their horse is some quicker gaited than ours."

"I guess you forget they are going to stop in the village and collect her cousin Fifura and the children," said her husband. "And when they come they're bound to keep away from us, so's to get that variety you've spoken of, aren't they?"

"When you get ready you can hunt me up." Mrs. Marston's tone was a trifle short. It was nearly noontime when Mr. Marston saw his wife again. She was closely surrounded by the Hillside group, but her husband managed at last to catch her eye and beckon her toward him. "Where have you been?" she demanded, as she reached him. "These Hillside folks are all your friends more'n mine, anyway, and they kept inquiring for you till I'm worn out. I call it pretty work, me listening to a lot of talk about Hillside doings, and my own husband never coming near me."

"There now," said Mr. Marston, in his most soothing way. "There now. I've been with Amos Holden and his wife. Wait till I tell ye. Their cousin had been called away sudden by an accident to one of her husband's sisters, and she'd taken the children; and they don't know a soul here exceptin those from home and the ones you're with, and she thought, considering your contract—" Mrs. Marston made an impatient exclamation and pushed by him. She had caught sight of a dear, familiar face, from which two soft brown eyes gazed wistfully at her.

"I'm not—I'm not keeping to our agreement," faltered Mrs. Holden, as her old friend hurried across to her. "I don't want to interfere with your good time or—" Mrs. Holden drew through her arm the hand outstretched to greet her. "Let's find a place where we can sit down," she said. "There hasn't been a minute since we started that I haven't missed you. It began with Anna Stacey—and what is it about her anyway? Here, I see a place for us. Those Hillside folks will be glad to be free of me. They've had me right on their minds, and made a piece of work trying to entertain me. Now, Josiah you and Amos needn't laugh. We've tried a new plan and found it won't work and—"

"I don't believe they hear you," whispered Mrs. Holden. They had not heard. Long before his wife's speech was ended Mr. Marston had drawn Mr. Holden off to look at a new variety of squash. Their backs had a contented air as they stood close together. "Just like children, men folks are," said Mrs. Marston, and she gave the hand resting on her arm an affectionate squeeze. "And now about Anna Stacey?"

WOMAN'S GREATEST TROUBLE

Big Sandy, Tenn.—Mrs. Lucy Cantrell, of this place, says: "Every two weeks, I had to go to bed and stay there several days. I suffered untold misery. Nothing seemed to help me, until I tried Cardui, the woman's tonic. Although I had been afflicted with womanly weaknesses for seven years, Cardui helped me more than anything else ever did. It is surely the best tonic for women on earth." Weakness is woman's greatest trouble. Cardui is woman's greatest medicine, because it overcomes that weakness and brings back strength. In the past 50 years, Cardui helped over a million women. Try it for your troubles, today.

NO HALF RATE ON RETURNED SHIPMENTS.

Duluth shippers are interested in an order recently handed down by the interstate commerce commission declining to reinstate the half-rate on returned shipments.

For many years, the railroads had a rule that shipments returned for any reason to the original consignors would be carried at one-half the regular rate. The interstate commerce commission recently put a ban on the arrangement and declared that return shipments should carry the full weight. The matter was reopened for hearing, but the commission stood by its original ruling.

On Trial for Larceny.

John Sillampa, a bartender, was put on trial this afternoon in district court to answer to a charge of grand larceny, second degree.

Sillampa is accused under a grand jury indictment of having pilfered from the cash register of his employer, M. W. Lind, a saloonkeeper at 336-338 Lake avenue south, on April 15 last. It is claimed that he took $51.05, of which all except $2 was recovered by the police. Sillampa had used this to pay his room rent.

The next criminal action to be tried will be that of the State of Minnesota against Daniel O'Leary, who has been indicted for forgery, second degree.

O'Leary, it is claimed, forged the name of Mrs. C. Anderson, 415 Garfield avenue, to a check for $25 and passed the paper on G. Hagen, a saloon keeper at 103½ East Superior street.

The body will be escorted to the train which will carry it to Buffalo, where is will be placed in the family vault. Maj. Horton was a member of Ancient Landmark lodge, A. F. & A. M., of Buffalo. POISON FROM DISEASES

Celebrated Duluth Scientist of Electro Medical Doctors Says Many Diseases Result From Poison.

The greatest wonder which appeals to the human heart is that of the restoration of human life and health, where death had apparently the upper hand. That is the reason why our sympathy is aroused when we hear the story of Christ's awakening of Lazarus. In the scientific world there are many wonders performed, not like those of the Great Master, but wonders nevertheless. We have battled diseases for ages, but there have never been victories such as in this age of electricity. Testimonials in this paper have told the stories of those of our neighbors which have been cured by Electro Medical methods, where everything else failed, and the doctors have demonstrated to the satisfaction of all, that this new method is of great healing power, especially in chronic diseases.

In explaining the wonderful powers of Electro Medicine, the Doctor said: Take the paleness of some women, for instance. This is due to a derangement of some organ which is either obstructed by poison or growths, such as tumors, cancers, stones or casts, like in Bright's disease and others. The paleness is due to diminished circulation in the surface tissue, or to poison in the blood which you have to find out by the microscope. Take the Nerve tension to this and the contraction of the pores of the skin which checks all elimination, and you will have a pretty picture of a poisoned condition. I had a very dear friend who had suffered ever since she had her first child, thirty years ago. For days she had the most severe headache and nothing would stop it. Often during these periods she was actually demented and did not know what she was doing. This headache returned periodically, and of all the doctors there was not one who could help this poor woman, because they didn't know the trouble. It was simply a chronic intoxication due to the retention of poisons which the organs of the system and the skin failed to eliminate, so the spasmodic headache was due to the heroic effort of the body to throw off the poisons.

EFFECTS ON RHEUMATISM AND NEURALGIA.

Rheumatism and neuralgia show still greater deposits, or more toxic compounds of poisons. Bronchial exudates show reaction, and an effort of the mucous glands to free the blood of its retained elements.

We trace symptoms singly to that which produces them. We may take any one of these symptoms and trace it back to the closure of the pores of the skin. Take bronchial exudates, etc.; it is from a toxic condition of the blood; this is from retention by the skin. Take rheumatism, it is from toxic deposits in the tissues; these are from a circulation overlooked with the same, and this is from retention by the skin. Take neuralgia, it results from congestion and toxic irritation of a nerve; this from decompositions that recomposed toxic compounds in the blood retained by a closure of the dermal pores.

In the case above, the disease is retention. Every symptom depends on retention as its producer. Treat the retention successfully and every symptom vanishes, and a state of health ensues. Retention, as a disease, has many forms, and these forms are only symptoms of the real disease that produced them.

In all these diseases Electro Medicine has proved to the sick and sufferring of Duluth, to be a real god-send, it cures the disease and not the symptoms. It restores the patient to vitality and health.

The hours of the doctors are from 9 to 12, 1 to 5, and 6 to 8, and Sundays, 10 to 1. The offices are at No. 26 West Superior street, upstairs.

TOWNE WILL SPEAK HERE

"Silver Tongued Orator" Will Deliver Plea for Clark at Lyceum.

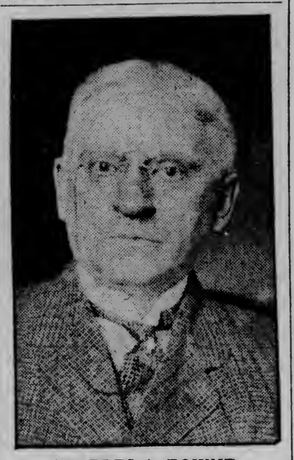
Charles A. Towne, formerly Minnesota's "silver-tongued" orator, will revisit the scenes of his many political battles tomorrow night, when he will speak at the Lyceum in behalf of Champ Clark's candidacy for the presidency.

Mr. Towne arrived in Minnesota Monday to campaign for the Missouri man. He spoke at Little Falls last night and will be at Brainerd tonight. Tomorrow he will arrive at his old home town to make a campaign speech.

Mr. Towne is always an interesting speaker. He is a campaign orator of the type that is not met daily in present-day campaigns. He will pack the Lyceum tomorrow night, although he will be speaking against hostile sentiment.

The Clark managers, in sending Mr. Towne to Duluth to speak for the Clark candidacy, are counting on Mr. Towne's popularity to gain him an appreciative hearing. He will have that, but the Democrats of St. Louis county are overwhelmingly for Wilson, and Mr. Towne will not have the complete sympathy of his audience as he did in many other campaign speeches that he made in Duluth.



CHARLES A. TOWNE.

Mr. Towne will be given an enthusiastic welcome. He has many friends in Duluth, and although most of them are not in sympathy with the cause which he is supporting, they will turn out to welcome him back and to hear him boost the speaker of the house. He puts his heart and his wonderful gifts of oratory into any cause for which he is speaking, and his address at the Lyceum will be well worth hearing.

Senator Reed of Missouri is expected to accompany Mr. Towne to Duluth tomorrow. M. J. Gallagher of St. Louis, one of the enthusiastic workers for the Missouri candidate for the presidency, is in the city today making the arrangements for Mr. Towne's appearance.

ESCAPES BY ROPE OF SHEETS

Patient Flees From St. Luke's Hospital But Is Quickly Found.

Mrs. John Hendrickson, a patient at St. Luke's hospital, escaped from a window on the third floor of the institution about 1 o'clock this morning by using a rope made of sheets.

Clad only in a bathrobe she made her way to her home on St. Croix avenue, where she was intercepted by the police, who had already been notified of her escape. The woman tied the sheets to a steam pipe in her room and lowered herself to a porch, whence she reached the ground by making use of telephone wires.

Mrs. Hendrickson was sent to the hospital for observation, her strange actions having caused her relatives to worry. The physicians hoped that a complete rest might relieve her mind of the troubles which appeared to be driving her towards insanity. It is not believed that she will suffer any serious results because of her experience.

Handicap in Blind Ballot.

Colonel Roosevelt said he had been told by Walter Brown, manager of his Ohio campaign, "that the blind ballot" in that state represented at least a 25 per cent handicap for the Roosevelt supporters.

Taft Expects Nomination.

Washington, May 22.—President Taft, returning from his campaign tour in Ohio, reached Washington at 8:50 a. m. today. He plunged into a busy day at the White House office and has planned to leave Thursday for New Jersey to campaign for delegates who will be elected at the primaries next Tuesday.

The president had no statement to make concerning the result of the Ohio primaries. He has made known to his friends that he still is in the fight and believes he will have enough delegates to get the nomination at Chicago.

One of the first things Mr. Taft did when he reached the White House was to arrange for an extension of his trip to New Jersey. It is expected he will campaign in that state until an hour before the polls open at 1 o'clock next Tuesday.

Fight to the End.

According to the original schedule the president would have finished in Atlantic City Monday night. The extension of the trip was said today by Mr. Taft's supporters to be an indication he has determined to fight Col. Roosevelt to the end.

Mr. Taft's first definite information about Ohio was received at Baltimore just before he reached Washington. Members of his party say the headlines in the morning newspaper did not prevent his enjoying a hearty breakfast.

Plans for the trip to New Jersey, although not complete, show that the president will visit every one of the twelve congressional districts, and practically every county in the state. He will leave Washington early tomorrow morning, will make an address at the international navigation congress in Philadelphia in the afternoon, and formally open the New Jersey campaign in Camden tomorrow night. The trip will end at Glassboro, near Atlantic City, Tuesday noon.

Whole Day in Motor.

For one whole day, according to the president's plan, he will motor to small Jersey towns within easy automobile distance from New York. He probably will spend the night in Trenton, three nights in New York with his brother, Henry W. Taft, and one in Atlantic City. No new speeches for the Jersey invasion were ready today, but it is believed Mr. Taft will continue his attacks upon Col. Roosevelt.

The president remained in his study in the White House for several hours today. Attorney General Wickersham, Mr. Stimson, the secretary of war, Mr. Nagel, secretary of commerce and labor, and Mr. Meyer, secretary of the navy, had appointments with him.

Senator Crane of Massachusetts was an early caller, but had no comment to make on political developments.

Henderson of New York and Dr. W. O. Shepard of Chicago bishops on the eleventh ballot last night, delegates to the general conference declare that they do not expect the naming of another of the five remaining to be chosen for several ballots. It will take some time, they declare, for the voters again to get their "bearings," and to get sufficient votes behind any one man to elect.

Dr. Henderson is 44 years of age and at present is the youngest member of the board of bishops. He is a graduate of Wesleyan university in Connecticut and Drew Theological seminary and is pastor of the Hansen Place church, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dr. Shepard is a graduate of De Pauw university, has been prominent in the work of Northwestern university at Evanston, Ill., and at present is district superintendent of the Rock River conference.

With the withdrawal of R. E. Jones of New Orleans, by voting for whom many delegates expressed their opinion that the negro churches of the South should have a man of their own race for bishop, it is expected that W. P. Thirkield, president of Howard university, Washington, D. C., a negro institute, will obtain a considerable increase. Dr. Thirkield has held his strength since the third ballot, reaching a high point on the eleventh ballot with 276.

Fix Episcopal Cities.

It is said that the episcopacy committee finally has decided upon Helena, Mont., Atlanta, Ga., and Kansas City as places where episcopal residences will be established. A large number in the United States, it is said, was planned, but inability to fill more positions with the number of bishops decided upon caused the change.

Lower Bars For Women.

The conference agreed to one change in the church rules whereby the presidents of one woman's home and one woman's foreign missionary society were permitted voice in the district conferences.

The committee recommended that a foot note to the discipline be inserted whereby each church be permitted to decide whether individual or single communion cups should be used. Several years ago this question was agitated considerably in the church.

Last evening was given over to the report of the board of conference claimants. Among those who made addresses were: J. B. Hingeley, Chicago; S. S. Jolly, Cambridge, Md.; H. H. Havner, Marengo, Iowa; F. J. Greenfield Utica, N.Y.; C. B. Wilcox, Denver, Col.; Marvin Campbell, South Bend, Ind., and J. W. VanCleave, Decatur, Ill.

According to the report made the board has financed itself, is out of debt, has made a small beginning of its permanent fund and has sent back $95,000 to the conference for needy cases.

GRONNA MEN ALARMED

Over the Reported Alliance Between Marshall and Buchanan.

Fargo, N. D., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some of the adherents of Senator Gronna are alarmed over the reported offensive and defensive alliance between T. F. Marshall and J. A. Buchanan. The former was once a member of congress and withdrew to run for United States senator. He made two races, being defeated for the place once by Johnson and two years later by McCumber.

At the late primaries Marshall was elected Republican national committeeman, beginning after the next national convention. He is a strong backer of J. A. Buchanan, the Insurgent endorsee for the governorship.

It is reported that the alliance between the two men is for the purpose of building up a political machine. Marshall as national committeeman, will have considerable patronage. If Buchanan should win the governorship he will control the state patronage. Between the two they figure they could be quite a power. The friends of Gronna view the combination with alarm and are anxious for him to return to the state to look after his political fences.

Cloquet Confirmation.

Cloquet, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. T. T. Roan, pastor of the Norweglan Lutheran church, has prepared for confirmation twenty-three boys and girls, and very pretty and impressive confirmation services are to take place in the church Sunday morning at 10:30. Following confirmation service the communion will be partaken of. In the evening, Rev. Mr. Roan will deliver an address to the confirmation class. Miss Olive Wright will render a vocal solo in the evening. The members of the class are Ruth Anderson, Sena Knutson, Mary Olson, Annie Hagen, Hilma Blomgren, Jennie Hanson, Esther Anderson, Selma Gunderson, Hildur Wennerlund, Ragna Olson, Hjordis Nelson, Mabel Peterson, Palma Dahl, Clara Huseby, Hulda Johnson, Helen Staren, Florence Erickson, Axel Jackson, Valdemar Swanson, Carl Hedlund, John Jorgenrud, and John Olson.

E. E. BEEBE DIES

Former Broker and Publisher Passes Away in New York.

News was received in Duluth today of the death of Ellis E. Beebe in New York.

Mr. Beebe was well known in Duluth, having lived here many years. He came here in the '90s and opened a brokerage office. He made a small fortune in oil stocks, and took an active part in the campaign for free silver. He was at one time private secretary to Charles A. Towne. Following the free silver campaign he left Duluth, and did not return for about ten years. When he came back, he established the Mining Stock News in 1909. He published this for about a year, and in November, 1910, left Duluth, after disposing of his paper.

Mr Beebe is survived by a wife and two children, who are living in Chicago.

MACGREGOR TRIAL IS ON AT BAD AXE, MICH.

Bad Axe, Mich., May 22.—The defense of Dr. Robert MacGregor on trial for the murder of Scyrel Sparling, by the administration of poison, has begun. In his address to the jury, Attorney Walsh for the defense, said he would offer no testimony to controvert the prosecution's claim that Scyrel died of arsenical poisoning. Efforts will be confined principally, he said, to show that the defendant had no connection with giving the poison. Dr. MacGregor himself is to be the most important witness.

Gregory of Chicago, president, his conditional resignation from the organization. In his letter to Mr. Gregory, he declares that his resignation shall go into effect only when the association, in annual meeting, accepts it and when it is understood that the only reason for its acceptance is that he is a negro.

Mr. Morris says he has received no answer to the letter.

PRESENT DAY HATS AND STYLES IN HAIR DRESSING CAUSE LOSS OF HAIR

We Cannot Change the Styles, But We Can Check Falling Hair.

Up to the time we began to civilize him a bald headed Indian was a thing unknown. Wearing nothing on his head except the covering furnished by nature and being a stranger to the use of a hair brush, especially the public one, the scalp and hair had plenty of ventilation, much sunlight and, hence, a condition favorable to a luxuriant growth of hair existed at all times.

It was the adoption of air and light exluding head gears and artificial head decorations generally, together with the occasional use or a community hair brush, which gave the dandruff germ its opportunity. Since this parasite has multiplied to an alarming degree until now there is hardly a person who is not troubled more or less with dandruff and falling hair.

Many, to be sure, have passed the worrying stage. Having become chronically bald they realize that nothing is capable of producing natural hair for them. Let these be a warning to all who are experiencing the significant annoyance of dandruff and falling hair.

Dandruff, which is due to a germ, and falling hair can both be overcome by the regular use of Newbro's Herpicide.

This wonderful scalp remedy kills the vicious germ which causes dandruff, cleanses the scalp and stops the hair from coming out. The destruction of the germ permits the hair to grow naturally and luxuriously as nature intends.

Herpicide makes the hair bright, snappy, light and fluffy.

Newbro's Herpicide in 50 cent and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

DELIGHTED AT RESULT

Duluth Democrats Pleased at Wilson's Showing in Ohio.

Will Have at Least Six Delegates in Harmon's Own State.

Duluth Democrats, who are almost unanimous for Wilson for the Democratic nomination for the presidency, were jubilant over the returns from Ohio. Governor Wilson, although he lost in the preferential vote, will have at least six district delegates to the national convention at Baltimore, and later returns may give him more.

Governor Harmon has been elected governor of Ohio by overwhelming majorities and is a popular "favorite son." That Governor Wilson made an impression in the state is regarded as a good omen. The New Jersey governor had not been in the state in person, while Governor Harmon stumped for weeks in support of his own candidacy. About the only campaign work done for Governor Wilson was by W. J. Bryan, to whom due credit is given by Duluth Democrats for his part in the campaign.

Duluth Democrats regard the statements that Governor Wilson is out of consideration for the presidency, as the campaign wishes of his opponents. St. Louis county is overwhelmingly for Wilson, and the local supporters of the New Jersey man believe that matters will shape themselves at Baltimore so that he will be nominated.

Bridge company, Marshall testified that in his opinion the company nevertheless absorbed about 75 per cent of the country's competitive bridge business when it was organized. During the last year the bridge company's proportion was 70 per cent, he said.

Denied Monopolistic Intent.

Mr. Roberts, who was president of the Bridge company when it was taken over by the Steel corporation in 1901, denied yesterday that the company was originally organized with the object of monopolizing the industry.

Though admitting that some of the original constituents of the company were competitors, they were combined, he said, solely for the purpose of doing a larger business.

The Steel corporation in its answer to the government's suit says of the organization of the bridge company that "the size and character of the structures built required larger capital and greater skill than could be commanded by small concerns."

Mr. Roberts failed to support this argument when question by R. V. Lindabury, counsel for the corporation, stating that several of the constituent concerns were entirely capable of handling structures built at that time.

How Morgan Worked.

How J. P. Morgan & Co. secured control of the bridge company on behalf of the corporation without any official action or knowledge of the bridge company's directors or officials, as the witness declared, was an interesting feature of Mr. Roberts' testimony. There were no negotiations whatever as to the price at which the stock was to be sold, he said. J. P. Morgan & Co. merely issued a circular offering to exchange Steel corporation stock for stock of the bridge company at 110 Steel preferred and 105 Steel common for par of the preferred and common stocks of the bridge company. This offer was accepted by the stockholders, and that was all there was to it, Mr. Roberts said, explaining, however, that as an individual, he knew that the offer was to be made shortly before it became public, and that as far as his own holdings were concerned, he had told Charles Steele of J. P. Morgan & Co. that the offer was satisfactory. Subsequently Robert Bacon, then a Morgan partner, offered him a directorship in the Steel corporation, he said, and after that he sold his stock under the terms of the offer.

Langan a Witness.

Temple, the witness said, was "commissioner" of the plate association and the structural steel association, which were alleged to have been in operation during the early years of the last decade.

These associations are held by the government to have been illegal pools, organized to fix prices and restrain trade, and to have included in their membership subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation. Among the concerns in the pools, the government contends, were the Illinois Steel company, the Carnegie Steel company and the American Steel & Wire company.

Agreed on Prices.

Langan testified that the Structural Steel association fixed prices by agreement. This arrangement was in operation, he said, until 1906, the year he left the employ of Temple. Practically the same regulations were adopted and maintained, the witness said by the Plate association. The contention of the Steel corporation in its answer to the suit has been that where an agreement on these regulations was drawn up, it never was signed, but was rejected and destroyed.

Langan testified that the percentage of business apportioned to the Carnegie Steel company in the plate association was around 46 per cent of the total.

Objected to by Gary.

The structural and plate association agreements were dissolved about the latter part of 1904 "because Judge Gary objected to them," said Langan. The pool members met, however, after the formal dissolution and "announced common prices" and kept statistics as to tonnage.

STATE BOARD MAY BE SUED FOR OLD FEES

charged where an examination is actually given—the $50 should be paid into the state treasury.

"The board of medical examiners has no right to depart in any way from the statutes with regard to the fees charged to persons coming before said board for admission to practice in this state."

Statement by Hilton.

Commenting on the case, Mr. Hilton said:

"As soon as a copy of Mr. Fritz' report reaches this department it will be investigated, and if there is indication that the board of examiners has taken and kept money which rightfully belongs to the state, we most certainly will file suits against its members."

Mr. Fritz will forward to the attorney general's department a copy of his report, together with a memorandum calling attention to the apparent discrepancies. On this the suits, if brought, will be started.

"The fee system is vicious," Mr. Fritz said. "It tends to make extravagance and disregard of the value of money earned through operations of the state government."

Ralph W. Wheelock, the governor's private secretary, said the report would be referred to the state's executive immediately upon his arrival at the capitol tomorrow. The governor is out of town today.

Wheelock Quotes Governor.

"He probably will take the same stand he took in his inaugural message to the legislature in 1911," Mr. Wheelock added. He turned to the message, which said:

"Perhaps the only remnant of the theory that purely political considerations are sufficient for reward at public expense, is the present fee office. There is no possible defense for the existence of this office today. The fees collected do not belong to the officer, but to the state, and the state owes the officer a sufficient compensation for his work, including necessary expenses, and no more. • • • If these fees aggregate a larger amount than necessary to amply compensate him for his work and necessary expenses he is appropriating money that belongs to the state • • •"

Mr. Wheelock characterized the methods of the board of medical examiners as "unbusinesslike," but would make no comment on $20 dinners and purchase of Havana cigars as essential to board meetings.

Roosevelt, will not be forced to make a further fight for delegates at large, as the Democratic call specified that the winner of the presidential preference primary shall name his own delegates at large.

It will be impossible before night to get an exact list of totals from the various districts on the Democratic presidential preference, but it is clear that Governor Harmon has won over Wilson by a large plurality.

Amplified returns in the Republican contest show that Senator La Follette polled a heavy vote in several counties and it is possible that final results will show he ran second to Col. Roosevelt in a number of counties.

Some Votes For Bryan and Clark.

Harmon is far in the lead of Governor Wilson of New Jersey. Despite the fact that their names were not printed on the ticket, William J. Bryan and Champ Clark received scattering votes.

The thirty-two delegates that have been elected to vote for Roosevelt are from the following districts: Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Fourteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth, Nineteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first. He will also have one delegate from the Third and Fifteenth.

The rural vote throughout the state was light, as the farmers, who have been retarded by the weather, preferred to put in their crops to going to the polls.

Senator La Follette obtained his heaviest vote in the Twenty-first district, where he polled 4,163 votes. In Fulton county La Follette got more votes than Taft. Of the fourteen counties which have so far reported as carried by President Taft, one-half of them are Democratic strongholds, where the Republican vote was very light.

Democratic Preference.

The exact vote in the Democratic preferential contest is not known, but reports from 735 precincts out of 5,192 in the state indicate that Harmon has received 17,309 votes to Wilson's 10,779, while Clark received 170 and Bryan 155.

Adams county, where more than 1,500 voters were disfranchised a year ago for selling their votes, gave Col. Roosevelt a majority of near 200.

President Taft carried his home districts, the First and the Second. Governor Harmon, who lives in the same city with the president, Cincinnati, carried the Second district, but the First is still in doubt. The returns in show that Governor Wilson carried the Third, Twentieth and Twenty-first districts.

Roosevelt Delegates.

In the Third district C. W. Folkerth was elected as a Roosevelt delegate and D. W. Allaman as a Taft delegate. In the Fifteenth district D. L. Melick was named as Roosevelt delegate and Frank Ransbottom the Taft delegate.

Other districts show the following Roosevelt delegates:

Fourth—Carl D. Jones; J. C. Pense.
Fifth—Allen Bybee; Frank Carlo.
Sixth—R. J. Shawan; W. H. Baum.
Eighth—N. L. McClanahan; Lewis Slack.
Ninth—George E. Hardy; C. D. Finch.
Tenth—P. M. Streich; Sherman Eagle.
Eleventh — Henry Zenner; James Thomas.
Twelfth—Karl T. Webber; King G. Thompson.
Fourteenth—A. L. Garford; H. G. Hammond.
Sixteenth—Cook Danford; E. E. Erksine.
Seventeenth—E. S. Sours, A. Mitchell.
Eighteenth—H. A. March; Emil Anderson.
Nineteenth—Edwin Seedhouse; W. J. Beckley.
Twentieth—J. H. Speedy; A. J. Alyard.

Second district—George T. Schott; R. J. Hillenbrand.
Seventh district—John L. Bushnell; L. E. Evans.
Thirteenth district—T. J. Maxwell; Carl Gugler.

INDICTMENT AGAINST FLOOD IS DISMISSED.

Davenport, Iowa, May 22.—The indictment charging Emmett T. Flood, national organizer of the American Federation of Labor, with conspiracy against non-union button workers during the strike at Muscatine, has been dismissed.

Following adjournment in the trial of Clayton Rowland, second of the fourteen union men to be placed on trial, County Attorney Thompson of Muscatine, announced that the indictment against Flood had been dismissed because there was not sufficient evidence. Flood was charged in the indictment with being one of the principal directors of the bomb-throwers.

The jury for the trial of Rowland was completed just before adjournment. If Rowland is acquitted, it is said the indictments against the other union men also will be dismissed.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Clark Speakers Repeating Hearst Campaign Against Governor Wilson—E. A. Purdy Issues Statement — James A. Peterson Will Oppose Knute Nelson for Nomination for United States Senator.

Hearst Campaign Methods.

With the Democratic caucuses only a few days off, the Clark forces are turning their heavy guns on Minnesota and endeavoring to make an impression. Thus far, they have scarcely made a dent.

Former Senator Fred Dubois, manager of Clark's campaign, and Charles A. Towne arrived in the state Monday. George Fred Williams of Massachusetts came last week. Mr. Williams is speaking in the Southern part of the state. Towne opened his campaign at Little Falls Tuesday night, and will remain in the state until Sunday.

The claims of the Clark men that there is much Clark sentiment in Minnesota isn't borne out by the fact that great difficulty seems to be experienced in getting people in the towns to be visited by the speakers to take any interest in the matter. Mr. Towne was to have spoken in St. Cloud Monday night. Nobody in St. Cloud could be secured to make the arrangements and the Clark headquarters in Minneapolis had to send a man to arrange for the theater. Mr. Towne's train was late and he didn't keep the engagement.

When Mr. Towne's coming was first announced, Duluth was on his schedule. Nobody here has shown any activity in arranging for his coming. If he comes, he will come unheralded.

The Clark speakers are following out the Hearst methods of attack that have made many friends for Wilson. Instead of booming their own candidate, they are throwing mud at the New Jersey governor. George Fred Williams' speeches in the Southern part of the state have been Hearst editorials. Governor Wilson is charged with toryism and every other crime that can be fastened on him by any plan of the imagination. Hearst newspaper and magazine articles are being circulated, and they are of a class of literature that is not expected to make any marked appeal in this state, except to a sense of decency and fair play that revolts against such methods.

E. A. Purdy of Minneapolis, manager of the Wilson campaign in this state, yesterday gave out a statement denouncing the methods of the Clark campaigners and declaring that Minnesota will go solid for Wilson. Mr. Purdy said:

"Minnesota, with Hennepin county, will remain true to Woodrow Wilson and Progressive Democracy in spite of the red fire and loud talk of the Hearst emissaries, Charles A. Towne and George Fred Williams, recently sent here by their chief for the purpose, not of helping secure the nomination and election of Clark as president, but to deceive the people of Minnesota with the Clark cloak in order that they may be delivered body and soul to Mr. Hearst to advance his own personal ambitions. Minnesota Democrats have ceased to look at the candidates alone, but with their unerring instinct for true Progressivism have sized up the alignment of the opposing forces and will support Woodrow Wilson because he stands for the people and the Progressive principles for which they have been fighting; because he has behind him men whom they know to have been tried with the acid test and found pure. Personally, they know not either candidate except by their records, but they are intimate with the famous 'O'Connor crowd' of St. Paul and the 'big business' Harmon sympathizers of Minneapolis who, together with the assistance of Hearst and a small Progressive tag which they have tied to their candidate, are trying to band-wagonize the people into forsaking the true principles of Democracy. They might put it across in Hearst-ridden Illinois and California, but never in Minnesota.

"I have received several letters today from Southern Minnesota from persons with whom I never communicated. One says: 'I went to Williams' meeting. It was a flattering appeal to the lowest class of people in the United States, but the speech was fine compared with the literature that was distributed. A more dirty, low and disgraceful attack I never saw in print than the attack on Woodrow Wilson. Such journalism as that is a disgrace, and if a candidate will stand for such support without protest, he ought to be defeated.' Another writes that after hearing Williams talk, although his mind had not been fully made, he was now decided to support Woodrow Wilson for president.

"The claims of Mr. Williams and Mr. Towne, who were formally for Governor Wilson but who shortly afterward became circulation agents for the Hearst papers and shouters for Clark, are grossly exaggerated and misrepresented in the belief that the Democrats of Minnesota are weak-hearted. They will learn to their sorrow that Minnesota Democracy is truly Progressive and will cast its vote solidly for Wilson with Bryan a probable second choice, should he permit his name to go before the Baltimore convention."

Wilson Men Confident.

The Wilson men have no fear or the result in Minnesota. They have failed to find any Clark sentiment except among certain elements in the Fourth and Fifth districts. The country districts will be solid for Wilson, and the Clark men who have made their sentiments known are so few in the Eighth district that they will not even make a contest in the precincts in which they live.

Reports from the country indicate that the unit rule will be applied in the convention here. The Democrats outside of the Twin Cities indicate that they believe that the unit rule should prevail to make the state's influence greater at the Baltimore convention. The only district in which Clark delegates are likely to be elected is the Fourth, which includes St. Paul.

Peterson for the Senate.

James A. Peterson of Minneapolis yesterday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator. Senator Knute Nelson has not yet announced that he would like to succeed himself, but the Alexandria man isn't likely to drop out, and a battle of the Vikings is promised.

Mr. Peterson and Senator Nelson are both Norwegians and they thus start on an even basis as to nationality. Senator Nelson has the advantage of being in office, of having the federal office-holders with him and of having fought at the instance of the farmers in the reciprocity fight. His right of alignment with the Progressives has been seriously questioned at times, however, while Mr. Peterson was a supporter of Senator La Follette for the presidential nomination and is a Progressive to the absolute limit.

Both Mr. Peterson and Senator Nelson will make an appeal to a large following and the Minneapolis man will give Knute a good race.

Aitkin Primaries.

Aitkin county will hold its Democratic primaries Saturday and is expected to send a solid Wilson delegation to the convention here. J. B. Galarneault, former state bank examiner, is a candidate for delegate from the Eighth district to the Baltimore convention. Mr. Galarneault is an enthusiastic Wilson supporter. He recently made a trip through Stearns and Benton counties and could find nothing but Wilson sentiment there.

Candidates Hold Off.

Prospective candidates for the governorship are resting on their oars until the legislature acts in extra session. If a primary bill is passed, which is almost certain, the primaries will be held in September, which will give time for a long campaign. If E. T. Young, R. C. Dunn and others are to come out, they would have to act quickly if the convention were to be held July 2. As conditions stand, they have plenty of time.

STONE RE-ELECTED BY ENGINEERS

Gets So Many Votes That Election Is Made Unanimous.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 22.—Warren S. Stone of Cleveland, grand chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers since 1903, is re-elected for a term of six years. But one ballot was taken and Stone had so many of the 791 votes cast that the election was made unanimous. Mr. Stone was elected in 1903 to fill the unexpired term of P. M. Arthur and was re-elected for four years in 1904 and 1909, his election now being the first for a six-year term. The convention proceeded to the election of assistant engineers, of whom four are to be chosen.

In addition to balloting, the convention heard appeals of lodges and discussed features of the brotherhood constitution and fixed Thursday as the time for acting on the insurance features of the order, which are to be considerably changed, according to present plans.

TWO NEW SENATORS FROM LOUISIANA.

Baton Rouge, La., May 22.—Congressman Joseph E. Ransdell and Robert F. Broussard were elected by the Louisiana legislature to the United States senate. Mr. Ransdell succeeds Senator Foster, whose term expires in 1913, and Mr. Broussard will succeed Senator Thornton in 1915.

MORE LIGHTS ON HILLSIDE

At the regular monthly meeting of the Fifth Ward Improvement club, to be held at the Emerson school, Eleventh avenue west and Third street, the early part of next week, the members will take up the proposed new lighting system for the hillside.

Residents in this vicinity have been complaining of late with regard to the improper street lighting in this end of the city. Some of the streets on the hillside are in complete darkness in the evening, the citizens claim. The matter will be the most important taken up during the evening and the members of the club will present a petition to the council signed by a majority of the residents on the hillside.

At the last meeting of the club the matter was first brought up and the residents immediately decided to take definite steps for this improvement. Several of the property owners and members of the club said yesterday that they all expect the council to accede to the wishes of the club. The conditions are evident, they say, and an improvement is absolutely necessary.

Annual Supper.

More than 400 West end residents are planning to attend the annual supper and social of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, to be held in the church parlors tomorrow evening. One of the members on the arrangements committee announced yesterday that all the tickets had been sold.

During the evening a program of musical numbers and recitations will be given. The following members of the society will serve the supper: Mesdames Nell McInnis, Grace Gillon, Esther Butchard, J. Ledingham, A. F. Swanstrom, Donald McRea, Edith Graham, Joseph Olson, Emil Stebner, Henry Nelson, Thomas Bardsley, Frank Mallet, L. A. Cox, John Page, John G. Ross, James Maghan, F. E. Williams, Kearns, J. A. McGaughey, J. W. Ekblad, H. Wheeler; and the Misses Anna MacArthur, Myrtle Craig and Pearl Carter.

Szymczak-Caskey.

Miss Mary Szymczak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Szymczak, 2325 West Seventh street, and Charles T. Caskey will be married next Tuesday evening at St. Peter's and St. Paul's Polish Catholic church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Fifth street. Following the ceremony a wedding supper will be served at the home of the bride's parents to the friends and relatives of the young people.

NEW CLUB TO GIVE DINNER

About 400 Business Men Expected at Greater Duluth Club Banquet.

W. A. McGonagle and Mayor McCuen on List of Speakers.

About 400 business and professional men of Duluth are expected to attend the monthly banquet of the Greater Duluth club, to be held tomorrow evening at the new Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. The meeting tomorrow is the first of a series planned by the club to be held in different parts of the city. The invitation of the West end was extended by John J. Moe at the last meeting of the club.

W. A. McGonagle, president of the D., M. & N. railroad, will be the principal speaker of the evening. Addresses will also be given by Mayor J. A. McCuen, W. I. Prince, Frank Randall, J. J. Robinson and Miss Mary McFadden. Mrs. W. A. Sales will give a reading during the evening. Several important business matters of the club are to be taken up immediately after the banquet. It was announced this morning that the plans for the summer months are to be outlined by the different committees appointed at the recent meetings of the club.

P. E. Dowling, president of the club, will preside at the meeting. John J. Moe, who is now attending the general Methodist conference at Minneapolis as a layman delegate from this district, will attend the meeting tomorrow, if he is able to get away from the conference. Mr. Moe is a member of several committees and if he has no conference meetings for tomorrow afternoon and evening, will come to Duluth for the banquet. This information was learned this morning by Mr. Dowling and Alfred Moe, both of whom telephoned to Mr. Moe at Minneapolis. Should the latter attend the meeting he will take part in the program of addresses.

PAVING PROJECTS TO BE DISCUSSED

West End Property Owners Will Consider Two Big Contracts.

Property owners on Twenty-third avenue west and those on Second street between Twenty-first avenue and Vernon street will meet this evening to discuss paving projects on the respective streets. The former will meet at the Ensign school, Twenty-third avenue west and Tenth street, and the latter at the polling place at Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street.

All the property owners on Twenty-third avenue and the adjoining streets from Michigan street to Tenth street have been requested to be present at the meeting in the schoolhouse. Following the meeting those behind the movement plan to start a petition asking the council for the immeditae improvement of the thoroughfare. If the avenue is improved it will be the only street in the West end that will be paved from Superior street to the top of the hill. The improvement will greatly assist the farmers living back of the hill.

The paving of Second street has been taken up before, but the meeting this evening follows the request of the West End Commercial club last Friday evening asking the property owners on the street to begin action at once. The property owners on the street are anxious to have it paved from the new street car cut-off on Twenty-first avenue west to Vernon street, and then over to Grand avenue. Should the improvement be made, a paved thoroughfare from the center of the city to West Duluth would be the result.

BOYS WILL GIVE PLAY.

The proceeds of the production are to be used in buying baseball uniforms for the club and to defray the expenses of the annual camping trop next August.

The club is composed of thirty-five members, ranging from the ages of 16 to 18. They are the larger boys of the Neighborhood House and since the abandonment of the house at 2432 West Superior street, the boys have been meeting at the Adams school. Miss Jean Poirier is in charge of the various features of the organization.

Ole Kreutzer and Theodore Rude of 2307 West Second street left yesterday for Norway, where they will visit various points of interest in the Scandinavian peninsula. They will also take in the Olympic games at Stockholm, June 29 to July 22. They will sail on the steamship Baltic Saturday noon and will return to Duluth early in September.

BELIEVE MURDERER DEAD.

Chicago Police Think Train Victim Killed Miss Quinn.

Chicago, May 22.—No doubt remains in the minds of the Chicago police that C. C. Dillon, who was killed by a train in a suburb last Saturday, was the slayer of the Los Angeles murder victim, and that Miss Minnie Quinn, a former Chicago domestic, was the slain woman.

Important developments in the case follow:

A trunk which relatives of Miss Quinn told the police belonged to her, was found in Dillon's home. The traveling bag he carried back from Los Angeles also was identified as Miss Quinn's. Railroad employes told detectives that Miss Quinn boarded a Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific train in Chicago for Los Angeles on the night of April 15.

Mrs. Dillon admitted that her husband, on his return from California, gave her a diamond ring, a woman's watch and a gold bracelet. She turned them over to John Adcock of Richmond, Va., a cousin of Dillon, who is now taking Dillon's body to that city. The police telegraphed Adcock in an effort to recover the jewelry. Miss Quinn is known to have had a diamond ring and a gold watch.

SECRETARY HALDANE ON VISIT IN GERMANY.

London, May 22.—Viscount Haldane, secretary of state for war, left for Germany last night. It was surmised that he would continue his mission begun in the early spring relative to international relations and the restriction of armaments, but it was officially stated that Secretary Haldane's visit to Germany was purely of a private nature and was undertaken for his health. It is announced further that the secretary is not going to Berlin.

WARNING TO USERS OF SO-CALLED SUPERFLUOUS HAIR "CURES"

Every woman must realize that even when a soft fuzz is removed by thes so-called superfluous hair "cures," which stimulate the growth after each removal, that it will only be a question of time before she will have to resort to the use of the razor, because eventually the hair will become so coarse that no preparation will be strong enough to remove it without ruining the skin.

Why take the risk of disfigurement by using these unknown and uncertain means for removing superfluous hair, when there is such a safe method as DeMiracle—the one perfected, non-poisonous and harmless depilatory that dissolves hair, thereby taking the vitality out of it, consequently retarding and preventing an increased growth.

Don't be deceived by the imitator and imposter who resorts to copying certain phrases of the DeMiracle advertising to inveigle you into using a worthless, poisonous concoction, the continued use of which will produce eczema or other serious skin diseases. When a faker tries to deceive and delude you by alluring and impossible claims, tell him that DeMiracle Chemical Company will forfeit Five Thousand Dollars if it can be proven that any so-called superfluous hair "cure" ever eradicated one single growth of superfluous hair. Insist on proof when a claim is made that such a preparation is "indorsed by the medical profession."

To substantiate our claim that DeMiracle is the only depilatory that has ever been indorsed by reputable physicians, surgeons, dermatologists, medical journals, prominent magazines and newspapers, we will send copies of the testimonials on request.

The mere fact that fake-dangerous preparations are short-lived should alone be sufficient warning to avoid the use of any depilatory but that of proven merit. DeMiracle has stood the test of time. It was the largest selling depilatory ten years ago and more of it has been sold each year since than the combined sales of the nostrums.

All reliable dealers sell and recommend DeMiracle, knowing it to be the best and safest depilatory. Some unprincipled ones will tell you they cannot procure it so that they may more easily influence you to purchase their own or possibly some other dangerous, worthless substitute under another label for a few cents more profit. To protect you from just such imposition, if your dealer will not supply you, mail us $1.00 and we will send you, all charges paid, in plain, sealed wrapper, a $1.00 bottle of DeMiracle, and we will make you a present of a full-size jar of DeMiracle Cream. If you care to, give us the name of the dealer who tries to sell you a "just as good" imitation or substitute.

Write for free booklet, which will be mailed sealed in plain envelope. DeMiracle Chemical Company, Dept. 3E, Park Ave., 129th and 130th Sts., New York. You can always procure DeMiracle without argument in Duluth from I. Freimuth.

S.S.S. MAKES A LASTING CURE

Not only its proven ability to cure, but its absolute safety as a remedy, has made S. S. S. the most extensively used of all medicines in the treatment of Contagious Blood Poison. Unlike the strong mineral mixtures, which temporarily remove the outward symptoms and shut the disease up in the system, there to carry on its destructive work on the delicate and vital organs, S. S. S. strikes directly at the root, and by purifying the blood of every trace of the virus, completely and permanently cures the trouble. S. S. S. is Nature's blood purifier, harmless in its action and certain in its good results. It is made from a combination of roots and herbs, each of which has a definite and specific action in purifying the blood. Years were spent in selecting and proportioning the different ingredients, but when S. S. S. was perfected it soon demonstrated its superiority over all other blood medicines, and now, after 40 years, it is still the one and only certain cure for Contagious Blood Poison. While driving out the poison from the circulation S. S. S. builds up and strengthens the system by its fine vegetable tonic effects. If you are suffering with Contagious Blood Poison S. S. S. is your most certain reliance, and because of its freedom from mercury, potash or any other mineral, it is absolutely safe for every one. THE PROGRAM AT THE EXTRA SESSION.

The dividing line between the measures that should come up at the extra session of the legislature and those that should go over to the regular session which will begin only seven months later is very clear, and there is no need of confusion or misunderstanding about it.

Only those measures should be taken up which have to do with the coming state election, and those which must be submitted to the people for ratification at that election.

To step beyond that line is to open the doors to an endless amount of miscellaneous legislation which will confuse the issues, prolong the session unnecessarily, increase the expense and lessen the probability of valuable results.

The legislation to be taken up divides itself naturally into two classes:

First, those relating to the conduct of the coming campaign and election.

Second, those relating to subjects which the Constitution requires to be ratified by the people.

Under the first head naturally fall the statewide primary, which should of course be accompanied by an effective corrupt practices act, and reapportionment, which if it is made effective at once, as it should be, will change the legislative districts and so affect the conduct of the election.

Under the second head as naturally fall the initiative, referendum and recall, which will take the form of constitutional amendments and must be referred to the people; and the increase in the railroad gross earnings tax, which under the Constitution must be ratified by popular vote.

There should be but one exception to this rule. Possibly the legislature, if matured and practical measures are ready, may choose to enact railroad regulation measures of one kind or another. This sort of legislation might be easily classed as emergency measures in view of the situation into which the state has been plunged by the Sanborn decision.

This program—statewide primary, corrupt practices act, reapportionment, increase in railroad taxes and the initiative, referendum and recall—would be a credit to the legislature and to the state. But one step across the line dividing such measures as these, having to do with the pending election, will open the door to a flood of measures which might easily be used to defeat the vital measures that should be adopted.

Right at Home, Too.

Apparently there is some tendency toward the existence of "a mob" even in Ohio.

TO DISTRIBUTE IMMIGRATION.

A deplorably large percentage of incoming immigration swarms into the great cities.

It increases congestion in slum centers. It increases the perennial surplus of labor in the large cities. It deprives the country of this new labor in places where it could be used.

It is interesting to note, therefore, the organization of the "American Immigration and Distribution league," which was launched last month. Associated in the work of organization are said to be the governors of ten states, the mayors of more than twenty large cities, and representative citizens of every state. Governor Burke of North Dakota and Governor Vessey of South Dakota are chairmen of committees.

"Briefly stated," says a circular issued by the league, "the purpose is to relieve congestion in the large cities by distributing immigrants throughout the West and South, where there are thousands of acres of tillable land lying idle, and make farmers of them instead of sweatshop and factory slaves and dwellers in dark-holed tenements. * * * Not only does the league intend to divert immigration to the West, but it aims also to extend the same opportunities to aliens who have tried labor in the cities and find it next to impossible to make a living there."

This is a splendid program. It deserves support and success, for it is needed, both by the immigrants and by the nation.

Also, You've Gotta Quit—

Jumping Jehosophat! Maybe some respect has got to be shown to that hat yet.

IN MR. TAFT'S HOME STATE.

President Taft's failure to carry his own state meant his defeat for the nomination. The overwhelming Roosevelt victory that occurred yesterday only makes the result more certain for Roosevelt and more humiliating to the president. At this writing it appears that out of forty-eight delegates from the president's home state Mr. Taft will get but ten, and Col. Roosevelt will get thirty-eight.

The president has lost Ohio, Illinois, North Dakota, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, California, Kansas, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska and several other states, ranging from coast to coast, which he would have to carry, if nominated, to stand the slightest show of winning at the election. Even if he has a large list of delegates, mostly from Democratic states where officeholders dominate the Republican conventions, and even if by deciding all contests in his favor he could be nominated, it would be party suicide to nominate him. The chances are that from this time on the impressive total of delegates claimed for him will melt rapidly.

And now that the president is beaten, overwhelmingly and emphatically wherever the people have had a chance to vote, he is entitled to the sympathy of everybody for his bad luck. Not his bad luck in failing to gain the renomination, but his bad luck in being made president.

It is not so much stolid conservatism or sympathy with reaction or faithful obedience to the powers that have ruled the Republican party through its years of prosperity and that are now rushing it to ruin, that is responsible for Judge Taft's failure, as it is the fact that the presidency was the last public position for which he was fitted. It is hardly more discreditable to him that he has failed as a president than it would be if he had suddenly been called upon to paint a masterpiece and had fallen down on the job. He was called to be president in a time when the highest qualities that ever graced a president were needed; and that was his misfortune. In a quiet, peaceful, prosperous time like the first McKinley administration probably he would have done very well, and gained a renomination without much opposition.

Life puts it fairly: "If it is to blame Mr. Taft, blame him for not having webbed fingers, or wings, or such attributes to qualify him to disport in elements for which he was got intended. Mr. Taft is all right, and excellent of his kind. The trouble is, it is the wrong kind for his present employment."

And that's the whole story. He should feel bitter toward Col. Roosevelt, not because he took the nomination away from him this year, but because he gave it to him four years ago.

While Governor Harmon did much better in his home state than the president, a remarkable feature of the Democratic contest in Ohio was the splendid run made by Woodrow Wilson, who without entering the state made a highly creditable showing in the vote, and got a number of delegates. Any delegates at all, in the circumstances, is a triumph for Wilson.

Mercy on Us!

And just to think that even Ohio should join the soapbox brigade!

THE DEMOCRATS AND THE PRESIDENCY.

If President Taft were to be the Republican nominee for president, the task of the Democratic party would be quite simple. Though even then it would not be true that it could win with any man it might put up, it would be true that it could win with men who couldn't win in a close fight.

But it is becoming very plain that Taft will not be nominated.

Ohio yesterday told the tale, and now there is little chance that Taft will receive the nomination.

If it is Roosevelt, the Democrats will have to make a hard fight with the best man they can put up. If it is a dark horse, and the dark horse can qualify as a progressive, the fight may be harder still, because such a candidate might harmonize differences that will persist through the campaign with either Roosevelt or Taft as the nominee.

It is no time to fritter away a nomination. Though the signs for a Democratic victory could hardly be stronger, the Democrats must not be deceived in the character of these signs. They do not point to the election of a Democrat—any Democrat—simply because he is a Democrat. They do point to an intent on the part of the growing mass of independent voters to support a progressive candidate wherever they can find one that they can have confidence in.

To meet such a condition the Democrats must nominate not only a progressive candidate, but a candidate whose caliber and capacity are so evident that he will immediately gain and keep the public confidence.

Woodrow Wilson is that kind of a candidate. No Hearst supports him. No indicted trust magnates are urging his candidacy. No third term bogey attaches to his cause. His very enemies inspire public confidence in him. His most powerful ones were gained because he refused tainted money for his campaign fund. His most brutal ones were gained because of the Hearst venom toward all candidates whom he cannot dominate. He is sound on the vital issues and he treats them clearly, openly and fearlessly.

Woodrow Wilson appeals because of what he stands for, and because of the open, clear and positive manner in which he advocates right things in a people's government. He appeals as strongly because of the character of the opposition to him. Through the nomination campaign the field has been against him, with the bitterness of its opposition intensified in direct proportion to the reactionary tendencies of the elements that compose it. The more Bourbon the Democrat, the more bitter his opposition to Wilson.

When Henry Watterson compared Woodrow Wilson to Tilden, he told the truth. When Wilson rejected Waterson's offers of tainted money he began telling other things than the truth about him, but his unbiased early judgment was sound.

In Woodrow Wilson the Democratic party has the opportunity to nominate a candidate who will be as creditable to it as any candidate it has had in its history, and that is the history of the country. It has the chance to nominate a man of presidential caliber—clean-cut, clean, clear-minded, high-idealed, forceful, with the right thoughts and the faculty of expressing them in a way to appeal to the hearts and consciences of the voters. He is not only a Democrat, but a democrat; not only a true spokesman of traditional Democratic policies, but a believer in true democratic government—which is a government of, by and for the people; a government for the common good; a government by and for the masses, never by and for the classes.

Woodrow Wilson for president is not only the hope of the Democratic party. He is the hope of the nation in a troubled time.

The Commercial Club's Good Work.

The public affairs committee of the Commercial club will appoint a committee tonight to co-operate with the charter commission in framing and submitting to the voters a commision plan charter for Duluth. This action of the committee, which is already heartily on record for commission government, is another evidence of the splendid constructive work the Commercial club is doing for Duluth.

VALUABLE HELP.

The News Tribune is dancing excitedly about on the side lines, trying to find an opening through which to brickbat the Wilson candidacy.

Local Wilson supporters should appreciate the help this will be to them.

And in his home state, too!

But don't let's overlook the nice little run that Woodrow Wilson made in Harmon's home state.

By a wise and kind dispensation of Providence, these campaign orators don't have to believe all they tell the people.

Evidently the present campaign isn't unmixed with good for all sides. Senator Crane of Massachusetts has declared he will not seek re-election.

NO CASE AGAINST THE CAR MEN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The figures and statements of General Manager Warren in The Herald of May 20 are misleading and equivocal. We will start with fundamentals and deal with facts.

Labor as a commodity is bought at, nominally, the price of its maintenance.

The street railway is operated and managed throughout by purchased labor, mental as well as physical.

The street railway is operated for profit, occupies the streets by sufferance of a franchise and exists because of a public necessity for transportation.

Its stock and bond holders "eat of the fat of the land in sloth" by virtue of underpaid labor.

That its managers and superintendents must produce profit regardless of the welfare of its workers, who are compelled to work long hours and commence and quit work at the most outrageous time of day, seven days a week.

This corporation "has never granted an increase in pay on any demand of any organization," in other words it being in itself an organization possessed of vast wealth, denies the right of propertyless workingmen to organize and bargain collectively for the sale of their very lives. It must take advantage of the condition of the individual and dictate its own terms.

So much for fundamentals.

The United States statistical abstract shows that the prices of all commodities for subsistence have advanced 41 per cent between 1897 and 1910. The fact that wages on the street railway have been increased 70 per cent signifies nothing unless analyzed by simple arithmetic. Seventy minus forty-one is twenty-nine. The "real" wages, purchasing power considered, of the street car men have increased only 29 per cent.

Are the men satisfied? The strike vote doesn't indicate it. A wage of 22½ cents an hour for twelve hours is $2.75 per day. For a seven-day week that is $19.25, almost as much as Rockefeller gets in a quarter of a minute.

Alongside of the table showing the marvelous increase of street railway men's wages let the street car company also produce the figures that will show that in the last ten years the increase in the value of franchise and the potential value of the system is almost beyond a wage earner's conception; that its capital has increased, its earnings have increased, its dividends have increased and its interest on bonds has increased.

Its own figures will show that each man employed now handles more passengers, makes faster time, and produces more profit for the company, and the average cost of operating, per man, has decreased.

And labor's real share in all this progress and prosperity has been what? Just 29 per cent real increase in fourteen years on a nominal wage of 13.28 cents an hour.

The company should come down off its perch and meet the committee from the men who have made it rich.

WILLIAM E. TOWNE.
Duluth, May 21, 1912.

A DANGEROUS TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

Minneota Mascot: What is news? It is something out of the ordinary!

The usual is not news.

It is not news that the sun rose this morning.

The fact that within a given circle no death occurred during the night is no news, for that is the usual condition. A death breaks the usual order and hence is news.

What are we driving at?

Simply this: When the Western Passenger association refused to grant the petition of the Southern Minnesota Better Development league for homeseekers' rates to Southern Minnesota, without the homeseekers having to go to the Twin Cities, there was no "news" created.

Discrimination in favor of the large centers is the usual thing with the railroads.

The Western Passenger association is an organization of railroad interests from which discrimination of this nature may be expected — in fact, an action from such a body that would give the small towns and the rural communities the same opportunity to develop that is constantly given the large cities would be a surprise—would be "news" indeed.

A homeseeker who wants to come to Southern Minnesota cannot take advantage of a homeseekers' rate unless he buys a ticket to Minneapolis and goes there for the purpose of having his return ticket "validated."

Thus all homeseekers are compelled to go to the Twin Cities whether they want to or not. If they don't go they will have to pay the extra fare.

Why should a man be compelled to travel from 100 to 200 miles beyond his destination in order to get a homeseekers' rate to the locality he contemplates investing in?

Why should a man from Iowa who comes to Lyon county to look for land have to go to Minneapolis if he wishes to take advantage of a homeseekers' rate?

The reason for this is only too plain. It is a scheme to boost the big cities.

The "big business" of the big cities is in league with the big men of the big railroads and the whole combination pulls for the "big centers."

That is why, Mr. Homeseeker, you must pay toll at the Twin City gate every time you want to come to Minnesota.

Was there ever a more flagrant discrimination?

Was there ever a more striking example of the unfair and dishonest tactics employed by railroads in making and maintaining the "big centers?"

The same discrimination exists in the matter of freight rates. Certain localities are favored at the expense of others.

Is it any wonder that we say that a fresh instance of discrimination by a railroad company has small if any news value? An instance where that discrimination was not exercised would indeed be a matter of news.

It is to combat this injustice, it is to fight this unfairness, it is to assist in the destruction of this discrimination that organizations such as the Southern Minnesota Better Development league have been formed.

The small towns and rural communities of the state must organize, must stand shoulder to shoulder in this fight against the triple alliance of big business, big railroads and big cities.

The discrimination of the railroads against the small towns and in favor of the large cities is not a dream, is not merely the ravings of some crazy crank—it is a stern, vital, important fact.

Remarkable.

Washington Star: Senator Simmons was talking about a boom.

"I congratulated him on the boom," said the senator laughing, "and he appeared astonished that I knew anything of it. But I told him I had a keen sense for booms, even for little ones. I explained that I was like the Newbern urchin.

"A Newbern urchin used to call on a certain old lady every Saturday afternoon and she would give him a piece of cocoanut layer cake. But one Saturday, as she expected company for tea, she decided not to cut the cake and therefore none was offered to the urchin.

"He said plaintively as the time came for him to go:

"'I believe I smell cocoanut layer cake.'

"The old lady laughed, went to the cupboard and cut him a very tiny slice. When she gave it to him he thanked her and said:

"'But it seems strange that I could smell such a little piece, doesn't it'"

THE GOVERNORSHIP.

The People in Control?

Willow River Farmer: The way to elect Gordon governor is now clear. The bosses are subdued, the machine shattered and the people are in control. Just a little attention to fundamentals is all that is required to make him chief executive of our great state.

How About the Governor?

Chisholm Tribune-Herald: That must be a hard pill for Boss Smith to swallow to have it come from the Taft headquarters that they blame the loss of Minnesota to Boss Smith and class him with Penrose, Crane and Lorimer. No doubt both Smith and Eberhart's connection with the Taft campaign hurt the president in this state.

Eberhart Is Next.

Perham Enterprise: The "Old Guard" might as well have submitted to a presidential preference primary. The turn over of the Smith machine could not have been more complete anyway and it would have saved Eberhart's face. The voters evidently took the governor's pronouncement that he favored Taft, but the people could do as they liked at its face value. Taft got the axe and Eberhart is next.

A Prediction.

Luverne Journal: The Republican party of Minnesota has repudiated boss rule. Adolph-O.-Ed.-Smith-Eberhart will NOT be renominated.

Rejected!

Alexandria Post-News: The Republican county convention Monday wrote the word "rejected" across the administrative record of the governor of this state. If the protest which the presentation of his name occasion is any indication of the sentiment of this county, Governor Eberhart is in bad in Douglas county. The resolution to indorse his work as governor was rejected and trampled upon. Not a voice was raised to silence the invectives. Objections to the governor were not given in detail, but the protest there recorded was emphatic and left no uncertainty as to the sentiment of the delegates there assembled. And it was a representative gathering of the Republicans of Douglas county, quite as large as any held in recent years. Sum up the objections entertained by the voters of this county and that most universally held is the belief that the governor is aligned with a political machine, controlled not by the people, but by the interests, and that the governor evades the live issues before the people, exalting the unimportant. That these convictions are deeply seated was evidenced by the vote of this convention.

Hard on Governor.

Fergus Falls Journal: The severe defeat of Edward E. Smith in Hennepin county, together with the Roosevelt victories all over the state cannot but be regarded as a severe setback for the Eberhart-Smith machine. President Roosevelt in his appeal to Minnesota to stand for progressive ideas named ex-Senator Smith as one of the bosses who was opposing him and blocking legislation which the people wanted. That the Eberhart organization was squarely behind the Taft movement is not to be doubted, as a very large proportion of the appointees did all in their power for Taft. Moreover, when breakfasting at the White House, Governor Eberhart promised to stamp out progressiveism in Minnesota.

A "Goose-Egg."

Cambridge North Star: Eberhart ran a poor third in the governorship race in Kandiyohi county. This is the only county in the state which has elected delegates to the July 2 convention, so Eberhart's score to date is zero, with a big 0.

Eberhart Is Frank.

Northfield News: Governor Eberhart replied to the query of Editor Hughes of Farm Stock and Home that he is not spending any of his own money in the campaign for renomination. No one ever supposed he was. Our governor is often delightfully frank.

A Judge's Silly Statement.

New York World: In explanation of his course in denying naturalization to Leonard Oleson, a Socialist, United States District Judge Hanford of Seattle says:

Oleson admitted that he is a Socialist. * * * He claimed to have a clear understanding of the Constitution of the United States and to know that by one of its articles deprivation of life, liberty or property without due process of law is forbidden, and yet the evidence introduced in his behalf proved that the party with which he is affiliated and whose principles he advocates has for its main object the complete elimination of property rights in this country."

After a further discussion of the principles of Socialism, Judge Hanford adds: "Those who believe in and propagate crude theories hostile to the Constitution are barred."

The vote for the two Socialist candidates for president in 1908 was over 434,000. According to Judge Hanford's view, all of these Socialist voters, if they were applicants for naturalization, should be rejected.

The basis of the grievance of Theodore Roosevelt against the New York court of appeals is that it decided an employers' liability law to be unconstitutional on the ground that it was taking property without due process of law. If Mr. Roosevelt and all the people in this country who accept his views were seeking to be naturalized, they should be barred from citizenship because of their theories of property rights.

The law confers on judges in naturalization proceedings the widest discretion. But the law also presumes that judges shall possess a modicum of common sense and a certain measure of intelligence.

What Hurt Watterson.

New York Evening Post: It is of no use for Wilson's friends to count up more than 200 delegates for the governor, already chosen, and to affirm that he has a good chance at Baltimore. Col. Watterson has announced that the Wilson boom is dead and buried, and that, of course, settles it. We are bound, however, to question the Louisville doctor's post mortem. He declares the cause of death to be Governor Wilson's "somersault from intensely conservative gospels." This might have had a deadly effect upon others, but it certainly did not upon Col. Watterson. With full knowledge of the "somersault," he was heartily in favor of Wilson's nomination, and was even disposed kindly to take charge of the governor's campaign. But when Wilson had something pretty hard to say of the money which Watterson proposed to ask from Thomas Ryan—"dirty money," the phrase is reported to have been—Col. Watterson at once saw that the chill of death was creeping over that candidacy.

Rallying the Lady Soldiers.

San Francisco Call: 'Twas in the year 2011 and the interpid general was rallying her wavering female troops.

"Women," she cried, "will you give way to manly fears?"

A timid murmur ran through the ranks.

"Shall it be said we are clothed in mail armor?" shrieked the leader.

The murmur grew more confused.

"Will you," came the taunting cry from their gallant general, "show the white feather at this time of the year, when feathers are out of fashion?"

The effect was wonderful, astounding, marvelous!

"Never!" roared her noble followers. "Never!"

And, forming themselves rapidly into battle array, they once more hurled themselves relentlessly upon the enemy.

Blue Blood and Brains.

Life: Director Greenman of the Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology in Philadelphia proclaims that "blue blood" does not necessarily decrease the size of brains.

Granted. On the other hand, however, brains certainly decrease the importance of "blue blood."

BACKED TO THE WALL.

Albert Lea Tribune (Rep.): "If the people are intelligent enough to decide who they want for president, they are also intelligent enough to decide who they want for governor, and should be given a preferential primary on that matter," said a gentleman to the Tribune a few days ago, commenting upon the result of the "soap box" preferential primary for president.

It seems that the Republican state convention Thursday took the same view of the matter and passed a resolution asking the Republican state committee to provide for such a primary.

Over in the executive office of the state house at St. Paul, there appeared a handwriting upon the wall, like unto that which was presented in Bible times. The storm of public disapproval of the machine had caused Ed Smith's knees to shake so that he could not stand upon his feet long enough to call the convention to order. The rumbles of the political storm of the state penetrated the walls of the capitol and the governor trembled. He found himself upon a political ship which, like the Titanic, had rubbed up on the rocks of public disapproval and the bottom had been torn completely off, and standing on deck like J. Bruce Ismay, the governor was eager to save himself, let the rest go to the bottom or where they would. So he decided to throw out a life line in the vain hope that it might catch upon some of the rocks of the special interests along the shore and he be pulled in out of the storm.

So he announced that he would call a special session of the legislature on June 4 for the purpose of considering a stato-wide primary law, a corrupt practice act and a reapportionment measure.

We have heard of eleventh-hour conversions, and that they saved the soul. But we never had a real hi~h opinion of the man, or set great value upon the quality of his Christian character, who spent his life other than he should and makes repentance as he stands facing the grave. And so with the man who stands at the brink of his political grave, after having deserted the cause of the people and serving the special interests. It is a far cry which has come from Governor Eberhart. With the machine smashed by the people in the primaries of last Saturday, he can hardly expect to get in good standing by being forced to it. He has told us that there was no call for this legislation and that the legislature having had an opportunity to pass these measures, could hardly be expected to reverse itself now. It took Olesen's case to get the idea a political cyclone to get the idea drilled into his head, and then it came too late to save him.

Governor Eberhart had his opportunity to call a special session of the legislature and profit by it, when early last winter Speaker H. H. Dunn of this city led an appeal for such a session in the interest of the people, and mapped out a program of legislation which ought to be considered. This program embraced measures which the people of Minnesota wanted and demanded. The governor said then that there was no demand for it. A month ago he declared there was no demand for an extra session for a preferential primary law.

It seems that some people have to be kicked to take a hint.

The Vigil-at-Arms.

I drink old voices, dacar and out of kin;
Half uttered walls of prophecy begin—
I hear of heroes dying, in the din
Where dies the deep.

I am afraid, Lord; is it thither thou
Would'st have me go?
I am afraid, and would wend backward now
Where violets grow;
My heart is fickle for the fields, I yearn
Once more at eve to see my windows burn—
Once more, ah, let me, down old paths to turn—
I love them so!

Nay—'t is the morrow, yonder leaded panes
No more are dim
With dark browed infidels, but are the fanes of seraphim;
And holy saints and warriors are dight
With jeweled colors flaming in their flight,
And out of heaven, wrapt in lovely light,
The rafters swim.

It is the morrow, Lord, the sweet airs blow
Up the long nave,
And plight the day's full troth, yet• • ere I go,
One thing I crave;
Thou that art death, and ridest on a sword;
Thou that are love, upon a cross adored;
Thou that art life, and life eternal, Lord
Let me be brave!

Circumstantial Evidence.

Harper's Weekly: There was considerable chill in the air, and Sniffley didn't know whether it would be wise to begin a conversation with Mrs. Sniffley or not. Finally, however, the silence became too arctic for comfort, and he decided to risk it.

"Beautiful morning, my dear," he observed, as he lathered his chin.

"Don't talk to me, Mr. Sniffley," retorted the lady. "I am disgusted with you. You needn't fool yourself into thinking I don't know in what condition you and Mr. Bagley came home last night. I overheard your conversation."

"Conversation!" said Sniffley. "What did I say?"

"You said you didn't know, when Mr. Bagley asked you which keyhole was the right one, and there's only one in the door!" said Mrs. Sniffley.

Not Wilson's Way.

Knoxville (Tenn.) Tribune: Clark is ahead, but up to this time Wilson has not seen fit to abuse and misrepresent him.

Too Lukewarm.

THE LAST LEAF.

I saw him once before,
As he passed by the door;
And again
The pavement stones resound
As he totters o'er the ground
With his cane.

They say that in his prime,
Ere the pruning-knife of time
Cut him down,
Not a better man was found
By the crier on his round
Through the town.

But now he walks the streets,
And he looks at all he meets
Sad and wan,
And he shakes his feeble head,
And it seems as if he said,
"They are gone."

The mossy marbles rest
On the lips that he has pressed
In their bloom;
And the names he loved to hear
Have been carved for many a year
On his tomb.

My grandmamma has said—
Poor old lady! she is dead
Long ago—
That he had a Roman nose,
And his cheek was like a rose
In the snow.

But now his nose is thin,
And it rests upon his chin
Like a staff;
And a crook is in his back,
And a melancholy crack
In his laugh.

I know it is a sin
For me to sit and grin
At him here;
But the old three-cornered hat,
And the breeches, and all that,
Are so queer!

And if I should live to be
The last leaf upon the tree
In the spring,
Let them smile, as I do now,
At the old forsaken bough
Where I cling.

—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Gardening for the "Nerves."

From Eben E. Rexford's "Amateur Gardencraft": I want to urge women with "nerves" to take the gardening treatment. Many housewives are martyrs to a prison life. They are shut up in the house from year's end to year's end, away from pleasant sights, sounds, fresh air and sunshine. If we can get such a woman into the garden for a half hour each day, throughout the summer, we can make a new woman of her. Work among flowers, where the air is pure and sweet, and sunshine is a tonic, and companionship is cheerful, will lift her out of her work and worry and body and mind will grow stronger, and new life, new health, new energy will come to her, and the cares and vexations that make life a burden, because of the nervous strain resulting from them, will "take wings and fly away." Garden work is the best possible kind of medicine for overtaxed nerves. It makes worn out women over into healthy, happy women. "I thank God, every day, for my garden," one of these women wrote me, not long ago. "It has given me back my health. It has made me feel that life is worth living, after all. I believe that I shall get so that I live in my garden most of the time. By that I mean that I shall be thinking about it and enjoying it, either in recollection or anticipation, when it is impossible for me to be actually in it. My mind will be there in winter, and I will be there in summer. Why, do you know I did a good deal more housework last year than ever before, and I did it in order to find time to work among my flowers. Work in the garden made housework easier. Thank God for flowers, I say!"

Yes, God be thanked for flowers!

Conservatives.

Life: Conservatives are those who are getting the most benefit from things as they are. To get the most benefit from things as they are means to have a great deal of power. Conservatives, therefore, are the powers-that-be of things-as-they-are. Accordingly, it isn't so much that conservatives are opposed to change, but that they wish to get the most benefit of any changes that might come about.

If it were necessary to pay more for

than for other kinds you could well afford to pay it.

Mr. W. E. Clark of Waterloo, Iowa, has gone thru the mill in tire experience, and has discovered (as a good many motorists are discovering) that tires are not all alike.

He says—

"I wish to say unsolicited that G & J Tires have been the most satisfactory tires we have ever used in the past seasons. It is hard to express one's feelings towards a tire that has given the satisfaction G & J Tires have given up to the present time."

You can have the same kind of service by using the same kind of tires.

HALF VOTES WILL NOT GO

All Double Delegations to Chicago Ranked as Contested.

Fourth Minnesota District Falls Under That Description.

Chicago, May. 22.—When the Republican national committee meets on June 6 to consider the contests filed by Roosevelt and Taft delegates in a number of states, the members will be confronted with the problem of what to do in districts where more than the specified number of delegates have been chosen, with fractional votes.

Four years ago there were several such cases in Louisiana and the national committee seated the double delegations and allowed them half a vote each in the convention. This year a number of these cases already have been reported, and others are expected. Secretary Hayward has classed each as a contest.

"I take the position that the local conventions had no authority to elect double delegations," said Secretary Hayward.

Might Multiply Number.

"The official call specifically stated the number of delegates to be elected. I have no discretion in the matter under the official call. If state and district conventions were allowed to double their number of delegates, giving each a half vote, there is no reason why they should not quarduple the number with a quarter of a vote each. The seating space in the Coliseum provides for a given number of delegates and alternates, and there is not an extra inch of space.

"If one state has a right to send a double delegation, other states surely have the same right. I intend to notify the delegates in every instance of this kind that a contest is deemed to exist, and put it up to the whole committee to decide whether they will establish what I believe would be an unfair precedent, which would surely result in increased confusion and annoyance at each successive convention."

Case in Minnesota.

Among the instances where double delegations have been chosen are: The Fourth district of Minnesota, the Fifth district of Kentucky and the Thirteenth district of Missouri.

Notice of a contest between Taft and Roosevelt delegates in the First, Second, Third, Fifth and Sixth districts of Virginia have just been received by the committee this afternoon.

Former Senator Charles Dick of Ohio is to handle the Taft contests before the committee. It is expected that the Roosevelt forces will present 175 contests, while the Taft people do not expect to have more than seventy-five.

WORRY OVER WAR ON MEDITERRANEAN

Powers Seek Means to End the Turco-Italian Struggle.

Paris, May 22.—The extension of the Turco-Italian war is awakening the powers to the necessity of making renewed attempts to bring the conflict to an end. Italy's steady occupation of Turkish islands in the Aegean sea, which Turkey has answered by expelling Italians from the Ottoman empire, is regarded here with considerable inquietude.

Italy is now in control of eleven Turkish islands in the archipelago, and this, it is pointed out, totally modifies the equilibrium of force in one section of the water route round the world which, with the completion of the Panama canal, means a continuous global marine movement.

The Temps declares that Italy's ownership of the archipelago changes the whole political map, as the eastern Mediterranean enters into the domain of the Triple Alliance. The turn of events therefore is distinctly against the interests of the triple entente, and chiefly against those of Russia and the time has arrived for members of the triple entente to examine the situation seriously.

Various offers for mediation between Turkey and Italy have been extended, including the calling of a congress of European powers and a proposal to allow Italy to remain in Tripoli as England has remained in Egypt, with Turkey retaining legal control in the country, getting back her islands and receiving additional economic compensation.

PIERCE MEN ENJOINED.

Temporary Writ Follows Filing of Suit By Tilford.

St. Louis, Mo., May 22.—Suit to oust H. Clay Pierce, his son, Clay Arthur Pierce, and officers and directors in sympathy with them from the Waters-Pierce Oil company and for an injunction to prevent them exercising their functions as officers and directors, has been filed in the United States district court by Henry M. Tilford of New York, a director of the Standard Oil company. The suit is one of many recent efforts of the Standard Oil company to wrest control of the St. Louis corporation from H. Clay Pierce.

Following the filing of the petition, a temporary injunction was issued by Judge D. P. Dyer, and the defendants were instructed to show cause May 31 why the injunction should not be made permanent. The injunction, in addition to forbidding Pierce and the others named from exercising any of the functions of their office, prevents the company from entering into contracts.

one but a mere pinhead questions the sincere devotion to these dogmas of their most eloquent champions.

All the same, the Socialists erred in putting Mr. Debs to the front for a fourth time. Monotony palls on the politician as it does on the playgoer; it makes the average citizen jaded and blase, just as the constant reiteration of a virtuous proverb usually propels a man towards courses of vice. The Socialist party is not alone in this situation for the somewhat disquieting rumors that Mr. Bryan may stampede the Baltimore convention, and the growing likelihood of the renomination of Roosevelt suggest a paraphrase of Charles Lamb's line:

Had Other Good Timber.

The Socialists were curiously ill-advised in clinging to their by-gone leader, yet it is a blunder that other parties may make. They were not without fresh timber. Mayor Emil Seidel of Milwaukee seems to have made good in his administration and was next to Debs in the running. Victor Berger, perhaps the best known Socialist in national affairs, is ineligible because of his foreign birth. But in Charles Edward Russell, one of the best known journalists and authors in the United States today, the party had a candidate ready to its hand. Russell has written much of a muck-raking sort, and some of the most charming verse that gets published, for of course there is lots that doesn't. As a speaker he is logical rather than oratorical, and perhaps from the Socialist point of view errs in being argumentative rather than merely dogmatic.

Perhaps, however, the outcome of this convention indicates that the Socialist party prefers noise and perfervid oratory to sober discussion of things Socialistic. Somehow it reminds one of the remark once made by the late Henry D. Lloyd, the most intellectual, and not the least devoted, Socialist of them all: "We would all be for Socialism if it were not for the Socialists."

Exultation Hardly Justified.

The growth of the Socialist vote under the repeated candidacies of Debs hardly justified the exultation of the members of the Socialist party. True in 1900 he polled but 52,704 votes and in 1904 there rallied to his standard 402,460, an increase in the Socialist vote that did justify some thunder of the captains and the shouting. It may be noted in passing that 1904 was the year in which the St. Louis convention paid more attention to insulting Mr. Bryan than it did to nominating its candidate, Judge Parker.

But four years later the Socialist vote, the ticket still being headed by Debs, increased only to 420,860, a practically negligible increase when one considers the time that has been given to the organization of the Socialist party and agitation of its doctrines. In all probability this check in the growth of the Socialist party was due to the fact that a certain number of its members began to think of it as a one-man organization. Nowadays we like three-ring circuses with a few spectacular platforms at either end. Since Mr. Roosevelt has introduced the vernacular of the prize ring into politics and Mr. McKinley, the manager for President Taft, refers to a presidential election as a game, and Champ Clark has hound dogs and moving pictures of himself with bands of Indians to advance his cause, one may possibly fall short of extreme dignity in discussing presidential politics.

Democratic Party May Suffer.

Just as the Socialist party languishes because of its continued domination by the Debs faction, so there is danger that the Democratic party may suffer if its domination by Mr. Bryan shall be maintained. His percentage of the total vote cast in presidential elections has steadily decreased since his first appearance in 1896, when it was 46.51 per cent to the last when it was 43.05 per cent.

The Republican party will not be free either from this tendency of the American people to seek out new leaders and to maintain that principle of rotation in office, which applies equally to rotation in candidacies for office. Of course, it is mere speculation, but no sane man will believe that should either Taft or Roosevelt be nominated this year for the president he would poll anything like the vote given him at his last election. Never was there a sager word said in verse and applicable to politics than: "The old order changes and giveth place to new."

We may speculate as we will on who has these delegates in the Republican or the Democratic convention, partially pledged, mildly instructed or left in that condition of manly independence which merely makes it necessary for them to go to the boss of the delegation to find out how to vote. But all speculation aside, we can figure if we happen to know something about the inner workings of American politics today that out of these two conventions will come two surprises, and that no man whose name is now thundering in the index is likely to appear at the head of the completed ticket.

LORIMER VOTE NEXT SESSION?

Senator's Illness May Help Plans of Backers in the Senate.

Washington, May 22.—Amid speculation in the senate regarding the probable disposition of the Lorimer election case, there are reports of plans for a determined effort to postpone the vote until the next session of congress. Such a move would be warmly fought by anti-Lorimer senators.

A probable delay, for a time at least, was foreshadowed by developments growing out of Senator Lorimer's illness in Chicago. He telegraphed an appeal to have the determination of a date for a vote deferred until he could reach Washington, coupling that with the statement that his physician would not agree to his leaving home at this time.

Senator Lorimer is recovering from combined grip and bronchitis, with a heart irregularity that has aroused some concern among his friends. His physician, Dr. S. R. Laymaker, has told some of the senator's friends that Mr. Lorimer might be able to leave his home within a month.

Senator Lee of Tennessee, representing the anti-Lorimer forces, expected to bring up the case in the senate yesterday in an effort to secure an agreement to a vote, but did not find an opportunity.

THREE SHOT AT DANCE IN NEW YORK GANG FIGHT.

New York, May 22.—Three men were wounded, one mortally, in warfare between rival gangs which broke out in a crowded ball room in Williamsburg last night.

A rattle of revolver shots at midnight interrupted the merriment, and caused a wild rush for the exits, in which a number of the 1,000 persons present were painfully injured. When the smoke cleared three men were stretched on the floor. David Levy, 20 years old, wounded in the abdomen fatally. His brother Lewis had bullet wounds in the legs and another youth was similarly wounded. Only one arrest has been made.

The police hold the Green Point gang from an adjacent territory responsible for trying to break up the dance, which their rivals of the "Williamsburg gang" were known to be attending.

CHICAGO COURTS WAR ON SPEEDERS

Motorist Who Hit Girl Fined $1,000 for "Assault With Deadly Weapon."

Chicago, May 22.—A chain of automobile accidents in the last week, unprecedented in the history of Chicago, has caused city and county officials to declare they will take drastic measures to stop reckless driving. Municipal Judge Gemmill started an active crusade against the "speeders" by fining George S. Scott, who was driving an automobile that struck and injured Anna Falkenburg, 14 years old, $1,000. The charge was assault with a deadly weapon, a new ground for the prosecution of automobile drivers.

County Prosecutor John E. Wayman declared his intention to take personal charge of all automobile accident cases that reach his office. He declared himself in favor of an amendment to the state law on speeding, making it a criminal offense.

"It is as much of a crime to kill a person with an automobile by criminal carelessness as it is to commit murder by shooting or stabbing," he said.

Mayor Harrison also joined the fight. In a message to the city council he urged a revision of the city ordinance regulating the speed of machines. He followed this with a letter to Municipal Judge Olson, protesting against the release of speeders by the city courts with nominal fines.

TWENTY TEETH NEEDED TO BECOME A SAILOR.

It takes twenty good teeth to enable a man to serve on one of Uncle Sam's warships. Such is one of the hard and fast recruiting regulations. No matter how brawny and vigorous a man may be, if he fails in the dental examination, he cannot enter the naval service. J. A. Le Page, the local recruiting officer, remarked today that of all who presented themselves at his office for enlistment, about 75 per cent failed because they did not have the required number of good teeth. Properly filled teeeth are counted as good teeth in the examination. Of seven, who failed in the physical examination yesterday, five would have been well qualified, if it had not been for their bad teeth. Congress has just passed a bill providing for enlisted dentists on the warships. Heretofore, the men have patronized civilian dentists at the shore towns, as opportunities to do so presented themselves.

CRANE TO DROP OUT OF SENATE

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston Is Canddate to Succeed Him.

Washington, May 22. — Senator Winthrop Murray Crane of Massachusetts announces that he will not be a candidate for re-election to the United States senate before the primaries in his state next autumn.

"Some months ago I definitely decided not to become a candidate for re-election as United States senator," said Senator Crane, "but I intended to defer making a statement to that effect until after the Republican convention. There is, however, a proposition pending in the Massachusetts legislature for the nomination of United States senators substantially similar to the existing law relating to the nominations of candidates for the presidency, representatives in congress and state elective offices. If this is enacted as proposed, a much earlier campaign for this office will be necessary, and it is therefore that I make known my position at this time in order that those who may be interested in becoming candidates may have the fullest opportunity to have their candidacies considered.

"In making public my decision not to become a candidate, I wish to assure the people of Massachusetts of my deep appreciation of the loyal support and confidence which they have always given me."

Senator Crane is also Republican national committeeman from Massachusetts. His term in the senate expires March 3 next.

Fitzgerald Is Candidate.

Boston, Mass., May 22.—Mayor John F. Fitzgerald has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States senator to succeed Senator Winthrop Murray Crane. Mayor Fitzgerald in a statement declared the withdrawal of Senator Crane to foreshadow the passage of the senatorial primary preference bill now before the legislature.

MURDERER MAY BE IN CUSTODY

Slayer of Beltrami County Man Reported Captured in Koochiching.

Bemidji, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff A. B. Hazen and deputies left this morning for International Falls in response to reports that Charles Swanland, wanted for the murder a week ago of David Vickstrom at Kelliher, near here, has been located by men who seek to collect the reward of $200 offered yesterday by Governor Eberhart for the capture of the alleged murderer.

Swanland is known to have taken a job on a ditch construction crew north of here. He continually carries his rifle. It is believed that any attempt at arrest will result in bloodshed. Swanland is said to have killed his victim because of too much attention by the dead man to his wife.

NEW THEORY ABOUT THIEF RIVER CASE

Bones Found Near Town May Be Those of Missing Crookston Man.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The bones found west of town recently in what was formerly the restricted district, and were supposed to have been those of an unknown suicide, are now believe to have been all that is left of the Crookston Marble works, who of the Crookston marble works, who dropped out of sight about two years ago.

He was sent into this territory for orders for headstones and disappeared without paying his hotel and livery bills. No trace of him was ever discovered and it was thought at the time that he had gone West. The color of the hair, the size of the remains and the fragmentary evidence which could be secured from the body after lying out exposed to the elements for two years, appear to bear out the theory that the remains were those of the missing man. When he disappeared two years ago, he also left his driving team at the Sundahl livery barn and never returned to claim them. Even the man's name cannot be learned. The remains were given decent burial by the county coroner.

WOULD INCREASE RATES.

Ashland People Aroused Over Telephone Company's Action.

Ashland, Wis., May 22.—It has just developed that the Home Telephone company has applied to the state warehouse commission to be allowed to increase telephone rates in this city. The commission has set June 5 for the hearing. The people are considerably aroused over the affair. The company asks for permission to double the residence rate to $2 for one-party or $1.50 for two-party lines and $1.25 for four-party lines. It also wants the one-party business telephone increased to $3 per month, the two-party business telephone to $2.50 a month and the four-party business telephone to $2 per month.

BULLET HITS CORSET.

Otherwise Bemidji Girl, Accidentally Shot, Might Have Been Killed.

Bemidji, Minn., May 22.—The fact that a bullet accidently fired at her by a friend struck a corset stay and was deflected probably accounts for Miss Anna Rebarchick, aged 19, of this city being alive, although badly wounded at a local hospital. She was accidentally shot by her friend, Miss Anna Teuton at the home of Mrs. Noble of Nymore. Both are well known here. The young women were alone in the house dressing to go out for a call when Miss Teuton picked up the pistol, a 44-caliber affair, that was lying on the dresser. It went off and the bullet struck the other woman in the pit of the stomach, tore through the large intestine, striking the hip bone, where it was deflected down the right leg. It was taken from her leg at the hospital.

FARMER HANGS HIMSELF.

Leaves Home Near Marquette for Cattle and Then Ends Life.

Marquette, Mich., May 22.—While out in the woods about a mile from his home Sunday afternoon, to round up some of his cattle, Henry Prieb, a well-to-do farmer residing at Green Garden, twelve miles south of Marquette, ended his life by hanging himself to a small tree, using a leather belt for the purpose. Mr. Prieb was 70 years of age and is survived by a wife, two sons and two daughters.

Mr. Prieb was evidently temporarily insane when he ended his life. Members of the family noticed nothing strange about him Sunday; in fact they say he acted perfectly rational. Mr. Prieb left home during the early afternoon to round up the cattle, and his failure to return caused some alarm.

CANNOT PAY FOR CHURCH.

Jenkins, Minn., Must Not Appropriate for Union Church.

St. Paul, Minn., May 22.—Citizens of Jenkins, a small village in Crow Wing county, want to pay for a union church they erected, by an appropriation from the city council or by submitting the question to a vote of the people, and if it carries, direct the council to pay it. Attorney General Smith will not let them pay for the church in that way.

"The church and state are separate," he said. "If the building were paid for with money collected by tax, it would amount to compelling some persons to support a house of worship against their will. Hence it would be illegal."

The amount involved is $475.

Rutledge Files on Claim.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. G. Rutledge, the Bemidji newspaper man, was in town this week and filed on a homestead in the local land office. "Doc," as he is known all over Northern Minnesota, was one of the original publicity agents for Cass Lake, but later transferred his energies to Bemidji, where he has resided for the last five or six years.

BUILDING 'PHONE LINE

From Cass Lake Into Northern Hubbard County.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Tri-County Telephone company, formed to construct a telephone line southwest from Cass Lake, has its line now well under construction, and its managers expect to have some thirty miles of its line completed by June 15. The line reaches out into the northern townships of Hubbard county and when completed will have several branches covering a great share of the northern tier of townships of that county. Arrangements are already made to connect the new line with the Northwestern at Cass Lake. The central office of the line will be located in the town of Hart Lake, some ten miles southwest of this village and when ready for business the people of these rural towns will have communication with the outside world.

DANCE HALL ON CASS LAKE HOUSEBOAT.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.—George Lydick is building a houseboat 20x75 feet for use on Cass lake, by the members of a prominent Northern Minnesota social organization in which he is one of the higher officials. The boat will have a dance hall large enough to accommodate four sets and will have kitchen, dining room and four sleeping rooms. Mr. Lydick states that reservations have been made by members of the organization in advance for almost the entire summer and that it is the only boat of its kind owned by the order.

NEGAUNEE WOMAN KNEW THE LATE KING.

Negaunee, Mich., May 22.—Mrs. L. N. Boisen, for several years a resident of Negaunee, was personally acquainted with the late King Frederick of Denmark and with other members of the royal family, and holds the distinction of having been highly honored by the late monarch some few years ago when he presented her with a prize for honors won in school and awarded at the time of her marriage.

Before her marriage Mrs. Boisen was Ingrid Bang, a daughter of Col. Wilhelm Bang of the Royal Heavy Artillery of Fortifications, who died some six years ago, and it was through the friendship of King Frederick for her father that she became acquainted with the monarch and the members of his family. Her father was an intimate friend of the Danish ruler, who visited at the Bang home quite frequently.

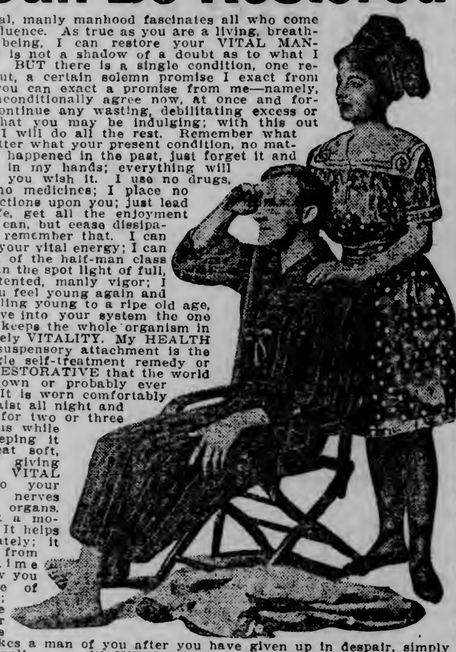
Your Vital Strength Can Be Restored



Strong, vital, manly manhood fascinates all who come within its influence. As true as you are a living, breathing human being, I can restore your VITAL MANHOOD; there is not a shadow of a doubt as to what I can thus do. BUT there is a single condition, one restriction I put, a certain solemn promise I exact from you before you can exact a promise from me—namely, you must unconditionally agree now, at once and forever, to discontinue any wasting, debilitating excess or dissipation that you may be indulging; with this out of the way, I will do all the rest. Remember what I say; no matter what your present condition, no matter what has happened in the past, just forget it and put yourself in my hands; everything will come out as you wish it. I use no drugs, no lotions, no medicines; I place no foolish restrictions upon you; just lead a natural life, get all the enjoyment you possibly can, but cease dissipation; always remember that. I can then restore your vital energy; I can take you out of the half-man class and put you in the spot light of full, healthy, contented, manly vigor; I can make you feel young again and keep you feeling young to a ripe old age, because I drive into your system the one thing which keeps the whole organism in balance, namely VITALITY. My HEALTH BELT with suspensory attachment is the greatest single self-treatment remedy or VITALITY RESTORATIVE that the world has ever known or probably ever will know. It is worn comfortably about the waist all night and every night for two or three months. Thus while you are sleeping it sends a great soft, potent, life giving current of VITAL FORCE into your blood, your nerves and your organs. There is not a moment's walt. It helps you immediately; it commences from the first time worn to show you the sunshine of new energy; it takes the kink out your back in one night; it makes a man of you after you have given up in despair, simply because it supplies you with VITAL POWER—which means manhood. Just stop to think. You have the same organs, nerves and fibre, the same makeup exactly that healthy, vigorous men possess, the only difference being you are under tone; you need a foundation of NEW VITAL RESERVE, and it is this I give you. There is no reason why you should not be as strong, healthy and vigorous as the best, fullest blooded man of your acquaintance. The matter is easy if you do your part. Never mind about buying a HEALTH BELT as yet; first get in communication with me; read over my booklet and if you want to do so tell me your physical ailments, that I may advise you; then a little later we can arrange in some way for you to try my HEALTH BELT. But first fill in the coupon and get the book free or call at my office. My HEALTH BELT also cures Rheumatism, Kidney, Liver and Stomach disorders.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

ON ACCOUNT of the few cases of meningitis at Justin, Tex., which is only eight miles west of Roanoke, the mayor of Roanoke has issued a proclamation that every citizen of the town must make a thorough clean-up of his premises. As a result a day was set apart for this and everyone got busy and worked all day like Trojans, giving Roanoke the best cleaning she has ever experienced. The meningitis scare has all subsided and people that were afraid to travel on trains are going as usual.

Meningitis is an inflammation of the membranes of the brain or the spinal column and is often caused by irritations of these membranes by dust. Duluth is not afflicted with any epidemic of the disease, but for several years past it has had an annual cleaning day during the spring. This year an entire week will be devoted to cleaning.

DELEGATES FOR WILSON

New Jersey Governor's Managers Say He Has 273 Delegates Now.

Show That Tables Issued From Other Headquarters Are Incorrect.

Washington, May 22.—The managers of the Democratic candidates for the presidency are engaged in a heated controversy as to the number of delegates each candidate has at this time. The Wilson managers complain bitterly of what they assert is misrepresentation.

In a statement issued yesterday they say: "A statement issued from Speaker Clark's headquarters gives what purports to be the present convention strength of the various candidates. Governor Wilson is accredited with a total of eighty delegates, while Mr. Underwood is given eighty-four delegates. This statement can only be described as a piece of silly mendacity. Its absolutele dishonesty, which is known to all men from Maine to Texas, from Pennsylvania to Oregon and from Wisconsin to Oklahoma does not in the slightest affect Governor Wilson's candidacy. It will probably interest the 273 delegates in favor of Governor Wilson's nomination because it assails and questions their integrity. The only possible effect it can have will be to discredit any assertion of fact coming from the same quarter relative to Governor Wilson. The seventy-six delegates from Pennsylvania and the forty from Texas alone will give Governor Wilson 116 delegates. This affords a concrete instance of the methods and imaginary mathematics of the Clark claimers.

Say Number Will Grow.

"Governor Wilson now has 273 delegates to the Baltimore convention, and this number will be materially augmented when the primaries and conventions in the next three states to act, namely Ohio, Virginia and New Jersey, are held. Many of the tables giving the convention strength of the candidates are not only incorrect, but are unfair to Governor Wilson. For instance, in most of the tables Speaker Clark is given the entire delegation from Illinois, when as a matter of fact Governor Wilson carried the Sixteenth congressional district, and the two Wilson delegates chosen by the voters there will vote for the New Jersey governor without regard to the unit rule.

"The tables accord the tight votes from New Hampshire to Mr. Clark, but the state convention specifically declined by resolution to instruct the delegation, which is composed of men who favor the nomination of Governor Wilson. While the convention gave a preference vote to Speaker Clark, it left no doubt as to its intent, for it adopted before final adjournment a resolution, which the press association did not give to the world and which declared:

"'Realizing that conditions may change before the sitting of the national convention and reposing entire confidence in the delegates representing the New Hampshire democracy we refrain from giving the instructions for any particular candidate.'

Wilson in Tennessee.

"In Tennessee Governor Wilson has at least half of the delegation, though most tables only allow him a single delegate. Three of the delegates-at-large, Senator Luke Lea, George F. Milton, the publisher of the Chattanooga News and the Knoxville Sentinel, and S. M. Young are strong Wilson men, a fact well known to everybody in Tennessee. Governor Wilson will have about half the district delegates from the state.

"United States Senator Gardner, who is a delegate-at-large from Maine, is authority for the statement that Governor Wilson has eight staunch supporters among the delegates from Maine. He is backed up in this statement by Representative McGillicuddy, who is also a delegate to the Baltimore convention. The Herald only concedes five votes from Maine to the New Jersey governor.

"Governor Wilson carried a district in Florida, and he also has at least half of the delegates from Michigan, but he is not accredited with this strength."

Daniels Heads Piano Makers.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 22.—W. H. Daniels of Buffalo, N. Y., was elected president of the National Association of Piano Manufacturers. Ed Gram of Milwaukee was elected a member of the executive committee. The convention went on record as favoring the formation of the national chamber of commerce, laying particular stress on legislation directed against misleading advertisements.

SOME FRENZIED FINANCE

Two Methods By Which Duluthians Have Acquired Other People's Money.

A woman who had long been a depositor in one of the Duluth banks recently worked a unique scheme to get a bad check cashed. For years she has had an account with the bank amounting to several hundreds of dollars, and the tellers knew her well. A short time ago she suddenly withdrew her entire account, and then, on the same day presented a worthless check on another bank for an amount of something less than a hundred dollars. The teller, not knowing that she had withdrawn her account, cashed the check without question. A short time afterwards it was discovered that the check was worthless, and upon further investigation it developed that the woman had taken every cent of her money out of the bank. The bank tellers have not seen her since, and are ignorant of her whereabouts.

Some Duluth business men have a way of loaning money with no other security than the savings bank books of the borrowers. But a borrower a short time ago gave a practical demonstration of the fact that such security is really no security at all. He borrowed a considerable sum of money on short time and at high interest and turned his bank book over to the lender. Then he reported to the bank that his book had been lost and said he wished to draw out his entire deposit. All of his money was given to him and he has not been heard from since. Not long afterwards the lender appeared with the bank book and an assignment of the bank account to himself, but he was told by the bank teller that the owner of the book had drawn out his entire account and the assignment was therefore worthless. It hardly need be said that the loan has not been repaid.

GIRL CONVICTED OF THEFT IN RECORD BREAKING TIME

"When I awoke in the morning she was gone."

This is the way that Frank Robertson, a Proctor railroad man, explained before a jury in district court yesterday how he happened to be minus a roll of $100, and it was his story that resulted in the conviction of 18-year-old Gertrude Warnberg. The trial was a short one, lasting but an hour and ten minutes.

Robertson is 28 years old and is employed by the D., M. & Northern road at Proctor. The Warnberg girl, who was found guilty of taking his money, also lived at Proctor. Robertson said that he had known the girl about two years.

On April 12 last Robertson met the girl on Superior street, he said. They drank together at the Rex hotel, he testified. Robertson said that he fell asleep about 8 o'clock that evening and did not wake until 2:30 the next morning. Both girl and money were gone.

Robertson declared that he was very much sobered at that time and notified the police of his loss. The Warnberg girl had taken the first train to Minneapolis, where she was arrested for the offense and brought to Duluth. Detective Irvine, who brought her back, testified on the stand that the girl had admitted to him that she had taken the money. Her defense was that she was drunk.

The Warnberg girl did not go on the stand and no witnesses appeared for her. Her attorney was Austin Lathers, and County Attorney John H. Norton prosecuted. The jury was out seven minutes and returned with a verdict of guilty. The case was tried before Judge Dibell and the jury consisted of Walter Spearin, Harry Harrington, Matthew Prettner, Ralph J. Hall, Edward Mueller, John McCarthy, Calvin Doughty, W. W. Watson, Jr., A. J. Klatzky, C. H. Taylor, Gus E. Peterson and R. G. Foote.

STOVE BLOWS UP; KILLS CANADIAN NOVELIST

Niagara Falls, N. Y., May 22.—Arthur Stringer, the well-known Canadian novelist, was killed and his wife and 2-month-old baby badly injured when an oil stove exploded in their home here.

Mrs. Stringer, who is Jubina Howland, formerly leading lady with J. K.

ARTHUR STRINGER.

Hackett, was preparing milk for their baby when the explosion took place.

No one knows what followed, but when neighbors, attracted by the noise of the explosion, rushed in, they found all three on the floor. The novelist was dead, and the mother and child were rushed to the Memorial hospital in a critical condition.

SAYS FEDERAL JUVENILE LAW IS BADLY NEEDED.

Chicago, May 22.—United States Judge Carpenter refused to permit William Klefisch to plead to charges of violation of the postal laws because he was a minor. Klefisch was arrested while trying to pass three forged postal savings bank certificates several days ago. He was ready to plead when the court interrupted the proceedings by asking:

"How old are you?"

"Seventeen years," replied the boy.

"This lad will not be permitted to plead here now," said Judge Carpenter. "I would like to have the district attorney get in touch with the juvenile court judge and see if he will assume charge of this youth. There is no federal juvenile act. There ought to be one. I don't think it right to make a minor amenable to the same punishment as if he were of age."

BEGIN TESTIMONY IN LUMBER TRUST ACTION.

Chicago, May 22.—Taking of evidence has begun in the prosecution of the Northwestern Association of Retail Lumber Dealers, the alleged lumber trust. Suit for injunction was filed by the government several months ago, accusing the organization of alleged restraint of trade. Government counsel first took up the examination of correspondence between secretaries of the lumber organization.

The government is represented by Clark McKercher, special assistant to the attorney general, and Frank H. Watson, special counsel of Detroit. Milton Purdy of Minneapolis represents the lumber dealers.

SOCIETY IS SHOCKED.

Young Members of Philadelphia Society Dance "Grizzly" in Tights.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 22.—Philadelphia society is shocked over the action of twenty young daughters and sons of some of the most prominent families.

Dressed in tights and skirts that extended only a little below their waist lines, they played "leap frog" and danced the grizzly bear in the ballroom of the Bellevue-Statford hotel immediately following the presentation of an amateur performance, "A Snug Little Kingdom," a Bohemian comedy, for the benefit of the American Stomach hospital.

The young people placed guards to warn them of the return of the patronesses and then they indulged in their game of "leap frog." After they had leaped over one another's backs for ten minutes they danced the "Bunny Hug," "Grizzly Bear" and other dances long since frowned upon here. They were in the midst of their frolic when the patronesses returned.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Joy riding in another man's automobile without his consent is a serious offense in this state. It doesn't make any difference, under the law, whether he's your employer or not.

So Prince Burns, 25 years old, a chauffeur, learned last night when he was arrested on that charge on a warrant sworn out for him by F. F. McQuade of 1414 East Third street for whom he was working.

Burns waived examination when arraigned in police court this morning and was bound over to await the action of the next grand jury. It was reported that under the statute the crime is a felony, punishable by imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

Burns is said to have taken the car out of the garage at the rear of Mr. McQuade's residence at midnight Monday. His reason for doing so was that it had been damaged during the day and that he wanted to have it repaired without his employer's knowledge.

It is claimed that he had a friend make the necessary repairs at a downtown garage, after which they decided that they would use the machine for an early morning spin, taking a third man with them. From the city they made their way to Pike lake, where, it is claimed, the party had a "good time" for a while.

On the way coming back it seems that Burns lost control of the car and ran into a ditch, where it went in the mire so deep that it could not be extricated without assistance. In hauling it from the mudhole with a team hired from a nearby farmer, it is asserted that a spring was broken and the car otherwise injured. Mr. McQuade stated in court this morning that the damage will amount to about $75.

As far as can be learned there were no women in the party, except that on the way to the city yesterday they picked up a woman who was walking to Duluth, giving her a "lift" for the balance of her trip.

Claiming that he had been slugged, knocked down, robbed and dragged under the Sixth avenue viaduct, where he lay unconscious all night, Ed Johnson, a railroad laborer made his appearance at headquarters this morning.

The man had a nasty-looking cut over the temple and his right eye. It looked as though he might have received it by falling against some sharp object, although he claimed that it was there that the robber struck him.

Johnson was not overly clear as to the details of what had befallen him. He denied that he was drunk, although he had been working for several months without tasting liquor and admitted that he had been drinking beer and gin last evening. He was still "dopy" when he told his story to the police, who say that a combination like that would be enough to paralyze almost anybody, particularly if they were not in the habit of imbibing alcoholic stimulants.

About the last that Johnson remembers he left a Bowery saloon with a "friend" who had agreed to get him a place to sleep over night. According to his own tale the "friend" did not lose much time in "putting him to sleep," waiting only until they had covered the intervening block to the Sixth avenue viaduct. Johnson says that he is shy about $4 in cash and a Northern Pacific time check for $25.

Police Surgeon Murphy closed the gash in his head with a couple of stitches, after which Johnson left the station with a detective to make an investigation of his allegations.

The spectacle of a son berating his father, declaring that he was "no good," that he had been a "drunkard as long as he could remember," and that he would no longer allow him in the house, was witnessed in police court this morning.

Jacob Zimmermann was arraigned on a charge of drunkenness and entered a plea of guilty. His son appeared to testify against him. He claimed that he had supported the old man throughout the winter but that he would do so no longer. He said that he would only work until he got a pay day and would then proceed to get drunk. He asserted that he recently got a job at a box factory and that out of $21 he turned over only $15.

The court gave Zimmermann $10 and costs, or ten days in the county jail.

Nell Beaton, for several months secretary at police headquarters some years back, is "in bad" with the young ladies of the state agricultural college at Minneapolis. Nell is suffering from ptomaine poisoning, or something of that kind, and blames his condition to the fact that he ate some doughnuts and "hot dogs," which were served by the girls at the fair at the farm school last Saturday. The girls prepared everything that was served and they amintain that if Nell is sick, it is because he ate too much. The sick man is a senior law student at the "U," and is said to be recovering rapidly. The members of the fair sex declare that he is the only one from whom any complaint has been heard.

OBITUARY

Sir Julius Charles Wernher, head of the De Beers Diamond syndicate, and of the firm of Wernher, Beit & Co., died in London, May 21. Although Sir Julius Wernher was at the head of a great diamond mining organization, Henri Lemoine, a Frenchman, succeeded in swindling him out of more than $200,000 by pretending that he had discovered a method of making diamonds by chemical processes, for which Lemoine, in July 1909, was sentenced at Paris to six years imprisonment.

Count Dmitrijevitch von Der Osten-Sacken, Russian ambassador to Germany and dean of the diplomatic corps in Berlin, died at Monte Carlo, May 22, in his 82nd year. Count von Der Osten-Sacken entered diplomatic life in 1853. Except for the time he served as a soldier in the Crimean war, winning the title of count by bravery at the siege of Sebastopol, he had been continuously in the diplomatic service or in the foreign office at St. Petersburg. In 1895 he was appointed Russian ambassador to the German empire, and despite a severe paralytic stroke in 1899, retained that position for seventeen years.

Orders Sent to All Parts of the Country By Flannery.

Chicago, May 22.—Freight handlers in all parts of the country today received notification that a general strike order has been issued by President P. J. Flannery of the International Brotherhood of Railway Freight Handlers.

INDUSTRIAL BUREAU EMPLOYS A SECRETARY

Dr. B. M. Rastall, now director of the state board of public affairs of Wisconsin, will be secretary of the industrial bureau of the Duluth Commercial club.

A contract between Dr. Rastall and the industrial committee of the club, was today ratified by the board of directors. The contract runs for three years.

Dr. Rastall, on account of his position with the state of Wisconsin, will be unable to remove to Duluth immediately, but he will spend two or three days weekly in the city until he can arrange his affairs so as to come permanently. That will be in two or three months. In the meantime, he will get the work of the bureau started by his weekly visits.

Dr. Rastall has made a scientific study of the subject of civic development for eight or nine years and for the greater part of that time he has been actually engaged in the work. He is recognized by other experts as one of the best civic experts in the United States. In the state of Wisconsin and in its municipalities, he has made constant application of his expert knowledge, and the Commercial club was flooded with recommendations from city officials and public men in Wisconsin.

Dr. Rastall has for some time acted in an advisory capacity in dealing with municipal problems in the city of Milwaukee and his success there is one of the best recommendations of his ability. Fond du Lac and other cities have profited by his work.

Dr. Rastall spoke before the Commercial club April 10 and his theories advanced at that time made a strong impression on his auditors. He is regarded as practical, efficient and thorough and those who worked for the establishment of the industrial bureau believe that it will be conducted along proper lines with Dr. Rastall as its executive.

DR. B. M. RASTALL.

STREET RAILWAY MANAGER READY TO MEET COMMITTEE

In a communication received today by City Clerk Palmer from General Manager Warren of the Duluth Street Railway company, Mr. Warren stated that he is at all times ready and willing to meet with committees from the city council, or any other committee in reference to any matter pertaining to the improvement of service.

The meeting between the representative of the street car company and the council committee to consider the question of the wages of the employes probably will not be arranged until after the meeting Monday night.

The council is very anxious to avert, if possible, labor troubles on the city street car system.

Out of the 200 men employed on the car lines, 150, it is claimed, have announced their intentions of striking unless the company raises the wage scale and agrees to several concessions.

The vote was taken by postcard and it is thought that the entire vote will be in the hands of S. S. McDonald by this evening. The men are unorganized but claim that they will affiliate with the American Federation of Labor after the strike has been called, if it is called.

The Superior men are willing to join the Duluth men, it was announced this morning. They have asked for postcards with which to vote. There are about 100 men employed on the Superior lines and the same wage scale is in force in Superior as in Duluth.

Manager Warren takes the position that the company has no reason to believe that the men are dissatisfied as they have not as yet complained to any official of the company.

Manager Warren did not receive the request from the city council that he meet with a council committee, until this morning and his answer was sent to Mr. Palmer by the same messenger who carried the council's message to Mr. Warren.

BOYS' FIELD MEET WILL BE A RECORD-BREAKER

Despite the cold weather, enthusiasm is running high among the boys of Duluth in the big interscholastic field meet that will be held at the baseball park Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

This is the biggest day of sports for the boys during the whole year, as it is the one event of the year in which every boy in the city has an equal chance to compete. All over the city groups of boys may be seen in the early morning and in the evening practising for the various events.

No school has been picked for a winner, and the contest will be very evenly contested. From the way the entry blanks are arriving at the Boys' department Y. M. C. A., which is directing the meet, it is expected that the number of contestants will be greater than in any previous meet.

Each school team will have a big following of rooters who will be on hand with their school colors and school yells to cheer their team.

The events will be pulled off in the following order: Fifty-yard dash, 75-yard dash, potato race, 60-yard relay race, 100-yard dash, middleweight 100-yard dash, heavyweight one-fourth mile run, one-half mile run, 880-yard relay race, one mile relay.

Field events—Three broad jumps, midget; three broad jumps, light; three broad jumps, middle; running broad jump, heavy; running high jump, light; running high jump, middle; running high jump, heavy; twelve-pound shot put.

Finish judges—Leonard Young, Albert Olson, Dr. R. W. Bowden.

Field referee—A. W. Wegener.

Judges—Julius Nolte, Richard Cullum.

Division officials—Midgets, H. J. Sopher; lightweight, W. E. Laughterbaugh; middleweight, Kenneth Harris; heavyweight, George Kolstad.

Announcer—Edwin Scriven.

Scorers—Rex St. Clair, Caldwell Harris, Russell Duncan, Irving Moore, Douglas Walker.

All the contestants will be weighed at the boys' department Friday, at which time they will receive their numbers, which will entitle them to enter the grounds. Tents will be provided for each of the four divisions.

The prizes for the meet will be to the winning school the silver trophy presented by the Duluth Herald; a silk bannr presented by the boys' department Y. M. C. A., silver watch fobs to the champions in each division, and official interscholastic badges to the winners of first, second and third places.

AUTOMOBILE RIDE FOR Y. M. C. A. BOYS.

The outing committee of the Boys Department Y. M. C. A. is arranging for the annual spring automobile ride.

On this occasion a number of Duluth auto owners lend their machines. The auto ride is one of the most popular outings of the year, and is the only trip of the season for which there has to be a waiting list. Boys desiring to go must hand their names in before Friday night. Places are reserved in the order in which the names come in. The committee is working hard this year to get enough machines to accommodate all who desire to come.

After the trip refreshments will be served at the clubrooms.

While the boys' clubroom and gymnasium are open all summer, a great many outside activities are carried on, including hikes, picnics, athletics, baseball, all night trips, bicycle trips, short camps, flower hunts, swimming trips, observation trips and the big outdoor trip at Camp Miller, which lasts for two weeks. This year will be the fifteenth season. It will be held Aug. 19 to 31. This will enable any boy who hasn't the money to earn it during the summer months and spend the last two weeks of vacation in this ideal way.

DOES NOT DENY HIS GUILT

Harry King, a young married man of Litchfield, Minn., who used the mails as a medium to express his affection for a 17-year-old Duluth girl and who was indicted by the district court grand jury for attempted seduction, stands convicted by a plea which he entered when brought up for trial before Judge Dibell this morning. The court suspended sentence.

King was indicted by the March grand jury, but his case was not brought to trial at the last term of court. At that time he entered a plea of not guilty. Today he asked the court for permission to withdraw that plea and enter one of nolo contendere, which in effect is a plea of guilty.

A nolo contendere plea is one in which the defendant makes no denial or admission of guilt. It protects the defendant in any civil action which might arise from a conviction of this kind. King has been in jail for about two months.

The charge which was brought against the young man was based on letters which he had sent to Miss Catherine Cain, aged 17, who lives with her mother, Mrs. Dolly McAuley on Garfield avenue.

The letters are said to be filled with endearing terms in which King tells her that without her, life is not worth living and that if she did not come to him by a specified time that he would commit suicide.

King met the Cain girl while he was living as a neighbor on Garfield avenue. He paid his attentions to her at that time and when he left for Litchfield, it is claimed, he wrote a number of letters to her asking that she join him.

The girl's mother came across some of the letters and lost no time in taking the matter up with the authorities.

DITCH NO. 3 CONFIRMED

Judicial ditch No. 3, which will be one of the largest in Minnesota and will drain large tracts of land in the northeastern portion of Aitkin county and the southwestern part of St. Louis county, was established yesterday by the district court in session at Aitkin when the court convened for its May term.

One of the first matters to be taken up at the opening of the term was the hearing on the petition of Dr. George Roberts of Minneapolis and others with reference to the establishment of the judicial ditch and the confirmation of the reports of the engineers and the board of viewers who made the preliminary survey.

C. E. Adams, special counsel for the county board, appeared for St. Louis county at the hearing. The ditch will furnish a drainage to a large area of land south and west of Floodwood.

The plan which was recommended by the engineers and subsequently approved by the court calls for the deepening and straightening of the East Savannah river, which is made the main outlet for the various lateral ditches and which will carry the water into the Floodwood river, a short distance below Floodwood, and then into the St. Louis river.

The engineers estimate that the work will cost approximately $150,000, a considerable portion of which will be assessed as drainage benefits against three townships in St. Louis county.

Besides Mr. Adams, other Duluth attorneys who were at Aitkin at the opening of the May term of the Aitkin county court were: Frank Crassweller, H. F. Greene, C. C. Teare and W. W. Watts.

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

SPEAKING of rural ruminations and the good that comes from the country along with the fresh eggs, Jersey cream and those long stretches of intake of air before breakfast, it has sometimes occurred to us in the past that any fighter in the first and violent stages of comebackitis should hike to the country and flirt with nature and get the pure ozone and said fresh eggs and velvety cream under his hide. Most of the fighters like to hang around where the crowd is the thickest and the most demonstrative and tell what they are going to do in the next fight—after just getting licked. In the meantime maybe the fighter is wondering who is going to buy the next one. Precedent should hold up a protesting white hand. Now comes Abe Attell and Billy Nolan. Don't you remember Sweet Alice—excuse us, just a wee bit of old stuff—as we were going to say, you must remember Billy Nolan. He was dubbed the modern Shylock. Doesn't it come back? No. Well, he is the man who managed Bat Nelson when the Battler was the real Romeo along the fight way; he had the durable Dane when he was to the fight game what orchids are to the pink lady whose affections have been coaxed along on the artificial flowers of last December's Christmas rush.

Yes, William has Attell at the presnt time and he has him on his farm out in Lake county, Cal., and he is getting the system of the man Kilbane licked thoroughly acquainted with the germ battlers that lurk in the air of the farm, along with the whispering trees, the rustling dells and the limpid brook, which, by the way, has achieved a fair measure of fame with the spring poets. The plans of Nolan are firmly fixed on the keeping of Attell in the mountain country for at least three months—then the ex-champ can take his little fling at the fight game again.

That is the proper system, all right, all right. When James J. Corbett was preparing for his first fight with James J. Jeffries, the public at the same time holding its sides and laughing at the hiding the first James was going to get, he went up to Lakewood, N. J.—no joke—and became affiliated with the rural role. Corbett remaind there for some time—and then he came out and gave Jeffries the worst licking of his career for twenty-three rounds.

Attell may not come back—and he may; but whether he does or whether he does not, Nolan, the old Fox, has the right system and it will be merely intersting to see this kind of training given a thorough try-out.

WHILE it is not in the least becoming to be a knocker, some of the pictures at hand of Bombardier Wells, the English heavyweight boxing champion, convey the idea on a silver tray that this Wells guy is about the funniest built fighter who ever aspired for lasting success in the four walls of the hempen enclosure. Judging from the latest photos laid on our desk, this Wells man is tall and about as large around the chest as one of those Mexican renegades who have been raised on abuse and cigarettes. He has long dangling arms and a body about the general size of a fireman's hose that has been half inflated.

They say that he can't stand punishment around the body; after gazing with wonderment on the pictures one has the right to believe that Jack Johnson would run the chances of becoming thoroughly acquainted with a couple of non-communicative death guards, a chaplain and the warden, were he to agree to fight the man from the hills of dear old Albion.

Wells does not look good, again referring to the picture, like the geek that is to bring the championship back to the suffering white race. He has the general build of a Marathon runner who has been trying to starve himself in order to avoid carrying excess baggage over the burning sands of the long run route. His lines are not in the least suggestive of pulchritude or the higher Greek idea, or Gerty Hoffman, or, in fact, anything that the reform idea would wave a disdainful hand at.

This Wells boy has been in the hands of the physical culturists for some time, they trying to round out and give tone to his body. Rough bouncers, harsh bartenders and tough brakemen were the physical culture teachers of the early days of Jack Johnson's career. Thus do we see cruel antithesis—the lily and the coarse dog weed.

ARTHUR WHITE, genial, jolly and jocose at times, will tarry a few days after the close of the Orpheum season, then gayly hike for dear Chicago, where he will take in a few of the games of the gayly cavorting Sox. In the St. Paul trials and tribulations of Charley Comiskey, Arthah was one of the friends of the noblest Roman of them all. This old Roman is not one of the men whose memory becomes defective with the warm embrace of prosperity—and therefore we are inclined to believe that the Chicago stay of little Arthah is going to be pleasant and filled with games viewed from the private box of the big chief.

NOW comes trekking over the news trail the story of a secret meeting of the officials of the United States league at Pittsburg, Pa., where stogies are made and art misunderstood—said meeting being for the purpose of gathering enough coin to make Ty Cobb a tempting offer to join the United States league and continue to scintillate. While it is not official, and you can take it or leave it, it has been stated that Andy Carnegie informed the members of the league directorate that were he a young man and had he the energy to weld together another fortune, or had he been more cautious in the gift of libraries, that he would be tempted to donate his humble fortune in the effort to secure the signature of Ty to a Pittsburg United States league team contract.

If the United States league had been able to secure the services of Cobb alone, the future of the league might have looked very bright. The advertising that this famous player would bring to the new circuit would be a sure means of money making; and then, too, it would most likely mean the following of some of the other stars of the big league teams. If some millionaire wanted to do something to gain fame, enduring and of the brand that wine agents covet, he should offer something in the neighborhood of a couple of hundred thou for Cobb to leave his bungalow at Detroit and cast his future with the United States builders of the baseball haven.

MINNY CLUBS MUST REDUCE

La Crosse, Wis., May 22.—President John A. Elliott has given the four clubs included in the Minnesota-Wisconsin league notice to get their teams within the salary limit of $1,100 decided upon early in the season as the monthly maximum expense allowed for wages of players, including managers.

President Elliott has sent letters to the four club presidents requiring them to file with him forthwith affidavits duly executed, sworn to and attested, setting forth that their respective organizations are within the salary limit, and periodically throughout the season similar demands will be made by the league executive. The club presidents are cognizant of the fact that President Elliott intends to enforce the rule to the letter, and it is not anticipated there will be any trouble on this score during the season.

Rain Spoiled Opening.

Rain interfered greatly with the auspicious opening of the Minny league season, but reports received by Mr. Elliott from the cities where games were played indicate that the teams have an abundance of good material and the race for the pennant will be a merry affair, promising numerous good contests. Directors of the La Crosse Baseball association have arranged ir co-operation with merchants and jobbers to close most of the business houses in La Crosse this afternoon, when the Outcasts will play their first game at home against Winona. There will be an automobile parade to the grounds at 2 o'clock and a brass band will furnish music throughout the afternoon. With good weather a record breaking attendance is promised.

The La Crosse association is considering a proposition to put on a carnival for the benefit of the local team in June, in order to clean up some of the financial obligations incurred last year, when there was a deficiency which the directors finally shouldered temporarily.

President Elliott is in receipt of a letter from President Max Conrad of the Winona club expressing his satisfaction with the work of Umpire Lefty Marsh, the former Minnesota university and baseball star, in the opening series at that city. In the first game played at Winona Marsh's decisions were so satisfactory that not a single protest or ripple of opposition was heard during the contest.

Line-Up Announced.

The managers of the four clubs have practically completed the weeding out process necessary in the organization of a team at the commencement of the season, and the present line-up of the clubs is as follows:

La Crosse—Manager, Carl Bond, second base; catcher, William Brown; pitchers, Harry M. Chase, Nally, Morse, Puchsel; first base, Van Horn; shortstop, Welgent; third base, Horan; outfielders, Du Chien, Withrow and Meinert; utility man, Tower.

Rochester—Manager, Arthur Lizette, catcher; pitchers, J. G. Johnson, Fred Weman, Cy Rieger; infielders, Jackson, Herstrom, Joe Weidell and F. J. Dries; outfielders, C. C. Strum, Schmidt, Lawrence Larson, Guilickson.

Eau Claire—Manager, Russ Bailey; shortstop, Kick; centerfield, Bemis; first base, Vigerust; catcher, Benrud; pitchers, Henry Lampmann, George Tower and A. Bearsing; infielders, A. Henning, P. D. Fitch and S. Leopold; outfielders, S. Prone, C. Rife and A. Howe.

MAHAN WILL NOT ROW WITH DULUTH BOAT CLUB CREW

It is practically certain now that Mahan will not row with the eight of the Duluth boat club. As there is hardly a chance for Hare to have a seat in the eight, according to the statement of Ten Eyck, and as Cliff Thorburn may be primed for the junior singles, it will be seen that the coach will have to make the eight out of the material that is on hand at the present time.

Ten Eyck believes that Thorburn is pretty light for the eight. But the Cliff boy is too good an oarsman to keep out of the running. He has been showing exceptional aptitude in picking up the points of the sculling game, and it may be that the Duluth Boat club will have a representative in the sculling event when the singles leave the stake boats, next July.

This will be the first time that the local club has been represented by a sculler for years. Some time ago the club was represented in that sort, the local man failing to finish the race.

The second eight is to be split up into fours. Probably a bantam and junior four will be made out of the material—but plans at the present time are not definite. The material in sight for the junior four is not any too encouraging at the present time.

On the first of June the real grind will begin. Beginning with that date the men will row twice daily and will sleep and take two meals a day at the boat house. From the first of June until the crew leaves for Winnipeg the grind of getting into the very best condition will be kept up.

Whether or not there will be a crew brought here to race the local eight before the boys leave for Winnipeg, is not at all certain at this time. There is a plan being talked over of having the local crews go down to St. Paul and hold an informal regatta with the St. Paul boys, the locals to use the boats of the Minnesota Boat club. Ten Eyck has placed his pedal on this plan, stating that he is unalterably opposed to a race in which his men are not allowed to use the boats they are used to.

Then the Lakeside Boat Club of Worcester, Mass., is willing to come here and give the local eight a tryout before the Duluth boys leave for the Northwestern International at Winnipeg. Worcester has one of the best rowing clubs in the East, but the expense of bringing a crew so great a distance may be the cause of dropping this plan.

There will be some sort of a regatta before the boats are packed in the special baggage cars and sent on their way to the brave and growing metropolis of Manitoba, just what sort, the officials have not the least idea at the present time.

With the realization that Mahan or Hare will not be in the boat, there will be just that much more work for the men. Coach Ten Eyck has told the men just what they must do, and there has been no eight ever representing the club that has showed greater determination or a greater spirit than the eight is showing at the present time.

It is up to the men on hand to work all the harder, and Ten Eyck is confident that he can turn out an eight that will be the equal of any crew that has represented the club during the last few years.

KILBANE-WALSH BOUT A DRAW

Boston, Mass., May 22.—Jimmy Walsh of Boston fought Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, world's featherweight champion, twelve rounds to a draw in the Boston arena last night.

The match was characterized by fast, scientific boxing throughout. For the first eight rounds honors were even. Kilbane was most effective at infighting, while Walsh balanced up the score with telling straight-arm jabs at long range.

In the ninth Kilbane started to mix it up, when Walsh drove a hard left over Kilbane's right eye, tearing the skin and sending a stream of blood over the champion's face. There was a rapid exchange of heavy blows with Walsh having all the advantage.

In the tenth and eleventh rounds Kilbane was aggressive with body punches and short-arm jabs on the chin during the clinches, and secured the two rounds, although Walsh landed frequently on body and face with his right.

The last round saw both men mixing it up from the call to the final bell. Referee Flaherty declared the bout a draw.

ATHLETES SOON TO BE SELECTED

New York, May 22.—The athletes to represent the United States in the Olympic games will be selected, it was announced last night at a meeting of the team selection committee, on Monday, June 10, at 11 a. m., in this city. The American Olympic committee has had conferred on it the right to send entry blanks of as many American athletes as desired, and then enter by cable on June 11 the men officially selected.

Chairman James E. Sullivan sent a letter to all members of the committee in relation to having athletes fill out Swedish entry blanks. If an athlete does not sign a blank, and it does not leave here May 25, properly filled out and signed, he cannot be entered, no matter what showing he may make in the tryouts.

New York, May 22.—The elimination trials to select an American team of three speed boats to defend the Harmsworth trophy, emblematic of the world's motor boat championship, will be held over the Huntington bay course Aug. 26-28. The cup contests will begin Aug. 29.

The Motor Boat Club of America will manage the competitions, and the rules governing the contest will be the same as last year.

Nothing definite has been heard from the French motor boating authorities, although it is understood that an entry is probable for the championship races. Three British owners are preparing for the invasion, and reports from England speak highly of the speed of the entries of Mackey Edgar of the Royal Motor Boat club and Fred May of the Sussex Boat club.

STRAIN IS TELLING.

Marquard Is Showing Result of His Great Pitching Pace.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 22.—Rube Marquard is getting nervous. His career has been an erratic one since he joined the Giants, and from a "lemon" of the sourest kind to develop into a nice big juicy orange has had a little to do with the change in the Rube. Marquard is rather young and takes the profession seriously. His disposition is nervous now compared even to a year ago.

His remarkable showing so far this season has caused the fans all over the country to sit up and take notice and Rube is working hard for a new world's record in the pitching department. But the strain is already telling and while not to any great extent as yet, nevertheless at the present rate, if Rube allows baseball to hold him in its grasp like he does now, he will be near a nervous wreck before the end of the season.

SOX DEFEAT THE DEACONS

Duluth Wins Second Game With Ninth-Inning Rally 10 to 9.

Leber and McGraw Lead in Hitting With Extra Base Swats.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 22.—The Duluth White Sox yesterday won the second game of the series from the Flickertails, a ninth inning rally giving the visitors the contest by the score of 10 to 9.

After Donovan had misjudged Popham's fly the trouble started, this, too, after Grand Forks had piled up a lead of three runs in the last of the eighth. With Kuehn's two bagger, Menzel was called to the mound and Myers was chased to the dog house. The change made little difference to the slugging Sox, for McGraw's glittering triple to deep left center helped swell the score of the visitors, this swat being followed by a double on the part of Meneice and a single by Ted Leber.

All the way through the game was a slugging bee, with the visitors having the better of the bombardment. Several times during the game the locals had chances to sew up the game by a bingle, but the hit was not forthcoming.

In the second with the paths occupied by two runners, Leber swatted the ball far over the fence for the circuit of the diamond.

MAROONS WIN FROM SUPERIOR

Red Sox Let Down With Two Hits and Are Shut Out 3 to 0.

Winnipeg, Man., May 22.—Winnipeg took the second game of the series by the score of 3 to 0. McQuarry, the 17-year-old pitcher, held the visitors to two hits, which sets up a new record for the young league. The locals would have made the score larger but for the excellent fielding of the visitors. The game was even until the fifth round, when the Peggers bunched four hits for three runs. The game was well played all the way through.

REPORT M. & R. AGAIN IS SOLD

Rumor Again Current Backus-Brooks Interests Have Property.

Deer River, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rumor has again sold the Minneapolis & Rainy River railroad, the logging road running north of here. This time it is sold again to the Backus-Brooks interests, who are so extensively interested in and around International Falls, and the report says they will take hold June 1. If the rumor proves true such result would be a benefit to this section, which has never been favorably impressed with the present management of the road. It is expected that the Backus-Brooks people, if they have taken over the road, will extend it to International Falls, thereby giving the settlers north of Big Fork a chance to ship their products to market.

Opens Duluth Market.

The large number of settlers living north of Big Fork have no way of disposing of what they raise without hauling by team to Big Fork, and the roads are by no means good roads and those making long hauls can realize no profit by making these long drives to market. But with the extending of the M. & R. R. road the farmers from the north will be among the heavy shippers to the markets here and at Duluth. One makin~ a trip to the country north of Big Fork would be surprised to see the amount of land that could be put under cultivation if the settler could see a way to get his products out to market at a small profit.

PORTER BROS. ARE SEEKING BIG JOB

Former Hibbing Stripping Contractors Look Over Big Section 27 Work.

Hibbing, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. R. Porter, H. R. Porter and J. D. Porter of the firm of Porter Bros., general construction contractors of Portland, Or., and formerly well known in Hibbing, where they were engaged as stripping operators during the labor troubles on the range several years ago, were in the city yesterday and looked over the Section 27 mine of the Great Northern in the Chisholm district, which is soon to have the overburden removed from it with a view of bidding.

Porter Bros. have been engaged in railroad work since going to the coast and have been highly successful.

Contract Is Big One.

The announcement of the awarding of the contract for the stripping of the Section 27 mine is expected to be made before the end of the present week. The job is one of the biggest that has been offered for bids on the range in recent years. Winston & Dear, Butler Bros., and the Drake & Stratton company are among the local bidders for the plum. It is estimated it will take three years to complete the job.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The prettiest dancing party of the season was given last night by the Bachelors club at the Glen hall. About thirty couples attended. PRETTY MARBLE PARTY.

Given By Two Matrons for Olcott School Teachers.

Marble, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last evening the Staake home was the scene of a pretty party. The entertainment was given by Madames Staake and Vermilyea in honor of the lady teachers of the Olcott school. The house was artistically decorated. Pink and green were the colors. The chandeliers, pictures and moldings were covered with green boughs, which were studded with pink flowers, and to add to the attractiveness little May baskets with green trimmings and filled with pink flowers hung from the chandeliers and formed the center pieces on the four tables which were set for four persons each.

Progressive five hundred was the dulged in up to the lunch hour. Miss Hedin winning the guest prize, and Miss Moffat the consolation prize.

During the luncheon lighted candles were used instead of the electrical chandeliers. One of the clever little features of the after luncheon was the electing of D. M. Vermilyea as toastmaster, and Howard Staake as his assistant, who greatly added to the pleasure of the evening. The following guests responded with quotations, recitations, a good story, or a musical selection.

Messrs.—Barclay, Chamberlain, Currens, Gilbert, Morse, Staake and Vermilyea; Misses Moffat, Klnz, Hedin, Newlander, Bowden, Hegg and Doran.

Wonderful Treatment For Corns, Callouses and All Sore Feet

Millions of people who endure daily torture from sore feet will welcome the information that there is now a simple treatment that positively and quickly cures foot ailments of all kinds. You can say goodbye to corns and callouses; bunions; swollen, aching, bad smelling and sweaty feet. This treatment works right through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Use is once and your feet feel delightful; use it for a week and your foot troubles will be a thing of the past. "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." Amazing results follow. Calocide was formerly confined to doctors' use but now any druggist will supply it. If he does not have it in stock he can get it in a few hours from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is said to be enough to put the worst feet in fine condition.

VIRGINIA AFTER TWO LOT OWNERS

Virginia, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council last night decided to use steam roller tactics against two large property owners who have been notified to put their properties in sightly and sanitary condition and have neglected to comply with the requirements of the board of health. It directed the health department to have men and teams go to work at once to fill pools where water stands on property owned by Joe Karl at the corner of Central avenue and Spruce street and directly opposite the court house, and vacant property owned by Nels Anderson on Central avenue, just south of the Fay hotel.

Otto A. Porier was at the council meeting for the last time as city attorney and his successor, D. D. Morgan, was also in attendance. Although Mr. Poirier had been summarily dismissed from office at the close of the council meeting, he thanked the members for their courtesies during his term of office and they in turn gave him a vote of thanks for his efficient work and devotion to the interests of the city. Alderman Kimball, who was the spokesman for the motion, said Mr. Poirier had saved the city thousands of dollars.

Firm Is Given License.

The license applied for by Walter Darcy for the Landrigan & Darcy saloon, was granted. This had been held up at a previous meeting when John Andrews made a charge that gambling rooms were operated in connection with the saloon. The license committee made an investigation and found it was the partner, John Landrigan, who had operated the gambling rooms and recommended therefore that the license be not withheld from Walter Darcy.

In regard to the proceedings to annex a 1,280 acre tract east of the city, which is largely Oliver Iron Mining company property, a resolution was passed advising and authorizing the finance committee to guard the city's rights, in reference to the proceedings which have been commenced to vacate the plat on one of the forties. In case the court will vacate the plat the city can not acquire the tract that is desired.

Are Found in Hibbing By State and Government Experts.

St. Paul, Minn., May 22.—Two cases of trachoma were discovered among the school children at Hibbing, according to a telegram to Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health from A. J. Chesley, who, with Dr. T. Clark, the federal trachoma expert, is investigating spread of the disease on the range.

"We are also finding trachoma among the miners in all places," the message added.

The city fathers are to inspect, in a body, the improvements that were made last fall and those that are being made this season, this afternoon. The session was livened up by a verbal discussion that arose among several of the city officials in regard to the grades that are being established, and whether the city is ready to do the filling at this time. MELLIN'S FOOD saved these twins' lives

"I am writing to let you know how your Mellin's Food helped two twin baby boys. They were so poor when I commenced feeding them with Mellin's Food that we did not expect they would live from one day to another. Now they are as fine babies as anyone would wish to have; as fat and happy as can be. One weighs sixteen pounds and the other eighteen. I am so thankful that we tried Mellin's Food, as I know that they would not have been living today if we had not. Now if this testimony will help some other poor mother having trouble with her baby, by all means use it."

DEATH DUTIES GROWING.

Wisconsin Inheritance Tax Law More Popular, Says Harrington.

Madison, Wis., May 22.—The growing sympathy in favor of the inheritance tax law is, in the opinion of John Harrington, inheritance tax investigator for the state of Wisconsin, one of the principal reasons leading to a steady growth of the amount collected. He said that no tax is popular, and a new form of taxation is always especially unpopular, so much so that even the courts and officers for the law are often out of sympathy with it. He added that these officials are often reluctant to exert themselves in its enforcement.

Mr. Harrington supplies statistics showing returns in this state from the inheritance tax law ranging from $14,689 in 1904, to $1,192,734 in 1911.

SUMMER CITY OF AMERICA

Advertising Club Wants All Duluth Mail to Spread City's Fame.

Paper on "What Makes an Advertising Man" Read and Discussed.

That the following words, appearing on all of the out-going mail of The Duluth Herald, "Spend your vacation in delightful Duluth, the summer city of the continent," ought to be printed on the stationery of all of the city's business houses, was the unanimous sentiment at the meeting of the Duluth Advertising club, held last evening at the Commercial club.

The meeting as usual took place following a supper. The main subject under discussion was "What Makes an Advertising Man," introduced in a paper by W. B. Brinkman of the George A. Gray company. The after-discussion was participated in by Charles H. Mackintosh of the Clyde Iron Works, Felix Seligman of the Columbia Clothing company, J. S. Strate of the American Carbolite company and H. A. Farnshaw of the Stone-Ordean-Wells company.

The club also had under consideration the proposition of the Twin City Advertising clubs for the creation of a state board of advertising, whose function it should be to examine and license professional advertisers to do business within the state. The general sentiment of the Duluth club was against any such innovation. It was the general opinion that business houses were perfectly able to judge for themselves what advertising men were honest and efficient and what ones were not, without the help of any state examining board.

Charles H. Mackintosh, the president, announced the appointment of the standing committees on education, publicity, membership and finance.

At the next regular meeting of the club, which will be held at the same place two weeks from next Tuesday evening, the subject of advertising in general will be taken up.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

Miss Clara Blandick, who is appearing as Cho Cho San in "Madame Butterfly" at the Orpheum this week, is no stranger to Duluth. She has been seen here on several former occasions, having appeared with Kyrle Bellew in "Raffles" and with Wilton Lackaye in "The Battle." She was also seen here with Walker Whiteside in "The Magic Melody." Miss Blandick also appeared for one season in "Paid In Full" and played the leading feminine role with Cyril Scott in "The Royal Mounted."

"Many people," said Miss Blandick, "have the idea that 'Madame Butterfly' is a condensed version of a drama or of the opera of the same name. It is not. It is the original playlet, which was first produced as a curtain raiser to 'Naughty Anthony.' It has not been changed in any respect, except that Mr. Belasco has provided an entire new scenic equipment for it. It was Mr. Belasco's first venture in the vaudeville field, and judging from the success with which it has met, Mr. Belasco is likely to be heard from again in this line. He put just as much care and attention on this playlet as he does on his bigger dramatic productions, and as far as stage equipment is concerned, it is the most artistic production vaudeville has seen in years, I think."

"An Up-to-Date Invention," the side-splitting comedy sketch which is being presented by Rose Sharon & Co., at the Empress this week is considered by many of the regular patrons of the Empress as being one of the best comedy playlets ever presented at the Empress. "An Up-to-Date Invention" was written by Miss Sharon and is really a masterpiece in the comedy sketch line. The idea of the playlet is different from that of any that has ever been presented at the Empress. The situations are developed naturally and it contains many lines that tickle one's risibilities. Miss Sharon, who wrote the playlet and appears in the leading roles, is a legitimate actress of national repute having appeared in some of the most successful productions of recent years and has also had considerable experience with some of the best stock companies in America. "An Up-to-Date Invention" is Miss Sharon's first venture in the producing line but it has met with such success that Miss Sharon has decided to give up her place as a performer and devote her entire time to writing and producing vaudeville playlets. Because of her wide experience both in the legitimate and vaudeville fields, Miss Sharon has a keen insight as to the likes and dislikes of the vaudeville attendants and she will no doubt meet with much success as a producer.

HOT WINDS BULL WHEAT

Fears of Damage to Crops in the Southwest Send the Price Up.

Scarcity of High Grade Flaxseed Causes Value to Move Upward.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 22.—Wheat had quite a bull movement on the North American markets today, mainly by reason of the reports of hot, dry winds in the Southwest. There were some messages, however, notably a telegram from Wichita, Kan., ridiculing these statements, but the pessimistic advices had their effect nevertheless. Moreover there were rust reports in southeast Missouri. The bullish situation was enhanced by complaints of too much rain in the spring wheat region of the North.

Duluth July wheat closed today at a gain of 1½c over yesterday's close. Cash wheat closed ½c over July. Durum closed ½c up, oats 1⅝c up and rye and barley unchanged. Duluth May flaxseed closed unchanged but July showed an advance of 2c.

The morning was bullish on the wheat markets of North America. There were reports of hot dry winds in Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma, and this caused great alarm among the brokers that that section, where wheat for the most part has been reported in such excellent condition, would have its crop seriously damaged, in spite of good prospects at present. Another rather bullish report was to the effect that the rains in the Northwest have been more abundant far than necessary, and that what is now needed is some hot, dry weather, such as exists farther south, where rain is wanted. The American primary receipts were very small and showed a great falling off compared with what they were a year ago.

Cables were almost without exception bullish. Liverpool wheat closed ½d to 1¼d higher. The principal bullish factors were the decrease in the American available supply and a good Continental demand. France bought a cargo of Australian wheat. Yet the upward movement was much modified by reports of favorable weather in Russia and generally favorable European crop prospects.

Duluth July wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.14, opened today at $1.14⅛ bid and at noon was quoted at $1.15½ asked. There were likewise higher quotations at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg.

Bull Movement in Flax.

The flax market was bullish today, mainly by reason of the scarcity of high grade flaxseed. The same condition prevailed at the Winnipeg market, where, of the whole 29 cars of flaxseed received, 6 graded Manitoba, 21 rejected and 2 no grade. Duluth May at noon was ¼c off at $2.29¼, but July was up 2c at $2.16. Winnipeg May at noon was 2½c up at $1.99 bid. Buenos Ayres May closed yesterday ⅝c off at $1.78⅛ and London May and June today closed ¾c off at $2.31⅝. There were 18 cars of flax on the track for inspection today at Duluth.

Inglis reported: "Across Missouri on the Alton road wheat is going back. Plowing up has been resumed all along the line. There are the poorest prospects for a wheat crop since I traveled through this state. The only exception is a part of Fayette and Jackson counties."

Broomhall's special wheat review from Liverpool: "The further sharp decline in the United States markets during the week has not been without an influence on this side. The moderate improvement shown in the United States crop, and taking an altogether more favorable view of the situation, is likely to have only a small influence here and of slight interest to European importers, as the United States is out of the running. In other countries at present prospects are fair and somewhat better than last week. India, however, by official estimates, shows harvesting prospects moderately less than expected although the outlook is still good. Australia is still suffering from drought. Supplies here generally fair, not excessive, but just about sufficient to make good the deficiencies in the early part of the season. Floating supplies are liberal owing to a continuation of several weeks' Euxine shipments held in the Dardanelles. This wheat is now moving and will soon arrive at the ports but after this is discharged it will not be replaced even to a moderate extent for some weeks, as Russia and the Danube are shipping now lightly. Liberal shipments are being made from Canada and should continue on a large scale during the next month, but these are being made at the expense of the Canadian visible. Still, with the decreasing stocks Canada and Argentina are offering freely at declining prices, but these offerings are of a very unsatisfactory quality, as their good grade has already been shipped. Good wheat is still scarce everywhere and dear. The market may continue dull here until a good portion of the Canadian surplus has been absorbed. Crop prospects in Europe will, as usual at this time of the year, play an important part as a market factor. Looking ahead a little, I might point out that before long prospects which now seem clear of light shipments during August, September and October will exert a decidedly strengthening influence on the wheat values."

Ryeroft wired from Chicago:

"Mr. Snow tells me that his reports on corn planting do not indicate. Only two-thirds is planted in Iowa and the early planted is coming up with inferior stand on account of poor seed and rotting in the ground. In Illinois, Indiana and Ohio corn is planted and a large share of the plowing is not done. The past week has been wet and little progress has been made. Farmers are reported as much discouraged. In Missouri the season is three weeks late. Large areas of beet corn in the overflowed lands will not get plowed and the small percentage that was planted early is showing a poor stand. Even Kansas is just completing corn-planting at a date when the crop should be worked out the first time.

"The corn planting situation as shown by Mr. Snow's advices will be a tremendous factor in old crop months as well as new. It means that December is relatively cheap, but it also means the drying up of the country offerings of old corn. The country supply is small and farmers are not tempted to sell until they can see a safe crop prospect. With the season two weeks to a month late, the final outcome will be doubtful at best, until it is finally gathered, and during this whole season of uncertainty farmers will hold tight to what old corn they have. There will be nothing in the crop situation at any time this year to make the holders loosen up, while there may be many scare periods calculated to make them hold tight."

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Tone Is Firmer on Bullish Reports From Southwest.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 22.—A still firmer tone ruled in wheat today on further bullish crop reports from the Southwest. May closed 1¼c to 1⅜c higher than yesterday; July 1¼c higher and September 1¼@1⅜c higher. Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 450,000 bu for four days.

Carload wheat receipts follow: Minneapolis, today, 86; week ago, 95; year ago, 142. Duluth, today, 11; week ago, 10; year ago, 91. Winnipeg, today, 213; week ago, 293; year ago, 77.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,893 tons. The market was dull and featureless. Mills reported slow demand at unchanged prices.

Wheat: May opened $1.13⅞ high $1.14¼, low $1.13¾, closed $1.14⅛; July opened $1.13¾, high $1.14⅝, low $1.13¼, closed $1.14⅜; September opened $1.04, high $1.05@1.05⅛, low $1.04, closed $1.05.

Flour—Prices advanced on account of further strength in wheat. Demand was slow to possibly a trifle more active. Shipping directions were lax. Shipments, 29,580 bbl. First patents, $5.50@5.75; second patents, $5.20@5.45; first clears, $3.90@4.15; second clears, $2.80@3.10.

Flax—Receipts, 34 cars; year ago, 5 cars; shipments, 16 cars. Demand, fairly active for flax today. Crushers good buyers. No. 1 seed sold for 2c under Duluth May. Closing price, $2.27½.

Barley—Receipts, 8 cars; year ago, 21 cars; shipments, 13 cars. Demand for barley improved today. Offerings light and prices closed same as yesterday. Closing range, 70c@$1.22.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Is Bullish on Report of Nebraska Conditions.

Chicago, May 22.—Assertions that the wheat crop in Nebraska was going back, had a bullish effect here today on prices. Sentiment against the bear side received impetus also from dispatches telling of hot winds in Kansas. Firm cables and small receipts counted, too, in favor of an upturn. Offerings were light with fair buying, mainly of a commission house character. The opening was a shade to ⅝c higher. July started at $1.08⅜ to $1.08⅛@1.08⅝, a gain of 1-16c to ¼c and ascended to $1.09⅝.

Statements that dust storms were in progress in Oklahoma, and that ploughing under of wheat had been resumed in Missouri, tightened the market yet more. The close was strong with July 2¼@2⅜c net higher at $1.10⅝.

Serious reports of corn failing to germinate gave strength to the market for that cereal. Better weather, however, tended to make some traders take a hesitating attitude at the outset. July opened the same as last night to ⅛c higher at 74⅜c to 74⅞c and advanced to 75⅝@75½c.

Small receipts and slowness of planting, as well as big sales of cash corn, added to the firmness that prevailed. The close was strong at 77c for July, a gain of 2¼c net.

Oats followed the lead of wheat and corn. There was a good general demand despite the gradual hardening of the market. July started unchanged to ¼c up at 48¾c to 49c and rose to 49⅞c.

Falling off in receipts of hogs West resulted in a steady tone for provisions. Shorts were purchasing on a moderate scale. Initial sales ranged from 2½@5c lower to 7½c advance—bid or asked, with September options crossing at 10.52½ to $10.55 for pork, $10.87½ to $10.90 for lard and $10.37½ for ribs.

LOSSES ARE RECOVERED

Trading in Stocks Almost Wholly Professional and Bearish.

After Dropping Several Points, Prices Regained the Declines.

New York, May 22.—A 2½ point gain in Canadian Pacific, and a decline of as much in United States Rubber indicated the irregular tendency of the stock market at the opening today. Most of the active issues were fractionally lower with light dealings.

Prices rose sharply soon after the opening, with complete recoveries in Rubber and material gains in the coalers, Smelting and minor specialties. From this they promptly receded to the opening level.

Political considerations were the governing factors in the early operations on the stock exchange today. The opening was decidedly irregular, but this gave way to a brisk rise in various standard shares and minor specialties. These gains for the most part soon were effaced on offerings of stock, some of which was doubtless in the nature of short selling.

Prices yielded more under increased pressure and by midday the average level was decidedly under yesterday's close. Trading was almost wholly professional, with an excess of bearish sentiment. Bonds were easy.

Standard shares were down 1 to 2 points at noon, after which recovery set in. The Tobacco shares advanced 2 to 4 points.

The market closed heavy. The final hour was productive of further recovery, especially in Union Pacific and Lehigh Valley. Other losses were reduced to fractions, except Reading, which remained under pressure.

COPPER STOCKS OFF A LITTLE

Copper stocks had a dull day and the general level was slightly lower at the close today than yesterday. Calumet & Arizona was off nearly $1 and Butte & Superior and Amalgamated were slightly down. Cliff closed a bit higher. The coppers were pulled down to some extent by the weakness of the general list of stocks at New York, and also by bearish news from the London market, where spot and futures both closed 5s lower.

Paine, Webber & Co. today received the following closing copper letter from Foster at Boston: "Local stocks were dull again today with slight sagging tendency. There is nothing to account for this lack of interest and we feel it can be only temporary. The metal market showed heavy sales at 16¾ cents and local coppers have not begun to discount their improved earnings. We look for much higher prices for the producing mines. Santa Fe was well bought by insiders on the rumor that they are going to reopen the mine.

Gay & Sturgis today received the following closing letter from I. J. Sturgis at Boston: "The markets opened lower under influence of the Ohio primaries. After a few moments a sharp but indecisive rally took place only to be followed by heaviness and dullness. The political muddle is preventing a proper realization of improved fundamental conditions. Inasmuch as it becomes more of a muddle every week, it is not to be wondered at. At the same time a few things should be kept in mind. We have 16¾c copper, a large and increasing volume of steel business, easy money all over the world, a favorable crop outlook and increasing bank clearings. These things will cause better prices for stocks eventually, and it would seem to be good policy to wait for it."

MARINE

GRAIN RATE IS HIGHER

Several Charters Made at 1¾ Cents From Duluth to Buffalo.

Steady Demand for Tonnage Although Rush Is About Over.

Several charters have been made for grain at 1¾ cents during the past few days, but the demand for tonnage is not large, the shippers believing, evidently, that the rate is too high and that vessel owners will consent to do business at a lower scale in the near future.

At the beginning of the season the rate stood at 1¾ cents for some time, when it suddenly went down to 1½ cents. For the past ten days it has been hovering between these two rates. Some charters have been made at each rate, although of late those who have secured tonnage have paid the higher rate.

One of the ships chartered today will carry 100,000 bushels and the other about 260,000. Both cargoes will be taken on at Fort William and carried to Buffalo.

The grain situation is peculiar at this time in that some charters are being made at a lower rate than 1¾ cents, while some shippers seem glad to get the tonnage at this rate. Everybody seems to be making the best terms possible and while tonnage is not in wild demand, the demand is steady.

Hard coal is expected by July 1. Up to this time not one cargo of hard coal has been received at the local harbor. This is said by marine men to be without precedent in the history of lake navigation. The miners went back to work Monday and it is expected that coal will be moving freely in about a month.

Hard Coal Needed.

For some weeks the local docks have been very low and hard coal is badly needed. Early in the spring the companies stopped shipping coal West because that on hand was needed in Duluth and Superior.

The demand is now great. There is room for a great amount of coal on the Duluth and Superior docks, in fact, it is stated that not in years have the local docks been so bare. When coal begins to come up the lakes the rush will be great for it will be hard to get enough of it for next winter in the limited time left in which to ship it here.

There seems to be no danger of a coal scarcity next winter now that the miners are back to work, but it is said that the companies will have to hustle.

The delay in the beginning of coal shipping will make the last of the season rush all the more pronounced this year. Ore is going down the lakes in great quantities. The package freighters are much busier than there were at a corresponding time a year ago.

Nearly all the boats are still making the trip up the lakes light. Even soft coal cargoes are said to be scarce and the statement is borne out by the fact that but few of them are being received.

Lumber boats have all they can do. The rate is still $2.50 from this port, the same as it has been all year.

MAY BECOME NUISANCES

Unsupervised Playgrounds Are Worse Than Useless, Says Speaker.

Become Loafing Places for the Corner Gangs of City.

That unsupervised playgrounds are worse than useless, and are nothing but a public nuisance, is the statement of Dr. Henry S. Curtis, who is conducting a week's campaign in Duluth to arouse public interest in the playground movement.

Dr. Curtis claims that Duluth has made a good start in securing sites for playgrounds, but that it has done little or nothing toward opening supervised grounds. He will talk to all the school teachers of the city at the high school this afternoon. He also spoke at the high school assembly hall last evening. His subject was "What Is a Playground," and he spoke in part as follows:

"To those who have not thought much about the playground movement, a playground seems always a place to play, and the great problem to be the securing of such a place; but a little experience always shows that the place to play does not secure the ends which are sought.

"If, in any thickly settled section of a city, a vacant block of ground be turned over to the children, results can be predicted almost to a certainty. We have found by registration of children in attendance at playgrounds in different cities that the limit of the distance for regular attendance of the children is about one-half mile. If the number of children residing in this playground area be ascertained and then the attendance upon the playground noted, it will be found on an average, I think, that there are less than one per cent of the children on the ground at any one time. In general, such a space will be used only by the older boys for football and baseball. A playground that is a mere place to play fails because the children do not come."

Lack of Supervision.

"The next thought in the minds of the prayground promoters is that they must equip this vacant space with apparatus. If we will suppose again that $1,000 worth of apparatus has been placed in this previously vacant ground, but no one placed in charge, it will be easy again to predict the result. It will be found that those living around the square will be entering protests against it in less than a week, saying that it is so noisy by day and night that they have no peace, and that balls and missiles often fly from the playground into their yards and windows. A number of such playgrounds have been closed by public injunction and a good many others ought to have been.

"It is possible to maintain playgrounds in the suburbs without supervision. It is not usually possible within the city. If the complainers, instead of thinking of their own comfort, had been thinking about the children, they might have said something like this:

"'The place that you have opened here is exactly on the plan of the saloon. The neighborhood loafers and corner gangs have moved in and taken possession. They pre-empt the apparatus to the exclusion of the small children. They constantly use language that these children ought not to hear, and se examples that they ought not to follow. The relationship between the boys and girls is objectionable, the play in this neighborhood is being supervised downward by the worst examples in the community.'

"I visited such a playground a short time ago in one of our large Eastern cities. There were two groups of boys in it at the time I was there. One group of boys about fourteen, were all smoking cigarettes. There was another group of boys about seventeen. They were shooting craps. This result would not happen in every community, but it would in very many. You cannot turn a vacant lot into a social force in any community by calling the vacant lot a 'playground.' It will not secure social results except as you have organization to secure them.

Organized Play.

"The playground movement throughout the world stands for organized play. People usually think at first that children do not care for this, but experience everywhere shows that they do. In Washington there was a playground about eighty feet square, which contained about $50 worth of apparatus. We used to open this at the beginning of the season in charge of a very capable kindergartner. She had a daily attendance of 400 children. She went away on her vacation and we put a substitute in her place; we had an attendance of 200 children. When the substitute went away, we kept it open in charge of the janitor for a week or two, and we had an attendance of 15 to 25 children. The difference between 15 and 400 was purely a difference in organization.

"The supervision of the playgrounds is essential to securing the attendance of the children, as, without this supervision, the younger children never have a chance at the equipment; and parents, suspicious of the influences of such a place, are apt not to allow their children to attend, and there is nothing going on that makes attendance worth while. But the main question in regard to the playground is not that the children should come, but that they should get something worth while when they do come, and for this, supervision is absolutely necessary.

"The first thought of the playground promoters was that the purpose of the grounds was to keep the children off the streets; but they might quite as well have said that the purpose of the public school was to keep the children off the streets. Both the playgrounds and the schools serve this purpose, but we could hardly say that this is the object of either of them. The ideals of the playgrounds have become nearly as definite today as the ideals of the school, and the playground specialists believe that the objects which can be achieved through "organized play are no less important than the objects attained through the school itself."

IS HALF FREE.

Albert Miller Acquitted on One of Two Larceny Counts.

Albert Miller was yesterday acquitted by a jury in district court on one of the indictments returned against him by the last grand jury. He was indicted on two counts both charging grand larceny, second degree. He will be tried later on the second indictment.

Miller was accused of having stolen a grip and some clothing from J. W. King at the Lincoln hotel. The man who did the actual taking of the goods, the state claimed, had escaped. Miller was held for being an accomplice. Richard Jones, a local attorney defended him.

The second indictment involves a similar offense, it being claimed that Miller stole from another man at the Lincoln hotel.

LAKE TO GULF AUTO ROAD

G. H. Maxwell Proposes Highway From Duluth to New Orleans.

Says Duluth Is Not on Map in Most Big Projects.

George H. Maxwell, the apostle of the homecroft movement, has one particular project on which he is enthusiastically laying stress on his present visit to Duluth. It is a great auto highway from Duluth to New Orleans.

Mr. Maxwell has not forgotten the homecroft movement, "ultimate Duluth," nor any of the other projects in which he is interested, but he is working particularly now on the highway project. He has aroused great enthusiasm over it in the lower Mississippi valley and he believes that Duluthians will take hold of it with enthusiasm when they fully learn its possibilities.

"Duluth isn't on the map in most big projects," said Mr. Maxwell today. "Most auto highways planned run from east to west, pass through the Twin Cities and ignore Duluth. New Orleans is in Duluth's position. It is out of the beaten path of travel. The highway I propose would bisect the United States, running north and south, and would pass through the most wonderful part of our country.

"Imagine a trip which would start by steamer from New York to New Orleans early in the spring, would proceed from New Orleans by automobile arriving at Duluth at the time when the summer season is at its height, would be interrupted for a month at Duluth by enjoyment of the surrounding country, and would conclude with a lake trip east. It would make the finest trip in the world.

"Nobody can understand why Duluth, the greatest summer resort in the world, is neglected, but it is because Duiuth hasn't taken advantage of its natural resources. Duluth must be up and doing. It cannot wait for others to put it on the map."

Mr. Maxwell is well pleased with the progress made by the homecroft movement here, but declares that some organized effort must be made to push it. It cannot be allowed to go along of its own accord; it will not make progress. Companies to put homes and small tracts of land within the reach of the workingmen and the city are necessary to the success of the movement.

Mr. Maxwell will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the public affairs committee of the commercial club tonight. He will remain in Duluth until Saturday and will then return to New Orleans to work on his lakes-to-the-gulf highway and to assist in the movement to have the government take up the protection of the land by ownership of the levees.

IS SUING FOR COMMISSION

J. Kinzel Wants $5,952 From Boston and Duluth Land Company.

A dispute over a commission for negotiating a sale of 17,000 acres of land in Carlton county last year is being adjusted by Judge Dibell and a jury in district court today in the case of J. Kinzel against the Boston & Duluth Farm Land company. Kinzel is suing to recover $5,952.10.

Kinzel claims that during the period between Jan. 1, 1911, and Jan 1, 1912, he negotiated several sales of Carlton county land the commissions on which would aggregate the amount sued for. He claims that there was an agreement as to the amount he was to receive from the sales negotiated and alleges that the company has failed to carry out its terms.

Kinzel has retained Ross & McKnight as attorneys and Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell are defending.

WANT EXTENSION MADE AT ONCE

The Second Ward Hillside Improvement club wants the street car company to make its proposed extension in that part of the city without loss of time, passing a resolution to that effect at the meeting held last evening.

The sentiment of the club members, according to A. A. Fider, secretary, is that the best interests of all concerned will be served by having the work completed at the earliest possible moment. Objection has been made that Fifth avenue east between Fourth and Fifth street and Fifth street between Fifth and Sixth avenues east, are too narrow to allow of a double track without interfering with the traffic. Secretary Fider says that the hillside organization wants the double track laid at once, and that the street can be widened later.

WILL PROSECUTE MILWAUKEE ROAD

State to Aid Big Stone County in Proposed Criminal Action.

St. Paul, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The office of the attorney general is arranging to cooperate with A. B. Kaercher, county attorney of Big Stone county in securing indictments against officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad for criminal negligence in connection with the wreck at Odessa, Minn., last winter, in which ten persons were killed and a number injured. The grand jury in Big Stone county meets next month and the matter will be put to its members.

The question is still undecided in Big Stone, whether the grand jury will be asked to indict the officials on ten different counts—one for each person killed, or whether the action shall be only on one count, on the theory that the death of ten resulted from one wrongful act. The county attorney of Big Stone believes that he may obtain ten indictments. If possible, he will have the maximum fine brought to the head of each official guilty of contributory negligence and collect $10,000 for his county.

Attorney General Smith has assigned Assistant Alex Janes to look after the case for the state's part.

CANADIAN PACIFIC BUYS KASLO & SLOCAN.

Winnipeg, May 22.—The Canadian Pacific railway has completed the purchase of the Kaslo & Slocan railway in British Columbia. The road is now operated by the Great Northern.

MILWAUKEE ROAD WILL RAISE LAKE.

Hettinger, N. D., May 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Milwaukee railroad surveyors are here making surveys to raise the Hiddenwood dam four feet, to give the company a permanent water supply for this section, and may mean the establishment of a division point here.

The task will require a large outlay of money, and it will make the lake more than two feet deeper and extend it over a greater area. Dikes will have to be built on the north to protect the stockyards and a portion of the railroad track.

Must Serve Sentence.

La Moure, N. D., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Phinneas Dodson, found guilty in the district court of grand larceny, must serve his sentence, the supreme court having refused to change the ruling of the trial court.

If you try to "over-advertise" your store for a while—you'll be thankful that such a "crazy idea" ever got into your head.

LET A WANT AD NEGOTIATE A TRADE FOR YOU---OF SOMETHING YOU DON'T NEED FOR SOMETHING YOU DO

IT IS a recognized fact that advertised goods must be quality goods because no manufacturer can afford to advertise an article that is inferior in any way. The manufacturer must have repeat orders to make money. The only way he can get them is to be able to guarantee his product. And the only way he can safely give a guarantee is to have his goods so perfect that he will not be called upon to "make good" on his guarantee. Advertised goods must be right—therefore they must be profitable for you to handle and stand back of.

Capture Part of Field Artillery From the Attacking Federals.

Engagement There May Prove Turning Point in the Rebellion.

Madero's Troops Under Gen. Huerta Have Marched 114 Miles.

At Rebel Front, Rellano, Mex., May 23.—9:30 a. m.—Gen. J. J. Campos has captured two field artillery pieces and one machine gun from the federal column on the left. The advantage appears to be with the rebels. They are holding their positions.

Gen. Huerta, the federal chief, attempted a flank movement behind the hills to the east, but was unsuccessful. Gen. Orozco has been on the firing line since 5 o'clock.

At 5:30 the federal main column fell back and the flank movement was checked. The federal fire was desultory.

Rebels Seem Well Fortified.

CONSUL GENERAL HILL IS KILLED

Minnesotan Has Fatal Fall in Hotel at Frankfort-on-the-Main.

Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, May 23.—United States Consul General Frank D. Hill of Minnesota was killed by falling over the railing of the staircase in a big hotel here today. He was found on the ground floor with a broken skull. It is assumed the fatal accident was caused by a spell of giddiness.

Born in Goodhue County.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Consul General Frank D. Hill, who was killed in Germany, was born near Pine Island, Goodhue county, Minn., May 28, 1862. He studied at the Minnesota university in 1878-82, and went to the Columbian and National law schools in Washington, D. C., 1882-85. He was admitted to the bar in 1884. In 1887 he was appointed consul to Ascuncion, Paraguay, where he remained till 1890, and was then transferred to Montevideo, Uruguay, where he remained till 1893. He was transferred again in 1895 to La Gaayra, Venezuela, where he remained till 1896 and was then sent to Santos, Brazil. From there he was sent to Amsterdam, Netherlands, where he remained till 1907, when he was appointed consul-general to St. Petersburg. Mr. Hill was transferred to Barcelona as consul-general March 10, 1908, to Frankfort-on-the-Main on May 4, 1910.

FOUR YET TO BE ELECTED

Methodists Have Chosen Half the Designated Number of Bishops.

May Finish the Task By Sunday—Other Offices to Be Filled.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—With four bishops chosen of the eight to be elected, "politics" of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church here rapidly is turning to the selection of those who will fill other elective positions in the power of appointment of the general conference, such as secretaries of different boards, heads of the church papers and places on the powerful committees of the church. The four bishops so far elected are: Dr. Homer C. Stuntz, New York; Dr. T. S. Henderson, Brooklyn; Dr. W. O. Shepard, Chicago and Dr. N. Luccock, Kansas City, Mo.

Delegates today expressed the belief that the balloting will be completed by the end of the week and that the new bishops or general superintendents as they are known, will be consecrated next Sunday.

The nineteenth ballot also resulted in no election, none of the candidates receiving the 530 votes necessary to choice. F. J. McConnell was first with 442 votes; F. D. Leete, second, with 426, and R. J. Cooke third with 418.

The conference adopted the report of the episcopacy committee recommending Helena, Mont., Kansas, City, Kan., and Atlanta, Ga., as places where episcopal residences should be established.

No election again resulted on the seventeenth ballot, result of which

TO CALL OFF CONVENTION

Minnesota Republican Committee Will Meet Monday in St. Paul.

Prospects of Direct Primary for Nomination Necessitate the Action.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. A. O. Preus, secretary of the state Republican central committee, today issued the call for a meeting of the committee in the Saint Paul hotel, Monday, May 27, at 11 a. m., to rescind the call for the state convention which was to convene in St. Paul July 2 to nominate state officials.

This action is made necessary by the proclamation of Governor Eberhart decreeing an extra session of the legislature to pass a state-wide primary bill. It is probable that the call will be rescinded or advanced, and in event of the failure of the legislature to pass a primary bill, another meeting will be called to provide the proper machinery to name a state ticket.

Try To Get Them On Record.

There is a disposition among some leaders to present the recommendation of the Minneapolis convention that the committee devise ways and means to provide a voluntary preferential gubernatorial primary. Some want to put the committee on record on the matter, either at this or another meeting, in the event that the extra session

BIGGEST LINER IN WORLD LAUNCHED

Emperor William Is Sponsor for the New Steamer Imperator.

Hamburg, Germany, May 23.—The Hamburg-American line's new mammoth trans-Atlantic steamer Imperator, the biggest vessel in the world, was successfully launched here today. Emperor William acted as sponsor. Johannes Burchard, lord mayor of Hamburg, delivered an address on the recent great developments in shipbuilding.

The launching weight of the Imperator was 29,755 tons, but when completed it is believed she will displace about 52,000 tons.

Among the innovations introduced into the new vessel as a result of the Titanic tragedy, the company has determined to swing out-board the lifeboats, in which room is provided for every soul carried by the steamer. The Imperator will carry three wireless operators, thus providing for continuous service.

The dynamo for the illumination of the vessel and for the wireless apparatus is to be carried above the waterline. The Imperator will also carry two first officers, one of whom will be solely responsible for the navigation and security of the vessel.

NEW JERSEY FIGHT OPENS

La Follette and Roosevelt First Candidates in the Field There.

"Uninstructed" Names Put on Ballots to Beat Wilson.

Newark, N. J., May 23.—President Taft and Col. Roosevelt today moved on New Jersey for their next state campaign for delegates to the national convention. The battle for the twenty-eight representatives this state will send to Chicago opened last night, when Senator La Follette spoke at Jersey City and West Hoboken.

Col. Roosevelt was the next candidate on the field, coming into the state this morning for a series of speeches that will close tonight at Trenton.

President Taft will open his campaign at Camden tonight.

A large part of the campaigning will be by automobile, and both President Taft and Col. Roosevelt will spend several nights in New York, setting out each morning to cover the thickly populated parts of the state within the commuting zone.

Rush to Beat Wilson.

Governor Wilson is the only candidate named on the Democratic primary ballots, but the governor's campaign committee is opposed by a strong anti-Wilson organization which is trying to elect "uninstructed" delegates. The primaries are next Tuesday. Twenty-four delegates will be chosen from the twelve congressional districts, and four delegates at large by the total vote of the state.

Taft in Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, May 23.—President Taft, who arrived here this morning, will spend the entire day in Philadelphia, leaving at 6:30 p. m. for Camden to open his New Jersey campaign.

The president's program for the day called for an address of welcome to the delegates from thirty nations to the Twelfth International Congress of Navigation, and luncheon as the guest of William L. Gorgas, grand master of the Masonic order in Pennsylvania. Most of the afternoon will be spent by the president in the Masonic temple, to witness a special Masonic ceremony.

PORTUGAL DROPS VATICAN LEGATION

Chamber of Deputies Favors Action By Vote of 50 to 45.

Lisbon, May 23.—The chamber of deputies, by a vote of fifty against forty-five, today decided to abolish the Portuguese legation at the Vatican This is a sequel to the law for the separation of the church and state decreed by the government in April last year. The carrying out of the separation law has given rise to disturbances in many districts and in some cases has led to severe fighting.

Primary on Smoking on Cars.

Kansas City, Mo., May 23.—To decide whether it will allow smoking on its cars, the Metropolitan street railway has decided to hold a direct primary next week. Every passenger may vote.

HOUSE MAY DECIDE IT

Election of Next President May Be Thrown Into Congress.

Possibility That Roosevelt Might Bolt Being Seriously Discussed.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—"It is curious," remarked a certain senator today, "how full of possibilities the present political situation is.

"Take for example the Republican party. Nobody can tell until after the committee on credentials has acted whether Taft or Roosevelt will be the titular nominee. Probably it will be Taft. If it should be, Roosevelt will head a third ticket just as surely as the sun will rise.

"Under such conditions what might happen? Taft would poll the full Republican vote but not enough to elect. Your candidate would poll an enormous vote but he would lose to Roosevelt. The latter would get just enough of a vote to throw the election into the house of representatives where it has not been since 1824.

"Now suppose it is thrown into the house. On the surface that body is today overwhelmingly Democratic. But that curious Constitution, which seems devised to block fair justice at every point, directs that when a presidential contest shall be submitted to the house the voting shall be by states and not by individuals.

"Sounds simple, doesn't it? But in this congress with over 150 Democratic majority the states are tied. Curiously enough there are twenty-two Democratic states and twenty-two Republican state delegations. That leaves

MARINES ARE SENT TO CUBA

Washington Acts on Reports of Danger to Americans There.

Washington, May 23.—As a result of reports of danger to American lives and property in Cuba, the navy department, at the request of the state department, has ordered the naval transport Prairie to embark 500 marines at Philadelphia and proceed immediately to the United States naval station at Guantanamo to join the gunboats Paducah and Nashville.

Government Confident.

Havana, May 23.—A report has reached here that Gen. Evaristo Estonoz and Gen. Ivonet, leaders of the insurgent negroes, have sent emissaries to the camp of the commander of the government troops near Guantanamo for terms of peace.

The Cuban government is confident that it has the situation in hand and is determined not to accept anything less than an immediate and unconditional surrender.

In default of the immediate submission of the insurgents, a cordon of government troops will attack the rebels from all sides.

MAY GIVE SIX MORE TO T. R.

Ohio State Convention Majority Is Claimed for Roosevelt.

Wilson Gaining on Late Returns From Presidential Primary.

Columbus, Ohio, May 23.—Scattering returns from the most distant districts, which have been received within the last few hours, indicate that Col. Roosevelt's delegates acquired in Tuesday's primaries will not drop below the thirty-two hitherto accorded him. Governor Wilson of New Jersey, however, has made slight gains and there is a possibility that Governor Harmon's delegates will not total more than twenty-seven.

The respective pluralities of the candidates in the Democratic presidential preference with practically complete returns from all but seven counties are 10,137 for Wilson and 23,228 for Governor Harmon, giving the Ohio governor a majority of 13,091. While the seven counties, it is thought, may reduce Harmon's plurality slightly, no important change in these figures is expected.

Harmon Lost Home County.

The governor lost his home county, Hamilton, in the First district, by a close race, but suffered no loss of

ASK HELGESEN TO TAKE STAND

Candidates for Governor Want Congressman to State Position.

Fargo, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The friends of Congressman Helgesen are somewhat alarmed over the attempt of some of the supporters of the candidates for governor to force him to take a stand on that contest. It is pointed out that the congressman, so far, has no opposition for renomination and has no fight on his own hands.

It is certain that the Democrats will name a strong candidate against him, but if Helgesen has the united support of all the Republicans of his district his friends claim he can be re-elected in November. If he has a bitter fight on his hands the result might be different.

Mr. Helgesen's insurgency is of long standing but he has never been identified with the radical element and has never been sufficiently aggressive to antagonize the stalwarts. The latter have always supported him.

EARTHQUAKE 4,000 MILES FROM CAPITAL.

Washington, May 23.—Extremely violent earth shocks, centering probably more than 4,000 miles from Washington, were recorded by the seismograph at Georgetown university last night. The vibrations began at 9:56 and continued until 11:22 p. m., being most pronounced at 10:36. The record was marked by almost unprecedented irregularity.

Postoffice Safe Blown and $1,800 Secured By Robbers.

Two Suspicious Characters Seen to Leave Train at Adolph.

Police Start After Them in the Department Touring Car.

Armed with repeating rifles, a squad of officers from headquarters set out for Adolph, a small station on the D., M. & N., a few miles above Proctor, shortly before noon today in search of two men suspected of having robbed the postoffice at Cook last night.

The entire front of the safe was blown out with nitroglycerine. It is reported that the yeggmen made their escape with $1,800 in cash and stamps. The interior of the store was wrecked and had been hurriedly ransacked.

The man hunt of the police was instituted when reports reached headquarters that two suspicious looking characters had dropped off the blind baggage of the Winnipeg train at Adolph. There is no certainty that they are the same men who blew the postoffice safe at Cook, but the authorities are overlooking no possibility of getting the burglars.

It is stated that if they had boarded the Winnipeg train they would not come into the city on it. They would expect that the robbery had been discovered before that time and telegrams sent to all stations and particularly the large cities, to arrest any one who might be implicated in the crime. If possible they would try to reach the largest city possible, which in this case would be Duluth. To follow the safest means they would drop off the

GEORGES LOUIS.

Paris, May 23.—Georges Louis, the French ambassador to Russia, has been recalled at the instance of the Russian government and a strained condition is the result. The cause of the dissatisfaction with Louis was his failure to make perfectly clear to France Russia's proposals concerning mediation in Tripoli.

MAY TIE UP THE SHIPPING

General Strike on British Docks Called By Labor Union.

Work at Some London Piers Already Paralyzed By Walkout.

London, May 23.—The national executive committee of the Transport Workers' federation has decided upon a general strike, commencing tonight, in support of the Thames lightermen in their dispute with their employers, and also to enable the federation to endeavor to adjust its own grievances.

Representatives from every port in the United Kingdom were present at the meeting of the federation, and a resolution unanimously was adopted to quit work owing to the alleged boycotting of members of trades unions and the "deliberate breaking of agreements by employers."

No fewer than 150,000 dockers, carmen, lightermen, laborers and others connected with the docks will immediately be involved in the strike, and the entire transport work of the port of London will be brought to a standstill.

Any attempt to divert traffic to other ports of the United Kingdom will be a signal for the spread of the disaffection.

Work at some of the London docks already is paralyzed and numerous vessels laden with foodstuffs are unable to discharge their cargoes while perishable food is rotting in the warehouses.

The resolution adopted by the executive committee of the transport workers' federation confines the strike for the moment to London.

Mr. Anderson, secretary of the federation, said today:

"The resolution means the stoppage of work by all the transport workers of London and if necessary a national strike will be declared later."

MILLER OPPOSES CANAL TOLL PLAN

House Passes Amendment Giving Coastwise Ships Free Passage.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, May 23.—Representative Miller and all other members of the Minnesota house delegation voted against the free tolls amendment to the Panama canal bill when it came up for final action today. The amendment was adopted, however, by a vote of 147 to 126.

Under this amendment coastwise vessels will be allowed to use the canal without payment of any tolls, while other vessels will have to pay $1.25 a ton for the privilege.

WRECK AT GOOD THUNDER ON C., M. & ST. P.; NONE DEAD

Good Thunder, Minn., May 23.—Passenger train No. 122 on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, which left Mankato at 6:15 o'clock this morning, was wrecked two miles west of this city at 6:45. Two passenger coaches, a baggage car and two freight cars left the track and the coaches were overturned. A dozen passengers were severely bruised, but none was seriously hurt.

The engine and two freight cars directly following, stayed on the track and later brought the passengers into Good Thunder. A broken rail is believed to have caused the wreck.

ST. PAUL FREIGHT MEN MAY STRIKE

Hold Night Conference in Expectation of Walkout Order.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Railway men here believe there will be a strike of freight handlers and clerks called here today, although leaders have given out nothing definite. James Kelly, national organizer and personal representative of President Flannery in the Twin Cities, refuses to discuss the question. Freight handlers were in secret session during a greater part of last night, it is said, but nothing could be learned of the proceedings. It is generally expected that the men will be ordered out.

REPORT WILL BLAME ISMAY

Capt. Smith of Titanic and Lord of Californian Also Criticized.

Senate Committee Will Tell Result of Inquiry Tuesday.

Washington, May 23.—The senate committee on commerce today considered the report on the Titanic disaster, which will be submitted to the senate next Tuesday. It will be an arraignment of the conditions under which the vessel swept along through the iceberg area to her doom, with its immense loss of life.

The report was framed largely by Senator William Alden Smith of Michigan, the chairman of the sub-committee that conducted the investigation, but during the sub-committee's discussion there were some modifications of the original draft along the lines of more conservative deductions.

Blame Smith and Ismay.

It is understood the report will severely criticize Capt. Smith of the Titanic, as mainly responsible for the disaster, because of failure to heed the warnings of other vessels; the British Board of Trade for lax inspection; J. Bruce Ismay, who was a passenger; and will point to the lack of discipline in the time of danger.

Capt. Lord of the Californian will figure in the responsibility because of failure to take necessary steps when near the Titanic, whose rockets of distress were seen aboard the Californian.

Reward for Rostron.

Congress will be asked to reward Capt. Rostron of the rescue ship Carpathia.

A general bill is being drafted by Senator Smith, which, along with other measures already framed in the senate and the house, will be considered by the commerce committee and reduced to concrete legislation to meet the lessons drawn from the disaster.

CLOQUET GIRL WINS BUTTER NAMING PRIZE.

Cloquet, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Margaret Kelly was awarded the prize of $5 Tuesday night for selecting the most appropriate name for the butter to be manufactured by the Cloquet creamery. The name is "Cloquet's Best," and the prize is given by Albert Cox, president of the Commercial club. The committee which chose the winner was composed of Mrs. H. C. Hornby, Rev. C. W. Lowrie, Rev. Father Lemmer and Peter Olesen.

Valuable Aids for Complexion and Hair

Lovely complexions will be immune from tan or freckles during warm weather if a spurmax lotion be applied to the skin once a day. This lotion is invisible when on and will not spot from perspiration. To make, dissolve 4 ounces of spurmax in ½ pint witch hazel (or hot water) and add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. The spurmax lotion is superior to powder and will make smooth and clear a rough, blotchy or oily skin.

A teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water is ample mixture for a satisfying shampoo, and even though the cost be trifling, nothing else can compare with it for restoring the soft fluff and brilliance to brittle, faded hair. Canthrox is also an excellent tonic for unhealthy scalps and starved hair-roots.

WILL RESTOCK GRAND LAKE.

For the first time in fifteen years, Grand Lake, a popular fishing resort a few miles northwest of the city, will be restocked with pike. This afternoon, a consignment of 5,000,000 pike fry was received in Duluth from the state fish hatchery for that purpose.

The fry was sent to Sheriff John Meining, who made application for them several weeks ago. Mr. Meining today received notice to meet the afternoon train from St. Paul to receive the shipment, which has been forwarded by Eben W. Cobb, superintendent of the state fisheries.

Mr. Meining said today that it was just fifteen years ago that he had stocked Grand Lake with black bass fry. In recent years, this body of water has not been stocked with either bass or pike fry.

It is expected that from now on that large shipments of fish fry will be received by local sportsmen to be used in the stocking of nearby streams and lakes.

SENIORS AT CATHEDRAL HIGH SCHOOL COMPETE IN ORATORY

Eight senior students of the Cathedral high school held a close contest for oratorical honors in the Cathedral auditorium last evening. Every oration was applauded to the echo by the large audience that had gathered to see what sort of future leaders of society the school was producing. Every oration was vigorous and impressive, without being either wild or affected, and the patriotic and moral sentiments that were put forth by the speakers occasioned frequent bursts of applause.

The first prize, a gold medal, was won by Albert Scanlon, who spoke on "The Moral Equivalent of War;" the second by Vincent J. Fitzgerald, whose subject was, "The New Era of Good Feeling;" and the third by Harry E. Ryan, who handled the topic, "Socialism and Christianity." But the winners did not by any means have a walk-away. The first four or five, in the order of proficiency, were very close indeed in the number of points they obtained.

The judges marked separately for three features, each on the scale of twenty points: first, poise, gesture and facial expression; second, reading, including inflection, pause, emphasis, etc.; and third, the general impression of the speech on the judge. At the conclusion of the contest, all of the points awarded to each speaker were added, and the total made his standing.

The program showed that every participant had prepared his part thoroughly. There was absolutely no prompting, and if there was a prompter on hand, no one in the audience had any way of knowing it. Every oration had this highly pleasing feature, that the speaker used no unnecessary gestures or indulged in any fantastic emotionalism. Every gesture was justified by the thought and every burst of feeling was natural and in keeping with what was said.

The program was as follows:

Music, orchestra; "From Hut to White House," James A. Patt; "The Young Man in Politics," George S. Walker; music, orchestra; "The New Era of Good Feeling," Vincent J. Fitzgerald; "The Federation of the World," F. Archie McDowell; music, orchestra; "The Ideals of Citizenship," Clarus J. Graves; "Socialism and Christianity," Harry E. Ryan; music, orchestra; "The Moral Equivalent of War," Albert R. Scanlon; "Three Years of Taft," Edward J. Dillon; music, orchestra; decision of the judges.

Republican Party Is Split Beyond All Hope of Reconciliation.

Sees Chance for Hughes as Nominee—Democrat Will Win.

Charles A. Towne, the silver-tongued, former congressman, and known to the people of the Northwest as one of the most eloquent speakers who ever championed a political cause, is here today, back among his friends after an absence of eleven years.

Mr. Towne sat in the ninth story of the Torrey building, in the office where he practiced law before his silver tongue made him famous in the ranks of his party, and looked with longing eye over the bay.

"How things have changed," he said. "Few are the changes that Mr. Towne has undergone since leaving Duluth. He is a little more portly, perhaps a little more settled, maybe more deliberate, and yet he is the same magnetic, dashing "Charley" Towne that Duluthians knew in the days before he became one of the national figures of the Democratic party.

"Duluth has changed greatly," said Mr. Towne. "It has progressed fully up to my expectations. I am a believer in Duluth. In fact, I have always been a believer in the future of this city. You know I was on my way to the coast when a comparatively young man, and came here merely to stop over a few days. Some friends talked to me, and then I went up on the boulevard and looked down on the strategic position of the city—well, I decided to remain.

"Yes, there have been a number of changes. You have built the aerial bridge and a lot of large office buildings since I departed, and honestly, I don't think my going is to blame for it. In the residence district the changes have been wonderful. I can't help but believe that with all the advantages that Duluth has, with the inevitable increase of the lake commerce, that it is going to be one of the large cities of the country. That, in my opinion, can be the only conclusion of anyone who studies the situation."

Party Is Split.

During his conversation on the national political situation, Mr. Towne stated that he is of the opinion that the Republican party is split beyond hope of harmony. He believes that the nomination of Taft or Roosevelt will mean the hopeless division of the sentiment of the Republican voters.

"It doesn't seem likely that President Taft can be renominated," continued Mr. Towne. "The Ohio result has, it would seem, decided the case against the president. But there is not any certainty that Roosevelt will receive the nomination. Hughes, in my opinion, is not at all unlikely as the nominee of the Chicago convention.

"Perhaps the men close to the president will point out to him that in the interests of the party he should retire from the race, arraigning Roosevelt, and at the same time making it plain that he is patriotic enough to give way to the best interests of all concerned. This might make it possible to nominate Hughes.

"La Follette is a possibility, but hardly a probability. Hughes, in my opinion, is the hardest man for the Democrats to defeat. As I said, Taft or Roosevelt as the nominee, will split the party."

Here Mr. Towne was asked whether he believed that the national political situation warranted the sanguine belief in the ultimate victory of the nominee of the Democratic party.

Chance for Democrat.

"Most certainly," came the hearty reply of the speaker. "Let us go back over political history, over the cycles of party success and failure. There was old Alexander Hamilton with his Federal party. The party endured until the special interests of that time became allied with it. A few people were running the government. Then came Thomas Jefferson and the enduring of those principles he started with until the party became corrupted and lost sight of the aims of its inception. Later came Abraham Lincoln and the Republican party, and this party has endured until it has attracted to its ranks the predatory interests, the special interests and those influences that come to the party that has been long in power. The political history points the finger of change; the time is ripe for Democratic success."

Mr. Towne was asked for his opinion upon the probability of Democratic harmony, in view of the fact that there are several candidates seeking the nomination.

Democratic Harmony.

"I am firmly convinced that no matter what is the action of the convention at Baltimore the voters of the Democratic party will be solidly arrayed for the success of the party," replied Mr. Towne.

"The situation is quite different from that existing in the Republican party. Should Clark, Wilson or even Bryan receive the nomination, I feel quite sure that there will be united action by the voters of the party.

"You see the people are dissatisfied with present conditions. When people are dissatisfied, the time is ripe for a change. The time for change in party control has arrived, and one might say that the psychological time has also arrived. There are elements of dissatisfaction within the ranks of the party in control; the people of the country are clamoring for a change."

Today Mr. Towne was busy greeting old friends. He spent part of the morning riding over the city in an automobile. Later he returned to the law office of L. C. Harris, his former partner. He also visited the house he lived in here. Old friends by the score shook hands with Mr. Towne, and at the Commercial club at the noon luncheon hour, the greeting of former friends took on the role of formal reception.

Mr. Towne will speak at a Champ Clark meeting this evening at the Lyceum, leaving tomorrow morning.

SUFFRAGISTS ARE IN MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Wis., May 23.—Leading equal suffragists of thirteen Mississippi valley states are being entertained by the Wisconsin Woman's Suffrage association today.

The day's program provides for two luncheons and four mass meetings in different sections of the city this afternoon, with a big meeting at the auditorium tonight, when Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago, is scheduled to make the principal address.

WILSON MEN TO ORGANIZE

Supporters of New Jersey Man to Meet at City Hall at 7 o'Clock.

Will Perfect Organization and Make Plans for the Caucuses.

A Woodrow Wilson club will be organized at a meeting at the city hall this evening at 7 o'clock.

The call for the meeting was circulated this week and it bears the name of hundreds of supporters of the New Jersey governor for the Democratic nomination for president. A good crowd is expected to be on hand at 7 o'clock this evening to organize the club and make plans for activity at the caucuses Saturday.

The sentiment in St. Louis county is overwhelmingly for Governor Wilson and his supporters have no doubt of their ability to carry the county for him. They do not intend to rest on faith, however, and will be out at the primaries Saturday to make certain of the result. The organization will be perfected tonight.

Caucus tickets in opposition to the Wilson ticket may be placed in the field in some precincts in Duluth, but generally there will be no opposition to the Wilson men.

Duluth will pay fitting tribute to its soldier and sailor dead by its observance of Memorial day, May 30. The plans are being made by the citizens' staff of the G. A. R. and affiliated bodies.

There will be a parade in the morning followed by exercises of a patriotic nature at the Armory. After the program a dinner will be served at Memorial hall for the G. A. R. and Spanish-American war veterans. In the afternoon the cemeteries will be visited and appropriate memorial services conducted over the graves of the dead veterans. After the exercises have been concluded at the cemetery, flowers will be strewn on Lake Superior as a tribute to the memory of the sailor dead.

Capt. F. E. Resche will be marshal of the day and will have charge of the parade, the formation details of which have not yet been announced. John G. Rakowsky, the oldest civil war veteran in Duluth, will act in the capacity of honorary marshal and will head the parade with Capt. Resche.

Hundreds of school children carrying flags and patriotic emblems will follow the procession of old soldiers, which will include the membership of Culver and Gorman posts, G. A. R., and McEwen and Diggles camps, United Spanish American War Veterans. It is expected that the Sons of Veterans and three companies of the Minnesota National Guard, the naval militia and other bodies will also join in the parade.

At the Armory the exercises will be begun by singing the Star Spangled Banner. John H. LaVaque, adjutant of Culver post, will read the Memorial Day orders, which will include the original order issued by General Logan for the first observance of Memorial day in this country.

Main Address.

The main address of the day will be delivered by Daniel W. Lawler, former mayor of St. Paul. Lincoln's Gettysburg address will be read, and there will be other numbers on the program.

One hundred and ninety-two old soldiers and Spanish American war veterans who belonged to Duluth organizations have died in recent years and it will be on their graves that flowers and flags will be placed on the afternoon of Memorial day.

The Spanish American War veterans have been detailed by the Citizens' staff to make the arrangements for the placing of the flags and flowers on the graves not only in the local cemeteries but also in out-of-town burial grounds wherever a Duluth veteran may be resting. The flowers and flags to be placed on out-of-town graves will be sent by express the day before to the citizens of the town in which the veteran is buried with the request that the flowers be placed on his grave as a mark of proper respect.

Of the Duluth cemeteries, Forest Hill claims the largest percentage of soldier graves. At Soldiers' Rest, Forest Hill, there are seventy-three soldier graves, at Forest Hill proper, there are seventy, at Calvary, 11; at Oneota, 10; at Park Hill, 5; at the Scandinavian cemetery. The out-of-town cemeteries in which are buried the remains of Duluth veterans are as follows: Tower, 7; Virginia, 4; Biwabik, 2; Carlton, 2; Two Harbors, 2; Ely, 1; Hibbing, 1; Superior, 1; Hermantown, 1; Thompson, 1. Out of the 192 soldier dead all are G. A. R. men except thirty-three who are veterans of the Spanish American war.

Peculiar to Itself

Hood's Sarsaparilla Has No Equal as a Blood Medicine.

"I think there is no other blood medicine equal to Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have a family of five little ones, and have used it every spring for twelve years. There is something about Hood's Sarsaparilla which other medicines lack. My husband was bothered with boils. He was so bad he could scarcely get around. He took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and it cured him." Mrs. Lillian Dixson, Pike, Ohio.

KIRBY'S PLAN IS REJECTED.

Manufacturers' Association Drops New Political Party Idea.

New York, May 23.—The proposal of President John Kirby, Jr., at the convention of the National Association of Manufacturers, that the association go on record as favoring the creation of a new national political party, was quashed by the committee on resolutions, which reported without any reference to politics.

Mr. Kirby was re-elected president of the association; A. B. See of New York was chosen treasurer, and G. S. Boutinot re-elected secretary. Four new members were elected to the board of directors: M. W. Mix of Indianapolis, Col. George Pape of Hartford, Con., Constance Meese of San Francisco, and C. A. Michael of Roanoke, Va.

Resolutions adopted by the convention favored supporting the judiciary and opposing the judicial recall; discharging employes who advocated violence against employers in strike or otherwise; the open shop; the passage of more equitable laws on first and second class mail matter; a workmen's compensation act, and defeat of the Dillingham immigration bill.

COLDS AFFECT THE KIDNEYS

Many Duluth People Have Found This to be True.

Are you wretched in bad weather?

Does every cold settle on your kidneys?

Does your back ache and become weak?

Are urinary passages irregular and distressing?

These symptoms show kidney weakness.

The kidneys need quick help.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure kidney suffering.

Duluth people say so.

Nels Bakken, 1 E. Sixth St., Duluth, Minn., says: "Off and on for twelve years I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and have found them to be an excellent kidney medicine. I had sharp twinges in the small of my back and was lame across my hips and loins. If I took cold, I had to be careful that my kidneys did not give out entirely. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills about two days, I noticed that the secretions from my kidneys were clearer and more natural. The soreness and lameness soon left and I continued taking Doan's Kidney Pills, until I was well. Since then I have used them occasionally and have always been benefited."

CHILD BARRED FROM THE STAGE

State Factory Inspector Compels Theater Manager to Substitute Doll.

The state child labor laws prevented the appearance last evening of little Ynez Seabury, the 7-year-old girl who is a member of the "Madame Butterfly" company at the Orpheum theater.

The little girl is accompanied by both her parents, who are also members of the company, and plays the part of the little daughter of Cho Cho San. She has but one line to say, but adds to the picture by sitting on the stage blindfolded, and waving an American flag, while her mother ends her life. After witnessing the performance yesterday afternoon, Miss Jean Poirier, state factory inspector, notified Manager H. E. Billings that her appearance was a violation of the state child labor laws. Mr. Billings signified his desire to comply with the law, and last evening a large doll was substituted. A few lines in the playlet were changed, and the performance went through without a hitch.

DISCREDITS ICEBERG MOVEMENT THEORIES.

Washington, May 23.—A report by Capt. De Carteret of the cable ship Minia, based on observations during the cruise of the cable ship searching for bodies of the Titanic victims, received at the naval hydrographic office, descredits practically all of the methods now in use for discovering the proximity of icebergs at sea. The hydrographic office deduced from Capt. De Carteret's report that an ice warning twenty-four hours old would be practically useless to a vessel sailing the North Atlantic. He reported observations which contradicted all present theories regarding the movements of bergs.

The scout cruiser Birmingham, the first vessel of the ice patrol, has arrived on her station off the Grand Banks, and reported by radio-telegraph, the naval hydrographer announced that she had spoken to the liner Olympic in latitude 38 north and that vessel had experienced fair weather and sighted no ice.

MIDSUMMER'S DAY PLANS

Arrangements Will Be Completed at Meeting of Committee, Monday.

Final plans for the second annual midsummer's day festival to be held June 24 by the Swedish-American National league of Duluth will be made next Monday evening at a meeting of the committees at Bachelors' hall, Nineteenth avenue west and First street.

Preliminary plans were made at a meeting last month, when committees were appointed to arrange the details for the day's celebration. Invitations have been sent to prominent Swedish-Americans, such as Governor Adolph O. Ebernart, governor of Minnesota; Congressman Charles A. Lindbergh of Little Falls, Minn.; Congressman I. L. Lenroot of Superior, Wis., and Rev. Dr. A. F. Elmquist of Minneapolis. Other prominent state and national officials of Swedish birth have been invited to speak at the festival.

According to the present plans the celebration will begin with a parade from the Armory, Second avenue east and First street, to Lincoln park, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, where the exercises will be held. Mayor J. A. McCuen will give the opening address of welcome at the park. A program of addresses, musical numbers and recitations will be rendered during the afternoon. Refreshments will be served by the various auxiliary organizations.

In the evening the park will be illuminated with thousands of incandescent lights. The original plan of presenting a musical play has been abandoned, because of the large cost necessary to bring the performers here from Minneapolis and St. Paul. In its stead it was announced yesterday that a grand fireworks display will be featured as the last affair of the day.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR ANNUAL PICNIC.

Complete arrangements for the second annual outing of the Young Old Timers of the West end, to be held on Sunday, June 23, were made at a special meeting of the members held at Thompson's photograph parlors last evening.

Th picnic will be held at L. R. Birch's farm, about four miles up Lester river, and the principal speakers of the day will be William E. McEwen and Mayor J. A. McCuen. The members of the organization will meet the morning of June 23 in front of the Anderson-Thoorsell block. From there the members will leave for the picnic grounds, returning at 7 o'clock in the evening.

It was also announced last evening that in case of rain on Sunday, June 23, the outing will be held the following Sunday.

The following special committees were appointed last evening to assist the executive committee in completing the arrangements for the day: Refreshments, Charles Hoar and E. A. Thompson; lunch, John Lindbeck, William Harvey and Fred Lindbeck; transportation, William McCallum, Charles Hoar, William Harvey and Iver Seasted; games and entertainment, Andrew Otterson, Louis Levine, Gust Johnson and E. A. Thompson, and prizes, Iver Seasted, Louis Levine and Axel Erickson. The committees are all under the supervision of William Harvey, president of the club.

On the arrival at the picnic grounds a baseball game between two select nines will be held. Following this a general social time will be enjoyed. Dinner will then be served and the afternoon spent in amateur vaudeville, athletic events, track meets and baseball games. After a luncheon at 6 o'clock the members will return to Duluth, arriving here at 7 o'clock.

WILL TALK ON THE STEEL PLANT.

In all probability W. A. McGonagle, the principal speaker at the regular monthly banquet of the Greater Duluth club to be held this evening at the new Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, will talk on the steel plant now under construction at Gary.

Mayor J. A. McCuen announced this morning that his talk would be general. W. I. Prince and Frank A. Randall will also be on the program.

Dr. Henry S. Curtis of New York, who is conducting a playgrounds campaign in Duluth this week, will give a short talk on playgrounds and their need to a community. Dr. Curtis will outline a profitable plan to the members of the Greater Duluth club, by which the city of Duluth may become healthier and more beautiful. Miss Mary McFadden will give a talk on a better and cleaner Duluth. Mrs. W. A. Kaake will give a reading.

The feature of the meeting this evening will be the distribution of buttons to every one present, which will read, "I Am for Duluth." These buttons are later to be distributed throughout the city.

BOYS' ENTERTAINMENT IS WELL ATTENDED.

A large audience saw the performance of "The Initiation of a Granger" presented at the Star theater last evening by the Twentieth Century Boys' club of the West End Neighborhood House. The boys played their parts well and the entire production reflects on the careful coaching given by Prof. Irving.

The proceeds of the play will be used to purchase uniforms for the club's baseball team and to defray the expenses of the annual camping trip this August. Following was the cast for the performance last evening: Tip Wiggs, Walter Zimmerman; Artist Jack, William Thompson; Pony Simpton, Clarence Thomas; Nestor Briggs, Herbert Peterson; Dig Wright, Floyd Owen; Prof. Rattan, Swan Nelson; Billy Whistler, Victor Miller; Mike Mullet, Fred Arsenenult; Imes Hilly, Charles Kennedy; Dr. Needham, Chester Nelson; Doc Sawyer, John Wagner.

Married in New Home.

Miss Hulda Johnson and William C. Perrin, both of the West end, were married yesterday afternoon at their new home, 2322 West Sixth street. Rev. J. J. Daniels of the Swedish Mission church read the service. They were attended by Miss Jennie Johnson, a sister of the bride, and Oscar E. Evanson. Mr. and Mrs. Perrin left last evening for a short wedding trip and will be at home after June 1.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

The authorities at the poor farm and the Associated Charities are going to help Adolph Frederick become self-supporting.

As soon as he is able to travel they are going to send him to Minneapolis, where his artificial leg will be refitted so that he can use it without its paining him.

Frederick is the old woodsman and sailor who was picked up a week ago by the police at Third avenue west and Superior street, when he was unable to proceed further after having made his way from the poor farm into the city. From the police station he was returned to the poor farm, where he is recovering from the effects of his experience.

It appears that the artificial limb does not fit him perfectly and the walking which he had done the day he came to the city left the limb so blistered and sore that he has been unable to use it since. The officials at the farm told him the day before that he could probably get a position doing chores about the home of a physician in one of the range cities. But instead of waiting for the ambulance to take him in, he started out on foot. He explained on his return that he thought that the rig would overtake him on the way and that he could ride the remainder of the distance. As it happened, the expected trip was postponed and the old man traveled the entire distance alone. When he stepped off the street car the stump of his leg had become so sore that he couldn't put any weight on it and he was taken in charge by the policeman on the corner, who sent him to the station.

Frederick wants to make his own way and be independent if he can, and the authorities are willing to aid him. After his limb has been refitted so that it will not cause him any further difficulty they will assist him in getting a position so that he can make his own living. It is believed that the place with the range doctor will be open to him when he is able to get about to take care of it.

Frederick has been in and out of Duluth for years. He lost one foot and part of another when he was taken with an epileptic fit while working in the woods. His feet were so badly frozen that an operation was necessary. When not in the woods he was sailing on various boats about the harbor and was employed on a number of the earlier excursion steamers.

Daniel O'Leary, the young man who was arrested last winter on a charge of having passed a forged check for $25 on D. Hagen Dec. 31, 1910, was allowed to plead guilty to petty larceny in police court this morning. He had already spent four months in the county jail awaiting trial and he was given another chance. He was placed on parole, the case being continued to July 22. In the meantime he will have his liberty and he has promised to repay the money which he got on the worthless check. After cashing it O'Leary left the city and did not return until a day or two before his arrest.

When C. J. Anderson saw William Brady wearing his coat in the Union station this morning he caused his arrest on a charge of having stolen it. When Brady was brought into court he was wearing Anderson's coat. It appears that the two slept in the same room last night and that Brady got the wrong coat when he left in the morning. It did not appear that he had any intention of stealing the garment, which closely resembled his own, and he was released. Anderson received his own coat, but Brady declared that one which was given him by Anderson was not the one which he had worn yesterday. Brady said that he was going to make a still hunt for the man who is wearing his jacket, getting it back in the same manner as Anderson recovered his.

William Langlais, who was arrested last night by Humane Officer Bob McKercher on a charge of disorderly conduct, pleaded guilty in police court this morning and paid a fine of $5. It appeared that he attempted to walk with two girls whom he didn't know, "butting in" when he saw them near Garfield avenue and Superior street. But when they objected to his company he did not persist in his attentions. He said that he was sorry and that his experience had been a lesson to him which he would not forget.

Joe Dishaw did not reach the poor farm when he was sent out there about two weeks ago. It seems that the rig broke down on the way out and that when the driver went after some wire with which to make repairs, Joe disappeared. How he managed to get to the city is a mystery, as when he was taken from the station he was practically paralyzed in both legs. The next that was seen of him was on the Bowery last night. He was drunk and pleaded guilty when arraigned in police court this morning, admitting that it was his third offense. Joe was about all in and had to be helped up and down stairs. The court sent him to the county jail for sixty days.

When Pat Landry was given a suspended sentence in police court yesterday morning he promised to get out to work before the day was over. But he was in again this morning, having accummulated another jag before he got on board the train. He made the same plea this morning but it did not work. He drew $10 and costs or ten days in the county jail.

John Selin said that he was arrested yesterday afternoon because another man took advantage of the fact that he couldn't talk English and blamed him for breaking some windows in the resort at 234 St. Croix alley. He admitted when questioned through an interpreter that he was drunk and paid a fine of $10 and costs.

Although he had not worked for some weeks; had no money, ate at free lunch counters and slept in hallways or wherever he could find a chair in a Bowery lobby, Frank Colin denied that he was a vag when arraigned in police court today. Upon being convicted he was sent over the hill for fifteen days. The police said that until a few months ago he was a hard working man and took good care of himself, but that for some reason he seems to have lost all ambition.

The body of Alax Johnson, 39 years of age, who was found dead in his bunk at Brevatore, a station of the Great Northern, was brought to Crawford's undertaking establishment yesterday afternoon. Death is believed to have been due to heart failure. The coroner will probably make a postmortem examination to ascertain definitely the cause of his demise.

RAILROADS

GREAT NORTHERN IS TO FIGHT RULING

Objects to Order to Stop Trains at Certain Points.

Devils Lake, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Authority of the state railroad commission to establish certain schedules for passenger trains and compel certain stops, will be questioned in the supreme court by the Great Northern through an appeal from the order of Judge Cowan of Devils Lake.

The Great Northern railroad contested the board's order directing that west bound transcontinental trains stop at Leeds, Benson county, to connect with the Northern Pacific railroad.

In making its fight against the order, the Great Northern charged that the law granting such authority to the board was unconstitutional, but Judge Cowan ruled otherwise.

NEW ROCKFORD, N. D., AS RAILROAD CENTER.

New Rockford, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—That New Rockford will become one of the railroad centers of the state is the present indication, resulting from the activity of the Great Northern in the construction of the Surrey to Ayre cut off, and the extension of a new line from this city westward to the Missouri river, and thence into the south Missouri Slope country.

RAILWAY CLAIM AGENTS TO MEET IN BALTIMORE.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 23.—The association of railway claim agents of the United States has ended its 1912 annual meeting here. Baltimore will have the 1913 convention. H. J. Franklin of the Santa Fe was elected president, F. A. Pruska of the New York Central, S. H. Elderson of the Pennsylvania and D. H. Kimball of the Great Northern of St. Paul, vice presidents, and H. R. McSherry of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, secretary-treasurer.

STANTON, N. D., LINE NEARLY COMPLETED.

Stanton, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northern Pacific line to this city will be completed by July 1, the date set for the turning over of the branch to the operating department. Passenger depots have been erected at Fort Clark and Deapolis.

GIVES TALK TO WOMEN

Dr. Henry S. Curtis Advocates Properly Supervised Playgrounds.

Saturday Is Last Day of Week's Campaign in Duluth.

Dr. Henry S. Curtis, at the head of the American Playground association, spoke this afternoon before the Women's council.

He told the women of the benefits of adequate playgrounds properly supervised and filled them with enthusiasm for a better system in Duluth.

This evening Dr. Curtis speaks before the Greater Duluth club.

Tomorrow with the members of the park board the Eastern man will look over the city parks. In the evening he makes two addresses, the first at the West Duluth Commercial club and the second at the West End Commercial club.

Saturday is the windup day of the week's campaign in Duluth. At 6:15 on that day he will meet for supper with the members and others interested in the Duluth Playgrounds association.

The association will be reorganized for better results. Dr. Curtis said in talking to the women of the Women's council this afternoon:

"The child today gets practically all of his physical strength from his play. Fifty years ago we were getting strong from the work that we did, but today the work of the city boy has disappeared. The girls wash the dishes and sweep the floors and perhaps make the beds, but there is not much physical exercise in work of this sort. We sometimes hear the opinion expressed that children are becoming strong from gymnastics, but there is not a city in this country where they have more than fifteen minutes of gymnastics a day in the elementary schools, and in most places the work is done in a very listless way, which cannot produce physical development. The only means that is left whereby a city child may become strong, apparently, is his play and the child that plays by himself is quite as apt to play marbles as baseball, and it takes a long time at marbles to become very strong."

FOUR TRADE EXCURSIONS

Boosters' Trips Are Planned By the Commercial Club.

Four trade excursions or boosters' trips will be given under the direction of the wholesalers' committee of the Duluth Commercial club this year.

The first trip will be to the range, and two or three days will be given to visiting the various towns on both the Mesaba and Vermilion ranges. Other trips contemplated are: To International Falls and other border towns on the Canadian Northern, and back over the Minnesota & International and Great Northern; one into the eastern part of North Dakota on the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads; one by boat to the copper and iron districts of Michigan.

The general plans for the year were outlined at a meeting of the wholesalers' committee today, but the details will be worked out later. The trip to the range will probably be taken shortly after June 1.

All That Is Earthly Is Subject to Pain

—King Solomon.

The victims of Rheumatism all tell the same story; they have sore, inflamed muscles and stiff, aching joints; they have no ambition or strength, and get nervous and irritable, which is not to be wondered at. We realize how much they suffer.

"Nurito," a prescription free from Opiates and Narcotics, will banish all aches and pains, and limber up those sore and inflamed muscles, or your money will be refunded.

We realize that there are worthless and dangerous remedies which are sold as cure-alls by the help of manufactured testimonials, whose object is to extract gold. "Nurito's" purpose is to give relief, and is compounded exclusively as a specific remedy for those only who suffer from Rheumatism, Sciatica or Neuritis.

Convince yourself. Go to The Boyce Drug Store or Lyceum Pharmacy today, get a $1 box of "Nurito," the remedy that produces results.

You can feel it working.

BANQUET TO BE INFORMAL

No Set List of Speeches For the Dinner to Pennington.

Informal talks by representatives of various Duluth business interests and responses by President Pennington and A. H. Bright, general counsel, of the Soo Line will be the program for the banquet to be tendered the Soo officials June 3.

W. A. McGonagle, chairman of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club; P. E. Dowling, president of the Greater Duluth club, and F. A. Patrick are in charge of the arrangements for the banquet.

The dinner will be served at the Spalding at 7 o'clock on the evening of June 3. It is expected that fully 500 people will be at the tables. No set program of speeches will be prepared, but representatives of different business interests will be designated to speak for their business in welcoming the officials of the railroad and expressing Duluth's feeling toward it.

President Pennington will be accompanied to Duluth by a number of other officials of the road. The invitation to the dinner was extended by Mayor McCuen, the city council and various civic and business organizations, all of which will be represented at the banquet.

MRS. SULLIVAN PASSES AWAY

Mother of Francis W. Sullivan Dies at Son's Home.

Mrs. John Sullivan of Towanda, Pa., mother of Francis W. Sullivan of Duluth, died this morning at No. 3 Berkshire apartments, where she and her husband have been living during the past winter.

Mrs. Sullivan was born in Schuylkill county, Pa., May 7, 1843, and was educated at the convent school in Mahanoy City, Pa. She was married on Oct. 8, 1865, at Towanda, Pa., where she had lived during her entire married life.

The surviving members of her family are her husband and son.

Mrs. Sullivan had made frequent long visits to Duluth during the past twenty years, during which she had made many devoted friends in this city.

The funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but it will probably be held privately from the Sacred Heart cathedral on Saturday morning.

POLICE FAIL TO FIND YEGGMEN

Shortly before 3 o'clock this afternoon the Duluth police officers who left this morning for Adolph in search of the two men suspected of having blown the safe at Cook postoffice, returned to the city empty handed.

They reached Adolph and searched the vicinity thoroughly. It was learned that two suspicious looking men had left the train there and later had tried to "jump" a train for Proctor, but had failed. They then started to walk along the tracks to Proctor, and that was the last seen of them at Adolph. Officers have been stationed at Proctor to watch for them.

Orchestra Concert.

With his fine concert orchestra of thirty pieces, Fred G. Bradbury will give the first of a series of Sunday evening concerts at the Orpheum theater next Sunday evening.

Last year the concerts were a great success. So great was the success of the first season of Sunday evening entertainments that a second season is warranted.

The program will be of the popular variety. Popular music only will be played.

Several excellent musicians from out of the city have been engaged to assist on the program. The soloist at the first concert will be Bertha James Gilbert of Chicago, soprano. Miss Valborg Gunderson, violinist, will also have some numbers on the first program.

How to Erase Wrinkles and Correct Flabbiness

Many people know the value of Chinese ice-pencils for chaps and tender skins, yet few realize how quickly with one you can erase wrinkles and correct sagging muscles, leaving the skin firm and smooth.

To erase wrinkles, rub pencil the long way of creases, then gently massage. This treatment gradually absorbs the fatty tissues on each side of the wrinkles and energizes the tissues under the furrows so they resume their correct proportions. In a short while every wrinkle and line entirely disappears. Because of the slightly astringent qualities of Chinese ice-pencils, flabby muscles or sagging skin can be remedied by applying Chinese ice, then rubbing from corners of mouth to ears. This tightens the muscles, clears and beautifies the complexion, and gives to a coarse or rough skin a fine texture and velvety smoothness.

Druggists can supply Chinese ice-pencils for 50c each, and a few times using will prove very beneficial as well as give to the skin a youthful glow.

FATAL RIOTS IN BUDAPEST

Socialist Union Calls General Strike Over Parliamentary Election.

Two Strikers Killed and Many Police and Strikers Are Wounded.

Budapest, Hungary, May 23.—Sharp battles between the police and strikers have been frequent all over the city throughout the morning. Two strikers have been killed and many of the police and strikers wounded, twenty-five of the latter severely.

Practically all the trade unionist workers in Budapest, with the exception of municipal employes, struck this morning as a result of a resolution passed last night by the Socialist union, which proclaimed a general strike as a protest against the election of Count Tisza as speaker of the lower house. Count Tisza is a strong opponent of Universal suffrage.

Fifty thousand workmen assembled this morning in the streets leading to Parliament square, all the approaches of which were guarded by strong cordons of police. The strikers, finding their efforts to obtain possession of Parliament square unavailing, started wrecking windows and street lamps and destroying goods displayed in the shop windows. Then they began stoning the police, who drove them off repeatedly, charging with their clubs.

Fired on the Police.

The most serious encounter occurred on Outer Wigner street, where the strikers took possession of a big building, from which they fired at the police with revolvers. After several of the policemen had been hit with bullets the officers in charge ordered the men to return the fire.

Several volleys were fired into the crowd, and two of the strikers were killed and a dozen wounded.

The strikers in the building, unable to withstand the sharp reply of the police, dashed out of the doors and fled in all directions.

Several of the street car lines have been suspended since morning.

The strike has been only partially successful, many of the factories continuing to work under the protection of detachments of police.

MAY GIVE SIX MORE TO T. R.

delegates there inasmuch as his opponent had no candidates for delegates. Clermont county, the home of Lieutenant Governor Hugh Nichols, Harmon's campaign manager, gave Mr. Wilson a plurality of 75. Supporters of the Ohioan are said to be in control of the county convention, however.

On the basis of tabulations of delegates to the Republican state convention Col. Roosevelt apparently had 387 out of 754, while 378 are necessary to control. The county conventions, to which delegates were elected Tuesday and at which all but twenty-three counties will name state delegates, have not met, but estimates in each county accord Col. Roosevelt an advantage. Taft supporters do not admit this, however, and intimate that the president will have enough strength in the state convention in June to give him the six delegates at large.

La Follette Vote 15,000.

The total La Follette vote in the primaries was a little less than 15,000. Although in one or two instances they outran President Taft's delegates, his candidates for delegates did not gain enough votes seriously to menace any of Col. Roosevelt's delegates.

Governor Harmon has lost one of the two delegates in the Eighteenth district. Latest returns show Congressman John G. Whitacre, a supporter of Wilson, has been chosen one of the two delegates from that district. He received 2,880 votes over ex-Mayor Carlisle of Salem, Harmon candidate, who received only 2,249.

falls to pass any primary law. If the legislature does not pass a law, it goes without saying that the committee will have to face the issue squarely as raised in the resolutions of the Republican delegate convention last week.

As the committee went on record at its last meeting as being opposed to all voluntary preference primaries by a vote of 27 to 7, it is hardly likely that the advocates of the voluntary primary will be able to secure the adoption of favorable resolutions.

Dunn Expects to Preside.

H. H. Dunn, speaker of the house, is in the city today conferring with members of the Ramsey county delegation relative to the extra session. He does not anticipate any fight on him, and believes that the old organization will remain intact.

"There should be no boys' play," he said, "at this session. As little confusion as possible should be the rule. I intend to call the house to order and try to get the members down to business at once. If anyone wants to raise the issue of a new speaker, I am more than willing to let the matter go before the house for a decision. It has always been the custom at extra sessions to keep the old organization intact."

J. A. A. Burnquist admitted today that several people had been to him urging him to be a candidate for speaker at the extra session, but he refused to be quoted or to say just what he would do. The progressives, under the leadership of W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis, seem determined to make a demonstration at least against the speaker. Mr. Dunn is not worrying and his friends do not look for any serious conflict on the issue.

Mattson Likes Primary Plan.

G. H. Mattson, representative from Roseau, arrived this morning to talk matters over with Speaker Dunn. He is a candidate for secretary of state, and believes his chances under a primary much better than in a convention. While at the Merchants hotel he conferred with E. A. Nelson of Hallock, former state librarian. Mr. Nelson had considered filing for secretary of state himself, but told Mr. Mattson that in view of his candidacy he would withdraw.

"I believe the session will be a brief one," said Mr. Mattson. "There will be an effort to redeem some of the shortcomings of the last session and pass some much-needed legislation. I don't believe, with the temper of the people as it is, that there will much logrolling."

train some distance away and make their way into the limits on foot.

The men who left the station in the big Franklin touring car of the police were Capt. A. G. Fiskett, Detectives Schulte and Irvine and Driver Mark Stewart. Their rifles are of the most modern repeating pattern. They will thoroughly scour the country about Adolph, especially the roads which lead to either Proctor, Duluth or Carlton. Every man found on the road will be made to give a highly satisfactory account of himself and his actions for the past twenty-four hours.

The yeggman are undoubtedly armed and should the men who got off at Adolph prove to be the men wanted and should they be rounded up by the police a battle between the police and the robbers might result. Reports from the vicinity of Adolph are being eagerly awaited at the police station and at the office of Sheriff Meining.

As far as can be learned the authorities have no description of the men who pulled off the job at Cook, which is a small station above Virginia. It may be that they took to the woods and are going in the opposite direction, as it is claimed that they helped themselves to a quantity of provisions from the grocery stock of the store in which the postoffice is located.

main rebel and federal armies was renewed at daybreak. The government troops opened the engagement with sharp artillery fire. There was quick response from the rebel front, which seems well fortified.

Today's battle is expected to mark the turning point in the Mexican rebellion.

When night interrupted yesterday's combat, it appeared as if the rebels slowly had been disorganized by the fierce artillery fire from the government front. The federals count upon their long range guns to drive the enemy back into the northwest.

Have Marched 114 Miles.

The engagement, which began yesterday, is the climax of two weeks of hard marching through the desert plains of Nortern Mexico by the 4,000 federal troops under Gen. Huerta. Repairing bridges and constructing practically a new railroad over the course which had been taken by the retreating rebels, the government troops have pushed their way exactly 114 miles north of Torreon to the battle ground.

The insurrectos, under Gen. Orozco, are believed to number 5,000 men.

UNKNOWN SUICIDE IN LAKE MICHIGAN

Man Jumps Overboard From the Kansas Between Racine and Chicago.

Chicago, May 23.—An unidentified man, about 35 years old, leaped from the steamer Kansas and was drowned today as the vessel was on her way from Racine to Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Bennett of Kansas City, Mo., witnessed the suicide but were unable to prevent the leap. The vessel was stopped and a boat put out, but the body was not found.

Capt. Chambers of the Kansas reported the facts to the Chicago police on his arrival here, and asked their co-operation in an effort to learn the identity of the suicide.

FOUR YET TO BE ELECTED

announced today. F. D. Leete, Detroit, was first, 420; R. J. Cooke, New York, second, 368, and F. J. McConnell, Greencastle, Ind., third, 365. Necessary to elect, 490.

The deadlock continued on the eighteenth ballot, Dr. Leete dropping to 417, with Dr. McConnell second at 394 and Dr. Cook third with 391. Necessary to elect 508.

In the committee elections, the ninth general conference district, which is one of the fifteen such divisions and which is composed of the greater part of Iowa and Nebraska, has chosen H. M. Havner of Marengo, Iowa, to succeed O. P. Miller of Rock Rapids, Iowa, on the book committee, which is called the "backbone of the church." Mr. Miller has been on the book committee for sixteen years. In the same district Rev. J. R. Gettys of David City, Neb., and C. Rush Benedict of Shelby, Iowa, have been chosen on the missionary committee, which also is a strong organization of the church.

As the number of ballots in the bishopric race increases, the number of candidates decreases, but eleven men receiving more than 100 votes on the sixteenth ballot, whereas at the beginning the list of candidates exceeded 200.

With the withdrawal of Dr. Andrew Gillis of Minneapolis, Dr. H. C. Jennings of Cincinnati, Ohio, but also a member of Minnesota conference, has made a rapid gain, jumping from forty-six on the fourteenth ballot to 150 on the sixteenth. W. P. Thirkield of Washington, D. C., president of Howard university, a negro institution, has leaped from 276 on the eleventh to 383 on the sixteenth, since the withdrawal of R. E. Jones, negro, of New Orleans.

William Jennings Bryan, who lectured before the delegates last night, took occasion to reiterate his statement that he was a candidate for no office and did not expect to be.

"I hope that no unfriendly newspaper," he said, "will say that I am a candidate for bishop. I am not here to mingle in the politics of your church."

Advice From Bryan.

He then urged all church members to get into politics for the purpose of public morality and good government.

"I got into politics when young, and expect to stay until I die," he declared, and when the applause had subsided, continued; "but I don't want you to expect or believe that I am or ever expect to be a candidate. I can do more by remaining in politics as a private citizen, for then my friends never are pulling at my coat tails telling me not to do that or this for fear it will hurt me."

Bishop Henry W. Warren, for thirty-two years a bishop, who was retired at the present session, delivered his farewell address, and Bishop John M. Walden, retired, who presided at the afternoon session yesterday, although 79 years of age, brought his comrades on the bishop's board to tears when he intimated that he probably would not be present when the next general conference roll was called.

May Not Set Time Limit.

The episcopacy committee advocated that the indefinite time limit that a pastor may remain in a charge be left as it is. A fight has been made to change to the old time limit of five years.

Absolution of the charges against those managing Sunday school publications of teaching higher criticism was given by the conference, Dr. John T. McFarland, New York, head of the publication, appearing before the conference during the debate on the question, to reaffirm his belief in the doctrines of the church.

CLOQUET WEDDING.

Chicago Minister Takes Bride in Nearby City.

Cloquet, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Esther Skagerberg, daughter of Mrs. Ida Skagerberg of Cloquet, and Rev. Rudolph Erickson of Chicago were married Wednesday at the home of the bride's mother in this city in the presence of the bride's family and a few intimate friends. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Delia Skagerberg, and the groom by Fred Edgren of Chicago. Rev. Mr. Anderson of Marinette, Wis., performed the ceremony. The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk, trimmed with old point lace, made en train, and wore a bridal veil. She carried a sheaf of bride's roses. Her maid also wore white silk. A wedding breakfast was served at the Skagerberg home, and Mr. and Mrs. Erickson left on the afternoon train for Chicago, from whence they leave in a few days for a three months' trip abroad. They will be at home in Chicago some time in September.

At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon the annual interscholastic track and field meet will be held at the baseball park. The boys are requested to come out and root for their schools. Each contestant will be weighed tomorrow afternoon at the Boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. before being allowed to enter the meet Saturday.

At 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon Mr. McLeod will give a short talk to the boys on "Winning the Race." Following is the remainder of the program for the afternoon: Violin solo, Gustave Jackson; mandolin duet, Rex St. Clair and Ledru Revis; cornet duet, Mr. Batchelor and Mortimor Stanford; vocal solo, Mr. Batchelor.

This meeting is open to every boy in West Duluth, whether a member of the club or not.

From now on the high school classes will meet in the evening instead of in the afternoon. The gymnasium classes on Saturday afternoon will discontinue their work during the summer months and will take part in the outdoor sports, which will be announced within a few days. Saturday evening the members will hold a social night and a program of stunts will be featured instead of the regular gymnasium work. The next outing will be held June 1 and the boys will meet at Third avenue west, from where they will leave at 10 o'clock for the Jean Duluth farm.

A baseball league is now being organized among the various clubs and organizations of the cabinet. A schedule of games will be made out some time next week. A campaign for more members will also be made during the summer months.

Miss Mabel Melin will have charge of the dining room and Miss Esther Larson will direct the work in the kitchen, both under the supervision of Miss Irene Walker head of the domestic science department of the school. Clifford Stowell, Francis Ehr, Isadore Abrahamson, Roy Williams and John Simpson.

Exactly $60 was deposited this morning by the students of the Irving school with Mrs. Jensen of the First National bank. Although the present semester is drawing to a close very few pupils are planning to draw their money out of the bank. Most of them will leave their deposits run until next fall, when the banking will again be resumed. It is probable that the school board will arrange to open the school rooms during the summer months, so that the bank clerks may receive the deposits of the children continually during the year. Up to date the children of the Irving school have deposited $1,134.84. The number of depositors is estimated at 400.

The sidewalks about the schoolhouse are being repaired. A crew of workmen were placed at work this morning laying new parts and repairing sections of the sidewalk about the building.

Beginning tomorrow morning the state examinations for the high school students will begin. The examinations are held in all branches of the school work and will continue until next Wednesday afternoon. There will be no school next Thursday on account of Decoration day.

The eighth grade students of the Irving school will be graduated at the commencement exercises to be held in the school assembly Thursday afternoon, June 13. Supt. Robert E. Denfeld will present the diplomas to the graduates, following a program of musical numbers and recitations by the members of the graduating class.

DR. CURTIS TO ADDRESS COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Members of the West Duluth Commercial club have been requested to come a little earlier at the regular meeting of the club tomorrow evening. Henry F. Curtis of New York, the playground expert who is conducting a series of lectures in this city, will speak and conduct an open meeting at 8 o'clock. Dr. Curtis will be compelled to hurry through his talk because of the fact that he is also scheduled to address the West End Commercial club later in the evening.

The meeting tomorrow is open to the public and every resident of West Duluth is invited to hear Dr. Curtis. The entire meeting will be given over to this address and a general discussion to follow. Very few routine club matters will be taken up, according to the officers of the club.

Woman's Realm

Commencement exercises at the Duluth State Normal school will open Sunday, June 2, with the commencement sermon which will be delivered by Rev. John C. Faries, pastor of the Glen Avon Presbyterian church of this city at 3:30 o'clock at the Normal school.

About fifty students will be graduated this year from the school and hundreds of invitations have been issued for the exercises.

Tuesday afternoon, June 4, the closing exercises of the training department will be held at the assembly hall of the school at 3 o'clock and the closing chapel exercises and class day program will be held Wednesday morning, June 5, commencing at 9:30 o'clock.

Vincent to Speak.

The exercises of Commencement day will be held Thursday morning, June 6 at 10:30 o'clock at the school. President George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota will deliver the address on "The Larger Selfishness" and J. L. Washburn, resident director of the state normal school board will present the diplomas.

Alumnae Banquet.

Another feature of the closing of school will be the annual alumnae banquet which will be held Saturday evening, June 1, at Torrence hall. This function this year is to be made especially jolly and informal and the graduates of the school are looking forward to a pleasant reunion with their old schoolmates and friends. An informal seating plan at the banquet will allow classmates and friends a chance for visits and a special feature of the affair will be a birthday celebration for the class of 1917. Following a custom used in several of the colleges and schools the occasion will be made a special reunion for the class which graduated five years previous. This year it would be the 1907 class. A special table will be set for the members of this class and their gathering will be especially featured.

An interesting program is being planned for the evening and the girls are looking forward to an enjoyable time.

STILL NEED $2,201.

Y. W. C. A. Workers Hopeful of Raising Desired Sum.

Tomorrow is the last day of the eight-day campaign for $8,000 which the Young Women's Christian association has been conducting and all who are planning to give toward the fund should get their subscription in before 4:30 tomorrow afternoon in order that they may be counted in the amount raised.

On account of rainy weather many workers were unable to keep at the soliciting every day and many who were on the list were not called upon, and many who asked for a return call cannot be revisited, so if these people who wish to donate will communicate with the association a special effort will be made to call on them tomorrow or the mails will carry their checks in.

The donations for yesterday amounted to $564, making a total amount of $5,798.50. The women who have been soliciting the funds started out this morning with enthusiasm and eagerness and have been receiving good sized donations, so that the remaining $2,201.50 required to make the $8,000 set as a mark will probably be received before the end of the campaign.

Musical Service.

A special musical service will be held at Trinity pro-cathedral Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock instead of the regular Sunday afternoon song service. This plan of holding a service of music by the full volunteer choir of the church was tried last month and proved such a success that it was decided to hold such a service on the last Sunday of every month.

Miss Isabel Pearson, organist and choir directoress of this church, has arranged an interesting program for the service and as is customary at this service she will play her usual organ recital before the service commencing at 4 o'clock. A general invitation to everyone is extended and music lovers are looking forward to a pleasant hour of music.

Musical Examinations.

Musicians throughout the state are interested in the coming meeting of the State Music Teachers' association in St. Paul, June 4 to 6. One of the most important topics which will come up at that time is that of a uniform system of examinations to be conducted by the association and the conferring of three degrees of proficiency, licentiate, associate and fellowship. These examinations will not be made compulsory, but shall be regarded as a privilege.

A committee, appointed at the last meeting of the association, has worked out the plan and submitted a report on it which will be discussed and voted upon at the meeting in June. As worked out, it is suggested that the examinations be under the direct supervision of the state association with the purpose of raising the standard of music teachers through out the state. The examinations will only prove an honor to the successful ones for the names of those not passing the tests will not be made known, the plan being worked out simply for the development of the teachers and the raising of the standards.

Local musicians who have read the outline of the examinations for the various degrees agree that it is rather cumbersome and should be modified to some extent. However, they seem to feel that it should result in a beneficial manner and are interested in the outcome of the report at the state meeting.

The committee appointed at last year's convention was composed of J. Victor Bergquist, chairman; Miss Elsa M. Shaw, St. Paul; Donald Ferguson, Minneapolis; Mrs. Charles H. Budd, Montevideo, and David F. Colville, St. Paul.

Duluth May Entertain.

A meeting of the musicians of the city and those especially interested in this cause will be held Saturday evening at 8 o'clock at the Commercial club, to consider the question of extending an invitation to the association to convene in Duluth in 1913.

MRS J. BROWN POTTER.

Mrs. James Brown Potter sailed for Europe last week on the Amerika. She spends much time abroad. When she married Mr. Potter she was May Handy, a beauty from Virginia. The other Mrs. Potter has not been here for more than a year. The last time she came over from London was to fulfill a vaudeville engagement in which she was not successful.

Elected Editor.

This will be sung for the first time this evening.

This concert is being given to raise funds for the local expenses of the Sangerfest to be held here in July by the western division of the American Union of Swedish-American singers. Those in charge of the concert are George Anderson, chairman; Helmer Osgren, Carl Pearson, Frank Carlson and John Nyberg.

THE EVENING STORY

HOW SHE CURED HIM

By Elizabeth L. Gould.

Outside Amos Howland's little shop there was a keen and nipping wind, but inside the moisture on his two small windows attested the excellent wearing abilities of his air-tight stove. Amos himself was close to the window, examining a pair of boy's shoes by the fast fading light, while he took his part in the conversation. "Wa'n't it Hobart Sprague's boy from Sunny Hill farm that left these?" he asked Capt. Lane.

"'Twas so," replied the captain. "He came just in that minute you were up in the loft. But how'd you know? He fled off so fast you couldn't have ketched sight of him."

"I tell by the way he wears out his shoes," said Amos. "He steps just like his ma, and always has—right slap down in the middle, and that's where the sole wears thin. There's no shilly shally about him, no more'n there is to his ma, Mary Coombs that was."

"What's the reason you couldn't say he takes after both his parents?" objected Capt. Lane. "Fifteen years I've lived in this town, I haven't seen any shilly shally about Hobart Sprague."

"No, you wouldn't. Hobart's a first rate, up an' comin' man these days," admitted Amos, "but when he married Mary Coombs he left considerable to be desired, most folks thought. He was clever and willing if you got his mind buckled down to anything, but his head was up in the clouds a good part of the time, planning something that never came to pass, and he was so forgetful it made him appear more shiftless than he really was.

"By the talk I guess Mary put up with considerable during the engagement, and more after they were married. He'd get to talking at the post-office whilst she was waiting for the yeast cake, and then go home without it—and all such goings-on. And when the new minister came, Parson Goodyear, Hobart was worse'n ever.

"He seemed to think that talking theology and settling a couple o' hundred doctrinal p'ints were of more account than keeping a good supply of kindlings and proper stove wood on hand. Mary bore with him real patient; she's always had a quick tongue, but she never scolded him before his neighbors, no matter what he did. This time I'm going to tell you leaked out through Caroline Green, an old body that used to do extra scrubbing for Mary—and for the minister's wife.

"Seems Mary had been telling Hobart for three weeks steady that they needed some more wood cut in proper lengths for the parlor stove; she reminded him of it day after day, and he'd promise, and then forget. Finally she said to him one day, 'Hobart, shan't speak about it again—now you remember what I'm saying.'

"He promised to attend to it that very day, but he stepped down to the store of an errand, and met somebody that was well up in the news of the world, and he never thought of wood again.

"Well, about a week after, he said to Mary one morning, 'The minister's wife is going home to spend a few days with her mother, who's kind of ailing. How should you feel about having him come to supper tonight?'

"'Have him by all means,' Mary told him, 'and I'll do the best I can to give him a good supper and make him comfortable.

"'I thought so, 'twas meeting night and he couldn't stay long after. I might ask him to come a while before supper,' suggested Hobart, 'for there's one or two points I want to ask him about. We could go into the parlor, I thought, and be out of your way.'

"'Certain you could,' said Mary. 'You bring him right along with you from afternoon mail. What you going to do now?'

"'I thought I'd sit and look up a little matter in the encyclopedia,' said Hobart, 'long as there's never any pressing work to be done this season of the year.'

"Caroline Green was wiping dishes to help out, and she said Mary's eyes flashed and she opened her mouth, but then she shut it again without saying a word, and cleared a plate on the kitchen table for Hobart to rest his book.

"The rest of the story leaked out through the minister's wife. She was built something like Mary for disposition, and she maybe had her trials—at any rate, she had her sympathies, and they leaned toward Mary rather'n Hobart.

"Seems the minister went home with Hobart about 5 o'clock and Mary met him at the door smiling as you please. When they'd laid off their coats she led the way to the parlor.

"There," she said, opening the door, "I guess you'll find it's warm enough, and as the stick burns, you just give it a shove in, Hobart; we did not happen to have any the proper length. Now I'll shut the door and leave you men folks to your talk," and she did.

"There was a kitchen chair in front of the little stove that shone, all its nickel trimmings most like silver; the stove door open, and in it, on a grand bed of coals, was one end of a big stick of wood, as much as could go in, and the other end resting on the chair.

"Seems Hobart's face turned red as fire, first, and then it got pretty white, and he clenched his fist, and the minister laid his hand over on Hobart's arm and he said: 'You stop and think—didn't she have reasons, maybe?' Well, the upshot of it was those two men sat there and shoved the stick in, gradual, and did considerable talking—not all theology, by any means. And when Mary came to call 'em to supper, with her eyes shining, but kind of red round the edges, and her lips a bit trembly, and her pretty head held a mite higher'n usual, the stick was all in the stove and those two gave her an arm, and beaued her out to the table in fine style.

"Once or twice she started to say something, but they wouldn't give her a chance; they just talked on, all subjects from hens to conferences they took up, and she got quieted down. And the minister said 'twas 'bout the best supper he ever ate. But two weeks after, Hobart brought a written invitation for him and his wife to go there for tea, and they passed the evening in the parlor with the prettiest fire ever you saw, laid of suitable short lengths o' wood, and plenty of 'em. And if you were to hunt this town through for a prize woodshed, Sunny Hill farm's the place you'd find it."

MUST SPEND A MILLION

Chicago Man Charged With Disbursement of Large Fund.

Money Will Go for Improvement of Crop Conditions in Country.

The man who has $1,000,000 to spend will be in Duluth Saturday. He is Bert Ball of Chicago, secretary of the crop improvement committee of the Council of Grain Exchanges. Mr. Ball will give a talk at the Commercial club at 12:45 Saturday. He has been at Glenwood, where he attended a meeting of the West Central Minnesota Development association.

The committee of which Mr. Hall is secretary is composed of seventeen members, representing grain exchanges in various parts of the country, C. F. MacDonald, secretary of the Duluth board of trade, is a member. The committee has at its disposal the sum of $1,000,000 to be distributed among 1,000 counties for the improvement of agricultural conditions. Mr. Ball has been touring the country, explaining what any county must do to get a share of this large sum of money. He has a hard task in finding out just how the money ought to be spent to bring the best results and in such ways that no part of it will be wasted.

Any county in order to share in the benefits of this fund must itself take a hand in improving the condition of its farms. It must form a county organization for that purpose and sufficient funds must be raised locally to hire an expert agriculturist, one who has been approved by the governing board of some state agricultural school or some other competent authority, to go about among the farmers and teach them how to farm. The committee wants individual work done. Each farmer must be told what his mistakes are and in what way he can improve his methods. Only thus, it is thought, can the best aggregate results be obtained.

The Council of Grain Exchanges holds two meetings each year. The next meeting will be held at Cedar Point, Ohio, on June 17 and 18. The Duluth exchange is privileged to send two delegates. Prior to this meeting, the crop improvement committees will meet for about half a day for preliminary work, relating to the business of the council itself.

BIG CLOQUET FUNERAL.

Many Join in Last Tribute to Late Claus Wilander.

Cloquet, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Claus E. Wilander, who died Monday morning. Brief services were conducted at the residence of Fritz Freeman on Cloquet avenue, and the body was then taken to St. Andrews Episcopal church, where Rev. F. C. Coolbaugh conducted appropriate services. The remains were escorted by a large body of Masons and Schriners and Odd Fellows. The pall bearers, August Norman, Olaus Johnson, Fritz Gustafson, Malcolm McGilvary, L. G. Johnson and H. J. Danielson, carried the casket from the church to the depot and the remains were taken to Carlton for burial.

There were many beautiful bouquets and floral emblems. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Rolf of Hayward, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Emil Nelson of Superior, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Dodge of Moose Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Freeman of Thomson, Mrs. Pearson and Mrs. Clara Wilander and children of Duluth attended the funeral. Claus E. Wilander was one of the earlier residents of Cloquet. He was a shrewd and successful business man and for many years a city official. He held the respect of everyone. Speaking of him, Rev. Coolbaugh said: "He was not given a place, but made a place for himself in the commercial and social life of the city."

WILL WAIT FOR CONFERENCE

Street Car Men Will Not Act Until Next Week.

Street railway men will in all probability remain at work under present conditions until after the meeting between General Manager Warren of the street car company and the committee from the city council. This meeting will take place early next week, although the date has not been fixed.

Mr. Warren's communication was to the members of the city council, not any particular branch or committee and the communication will be read at the meeting Monday evening and the time set for the meeting.

Rumors were afloat today that the men had decided to strike at noon today. Where they originated is not known, but several employes stated that they would without question wait until the matter had been taken up by the council committee.

STRIKE WILL NOT REACH DULUTH

The geenral strike of freight handlers which was ordered yesterday, will not reach Duluth in all probability as the local men have no union.

Some of the men employed in the local sheds belong to St. Paul and Minneapolis organizations, but they evidently do not consider themselves strong enough locally to strike with those in other cities.

All of them were at work as usual this morning in spite of the fact that President P. J. Flannery of Chicago, ordered them out at a late hour yesterday afternoon.

Trouble has been threatened for some time, the freight handlers asking more pay. The organizations are very strong in some of the larger railroad centers.

How many men employed in this city are members of the organization is not known. Railroad officials state that they are outnumbered by the non-members.

Local railroad men do not believe that the strike will tie up business to any great extent.

"LEPER" IS SENT BACK TO MICHIGAN

Des Moines, Iowa, May 23.—Herman Hirschfeldt, leper suspect, for several weeks isolated at Centerville, Iowa, was secretly returned to his home in Bay City, Mich., last night, according to information received here today. The trip from Iowa was made in an automobile, and the departure from Centerville under cover of night.

Although the Michigan state board of health and the Bay City authorities had refused Hirschfeldt, who was a member of the city council, admission to his former home, Dr. Sumner, secretary of the Iowa board of health, decided he should not remain in Iowa.

Shortly before daylight Friday morning, Hirschfeldt was removed from the rest house and placed in an automobile, which was headed toward Bay City. John Quigley, marshal of Centerville, and his deputy, accompanied Hirschfeldt.

Dr. Sumner says he acted upon his own authority in taking this radical means of disposing of Hirschfeldt, who came to Centerville to visit relatives and was ordered placed under quarantine by the Michigan health department. The railroads had refused to allow him to ride on any but a special train.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS

Attractive waists in ratine, the new fabric which has become so popular this season, are shown in the shops. In one of the exclusive shops a very pretty model, made of the white cotton ratine, was displayed on a model. Made with high collar and three-quarter sleeves, it followed the style dictates of this season and was trimmed with cluny insertions and was delicately embroidered in white. A bow of black velvet gave the often seen touch of black. Another attractive waist shown was of champagne colored chiffon, made over a white silk foundation and touched up with a bow and tie of bright green velvet.

In this same store the shopper's attention was called to the new bloomers which are being worn in place of petticoats by my lady of fashion, with the heavy street suits. These were displayed in white, black or delicate colors and were made of what they called "Italian silk." It is a close knitted fabric much like the silk jersey used in the moyenage dresses of a few seasons ago. These bloomers were priced at $3.25 and $3.50 a pair.

A HINT TO THE LEGISLATURE.

The coming extra session of the Minnesota legislature is to be held in troublous times, and many pitfalls will beset its path.

The legislature will need to be on its guard if it wishes to come out of the affair with credit to itself and to the state.

And the legislature must not forget that it is under a cloud; that the chief argument used by Governor Eberhart and others who have hitherto been opposed to an extra session was that a legislature which was so recreant to its duty at the regular session could not be expected to accomplish anything worth while at an extra session. It must not forget that this is a chance for redemption and for rehabilitation in the public esteem.

Two great dangers threaten the legislature at this extra session.

One is politics—the peril that political considerations of the present will blind many of its members to political and practical considerations of the future; the peril that the interests of this candidate or that may be used to hurt the interests of the parties and the state.

The other great danger is that a multiplicity of measures may be permitted to come in and confuse the few vital issues before the legislature.

There is more than one way to beat legislation, just as there is more than ony way to kill a cat.

The interests opposed to progressive legislation no longer fight by direct methods. Such legislation is too popular for that kind of a fight. Smothering by indirect means is the modern and much more effective way.

There is not a single one of the progressive measures that would not have passed both branches of the legislature at the regular session if it had come to a direct, open vote. Yet practically all of them were beaten, though several of them passed both houses.

It was done by confusing the issues; by playing one bill against another; by loading up the committees, the general orders and the calendar by a horde of measures; by using the compact special interest vote both as a club and as a bribe.

This method of fighting should be guarded against at the extra session, or it will be a failure.

Fortunately, it is easy to guard against it.

On the first day of the session, each branch should appoint members of a dependable joint committee to select the measures that shall be acted upon, subject to the action of a majority of each branch. The program approved, each branch should bind itself by resolution to take up no other measures.

Then the full time and attention of the legislature can be centered on a definite legislative program. No other measures will be permitted to come in to confuse the issues. There can be no playing of one bill against another, no jockeying in committees or on the floor. Each measure on the program will be fully and fairly considered and openly voted upon. The session then can be short and effective.

Otherwise it may be long, confused, a jangle of political animosities and political by-plays—and wholly fruitless.

Would it be appropriate, now, to speak of Ohio as being in the white rhinoceros class?

HELP!

The Minneapolis Tribune and the Duluth News Tribune, both faithful followers of the much-attacked and presently-to-be-destroyed Republican state machine, have gravely informed the public that Governor Eberhart is an old-time champion of the statewide primary, and that he recommended it in his message to the last legislature, but that the legislature refused to pass it.

We wish either that they had not said this, or that they had given references.

Governor Eberhart's message to the last legislature contained 25,000 words. We have waded through it twice, backward and forward each time, but we have been unable to find a word in favor of a statewide primary, or any direction to the legislature to pass it.

Will the twin Tribunes quote his language, and tell where in the message it is to be found?

Hardly Necessary, But Natural.

Speaking of rain and more rain and then a little after that and—but let's don't.

A VICTORY FOR WILD LIFE.

Last year the New York legislature passed a law forbidding the sale of any kind of wild game in that state. Missouri has passed a similar law, and now Massachusetts has done the same thing.

This closes to the market-hunter the immense markets of New York, Boston, St. Louis, Kansas City and many other large communities.

Each such law is a long step taken toward the preservation of wild game. And the rapid disappearance of the game fish, birds and animals of a country that once teemed with them shows the need of a prompt taking of such steps.

All the game laws in the country amount to little unless they check those who fish and hunt for the market. Minnesota has laws forbidding the sale of certain fish, birds and animals, but they are as yet ineffective. For instance, in the case of trout there is a law limiting the number of fish that may be caught in one day, but no law whatever limiting the number of trout that may be had in possession. A game warden who finds a man with two hundred brook trout may suspect that they are caught in nets or traps, may suspect that the catch was not distributed evenly over eight days, as the man may claim, and may suspect that they are being taken to market; but unless he can prove his suspicions—a difficult thing—he is powerless.

The place to head off the market hunter is in the market. Bar the markets to him, and his occupation is gone. Massachusetts, Missouri and New York have gone about it in the right way and the best way.

Philadelphia, Chicago, Baltimore, New Orleans and other large cities are still open markets for the market-hunter.

Let these markets be closed also, and the game supply will have a chance for perpetuation.

Diplomats Needn't Worry.

London Punch is publishing cartoons on our presidential election, but thus far there seems to be no tendency on the part of Alfred Austin to butt into the game.

AN OLD FRIEND.

It's going to seem quite like old times to hear the Hon. Charles A. Towne of New York speak in Duluth tonight.

Duluth has heard Mr. Towne speak before, many times, and never has it failed to hang tensely on his honeyed words. That was years ago; but though Mr. Towne is different by virtue of a few more gray hairs and a few more pounds in weight, he is not different in his marvelous powers of oratory. He is still the clarion-tongued orator who weaves fascinating pictures out of a wonderfully decorative vocabulary, still the skilled advocate who puts into his arguments fire and fervor that are almost convincing.

Duluth used to pack the Armory in the old days, when he was running for congress as a Free Silver Republican with Democratic and Populistic indorsement. The Armory never has held such crowds, with the possible exception of the times when the well-beloved Governor Johnson spoke there. People hung on by their eyebrows to the rafters, almost, to hear Towne. He used to work his audience into perfect frenzies of enthusiasm. When he had an audience at the climax of attention he could easily have led it out to sack the city hall and burn the courthouse. It is a wonderful power—and it is a priceless gift and a tremendous responsibility.

But Duluth was with Mr. Towne in those olden days. It is not with him this time. He comes to charm his hearers by weaving the spell of his fascinating oratory around the figure of Champ Clark, a Democratic candidate for president. But Duluth is for Wilson, and we expect it will be no less for Wilson after Mr. Towne has spoken his piece and departed. Nevertheless, it is going to be a pleasant experience to hear him talk once more.

Chance For Reform.

Now that a woman is getting to be such a big figure in baseball affairs maybe they will find some more delicate name for the spit-ball.

THE INDUSTRIAL BUREAU'S SECRETARY.

None who heard Dr. B. M. Rastall's talk to the Commercial club on city building will feel the slightest doubt that in selecting him as its secretary the industrial bureau has acted wisely.

The secretary of the industrial bureau will be the executive agent of the whole city-building campaign. It will be his task to correlate the various lines of work that are being conducted, and see that they operate harmoniously and effectively toward a common purpose. This takes a man capable not only of spinning sound theories, but of putting them into practical effect. Dr. Rastall looks to us like that kind of a man.

The industrial bureau is to be congratulated on getting him, and the city is to be congratulated on the fact that its industrial bureau, well equipped, backed by the whole force of Duluth's citizenship and inspired by this community's golden hopes of future greatness, is now in operation.

Time For Reflection.

Mrs. Pankhurst ought to be able to think of a whole lot of startling things to do with nine months of enforced inactivity on her hands.

SHOULD BE A SPECIAL ELECTION.

At the meeting of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club last evening Chairman McGonagle, in heartily indorsing the commission plan of city government for Duluth, pointed out the need that the new charter, when it is prepared, be submitted to the people at a special election.

By all means. There is no regular city election until February. There is a general election in November, but it would be folly to submit a question of such vast local importance at an election where the presidency, the governorship and many other offices are absorbing public interest.

When the voters pass on the commission plan charter they should do it at a special election.

Busy Times Ahead.

ONE BY ONE THE ROSES FALL.

Senator William Murray Crane of Massachusetts has anounced that he will not be a candidate for re-election for the term beginning March 4, 1913.

There is now pending before the Massachusetts legislature a measure which, if it is passed, as now seems likely, will provide that the man who fills the term which Senator Crane declines will have to go through the process known as the "Oregon plan" of direct election of United States senators.

There may or there may not be a connection between these two facts.

At any rate, the passing of Murray Crane is the passing of still another member of the Republican Old Guard, which has been dwindling in the past few years. Death, defeat and resignation are thinning the ranks rapidly, and shortly there will be none left of the old familiar figures which guided the nation so long under the leadership of such men as Mark Hanna, Matt Quay, Boies Penrose, Nelson W. Aldrich and W. Murray Crane.

For Murray Crane was—and is—one of the leaders, if not really THE leader. In many respects he is craftier than any of them. His methods are noiseless. His movements are subtle and secret. His plans are well oiled. He gives no interviews, makes no speeches, does no loud talking. Murray Crane is a whisper—but a whisper more penetrating and effective than another man's volcanic vociferousness. In party councils, in the secret confabs that have decided the fate of legislation, his whisper has been ever effective, ever mighty. It is a question if his influence, taking it all in all, has not been more powerful than that of Senator Aldrich, who was the open leader, after Mark Hanna, of the senate Old Guard.

And now he is to retire, and to muse in private life upon the untoward events that have swept him and his fellow leaders in the cause of Special Privilege out of power. It is well.

A BATTERED MACHINE

By SAVOYARD.

The Democracy of Pennsylvania deposed its old leaders the other day. For more than two score years, with short and fitful intervals, the Democratic organization of that populous and powerful commonwealth has been the obedient servant to fetch and carry for the Republican machine. Whenever Quay was in distress he had but to signal the Democratic bosses and succor was instantly at hand. Quay rarely resorted to that desperate expedient, but he never made the call in vain. There were as good Democrats in Pennsylvania as could be found anywhere. The Philadelphia Record is as able and as sound a Democratic paper as any in the country. I had a slight acquaintance years ago with the editor of the Harrisburg Patriot and a higher order of Democrat I never met.

But Pennsylvania recalls a remark of Prince Eugene. Speaking of the dukes of Lorraine and Bavaria, he said: "Their geography prevents them from being men of honor." And her mines and other industries prevent Pennsylvania from being a Democratic state. It was always so. Even when Pennsylvania was nominally Democratic she was for the "tariff of abominations," and she would have elected Henry Clay president in 1844 had she not believed that James K. Polk was for the protective tariff of 1842. By the way, the Hon. Champ Clark takes his present tariff views from Joseph W. Bailey, who got them from President Polk, who was a free trader of Tennessee and a protectionist in Pennsylvania. Bailey and Clark, however, adhere to none of Mr. Polk's tariff views except those that have the Pennsylvania brand.

When I first saw this town Samuel J. Randall, "a Pennsylvania Democrat," was speaker of the Forty-sixth congress. He was not a Democrat, but a Whig, who, for some whim or other, did not go into the Republican party along with such Whigs as Thaddeus Stevens, Horace Greeley, Hamilton Fish and men of that ilk. Two things made him speaker. One was his instrumentality in the defeat of Ben Butler's force bill of 1873, and the other was the failure of William R. Morrison to oppose him in the Democratic caucus with John G. Carlisle, who beat him four years later, or John F. House, instead of with Joe Blackburn. Then, besides, the theft of the presidency had dwarfed the tariff as an issue.

At that time there was a Democrat from Pennsylvania in the senate—William A. Wallace. He and Randall were rivals and that was the most virulent hostility shown in their struggle for the mastery. Wallace was said to be a consummate party boss. His friends declared that Gorman was a tyro compared with him. Tall, slender, rather handsome, auburn haired, sedate, deliberate, there was an air about him that marked the caste of Vere de Vere. Rarely are features seen more refined than his, though there was then a congressman from Massachusetts by the name of Field who could match him this respect. It was claimed that Wallace was a genuine tariff reformer, but if that is true it is a mystery how he got to the senate from Pennsylvania. William L. Scott was another Pennsylvania Democrat—subsequently in congress—and a very good tariff reformer, for a Pennsylvania coal baron.

But Randall was a stronger man than either Scott or Wallace and dominated the party in the Keystone state. The Republicans kept him in congress for more than twenty-five years and he died in the harness. He defeated all the Morrison tariff bills. He did his utmost to defeat the Mills bill. If he did not vote for it, he lent aid to the passage of the McKinley bill. Then what could be expected of the Pennsylvania Democracy when its most-trusted leader was in thorough accord with the opposite side on a question, frequently paramount and incessantly important?

That is changed. A new leader has sprung up in Pennsylvania, and he is a Democrat—A. Mitchell Palmer. He is of the Roger Q. Mills order of Democrat and the party in Pennsylvania, under his lead, has ceased to be the annex, the asset of the Republican machine. He has instilled into it confidence and vitality and hope. It is a militant party and if the Democracy of the nation will prove as Democratic at Baltimore in 1912 as it was at Chicago in 1892, Pennsylvania will be a doubtful state in November.

Though it is only his second term, Mr. Palmer is a member of the ways and means committee, put in that council by his fellow members for his Democracy, for the views he holds as to the tariff. I have not had the good fortune to hear him; but report has it that he is a capital orator in debate, able and skillful. His fight against the proposed tariff board embraced in the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was brilliant, and with a little more experience he is bound to attain to the leadership of his party in the house.

The primary that the luminous mind of John C. Calhoun foresaw has come: but it is crude and needs radical amendment. It is manifest that it will not cure the evils and work the reforms claimed for it by Bryan, La Follette and others, unless the people participate in it as they do in the general elections. As shown this year the primary was the opportunity of the boss and his machine. Certainly it was so in Maryland, where the discredited Gorman machine and the city ring of Baltimore ran the whole show. There was no more doubt that Wilson was the first choice of the Maryland Democracy for the nomination at Baltimore in June than there is that he was the first choice of the Democracy of Delaware, only a step across the way.

Somebody for Clark, whether authorized or not, proposed the mayor of Baltimore the nomination for vice president if Clark shall be selected to head the ticket, and every henchman of the Baltimore machine sprang to the ballot box, while thousands of Wilson men were apathetic. Of course the Gorman machine was against Wilson. That was instinctive, spontaneous, inevitable; and yet in the counties outside the city Wilson beat Clark, though his campaign chest was empty and Clark's simply overflowing.

Maybe it will become necessary for every state to make it a misdemeanor for the citizen clothed with the elective franchise to fail to exercise it without a legal excuse such as would exonerate him for failure to serve on a jury when summoned to that duty. That is the law in Switzerland, where the citizen is disgraced when he wilfully fails to discharge the very duty of casting his ballot at the election. And this agitation for the primary will not be composed 'n our country until every state shall follow the example of Switzerland.

Then the people will be in a fix to rule, and rule they will except when they are cajoled or corrupted, and that will be too frequent.

AND STILL SOCIETY COMMITS MURDER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Last night I read of the killing of Richeson in the Boston prison and among other things I read: "The guards had trouble in getting the straps in position about the limbs in fastening him to the chair." I should think they would.

In the seventh chapter of John I read of a great sermon Jesus preached to a Godless lot and at the close of the sermon every man went to his own home, leaving the Preacher, who had been digging into their sin, on the ground alone and he went to the Mount of Olivet. The next morning early after he had gone to the temple they brought a woman they had caught in adultery and said: "Moses in the law commanded us to stone such a one. But what sayest thou?" He said: "He that is without sin among you, let him cast the first stone at her." The argument was closed and soon as possible the whole outfit was gone, except the woman. Suppose Jesus Christ the blessed Son of God, who came to save a lost and ruined race from sin and the curse of the law had walked into that death room and said the same thing to that bunch. Can't you see them going. Not a man but Richeson would have been left and Jesus would have said to him what he did to the woman, or cast him in prison.

After Moses had given the law that said "An eye, etc.," he said: Deut., xviii.:15. "The Lord thy God will raise up to thee a prophet like unto me; him thou shalt hear." And in Matt. xvii.:15. "God the Father speaks out of heaven saying hear ye Him, but they would not." And in John, v.:39. "Ye will not come unto Me that you might have life." And yet after all the teaching of Jesus and the whole of the new testament showing so plainly that the law and the officers of the law are to be terrors to the evil doer but not to take life any more, they will still reject Him and His word and stick to the law that was given to bring us to him.

J. M. BURWICK.

Duluth, May 22.

WHOLE WEEK IS NEEDED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

That was a good idea of Health Commissioner Fahey to name a cleaning week instead of a cleaning day. An entire week devoted to making Duluth a better and more attractive place in which to live will undoubtedly get better results than a single day. It not only removes the possibility of the weather greatly interfering, but it gives everyone an opportunity to put their yards in shape. It would seem that everyone having a yard ought to be able to take at least a short time to remove any debris that may still remain from the winter's accumulation. If the matter is explained to the children in the public schools, and every argument is in favor of the comparatively short time which this would require, Saturday, with their assistance, should see every lot and yard in the city in excellent condition. The sight of some of the yards in the city is another argument in favor of the extension of the municipal garbage collection to all parts of the city. With this collection in force it would be practically impossible for some of the yards to look as they do every spring.

Lawyers.

Life: It is the greatest mistake in the world to put lawyers into congress and the legislatures, under the impression that they will be good lawmakers. Lawyers know comparatively little of what laws should be. They only know a little about a few of the laws that are. In addition to that, they know the machinery of finding out—and other upholding or evading—any particular law or set of laws in which a client is interested. They begin where congress and legislatures end. Government by lawyers is comparable to a cat chasing its tail.

A Question of National Policy.

Chicago Tribune: At the meeting of the Illinois Bar association at the Hotel La Salle, Judge Theodore Brentano of the superior court told of a case tried before him several years ago at which the late "Jim" Evans, a widely known and universally liked newspaper writer, was a witness. Evans had given important evidence, and the opposing attorney was doing his best to shake his testimony.

He had made Evans go back over his past life and was questioning him regarding the different positions he had held.

"Jim" was telling of a period of his early newspaper days when he had held many places and none for long.

"Then where did you go?" thundered the lawyer after Evans had told of working a few days in the Southwest.

"To Dallas, Tex. Worked two weeks," replied Evans.

"Why did you change?" asked the lawyer.

"My boss and I could not agree upon a question of national policy," was the answer.

"Then where did you go?"

"To New Orleans. Left there in a week."

"And what was the reason this time?" from the attorney.

"Same thing," answered Evans with a smile. "The proprietor and I found that we did not agree upon a political question of national importance."

The same answer was given as Evans told of numerous other places he had taken and given up. The attorney finally gave up his attempt to break down Evans with the remark: "You must be a hard man to get along with if you have such set political ideas."

A few days after the case had been decided Judge Brentano met Evans on the street.

"Say, Jim," he asked, "what was that question of national importance that cost you so many jobs? What did you and your bosses disagree over?"

"Prohibition," answered Evans with a smile.

Tell me no more tomorrow will be fair,
For youth is fleet.
Give me my pleasure now, the rose to wear,
While life is sweet!

Tell me no more tomorrow will be glad—
Today is long.
Give me my rapture now, my heart is sad,
I need the song!

Tell me no more tomorrow will be gay—
The shadow lies
From these bleak winters far away—away
Beyond sunrise!

Tell me no more tomorrow will be dear—
I only pray
One touch of passion while it lies so near,
Today, today!

THE EXTRA SESSION.

Repudiation Ahead.

Bemidji Pioneer: After months of persistent demand on the part of the people of the state, Governor Eberhart has at last called a special session of the legislature to consider particularly a primary law, corrupt practices act and reapportionment. The state convention held in Minneapolis yesterday forced him to see what he refused to note through the newspapers. Minnesota is progressive and a standpat governor will never be re-elected. Eberhart was forced into calling the special session by seeing himself in a way to be repudiated by his party.

Death-Bed Repentance.

Alexandria Post and Record: At the close of the Republican state convention Thursday, Governor Eberhart announced that he would call a special session of the legislature for the enactment of a state-wide primary law. The session will be called for June 4. This will give the state an opportunity to express its choice for governor and other state officers. Undoubtedly this will be done to show that the governor respects the wishes of the people, but it would have had a better effect on his own chances if he had called the session soon enough to allow a preferential vote for president.

He Hopes to See It.

Winona Independent: What is it that has come to Governor Eberhart, that he has deemed it advisable to call a special session for enacting a state-wide primary election law prior to the nomination of the state officers? Does he see some capital for himself in the act?

Driven to the Wall.

Marshall News-Messenger: Governor Eberhart was driven to the wall and forced to call an extra session of the legislature by the loud voice of the state convention on Thursday.

The Inspiration.

St. Cloud Times: Governor Eberhart persistently declined the demand of Northern Minnesota people of all parties that he call a special session of the legislature to pass an apportionment act, but when a Republican state convention, composed of his party only, asks its state central committee to provide for a gubernatorial preference primary, the governor at once decides to call an extra session June 4 to consider not only a state-wide primary law, but a corrupt practices act and reapportionment law.

He would not listen to the voice of nearly half the state, but when his own office is in jeopardy he acts instantly.

Plans in Jeopardy.

Albert Lea Tribune: It is alleged that the governor was forced to call the legislature together to pass a state-wide primary law, for the reason that he read his own defeat in the trend of sentiment at the state convention last Thursday. He hopes through a primary law, with a multiplicity of candidates in the field, to slip in with a plurality of the votes cast.

But there is a disposition among the legislators who have expressed their views upon the matter, to head off the very thing that Governor Eberhart is undoubtedly looking for. Quite a number have expressed the opinion that there should be a provision for a second and third choice, so that a small minority of the voters cannot in any way control the majority. Something of this nature should be done, for the reason that if the man having a bare plurality of the votes is to be nominated, it would be a comparatively easy matter for the machine to get a multiplicity of candidates in the field and in the majority of instances get a plurality for their man and so defeat the will and wish of a large majority of the voters.

No Place for Politics.

Brainerd Dispatch: The decision of Governor Eberhart to call the legislature together in extraordinary session came as a surprise to the people of the state and the expediency of the extra session at this time is being discussed in every locality. A state-wide primary is desirable and has been advocated by the Dispatch in order that the nomination of all officers of the state and counties come under the same rule, but whether at this late day the occasion warrants the extra session is debatable. Politics should be eliminated when it comes to convening the legislature in extra session and the Dispatch believes that under the circumstances at this late day it would have been full as well to have waited for these reforms until the regular session of the legislature is convened.

A Scandinavian Triple Alliance.

New York Sun: The sudden death of King Frederick of Denmark calls attention once more to his ambitious plan, the plan of every Danish sovereign for a century at least, to revive the Union of Kalmar in some form; that is, to bind by a triple alliance for mutual defense the Scandinavian countries of Denmark, Sweden and Norway.

The value of such an alliance, the real necessity for the Scandinavian countries to sink old and recent grudges in such a common association for safety, is plain enough. Twice in the last century Scandinavian countries have been compelled to recoil, surrender ancient provinces to the ambition of greater and ambitious nations. Thus Sweden lost Finland to Russia, and Denmark, after a gallant fight, retired from Schleswig-Holstein.

Nor is there anything in contemporary European affairs to suggest such losses mark the final reduction of the northern countries. Russia still looks covetously at that portion of Norway and Sweden adjoining the Russian boundary, possessing which Russia might have an Atlantic port of her own. As for Germany, her interest in Copenhagen is hardly less than that of Russia in Constantinople, while the pleasant picture of British armies invading the Fatherland by the Danish peninsula is revived at regular intervals and with natural results by the Pan-Germans.

Divided in their policies, separated by ancient revolutions and contemporary grudges, the Scandinavian countries present rather a temptation than a warning to Russian and to German dreams of expansion. The fate which Polish dissensions brought down upon Poland might thus overtake Scandinavia if ever Russian and German statesmen could divide their spheres in the north as they did once on the Vistula.

United, on the other hand, not as a single nation, but by an alliance which insured a common foreign policy, the Scandinavian states, with nearly 11,000,000 inhabitants and a field army of a quarter million, backed by a reserve of equally well trained forces at least as large, could play a role of no slight importance in a European world where the balance between alliances is so equal that a couple of army corps added to either camp can destroy it.

A Scandinavia thus mobilized and united in its foreign policy might well look forward to consideration rather than attack and find its neutrality voluntarily guaranteed by two alliances, each of which would clearly and justly dread the appearance of Scandinavian forces in the camp of the other. Such in brief is the policy which the late King Frederick cherished, endeavored to foster. Such has been the traditional policy of his family for more than half a century at least.

At bottom the principle set forth in the proposed Scandinavian triple alliance has found expression in two other quarters of Europe. Thus an alliance between Belgium and Holland for mutual protection has been frequently suggested of late. Such an alliance would combine the foreign policies of two insignificant nations in a defensive alliance of upward of 13,000,000 of people, with military resources which would receive consideration in advance from the German or British military authorities seeking to come at each other through the Low Countries.

In precisely the same way Servia, Montenegro, Greece and Bulgaria have considered and are still discussing an alliance which would unite the military resources of these four petty Balkan states and present a material if not a tremendous obstacle in the way of Russian, Austrian or Italian ambitions in Albania, Macedonia or on the Bosporus. Everywhere in Europe, indeed, where little powers find themselves in the pathway of great but rival alliances this policy of unity wins ardent and persistent favor.

It is perhaps too soon after the separation of Norway and Sweden and the accession in the independent Norwegian kingdom of a member of the Danish royal family to expect that suppression of bitterness which must precede an alliance. But King Frederick's death must inevitably cause a renewal of this discussion of the great conception of the statesmen of three small nations.

Mr. Taft's Hoodoo.

Boston Globe: Mr. Taft carried Winona. It was only fair that he should. He put the town on the map when he made his speech there on the Payne-Aldrich bill. Now the little community did the best it could to prevent his being wiped off the map in the Minnesota primary.

In vain. It is a hoodoo combination. For the Winona speech is one that would better not have been spoken, though the good town reposed forever in obscurity.

Won By Degrees.

Judge: "Dashington seems to have finally made a conquest of that Scadmore girl. Wonder how it all came about."

"The first time she saw him she gave him her eye, the next time they met she gave him her arm, it wasn't long before he was holding both of her hands, soon after that he won her heart, and she lost her head and gave herself to him completely."

A Tough Proposition.

Judge: A man who was dining in a village hotel gazed at the second course for a moment, and then asked the waiter:

"What is this leathery stuff?"

"That is a fillet of sole, sir," replied the waiter.

"Well, you may take it away," said the diner, after attacking it with his fork, "and see if you can't get me a nice, tender piece of the upper with the buttons removed."

A New Trick.

Los Angeles Herald: Maid—Mr. Jones called, miss.

Miss Beauty—Show him into the drawing room, Jane.

Maid—Yes'm.

Miss Beauty—And after he has put his box of chocolates on the mantelpiece tell him I'm out.

STREET RAILWAY EXTENSIONS, COMMISSION PLAN, DEVELOPMENT, PLAYGROUNDS, LAKE RATES AND HIGHWAYS CONSIDERED BY PUBLIC AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

NO ROOM FOR DISCORD HERE

Chairman McGonagle Invites All Public Clubs to Co-operate.

Stirring Defense of Duluth Weather By Capt. Alexander McDougall.

The work of the 1912 public affairs committee of the Commercial club was begun with the first meeting last evening.

About eighty members of the committee attended the meeting, which developed many matters of public interest to Duluth. Chairman W. A. McGonagle, who is beginning his third year as chairman of the committee, welcomed the new members and urged that they give loyal co-operation, with their recompense in the satisfaction of a public duty well done.

Mr. McGonagle declared that harmony and co-operation are essential to successful effort in civic affairs, and held out the hand of fellowship to other organizations working along similar lines with the Commercial club.

No Room For Discord.

"There is no room for discord," he said. "We must all work in harmony. We have our work to do. The other clubs have their work to do. Some of the clubs can reach people we cannot reach, on account of the expense of membership in our club. Every citizen should be given an opportunity to partake in civic work, and every organization working in it should be in complete harmony with every other organization.

"The Commercial club wants the co-operation of other clubs and is ready to give its support and co-operation in return. We will lay out our work so that each organization and each individual will have some part in complete harmony with all others, and we will attain the goal of success."

Announcement of the offer of the crop improvement committee of the Association of Grain Exchanges, of $1,000 to each of 100 counties making organized effort for the improvement of crop conditions, was made. St. Louis county is probably entitled to $1,000. Mr. Ball of the crop improvement committee will be in Duluth Saturday and will address the members of the club at 12:45 on the subject of crop improvement.

George H. Maxwell, who is at the head of the American Homecroft society, said last night that the headquarters of the society may be moved from Chicago to Duluth.

The Grand Forks Commercial club will be invited to come to Duluth at some date suitable to the members of the Grand Forks club. The Grand Forks people will be the guests of the Commercial club and will be given an opportunity to get in closer touch with Duluth.

While the rain fell and the chill northeast wind blew outside, Capt. Alexander McDougall arose in the meeting of the committee and delivered himself of a defense of Duluth weather. "This knocking of our weather must stop," he said. "If we didn't have rain in the spring, we wouldn't have the finest grass in the world. We are a little late in the spring, but we have beautiful weather in the autumn for a month longer than the people 150 miles southwest of us. Our weather is all right. It's about time we stopped making a joke of it."

Is iron ore a curiosity in Minnesota? Apparently it is in some parts of the state. The public affairs committee received a letter last evening from the secretary of the fair association of Lac Qui Parle county, stating that many people there had never seen iron ore and the association would like to have a few pounds for display at the county fair. The chairman referred the matter to the chairman with power to act. The chairman happens to be president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, which handles several millions of tons of the ore yearly. It can probably spare a few pounds.

On motion of Luther Mendenhall, Chairman McGonagle was authorized to appoint a committee to make plans for a Chautauqua or summer school in Duluth in 1913.

ALL ABOARD FOR THE BORDER!

Duluth Wants Big Representation at International Falls Meeting.

Duluth will be well represented at the June meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association at International Falls.

At the meeting of the public affairs committee last night, Chairman McGonagle urged the members to turn out in numbers to the meeting in the border town June 20 and 21.

Arrangements will probably be made whereby the Duluth party will be provided with special sleepers, which will be kept at International Falls as sleeping quarters during the convention. International Falls has not hotel accommodations for the crowd to attend the convention. Arrangements are being made for tents, so that some of the crowd will combine the joys of camping with the business of the meeting. The club will endeavor to get a sufficient number to attend from Duluth so that the special sleepers may be obtained.

The program for the International Falls meeting will be completed at a meeting of all committees of the Northern Minnesota Development association next Wednesday at Cass Lake. The program for the coming meeting will not run so greatly to speeches as at former meetings, and more time will be given for discussion.

FRIENDSHIP IN BUSINESS

Traffic Commission for Use of Every Neighbor of Duluth.

Free Help in Solving Traffic Problems for Duluth's Customers.

"Friendship Counts in Business."

The traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club wants to maintain friendly relations with the towns with which Duluth does business. It wants to help them out with their traffic problems, not only to improve traffic conditions between Duluth and the towns, but to solve local transportation problems in order to make friends for Duluth.

A circular now being sent out by the traffic commission is an exposition of the traffic commission's policy. It points out that the traffic commission has accomplished much in improving traffic conditions between Duluth and its trade territory, and it wants the co-operation of people in the trade territory in order to keep traffic conditions as they should be. At the same time, the services of the commission are offered to smaller towns.

The commission has distributed 10,000 of the folders through its own mailing list and through the wholesale houses.

The circular, which is a four-page folder printed on two pages, reads:

"Price and service control trade.

"Duluth wholesalers make the price right. We watch the service. We want your help.

"For two years we have planned and pleaded, petted, persuaded and pushed the railroads on this question of service. We will not be content until Duluth goods reach every point in the Northwest more surely and quickly than from any other point.

"Are we succeeding?

"Read this from one salesman recently:

"'I have been keeping tab on freight shipments for the last month and I find there is a great improvement over the past. I am satisfied that we are getting much better service all along the line than we ever had before.'

"Is that also your experience?

"If not, we should esteem it a favor to know.

"Write the traffic commission of the Commercial club, Duluth, Minn.

"'Friendship counts in business.

"Duluth wants to help its neighbors. You help us and we help you. How?

"Every order sent Duluth helps to swell its onward tonnage. Every additional pound of freight helps us to get more service, better service, more direct and faster service.

"You help us by buying in Duluth and by reporting to us any delays on any Duluth order shipped to you.

"Write us for advice on freight rates, service, overcharges, shortages and claims.

"On any of your local transportation problems we offer you the aid and counsel of our traffic experts and the results of our own experience.

Chairman Julius H. Barnes of the commission again urged Duluth business men, at the meeting of the public affairs committee last evening, to use the facilities of the traffic commission. He gave several concrete examples of money saved for Duluth shippers by obtaining the advice of the traffic commission and said that there is not a man in Duluth who pays a freight or express bill who should not consult the commission as to the justice of the charges he is paying.

NEW PLAN OF RATE MAKING

Lake Rates Should Be Based on Cost of Service.

Head of Traffic Commission Would Revolutionize Present System.

A new theory of lake rate making, which would revolutionize rates for water transportation, was advanced by Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the traffic commission, at the meeting of the public affairs committee last evening.

Mr. Barnes would have water rates based entirely on the cost of the service, with a reasonable percentage of profit added. He said if the interstate commerce commission should take official notice of the theory it would result in a material reduction of rates for water transportation and a consequent great increase in the amount of business handled by lake lines.

Mr. Barnes explained that there are two bases in railroad rate making. One is cost of service and the other value of service. There is a fixed cost of transportation. But some articles should pay more on account of the great value, as compared with the cost of transportation. He said that it is right that silk should pay more than cotton and coal more than sand, in order that the traffic of greatest value should pay a proportionate share of the cost of maintenance of tracks, stations and terminals.

Water rates are different, he said. The public maintains the highways, piers and guides to navigation. Everything in railroad rates, which represents value of service, is owned by the public in water transportation. No charge should be made except for the cost of the service and a fair profit.

Mr. Barnes pointed out that the railroad lines own the lake package freight lines and that the railroad rates are used as the basis of water rates, a reduction being made only sufficient to attract some business. He holds that the water rates should be considered in and of themselves, without their relation to the all-rail rates between the same points.

"When the interstate commerce commission recognizes this principle Duluth will then really come into its own," he said.

EXTENSIONS OF CAR LINES

Special Committee of Five Will Investigate Traction Company's Policy.

Original Resolution Denouncing Company Results in Warm Discussion.

A special committee of five members of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club will investigate the extension policy of the Duluth Street Railway company. When the report of the committee is submitted, the whole committee will pass on the justice of the policy.

That was the result of a discussion at the meeting of the committee last night. The discussion was precipitated by a resolution introduced by W. E. Richardson. In its original form, the resolution denounced the published policy of the company in regard to extensions, declared the belief of the club to be that extensions should be made to New Duluth and to the Central hillside district, and empowered a committee to take such steps as would be necessary to have the extensions made, authority to obtain legal advice being included.

A. T. Banning, Jr., and Luther Mendenhall led the opposition to the resolution in its original form, and Mr. Banning's substitute motion instructing the committee to make an investigation and report back to the whole committee finally prevailed.

Mr. Mendenhall, who is interested in the street railway company, pronounced the statements in the preamble to the resolution as "wild." He declared that the company courted the fullest investigation, but that the club should not commit itself to such statements until they had been investigated.

Former City Attorney Bert Fesler disagreed with Mr. Mendenhall as to the wildness of the statements in the preamble. He said that almost innumerable requests for extensions have been made to the street railway company, but that the company has adopted the policy of making no extensions until the actual business on the extensions would pay the cost of the service. Under the company's franchise, he said it has been found almost impossible to obtain an extension by force, but that no extensions have been made apparently voluntarily, but they have really been the result of a compromise of assessed valuation in consideration of the making of the extensions.

Mr. Fesler said that in his judgment, no better way of getting extensions could be devised than by letting the management of the company, which is largely non-resident, know that a body like the public affairs committee, made up of men of large business interests, demands fair treatment for the city.

Wanted Information.

C. A. Duncan said that he didn't want to subscribe to what he knew nothing of, and asked for information as to the section of the preamble to the resolution, referring to the earnings of the company. Quoting from the testimony of the company's officials and the experts in the recent rate case, in which the company was interested, Mr. Richardson declared that the company is making 25 per cent per annum, net, on the assessed valuation in Duluth.

Mr. Mendenhall declared that the street railway company gives good service, has good accommodations and good cars. He said that the trouble is the company will not make extensions into new territory bought for purposes of speculation.

After some further discussion, Mr. Banning's substitute motion was adopted. The committee will probably make a report at the June meeting of the public affairs committee.

Original Resolution.

The original resolution, as submitted by Mr. Richardson, follows:

"Whereas, The street car facilities of the city of Duluth are wholly inadequate, and the announced policy of the Duluth Street Railway company, as set forth in its communication of recent date, to the common council of this city, is to continue its former policy of making no extensions except into territory which shall have been built up so that said company shall at once derive a sufficient revenue to pay a profit on cost of construction of such extensions, and,

"Whereas, The practice of street railway companies in other progressive and growing cities is to foster their business by providing easy access to suburban property and thus avoid the crowding of houses into a limited territory where the occupants can walk to and from their daily work, and,

"Whereas, We believe that the inhabitants of the city would be much better off if they could occupy a reasonable large lot or tract of land, conveniently located as to transportation and that if adequate facilities were afforded a large proportion of those now living in the congested districts would obtain homes in suburban portions of the city and incidentally would become daily patrons of the Street Railway company, and,

"Whereas, The Duluth Street Railway company is not only on a sound financial basis, but is receiving returns altogether out of proportion to its investment and we believe the time will soon come, if it is not already here, when such franchises as that held by the Duluth Street Railway company will be declared void or will be so construed that relief from the present conditions may be obtained, and,

"Whereas, We believe that the demand of the Street Railway company that streets must be placed in condition and all bridges be made sufficiently strong for street cars before any extension will be considered is unreasonable and that such improvements to streets and bridges as are necessitated by the operation of street cars should be made by the Street Railway company, and,

"Whereas, There is, almost immediately adjacent to the center of the city, a large territory entirely suitable for residence purposes except for the lack of street car facilities, which is available at very low prices while property at an equal and at much greater distances along a street railway line commands a price beyond the means of most people, which fact is occasioned by the comparatively small territory reached by the street railway system, and

"Whereas, An enormous manufacturing plant is under construction in the western portion of the city and will soon be completed and will employ thousands of men itself in addition to those employed by other plants which will cluster around this nucleus and there will be a large population besides these directly connected with these plants, and

"Whereas, We consider that the construction of street railway lines to this manufacturing suburb and to this residential territory to be most important to the whole of the city, therefore

"Be it resolved, That we do hereby request the Duluth Street Railway company that extensions of their lines be made to New Duluth and to the central territory immediately north of the main portion of the city and serving the same territory as recommended by the common council of the city in resolution adopted at its meeting of March 18, 1912, the central part of which territory is adjacent to the Villa Scholastica at Kenwood.

"Resolved further, That the chairman of this public affairs committee is authorized to appoint a committee of —— to negotiate with the Duluth Street Railway company to secure the construction of such extensions and such committee is empowered, acting under the advice of the executive committee of the club, to secure the services of an attorney, and incur other necessary expenses, in an effort to secure for this city fair and equitable treatment from the said company.

"Resolved further, That the common council of the city and all other interested organizations are invited to co-operate with this body in this endeavor to secure from the street railway company a service somewhere near commensurate to the privileges granted by its franchise."

STAND FIRM FOR JUSTICE

Reapportionment Must Be the Aim, First, Last and All Time.

Committee Favors Its Consideration at the Special Session.

The public affairs committee of the Commercial club of Duluth believes that reapportionment should be considered at the special session of the legislature.

A resolution adopted last night commits the club to the policy of urging reapportionment at every session until it is obtained, and urges the Northern Minnesota Development association to follow the same policy.

The subject was broached by Secretary Eva, who is a member of the executive committee of the Northern Minnesota Development association. Mr. Eva said that the committee was in some doubt as to whether reapportionment should be urged at the special session, and asked the opinion of the committee.

Senator Harry W. Cheadle said that he, too, would like advice on the subject. He said that there are two sides from which the chances of a reapportionment bill passing might be viewed. The members will be in St. Paul on their own time and at their own expense. They might be averse to considering any legislation other than that absolutely necessary and might not be willing to give the time to the consideration of reapportionment. On the other hand, he said, if a properly prepared bill were introduced, it might be passed without time being taken for the quibbles which killed the reapportionment bill in the last session. The bill might have passed at the last session, he said, if every legislator hadn't had time to read it over time after time with the idea of picking out flaws in its treatment of his own district.

W. E. Richardson said that he couldn't see how the club or the development association could be consistent unless they urged reapportionment at every session. Mr. McGonagle took the same view. "We are so committed to an effort to get our rights, and there seems to be no other ground to take."

Frank Crassweller's motion, committing the club to urging reapportionment at the extra session was adopted unanimously.

GIVES TALK ON PLAYGROUNDS

Dr. Henry S. Curtis Urges the Need of Supervision.

Dr. Henry S. Curtis of New York, who is in Duluth in a campaign for the playgrounds movement, addressed the public affairs committee last evening.

Dr. Curtis urged the municipal, supervised playground as the proper playground. He said that the movement has been started usually by private funds, but that ultimately the cities have taken over the playgrounds and have spent large sums for their maintenance.

Dr. Curtis said that the supervised playground reduces juvenile delinquency, while the unsupervised playground contributes to delinquency. He said that better no playgrounds at all unless they are properly supervised and maintained.

Dr. Curtis referred to the success in Chicago, New York and other cities, which have municipal playgrounds, and said that ultimately every city in the United States will have playgrounds as a necessary part of its municipal life, just as are the public schools.

The Duluth Playgrounds association last evening suggested to the Commercial club that arrangements be made for a children's safe and sane celebration of July 4. The matter was referred to the committee on parks and playgrounds.

George H. Maxwell Preaches a Civic Sermon to Committee Members.

No Abnormal Habitation Like Pittsburg Wanted Here, He Says.

George H. Maxwell, introduced by Chairman McGonagle as "the man who made two potatoes grow where none grew before," preached a civic sermon to the public affairs committee of the Commercial club last night.

"Put Duluth on the Map," was his theme, and his method of putting Duluth on the map is to have Duluth go on record in favor of the Newlands bill for river control, and to have Duluth take an active interest in an automobile highway to connect Duluth with New Orleans, the portion of the highway between St. Louis and New Orleans to be a part of the national levee system.

Mr. Maxwell referred in opening to his "Ultimate Duluth" speech, delivered last fall. Copies of it were distributed to the members of the committee and they were urged to give it careful consideration.

"The idea I tried to work out in that speech was that I did not want to see built here such an abnormal habitation for man as such cities as Pittsburg," said Mr. Maxwell. "There is no need for such a city in Duluth, and if such a city does come about, it will be because you men do not show a proper regard for the generations that are to come after."

Mr. Maxwell took up again his idea of making Duluth a summer resort. He said that it should not be a matter-of-fact summer resort, but something different, something in accord with its wonderful advantages given by nature. He said that a commission should be appointed to work out the plans.

Mr. Maxwell explained the Newlands river control bill, which is designed to control the headwaters of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and to divert floods in the Missouri river by a series of flood canals, through which the flood water may be utilized for the irrigation of arid lands.

Mr. Maxwell explained the conditions in the flood country of the Lower Mississippi valley and deplored the great economic loss, not only to the country affected, but to the nation. He urged the club to join with Pittsburg, San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans and other cities in its indorsement of the Newlands bill.

Mr. Maxwell then suggested a highway to parallel the national levees and continue from St. Louis on to Duluth. He said Duluth could easily get the terminus of the road. "Do you want it?" he said. "Or do you want to stand by and see St. Paul and Minneapolis become the ultima thule of the United States?"

"You have never done anything to put Duluth on the map," said Mr. Maxwell. "You have fine local highways radiating in every direction, but why don't you connect them up with the world?"

Mr. Maxwell's suggestions were referred to the executive committee.

PROGRAM FOR LAWMAKERS

Committee Will Consider List of Activities to Be Urged.

Will Prepare Summary of the Laws Wanted at Special Session.

The state and county committee of the public affairs committee will consider a legislative program for the next regular session of the state legislature, and will report to the public affairs committee, probably at a special meeting to be held early in June. One of the most important subjects to be considered at the next regular session is legislation for the co-ordination of state departments relating to conservation, development and settlement. Hugh J. Hughes, editor of Farm, Stock and Home, a farm pape published in Minneapolis, is interested in the subject and has already begun a campaign to arouse public sentiment for a system which will consolidate into an efficient and economical bureau the various departments which are now working separately and often inharmoniously.

Mr. Hughes will be in Duluth Saturday of this week and again June 22. On his second visit arrangements will be made so that he may address the club on the subject.

When the matter of legislation was referred to the state and county committee, L. B. Arnold suggested early action. Mr. Arnold, a chairman of a committee consisting of representatives from the Northern Minnesota Development association, the State Federation of Commercial clubs, the Southern Minnesota Better Development association, the State Bankers' association, the Minneapolis Civic league, and the St. Paul Association of Commerce. The committee is working on a program of legislation to benefit the whole state. It has been at work for some time and expects to conclude its preliminary work in June. The committee is anxious to get the backing of commercial bodies for needed legislation. Mr. Arnold explained the Newlands river control bill, which is designed to control the headwaters of the Ohio and Mississippi rivers and to divert floods in the Missouri river by a series of flood canals, through which the flood water may be utilized for the irrigation of arid lands.

Mr. Maxwell explained the conditions in the flood country of the Lower Mississippi valley and deplored the great economic loss, not only to the country affected, but to the nation. He urged the club to join with Pittsburg, San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans and other cities in its indorsement of the Newlands bill.

Mr. Maxwell then suggested a highway to parallel the national levees and continue from St. Louis on to Duluth. He said Duluth could easily get the terminus of the road. "Do you want it?" he said. "Or do you want to stand by and see St. Paul and Minneapolis become the ultima thule of the United States?"

"You have never done anything to put Duluth on the map," said Mr. Maxwell. "You have fine local highways radiating in every direction, but why don't you connect them up with the world?"

Mr. Maxwell's suggestions were referred to the executive committee.

German Catholic Meeting.

Mandan, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The organization meeting of the North Dakota German Catholic societies will be held here June 11 and 12. The principal address of the day will be delivered by Father Wurst of Wabasha, Minn. Bishop Wehrle of the diocese of Bismarck will be in charge of the meeting and the abbot of St. Johns at Collegeville, Minn., has also been invited to deliver an address.

Mill City Charities' Head.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 23.—John J. O'Connor, aged 25, of Chicago has been appointed secretary of the Associated Charities to succeed E. T. Lies, who resigned a short time ago. Mr. O'Connor at present is district superintendent of the United Charities of Chicago, his field being the stockyards district. He has been with the United Charities five years.

COMMISSION PLAN URGED

Committee Named to Get Prompt Action on Desired Change.

All Legal Obstacles Have Been Removed, Says Chairman McGonagle.

A committee of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, consisting of J. L. Washburn, R. B. Knox, J. H. Hearding, F. A. Patrick, George A. Gray and Frank Crasswelle-er, will co-operate with the charter commission in an effort to have the commission form of government adopted in Duluth as soon as possible.

The Commercial club committee was appointed last evening by Chairman W. A. McGonagle of the public affairs committee.

"Now that legal obstacles have been removed there is no good reason why the commission form of government should not be adopted in Duluth, and adopted immediately," said Mr. McGonagle.

Mr. McGonagle also urged that the vote should not be taken at the same time as the general election in November. A special election to vote on the commission form should be called, he said, in order that the voters might give their whole attention to it.

When the agitation for the adoption of the commission form of government was first begun a committee of the Commercial club made a thorough investigation of the subject. The result was a report, strongly commendatory of the commission plan. The report was adopted by the club and the action taken last night was in furtherance of the former policy.

PRESBYTERIANS ACT ON LIQUOR

Want Shipments Into "Dry" Districts Forbidden By Law.

Louisville, Ky., May 23.—Though the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America did not act on a recommendation of one man who wanted the assembly to memorialize the federal government to prohibit the manufacture, importation and distribution of intoxicating beverages, it took a positive stand on the temperance question. Congressional legislation to prohibit interstate shipment of liquor into prohibition states or districts was indorsed.

Before aid is given Presbyterian colleges, the board requires statements that the faculty is composed of men who shall exercise a strong Christian influence. The board in the last year has received and disbursed more than $1,500,000.

The report of the nominating committee, which was approved and is equivalent to election, named the following to places on the executive committee:

Rev. Drs. William Foulkes, Kansas City; Mark A. Matthews, Seattle; David G. Wylie, New York; Wallace Radcliffe, Washington, D. C.; and Elders Charles D. Thompson, Minneapolis, Logan C. Murray, Louisville, and Isaac H. Parr, St. Louis.

Court Declines to Order Participation in Lake Front Cases.

Chicago, May 23.—United States District Judge Carpenter today decided he had no authority to direct the federal government to become a party to a suit to establish the title of lake front lands in Chicago, which are claimed by the representatives of Indian tribes, and now are occupied by railroads.

The motion was to have the government join as a plaintiff with the Ottawa, Chippewa and Pottawatomie tribes of Indians living in Illinois, Michigan and Indiana to proceed against the Illinois Central, the Michigan Central and the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway companies for the title to lands lying along the shore of Lake Michigan, within the city limits.

The claim advanced was that the strip in question was outside the land ceded by the Indian tribes to the government.

The district attorney opposed the motion and the court ruled that he was without jurisdiction to declare the federal government a party to such a suit. Counsel for the Indians said the order was asked so that an ouster suit might be instituted by his clients.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MAY 26. Matt. v, 33-37; James iii, 1-12. Truthfulness.

CONNECTION.

We have Christ's teaching together with teachings from the apostle James who was familiar with the Master's instructions. Both of them sought to uproot very pernicious practices that were all too common. Some of those failings are well known today.

THE LESSON.

I.

Accuracy in Speech. 33-37.

"Again, ye have heard that it was said to them of old time, Thou shalt not forswear thyself, but shalt perform unto the Lord thine oaths; but I say unto you, Swear not at all; neither by the heaven, for it is the throne of God; nor by the earth, for it is the footstool of His feet; nor by Jerusalem, for it is the city of the great King. Neither shalt thou swear by thy head, for thou canst not make one hair white or black. But let your speech be, Yea, yea; Nay, nay; and whatsoever is more than these is of the evil one."

1. OATHS.—We have a saying that a man's word ought to be as good as his bond. So it ought, yet for the purpose of keeping records and for protection against temptation, we have to sign documents. The man who signs it may be all right, but the one who has it signed may not know he is. All would be in confusion if there were no records kept. We have to have an oath administered in courts, for the protection of all concerned and in order to impress witnesses with the sanctity of testimony, but the ideal thing is to have everybody so honest that no one will have to be put under oath. Till that is the case we will have to pursue our present way. But in private conversation no man who respects his own word will need to support it by all sorts of oaths and vows and swearing. In the East today men support any little statement with oaths. "May I be blind all my life if I do it," one will say; "cross my heart and hope to die," says one child to another. In the time of Christ they had all sorts of oaths in order to impress people with the truth of what was said—by God, by the throne of God, by the footstool of God, by the temple, the holy city, the altar and all other sacred things. Jesus said don't swear at all, but make your simple statement mean something; Paul said let your no mean no and your yes mean yes.

2. DUPLICITY.—One thing about those same oaths was that they taught a subtle form of lying. If one's word meant nothing without an oath to support it then the more solemn the oath the more binding and the less solemn the less binding. A man who swore only by the footstool of God could break the oath, because that was less solemn than God Himself. Your simple word ought to be enough.

II.

The Well-Controlled Tongue. James iii, 1-6.

"Be not many of you teachers, my brethren, knowing that we shall receive heavier judgment. For in many things we all stumble. If any stumbleth not in word, the same is a perfect man, able to bridle the whole body also. Now if we put the horses' bridles into their mouths that they may obey us, we turn about their whole body also. Behold, the ships also, though they are so great and are driven by rough winds, are yet turned about by a very small rudder, whither the impulse of the steersman willeth. So the tongue also is a little member, and boasteth great things. Behold, how much wood is kindled by how small a fire! And the tongue is a fire; the world of iniquity among our members is the tongue, which defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the wheel of nature, and is set on fire by hell."

1. AMBITION.—It was an ambition to teach. Orientals like to air their mechanical learning, like the reverence paid to teachers. They were encouraged by the freedom of speech allowed in the meetings and many of them coveted the honors of the teacher. The more dead their faith the more they wanted to set the theology of their brethren to rights. But James gives them a sobering warning that two perils are before them, the peril of stumbling to which all are subject and the peril of special criticism to which those who are in the teacher's place are always exposed. Be careful not to rush into that office unless it is a clear duty.

2. POWER.—Here is the proposition James states—a man who can control his tongue has control over all the rest of his powers, because the tongue is merely the instrument to express what is in the mind and heart and to control it you must be in control of all the rest of yourself. Also the word spoken by the tongue reacts on that nature to train it. Its power is like that of the little bit that controls the horse and the helm that directs the ship, but they both require a strong hand to handle them. But when not controlled the tongue is a terrible instrument of evil. James uses the figures of bit and helm; now he uses another—fire! Such is it, if it is not controlled, as one spark of fire is enough to burn a whole forest of trees; such a tongue is set on fire by hellish powers and makes the wheel of life, set revolving at birth, blaze with destruction. We know what a fire an unclean word may start in the mind. Fire is good, but it must be controlled.

III.

Taming the Tongue. 7-12.

"For every kind of beasts and birds, of creeping things and things in the sea, is tamed, and hath been tamed by mankind; but the tongue can no man tame; it is a restless evil, it is full of deadly poison. Therewith bless we the Lord and Father; and therewith curse we men, who are made after the likeness of God; out of the same mouth cometh forth blessing and cursing. My brethren, these things ought not so to be. Doth the fountain send forth from the same opening sweet water and bitter? Can a fig tree, my brethren, yield olives, or a vine figs? Neither can salt water yield sweet."

1. HOPELESS.—No one can tame it. Hear the accusations brought against it. It is incendiary; it is wild, restless; it is inconsistent; it is unnatural, trying to bless God and curse men at the same time, which is as impossible as for a fountain to send out two unmingled streams of good and bad water at the same time, or for a tree to bear wild olives and sweet, of its own nature. No one can tame his tongue, any more than he can tame his nature.

2. THE TAMER. — As no one can tame his nature, nor the tongue, God, in Christ, undertakes it. He can restore sanity and self-control and sweetness and make the tongue the instrument for the expression of the ennobled and godly nature. Let Him undertake the task.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

The second most deadly weapon of destruction is the dynamite gun; the first is the human tongue. The gun merely kills bodies; the tongue kills reputations, and oftentimes ruins characters. Each gun works alone; each loaded tongue has a hundred accomplices. The havoc of the gun is visible at once. The full evil of the tongue lives through all the years; even the eye of Omniscience might grow tired in tracing it to its finality. The crimes of the tongue are words of unkindness, of anger, or malice, of envy, of bitterness, of harsh criticism, gossip, lying, scandal. Theft and murder are awful crimes, yet in any single year the aggregate sorrow, pain and suffering they cause in a nature is microscopic when compared with the sorrows that come from the crimes of the tongue.—Pollard.

The absence of the power to speak would tend to shut out each of us in upon himself, even more than would the want of sight. The blind are more social and more cheerful than the deaf and suffer less as regards their human relations with others. That wonderful musical instrument, the voice of man, together with its more wonderful complement the ear of man, constitutes a channel of communication from spirit to spirit which has no fellow. It conveys the strongest emotions and the finest shades of feeling with a truth and a delicacy of which the written record is incapable We realize this when we seek to express in written words the power of speech in a great orator or singer, or the utterance of emotion in the voice of one who is deeply stirred by sorrow, joy or anger. The written word is the dumb and motionless statue in which the artist has tried to fix and embody life. Without the flexible power of speech, with its inexhaustible variety of tone and pitch our social existence would be meager and formal at its best. We should know of each other little less than the surface of life.—R. E. Thompson.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1.—How can the talent for talking and the fondness for it be utilized for good?

2.—What is the special infirmity of your tongue?

3.—What on earth is better than good talk?

4.—Why is perfect self-command impossible without Christ's aid?

5.—Why ought one not always to speak "Just what I think?"

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

PARK Commissioners of Spokane, Wash., headed by Aubrey Lee White, will have placed at their disposal $1,000,000 for the park site, playgrounds and improvements as soon as the bonds are issued, the supreme court of the state of Washington having just declared valid the election of May 3, 1910. Five hundred thousand dollars is to be expended in acquiring new park sites, upon which $250,000 has been set aside for playgrounds in various parts of the city. Every foot of improved park area in Spokane was secured through donations, and in the last two years several unimproved tracts have been acquired by purchase. The park system embraces between 750 and 800 acres. The park commissioners have pledged a park within 10 minutes' walk of every home in Spokane.

Duluth has been steadily extending its park system and establishing playgrounds the last few years. Under a recent legislative act the city is empowered to issue $300,000 of bonds, not more than $50,000 of which can be sold in any one year, for this purpose. Half of the bonds have now been sold, the proceeds being used for the acquisition of additional park property. The local park system contains about 365 acres valued at more than $1,250,000. Condemnation proceedings have been instituted for the acquisition of about 100 more acres on the water front at Fairmont park at West Duluth.

COLONEL NOT A DRINKER.

Dr. Lyman Abbott Says Milk Is Roosevelt's Chief Beverage.

New York, May 23.—Col. Roosevelt is intemperate only in his consumption of milk, according to the statement of Dr. Lyman Abbott, made on Tuesday after the colonel's denial of reports that he was addicted to the excessive use of intoxicants.

"Roosevelt has my permission to say that he drinks as much and more than I," Dr. Abbott said. "The only thing that Roosevelt drinks to excess is milk. I have often seen him drink four and five glasses of milk at a single meal."

Dr. Abbott added that he (Abbott) sometimes drank a glass or two of light wine at dinner, never took brandy or whisky except on a physician's order and drank beer only in Europe because American beer, he said, is inferior.

The story started with the publication in a Salina, Kan., newspaper asserting that Roosevelt was intoxicated in that town at the time of his Osawatomie speech. William Hatfield, Jr., a Roosevelt supporter, sent the editorial and a letter about it to Roosevelt. From his private car hurrying through Ohio, the colonel dictated a reply, branding the story as absolutely false and referring it to Dr. Abbott.

TALK OF CHURCH UNION.

Methodist Protestants Hear Report of Their Committee.

Baltimore, M. D., May 22.—Expressing the conviction that the other two branches of the Methodist denomination, the Methodist Episcopal church and the Methodist Episcopal Church South, have been encouraged by the progress of the negotiations thus far made by the three commissions on church union, the commission of the Methodist Protestant church, in its report to the general conference here, asked to have its work thus far indorsed and to be instructed to continue for another year along the same lines. The report did not aim to commit the denomination in any important way.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

HITS BOGUS MINCE MEAT

North Dakota Pure Food Department Raps Preparations Called Such.

Commissioner Ladd Scores Products on Market Not Properly Made.

Agricultural College, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Few preparations called mince meat are entitled to that classification in North Dakota, according to a bulletin just published by the state pure food department as the result of tests made under the direction of Commissioner E. F. Ladd upon fifty-one samples of preparations sold as mine meat. Of the fifty-one samples analyzed nineteen were found to contain none or less than 1 per cent of meat, eighteen with from 1 to 6 per cent, and fourteen with from 6 to 10 per cent of meat. Seven of the preparations examined were found to contain glucose, four containing approximately 10 per cent and three from 40 to 44 per cent.

Product Not Mince Meat.

"It seems clearly evident that there are products on the market which cannot be classed as mince meats," said Commissioner Ladd, "either under the official definition as given by the association of state and national food and dairy departments, or as defined by the dictionaries, nor as is generally understood by the general public who have been in the habit of producing mince meats in the home. To state that a product which contains no meat whatever is mince meat, without any qualifying statement, is misleading to say the least. To add starch or glucose, making the same largely a constituent of the meat, is equally deceptive. The fruit cannot legitimately be tomatoes or apple skins or waste material generally discarded as articles of food, minced, flavored and seasoned so that the average person is not able to detect the true chiracter of the product even though he knows he does not relish the ples made from the same.

"Flour, corn meal or starch, also, are not ingredients of recognized mince meats, and their presence should be declared upon the label. They may serve two purposes, as fillers or as fillers to hold a large quantity of water. In either case to sell flour or corn meal or starch and water at the price of mince meat, that is when the said starch and water has been added, is wrong."

The examinations which have been made upon brands sent direct from the manufacturers will be continued and then followed by an investigation of mince meats found on sale at the stores in the state.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—One of the true pioneers of this section of Michigan was called here Tuesday when ex-Mayor John Jones died, aged 73, after a residence of forty years in Marquette county.

At that time ther were a great many Indians at the Soo, and the white people were in fear of them. Eau Claire, Wis., May 23.—H. H. Adams of Black River Falls, an Omaha railroad brakeman, had to go to a local hospital yesterday to have the wounds he received in a fight with tramps in a box car here treated.

Six tramps he had ordered out of the freight car attacked him with a stone and a razor. Adams was quite badly cut about the hands with the razor and was bruised up some as the result of being struck by the stone. He would probably have fared much worse had not the rest of the train crew arrived on the scene and captured four of the six. The other two started to run but were caught by Policeman Plein after a short chase.

The six were taken in charge by the police and locked up. They were given a sweating process at the city police station and serious charges will likely be filed against them. It is said that they were about to throw Adams under the wheels of the train when help came.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Eau Claire—Henry McTague, aged 35, lies at the Montgomery hospital in a very critical condition as a result of burns received Tuesday night when a small blaze broke out at the home of his mother, Mrs. Frances B. McTague.

Stoughton—This city will lose a $30,000 gift for a library because of a recent court action in which the daughter of Jerome Bixby, a wealthy farmer, was accused of assault by a neighbor. Bixby was let off owing to the attitude of the city officials he regrets to state the bequest has been canceled.

Marinette—Leland Cayo, aged 10, of Niagara, lost the sight of both eyes, was fearfully disfigured about the face and chest and sustained a shattered hand, when a dynamite cartridge, the fuse of which he had ignited, exploded in his grasp. Harry McAllister, aged 6, the injured boy's companion, was also badly cut and bruised.

Baraboo—The Wisconsin apple crop will be exceptionally short this season. This being the "off year" the blossoms were not more than half the usual number, and the cold, wet rain of the last week has had the effect of injuring the small crop materially. One of the large growers declares that there will not be more than enough for the home market.

Fond du Lac—Thomas Zweifel, a pioneer resident of Calumetville, died Monday. He was born in Haseles, Switzerland in 1835 and came to this country at the age of 17, settling at Calumetville in 1854. In 1863 he married Catherine Fuhrman of Calumetville. He retired from active business twelve years ago. Mr. Zweifel was a prominent Odd Fellow.

Waukesha—Henry Brehmer, an heir to an estate valued at $20,000 which was settled recently after he had been legally declared dead, appeared in county court to claim his share of the estate. He will receive $3,484.42. He was located in the far west after a long search.

Maiden Rock—Seed corn is selling at from $5.50 to $6.50 per bushel here and is very scarce at that. Many farmers, unable to secure seed corn, will plant their land to other crops. Millet and flax will be sown.

Barron—At a special election held on Tuesday to fill the vacancy in office of mayor, caused by the resignation of G. A. Koerner, John E. Bowen was elected by a majority of twenty over Lloyd Nesbitt.

Ashland—The old gas lamps which have made Third street unsightly for many months since they remained unlighted, are being taken out by workmen of the lighting company.

Milton, N. D.—Maymie Gustafson, aged 3, was burned to death at the home of her parents near this city. The child was playing with her sisters and brothers, around a bonfire, and they were trying to see how close they could get to the fire without being burned. She fell into the flames, and her mother, near by, was first to reach her and drag her from the fire, but not until too late.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Twenty-five persons who would become citizens at the coming term of the district court in June, are doomed to disappointment. The reason is that an opinion has been handed down to the effect that the law forbidding the naturalization of foreign citizens thirty days prior to a general election, also applies to the primary elections.

Bismarck, N. D.—The first hail insurance policy to be written in Burleigh county by the assessors has been received at the office of County Auditor Flaherty. H. C. Bliss of Baldwin applied for hail insurance, the assessor writing the application being Ernest Solberg of Cromwell township.

Devils Lake, N. D.—The remains of Miss Margaret Moylan of Cando, who died at Rochester, Friday evening, were taken through Tuesday to Cando, where the funeral took place Wednesday. She was a bright, popular young lady of 22 years and one of the most highly esteemed young ladies of Cando. She was a cousin of Bert Moylan, county register of deeds at Cando.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

East Grand Forks—Ed and Chris Johnson, charged with having taken a watch away from one Sivert Peterson last Saturday morning, were arraigned in municipal court Tuesday before Judge Rasmussen and admitted their guilt. They were bound over to the grand jury and were taken to Crookston, awaiting trial.

The plans will provide for a separate building in which the machinery will be operated with plenty of room for the storage of coal. Both of the school buildings will then be heated from this central plant.

Winona—A clever hotel burglar operated in Winona Monday night. He entered four of the leading downtown hotels, taking from four rooms the trousers of the occupants and rifling them. The man operated with similarity in all of the hotels, and although they all employ clerks none has been found who can aid the police in any way.

Red Wing—Announcement is made officially that McKibbin, Driscoll & Dorsey of St. Paul, will remove their hat factory to that city, where their wholesale business and their cap and glove manufacturing plants are located. This move has been anticipated for some time in view of the economy and convenience of having the plants together.

Aitkin—The May term of the district court convened here Tuesday, W. S. McClenahan of Brainerd presiding. There are thirty-seven cases on the civil calendar, and while this number is ten more than appeared on the October calendar, it includes ten cases continued from that term, and may be continued again. The criminal calendar so far shows only two cases.

Bemidji—Lake Bemidji received a consignment of 640,000 pike Tuesday. The pike are 3 days old and were brought from the state fish hatchery at St. Paul. They came in thirty-two cans, each can containing 20,000 fry. In size, they averaged about half an inch in length.

A special exercise was put on at the assembly hall for the benefit of the veterans and their friends. Addresses were delivered by a number of the soldiers and music was furnished by the students. Following the exercises at the assembly hall, the veterans were taken to the domestic science hall and fed.

Dilworth — The Byllesby company has submitted requests to the village council of Dilworth for franchises covering the proposed street railway line and also for the proposed electric power line to that village. The franchises will be taken up by the village council at their next meeting.

Investigate the Cause

IF your house was cold last winter—there was probably a good reason for it outside of the shortcomings of your heating apparatus.

Investigate the cause. For your own and your family's comfort's sake root out the cause or rectify it before cold weather sets in again. Visit the up-stairs rooms and the attic. Note the cracks and crevices under the eaves and around the chimney or window frames. Nose around down cellar—inspect and make a mental note of the openings between the foundation and the base beams of the entire structure. Then recall all that you learned at school about heat and how, like cream, it always rises to the top.

No matter what the construction of your house may be—whether clap-boarded, bricked, tiled or with walls of concrete—you cannot expect to keep the heat indoors and evenly distributed throughout unless it is properly insulated against cold. And the only heat-and-cold insulation is

LINOFELT

On an investment of not more than one per cent of the cost of a building, a single thickness of Linofelt has cut 40 per cent off the fuel bills of hundreds of other satisfied home-owners—it will do as much and more for you.

Figure it out for yourself. Heat always rises and if the roof and eaves or the attic floor of your house are not sheathed with Linofelt you are simply tossing good money after bad, buying and burning fuel in a mad effort to heat your rooms and all outdoors besides.

As this is the case, don't let another summer pass without investigating the fuel and comfort-economies of Linofelt. Call up our local agent now. Tell him to demonstrate just why and how the specially prepared flax fibres of Linofelt keep a house warmer in winter and cooler in summer than any other known substance. Tell him to give you an estimate on the cost of the Linofelt needed—and let us help make your house a real home in satisfaction and fuel economy by furnishing the means of keeping it comfortable the year 'round.

Write today for free booklet telling you all you want to know about keeping a uniform temperature in every room in your house, and other vitally interesting and important facts about Linofelt.

PREPARING ROLL CALL.

Uncontested Republican Delegates Are Being Listed.

Chicago, May 23.—Secretary William Hayward of the Republican national committee has begun preparing the temporary roll call of the uncontested delegates to the Republican national convention. He expects to have the list completed May 30. It is expected that the list will contain the names of about 840 delegates.

Secretary Hayward received credentials from eight delegates-at-large from Missouri, elected by the state convention, with half a vote each, and in accordance with his recent ruling placed them on the list of contested delegates. Under the call issued by the national committee, Missouri is entitled to only four delegates-at-large, and the national committee will pass on this along with the other cases of double delegations when it meets to take up contests on June 6.

Cleveland Gets Piano Men.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 23.—The National Association of Piano Merchants of America decided to hold next year's convention at Cleveland.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Army of Clark Orators Invades Minnesota in Hope of Stampeding State--Have Not Met Very Enthusiastic Reception—Republican Committee Will Rescind Convention Call—Prof. Andrist Is Candidate for Governor.

Clark Men Are Busy.

Charles A. Walsh of Ottumwa, Ia., former secretary of the Democratic national committee and manager of William Randolph Hearst's campaign for the presidency in 1904, slipped into Duluth yesterday to do some missionary work for Champ Clark. Mr. Walsh visited as many Democrats as he could during the time he was in the city, advanced all the arguments at his command for the speaker of the house, and left last night for Minneapolis without having made much progress.

Charles A. Towne is due to speak at the Lyceum tonight in support of Champ Clark's candidacy. Mr. Towne is an eloquent and an elegant speaker. He has a command of the English language that has aided him in many hard fights. He has an engaging personality. He has all the attributes of a great orator—except one, this year, in the opinion of Duluth Democrats. They believe Charley Towne in his present case has not a good cause,—and a good cause is necessary to an orator who hopes to sway his audience.

For probably the first time, Mr. Towne will address a Duluth audience that is wholly out of sympathy with him. They like Mr. Towne personally. They will pay their tribute to his powers of oratory by their attendance, but Clark has no cause in Duluth and the results Saturday are expected to be the same as if Mr. Towne had not come.

No organized efforts are being made to carry the St. Louis county primaries Saturday over the sentiment adverse to Clark. Only two or three prominent Democrats in Duluth are known to be for Clark and they will wield little influence. On the other hand, the men who have always carried the burden of Democratic leadership here are for Wilson. They will organize at a meeting at the city hall tonight, will have caucus tickets in all precincts and will control the county convention next Wednesday at Virginia.

Walsh Is An Optimist.

When Clark first came into the field, his supporters said he would have enough votes in the convention to force a deadlock. Then they increased their claims to a majority on the first ballot. Lately they have been claiming that Mr. Clark would be nominated on the first ballot. C. A. Walsh hit high C yesterday when he claimed that Clark would be nominated by acclamation.

Mr. Walsh has a winning way. He is a politician of the old school, with a gift of tongue that accords with his name. He exudes Clark optimism, whether he feels it or not. He testifies to an undying love—not liking, but love—for the speaker of the house. At the same time, he is ready for strict partisans with the argument of Clark's availability.

"The first requirement for a presidential candidate is that he shall be able to unite his party," said Mr. Walsh yesterday. "No man who cannot unite his party can be elected. He may be nominated, but he cannot be elected. Harmon supporters would not support Wilson and Wilson supporters would not support Harmon. But old Champ! They all love him. He's second choice of everybody, for whom he isn't first choice. They say he couldn't attract the independent votes. Why Champ Clark is the most beloved man in the city of Washington. He inspires not only admiration for his statesmanship, diplomacy and rare legislative ability, but he also inspires in every man who meets him an ardent love for his kindly manner and manly qualities."

Mr. Walsh scouts the idea that Bryan is holding back and may become a candidate. "Mr. Bryan has admitted that he is for all time out of the question as a candidate for the presidency. He has said so repeatedly and he will stand by it," said Mr. Walsh.

Playing for Stampede.

The Clark army has invaded Minnesota. Senator R. F. Pettigrew of South Dakota, Former Senator Fred Dubois of Idaho, George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, Charles A. Towne of New York and Charles A. Walsh of Iowa are among the heavyweights, and they are accompanied by a number of lesser lights, who are doing the headquarters and gumshoe work, assisted by William H. Williams and a small party of Clark supporters in Minnesota.

George Fred Williams and Mr. Towne, the heavy guns in the oratorical brigade, have been speaking all this week, Mr. Williams in the southern part of the state, and Mr. Towne in Northern Minnesota. Neither of them has been given very enthusiastic receptions, although both have been given a respectful hearing as men of national reputation. When Mr. Walsh was in Duluth yesterday, he carefully evaded making any claims as to Minnesota. The Clark men evidently figure that on account of the overwhelming sentiment for Wilson, the Wilson men would not put forth any strong efforts at the primaries, and an eleventh hour campaign might stampede the state for Clark. They have found the Wilson men very much alive and the stampede is not likely to take place.

The only real contests in Minnesota will be in the Fourth and Fifth districts. The Clark men are likely to carry the Fourth. They may carry the Fifth, but outside of these two districts there has been nothing to indicate that the Clark men will have a chance.

No Clark Men In St. Cloud.

Stearns county is a Democratic county. Its Democracy is strong, virulent and militant. One would imagine that if Clark is the leading Democratic candidate, a Democratic community like St. Cloud would give a speaker for him an enthusiastic welcome. C. A. Towne was due to speak in St. Cloud Monday night. His train was late and he missed connections, so C. A. Walsh of Iowa and R. F. Pettigrew of South Dakota went to St. Cloud to keep the engagement. The arrangements for the opera house had been made by an emissary from the Clark headquarters in Minneapolis. Expecting Towne as the speaker, a fair crowd of Democrats gathered, but in all the crowd there was not one man willing to introduce the Clark speakers. The manager of the opera house, a staunch Republican, introduced Mr. Walsh, and Mr. Walsh introduced Mr. Pettigrew. There wasn't a St. Cloud Democrat on the stage.

Will Rescind Call.

For once, the Republican state central committee has taken a suggestion from Governor Eberhart,—apparently. Chairman E. E. Smith has called a meeting of the committee at the St. Paul hotel next Monday at 11 o'clock for the purpose of rescinding the call for the state convention July 2. The call begins: "Pursuant to the suggestion of Governor Eberhart in calling the extra session of the legislature," etc. There was, of course, no such suggestion in the call.

Andrist Is Candidate.

The candidacy of Prof. C. M. Andrist of the University of Minnesota for the Democratic nomination for governor will be announced at a meeting to be held in Minneapolis tonight. Minneapolis friends of Prof. Andrist have been sounding the Democrats of the state for some weeks and have concluded that the time is ripe for his announcement. Prof. Andrist has not been known extensively in public life, but he has many warm friends who believe his qualities will win him the nomination and election.

Knute May Retire.

A rumor has gone out that Senator Knute Nelson will not be a candidate for re-election and that Congressman C. A. Lindbergh of the Sixth district will be a candidate. Lindbergh would make a strong appeal to the Republicans of the state. Incidentally, Alvah Eastman would be put in a good position to continue his congressional campaign, even if the legislature in special session should pass a reapportionment bill and abolish the office of congressman-at-large, an office that really has not yet existed.

McGarry Visits Duluth.

P. H. McGarry of Walker, who is a candidate for the legislature in the Fifty-second district, and incidentally a candidate for speaker of the house, is in Duluth today. Mr. McGarry was in the house before, but dropped out two years ago in order to run for congress against Congressman Lindbergh. Thus far Mr. McGarry and Representative Warner of Aitkin are the only men in the field for the two house seats from the Fifty-second. The district takes in a big territory and others are expected to enter the field later. Mr. McGarry believes that he can hold his own among any number of candidates, and past performances would seem to indicate that he can. In the legislature of 1909 he was about the liveliest singlehanded worker for his district the legislature ever saw. His part of putting over the Cass Lake normal school bill, with the real sentiment of both houses strongly against it, is historic.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

There is a moving picture film being shown at the Orpheum this week which is of special interest at the present time, on account of the campaign being conducted here by Dr. Henry S. Curtis, the playground expert.

Dr. Curtis is explaining to Duluthians the value of supervised playgrounds to a city, and has been addressing audiences all week on the necessity of providing children with a place to play. The Orpheum this week is showing a picture of the opening of one of the new playgrounds in New York city, and the drills, exercises and sports of the children who frequent it. Owing to the presence of Dr. Curtis and the attempt to arouse interest in playgrounds here, Manager Billings had the film run in the middle of the bill, instead of at the end as usual, in order that nobody in the audience would leave before it was shown. It is shown after the second act, and it has shown in a most impressive manner the value of supervised playgrounds. More than 10,000 Duluthians will have seen the picture before Saturday night, and it is expected to be of great assistance to Dr. Curtis and the members of the Duluth Playgrounds committee.

Easily the most talked of juggler who has ever appeared in Duluth is Rapoli, who headlines this week's bill at the Empress. This man is without doubt the greatest exponent of the art of juggling that has ever been sent to Duluth by the booking managers of the Sullivan & Considine circuit. Rapoli is what one may call an all around juggler. He specializes in no one certain line but juggles articles of all descriptions and which range in weight from small wads of paper up to 8 inch projectiles and carriage wheels. The average juggler makes a specialty of either light or heavy objects but Rapoli manipulates either with the same remarkable dexterity. Another feature which places this act above the ordinary is the number of original feats accomplished by Rapoli. One trick deserving of special mention is the one performed with two billiard cues and two eggs. Rapoli balances an egg on the end of a billiard cue, then an egg on top of that and finally a billiard cue on the second egg; he then balances the entire four objects upon his chin. This trick is very difficult because of the fact that no two eggs are of the same shape and although Rapoli has successfully mastered this trick, it is just as hard to accomplish it now as the first time he attempted. In learning this trick, Rapoli estimates that he broke about four barrels of eggs.

OPPOSE OWEN BILL FOR FEDERAL HEALTH BUREAU.

Chicago, May 23.—Resolutions attacking the Owen bill providing for a federal department of health were adopted by the Illinois Association of Physio-Medical Physicians and Surgeons in convention here on the ground that the project was an attempt to concentrate the "health activity of the nation under the direction of one school of medicine."

BISHOP ROWE CALLED FROM ALASKA TO OHIO.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 23.—Bishop Peter T. Rowe of the diocese of Alaska of the Protestant Episcopal church has been chosen bishop coadiutor of the Southern diocese of Ohio. Bishop Rowe was elected unanimously and will be assistant to Bishop Boyd Vincent of this diocese. The election took place at the convention of the diocese here.

TEXAN FLAYS CONGRESSMEN

Hits Roosevelt and Governor Wilson, Clark, Underwood, Mann and Dalzell.

Dies Praises Berger in Bitter Speech—Gallinger Attacks Labor Bill.

Washington, May 23.—In one of the most remarkable speeches of the present session of congress, Representative Dies of Texas, Democrat, assailed Former President Roosevelt in bitter terms and referred in almost as bitter fashion to the leaders of his own party, including Speaker Clark and Governor Wilson, to whom he alluded as "Parson" Wilson. Mr. Dies foresaw the crumbling of the republic, the eventual rule of the mob, and assigned as the causes the "growth of demagoguery" and "influx of ignorant immigrants from Southern Europe."

Tracing the history of Rome, Greece, Italy, France and down to the present day in Mexico, the Texan expressed his fervent hope that "history would not repeat itself under Teddy." He prophesied that Col. Roosevelt, because of his victory in Ohio, would "sweep the country" in the coming presidential campaign.

"Not a Pessimist."

"You are a pessimist," interrupted a voice on the Republican side.

"No, I am not a pessimist," shouted Mr. Dies. "I look only for the worst. Out of the jungle comes the lion-tamer, his hands reeking with the blood of wild beasts. Up goes the cry, 'We want Teddy! We want Teddy!' Not even La Follette—not even Cummins is advanced enough. They do not know the meaning of Progressivism."

Mr. Dies attributed to ignorance at home and cowardice here "his conviction that the Republic was going ahead at the present time, more and more slowly, by reason only of its acquired momentum."

Attacked All Sides.

He attacked Speaker Clark and Majority Leader Underwood for their alleged failure to sustain the old Democratic principles. In like vein and for the same reason, he assailed Minority Leader Mann and Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania for what he charged was desertion from their political faith.

"Berger is the biggest man in this bunch," he said referring to the lone Socialist member, who hails from Wisconsin. "He is heading toward Socialism, while you are backing away and into it."

Eight-Hour Bill Attacked.

An attack on "present legislative tendencies" was delivered in the senate by Senator Gallinger during debate on the bill passed by the house extending the eight-hour law to labor on government contracts. Senator Gallinger cited this measure as a specimen of "pernicious legislation."

"I hope we shall vote promptly on every measure coming before the senate," he continued. "Because the longer we stay here, the more harm we shall do the country. We are to be asked to tear up the established principles of the country, and do away with the injunction. A member of the house has advanced the idea that six hours is long enough for any man to work, and I suppose that under the snap of the whip, we will be forced to submit even to that."

Defended By Borah.

Senator Borah of Idaho and Senator Martine of New Jersey defended the measure, the latter siting the operation of the eight-hour law in New Jersey.

"New Jersey is the headquarters of anarchy in the United States," commented Senator Gallinger.

"Yes," admitted Mr. Martine, "as a result of the infamous tariff system, which has made a handful of millionaires in Passaic and Patterson, and produced squallor and woe among their employes."

Several attempts to amend the bill failed. The measure was not acted upon.

Fitger's Beer

No Better Beer Is Brewed

A Peculiarly Delicious Flavor To Be Found In No Other Beer

FITGER BREWING COMPANY DULUTH - MINN.

To the business man and the hard working artisan alike, beer is the one beverage which satisfies when others lack. Hundreds of so-called "soft drinks" have been put upon the market in the last few years, and extensively advertised, but nothing has ever been made to take the place of the grand old malt and hop brew. Many of these so-called "soft drinks" are harmful to the nerves, and practically none of them have any other purpose than temporary refreshment.

For centuries beer has been a builder of brawn and brain. For over 30 years Fitger's Beer has been brewed in Duluth, and thousands of beer experts over the country attest its superiority. With meals, between meals, any time, it is both enjoyable and beneficial.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

WHEREIN BILL TELLS OF KID McCOY'S EARLY FIGHT

The Old Sport Recalls the Early Days of Duluth and an Unpublished Battle.

(BY BRUCE.)

CIGARS were degeneratin' from perfectos to snipes, several of us had yawned, the same being a coquettish signal to ennui, the bull terrier had shifted position twice, when Bill removed his cigar, settled his tan derby firmly over the right eye, and spoke.

"Fighters," says Bill, "is born and not made. The same is true of poets, I've heard tell, and also cooks and faro dealers. But the public sometimes don't know the difference between good and bad poetry, 'cause it is so nearly the same; but with fightin' and fighters it is different."

Bill pushed the button, liquored and liquidated, lighted a fresh cigar with a golden band around it, and resumed.

"Back in the old days of Duluth, when they was gamblin' wide open and stakes was played higher than a cat's back, and when you could get a license to sandbag a man if you were in right, a shifty-eyed kid with curly hair and nifty ways blew in and got a job slingin' plates and rustlin' grub at the old Ideal.

"I used to oil up there on occasions, also eatin' when it became necessary. This kid generally passed me steaks and other things, and kind of hung around when the talk fell to sportin' doin's. He was slim and quick movin' and had a hard mouth for a kid.

"There was a big cook in that place with a red face and a voice that would have made the village basso's final effort sound like a soubrette screamin' at a mouse. This cook used to think he was as tough as the steaks they served in that place; but he wasn't—that would have been impossible. Philosophy, long walks and bein' occasionally broke kept me from bein' a dyspeptic.

"One night this kid hung around me and Doc drinkin' in our converse regardin' John L.'s disposition relative to Peter Jackson, and when he came to and thought of our order, the stuff was as cool as Maxine Elliott's actin'. The cook called him, threatened to use and abuse him as a mop, and made the bawl out so that everybody in the place and some in the next block heard it.

"The kid didn't lose his temper, for he wasn't that kind; but those cold eyes of his snapped like a rat terrier's and his hard mouth looked as uncompromising as the hole in a slot machine when you have played your last nick without results.

"'I can lick that guy,' he says, and he kind of sidles over to me and addresses his remarks to yours truly and Doc. I never see'd a man that loved a fight more than Doc. Up he speaks. 'Course you can, son,' he says, 'and to see that you get fair play, I'll referee it.'

"Well, they goes down in the basement, and most everybody piles down. Some had steaks in front of them, and some lobsters was sort of parasites and was feedin' on other lobsters; but they leaves food and runs for the basement.

"That cook would have made three like the kid. He was telling what he was goin' to do, and how fate had served his chance up on the platter of happy opportunity. The kid never said a word, but kept lookin' the cook over, his eyes restin' on the portrudin' front of the guy who tortured our palates.

"Doc calls them to the center of the impromptu ring, says he is there to see fair play, and that neither guy must gouge openly or kick when the other fellow is down. Then he says time and they starts.

"The cook rushes and swings, but the curly kid kind of fades out of reach, like a shadow in the mist of evenin' and then all of a sudden, before any of us had got over feelin' sorry for him, he sticks his lean left in that heavin' front of the corpulent cook.

"The cook party growls like a dog with a bone and rushes clear across the room at the little waiter, whose little eyes is surveyin' him like a weasel watchin' his chance at a chick. If the cook had ever hit the kid with that right hand swing, this story would have been spoiled and some fighter's records would have looked better today—but he missed, and he fell on his face.

"'Get up and fight, you big boob,' cum from the kid. He hissed the words out, like a snake spits its venom. His words cut like a whip. The cook's face was all red and mottled, and he was turning white under the gills, and the look of the cur was in his eyes. He was hardly up before the kid sprung at him like a cat, peltin' in stingin' lefts, that cut and left trails of blood, and then rockin' the big pastry party with rights that snapped in like a man cracks a whip over the back of a nag.

"Once the cook grabbed the kid and heaved him to the floor, but Doc pulled him off and made them both stand up. That was the last chance the big bully had. Dodgin' swings, and sidesteppin' rushes like an eel, the kid gave us the greatest exhibition of boxin' we had ever seen. Then when the cook was about ready to drop with his wasted efforts, the kid went to him and gave him one of the worst beatin's I ever see'd a man get.

"It was a choice between the cook and the kid, so the prop fired the kid. He went down to St. Paul, where Pat Killian ran a saloon, the same Pat that used to be here, and Pat gave the kid his first boxin' lessons. Yes, he was the kind that is born with the lust for fightin' in his veins—he learned fast."

The old man leaned back and blew the smoke in rings above his head, sitting there in the weird, half light, like some strange old gent, with bright little eyes that looked straight ahead and seemed lost in thought.

"Who was this fellow you've been telling us about?" spoke up one of the bunch.

"Oh, didn't I tell you?" said Bill. "He was Kid McCoy."

"Years afterward I was in New York. Into a certain place cums a card man with a checked suit and two tickets to a fight. This guy was in Duluth once, and we had met and wore eye shades one or two evenin's, so I remembers and says howdy and leads with my right. He recollects and we shake and address the barkeep.

"'He invites me to the fight, and we goes. It was Kid McCoy and Jack McCormick. He was the same kid, only older. The same cruel smile was there and the same tauntin' sneer. He shiften in and out like a shadow in the grove when the moon is bright, and he feinted this McCormick person into knots that was most difficult to untie.

"After the fight we all goes down to Considine's. We is sittin' around when the Kid and several cums in. 'I want you to meet Mister'—but before he finishes the Kid bursts out—'Why I know you, sure enough, you are the guy that I used to bring steaks to, back in little old Duluth.' Sure enough, I was."

FOREIGN BOXER BEATS LEWIS

Paris, May 23.—George S. Carpentier, the middleweight champion of England and France, defeated Willie Lewis, the American middleweight on points. The fight went twenty rounds.

A big crowd gathered at the ringside, but during the early rounds the contest was tame. Lewis, however, appeared to have all the advantage, but in the thirteenth round Carpentier, who apparently had been holding himself in reserve, carried the fight to the American. Lewis, in addition to receiving considerable punishment, had to be cautioned. He lost his temper and used questionable tactics.

The concluding rounds were lively enough to suit the spectators. The Frenchman had it all his own way and demonstrated his manifest superiority.

Carpentier, it is understood, will be matched to fight Payne at Dieppe on June 2.

Lange is a sprinter from Oklahoma and Ziegler from Iowa is a weight thrower. They probably will be entered by the American committee to represent America at Stockholm.

BLUME FAVORS SNAPPY GAME

President H. A. Blume of the Central International league will leave this evening for Winnipeg, where he will witness the double header tomorrow between Duluth and Winnipeg. Tomorrow is a holiday date at the Peg and the receipts of the games in the league will be pooled between the four clubs. It is expected that the crowd at Winnipeg will be one of the largest that has ever witnessed a ball game in the big city of Western Canada.

"Everything is looking fine in the new league," said President Blume today. "The attendance at both Grand Forks and Winnipeg has been fine. They are live wires at both of these cities. Th league has gotten away to a fine start and we are more than satisfied with the results so far.

"We want snappy, fast baseball in the league and the managers of the teams and the umpires have been instructed to keep the men on the jump. We are making every effort to shorten the games and make them snappy and full of pepper. It is our aim to cut down the playing time to under two hours, as we realize that the fan wants a snappy and lively game."

President Blume will also visit Grand Forks during the trip.

ENGLISH FIGHTER TO MEET GIBBONS

SID BURNS.

Illness was the cause of the calling off of the Gibbons-Burns contest.

McFARLAND IS READY FOR THE BRONSON BOUT

Old Rivals Will Fight Wednesday Evening at the Indianapolis Baseball Park.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 23.—Contracts and articles have been signed by Packey McFarland of Chicago, the world's 135-pound champion, and Ray Bronson of Indianapolis, welterweight champion, for their 10-round boxing contest in this city on May 29, the night before the big 500-mile motor race at the Speedway. This boxing match, the most important that has ever been held in the Middle West, will be staged at the American association baseball park and interest in the coming meeting between these men is growing every day. As it will be given the night before the biggest auto race in the history of the world the attendance at this boxing contest will be enormous as the city will be overflowing with visitors and already hundreds of reservations are pouring in for fight tickets from those who have already made arrangements to attend the motor race on Decoration day.

The boxing bout will be given under the management of the Indianapolis Athletic club, one of the oldest promoters of boxing in the Middle West. For three months negotiations were carried on between the club and these two well known men before contracts and articles were signed. The weight agreement is 138 pounds at noon the day of the bout. This weight is easy for McFarland and in fact is his best fighting weight as it permits him to enter the ring without undergoing the tiresome training of reducing weight and strength. Bronson held out for weeks for 142 pounds but finally agreed to McFarland's demands. Bronson has been in active training for two weeks and now declares that he can make the 138-pound figure at the hour stipulated and enter the ring in perfect strength and condition.

McFarland and Bronson are old rivals. When both were legitimate lightweights they boxed a 20-round draw at New Orleans, in September of 1909. Early in that bout Bronson put McFarland down for the count of nine, McFarland coming back strong and during the remaining rounds of fierce milling earned a draw. McFarland continued to box around the lightweight limit following that fight although he had many matches at 135 to 138 pounds, his most recent important battle being his defeat of Matt Wells for the international 135-pound championship in New York last month. Bronson made a tour of the world and returned a full-fledged welterweight.

In addition to the main bout the club will give two 10-round preliminary bouts bringing together some very classy boys. After considerable wrangling over the matter of referee it finally was agreed that Ed W. Smith, sporting editor of the Chicago American should be the third man in the ring.

Owing to the fact that so many boxing enthusiasts have requested permission to take their wives to this show the Indianapolis Athletic club announces that women will be admitted.

GRAND FORKS IS CRAZY OVER THE NEW LEAGUE

They are enthusiastic over the baseball situation at Grand Forks, the view being taken after the opening game with the White Sox. It will be observed that there are some boosters in the little city of North Dakota and that they are keen for baseball, even though the Flickertails have won but one game during the season. Here is what they think of conditions:

"Two thousand citizens of Grand Forks and surrounding towns motored, walked, buggied and streetcared out to Dacotah park yesterday afternoon to assist in giving the sport a warming and welcome the ball players home from a most unlucky trip.

"They had heard about the new ball grounds in the newspapers. They had figured out that it would be some kind of a place to play the great American game all right, but only a few of that big crowd of fans had ever dreamed that they were going to pay admission to as fine a little playground as that which greeted them at the corner of Westacott street and Dakota avenue yesterday afternoon. The exclamations of surprise, pleasure and enthusiasm heard on all sides told the story of Grand Forkers made happy.

"And Grand Forkers had a right to feel good yesterday. In that ball park the energetic spirit that is making this town hum and talked about from coast to coast stood out plainly in every board in the fence and every nail in the grand stand.

"Only a few short weeks ago certain big newspapers carried the story that Grand Forks would not be in the C. I. league; that enough money could not be raised here for a club and that it was decided to pay no more attention to the rumors that this city would be represented in the new circuit and that the organization would be completed without Grand Forks.

Raised $3,000.

"Thirty hours after these stories came out, nearly $3,000 had been signed for the club; an association had been formed, little Francois Lohr had been hired as manager and twelve ball players—the best obtainable at that late date—had been signed up and were on their way to this city.

"Now, folks, that's going some; it certainly is. But that is just exactly what Grand Forks did. You will have to hand it to this little city. Find another town as good on the map and we'll all smoke on the house.

"As soon as the club was set in motion the ball park question came up. It took only a short time to pick a site and get men to work. A lot of wise ones said that the park would never be completed for the opening game at home and that it would be a joke when it was finished.

"It's true that the carpenters had to hurry out of the grounds to let the big crowd in yesterday and that the diamond was a little rough, but just the same, the park was ready for the first game and it is the best park on the circuit and stands as a monument to the hustling spirit that is sending Grand Forks ahead—not by leaps and bounds, mind you, but by a steady growth, a development sound from the bottom up.

"The crowd that witnessed Mayor Murphy and President Dinnie perform at the opening yesterday was representative of Grand Forks best citizenship. Society was out for sure. More than one handsomely gowned woman watched the fun from her automobile or from the splendid new grand stand. Every line of business in the city was represented by a lively delegation. Professional men and ministers were in front seats and shouted louder than anbody else.

"The crowd was mighty lively and there was much rooting for the home team, but throughout the afternoon's entertainment there was nothing said or done to make one wish that he had left his mother or sister at home.

"It was a good clean game of baseball played in a dandy new park and while we all would have gone home happier if the Dacotahs had won, there is not one of us that will not admit that Grand Forks is right today getting more valuable advertising out of the ball club and the new park than the city had in many moons.

"Let us drink a toast to Grand Forks, the Dacotahs, the men who got busy and started a movement to put the old town on the map as she never was before, and last but not least, to the little manager, Frank Lohr, who is doing the best he can to put a winning team in the field, although handicapped in a hundred ways.

"Here's to you, Frank, old boy, go to it. Grand Forks is with you whether you win or lose."

WATER IS ROUGH FOR BOAT RACE

Boston, Mass., May 23.—The varsity eight-oared crews of Princeton, Cornell and Harvard and the freshmen eights of the two latter universities put on the finishing touches this forenoon for the races scheduled at 4 p. m.—a triangular contest between the varsity crews and a dual race between the Harvard and Cornell freshmen.

They found the going rough, the water of the Charles river basin, where the race will be rowed, being disturbed by a southeast breeze. Should the wind continue in this quarter in the afternoon it probably will necessitate the aiming the races upstream, the mile and seven-eighths course being reversed with the start at the Union Boat club and finish just before the Cottage farms bridge is reached. Princeton, with a shell designed for smooth waters, was adversely affected by the wind this morning.

The Cornell crew, weighing slightly less than that of the Crimson, is largely veteran and keyed up with the confidence born of repeated success. Harvard's eight has been made over in two weeks and is believed by its coaches to be adaptable to any conditions. Princeton has been trained as a speed crew, light and wiry.

BATTER IS INJURED.

North Dakotan's Skull Caved in By Baseball.

Grafton, N. D., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Archie Shaw of Nash, was struck on the side of the head by a baseball while batting in a game here, and the force was sufficient to drive the skull in, leaving a depression on the left side of the head just above the ear. An operation was found necessary to relieve the pressure on the brain.

Shaw is now a patient in the Deaconess hospital and may recover.

G. A. TOMLINSON GETS A RUSSIAN WOLF HOUND

G. A. Tomlison is to be the possessor of a Russian wolf hound. The dog is on its way to Duluth at the present time. It is a gift from J. S. Siegel of the Erie Oil company, and was bred at the famous Latiana kennels in Erie. The dog is 15 months old and is one of the finest of its kind in this country. It will be the first wolf hound ever shipped to Duluth.

Hal Chase to Be Traded?

New York, May 23. — A dispatch from Boston states that an important deal in baseball is under way whereby First Baseman Chase of the New York Americans may be traded to the Boston Red Sox for Hugh Bradley and Olaf Henriksen. It was reported a few weeks ago that the New York club was trying to trade Chase for Tris Speaker, but the Boston club would not consider it.

Bout Was a Draw.

Oakland, Cal., May 23.—Sailor Petroskey and Howard Morrow, middleweights, fought a ten-round draw here last night.

Planning a Federation.

Buenos Ayres, May 23.—The marksmen attending the Pan-American rifle competition, met last evening and approved the outlines for the establishment of the Pan-American federation. It was decided that the match in 1913 would be held in the United States. Gen. Drain, president of the National Rifle Association of America, expressed thanks of the American representatives. The match between the United States, Argentine, Brazil, Chile, Peru and Uruguay will be held today.

O'Brien Had Shade.

Philadelphia, May 23.—Young Jack O'Brien of this city had a shade the best of a six-round bout here last night with Knockout Brown of New York. O'Brien landed three blows to Brown's one, but they lacked force.

Ball Team Goes Bump.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 23.—The Forest City Ball & Amusement company yesterday surrendered its Cleveland franchise in the United States baseball league. The president of the company said stockholders were dissatisfied with conditions in other cities of the league, both East and West. The team's players, it was announced, were paid in full.

Brewer vs. Bronson.

St. Louis, Mo., May 23.—Harry Brewer of Kansas City and Ray Bronson of Indianapolis will fight eight rounds tonight. The bout is claimed to be for the welterweight championship.

CREW SHOWS GOOD SPIRIT

"Wouldn't this weather make you sick?" The question mark is quite superfluous. The little oarsmen are quite as tired of this cheerless, dark brown brand of misery that is being served as a summer substitute as are the rest of us. But when you agree to row and start on the machines in the warm gymnasium in January, you are supposed to stick, even though your imagination did not foresee the villainous vagaries of the weather man.

Each evening the oarsmen foregather on the float, clothed with but little more than ancient history and imagination told us Adam wore before the snake stung him on the first con game recorded in ancient annals. There is grumbling and there is shivering—and there are adjectives. For about six weeks the oarsmen have been waiting for one warm day, and they are still waiting.

There have been other springs in which the cold winds have made rowing akin to one of the monkist tortures of the flesh, but the present spring has broken all records. But despite the weather, the rough water and other things, the bunch is still going, and it is going with the vim and spirit that will come near sending to Winnipeg about the best eight that we have had for years.

New Oarsmen.

Ten Eyck faces the problem of making several new oarsmen for his eight and several more for the junior four. Of course there will have to be four new bantams, the win of the bantam four last summer barring the veterans from ever engaging in another bantam race. With practically the making of a new junior four, the developing of four new banties, and the finishing of several oarsmen to sit in the long boat, Ten Eyck has his husky hands full.

But despite the handicap of weather, some of the men that James counted upon to make the first boat have dropped out, the crew is coming along fine and the coming of decent rowing weather and the two rows a day program, will undoubtedly round out the eight into a rowing machine that at least will show up to its true form, something that last year's eight did not do upon two very important occasions.

One of the first important lessons that a real oarsman must learn is to punish himself. A man who refuses to punish himself, though he may have the form of the finished sweep, is not the real oarsman. Grit is often the distinguishing hiatus between the real and the pretender. Ten Eyck swears that he will have men in the boat this season who will row to the point where they drop in the bottom of the shell.

Winnipeg is coming fast with its junior eight, according to the accounts wafted from the Peg. St. Paul coaches realize that they have a very grave problem in the moulding of even a representative eight, and they are working like beavers to put on the water a young eight that will make a decent showing at Winnipeg.

It is the plan of St. Paul to go to Peoria after the regatta, and with this trip as a spur to further endeavor, the Minnesota Boat club men are said to be working harder than has been the case for years.

Duluth is also working harder, and despite the handicaps there is the promise that the eight is built upon a better foundation than has been the case in the past.

If you would avoid that tedious monotony that is today so apparent in men's dress the "Friedman Shop" can certainly be of great service to you.

ON THE IRON RANGES

HIBBING PARK WILL BE FINE

Park Board and Landscape Artist Have Plans for Work in Hand.

Hibbing, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans for McGonagle park, to be laid out and improved in the center of the business district of Hibbing at the site of the old Missabe depot and tracks, were submitted to the regular meeting of the city park board by Landscape Architect Morrell.

The sketch shows that a fountain is to be built at the east end of the track, where also will be located a band stand. The grounds are to be laid out in flower plots with conveniently arranged walks and driveways and if completed it will be an ornament to that section of the city which will materially add to the general appearance of the town.

All the details regarding the securing of the ground have not yet been arranged. Upon looking up the titles it has been discovered that the Great Northern has a deed to that section of the ground nearest the ball park, while the Missabe has the title to a part of the ground at present occupied by the Great Northern tracks. It is not anticipated there will be any difficulty in having this obstacle removed.

The park board is now ready to begin work along the line, but is having some difficulty in securing laborers.

LOW WATER IS HALTING DRIVES

Many River Men Quitting Deer River and Coming to Duluth.

Deer River, Minn., May 23.—The log drives in this section are moving very slowly. Although it has rained almost every day for the past week, the lumbermen claim they still lack sufficient water to make good headway. A number of men who have been employed as drivers left yesterday afternoon for Duluth where they claim that they can secure work without losing so much time, caused by the hanging up of the drives.

E. C. Kiley of Grand Rapids was here on business yesterday.

O. E. Hulehan returned yesterday from a business trip to Minneapolis. Mr. Hulehan is interested in the forming of the new bank which will be opened here about June 1.

William Herreld of the firm of Herreld Bros., returned from a business trip to Duluth.

A number of the business men here are talking of buying autos, and they claim the only thing holding them back is the beginning of work on the road between here and Cohasset. When this road is put in shape, those here owning cars can have the pleasure of driving to Grand Rapids, Bovey, Coleraine and all range towns.

At 10:30 Tuesday night the fire department was called out in response to an alarm sent in from the Great Northern depot. A bunch of hay had been set on fire, likely by tramps, and only for the promptness of the firemen in getting the blaze under control, great damage might have been the result.

BLIND PIGS ARE AIDED BY RULING

Supreme Court's East Grand Forks Decision Defeats Iron Mountain Act.

Hibbing, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The range village and city governments that enacted legislation aimed at blind pigs by regulating the wholesaling of liquor in those communities will probably ask the special session of the legislature to enact some legislation along those lines. This arises from the recent decision of the supreme court in the East Grand Forks license case in which that city sought to exact a license of $1,000 a year from the brewery agents located there. The supreme court in a decision by Chief Justice Start declared the cities had no such authority and the ordinance was declared unconstitutional. The chief justice held in effect the state had enacted no legislation controlling wholesale liquor dealers and until such legislation was enacted the ordinance would be unconstitutional.

This ruling applies to the provisions adopted by the village of Mountain Iron and copied by Virginia and some other range towns prohibiting persons not having a license from purchasing liquor in amounts of over five gallons. This was aimed, of course, at the blind-pigs and would prevent those concerns from getting liquor from brewers or other wholesalers without having a license. Now all this legislation is declared null by the decision of the supreme court and it will be necessary for the legislature to enact a law covering the defect in the present state laws before the Mountain Iron doctrine, as it is known, can be enforced. There is general disappointment on the range especially since Judge Hughes in a decision rendered some months ago upheld the Mountain Iron act which by Justice Stark's decision is now null and void. It is expected the blind pig evil will thrive greater than ever now.

ELY SIDEWALKS BEING PLACED

Streets of City Considerably Torn Up With Work Going On.

Ely, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth Construction company is busy laying cement walks through the city. Camp street is being laid first, and is torn up from Central avenue to Second avenue. The stone curbing and white way is being put in at the same time. On account of the work that is being done on the streets, several of them are in an almost impassable condition. The cement walk contract calls for an expenditure of $30,000.

Ely is also pleased that the county commissioners are improving the highways that lead to this city from the surrounding country. The White Iron road is being improved, and the Burntside Lake road is also being repaired. Both roads are being put in excellent condition, widened in some places, graveled and grades cut where possible. Too much credit can not be given County Commissioner U. S. G. McMahan for his work in securing the appropriation for the work here and also for the wise manner in which it is being used. The development of this section requires good roads, and we are now getting them.

ATTEMPTS HIS LIFE IN CHISHOLM JAIL

Peter Eldahl Tries to Sever Arteries With Piece of Broken Glass.

Chisholm, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Night Jailer Simons probably prevented a suicide in the local lock-up last night when he caught Peter Eldahl in the act of severing arteries with a piece of a bottle. The officer called a physician and the wounds were soon sewed up, although Eldahl had bled profusely. He was arrested yesterday near the Great Northern section house while acting queerly and is believed to be demented. He said today he felt like dying and did not care much whether he lived or not. Too much drink is believed to be his trouble. He is about 49 and a laborer.

FAMILY TROUBLE SETTLED.

Former Eveleth Man and Family Going to Winona to Live.

Eveleth, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jeremiah A. Keene, who deserted his wife and three children three years ago and who was finally traced to Winona and brought back Tuesday by Sheriff Meining on a warrant charging him with wife desertion, has made up with his wife and family, and will take them back to Winona, where Keene now holds a good position as foreman in a pattern shop.

Up to a few weeks ago Mrs. Keene knew nothing of the whereabouts of her husband, and since he deserted her had made a living for herself and children at hard labor, but she was willing to forgive his ill treatment and make a new start in life. Keene settled in court by paying the expenses incurred by the officers in bringing him back to Eveleth.

IS GIVEN PROMOTION.

Two Harbors Y. M. C. A. Secretary Goes Up Higher.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The board of directors and the international secretary of the Y. M. C. A. have notified J. C. Manville, former secretary at Brainerd and at the present time general secretary here, of his appointment to the position of general secretary of the Y. M. C. A. of the Chicago & Northwestern railway at Boone, Ia. He will resign here June 1. The Boone position is in the way of a promotion for Mr. Manville.

STREAMS BEING STOCKED.

Two Lakes About Ely Receive Some Fish Fry.

Ely, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ely Game and Fish association have been instrumental in having pike fry placed in Long and White Iron lakes. The many surrounding lakes are the "fisherman's paradise." The planting of this fry yearly will tend to keep them so, if reason is used by those fishing. Game Warden James is waging a war on those guilty of illegal fishing.

BIWABIK JOTTINGS.

Biwabik, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rails are being laid to the site of the new high school building by the Missabe railroad, which secured the hauling privilege from the contractors and school board. This will permit the delivery of all materials direct to the grounds without any team haulage.

Work on the Faber brick building is progressing rapidly, the side walls now being about completed.

The underground wiring for the new white way on Main street is now completed and as soon as the posts arrive they will be installed by K. S. Johnson, who is overseeing the work, but not under contract, as was erroneously printed. At the corners on side streets new lights of 1,500 candlepower each will be installed, so that the lighting of the whole town will be proportionately improved.

Healthy Mothers

Women who bear children and remain healthy are those who prepare their systems in advance of baby's coming. Unless the mother aids nature in its pre-natal work the crisis finds her system unequal to the demands made upon it, and she is often left with weakened health or chronic ailments. No remedy is so truly a help to nature as Mother's Friend, and no expectant mother should fail to use it. It relieves the pain and discomfort caused by the strain on the ligaments, makes pliant and elastic those fibres and muscles which nature is expanding, prevents numbness of limbs, and soothes the inflammation of breast glands. The system being thus prepared by Mother's Friend dispels the fear that the crisis may not be safely met. Mother's Friend assures a speedy and complete recovery for the mother, and she is left a healthy woman to enjoy the rearing of her child. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for our free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

AURORAITES HAVE BASEBALL FEVER

Coming Contest on Diamond With Gilbert Absorbs Attention.

Aurora, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Much interest is taken here in baseball. The Aurora team has played two games, losing and winning one. The first game was lost to Gilbert by the score of 2 to 1. The second game was won from Biwabik last Sunday on the Biwabik grounds, 11 to 9.

Gilbert will be here Sunday afternoon and there is much interest in the game in both towns. The Gilbert team has played three games and won them all and they are anxious to live up to this record as long as possible. On the other hand the Aurora boys are determined to have revenge for their defeat of several weeks ago and the game promises to be a most interesting one.

There are many ball players here and a second team is being organized. E. T. Sandberg is heading the organization. He states that it is the intention to arrange for games at Aurora when the first team is away, and in no way conflict with their schedule. They are now arranging a game with the Tower team.

The boys are now using the St. James grounds. The Hearding grounds are being graded and put into first class condition and it is hoped that they will soon be able to play there as these grounds are much more convenient and will be the finest on the range when completed.

SHOPLIFTER IS CAUGHT IN ACT

Hibbing Young Woman Arrested, Admits Taking Many Articles From Stores.

Hibbing, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frequent thefts of late from the Itasca Mercantile company and the Hibbing department store are believed to find an explanation in the arrest and confession today of Miss Ina Anderson, aged 21, the daughter of John Anderson, a respectable citizen. A search of her home revealed many articles dear to a woman's heart in the way of dress and her subsequent confession to the chief of police leads to the impression the woman is a kleptomaniac, as no reason exists why she should steal.

Willow plumes, ribbons, curtains and various pieces of lingerie worth about $100 were found in her room when Chief of Police Wring arrested the accused today.

She broke down and confessed. Judge Brady is looking into the case. As much of the property will be recovered by the owners and arrangements will probably be made to pay for any not recovered. Criminal proceedings against the young woman may be dropped.

COMMISSION PLAN WILL BE VOTED ON

Eveleth to Decide June 22 Whether to Adopt Its New Charter.

Eveleth, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council has called a special election to be held on June 22 for the purpose of voting on the adoption of the charter recently submitted by the charter commission. The proposed charter is framed on the commission plan and patterned after that of Mankato, the legality of which was lately declared legal by the supreme court. Eveleth at present is governed under the general statutes of 1895 for cities of the fourth class. It is considered antiquated and inadequate for the city's needs and a new charter has been strongly advocated for several years.

RAIN

The dampness still continues, and Duluth is in a condition of bedrenched sogginess. The sun broke through occasionally today, the temperatures were higher than usual, but the weather man looks for a continuation of the unsettled weather.

A year ago today conditions were much the same as today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:22 and will set at 7:46, making fifteen hours and twenty-four minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours further rains fell over Canada, northern border states and Pacific and middle and south Atlantic coast districts in connection with barometric depressions over British Columbia and the upper Mississippi valley and off the North Carolina coast. Rather warm weather prevails in the central valleys and southern states, while in southern Utah and northwestern Wyoming freezing temperature is reported. The disturbance overlying the upper Mississippi valley will cause scattered showers at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours but there will be sunshine at times."

General Forecasts.

Chicago—Fair.

Upper Michigan—Unsettled with showers tonight or Friday.

MORE PUPILS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Enrollment of Virginia Shows Substantial Gain Is Made.

Virginia, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The total enrollment last month in Virginia schools was 2,728, nearly 200 more than the enrollment for the same month one year ago. The percentage of attendance for April was 95. The total enrollment in the night classes during the year was 651, and of this number 407 were men and boys of foreign birth, who were studying the language, the laws and qualifying for citizenship.

A special census of all pupils below the high school is now being taken, which will show the number of boys and girls separately in each grade.

Supt. Lafayette Bliss, in response to the question often asked as to what is regarded as the proper age for the pupils to complete the various grades, says a child should complete the kindergarten at the age of 6, passing through the eight grades one each year and finishing the eighth grade at the age of 14.

To Observe Memorial Day.

More elaborate preparations are being made this year than ever before for the observance of Memorial day by the schools and the school children. There will be more school children and more bands in the parade than in former years. The speaker of the day is Prof. Alfred Jenks of the University of Minnesota.

The final day of the present school semester will be June 14. There are twenty-seven graduates. Seven boys and seven girls will give orations at the commencement exercises which will be held during the week in which occurs June 14. The exact date has not yet been set. The class play "Co-education, a Glimpse From Behind," will be given on the stage at the Roosevelt auditorium June 6.

The examinations under the direction of the state high school board will commence Friday and continue Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Nearly 500 pupils in the Virginia schools will take this examination.

WET WEATHER IS HALTING PLANTING.

Aurora, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The continued wet weather this spring has greatly retarded the spring planting and crops will be late this season as a result. One farmer in town this week stated that he had tried to plow and that the ground was so soft that the horse sank to his knees and he had to give up the attempt.

Those who have high ground are little better off than the others, as the rain has been steady and as soon as the ground would become dry there would be another shower.

HIBBING AND VIRGINIA TEAMS WILL CONTEST.

Hibbing, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Hibbing and Virginia high school baseball teams, old and keen rivals in all sorts of athletics, will meet here Saturday for their first game of the season of 1912. Both have exceptionally fast teams for high school talent. A large delegation of high school rooters from Virginia will be here. Aura and Webster will be the battery for Hibbing. So far this year the Hibbing team has won every game played, having defeated the Coleraine and Eveleth high school teams, besides several of the fast amateur teams of the city.

Ely K. of P. Installation.

Ely, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The rank of knight was conferred last evening by the Knights of Pythias upon a class of five. After the exemplification of the rank work refreshments were served. Since November some work has been given at every meeting, some times two ranks have been conferred the same night, and several times two meetings have been held each week, and work given at both meetings.

Biwabik Fire Scare.

Biwabik, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Early yesterday morning smoke was noticed issuing from the transom in the First National bank building. The fire department quickly responded and arrived at about the same time as Assistant Cashier Anthony Kavoric, who, after adjusting the dampers in a refractory furnace, persuaded the fire laddies that their services were not needed. No damage was done.

A $2,000 dwelling is being erected by Miss Eleanor Lowry on her lots recently acquired in block 4, Shank's addition. Much building is contemplated during the summer in that section of the village and it is expected that water and sewer mains will be laid there soon.

Hibbing Awards Coal Contract.

Hibbing, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The village council has awarded the coal contract to the Northern Coal & Dock company, who offered coal at $2.94 a ton f. o. b. docks for 7,000 tons more or less to be delivered as required from May 31, 1912, to June 1, 1913. The awarding of the contract for the coal supply was the only business of importance before the commission. C. A. Remington, the newly appointed member of the commission, was seated. He succeeds R. A. Angst, resigned.

Inspect Grand Rapids Plant.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 23.—President Becker of the Itasca Paper company arrived here this week from Kaukauna, Wis., accompanied by the vice president of the company, L. Lindauer, to inspect the improvements which the concern has been making to the local plant. The annual directors' meeting will be held this week.

Backa Case on Again.

Hibbing, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Backa went on trial today at Virginia for the second time on an indictment charging first degree murder for the fatal shooting of his wife at Lavalle town, eighteen miles south of Hibbing. There will be present to testify on behalf of the state more than twenty witnesses—mostly neighbors of the Backa family.

Hibbing Child Buried.

Hibbing, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon from the Church of the Immaculate Conception for Ramo Donnichetti, the 5-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Adelmo Donnichetti, who died Tuesday from bronchial pneumonia.

Romberg Mine Drifting.

Ely, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—The management of the Romberg mine has stopped the sinking of the main shaft on the property in section 25 and is now making a drift to the north for the purpose of ascertaining the extent of the ore body on the 250-foot level and have splendid prospects for a paying mine.

MEAL ACCOUNTS ARE CAMPAIGN EXPENSES.

Madison, Wis., May 23.—Payments for meals during a political campaign are disbursements within the meaning of the corrupt practices act, according to a ruling by attorney-general Bancroft, and as such, must be accounted for.

four state delegations, and by a singular coincidence in each of these delegations the Democrats and the Republicans are equally divided so no one can tell how their vote would be cast. In the event therefore that the election should be thrown into the house no man can tell what the ultimate result would be."

History Will Repeat Itself.

It is only within a few days that this discussion of the possibility of the house of representatives having to settle the presidential election has been seriously discussed. But today it is a matter of general discussion. Quite true it has been almost a century since that particular issue was raised. It was in 1824 that the house of representatives for the first, and we shall hope for the last time, in its history was called upon to settle a presidential election. Nevertheless it is quite possible that history will repeat itself this year. For no one can deny to Mr. Roosevelt an extraordinary power of vote getting. Neither can any one question that the Republican organization will secure for Mr. Taft the great majority of the Republican votes. Roosevelt is liable to cut into the Democratic vote to such an extent that while the Democratic candidate may have a plurality, he will not have the necessary majority. Then to the house of representatives it goes, and thereupon will ensue a struggle to which the fight between Hayes and Tilden in 1876 would be merely child's play.

Of course this is all mere speculation, because in the first place Mr. Roosevelt might be nominated; in the second place, if not nominated he might not bolt, although the concensus of opinion here is that in the latter case he would run independent; and, in the third place, the disgust of the country with the spectacle of a president and an ex-president going up and down the land calling each other liars, traitors and men who should be indicted, may add so much to the obvious revulsion against Republican rule that the Democratic vote would sweep the nation and make submission to the house of representatives unnecessary. But at the same time the figures I have given on the constituency of that house can hardly fail to interest politicians or other people who look forward sometimes to the improbable—because it is the improbable that often happens.

A Curious Omission.

Senator Kern, in conversation last night, called attention to one fact in connection with the presidential elections which is known to all public men, and yet to which, curiously enough, no attention is paid. As is well known, the voters do not cast their votes directly for the president or the vice president but for electors from each state who when gathered together constitute the electoral college. That body once organized casts its vote for the president and the vice president, appoints messengers to carry that vote to Washington and adjourns sine die. This usually happens early in February. There is absolutely no legal authority or power to call the electoral college together after its adjournment. If the president and the vice president should by any possibility die between the time of this meeting and the day of inauguration, there is nothing in the Constitution which would provide for the election or substitution of men in their places. It is quite true that nothing of this sort has occurred in the 130 years of the American republic, but that does not mean that it may not happen in the next year. It was many years before congress saw the wisdom of establishing a system of presidential succession so that in the event of the loss of both president and vice president the secretary of state would succeed and so on down the list of cabinet officers. But that applies only to men actually inaugurated. There is no law or precedent covering the case of elected officials who have not yet been sworn into office. I am no terrorist and my inclination is to revolt against using illustrations drawn from the preachings of those who are always afraid of anarchism or its kindred creeds. But merely by way of evoking discussion I would like to inquire of people interested in public matters if say, Roosevelt and Johnson were elected president and vice president and four days before their inauguration they should die either by natural causes or the hand of an assassin, what would be the course for thereIbuplcY shrdlu cmfwyp cmfwyp the republic to follow?

"By George, I never saw anything like the effects of that new treatment, Protone, for the building up of weight and lost nerve force. It acted more like a miracle than a medicine," said a well-known gentleman yesterday in speaking of the revolution that had taken place in his condition. "I began to think that there was nothing on earth that could make me fat. I tried tonics, digestives, heavy eating, diets, milk, beer, and almost everything else you could think of, but without result. I had been thin for years, and began to think it was natural for me to be that way. Finally I read about the remarkable successes brought about by the use of Protone, so I decided to try it myself. Well, when I look at myself in the mirror now, I think it is somebody else. I have put on just 30 pounds during the last month and never felt stronger or more 'nervy' in my life."

WOMAN ESCAPES DREADFUL OPERATION

How She Was Saved From Surgeon's Knife by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mogadore, Ohio.—"The first two years I was married I suffered so much from female troubles and bearing down pains that I could not stand on my feet long enough to do my work. The doctor said I would have to undergo an operation, but my husband wanted me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's VegetableCompound first. I took three bottles and it made me well and strong and I avoided a dreadful operation. I now have two fine healthy children, and I cannot say too much about what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me."—Mrs. LEE MANGES, R. F. D. 10, Mogadore, Ohio.

Why will women take chances with an operation or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

When Your Hair Fades

How to Assist Nature in Restoring Color and Gllnt to Gray or Faded Hair.

Beautiful hair—hair with an even color and gloss—is a woman's crowning glory, and by the same token, gray or faded hair is ruinous to true beauty. While the hand of Time cannot be stayed, it is easy to regain the hair's youthful color and radiance by combing occasionally with the comb moistened in barsicum tea, made by steeping a small original package of barsicum in one pint of water.

To bring back the wondrous golden tinge to discolored blonde hair, wash with arbane tea, made by putting an ounce of arbane in a pint of boiling water. For restoring the color and gloss to auburn or Titian locks, wash with infusion of plain cambia. These are not dyes nor "shaders"—merely natural restorers for faded hair, and while harmless, never fail to give satisfactory results.

WANTS $20,000 FOR LOSS OF EYE

Fred Larson, formerly a laborer in the employ of the Great Lakes Dredge and Dock company, asks $20,000 from the company for the loss of an eye, the injury being sustained, he claims, while cutting off rivets on a steel derrick.

The complaint was filed with the clerk of the federal court this morning. He claims that the company was negligent in that he was not furnished with a proper instrument for cutting off the heads of rivets. He claims that he was forced to use a cold chisel and a sledge hammer. One of the pieces flew off and injured his right eye, states the complaint.

An operation was necessary and the injured member was removed, he claims.

WHITE IRON MAN SHOT TO DEATH

Ely, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jack Motela, living at White Iron, five miles south of here, was shot and killed this morning near his home. He was working on the county road and left home with his team. About 6 o'clock he was found lying in the road near a gate he had evidently tried to open as he was fired upon. He died in three hours. The bullet was fired from a rifle and went through his body from the back. The Ely chief of police and others are searching lumber camps in that vicinity for a possible murderer. It is said the deceased had trouble with a neighbor two weeks ago and suspicion is directed toward the latter, who is being sought. Motela leaves a wife and eight children.

EXAMINERS ARE ATTACKED AGAIN

Charge of $400 Made to Reinstate Doctor Denounced as Illegal.

St. Paul, Minn., May 23.—(Special to The Herald.)—How the state board of medical examiners, now under investigation by the attorney general and public examiner, took $400 from a Twin City physician for reinstating him to practice after his license had been revoked and "split up" the money among its members, was disclosed today in a report made to the governor by Anton Schaefer, former public examiner, May 5, 1909. Schaefer's report added:

"As the law is silent as to a fee for reinstatement, the conclusion is obvious—advantage was taken of the fact and of the applicant's necessities to arbitrarily, unjustly and illegally tax him therefore. Said $400 was immediately divided among the seven members of the board who attended the meeting at which the above action was taken.

Split Up Among Members.

Minutes of the board meeting, Mr. Schaefer said, disclosed that the money was divided among the members as follows:

Margaret Koch, $49.20; W. S. Fullerton, $49; Thomas Lowe, $60.90; Oswald Leicht, $52.82; H. L. Leonard, $62; P. A. Hilbert, $56.50; F. C. Brabec, $63.35; total, $399.77.

Mr. Schaefer's report further disclosed that the board spent $5 for a Christmas present for Martha E. Anderson, a stenographer, who was earning a salary of $35 a month; that it returned examination fees to a favored few, contrary to law; that in some cases it accepted less than $5 as a fee for permitting a physician of another state to come to Minnesota to practice; that $70.45 worth of cigars were smoked at board meetings in four years; that in May, 1909, the cash account was found $100 short in footing; that a $50 fee collected by the board had been omitted from the report; that two overdrafts of W. S. Fullerton, the secretary, were found, amounting to $100.

The report of the public examiner, A. E. Fritz, showing that the board appropriated nearly $6,000 in fees which the attorney general says is illegal, no right to, was placed in the hands of the governor today. He said he would go over it immediately, but would make no statement as to what action he might take.

The demands of the druggists and physicians have been respected in preparing the ordinance for passage. Andrew Hermanson, 57 years old, ended his life by hanging himself yesterday afternoon in his workshop, 727 Weeks avenue. Despondency over the death of his wife last July is given as the cause for the act. The body was discovered by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. H. Hermanson, who went to call him for supper at 5 o'clock. The deceased is survived by three sons and two daughters. The funeral will be held Sunday.

NAVAL BILL IS TAKEN UP BY THE HOUSE.

Washington, May 23.—The naval appropriation bill, carrying $118,819,837, was called up in the house today. It makes no provision for battleships, the house Democratic caucus having decided they were unnecessary.

WHEAT BOOM COLLAPSED

Hot Wind Scare Subsided and Profit-Taking Sent Prices Downward.

Flaxseed Market Very Dull But Scarcity of Seed Raises Values.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 23.—The wheat boom that started off early in the day collapsed later in the session when profit-taking began and telegrams came from the Southwest belittling the damage done by the hot, dry winds. Duluth May and July wheat closed today a' full 1c off, and there were slumps also on the wheat markets of Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg. Duluth durum closed unchanged for the May regular and 1c lower for the July. Cash wheat closed ½c over July. Barley was unchanged, oats ¼c off and rye 3c off. Duluth May flax closed ½c higher and July 1½c up.

Although wheat had quite an advance on the North American markets during the early part of the day, the bulge was not sustained. The upward movement was due for the most part to the reports of damage to growing wheat in the Southwest by hot, dry winds, but other reports from this same section were received later in the day belittling the bull sensation that the damage reports started, and as a result the bottom fell out of the bull movement. Even the news of very small primary receipts, which were vastly below those of a week ago and those of a year ago, failed to prevent the slump.

Duluth July wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.15½ bid, opened today at $1.15⅝ bid, and remained strong for part of the morning, but at noon today it was selling for $1.14⅝@1.14¾. Minneapolis wheat was likewise down, that of Chicago was slightly higher, and Winnipeg was the same as at yesterday's close.

News from the markets on the other side of the Atlantic was almost without exception bullish. Liverpool wheat closed ½d to 5d higher, on account of bullish reports from Russia, although there were forecasts of larger shipments from Argentina.

Flaxseed Dull But Strong.

There was little doing on the flaxseed market of Duluth this morning. What business there was mostly consisted in brokers getting rid of the obligation of delivering flaxseed on May options and selling July options in their place. In other words they were "getting out from under." The July option itself was bullish, being up 1¾c at $2.17¾ at noon. The May option at noon was unchanged at $2.29½ bid. There was little in the situation to give the bears any comfort. Winnipeg May at noon was unchanged at $1.98. Buenos Ayres June closed unchanged yesterday at 1.78¾, London Calcutta May and June, today closed 1¾c lower at $2.29⅞.

A wire from Kansas City said: "Abilene, Kan., is sending reports of high temperatures and damage. Hutchinson wired yesterday that it was 90 with high winds. People here from Western Missouri claim damage has been resulting from hot weather."

Houston wired from Kansas City: "Yesterday was another dry windy day for Kansas wheat. Complaints are coming in thick and fast. The burden of the complaints is that wheat is not growing as it ought to. Wheat was never as good as reported. It was badly hurt in the winter. That weak condition is becoming very apparent and it is too late to hope for recuperation."

Russia: "Weather in the southeast is rainy, which is unfavorable, as dry and warm weather is needed. Crop conditions in the interior are satisfactory."

United Kingdom: "Further rain has fallen and conditions are still unsettled. This is favorable but more rain is wanted."

Rycroft wired from Chicago: "The only year since crop reporting was begun, in which conditions surrounding the preparation and planting of the corn crop are fully comparable with the present, was 1892, when on account of late planting and poor germination the first report of the condition was 81.1. In that year the balance of the season was normal, but the final yield was only 23.1 or nearly a bushel less than it was last year, after tremendous heat and drought damage. The season of 1901 was another year of late planting, but in that year the crop, which started late, came into tassel at a time when the weather was seriously hot and dry, and the result of the late start, followed by an unfavorable season, was a yield of only 16.7 bu per acre. The records show that a late start for corn means a light yield, even if all the future conditions are favorable, and that a poor start increases the damage, if later weather conditions are at all unfavorable."

John Inglis wired from Hay, Kan.: "From Abilene west there is hot weather and continuous hot winds are drying wheat. Fields are firing in spots and there is general loss of color. Immediate rain can check serious loss. Western counties show no improvement. There was high weather today but the weather was slightly cooler."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Turn Up on Southwest Weather and Foreign Advance

Chicago, May 23.—Drouth and gales southwest together with an advance in foreign markets gave wheat prices today a new upturn. The hot winds in Kansas were said to be worse than the day before, and predictions were made that without rain soon the crop in the western third of the state would be much reduced and possibly lost. Most of the strength in European centers appeared to be reflected from this side, but was in part due to unfavorable conditions for growth in Russia. Besides receipts here and at other leading terminals promised to be small. The opening was ¼c to 1c higher. July opened at $1.11 to $1.11⅜, a gain of ⅜c to ¾c, touched $1.11½, reacted to $1.10¾@1.10⅞ and then rose again to $1.11¾.

Denials of damage in Kansas and statements that the state could go ten days without rain led to a decided setback. The close was weak with July at $1.10⅛@1.10¼, a net loss of ⅜@½c.

Light arrivals and the firm tone of wheat upheld corn offerings which were only moderate. July opened the same as last night to ⅛c higher, at 77c to 77⅛c, advanced to 77¼c and after a dip to 76⅝c, rallied to 77⅛c.

Subsequently the market sagged as a result of country selling. The close was easy at 76½c for July, ½c under last night.

Oats climbed as well as other grain. Many complaints were heard that Illinois fields did not look right owing to recent unsultable weather. July started ⅛c to ⅜c up, at 50½c to 50¾c, reacted to 50¼c and ascended to 50⅞c.

Influenced by an advance in the price of live hogs, the provision market continued to lighten. Initial sales varied from a shade off to 12½c higher, with September delivery $18.90 for pork, $11.00 to $11.02½ for lard and $10.55 to $10.57½ for ribs.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 23.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 2@5 points. Trading was very quiet and fluctuations were somewhat irregular after the call, but prices gradually eased off to a net decline of some 7 or 8 points owing to the favorable weather predictions, scattering liquidation by recent buyers and a little local pressure. The London harbor strike and a slackening spot business at Liverpool probably contributed to the good weather as a depressing factor, while aggressive selling still was restricted by the expectation of a low condition report.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points lower; middling uplands, 11.50; middling gulf, 11.75. Sales, 2,125 bales.

Futures closed barely steady. Closing bids: May, 11.05; June, 11.04; July, 11.10; August, 11.17; September, 11.20; October, 11.26; November, 11.29; December, 11.35; January, 11.34; February, 11.36; March, 11.44.

London Stocks.

London, May 23.—American securities were quiet during the forenoon today. Prices opened slightly higher, but later declined from lack of support. At noon values ranged from ¼ above to ⅛ below yesterday's New York closing.

New York Money.

New York, May 23.—Money on call steady, 2¾@3 per cent; ruling rate, 2¾; closing bid 2¾; offered at 2⅞.

Time loans steady; 60 days, 3 per cent and 90 days, 3@3¼; six months, 3½@3¾. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4 to 4½ per cent. Sterling exchange firm with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.84.50 for 60 day bills and at $4.87.25 for demand. Commercial bills, $4.83¾. Mexican dollars 48c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds irregular.

Sheep—Receipts, 10,000; market steady, shade lower; native, $3.75@6.65; western, $4.00@6.35; yearlings, $5.25@7.70; lambs, native, $5.00@8.60; western, $5.50@8.85.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Undertone Is Irregular Early But the Market Hardens Later.

Activity Centers Around Speculative Issues and Close Steady.

New York, May 23.—Dealings were nominal and price changes, aside from a 2 point rise in American Tobacco, were only fractional at the opening on the stock exchange today. Some heaviness was shown by Steel, Smelting and some of the trunk line roads.

Efforts to hold prices by manipulation in some of the less important stocks were unavailing, the market going lower in the first hour. Practically all the leaders were under pressure.

During the early part of today's session on the stock exchange prices moved with some confusion and the undertone was irregular. This suggested increased caution on the part of traders due in part to economic disturbances abroad. Later the market hardened under the leadership of stocks which seldom enter into the calculations of investors. American Tobacco and American Can were strong, the latter showing some of its recent activity in connection with fruit crop prospects. Before noon improvement was general with increased activity which continued to center around the speculative issues. Bonds were easy.

Profit taking sales in American Can forced it back a point, but the advance in the rest of the list was not interrupted. United States Steel rose to 70⅛ and Union Pacific to 171½. Dealings were active in many of the less known issues, including General Electric and Seaboard Airline.

The market closed steady. What little speculative interest there was focussed on relatively unimportant stocks. Tobacco issues were purchased freely, American gaining over 5 points.

COPPER STOCKS DULL AND WEAK

The copper stock market, like the general stock market of New York, was very dull today. Trading amounted to little, and most of the changes in the copper stocks were toward a lower level. There were no great slumps, however, and some of the copper stocks showed gain. Butte & Superior and North Butte were slightly higher at the close, but Greene Cananea, Vermilion, Red Warrior, Carmen, North American and Amalgamated were off. The New York stock exchange at the close was fairly strong, but the transactions were in very small volume. Copper metal on the London market today closed 1 shilling over yesterday's closing price.

Paine, Webber & Co. today received from Foster at Boston the following closing copper letter: "The local list today showed increased strength in certain specialties with the balance of the list very dull. Santa Fe advanced to 4⅞, but closed near the top. Shannon was strong on good buying, closing at an advance of ½ a point. Old Colony and Mayflower advanced sharply during the last hour. On the whole the market was very dull, but the bulk of the orders were on the buy side and the whole list showed a slightly improved tone."

Gay & Sturgis today received from I. J. Sturgis at Boston the following summary: "There was no interest taken in either market today and it is needless to say the fluctuations for the day were confined to very small fractions. Traders on the floor seem to be content to talk politics, and a good many well informed people believe that the stock market before long will be selling out of politics, and little or no attention paid to them. People want to do business and they are sickened to death of listening to this constant droll. Underlying conditions warrant higher prices for the productive mines and we are going to get them before long."

MOTIONS AND RESOLUTIONS.

By Alderman Bernard:

Whereas, There appears to be general discontent among the motormen and conductors in the employ of the Duluth Street Railway company, and,

Whereas, The said employes of the Duluth Street Railway company are polling the system for the purpose of determining whether or not a strike shall be called to compel the company to increase wages, fix the number of working hours on a ten hours basis within a twelve-hour limit and providing for a sanitary waiting room, and,

Whereas, The employes of the Duluth Street Railway company have shown a disposition to be fair with said company, and have used unusually conservative means to urge the company to voluntarily remedy conditions that to them seemed unsatisfactory, all of which the management of the Duluth Street Railway company has seemingly ignored, and,

Whereas, It is reported to this council that many employes have been discharged from the service of the company for no apparent reason other than that they were suspected of encouraging the printing of letters in the newspapers urging the public to help them secure better conditions, and many other employes have left the service of the company on their own free will, because of the fact that they were obliged to labor for less than a living wage, and,

Whereas, It is the opinion of this council that a street railway strike should be averted, and we, the members thereof, deem it our duty to use our public office for the purpose of attempting to bring about an adjustment of the differences existing. A strike will be bad for the city of Duluth at this time. It will mean inconvenience to the public at large. It will seriously affect business and it will place too great a hazard upon life and property; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the common council of the city of Duluth, That General Manager Herbert S. Warren of the Duluth Street Railway company is hereby requested to meet with a committee of three to be appointed by the president of this council for the purpose of agreeing either to settle existing differences by conciliation through collective bargaining with a committee representing the employes or through arbitration, and be it further

Resolved, That the city clerk is hereby directed to forthwith forward a copy of this resolution to Herbert S. Warren, general manager of the Duluth Street Railway company, with the request that an answer be given at his earliest possible convenience and not later than Thursday, May 23, 1912.

To the Common Council:
Your committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks, to which was referred report of the city engineer showing estimate of the cost of preparing the roadway for the street car line to New Duluth and recommending a change of roadway to avoid the grade crossing of the Northern Pacific main line, finds as follows:
1. That it is desirable to make a change of road, as recommended by the city engineer. 2. That the estimate of the cost of the construction of the roadway and repair of bridges is so large that, with the depleted condition of the permanent improvement fund, it will be impossible to do such work in the present season.
In this connection, your committee desires to submit that it is time for the city of Duluth to consider as to whether it is advisable or necessary that it should prepare a street for traffic before the street car company will extend its lines on such street. The provisions of the franchise of the company are, that the council shall have the power to order an extension on any street that is properly improved but this provision is nullified by the further provision that the failure of the street car company to construct the line ordered shall only work as a forfeiture of the exclusive franchise on such street and the courts having decided that no such exclusive franchise exists, there is absolutely no penalty for failure to comply with the city's orders. This being the case, the city is in no better position in ordering a street car extension after the street is improved than before such improvement.
We believe that the time has now arrived when some means must be devised whereby the necessary extensions can be compelled and that it is unreasonable that the city should be expected to prepare a roadway for the street railway company and to construct its bridges of any more capacity than is necessary for ordinary traffic. If it becomes necessary to strengthen a bridge beyond the ordinary requirements in order to make it safe for street car traffic or if it is deemed advisable in place of strengthening it to replace it with a more substantial structure, then the extra expense should be paid by the street railway company. We have no suggestion to offer at the present time of a method to require the payment of such just proportion of the cost of repairing bridges by the street railway company but think that the question is one which should receive the earnest consideration of the municipal government, the commercial organizations and the state legislature. It has furthered appeared to your committee in consideration of the change in route of said New Duluth road that the object of the change is to avoid the present dangerous crossing of the main line of the Northern Pacific Railway company and that as in the course of time the railroad company could probably be compelled to construct and maintain either an over-head or an underground crossing, that said company should in lieu thereof assist in the construction of the proposed roadway which passes under their tracks below the grade thereof.

Leader Admits Loss of Battle at Rellano, But Says He Will Not Quit.

Huerta Reports Rebel Army in Full Retreat From That City.

Madero Confident of Suppression of the Revolt Against His Rule.

Washington, May 24.—With Orozco's army driven from its strong position at Rellano by the federal forces under Gen. Huerta, the Mexican rebellion is said in Mexican circles here to have received a decisive blow, from which it cannot recover. Orozco's soldiers are deserting in large numbers, according to reports to the state department.

The rebels south of Torreon are burning birdges and cutting communication with the towns south of that place.

The Americans at Velardena and Asarco, Durango, who several days ago were reported in sore straits because of lack of supplies after feeding the rebel column, apparently are in better shape. The federal commander of the Monterey zone declared that the rebels were driven out of those places yesterday.

NEW HIGH MARK IN FOREIGN TRADE

Exports and Imports for 1912 Estimated By Federal Bureau.

Washington, May 24.—A new high record for foreign commerce will be established by the United States in the fiscal year 1912, ending with next month. Growth has been especially marked in the export trade, but imports also show a substantial increase. Figures for ten months to the close of April, made public today by the commerce and labor department's bureau of statistics, indicate that exports for the year will approximate in value $2,200,000,000, exceeding by $150,000,000 the previous high record made in 1911; while the imports' total of about $1,600,000,000 will top that of 1910, the previous record year, by more than $40,000,000.

FOUR KINGS FOLLOW BIER

Two Hundred Thousand Mourning People Line Funeral Route.

Roskilde, Denmark, May 24.—The body of the late King Frederick VIII of Denmark was buried this afternoon in Denmark's abbey, among the tombs of thirty-three of his predecessors on the Danish throne. The service, which lasted an hour, was impressive, the feature being the hymns and anthems sung by singers connected with the Royal opera, and a special "Farewell" by the noted Danish composer, F. E. Lange-Moeller.

The cathedral was draped in black and white and the coffin rested on a high catafalque beneath a black canopy.

King Christian X and Queen Alexandrine, their royal relatives and many foreign princes and special envoys, were grouped around the bier.

Two hundred thousand mourners thronged the short route along which the funeral procession passed from the railroad depot to the cathedral.

Four Kings Followed Hearse.

Preceded by a military band playing funeral marches, the hearse was followed by the kings of Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Greece and all of the male members of the Danish royal family, with a number of foreign princes and special envoys on foot. The queens and princesses were in carriages.

Before the body was removed from Copenhagen, where it had lain in state, a family service was held in the chapel of Christianborg palace. All the members of the royal family attended. The widowed Queen Louisa was so overcome that King Christian X and his brothers had to support her when she left the chapel.

When the procession moved off all the royal personages, special envoys and a huge gathering of deputations from various cities and societies followed to the station, where the coffin was placed in a funeral car draped with black cloth, with an immense crown on the top.

WANTS NELSON'S PLACE IN THE U. S. SENATE

CHARLES A. LINDBERGH, Of Little Falls, Representative From the Sixth Minnesota District.

IS TYING UP CITY'S TRADE

Transport Workers' Strike Falls Heavily on London Traffic.

Markets Are Beginning to Suffer—Flour Prices Already Raised.

London, May 24.—Although the strike of the transport workers has not become general, a quietness resembling that of Sunday prevails in the streets of London this morning owing to the absence of the usual long lines of trucks and drays.

The order to lay down tools affects upwards of 100,000 men in central London alone, but those engaged on jobs will be permitted, through an understanding with the executive committee of the Transport Workers' federation, to complete them before joining their fellows. The full effect of the strike order will therefore not be felt for several days.

Everything is quiet at the docks and in the immediate vicinity. Picketing is being carried on by the men in a peaceful manner, and no disturbances such as were associated with the strike of last year have been reported.

Prepared for Trouble.

No extra police have yet been placed on duty, but the police headquarters at Scotland Yard, in conjunction with the war office, are possessed of an elaborate scheme, drawn up after the last strike, to insure the free passage of food supplies. This will be brought into operation on the first sign of interference by the strikers with those desirous of continuing to work.

The plan includes the protection of the markets, the routes between the docks and the markets, the railroad stations, the cold storage works, the bakeries and the gas and electric light works.

Market Employes Quiet.

All those engaged at Covent Garden

DEDICATE PAWNEE ROCK IN KANSAS

Women's Organizations Celebrate in Honor of the Pioneers.

Topeka, Kan., May 24.—Ceremonies dedicating a monument marking Pawnee Rock, the old landmark for travelers along the Santa Fe trail, were held today, representatives of the Daughters of the Revolution, the State Federation of Women's clubs, the W. C. T. U. and the Kansas Day club officiating.

The Women's Kansas Day club inaugurated the movement that led to the purchase of the monument. Standing on the open plain nine miles out from Larned, the rock can be seen for miles. Years ago it was the regular night stop for trail trains. About its base several bloody battles have been fought between wagon-train men and Indians.

Five acres of land surrounding the rock will be maintained by the state as a park.

OHIO MILITIAMAN ON ARMY FLYING LISTS.

Washington, May 24.—Lieut. Col. Winder, Ohio National Guard, has the honor of being the first national guard officer to have his name placed in the army register as a military aviator in the reserve. He received his license at College Park aviation field after undergoing an examination somewhat more severe than is required to meet the conditions of the usual aero club license.

LINDBERGH AFTER TOGA

Sixth District Representative Is Candidate for Nelson's Place.

Present Senator May Not Try to Get Re-election to Washington.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, May 24.—Representative Charles A. Lindbergh of the Sixth Minnesota congressional district today announced his candidacy for the United States senate to succeed Senator Knute Nelson. His statement is as follows:

"I have decided to become a candidate for the United States senate.

"I shall make no personal contest against Senator Nelson, but since there is a wide difference in the policies for which he stands and those for which I stand, I shall base my campaign on what I believe to be the present and future requirements of the people.

"While I have received letters from many parties asking me to become a candidate, I have not had an opportunity to consult with my friends in regard to the announcement. I have expected to do that, but the work here prevents me from doing so, and I believe this to be the proper time to make the statement that I shall be a candidate."

Three-Cornered Fight.

The entrance of Representative Lindbergh will make a three-cornered fight, assuming that Senator Nelson decides that he will ask for representation. James A. Peterson of Minneapolis is already in the field, having announced his candidacy early this week.

There is some doubt about Senator Nelson seeking another term. He told some of his friends about a year ago that he thought he would not try for another term, but would retire while he was in full strength and health rather than die in harness, as so many of the older senators have done in the last few years.

Several things, it is said, caused Mr.

SEEK THIRTEENTH DARROW JUROR

J. L. Wheat Is Likely to Be Last Chosen for Lawyer's Trial.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 24.—When the trial of Clarence S. Darrow, accused of jury bribery, was called today the task of selecting a thirteenth juror was resumed.

Although it was believed J. L. Wheat, whose examination was begun yesterday would qualify as the alternate juror, Judge Hutton had prepared for eventualities by securing more veniremen from another department of the superior court. Wheat was the last man on the panel yesterday. All peremptory challenges have been exhausted.

It was felt by those who followed the preliminary questioning of Wheat that if he was not selected as the required juror, it would be owing to information obtained during the night by Attorney Rogers of the defense, who asked for an early adjournment yesterday for the purpose of making inquiries concerning questions to be asked the prospective juror. No intimation was given at the time as to the nature of the proposed inquiry.

Trenton, N. J., May 24.—Governor Woodrow Wilson today issued an "address to the voters of New Jersey" in which he explained why he did not take the stump to ask for their votes at the coming primaries, and attacked his opponents, who have organized against him and placed on the primary ticket a full set of "uninstructed" delegates

GEN. WILLIAM BOOTH.

London, May 24.—The doctors in attendance on Gen. William Booth of the Salvation army, who was operated on yesterday for cataract, issued the following bulletin this morning:

"The general's eye is doing exertmely well."

Only One Remains to Be Chosen at General Conference.

Filling of Other Offices Takes Attention of the Members.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. R. J. Cooke, New York, book editor of the Methodist Episcopal church, was elected a bishop today on the twenty-fourth ballot. Dr. Cooke had 525 votes, four more than was necessary to elect.

Dr. F. D. Leete of Detroit, Mich., was elected a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church on the twenty-third ballot today, receiving 551 votes, 519 being necessary to elect. The twenty-second ballot resulted in a deadlock.

Francis J. McConnell, president of Depauw university, Greencastle, Ind., was the fifth bishop elected at the present conference. He was elected on the twenty-first ballot by a vote of 552—fifty-two more than necessary to elect.

Dr. McConnell was born in Trinway, Ohio, in 1871, and at present is the youngest of the members of the board of bishops. He was educated at Ohio Wesleyan university and at the Boston school of theology and has been president of Depauw since March, 1909.

It is probable that the conference will have to elect one and probably two missionary bishops, who differ from the other bishops, or general superintendents, in that they have power only in their districts and cannot preside at session of the general conference.

Others to Be Elected.

JOSE MIGUEL GOMEZ, President of Cuba.

Havana Government Denies Knowledge of Further Outbreaks.

Sending of American Vessels to Guantanamo Is Approved.

Scarcity of Troops Hampers Gomez in Keeping Order.

Santiago, Cuba, May 24.—A band of negro insurgents, apparently under the command of Gen. Ivonet, has attacked and captured El Caney del Sitio, four miles from Palma Soriano, on the Bayamo branch of the Cuba railroad. They sacked the town, committing many outrages.

A small detail of rural guards was unable to offer any effective resistance to the rebels.

El Caney del Sitio is situated in the center of a rich coffee and cocoa region, and the amount of damage done by the rebels is estimated at a high figure.

A body of regular troops left San Luis last night for El Caney del Sitio, on the receipt of the report that the insurgents were marching on the place. They arrived too late to prevent the sacking of the town, but intend to pursue and attack the insurgents today.

The newly organized corps of volunteers, while patrolling the streets of Santiago last night, captured a negro cutting down the electric light posts near the power house. Apparently it was his intention to plunge the city into darkness in order to facilitate a night attack by the insurgent forces known to be in the immediate vicinity.

American's Stores Pillaged.

Havana, May 24.—Two stores in the village of San Marcos, in the vicinity of Guantanamo, belonging to the Fidelity company, an American concern, were pillaged by a rebel band today. The negroes carried off all the stock as well as eight horses and $500 in cash.

The Cuban cruiser Cuba has arrived at Guantanamo with reinforcements of infantry and artillery and arms for

HANGS SELF IN AITKIN JAIL

Alleged Incendiary and Wife-Beater Uses Roller Towel for Rope.

Aitkin, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—William P. Hanson, who was indicted for the burning of the Wiregrass buildings near McGregor and was in the county jail here awaiting trial, was found dead in his cell this morning, having hung himself with a roller towel during the night. He told the sheriff last night that he wanted to go before the judge and plead guilty this morning, and start serving his sentence at once, as it would drive him crazy to stay in jail for two more weeks. The sheriff assured him that this could no doubt be arranged.

An indictment was also found against Hanson for beating his wife. Hanson was formerly employed as foreman at the Wiregrass plant, and after being dismissed, it is alleged, burned the property for revenge.

CONTRACTOR TRIES TO GET RID OF BAD BEEF TO NAVY

Officers Reject All But 2,000 Pounds in 28,000-Pound Supply.

Poor Grade Stuff Delivered to Transport Under Rush Order to Sail.

Washington, May 24.—The navy department telegraphed the Philadelphia navy yard today for a full report regarding the rejection of 26,000 pounds of beef delivered yesterday by a contractor for use on the naval transport Prairie. Only 2,000 out of a consignment of 28,000 pounds were accepted.

The Prairie already had 8,000 pounds aboard, and so sailed with 10,000 pounds. This undoubtedly will serve the force ten days. It is said that if necessary the supply ship Culgoa, now at Norfolk, can be rushed with beef to Guantanamo.

This is not the first time the navy department has had trouble with meat contractors attempting o supply a ship under hurried sailing orders wih bad beef, with the idea it would be compelled to accept it or go without.

It is probable the meat at Philadelphia may not have been really bad, but was rejected because it would not keep long enough for use in the tropics.

If the meat was below contract standard, it will have the effect of barring the contractor from further bidding for navy trade, it was said at the navy department today.

WILBUR WRIGHT MUCH IMPROVED.

Dayton, Ohio, May 24.—Wilbur Wright, aviator and inventor, who has been near death with typhoid fever for several days, was in a much improved condition today, according to word from his home. The patient's temperature has been reduced and consciousness is being gradually restored.

Battleship Leaves River.

BAR SPORTS ON MEMORIAL DAY

G. A. R. of Wisconsin Will Be Asked to Start Movement.

Mantiowoc, Wis., May 24.—Manitowoc Grand Army men and women of the relief corps will head a move in the state encampment of the G. A. R. at Antigo next month to place the encampment on record asking the state legislature to enact legislation which will prohibit sports of all kinds on Memorial day. The move results from a protest made by the local societies against the Lake Shore league ball games scheduled here Memorial day, but which were waived when the local management agreed to hold the calling of the game until 4 o'clock, after the G. A. R. exercises.

MORE RIOTS IN HUNGARY

Strikers in Budapest Refuse to Go Back to Work—Attack Troops.

Fifty Thousand Men in Outbreak—Fighting Is Bitter.

Budapest, May 24.—Fierce fighting has broken out again in the streets of this city today between the strikers and the police, who are helped by a large detachment of troops. A big mob of men disobeyed their leaders' orders to return to work and began again the wrecking tactics indulged in yesterday.

The infuriated men first overturned a number of street cars, and then demolished some display windows of stores on the principal streets.

They next made a fierce attack on the Calvary church, afterwards proceeding to Neuschloss, where they set fire to a factory, feeding the flames with petroleum. The rioters beat off the firemen to prevent them from extinguishing the flames.

Many on Both Sides Shot.

Troops put in an appearance and this was the signal for several volleys of revolver shots and stones, to which the soldiers replied with volleys from their rifles. Rioters and troops suffered heavily.

At one factory a lively battle occurred between strikers and non-strikers. Revolvers were used freely

DOES NOT LET RAILROADS OFF

Supreme Court Interprets Scope of Reciprocal Demurrage Act of 1907.

St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The old common law requiring railroads to furnish adequate transportation facilities for shippers is not abridged in any way by the reciprocal demurrage law passed at the 1907 session of the legislature, according to an opinion handed down by the state supreme court today, in a case brought by Peter L. Zetterberg and others against the Great Northern railway.

"The right to invoke the common law remedy to recover damages for the unreasonable failure of a carrier to furnish cars," the court said, "without a written demand therefor, in the absense of contractural relations, is a valuable one and it cannot be assumed that the legislature intended to abrogate it unless such intention is clearly expressed. We hold that the common law rights of shippers have been in no manner decreased by the reciprocal demurrage law."

DULUTHIAN MAKES $3,000 FROM SONG

How many people who ride up and down in the elevators in the Manhattan building know that one of the elevator men, Hally Preston, is one of the many popular song writers and one of the few who are successful.

During the day Mr. Preston operates the elevator and during the evening he can usually be found at the Belvedere hotel on East Superior street, where he is busy at his piano, composing popular airs.

His biggest hit "You'll Be the Flower for Me," published by a large publishing concern in Chicago, has totaled 100,000 copies sold. On each copy Mr. Preston gets a royalty of 3 cents. "Where the Swanee River Flows Its Way" is another of his songs, which has had a big sale.

Mr. Preston also composes hymns and has had a large number of them accepted by publishing houses. He has been a resident of Duluth for twelve years. Recently one of his songs was used at one of the local moving picture houses.

"Yes, sir, if you can hit the popular chord, there sure is money in writing songs," said Mr. Preston.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

LEAVES FROM A REPORTER'S NOTE BOOK BY X

Alex Jylha of Crosby was careless yesterday afternoon and last evening while he was enjoying himself about various Bowery saloons.

He showed his money too freely and today he is not only shy his comfortable little roll but has a sore head and some tender spots on various parts of his anatomy.

Alex reported to the police this morning that he had been robbed of $65 and a gold watch on Sixth avenue west between Superior and First streets while he was on his way to a lodging house to seek a bed for the night.

According to his story the robbery was particularly bold. He claims that between 8 and 9 o'clock, while scores of people were within hailing distance, he was attacked from behind by three men. While one of them choked him to prevent him from crying out, the other two rifled his pockets, relieving him of the balance of his cash and his time piece. After they had extracted his currency from his purse they carefully replaced it, whereupon they darted into the shadows of the alley and were lost to sight.

Asked why he had not reported the hold-up immediately Alex said that the treatment which he had received, combined with the copious quantities of liquor he had consumed—mostly the latter—had left him sick and dazed. It did not occur to him that he ought to notify the police and he continued on his way to the lodging house, where he stayed until this morning.

With the coming of daylight Alex began to think of his money. He wanted it back the worst way. He said that he could recall the events of the preceding evening without trouble and hot-footed it to headquarters. The police are making an investigation but as no description of the men is available, except the useless comparison that they are not all the same size, there is small chance that Alex will ever see his $65 again. It is possible that the watch may be picked up in some pawn shop.

The funeral of Frank Smith, one of the three sailors of North Sea who was drowned off N. P. dock No. 2 the night of April 25 last, took place yesterday afternoon at the undertaking rooms of Flood and Horgan. Rev. A. W. Ryan officiated. Interment was at Park Hill cemetery. An accident insurance policy, payable to his wife, was found on the body, but all efforts to locate her or other relatives proved unavailing. The man walked off the end of the dock in a bad rain storm. The relatives of the other two were located in Michigan, where their bodies were sent for interment.

William Saari evidently assumed that because a woman was out at 10 o'clock last night he could insult her. She was the wife of a saloon keeper on St. Croix avenue and was bringing him his lunch. Saari's conduct was reported to the police and he was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct. He pleaded guilty in police court this morning and got $40 and costs or thirty days in the county jail.

That was several years ago." The court gave him a suspended sentence after he had pleaded guilty.

O. J. Leding, postmaster at Cook, Minn., was not at home Wednesday night when the safe of the postoffice was blown open with nitro-glycerine. The reports stated that the safe-crackers had made their getaway with $1,800, and Mr. Leding said today that the strong box contained about $2,000. He is in the city today, coming from Crookston, where he had been visiting. He states that he received his first intimation of the operations of the yeggman from The Herald last evening. The police scoured the country about Adolph yesterday in search of two suspicious characters who were seen to drop off the blind baggage there yesterday morning. Although they covered miles of territory and interviewed almost every person they met, they did not locate the two men for whom they were looking. There is no certainty that they were the men who cracked the safe of the postoffice at Cook, but efforts were made to apprehend them so that no possibilities might be overlooked. Nothing has been heard of them since they dropped off the train at Adolph, which is about six miles above Proctor, on the D., M. & N.

SUES HUSBAND FOR $1,600

Mrs. Mary Warren Claims She Loaned Him the Money.

Not only is Mrs. Mary Warren seeking a divorce from her husband, Albert Warren, but she is also prosecuting an action against him to recover $1,600 which she claims that she loaned him after a separation had been agreed upon. The suit over the money is on trial before Judge Dancer and a jury in district court today.

Testimony was introduced to show that they had separated some time ago and that at that time, Warren settled with his wife for $2,275.50. Everything was satisfactory to Mrs. Warren until she loaned her husband $1,600. It appeared from the evidence that Warren gave his wife no note or security at the time.

Mrs. Mary Bain and Mrs. Emma Montgomery testified this morning in behalf of Mrs. Warren. The trend of their testimony was that they had overheard conversations between Warren and his wife in which Warren had admitted that he owed his wife the $1,600.

Mrs. Bain grew facetious while being cross-examined by Attorney H. J. McClearn. The witness had testified that she had overheard a conversation between Warren and his wife in which Warren had said that he would "dig up" the money right away.

Asked how she fixed that particular conversation in her mind she said that she had remembered because of the English that Warren had used.

"Well, didn't you ever hear of any one 'digging up' money?" the attorney asked her.

"Oh yes, in gold mines, I suppose that they 'dig up' money," was her reply.

The case is expected to be submitted to the jury this afternoon.

Wilson Club Organized at Enthusiastic Meeting—Democratic Caucuses Saturday—Persistent Report That Senator Nelson Will Retire in Favor of Congressman Lindbergh.

Wilson Club Organized.

The Wilson club of Duluth was launched at an enthusiastic meeting in the council chambers at the city hall last night. About seventy-five prominent Democrats of Duluth were present, and many more who had signed the call, bue were unable to attend the meeting, are included in the membership of the club.

Frank Crassweiler was chairman of the meeting and Herry W. Cheadle, secretary. When the club was permanently organized John T. Pearson was elected president and Harry W. Cheadle, secretary.

One member of the executive committee was chosen from each ward and he will see that candidates favorable to Woodrow Wilson for the presidency will come froward at the caucuses tomorrow evening. The members of the executive committee are: First ward, T. J. McKeon; Second ward, Harry W. Cheadle; Third ward, J. J. O'Brien; Fourth ward, George Neff; Fifth ward, W. L. Pierce; Sixth ward, George Duren; Seventh ward, Conrad Wicklund; Eighth ward, W. B. Getchell.

John Dwan of Two Harbors, who was present, was made an honorary member of the club. Mr. Dwan made a short speech, in which he declared his firm belief to be that Governor Wilson is the best candidate in the field and that if he should receive the nomination at Baltimore, he would defeat any candidate the Republicans might name.

Democratic Caucuses.

The Democratic caucuses will be held in St. Louis county tomorrow. In the cities and towns, the caucuses will be held from 7 to 8 p. m. and in the villages and rural districts from 2 to 4 p. m. The polling places in the city of Duluth will be used for the caucuses.

No organized opposition to Wilson has appeared in St. Louis county and little is expected to appear. Men favorable to the candidacy of Champ Clark may be candidates in a few precincts in the city, but they are believed to have little chance of success. The county convention at Virginia next Wednesday is expected to be in complete control of the Wilson men and a delegation instructed for the New Jersey governor will be sent to the state convention, which will be held here, June 6.

Nelson May Retire.

There seems to be more than mere rumor in the report that Senator Knute Nelson will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination for senator under the Keefe law. The senior senator is said to have decided to abdicate in favor of Congressman C. A. Lindbergh. Mr. Lindbergh is one of the best known members of Minnesota's delegation in the house and if Senator Nelson should retire and Lindbergh make the run, he would very likely get the nomination. If the reported arrangement should come about, some of the patriots in the Sixth district, who have been waiting to step into Lindbergh's shoes, would find themselves forestalled by Alvah Eastman, who has a good start through his candidacy for the nomination for congressman-at-large. A congressional reapportionment would not worry Eastman in that event.

Gerrymandering Predicted.

The prospects of a congressional reapportionment at the extra session is worrying some people. L. C. Spooner would like to see his home shunted into a new district, but nobody can see how it can be done. Hennepin county wants relief from the overpopulation of the Fifth district, and Congressman Stevens would be glad to see Washington and Chicago counties lopped off the Fourth district. There is some talk of a rearrangement whereby Congressman Davis' county would be thrown into the district in which Congressman Hammond lives. The Republicans think they could accomplish Hammond's downfall by such a move. If the problem becomes too knotty, the congressman-at-large job may yet materialize, and congressional reapportionment put over to the next regular session.

Deplores Campaign Methods.

C. F. Macdonald, editor of the St. Cloud Times, has been militantly and consistently a supporter of Woodrow Wilson. The activity of the Clark forces in the state this week causes him to deliver himself of the following in his paper:

The campaign waged against Woodrow Wilson in this and other states is one of the most corrupt and disgraceful ever known in national politics. It approaches somewhat in money expenditure that in opposition to Bryan in 1896. Immense sums of money are expended. This state is invaded by Williams, Pettigrew, Towne and others; the mails are filled with letters and circulars; halls are rented; posters are printed; political workers are hired; newspapers are bribed—all for the purpose of maligning Governor Woodrow Wilson.

Who furnishes the money?

Shortly after the Jackson day "harmony dinner" in Washington, the large syndicate of William Randolph Hearst "yellow journals" began a most virulent attack upon Woodrow Wilson. These papers are the most venal, unscrupulous and untruthful in the country. They hesitate at nothing libelous and untruthful to accomplish their object. They are supporting Champ Clark. Should Wilson be nominated it would be a "black-eye" for Hearst and his yellow sheets—so he hesitates at no outlay. He is a multi-millionaire, and to accomplish his purpose spends money lavishly, as will be recalled a few years ago when he attempted to buy the presidential nomination.

The belief is and it is almost a certainty, that the funds in this most disgraceful opposition to Woodrow Wilson are furnished by Hearst.

Such is the war upon the New Jersey governor! It is this that brings Charles A. Towne, Senator Pettigrew, George Fred Williams, C. A. Walsh and other libelers of Woodrow Wilson to Minnesota, and is at the back of all the false attacks upon him.

We trust that the Democrats of Minnesota and of old Stearns will not be deceived by the venal crowd.

Let Stearns county send a solid Wilson delegation to the state convention—one which will aid in electing a solid Wilson delegation to Baltimore.

Wilson means Democratic victory! Down with the Hearst crowd!

Arneson Is Optimistic.

Jim Arneson, Sam Y. Gordon's right hand man, sees nothing but good for the Gordon cause in the extra session. He gave out an interview at Hibbing yesterday, as follows:

Sam Gordon will get a majority from the Mesaba range in his candidacy for governor, and if the state legislature at the extra session passes a state-wide primary law, the death knell of Governor Eberhart is sounded. Certain of the Eberhart newspapers, notably the Duluth News Tribune, have been endeavoring to create the impression that the Gordon supporters were not in favor of the state-wide primary. Nothing could be further from the truth. The people of the range are for Gordon. The local bosses and the old state machine are practically unanimous in their opposition. We expect in a short time to organize Gordon clubs in most of the range towns. Mr. Gordon will come to Chisholm June 23 to speak at a gathering of the Finnish people there. He will also visit Hibbing and other towns on the range and at that time there will probably be Gordon meetings held. The Gordon men welcome an opportunity to make this fight in a state-wide primary. It will mean certain success for the man from Browns Valley.

BIG EXCURSION TO ZENITH CITY

Many Copper Country People Are Coming to Music Festival.

Calumet, Mich., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Finnish Ladies' Glee club and the Finnish Dramatic society of Calumet will run a big lake excursion from the Copper country to Duluth, more than 300 miles and return by water, for the big song festival of the Scandinavian Northwest, which is to be held at the Head of the Lakes Aug. 2, 3 and 4. It is expected that 1,000 Copper country people will take in the excursion. This will be the biggest songfest ever held in the Northwest. The usual summer "Midsummer" song festival of the Scandinavians of the Northwest, which is generally held at Duluth, will likely not be held this year because of the big festival in August. In the Copper country the city of Hancock will have the midsummer festival this year, holding it on June 23.

Finnish societies of Calumet have won many prizes in the Northwestern Midsummer festivals at Duluth and other cities and also won the first prizes in three departments of the International festival at Chicago several years ago. Prof. Mustonen, who trained the local choruses and soloists at that time will have charge of their preparation again this year. He is one of Finland's greatest music masters.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

L. W. Halfpenny, who is appearing at the Orpheum this week with Percy Waram and company, in "The Bosun's Mate," has a side line when he isn't working as an actor—he is an artist's model.

Mr. Halfpenny doesn't have to make use of any wigs or disguises in his theatrical work. He is what is known as a "type" actor. Naturally of a very cheerful and optimistic disposition, his characteristics apparently have been reflected in his face, for he needs nothing but a touch of rough on his cheeks to appear on the stage as a type of a hale and hearty old optimist. He has been seen in Duluth before this season, having appeared as the venerable old judge in "The Romance of the Underworld." When that company completed its tour of the circuit, he promptly signed with Mr. Waram. During the summers Mr. Halfpenny is in demand in the artists' studios in New York and has posed for numerous paintings. One full length portrait made of him was called "The Optimist," and attracted much attention in the New York exhibition.

There will be but three more performances at the Orpheum, tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. The theater will close tomorrow evening. This week's bill is proving the most popular of the entire season, and promises to break the attendance record if the weather continues fine.

The Delzaros, sensational gymnasts, are proving popular at the Empress this week. They are offering one of the most finished gymnastic turns seen here this season. Not only is their work daring and of a sensational nature, but for most part it consists of a series of original stunts which have been devised by Mr. Delzaro. Their performance covers a wide range of athletics and in each department the Delzaros clearly demonstrate that they are gymnasts of rare ability.

Another pleasing turn on this week's bill is the singing and talking specialty of Lipman & Kelly. This act has made a decided hit. It is brimful of clever patter and catchy songs. Both members of the duo are possessors of excellent voices which they use to good advantage in presenting a few of the latest song hits. In addition to their ability as entertainers, Lipman & Kelly dress their act in a nifty fashion which adds greatly to its pleasing qualities.

DOOMED MAN SPRINGS TRAP

Releases Catch on Gallows on Which He Expiates Crime.

Rawlings, Wyo., May 24.—Springing his own death trap, Joseph Seng, at the state prison here, today paid the penalty for the murder of William Lloyd.

Seng walked to the gallows where he was to hang himself with head erect and with a slight smile on his lips. He stepped quietly upon the trap, and released a plug from a bucket of water which, emptying, released the weight that sprung the trap.

Seng's crime was the result of a saloon row at Evanston, Wyo., Aug. 4, 1910.

RAILROADS

TO OPEN BETTER COUNTRY.

Change in Great Northern McKenzie, N. D., Line.

Shafer, N. D., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Great Northern railroad has finally decided on its route through McKenzie county, having abandoned the Little Missouri river survey and getting crews busy on rushing to competion the line surveyed along the Cherry, Lonesome and Charbonneau creeks. The route chosen will necessitate a larger outlay of money but it opens up a better country, and in the estimation of Chief Engineer A. H. Hogeland and Assistant Engineer J. M. Phillips, who came here from St. Paul to make the selection, it will result in bringing the company the biggest amount of business.

That some other road will build on the Little Missouri survey is quite probable and this means a rapid development of this section.

BEMIDJI DEPOT WORK AWAITS HILL'S APPROVAL.

Bemidji, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work on the Great Northern station in this city is held up pending approval of the proposed plans by President Hill. In reply to a query from Bemidji, A. H. Hogeland, chief engineer of the Great Northern at St. Paul, writes: "Recommendation has been made to President Hill together with sketch plans, covering the new depot at Bemidji. We cannot furnish you definite information in reference thereto until the matter has been approved by President Hill. I have no doubt that at the proper time he will authorize full information to be given as to plans, location, etc., for this building."

market who belong to the trades unions ceased work this morning, and the supplies of flowers, fruits and vegetables will soon be cut off. At Smithfield meat market business is going on as usual.

The men's leaders are attending the board of trade inquiry appointed by Sydney Buxton, president of the board of trade, to inquire into the causes of the strike of the lighter men.

The grain and flour trade, headquarters of which are at Mark Lane, has been brought practically to a standstill by the strikers. Sellers are unable to guarantee delivery, and in a few cases where the grain and flour actually can be delivered, prices have been marked up.

The grain dealers and meat traders both have applied to the home office for adequate protection to assure supplies for the public.

Bargemen Stopping Work.

The bargemen all along the Thames have given notice of their intention to quit work, and crafts are being deserted as they reach their anchorages. All the men on small trading ships also have been called out.

Lindbergh to make the announcement of his senatorial candidacy at this time.

One was the result of the recent Minnesota caucuses, which were so overwhelmingly in favor of the progressives.

The other was the approaching session of the legislature, which is expected to pass a reapportionment act which will in all probability rearrange the congressional districts in such a way that Lindbergh and Volstead will be placed in one district. It will take from Lindbergh some of the counties which he has in line, and which he believed would return him to congress indefinitely.

A reapportionment at this time would have forced him to make a campaign in the new counties, and he believes that it will be just as well to make a state-wide campaign for the senatorship.

Campaign Thunder Ready.

Lindbergh expects to go to Minnesota within a few weeks to lay the ground work for his senatorial campaign. His record as a Progressive and insurgent will be relied on by himself and his campaign managers to get the votes of the people. He will also point to the house investigation of the "Money trust" as of his creation, and expects to garner many votes because of this investigation.

Senator Nelson today refused to make any comment on the Lindbergh candidacy.

SPIRITS DIRECT TO GOLD MINE

Bangor, Me., May 24.—Trustum H. Brown, the "mediator," was in Bangor last week on his return from a visit to Boston, and although 86 years of age he tripped about town like a boy and told with enthusiam all about a new treatise he has just completed on "The Truths of Christ and the Errors o Christianity" and is soon to have published. Not long ago the mediator demonstrated his reputed supernatural or unusual powers by locating a gold mine in California, getting his information, he said, from the spirits of intimate friends long dead.

For many years Brown has occupied a little cabin on a mountain slope, spending his time chiefly in fishing, hunting and philosophical mediation and research, all the while holding communication with the spirits of the departed, he says. He calls himself "mediator between God and man."

Beyond delivering exhortations wherever he may find a listener, the mediator's principal occupations are trapping for furs and bear bounties and preparing and peddling a medicine, compounded from forest roots, barks and herbs, warranted to cure every human malady. His gala time of the year is when the Spiritualists of Maine hold their annual camp meeting at Etna Pond in Penobscott county. This he always attends, entering into the spirit of the occasion with an enthusiasm that makes the job of suppressing him the most difficult task of the whole proceedings.

The mediator's only neighbor is Nymphas Bodfish. Becoming offended at Bodfish, the mediator, so the story runs, laid the curse on him that he should catch no bear in his traps for 500 years. Bodfish went on setting his traps, but caught nothing. Then he went to the mediator to try to induce him to lift the curse. The mediator at last relented to the extent of taking off 200 of the 500 years. Bodfish went home and thought it over. Even 300 years seemed too long a time to wait, and again he called on the mediator, who consented that the 200 years rebate should run forward from the beginning instead of back from the end of the original 500 years. At the end of the season the customary array of bear pelts was hanging on Bodfish's fence to dry.

Brown says the spirits told him of the existence of a very rich mine in California. They described it so carefully that the mediator felt sure he would be able to find it, and he notified some of his earthly friends on the coast. The Californians told him to come on and locate the mine, and he did so, returning with the news that he had pointed out the location of a gold deposit that would make them millionaires. For himself he had no interest in wealth.

One day the Bodfishes gave Brown a cat.

"When I got that cat home," Brown said, "I took it out in my cook room and I placed a pan of fish on the table, and I said to the cat: 'Bodfish cat, there is a pan of fish on the table. I am going out of the room for a while and while I am gone I do not want you to touch those fish. 'If you do, Bodfish cat, I will kill you. Now, remember.' Well, I went out of the room and returned when I said I would and part of the fish were gone. Did I kill the cat? Well, I couldn't break my word."

Fashionable Foulard Silks

Standard 85c to $1 Qualities the Yard... 59c

A Sale Based On a Purchase of 5,000 Yards at a Heavy Discount!

Some silk seasons are a buyer's season, when conditions favor a store's getting specials; some are a manufacturer's season, when the market is firm and makers have no stock to sacrifice. This season's conditions were especially against the silk manufacturers—the backward spring caused cancellations instead of reorders, contrary to their calculations—for a manufacturer's output and outgo are most satisfactory when nicely balanced and when output overweighs outgo then a large customer is preferred who will take the big lot, rather than sell little lots to several.

One of America's Foremost Manufacturers of Foulard Silk

Sold us some 5,000 yards Foulard Silks to move his surplus stock at a price concession that enables us to offer you these fashionable silks at less than wholesale cost, and mark you, we picked and selected the choicest new 1912 spring designs and colorings.

The assortment includes only the newest and choicest 1912 spring designs and colorings. A beautiful satin finish quality. "Rainproof," 24 inches wide, shown in all leading colors, such as Navy, Cadet, Porcelain Blue, Prussian Blue, Brown, Cerise, Nut, Hazel, Havana Tans, Old Rose, Reseda, Raisin, Wisteria and Rich Black. SHOWS HOW TARIFF WORKS

Says Protective Ideal Has Been Lost in Power of Interests.

New York, May 24.—Governor Woodrow Wilson was the guest of the Economic club at a dinner here last night and discussed politics and business in furtherance of his candidacy for the democratic presidential nomination. He said in part:

"There are special circumstances in the United States, which put the question of the relation between politics and business before every other question. These circumstances arise out of the way which we have handled the tariff question.

"The ideal of the tariff was a very pretty one. It was that the government would foster industry of every kind and meet the interest of everybody by customs duties which would protect the American producer against foreign competition, and enable him to develop the virgin resources of America and her unorganized energies upon a free domestic field.

Tariff in Practice.

"But the practice has been very different from the ideal. At first it was a sort of scramble for favors. There were no particular favorites. The committee of congress heard everybody and tried to please everybody. The result was haphazard. There was neither plan nor consistency in the tariff schedules.

"In our day we see an expert lobby, some figures dominating all the rest. Particular interests have grown very strong under the tariff, playing a dominating part in the whole business of seeking favors by means of taxation. More than that, we see what was once a general struggle for advantage transformed into a very systematic business indeed.

Partnership Established.

"A close partnership has, in recent decades, been established between those who get the greatest tariff favors and those who control the councils of the dominating party. The partnership is based on definite grounds. Those who get the tariff favors spend a part of the profits in maintaining the political organization of the party through whom the favors are obtained. The tariff question therefore is radically altered in its aspects.

"No one who is capable of making an analysis of our business development in the last few decades can fail to discover that it is by this indirect control of the government that the largest and most powerfully protected interests have gained an extraordinary privilege and an extraordinary power; that this is the basis of every means by which they have built up monopoly and prevented legislation from striking in unmistakable terms at the privileges they were so vigilantly safeguarding.

Duty to Business.

"The relations between government and business can never be normal in this country until business undertakings cease to control government, or rather until a small number of undertakings cease to control government. When normal relations are restored our plain task can be performed. For it is very plain nobody who really cares for the welfare of America can wish to upset business or interfere with any honest and natural business process.

"But we owe it to business, even to the business which has been conducted in the wrong way, to be explicit and to name in exact terms as possible, the transactions we forbid, and to foster by the utmost freedom everything that makes for the production of real wealth. This is not a program, but a standard and it must be adhered to."

LABORERS IN BIG DEMAND

Railroad Construction in West Has Taken All Idle Men.

Railroad construction work in Western Canada and just this side of the boundary has been gradually absorbing the surplus laborers of the United States. There are many indications that an abundance of employment will be available during the summer and fall of 1912 for all men who care to work. If the harvests of the Northwest and elsewhere in this country and Canada should be large, as present signs promise, there will probably be a far greater demand for labor than the market can supply.

Joseph Burke, manager of the State Free Employment bureau at Duluth, remarked today that there was a greater demand for men for railroad construction work this spring than for several years. He said his office had been sending out 100 to 125 men daily and the demand exceeded the supply. He said he expected that by May 31 the records of his office would show that this year 2,000 men had been sent out for railroad work alone. Most of the men, he said, were being taken by the Northern Pacific and the Soo, but requests were also being received from contractors. Unskilled laborers were getting $2.50 a day and cement workers were being paid 50 cents an hour.

Five thousand laborers are wanted by the Grand Trunk Pacific for construction work on its lines, mostly at the Canadian Head of the Lakes, according to a statement made today by C. W. Turner of St. Paul, who is in Duluth. He said men were being sought for work on the Canadian roads with great eagerness, and were looked for on the American side of the line. The Canadian government, he said, recognizing this need, had modified its rules of immigration so that laborers had no trouble getting across the border. An agent of the Grand Trunk Pacific, Mr. Turner said, had recently been at Duluth looking for men, his purpose being to get 175, but he managed to get only five.

WILSON SAYS THAT "SATAN CAME ALSO."

Washington, May 24.—Quoting the Scriptures, James Wilson, secretary of agriculture, commented on the action of the Presbyterian general assembly in striking his name from the list of delegates to the Pan-Presbyterian council to be held in Aberdeen, Scotland, because he accepted last summer a vice presidency of the brewers' congress at Chicago.

"'And when the sons of men came together before the Lord, Satan came also' he said. "This passage seems to apply to this case, for I have learned from very dependable sources on the inside that there has been a whole lot of politics behind the attack on me from certain quarters because I, as secretary of agriculture, attended a brewers' conference. It will all die out as soon as the election is over."

He expressed the opinion that Job, the much afflicted, would have made a fine secretary of agriculture. Job, he said, knew a lot about farming and mules and horses.

ALL PRESBYTERIANS WILL MEET AT ATLANTA.

Seattle, Wash., May 24.—The United Presbyterian general assembly voted unanimously to hold the next meeting in Aalanta, Ga. It was explained to the delegates that the general assemblies of the Presbyterian church in the United States and the Southern Presbyterian church would meet in Atlanta, and that with the three assemblies in session in the same city, the plans for union might be worked out. The assembly unanimously voted to adopt a resolution that "a committee of conference be appointed to meet with a similar committee from the other Presbyterian assemblies to ascertain whether a practical basis of union may be found."

FOUR WOMEN AT G. O. P. MEETING

Will Be Delegates at Chicago and Others Apply for Ushers.

Chicago, May 24.—Four women will occupy seats as delegates at the Republican national convention here June 18. Two will come from California and two from other Western states.

"The first woman delegate to sit in a Republican national convention was at Minneapolis in 1892, when Wyoming sent one of the fair sex as one of its delegates," said Chairman Harry S. New of the sub-committee on arrangements. "Four years ago there was a woman alternate from one of the Western states. This year there will be four women delegates, according to reports, although no credentials have yet been received from them."

Sergeant-at-Arms William F. Stone has received scores of applications from women in Western states for appointment as assistant sergeants-at-arms, doorkeepers and ushers at the convention, but following a precedent established by the sub-committee on arrangements, none but men will be named this year.

The first credentials from delegates from the insular possessions have been received by Secretary Hayward from Hawaii and the Philippines.

The Republican territorial convention for Hawaii was held in Honolulu April 15 and six uninstructed delegates were elected as follows: Walter F. Frear, Jonah K. Kalanianaole, George F. Renton, John T. Molr, Harry A. Baldwin and Charles A. Rice.

The Philippine territorial convention was held at Manila, Feb. 5, and two delegates instructed for Taft were chosen. The delegates named are: John M. Switzer and Maj. T. L. Hartigan. No word has been received by the committee from Porto Rico and Alaska.

WOULD CUT JUDGES' TERM.

Senator Crawford Makes Speech on General Discontent.

Washington, May 24.—Senator Crawford of South Dakota, in a speech in the senate, called attention to popular criticism of the bench and advocated a constitutional amendment to fix the terms of judges of inferior federal courts at ten years. Shortening of the terms, he said, would enable the people to refuse to re-elect unworthy or incompetent judges. He contended that the irritation and uneasiness of the people and their hostility to the courts are directed at these inferior federal courts. The states, he urged, would readily ratify such an amendment because of a prevailing opinion that some of these federal judges are indifferent to the rights of the people.

The senator doubted whether the new courts of customs, commerce and patents were wisely established.

FOOD PRICES ARE LOWER

Advance of Spring Weather Cheapens Many Necessaries of Life.

Strawberries Are Remarkably Cheap for This Time of the Year.

Developments that have taken place in the local produce markets during the past week have almost all been in the direction of lower prices for food products. This of course is welcome to salary workers and others who have long been more or less distressed over the problem of the high cost of living. Potatoes, green vegetables, strawberries, pine apples, cranberries, butter, and chickens are somewhat cheaper. Fresh ripe tomatoes are a little higher. Navy beans have also gone up in price. Meats are as high as ever.

Old potatoes, which a week ago were bringing $1.20 a bushel at wholesale, now have declined to $1.10 a bushel. The principal reason for this seems to be the fact that new potatoes from Florida and elsewhere have been coming upon the market in larger quantities. The Florida potatoes a week ago were selling for $3 a hamper but the price is now down at $2.75.

Green vegetables have naturally cheapened with the advance of the season. Most of these vegetables are now coming in carload lots and this cuts out the Chicago man's profit. When they are bought in less than carload lots, they are usually bought from Chicago dealers. This makes a great difference in the prices that must be charged to grocers and the general public. These vegetables are now being consumed at Duluth and vicinity in such quantities that shipments in less than carload lots to Duluth are rare.

Roseland cabbages from Louisiana, which a week ago were selling at wholesale at $4 per crate, now go for $3 a crate. The quality is excellent. Florida celery has declined from $1 to 80 cents a dozen bunches, wax beans from $4 to $3.50 per bushel box, Minnesota radishes from 80 to 45 cents a dozen bunches. Texas Bermuda onions from $1.75 to $1.60 a bushel crate and Crystal Wax onions from $2.25 to $1.75 a bushel crate.

Very few cauliflowers are being handled on the Duluth market just now. For some weeks they have been coming here from California, but the quality is now so poor that most of the Duluth wholesale produce merchants have ceased to deal in them.

Strawberries are remarkably cheap for this time of the year. A little more than a week ago the price was cut in two, but now the berries are still cheaper. A crate of Arkansas strawberries, consisting of 24 quarts, which a week ago sold for $2.75, is now bringing $2.25. During the past week berries have been shipped to Duluth from Arkansas and Tennesse. The Tennessee berries are not so good. Duluth is now reieciving on an average three cars of strawberries a day. These are mainly for the Duluth and the range trade. Strawberries, together with green vegetables and other produce, are shipped in refrigerator cars by the Duluth produce dealers to the range towns.

Pineapples are being received from Cuba in large quantities. They are of fine quality and are selling at such prices that the Duluth housewives can now afford to buy them for canning. They are coming in full carload shipments, and that fact, as is the case with strawberries and green vegetables, has made them considerably cheaper. A crate that sold a week ago for $4 now brings $3.50.

Cranberries are cheaper because the market is being cleaned up, the end of the season being near. They are still of very fine quality, however. A box that a week ago brought $3.25 at wholesale, now goes for $3.

Apples remain at substantially the same price. The quality is uncommonly good for this time of the year. This is particularly true of the Ben Davis apples. Those now on the Duluth market have been imported from Iowa, where they were grown and stored.

Fresh ripe tomatoes are a little higher by reason of the fact that cold rainy weather has been much against bringing them here from Florida in good condition.

Navy beans are higher because the Minnnesota crop is about gone and those in the market now are mostly the Michigan beans. The price of the latter on account of the added cost of freight has caused the sales to drop off greatly. A bushel of beans that a week ago sold for $2.85, now commands $3.

Butter has taken quite a drop. The best creamery in prints now sells at wholesale for 28 cents a pound or 1 cents lower than it did a week ago. Pastures are growing rich in all parts of the country and the output of milk, cream and butter has been increasing so enormously that even the strong Eastern demand has been inadequate to keep the price up. It is expected that butter will continue to decline for a time.

Dressed poultry is selling at the same price it commanded last week. Live poultry, however, is a little cheaper, as farmers have begun bringing considerable numbers of fowls upon the market. Hens, which a week ago commanded a wholesale price of 19 to 20 cents, now sell for 18 cents a pound. Broilers, which weigh about a pound and a quarter each, have come upon the market and are bringing $4.50 to $5 a dozen.

NOW IS THE TIME TO ACT

Duluthians Urge Immediate Steps to Adopt the Commission Plan.

Public Affairs Committee Has Put Shoulder to Wheel.

Duluth citizens are still urging prompt action on the commission form of government proposition which is to be considered by the charter commission.

The public affairs committee of the Commercial club at a meeting Wednesday evening put its shoulder to the wheel by naming a committee to work with the charter commission along these lines.

Prominent citizens seem to be unanimous in favoring the change.

No Room for Argument.

Watson S. Moore, who was a member of the special joint committee of the city council and the Commercial club, that made a report favoring the commission form of government for Duluth about a year ago, said today in regard to the matter:

"I cannot see that there is any room for argument on the question of the advisibility of Duluth adopting the new system. We want it and we want it right away. I do not wish to be understood as finding fault with the present city government or with those men who are running it. In most cities where the commission form has been adopted there has been a bad government. In Duluth it will simply be a case of going from good government to a better government. Our tax rate is not high by any means, in comparison with that of other cities, when you take into consideration our comparatively low valuation.

"There is no doubt in my mind, however, that the commission form of government is the best system that was ever devised for cities. The old system is crude and cumbersome. Under the commission system the people can get right at the running of things, quickly and at any time. A commission looks over the whole city and spends the money where the expenditure is most needed. Members of city councils try to get all they can for their respective wards and have little idea of doing the best that can be done for the city at large. Hence it is that money is often spent where it is not badly needed, while improvements that are badly needed are not made. I am in a position to know about such things for I was a member of the Duluth city council for ten years."

J. P. Johnson, clerk of the district court, says: "I am now and always have been heartily in sympathy with the idea of conducting municipal affairs under the commission plan of government. I think it would be adopted and used in Duluth to a good advantage. With the initiative, referendum and recall already provided for, it looks to me as if the commission form was the next step ahead towards a better city government."

OLIVER ATTACKS METAL SCHEDULE

Says as Framed It Would Benefit the Steel Corporation.

Washington, May 24.—Senator Oliver of Pennsylvania yesterday attacked the Democratic bill revising the metal schedule of the tariff law, declaring that the measure, as framed by the house, would operate to the advantage of the United States Steel corporation. He admitted that the measure had been aimed at the Steel corporation, but declared: "This measure should be entitled 'An act to confirm and perpetuate the power and dominance of the United States Steel corporation in the steel business of the United States.'"

The Democratic bill, Senator Oliver asserted, would reduce prices so as to drive out the small competitor of the corporation and give the great company a monopoly.

Senator Oliver urged that the revision of the schedule be held up until a report could be received from the tariff board.

PIKE SPAWN FOR THE RIVER

Forty-two cans of pike spawn in good condition were emptied into the St. Louis river above New Duluth last evening under the direction of Cameron Hewitt, secretary of the local game and fish protective association. The spawn were received from the state hatchery. The cans contained hundreds of thousands of embryo walleyed pike.

The fishing in the river and bay the last few years has been better than for many years past, largely because of the activity of the game wardens in putting an end to fishing with nets and set lines. With the annual addition of spawn the fishing should always remain good. The fish are beginning to hite up the river and if the weather remains fair the fishing should be of the best within the next week and for several weeks to come.

DORR'S LETTER

Says He Paid Negro to Kill George E. Marsh.

Stockton, Cal., May 24.—Chief of Police Briare has secured a letter written to Miss Orpha Marsh, of this city, and signed by William A. Dorr, now in the Lynn, Mass., jail, accused of the murder of George E. Marsh, a wealthy soap manufacturer of that city.

It contains a statement to the effect that Dorr paid a negro $1,000 to kill "the old man," and that the job has been done.

Dorr left Stockton with $2,300. One thousand three hundred dollars was taken from him when arrested here, upon his return. It is known that he spent about $350 for an automobile, $105 for a round-trip ticket to the east and at least $150 for maintenance.

Rochester Man Killed.

Rochester, Minn., May 24.—The kick of a horse proved fatal to Charles W. Fortner, 23 years old, of this city. The young man a few days ago resigned his position with a local business house to work on a farm, and Sunday he was kicked in the abdomen by one of the horses on the place. An operation was immediately performed, but too late to save his life.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., has had a "clean-up day." In fact, it was the second affair of the kind in that city within a year. Last spring there was a period of two or three days during which the residents devoted themselves to removing the refuse and debris that had accumulated during the winter and early spring. Much of the stuff was gathered up and carted to the city dumping ground, to the obvious gain of the town in looks and in hygienic conditions. The cleaning process was renewed in the fall, through the urgent endeavors of the mayor and the chamber of commerce, there being hearty co-operation all around. The later movement was directed not only to the disposal of unsightly and disagreeable material, but to the removal of matter that might be dangerous as a source of fire. Combined with this work was instruction to school children in fire prevention.

Dr. E. W. Fahey, health commissioner, has announced a cleaning week instead of a cleaning day for Duluth, beginning Monday. Saturday is expected to mark the climax of the cleaning campaign, after which the city is expected to be without a yard containing any refuse of any kind. Sanitary inspectors will make a thorough canvass of the city and where the provisions of the ordinance have not been observed legal steps will be taken to secure the desired results.

FIRST NEW YORK WOMAN APPOINTED AUCTIONEER.

New York, May 24.—To Mrs. Ell Sobel will come the distinction of being the first female auctioneer ever appointed in this state. Mrs. Sobel, who is the widow of a well-known auctioneer, wrote to Mayor Gaynor asking him for a license to continue her husband's business. He found there was no ordinance which prohibits a woman from presiding over the auction block.

He accordingly dictated a letter to Mrs. Sobel, informing her that so far as he was concerned she could auction off anything she pleased in competition with the male of the species.

He added, however, that she would first have to go down to the city clerk's office and pay a $100 fee for an auctioneer's license, and also leave a bond of $2,000, which is required by the statutes.

Bishop of Saskatchewan Visits Duluth on Return From Europe.

Rev. J. W. H. Newham bishop of Saskatchewan, Church of England, who was a guest at the Spalding yesterday, en route to his home at Prince Albert, after a five months' trip abroad, states that he prefers the work in the new districts to that of the more established routine of the older communities.

He has been in Saskatchewan the last eight years. He says that the territory is becoming settled so rapidly that it is being found difficult to furnish the settlers with churches and services.

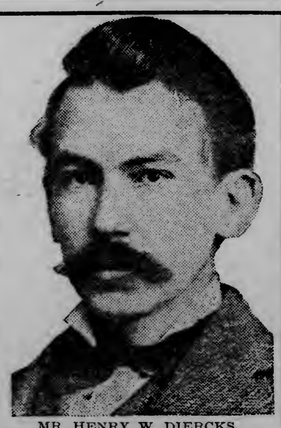
Dr. Caldwell's mail is among the largest in America and thousands of these letters speak of constipation. There is no question that DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN is a genuine cure for the most stubborn, chronic constipation. It has to its credit permanent cures of men and women far past eighty. The writers are not speaking from hearsay, but from personal experience. The reason is the SYRUP PEPSIN is a scientific preparation. Unlike salts, cathartic pills or purgative waters, its effect is not temporary for that day, but a brief use of it gradually trains the stomach and bowel muscles so that they again do their own work. In this way a permanent cure is brought about, for soon medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with. DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN is effective at all ages, and is for that reason the best family laxative obtainable. A fifty-cent bottle will keep a family in good health for many months. It can be given with safety to an infant, and yet grown people will find it prompt and satisfactory. Its action is mild, it works gently and never gripes, and is pleasant to the taste. It is all that can be asked of the ideal family laxative. Use it for any disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels. Let every member of the family use it, and that family will be in good health. There will be no constipation, sick headaches, gas on the stomach, drowsiness after eating, sallow, pimply complexions nor any of the other disorders that follow in the train of bowels that are clogged with matter that should be eliminated.

Thousands Say DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN Cures Worst Cases of Constipation

Dr. Caldwell:
I received the sample of Syrup Pepsin for which I thank you so much. It has worked wonders with my baby. He is not like the same child and is so fat. I wish I had known about it before. Since receiving your sample I am on the third 50c bottle. I will never be without it.
Mrs. Evelyn Matson,
516 Milwaukee St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Dr. Caldwell:
I received your free sample of Syrup Pepsin and found it to be all right. I took two doses of it and it helped me so much more than any medicine I have ever taken. I have a little grandson about ten months old and he was constipated. I gave him some of the Syrup Pepsin and he has been all right ever since.
F. P. Crider,
Kimball, Minn.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.



MR. HENRY W. DIERCKS.

Dr. Caldwell:
I bought a 50c bottle of Syrup Pepsin for stomach trouble and piles and after taking it as directed I obtained great relief and benefit from it. I will do all I can to get my friends and fellow-sufferers to use it for their ailments. You surely have put a great remedy on the market for suffering humanity. It ought to be on sale throughout the whole United States.
Henry Wm. Diercks,
Holstein, Mo.

Dr. Caldwell:
I used the sample and got a larger bottle. I think it very good. I feel much better since I have been taking it.

fought for more than twenty-four hours, has fallen into the hands of the government. The federal cavalry is pursuing rebels north of Rellano.

These advices were telegraphed at 6:15 o'clock tonight to the Mexican consul here by Gen. Huerta, the federal commander.

Alberto Madero, uncle of the president of Mexico received tonight a message from Ernesto Madero, his brother, the minister of finance, confirming the federal victory.

Acknowledges Defeat.

At the Rebel Front, Corralitos, May 24.—Gen. Orozco acknowledges his defeat at Rellano. He declared, however, that his forces were by no means demoralized and that he would continue to push the revolution.

Madero Predicts Peace.

City of Mexico, May 24.—President Madero predictes an early termination of the Mexico revolution as a result of the federal victory at Rellano. Other than to express his gratitude to his army and to forecast peace in the near future, the president had no statement to make.

According to official advices, between 800 and 1,000 rebels were killed or wounded in the battle. The estimate is made in a dispatch to the president from General Huerta. Casualties on the government side were not announced.

Grafton School Conference.

Grafton, N. D., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—For the purpose of developing the teaching of elementary agriculture in both city and rural schools, the board of education has extended an invitation to the school directors in thirty neighboring districts to gather here for a conference with the local educators.

and many were wounded.

The general strike called by the Socialists yesterday, and whose sequel was a series of bloody conflicts between the police and the infuriated workers all over the city, was called off at midnight, but rioting continued until after midnight, when the strikers made a determined attempt to break into the residence of Count Tisza, the speaker of the lower house, and fired a number of revolver shots. They were finally driven off by strong detachments of police.

Fifty Thousand in Riots.

About 50,000 men, representing half of the factory hands of the city, took part in the disturbances, marching through the streets and attacking men at work. When they were refused permission to hold a meeting outside the parliament buildings they became violent, destroying property of all kinds.

The amended list of casualties during yesterday's fighting shows that six were killed and 160 wounded, 100 of them seriously. The police made upwards of 200 arrests.

The fighting was conducted with the greatest bitterness, crowds of men rushing at the soldiers and endeavoring to tear the bayonets from the muzzles of the rifles.

A column of 400 strikers stormed the offices of the electric works, but were beaten back by the troops. The rioters, most of whom are trained soldiers and adepts at taking cover, fired from behind barricades.

The excitement throughout the city is intense. From the broken lamp posts great flares of gas illuminate the streets.

Detachments of infantry and cavalry gradually are working through the manufacturing district, which is the center of the outbreak. The troops, however, make slow progress, as the mob resists step by step. Most of the principal streets have been cleared and are now being patrolled by troops and armed police.

Ignore Vote to Return.

The rioting still continued late this afternoon in several of the outer sections of the city, despite the fact that a meeting of the strikers held at noon passed a resolution in favor of a general return to work. The labor leaders at the same time urged the men to avoid excesses.

The strike, which was called as a protest against the election of Count Tisza as speaker of the lower house of parliament, was at first intended merely as a demonstration in favor of universal suffrage, of which Count Tisza is a determined opponent. A demand for the extension of the suffrage has been forwarded to Emperor Francis Joseph.

NEGRO REBELS LOOT CUBAN TOWN AND ROB AMERICANS' STORES

the local volunteers.

The Cuban government declares it has not received any further news from the province of Oriente, and that reports from other sections of the island indicate that complete tranquility prevails.

El Triunfo, the government organ, announces that the insurrection has failed and that the government speedily will be able to restore order, thanks to the efficiency of the army and the loyal support of the Cuban people, including all the better elements of the colored race.

Approve Washington's Action.

The press generally comments with approval on the action of Washington in sending warships and marines to Guantanamo, regarding it as an expression of the desire of the United States to support the Cuban government in maintaining the independence of the island.

The British protected cruiser Melpomene arrived here today and exchanged salutes with the fortress of Cuban.

Rumors are current that the cruiser has come for the purpose of insisting on the fullest protection for British subjects and property in Cuba. The cruiser brought in tow the British collier Domira, which was stranded off Yucatan May 9.

Want Intervention.

Washington, May 24.—Abrogation of the Morua law forbidding the organization of the negroes into a political party is claimed by the negroes in Cuba as a basis for their movement, according to state department advices. They also are declared to be striving for American intervention and the re-election of President Gomez.

While President Gomez declares he will do all in his power to protect foreign property, doubt is expressed in official dispatches of his ability to do this, owing to the scarcity of troops.

The negroes are avoiding encounters, their principal object, apparently, being the destruction of property.

WILSON NOT ON STUMP

to the national convention. The New Jersey governor is the only candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination openly seeking votes at the state primaries.

After announcing his candidacy, the governor says:

"I was unwilling to canvass the state for your vote. I have spoken frequently in the past few months in other states, because my friends thought I ought to make myself personally known there; but that could not be urged as a reason in New Jersey.

"You Know Me."

"You know me. For eighteen months I have sought to serve you as governor of the state, with a full sense of the responsibilities you have imposed upon me, and my record all the state knows. Nothing I could say upon the public platform could alter it."

Governor Wilson then takes up state affairs. He reminds voters of his fight against Former United States Senator James Smith, Jr., and tells them he opposed the re-election of Senator Smith and favored James E. Martine, the present incumbent of the office, because the people of the state had expressed their preference for Mr. Martine at the primaries. He reviews recent state political history, and continues:

"This is the whole ground of my offending; I insisted that the party should keep faith with the people in the the matter of the senatorship as in all others. Senator Smith wanted its obligations ignored in order that he might be returned to the senate. He seeks revenge, as do the 'guardians' and all others who have been deprived of their private control. Their purpose is to regain their power, and rule again as they please.

Scores Senator Smith's Methods.

"What is happening within the Republican party is obvious to the whole country, and a very unedifying spectacle it is. But what is happening in this state within the Democratic party is not so obvious. It is, indeed, being done very quietly and very secretly, because it is being done by James Smith, Jr., who knows no other way of acting in politics and who has no suggestion to make to the voters of the state which he can quite venture to make in public.

"What concerns us and makes the matter very much larger and more serious than the more incidental question of whether I am to be nominated at Baltimore or not, is the fact that this is Mr. Smith's attempt to reestablish his control over the Democratic party, and put himself once more in a position to make the Democratic machine an adjunct and partner of the old Republican machine in serving the special interests in New Jersey. It is the last desperate attempt of the discredited old regime to destroy and supplant the new."

At the request of some of his supporters, Governor Wilson will speak in the Jersey City high school Saturday night. The occasion will be an informal meeting of Wilson candidates for national delegates in the Eighth, Eleventh and Twelfth congressional districts.

Taft, Roosevelt and La Follette.

Newark, N. J., May 24.—The New Jersey primary campaign was in full swing today, with three of the Republican candidates for the presidential nomination speaking in the state and contesting for the twenty-eight delegates to the national convention, who will be chosen next Tuesday.

President Taft began three days of hard campaigning when he left Trenton this morning with a speaking schedule that carried him to Jersey City. He will spend the night at the home of his brother, Henry W. Taft, in New York City. Between these two cities he planned to make short talks at more than a dozen places.

Roosevelt Astir Early.

Col. Roosevelt was astir as early as the president, and going in the opposite direction. He will end his tour for the day at Trenton, where a long speech is scheduled tonight. His route took in Burlington, Egg Harbor, Atlantic City, Camden and several smaller places between.

Senator La Follette spent the night at Atlantic City, where yesterday evening he addressed a large audience on the steel pier. Today he campaigned in the northern and central parts of the state, planning to stop at Lakewood, Asbury Park, Long Branch and Red Bank and wind up at Newark and Paterson tonight.

Enslivened by Wilson.

The Democratic campaign, which on account of the determination of other candidates not to oppose Governor Wilson within his own state, has attracted less attention than the Republican, gained warmth today when the governor issued a statement attacking his opponents within the state, who are trying to send New Jersey's delegates to Baltimore uninstructed.

LEETE AND COOKE ELECTED BISHOPS OF METHODIST CHURCH

discuss the election of officers of various boards of the church. It is said that instead of having one man at the head of the board of foreign missions, three with equal power will be placed there taking the position heretofore occupied by Dr. Adna B. Leonard of New York, made secretary-emeritus of the board at the present session.

Among the names mentioned for these positions are S. Earl Taylor, a layman of New York; J. B. Trimble, Storm Lake, Iowa; J. H. Bradford of Guthrie, Okla.; and E. A. Schell of Mount Pleasant, Iowa.

As secretary of the board of home missions it is probable that Robert Forbes of Philadelphia will be elected.

The conference adopted the recommendation of the episcopacy committee making Atlanta, Ga., Helena, Mont., and Kansas City, Kan., new episcopal residences. A new episcopal residence had been planned for Europe, but there was a feeling that two could not be established at present in addition to the one at Zurich, Switzerland, so it was thought best to postpone the naming of residences at Rome, Italy and Copenhagen, Denmark, a least for four years.

Last evening's session was given over to the anniversaries of the Anti-Saloon league and Lord's Day alliance.

RICHESON BURIED FIVE MILES FROM HIS MOTHER.

Lynchburg, Va., May 24.—The burial of Clarence V. T. Richeson, who was electrocuted in Boston, occurred just before sunset yesterday on the old Richeson farm, eighteen miles from here, the interment being beside Richeson's paternal grandparents and five miles from his mother's resting place. Only members of the family were present at the interment, brothers and near relatives acting as pallbearers and assisting in filling the grave. The trip was made from Amherst by a wide detour over the roughest route in the country, making a springless farm wagon necessary to convey the casket from the Amherst courthouse.

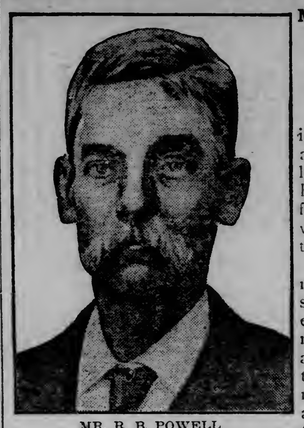
"CHOOSE MEN BY LOT AS SLAYERS"

San Diego Chief of Police Says Industrial Workers Are in Plot.

San Diego, Cal., May 24.—Chief of Police Wilson asserts here that six armed Industrial Workers are in town, having been selected by lot to murder four local officials. The plot he says, was cast in Los Angeles.

According to Chief Wilson, ten men were drawn by lot in Los Angeles a month ago to murder Mayor Wadham, Capt. John L. Sehon, superintendent of police; H. S. Utley, district attorney, and Chief Wilson. One of the ten, the chief said, betrayed the plot. The chief said he had been warned that six more men had been chosen by lot for the same purpose as the original ten. He declared he knew the six had already arrived here.

Chills and Malaria



MR. R. B. POWELL.

Mississippi's malarial regions held no terrors for Mr. R. B. Powell, so long as he used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as directed.

It is hard to conceive of a man improving in health and appearance where so many had malaria. Read the experience of R. B. Powell, who kept himself free from malaria, chills and fever while in the most infected sections of the United States.

"Twelve years ago my business brought me to the Mississippi bottoms. I had just recovered from a long spell of sickness and I feared I would not be able to withstand another attack. I found much chills and malaria fever among the people and it was impressed upon me that I must take something to keep my system in such good condition that disease would not be able to gain a foothold, or I could not stay in the bottoms. I purchased a case of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and began using it as directed. I soon found it so thoroughly agreed with me and so assisted in digesting everything I ate that I never had any use for any other medicines. I improved so much in the malaria district that when I came home my best friends scarcely knew me. I have kept Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey in my home since and though I am now 58 years of age, can do as much hard work as any man. I sincerely recommend it to all my friends." R. B. Powell, 923 East 9th St., Little Rock, Ark.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

STANDARD OF PURITY AND EXCELLENCE SINCE 1860

aids and improves digestion. Therein lies one of the most important reasons why it is so valuable. All the nourishment in the food eaten is assimilated and taken into the blood and the whole system, in consequence, becomes stronger and more able to ward off disease. Instead of the body being an easy victim to sickness, it gains in strength and vigor.

Prescribed by doctors, used in hospitals, and recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only whiskey that was taxed by the Government as a medicine during the Spanish-American war.

Sold IN SEALED BOTTLES ONLY—never in bulk, by druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct. $1.00 a large bottle. If your dealer cannot supply you, write us, and we will tell you where it can be bought. Medical booklet and doctor's advice free on application.

REFUGE OF ROYALTIES

Duke of Orleans Sells His Splendid English Country Home.

Regarded as Evidence He Must Be Short of Ready Cash.

London, May 24.—In the diplomatic and social world here it is believed that the Duke of Orleans, who aspires to be king of France and keeps on wire pulling to that end, must be short of ready cash. Otherwise, no one believes that he would have sold his famous estate of Wood Norton, the home of exiles, as he has done, the buyer being an English judge, Sir Charles Swinfen Eady.

How much his worship paid his highness for Wood Norton it is impossible to learn, but it must have been a tidy sum, for the house itself is furnished with a magnificence in keeping with the royal state which the pretender to the throne of France has kept up there, and the property, which is located near Evesham, in the Valley of the Avon, extends over 2,500 acres, and takes in several parishes. The mansion will need a lot of alteration inside to make it a suitable home for an English magistrate, everything from the door handles and the electric light fitings to the oak panelings, being emblazoned with the fleur-de-lis of the royal house of France. However, its new owner can stand this expense, for, beside getting a large salary as one of the judges of the court of chancery, he is said to have earned as a barrister one of the largest incomes ever made by a lawyer in England.

Home of the Exiles.

Wood Norton for over half a century has been the home of foreign royalties obliged to take refuge in England. The last one to do so was King Manuel, late of Portugal, who, with his royal mother, came there in October, 1910, to spend their first night in exile in this country, the first was the Duc d'Aumale, fourth son of King Louis Philippe. After the latter's abdication, in 1848, he left France and the members of his family found homes in different parts of this country. The Duc d'Aumale bought Wood Norton, then only a shooting box, from Edward Holland, member of parliament, and lived there the life of an ordinary English country squire, gradually increasing the estate, which at first had consisted of only a few hundred acres, to its present size. His guests used to be quartered in the neighboring farmhouses, and life at Wood Norton was informality itself. The duke kept open house to all ranks, and never was above drinking a mug of cider in a farm kitchen. He died in 1897, and in his will bequeathed Wood Norton to the Duke of Orleans, who as head of the Bourbon-Orleans family, claims to be France's rightful ruler.

It was the Duke of Orleans who built the mansion which now has passed into the hands of Sir Charles Swinfen Eady, and furnished it in regal style. The wrought iron gates which guard the entrance to the principal drive are not included in the recent sale. Originally they stood at the entrance of the royal palace at Versailles, and they have followed the Orleans family in misfortune, first to York House, Twickenham, the home of the duke's father, the late Comte de Paris, and later to Worcestershire.

Luxurious Bathroom.

Among other features of the Wood Norton property, Sir Charles Swinfen Eady buys one of the most luxurious bathrooms in Europe, which adjoins the bedroom that was used by the Duke of Orleans. The walls, ceiling and floor are of marble, while the bath itself copies the old Roman design, being let into the floor and entered by three marble steps. The taps of the bath, towel rail and all the other fittings are of silver. Three sovereigns, in the persons of King Charles of Portugal, Alfonso of Spain and former King Manuel, beside his highness the duke, have used this bath, if that is any satisfaction to Sir Charles. Another splendid room at Wood Norton is the duchess's bedroom. The walls are paneled in dark oak from ceiling to floor, polished until they shine like a mirror. The ceiling is painted to represent dawn. Fairy-like figures float among the clouds against a blue sky, touched with the faint pink and yellow to be seen on the horizon when the sun is rising. The curtains and upholstery of this room are of white brocade, sprinkled with tiny bouquets of pink roses.

While the Duc d'Aumale had Wood Norton, King Edward, then Prince of Wales, often visited him for the hunting, and no end of European royal personages have been guests of the Duke of Orleans. The biggest roundup of royalties that ever assembled there got together in November, 1907, for the marriage of Princess Louise, the duke's sister, to Prince Charles of Bourbon-Sicily. The principal guests then were the king and queen of Spain, the queen of Portugal, the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess Vladimir and the Comte and Comtesse de Casserta. While King Manuel and his mother were there they were visited by King George and Queen Mary.

Always "Your Majesty."

At Wood Norton the duke of Orleans always has been your majesty. He had his court chamberlain, in the person of the Duc de Luynes, and his gentlemen of honor, each of whom in turn did a month's duty. Though born and educated in England, the duke has shown a perfect genius for making himself unpopular in this country. As soon as he came into possession of Wood Norton he fenced the estate in with wire, regardless of the hunting proclivities of the district, and maintained toward his neighbors an attitude of icy aloofness. He withdrew, too, several little privileges of access to the property which the public formerly had. The rumors current regarding the duke's private life have not helped to endear him with the English people, and he never has been forgiven for his letter of congratulation to Willette, the French cartoonist, on an improper caricature of Queen Victoria at the time of the Boer war.

OUTLOOK IS OPTIMISTIC

Business Prospect Favorable and Merchants Are in Good Spirits.

Great Demand for Cars and Material By Railways Predicted.

New York, May 24.—The banks here are rapidly gaining in cash and the reduction of the rate of discount to 3 per cent by the Bank of France last week, following the reduction to the same rate by the Bank of England the previous week, is sure to aid in the placing of great blocks of American securities with the investors of Europe.

The great financial syndicates of Europe will take them in large amounts and make their profits by placing them in smaller amounts with the longer holding investors.

The metal copper has started upward and reached the 16½ cent mark with every indication of an extraordinarily heavy demand from consumers all over the world.

Parties who are familiar with the copper situation acknowledge that the metal has before it most prosperous conditions owing to this increased and widespread demand, but here in New York, outside of the speculators in copper stocks, there is no disposition to grow so enthusiastic as to rush the market price up much farther.

Better to Go Slow.

Better to have a long continued market at a reasonable price for the metal, reason the conservative producers, than a runaway market for a brief period with a slump at the end and loss to all concerned.

The world's markets for all metals are in a fine condition now, and producers of iron, steel, copper, silver, zinc, lead and other metals all see their way clear for a couple of years, at the least, of the greatest volume of actual consumption that has ever been known.

The crop situation is the subject of general discussion in transportation, security and financial circles, and from this time on every change for better or for worse will be quickly recorded in the prices on the various exchanges. Recent advices from the Southwest, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas have been better as to wheat than at any time for the last month. Four weeks more should fully determine the status of that grain through the entire area of these four important states, an dif the results then bear out the reports that are coming in from that region there will be a sharp rise in all stocks of the transportation lines affected directly or indirectly by the tonnage derived from that section.

Demand for Railway Material.

If nothing in the meantime occurs to mar the unusually fine prospects now prevailing there, such large orders for new cars for the railways, new locomotives, and other material will be filed before July 1 as will eclipse orders of any prior May and June. Very large schedules of materials and cars have been prepared by a number of railways, and are held just to be certain that the crop conditions will be such as to necessitate their filing.

Manufacturers and exporting merchants are in the very best of spirits over the rapid increase in the volume and values of our shipments to foreign countries, and on every hand it is remarked that fear of competition in many articles we produce has been completely dissipated.

The fact is that labor abroad is being paid far greater prices than it was ten years or even five years ago, and this in itself in a large measure does away with any chance of competition as against our skilled workingmen and our systems of production upon such a huge scale in the most important industries.

A Favorable Outlook.

At the annual meeting of the American Iron and Steel Institute, which was held at the Waldorf-Astoria last Saturday, there was not a discordant note as regards the exceedingly favorable prospects for these two great factors of business activity and general prosperity.

Judge Gary presided, and announced himself as a progressive in politics and business, and although he did not expressly say he was a glowing optimist as regards the future of the iron and steel business and the general business of the country, his words and his tones carried that conviction to everyone who heard him.

Two of his most earnest and comprehensive sentences were, "You are going to be prosperous in the future as in the past," "Don't believe that competition is harmful, or that a competitor is your enemy."

Silver bullion took another spurt upward last week, and reached the highest price that it has attained since October, 1907. The insurrection in Mexico has shortened the output of the metal, while the loans that are being made to China and the increasing trade in India are calling for larger amounts of it.

Safer Ocean Travel.

Popular sentiment is unanimous in the approval of the new policy of the steamship companies in making safety the prime factor in the operation of their vessels, and there is no longer any expression of the traveling public for extraordinary speed.

The new routes to Europe will require nine or ten hours more steaming for the fastest vessels, such as the Mauretania and Lusitania, and twelve to eighteen hours more for the slower classes, but the general desire to proceed with greater caution and to take the safest route would not find fault if an entire day was added to the time of crossing that was usual before the Titanic was lost.

PREACHES GOSPEL OF ENTHUSIASM

Most Famous Poet of Belgium Gives Receipt for Happiness.

Berlin, May 24.—Belgium's most famous poet, Emile Verhaeren, is giving a series of lectures and readings in Germany. He preaches the gospel of enthusiasm. Verhaeren boasts that he feels, rejoices in, and sings all the phenomena of life. At Hamburg and Berlin he delivered lectures on "The Culture of Enthusiasm," in which he described the stages of his escape from pessimism to his present hopeful outlook on life. The lectures are full of effective phrases: "You must get enthusiastic every day of your life; I love my age with passion;" "the serenity of hope and force;" "the beauty of everything, even of ugliness." The main gospel of Verhaeren is found in his poem "La Multiple Splendeur," which he read at Berlin.

Verhaeren is a thin, nervous man, with gesticulating eager hands, and a cavalryman's big mustache. In Berlin he came to an agreement with Prof. Max Reinhardt for future collaboration. Two years ago Reinhardt produced Verhaeren's "The Cloister" in the Kammerspiele, Berlin's best theater. Reinhardt will now produce "Les Aubes" in a circus. Reinhardt says that he is not satisfied with his circus production so far. He wants mass plays with modern interest. His "Oedipus" was ancient Greece, and his "Miracle" medieval. "Les Aubes" is a play of Socialistic-Utopian trend, which will give him a chance for great crowd effects. Reinhardt has also acquired Verhaeren's "Helena's Return," and will stage it with Ida Rubenstein in the chief role.

MAN KILLS HIS OWN ORCHARD FOR SPITE.

Wichita, Kan., May 24.—The stubbornness of a wealthy fruit grower of this county and the ruling of the state board of horticulture, compelling every horticulturist in districts affected by the San Jose scale to spray his trees, has caused the destruction of an orchard here of 5,600 trees, which netted the owner an average of $10,000 a year.

He is cutting his trees, which consist of apple and peach trees, in preference, he says, to spraying them. He was ordered a few days ago to spray them by the state supreme court.

The owner prefers not to keep the trees. He is an experienced fruit man and claims the prescription of the state entomologist will not skill the scale, and that it is too expensive to be profitable if it did kill it. "No court on earths," says he, "can make me spray my trees if I don't want to do it. I'll quit the tree business first." Prof. S. J. Hunter of Lawrence, state entomologist, says if the spraying is done before the trees bud in the spring, the chemical will kill the scale without injuring the tree.

S.S.S. CURES SKIN DISEASES

The cause of all skin diseases can be traced to some humor or acid in the blood; the cuticle is always healthy when the circulation is free from impurities. When the blood is infected with acrid or unhealthy matter it cannot perform its natural work of nourishing the skin, regulating its temperature and preserving its normal softness, pliability and healthfulness. Instead it irritates and inflames the delicate fibres and tissues around the pores and glands and produces some of the many forms of skin disease. The itching and stinging so often accompanying skin affections are produced by the deposit from the blood of the acrid humors with which it is filled, into the sensitive membranous flesh lying just beneath the outer covering, and surrounding the countless nerves, pores and glands. This explains why scratching the outer skin affords no relief from the itching and burning. S. S. S. cures Skin Diseases of every character by purifying the blood. It goes down into the circulation and removes the humors or acids which are causing the trouble, builds up the weak, acrid blood, and permanently cures every variety of skin affection. Local applications can only soothe; they never cure because they do not reach the blood. S. S. S. goes right into the circulation, reaches the trouble and cures it by removing the cause. GOTHAM SURGEONS

Interested in Rare Complication of Typhoid Meningitis.

New York, May 24.—Surgeons at St. Mark's hospital are greatly interested in a case of typhoid meningitis, a rare complication, which proved fatal to one of their number, Dr. Abraham Feingold, a house surgeon, who was 21 years old.

Physicians tonight said that in one out of two hundred cases of typhoid there were symptoms of meningitis, and that in one case in three hundred those proved serious.

They explained that there are often symptoms of "typhoid spine," but that these usually are caused by poisons developing during the progress of the disease, but that only in very rare cases does the germ really attack the spinal cord and nervous system.

SOX WIN AT WINNIPEG

Nearly 4,000 People See Duluth Take Morning Game.

Home Run By Sours Responsible for Holiday Victory.

Winnipeg, Man., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A home run drive by Sours in the fourth inning decided this morning's game in the holiday celebration here, two men trotting in ahead of the Duluth short-stop, they having got on by way of errors and Duluth won by the score of 3 to 1.

It was a pitchers' battle between Cummings and Hoffman, in which there was not much to choose, and with perfect support neither twirler would have allowed a score. A one hand catch by Sam Menelce was the fielding feature.

A record crowd attended, there being nearly 4,000 in the grounds and ground rules were necessary, resulting in Sours obtaining his home run swat. Winnipeg threatened in nearly every round, but could not put over the runs to win. The score:

FIGHTERS WANT SMALL FORTUNE

McFarland and Wolgast Turn Down Liberal Offer for Match.

Chicago, May 24.—Champion Ad Wolgast and Packey McFarland, the plutocrats of the prize ring, officially turned down a small fortune offered for a ten-round bout between the two yesterday, both demanding a better offer than was received from the New York promoters.

Up to date the best purse offered for the go was made by Tim Hurst, who agreed to give 55 per cent of the gross receipts, 30 to Wolgast and 25 to the Chicago boy, which was refused without a second thought. The champion's reason for not accepting, so he said, was that McFarland got $10,000 for boxing Matt Wells, a second rater, and he (Wolgast) is easily worth $20,000 for risking his title against an opponent with the ability of the stock yards fighter.

Want Big Guarantee.

Pockey thought the same way about it, and for that reason Tom Jones, manager of Wolgast, boarded the Twentieth Century for New York yesterday afternoon in an effort to get a better offer. He expects to get a guarantee of $35,000, the greatest ever offered for ten rounds of fighting, and Billy Gibson of the National Sporting club is expected to make it.

Before leaving Jones and Emil Thiry got together for an extended conference, after which Thiry announced that every detail for the match was settled, and that McFarland would weigh 133 at 3 o'clock. They expect to hold the bout about the first week in June, prorably June 4.

Would Draw Big Gate.

Thiry's reason for turning down the offer made by New York promoters is that he believes the gate for this match will be the greatest ever. The bout should draw $60,000, and although that would make our end rather high, we are after a $15,000 guarantee and a privilege of a per cent. Wolgast wants $20,000 with the same privilege. We should be able to get 65 per cent of the gross."

Americans Win.

Buenos Ayres, May 24.—The team of marksmen representing the United States, carried off the international shooting competition, which terminated today, by 4,729 points against the 4,598 points scored by the Argentine team.

CARING FOR IMMIGRANTS

Methods That Are Used in Directing Them Into the Country.

Government Systems to Promote Beneficial Distribution of Aliens.

Washington, May 24.—How the strangers within our gates are directed to opportunities for homes and employment is outlined in a statement by the division of information of the bureau of immigration and naturalization, department of commerce and labor. Under the law it is the duty of that division to promote a beneficial distribution of admitted aliens and other residents among the several states and territories desiring immigration.

The division issues five different forms of application blanks: Form A, for making application for laborers or men of other occupations except farm work; form B, for farmers who desire to employ additional farm laborers; form C, for owners who wish to rent or sell land; form D, for making application for domestics. The fifth blank is used by applicants seeking work, in the event they are located too far from the division or its branch office to call in person.

The activities of the division are principally directed to furnishing information as to where employment may be secured as farm laborer and common laborer and as to opportunities for settling upon the land. It is true that the demand for domestics is constant, but the division is unable to supply it as but very few single girls apply for information concerning employment.

Illustration of Methods.

To illustrate the methods followed by the division, the statement explains in detail the direction of a farm laborer. A farmer in Michigan has heard of the division of information and writes to it, stating that he is in need of a farmhand. The division sends him form B, with a little note instructing him to fill out, sign, and return the same whereupon the matter will be given attention. On this blank the prospective employer is required to state his name and address; references; number of men he wishes to hire; nature of duties; nationalities acceptable; whether or not a knowledge of English is necessary; whether English speaking men of any other nationality than the ones specified in answer to the previous question will be acceptable; whether he desires green hands or experienced help; married or single men; whether children will be objectionable; whether transportation will be advanced from point within the United States, and if so, whether the amount will be deducted later from the employes' wages; whether the amount so deducted will be refunded after a period of service, and if so, under what conditions; what money wage will be paid to a married man and whether house (furnished or unfurnished), garden patch, milk, etc., will be provided free in addition to wages; whether services of wife will be required; and if so, her duties and compensation therefor; what wages will be paid to a single man, and whether board, lodging, and washing will be furnished free in addition to wages; whether summer and winter wages are the same, if not, give each; when services of the help applied for will be required; hours of labor; whether employment will be permanent; special advantages and remarks.

Sent to New York.

On receipt of this application by the division it is acknowledged, and the data it contains are transferred in duplicate to cards, one of which is retained in the division and the other forwarded to the inspector in charge of the information branch of the immigration service, No. 17 Pearl street, New York. In addition to the card a bulletin is prepared by the division in typewriting at frequent intervals embodying the data contained in the applications, several copies of which are transmitted to the New York branch of the division, where they are displayed to the scrutiny of all applicants who come there in search of work and have registered their qualifications. The inspector in charge there communicates then with the farmer making the application, stating that the matter has been referred to him and, in case the farmer has signified his willingness to advance transportation, the method of handling such advances is explained. In the New York branch interpreters are employed to explain to applicants who cannot speak English the terms of applications. Before having access to the bulletins mentioned the applicant for work is required to register his qualifications on a card prepared for that purpose. This procedure is followed in order that he may not be tempted to assign to himself qualifications which he does not possess and which would fit him for one of the positions displayed in the bulletin, should he have an opportunity to see it before registering.

Put on Proper Train.

When a man, apparently meeting the requirements of the proposed employer, as set forth in his application, signifies his willingness to accept the terms of the offer, a representative of the New York branch buys his ticket, accompanies him to the station and sees that he is placed upon the proper train. He is furnished with an identification slip, which he shows to the employer upon arrival at destination. The employer is also notified by mail or otherwise when the man leaves New York.

When a man is directed on transportation advanced by the prospective employer he is required to sign a receipt for the amount advanced, which is forwarded to the employer. In addition to this, a representative of the New York branch buys his ticket, checks the baggage of the employe, and forwards the baggage check by mail to the employer. A man will not be forwarded on advanced transportation unless it is thought that his baggage is of such value as to cause him to proceed to destination and not abandon his belongings for the sake of having a railroad trip. The number of those who had their transportation advanced is very small, not more than four or five a year.

A similar course is followed in the case of applicants for laborers and domestics; though the questions asked prospective employers are different in some respects.

Applications for Settlers.

In the case of applications for settlers, form C, the following information is requested: Full name and address of owner or agent of the land; two references; are lands for sale or rent; price, sale, or rental conditions, in full; if rented on shares, how divided; number of farms that can be cultivated by one man; size of such one-man farms; is land under cultivation; kind of crops; character of soil; location of lands; is irrigation necessary, and if so, under what conditions is water supplied; what buildings, if any, and their condition; what are the rail, water or wagon road facilities for transportation; nationalities preferred; what are the inducements to settlers; what opportunity, if any, will a settler have to secure work at regular wages during his spare time?

The method of getting information of this kind into the hands of those interested therein is similar to that followed in the case of applications for farm laborers, except that in addition to personal inquiries, a great many letters are received requesting information concerning agricultural opportunities in the several states. These letters are answered by the division and the inquirers are furnished with the name of the man having land for sale or rent in the locality in which the writer is interested; or he is placed in communication with the appropriate state official having knowledge of the facts.

Many farmers in New York and New Jersey who do not reside too far from the New York branch call there and personally select the men who they believe will be best qualified to perform the duties required of them and who accept their offers.

A representative of the New York state department of agriculture frequently calls at the New York branch of the division and secures men to work for the farmers of that state who have applied for help.

COALS OF FIRE.

Chicago News: "Well, I see your husband is around again," remarked Mrs. Wagstaff.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Cumback, without enthusiasm, "but he's likely to be back in bed or at the hospital at a moment's notice if he doesn't drop his foolish feud with Mr. Crump.

"During his convalescence my husband asked me to go over to Ormiston's and borrow some books for him to read and I went there and brought home an armload of novels and cheap books. Among them there was one called 'A Thousand Practical Jokes,' and if I'd had a head on my shoulders I'd never have let him see that book, but the possibilities never struck me at the time. He picked up that book the first thing and read it by the hour and his shoulders were shaking with mirth all the time. I was glad to see him enjoying himself and never looked ahead an inch. I realize now that he has discovered a thousand or at least 999 new tricks to play on Mr. Crump.

"Well, a day or two later he was out of doors and presently I saw him come from our barn with an old grape basket in his hand, and then he walked straight over to Mr. Crump, who was in his own back yard. I was so astonished that I felt as though I was glued to the floor, but I managed to open the kitchen window a little, to hear what they had to say.

"'You have persecuted me a long time, Mr. Crump,' said my husband, in that sad, gentle way he has, 'and I have just risen from a couch of suffering upon which you placed me, but I harbor no resentment. I forgive you freely and shall remember you in my prayers. I believe in doing good for evil, in heaping coals of fire upon those who injure me, and so I have brought you these eggs, which were laid in my barn by a hen of yours. Eggs are valuable nowadays, and I want to render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's. So take your eggs, Mr. Crump.'

"I never saw a man look so ashamed as Mr. Crump did. He turned red and hesitated, and then he took the basket and set it on the ground, and held out his hand and said: 'I have done you some ill turns, Cumback, but you know very well that I wasn't the only offender. Let's shake hands and let bygones be bygones, and live as neighbors should.' Then they shook hands and talked there for ten minutes in the friendliest way, and I just sat down and cried for pure happiness.

"Mr. Crump is very fond of his hens and sells eggs to some of the neighbors at high prices, and a few minutes after my husband came home I saw Mr. Quigway go to Crump's and go away with some eggs. I thought nothing of it, and went about my work the rest of the day with a singing heart, and told my husband over and over how happy I was, and he just smiled in his queer way, and said that he always did have a passionate fondness for the white winged dove of peace.

"The next morning I happened to be looking out of the window when Mr. Crump stepped out of his door, and you may imagine my astonishment when I saw Mr. Quigway step up and knock him down and then sit on him and thump his head against the sidewalk. I could hear Quigway saying: 'I'll teach you to try to poison my family with your moldy eggs!' And then he thumped poor Mr. Crump some more, and Mr. Crump kept crying: 'It's Cumback's doings, I tell you!'

"I was so excited and nervous that I had to sit down, and I picked up the jokebook my husband had been reading. There was a passage marked with a pencil, and it told how to put into an egg, through the shell, a certain acid that would make the inside turn green when cooked. Then I saw through the whole business at once, and I just gave up. There does not seem to be any hope for the future."

A WINNER SURE.

Los Angeles Times: Richard Croker, at a banquet in New York, praised a successful political leader.

"Like all successful men," said Mr. Croker, "he is resourceful. He can readily turn adverse into favorable circumstances. This was proved to the hilt by an episode of his youth.

"In his youth, you know, he deeply loved a beautiful actress. One morning during the holidays, his motorcar stopped at the actress's hotel, and he got out with a great hamper of pheasant and grouse, champagne, tropical fruit and flowers.

"'Here,' he said to a bellboy, 'take this hamper up to Miss Stella Starr, please.'

"'Gee,' said the bellboy, 'you're the fifth gent wot's sent up a hamper this mornin'.'

"Our young friend frowned.

"'What—what were the other gents' names?' he asked.

"'They didn't give their names, sir,' said the bellboy. 'They just said she'd know who they were, all right.'

"'Well, here,' said our young friend, 'take her up my card, and tell her this hamper is from the same person who sent the other four.'"

More men are "henpecked" by seemingly adverse circumstances than by their wives. A little advertising may help you to boss your own circumstances.

WISCONSIN'S NEW VENTURE

Speaker Ingram Explains Intention of His State Life Insurance Act.

Adoption of Life Fund Plan Is Recognition of Economic Necessity.

Madison, Wis., May 24.—"The adoption of the life fund is a recognition of the economic necessity of extending the facilities for safe insurance beyond the field of private enterprise, to include practically all residents of the state, instead of a limited number, that the state may be more fully safeguarded against the burdens of pauperism, and its people protected against the evils of improvidence and dependency."

This is the crux of a statement by Charles A. Ingram, speaker of the Wisconsin assembly, in explaining Wisconsin's venture upon state life insurance. Mr. Ingram introduced the measure in the legislature last year, and in his belief the state life insurance plan, with the annuity features, will become a beneficent agency to forestall poverty and distress. Such a plan, he said, protects the state from the possible burden of providing direct support, and also maintains in its citizens the highest self-respect and independence.

AGED PARALYTIC IS CALLED AT 94

Michael Maher of Marquette Invalid, Many Years, Finally Passes.

Marquette, Mich., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marquette lost two of its oldest residents Wednesday evening with the passing of Lester A. Hall, aged 70 years, and Michael Maher, aged 94 years.

Mr. Hall is survived by his wife, two daughters—Miss Ora Hall and Mrs. S. A. Williams—and one son—Harry Hall—all of this city.

Partially Paralyzed Many Years.

Although Mr. Maher was probably the oldest resident of the city, he had not been particularly strong since his youth, when he suffered a paralytic stroke. He was born in Ireland.

Thirty-two years ago he came to Marquette, and his children cannot remember that he did any manual labor since arriving here. Mr. Maher had been partially paralyzed since his wife died twenty years ago, and two years ago he was forced to take to his bed, which he had not left until his death. He suffered a great deal the last ten days of his life, and death came as a relief.

Mr. Maher is survived by five sons, three daughters, fourteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. The sons are William and Roger of this city, John of Montana, and Patrick and Michael of Washington, D. C. The daughters are Mrs. John Temple of 110 East Arch street, and Mrs. William Wiseman of 308 Division street. The grandchildren, with one or two exceptions, reside in Marquette. The oldest great grandchild is 13 years and the youngest is 2½ years.

MANY ACRES TO BE RECLAIMED

Bottineau, N. D. Drainage Scheme of Mouse River Valley Starts.

Bottineau, N. D., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work on the biggest drainage job ever undertaken in this state has been commenced in the Mouse river, and it will be completed by next fall. The job is that of deepening and widening the channel of the stream, so as to do away with the annual flooding of the lowlands. It will reclaim thousands of acres of land that are now unfit for use during portions of the year.

Most of the work is done in this state, although there is a twenty mile stretch of the river in Canada which must also be given attention by the North Dakota drainage backers. The work in Canada will form an outlet for the water into the Assinaboine river.

NEW SUFFRAGAN BISHOP.

Dean McElwain of Faribault Is Elected to Assist Bishop Edsall.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 24.—By a total vote of 139 to 46, Dean F. A. McElwain of the Faribault cathedral was elected late yesterday suffragan bishop of the Minnesota diocese of the Episcopal church to aid Bishop Samuel C. Edsall. The Rev. C. E. Haupt of Minneapolis was Dean McElwain's opponent in the balloting.

The recommendation of the committee of fifteen that a suffragan bishop be elected to assist Bishop Edsall, was carried at a session earlier in the day by a vote of 148 to 73, after a hard fight, in which the election of a coadjutor bishop was proposed and also the division of the diocese, both of which plans were rejected.

Mr. McElwain is known as one of the youngest men in the diocese, and has been at Faribault for one year. He is a graduate of Trinity college at Hartford.

PRISON SYSTEM IS BAD.

Declares Head of North Dakota Society for Friendless.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—That the state prison makes more criminals out of convicts than it cures of crime is the claim of George B. Newcomb, former chaplain of the state penitentiary who is making a tour of the state in an effort to educate the people to their duty toward the "branded man" after he is released from the prison doors.

He is spending a week here as superintendent for the North Dakota Society of the Friendless, giving the citizens a wider knowledge of prison life.

MUST STAY IN STATE.

North Dakota Regiment Not Expected to Get Trip This Year.

Valley City, N. D., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—On account of a shortage of appropriation it is possible that the North Dakota regiment will be denied its trip out of the state for encampment this year and that the tents will be pitched at the Rock Island Military reservation near Devils Lake during the Chautauqua season. Though no orders have yet been issued the fact that there is considerable stir about the reservation buildings, renovating and repairing them, and the known lack of funds is taken by officers here as an indication that the regiment will not visit the national maneuver camp at either Sparta, Wis., or American Lake, Wash.

STATE OFFERS REWARD.

Two Hundred Dollars for Anyone Who Captures Swanland.

St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—Governor Eberhart has offered a reward of $200 for the capture of Charles Swanland, who is alleged to have killed Avid Vestrom on May 13 near the end of Upper Red lake in Beltrami county. Swanland is supposed to be in the woods north of Red lake heavily armed and appears to be demented. The sheriff of Beltrami county has had trouble getting anyone to assist him in hunting the man down.

Sheriff A. B. Hazen has gone north to head Swanland off and asked the governor to offer the reward so that he could induce some one to help him capture the alleged murderer. Swanland is well armed and Sheriff Hazen looks for trouble when he is brought to bay.

The description of Swanland, which has been sent out by the sheriff, says that he is about 37 years old, five feet ten inches in height, and weighs about 180 pounds. He is light complexioned, has a light moustache and blue eyes. He was dressed in rough woodsmen's clothing and carried a packsack with provisions.

FAR MORE PRACTICAL.

Green Bay School Superintendent Gives Pertinent Advice.

Green Bay, Wis., May 24.—That stenography and typewriting, agriculture for some, domestic science, will prove of more practical value than Latin and literature is the advice given to students in the high schools and those about to enter the high schools of Green Bay by Supt. of Schools A. W. Burton.

The advice is given at the suggestion of the board of education, which aims to further vocational education that will better fit the student for wage-earnings.

Isanti County Home Is Visited By Tragedy.

The rest of the family escaped without serious injury. The house was completely destroyed by fire following the stroke of lightning, and it was with difficulty that the members of the family escaped from the burning building. Mr. Sohlin removed the corpse of his daughter from the burning house after the other members had been rescued.

BEMIDJI CONSIDERING THE COMMISSION PLAN.

Bemidji, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—As a result of the decision of the state supreme court upholding the commission form of government for cities, talk is again being revived of such a change here. Some time ago the Commercial club appointed a committee to confer with a charter commission, but no definite steps were taken at that time because of the uncertainty of the legality of such a move. K. K. Roe first agitated the commission plan for Bemidji and has collected many facts bearing on the question.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 24.—Henry McTague, aged 34, who was badly burned about the face, head and breast in the blaze which broke out at the home of his mother, Mrs. Frances McTague, Water street, shortly after the fierce electrical storm which passed over the city Tuesday night, died yesterday at the Montgomery hospital.

He was asleep when the fire broke out in a room adjoining his bedroom. Bemidji to Hear Spooner.

Bemidji, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lewis C. Spooner of Morris, who seeks the Republican nomination for governor, will come here soon to make a public address. Mr. Spooner's tentative plans were to include Bemidji in a trip to Crookston and Brainerd, but Governor Eberhart's call for the extra session of the legislature has made a definite announcement from him, his friends say, impossible.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply to any case of similar nature. Those wishing further advice, free, may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesalers.

"Anxious M."—Give your children for bed-wetting 10 to 15 drops in water before meals, the following: Tincture cubebs, 1 dram; tincture rhus aromatic, 2 drams; comp. fluid balmwort 1 oz. Mix well. This should be given about one hour before meals in water.

Mrs. P. G.: The whitish discharge you mention is due to a disease called leucorrhea and which is very weakening. If neglected it frequently leads to more serious ills and I would advise you to obtain one ounce of tannic acid and two ounces of antiseptic vilane powder. Mix and use a teaspoonful to a quart of warm water and use as an injection with syringe. To increase your weight and as a tonic, take three grain hypo-nuclane tablets.

"K. Y. Z." writes: "My hair is harsh and dead looking and my scalp is covered with dandruff. Can you help me?"

Answer: Get a 4 oz. jar of plain yellow minyol and use it regularly and your hair will become soft and fluffy and it will bring back the intense natural color to the hair; your dandruff will be cured and you will be rewarded with a healthy growth of hair.

"Mrs. G." writes: "I want something to increase my weight about 15 or 20 pounds. My blood is thin, watery and I have a pale complexion. Doctors say I am aenemic."

Answer: Probably your assimilative functions are impaired and aenema is the result. I would advise that you begin taking three grain hypo-nuclane tablets at once and continue until your blood is re-vitalized with red and white corpuscles. These tablets aid digestion and cause the body to assimilate the fatty elements in food, thus giving color, weight and strength to the abnormally thin.

"Tom K." writes: "I have been unable to work for some weeks on account of rheumatism. What would you advise?"

Answer: Take the following and I am sure you will soon be back at your work again. Mix the following at home and take a teaspoonful at meal times and at bedtime: Iodide of potassium, 2 drams; sodium salicylate, 4 drams; wine of colchicum, ½ ounce; comp. essence cardiol, 1 oz.; fluid balmwort, 1 oz.; and syrup sarsaparilla, 5 ozs.

"Clara" writes: "I have had a cough for about a year and fear I shall never be rid of it, as it gets worse with every fresh cold I contract. Could you give me a remedy?"

Answer: I can give you a remedy that I am sure will cure you and one that is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. Make a syrup with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of boiling water, put on the fire and let it come to a boil, then cool and add the contents of a 2½ oz. bottle of essence mentho-laxene, which you can purchase at any drug store, and you will have a pint of the finest cough syrup on the market today. It is about eight times cheaper than ordinary labeled cough medicines and will last much longer.

"Mary" says: "I would like something for indigestion. I cannot eat and am cross and irritable all the time. I fear it will cause appendicitis."

Answer: Ask your druggist for tablets triopeptine and take according to the directions. These are pink, white and blue tablets, and are to be taken morning, noon and night respectively. This will cure your indigestion and prevent appendicitis.

"Nervous Dorothy" writes: "I have no appetite whatever. I cannot sleep at nights and my nerves are in a terrible condition. Can you tell what would help me?"

Answer: The following has helped thousands who suffer as you do. Get 5 ozs. syrup of hypophosphites comp. and 1 oz. of tincture cadomene (not cardamon) and take a teaspoonful before meals. This tonic will restore your nervous system and you will be strong and well within a very short time."

"Carl" writes: "Can you prescribe anything for one that is too fat. I have tried several remedies but they do not help."

Answer: I would not advise the use of the ordinary tablets and pills for reducing weight, but here is a safe, quick and sure remedy. Get 5 ozs. of aromatic elixir and 1 oz. of glycol arbolene. Mix by shaking well and take a teaspoonful after meals for the first three days and then double the dose. A reduction of a pound a day is not unusual after the first week or two.

"Q. R." writes: "Please advise something to take that will cure chronic constipation. I have suffered for years and have used many kinds of pills, but they do not cure."

Answer: I think most of the illness is caused by chronic constipation. If the following tablets are taken regularly they will gradually effect a cure as they stimulate the liver and bowels into healthy action. They are packed in sealed tubes and are called three grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur tablets) with full directions for taking. They will also purify the blood and tone up the entire system. If you are dyspeptic, take tablets triopeptine. These two medicines you will find in any up-to-date drug store.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

"CHARLEY" TOWNE WAVES STARS AND STRIPES AND MAKES EAGLE SCREAM

Pictures Clark's Virtues in Shimmering Mirror of Silvery Oratory.

Cloaks History of American Constitution in Brilliant Forensic Garb.

And Incidentally Pokes Taft and T. R. Below the Belt.

"Charley" Towne spoke in Duluth last night.

That Mr. Towne was announced to speak on Champ Clark's aspirations for the presidency didn't matter. If he had been announced to speak on "The Concatenated Continuity of the Circumambient Chrysolites as Related to the Effervescence of Political Cataclysm," he would have packed the Lyceum just the same.

Duluthians would go a long way to hear "Charley" Towne speak, and they wouldn't be disappointed. He is a little more gray, a little more portly, a little more dignified, and a little less fiery than in the good old days of old, but his flow of language is just as ready, just as pleasing to the ear, just as decorative in its application to any prosaic subject.

Mr. Towne packed the lower floor and dress circle of the Lyceum and had a number hanging over the railing in the balcony. Men and women, Republicans and Democrats, Socialists and Prohibitionists, suffragists and anti-suffragists, protectionists and free traders and men and women of all manner of political beliefs and no political beliefs, were on hand to welcome him back to Duluth and be given a treat of oratory such as one seldom hears in this day of neglect of the forensic art.

Made Eagle Scream.

Mr. Towne was speaking on Champ Clark's candidacy for the presidential nomination, but he didn't give all his time to Champ. He waved the starry banner and made the eagle scream; he traced the history of Democratic government through the ages; he recalled to vision the signing of the declaration of independence; he gave a brief course in the science of American government; he clothed the bald facts of the constitution in shimmering garb of nicely turned phrases; he paid his respects to the president and only living ex-president and the New Jersey aspirant for the presidency, and then with words as his paints of many bright colors and rhetoric as his brush, he painted for the mental eyes of his hearers a portrait of a paragon in American politics, where paragons are few—Champ Clark.

Mr. Towne's speech was characteristic. He laid himself out to put all his forensic wares on display. He mixed humor and pathos and eloquence and logic and argument and a few facts together in a palatable dose and made those to whom it was administered like it.

Whether Mr. Towne made any votes for Champ Clark in the Democratic caucuses tomorrow is beside the question. There is much doubt that he did. The crowd applauded vociferously when he declared that "The Constitution of the United States needs, the guardianship and championship of the Democratic party in the United States," but he was received in cold silence when he demanded: "If Champ Clark can carry the country on a promise to do something, can he not carry the country on a record of having done what he promised to do?" Likewise he didn't get a "hand" when, having given Clark credit for the Democratic victory in the off-year elections of 1910, he declared that if Clark, as a candidate for president, had carried the states in which the representation in congress was made Democratic in 1910, he would have been elected by a great majority.

Mr. Towne did succeed in getting some applause in the latter part of his speech when he had the audience warmed up to his subject, but his direct references to Clark and Wilson did not break the whole-hearted applause that was evoked by his general discussion of parties and issues.

No Love for Colonel.

Mr. Towne evidently has no great love for Roosevelt, whom he termed "the enemy of all bosses but himself, the enemy of trusts and combinations unfavorable to him, the only safe and sane leader among the paragons of democracy, the only patriot and the only living ex-president." Mr. Towne declared that each vote polled by Roosevelt in the primaries in Greater New York cost $4.68 and the heaviest contributor to the fund of $70,000 was George W. Perkins, organizer of the Harvester trust, the prosecution against which Roosevelt ordered dismissed while he was president.

Mr. Towne opened his address with a reference to his former residence in Duluth and the changes in the city since he left. He also declared that he offered no apologies for coming here at this time to speak for Clark. He said that he felt he was not intruding his views, for the presidency is a national question and the citizen of one state has a right to offer his judgment to the citizens of another state.

"In this year of grace, 1912, we are engaged in the United States in an experience in many respects without precedent or parallel and in some respects without prospects of repetition," he said. Mr. Towne said that the nation needs never fear more than one thing, the indifference of the people. While the people are alive to their political responsibilities, the nation is safe, he said. He did deplore the circumstances that forced a president of the United States to drag the presidency in the mire of politics in order to protect himself from the onslaughts of the only living ex-president.

Mr. Towne dilated upon the glory of American citizenship and the sacredness of the institutions of Democracy.

Democratic Chances.

Taking up the chances of Democratic success this year, Mr. Towne declared that the time has come when the institutions of the country should be given over to the radical party.

"I want to guard against the inference that I attach any specific sanctity to the name 'Democracy'" he said. "I have no notion that any monopoly of virtue, brains, patriotism or capability rests in the Democratic party. There is an older doctrine and I have made some sacrifices for it. A political label ought to be the easiest thing in the world to unpaste. The republic will not be quite safe until every citizen will feel at liberty, if he chooses, to change his political allegiance every two years. I am glad to say that the party yoke is lighter today than it ever was. A political party is an organized opinion. The only justification for a party is what it believes and proposes to do.

"In every campaign you are working to get some fellow who hasn't been with you to go with you. Yet when he does, both his old friends and his new associates call him a 'turncoat.' You penalize the condition you tr yto force on him. You proceed along the right line before you get him and along the wrong line after you get him. Is there any reason to believe that a man will believe with you today on one question the same as he did twenty years ago on the same question?"

Mr. Towne took up the cycles in American politics from Hamilton to Jefferson, from Jefferson to Lincoln, and from Lincoln to the present day. The party of each went into power as radicals and went out of power as conservatism. It has been the battle between the few and the many. The dominating economic forces have concentrated their efforts on the party in power and have ultimately obtained possession of it. The first platform of the present Republican party in 1853 referred to Jefferson as one of its inspirations. "The Democratic party of 1860 was no more the party of Jefferson than was the party of Mark Hanna the party of Lincoln," he said.

Republicans Divided.

"There is a division in the Republican party," he continued. "A line runs tranverse through the line which separates the two parties, in fact, it separates the economic sheep from the economic goats. There are more Progressives in the Democratic party and more reactionaries in the Republican party. That is not on account of the party labels, but because the Republican party is in and the Democratic party is out.

"The Progressives in the Republican party have had a hard time of it. They ought to have done what some of the rest of us did when we led the way years ago. It is a joke, for any one to believe that a party can be permanently composed of two inharmonious elements. It can't go East and West at the same time. It was organized to go somewhere.

"The Republican party is divided. I like to say that. There is a kind of hope and satisfaction in it. We have said it so many times before and have come to believe it that if was a shock to wake up on the morning after election and find that we had been mistaken.

Telling Truths.

"There is a good reason for the belief this time and I have a deep conviction that the Republican party is irreconciliably divided. The two leading candidates are telling the truth about each other. I may exaggerate. Just suppose it is half-true. Fifty per cent is a pretty good assay. Taking the dross of rhetoric, the fruit of ambition and the dregs of prejudice away from the putrid definitions, and if they are half true, Taft and Teddy have put each other out of consideration for the president. I pray heaven that we never present to the civilized world such a spectacle again."

Mr. Towne declared that Champ Clark's fight on Cannonism was responsible for the Democratic victory in 1910. He reviewed Clark's record in the legislature and in congress and declared that he is the hope of Democracy. He advanced the old arguments of the Hearst newspapers against Wilson and charged that Wilson as a candidate would need defense. He said that Clark already has 400 delegates and will be the nominee.

CHEER TEDDY IN THE EAST

Colonel Gets Enthusiastic Reception at New Jersey Towns.

Avoids Criticism of Taft and Talks on Broad Issues.

Newark, N. J., May 24.—"I thought I'd a middling lively time in the West but upon my word, New Jersey beats it."

Col. Roosevelt made this remark last night as he stood upon the platform of the Roseville armory here and gazed upon the crowd before him. The standing and seated people kept cheering for several minutes before he could get a word in.

The rally came toward the close of the opening day of Col. Roosevelt's New Jersey campaign. The colonel said he was deeply moved by the way he had been received. Wherever he went in the northern part of the state, he was met by large crowds.

Beginning at Paterson, the colonel made a dozen speeches, going from Newark to Jersey City for the last address of the day. After Col. Roosevelt told the armory crowd that New Jersey had beaten the West, someone called out: "Your're all right, Teddy."

"So is New Jersey," he shouted in reply.

"Everybody Is All Right."

"But the impulsive judgment of the people of Ohio was all right, too," he said. "Everybody is all right," he added as the crowd laughed.

"I want to express my profound appreciation," the colonel began, but the crowd was not yet ready to stop cheering, and he had to stop again.

"I hope you'll vote as you shout," he said.

Some one called to him that he need not worry about New Jersey, and he replied:

"I'm not worrying about anything. Let the other fellows do the worrying."

In his speeches of the day the colonel, for the most part, avoided criticism of President Taft. He made an occasional reference to his opponents in general, but dwelt more upon broad questions of policy in national and state government, taking up the right of the people to equality of opportunity, the control of courts, and what he styled the nation-wide contest between the masses of the people and the special interests.

Judicial Decisions.

In speaking in defense of judicial decision, he said:

"If there is any point upon which I am absolute sure I am right, it is upon that point. I would allow every bar association in the country to hammer for twenty years without persuading me I was not right."

After he had explained his plan he said:

"You can't call me an anarchist unless you include Abraham Lincoln."

"My opponents ought by this time to know," he continued, "that they can't frighten me out of any position that I think is essential to justice. Mr. Taft says I am a neurotic. I'm not concerned about that. I'm pretty healthy yet.

No Closet Study.

"I didn't become a progressive through any closet study. I became one by mixing with my fellow men. It was about thirty-three years ago that I left college and began my education."

After his speech in the armory, Col. Roosevelt went to Military park, where he found a huge crowd. He spoke for only a few minutes at the park, as he was behind his schedule and was obliged to hurry to Jersey City.

Most of the day Col. Roosevelt spent in traveling by automobile from town to town. At almost every place he found difficulty in making himself heard on account of the noisy reception given him.

Met by Senator Clapp.

Senator Clapp of Minnesota and Representative Murdock of Kansas met Col. Roosevelt at Paterson, where he took luncheon, and accompanied him for a time.

YOUNG WOMAN HELD AS A SHOPLIFTER.

Edith Gieser, 28 years of age, a domestic, was arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Schulte and Irvine on a charge of shoplifting. She is accused of having stolen half a dozen linen handkerchiefs from the George A. Gray company and a silk waist pattern valued at $9 from the Glass Block store. The detectives were summoned to the Gray store when the young woman's actions excited suspicion. She was followed to the Glass Block and was seen taking the waist pattern. She then trailed about the downtown section for several blocks, but she did not enter any other stores. She was placed under arrest when she turned up the hill, evidently to return home. The napkins and the waist pattern were found on her when she was searched by the police matron. She broke down and confessed to the thefts. She said that she did not know why she had stolen the goods and added that she had no particular use for them.

OHIO FIGHT IS NOT OVER YET

County and State Conventions Will Be Scene of Struggle.

Columbus, Ohio, May 24.—With the general result of the presidential primary in Ohio known, interest has shifted to the outcome of the fights in the Republican and Democratic parties for the control of the state conventions. The Republican convention will be held in Columbus June 3 and 4, and the Democratic in Toledo June 4 and 5.

Later returns indicate that Roosevelt will secure 32 of the delegates to the national convention and President Taft 10 as a result of the primary. The six delegates at large will be named by the convention, and these are being claimed by both sides. Numerous county conventions will be held Saturday and a vigorous fight will be made by Taft and Roosevelt adherents.

Although returns are insufficient to show how many delegates to the national convention Governor Harmon secured as a result of the primary, it is believed he will have 28. The Wilson men are willing to concede but 25 to him. The six delegates at large go to Harmon automatically as a result of his winning the direct preferential primary. Although returns indicate that Harmon forces will control the convention and will make an effort to pass a rule making the Ohio delegation to the Baltimore a unit for him, Mayor Newton Baker of Cleveland declared that he would lead a fight against such action.

NAVAL ROMANCE ENDS IN THE DIVORCE COURT.

Chicago, May 24.—A naval romance ended when Matthias H. Thormalen was granted a divorce yesterday from Mrs. Agnes Winifred Thormalen in Judge Brentano's court.

Thormalen, who is a naval engineer, testified that Dr. Joseph V. Howard, a surgeon and shipmate on the U. S. S. Supply, and Mrs. Thormalen had been too friendly. While the ship was in the harbor at Nagaska, Japan, said Thormalen, he suspected his wife of encouraging the attention of the surgeon. The engineer told how he feigned sleep one afternoon, and a few minutes later found the surgeon and Mrs. Thormalen together in her room.

Thormalen said he did not believe Howard would have done as he did if he had not been encouraged.

"WRITE THE TRAFFIC COMMISSION."

Because it has not paraded its work through the newspapers, or gone about it with a brass band with plenty of bass drums and crashing cymbals, few people in Duluth have realized the important work the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club has been doing.

The other day we were shown the typewritten minutes, in brief, of one meeting of the commission. There were four or five solid typewritten pages, in items of two or three lines each, dealing with matters connected with rates and service that had been taken care of, that were being taken care of, and that are going to be taken care of.

The commission is well organized, well financed, and well manned. Its executive work is done by a skilled and effective traffic expert. It is actually achieving large results while other people are merely talking.

And it should be remembered by Duluth's neighbors that the services of the Duluth traffic commission are available not only for Duluth, but for them.

It is sending out thousands of leaflets containing this invitation:

FRIENDSHIP COUNTS IN BUSINESS.
Duluth Wants to Help Its Neighbors. You Help Us and We Help You. How?

Every order sent Duluth helps to swell its outbound tonnage. Every additional pound of freight helps us to get more service, better service, more direct and faster service.

You help us by buying in Duluth, and by reporting to us any delays on any Duluth order shipped to you.

Write us for advice on freight rates, service, overcharges, rebates and claims.

On any of your local transportation problems, we offer you the aid and counsel of our traffic experts and the results of our own experience.

Of the Commercial club, Duluth, Minn.

That's an open invitation to any and all of Duluth's neighbors. It shows what the traffic commission is prepared to do, and what it is doing. Already it has brought about great improvements in traffic conditions. It is busy bringing about others. Though the several suits for readjustment in rates and service now pending which it has brought are the most spectacular things it is doing, and in many respects the most important, it is constantly carrying on a multitude of other activities for Duluth and its neighbors.

It is working practically, vigorously and effectively.

This all goes to prove that The Herald was right recently when it said that while some people had been sitting back wailing about conditions, more had been started and accomplished in the last few years to make Duluth great than there has been in any city of the country in a similar time.

Too Easy; Come Again.

"What is meant," asks the Wisconsin State Journal, "by a retired millionaire manufacturer?" Simple as can be: The Dingley tariff law.

NEEDN'T WORRY THEN.

Mr. Towne, like other Clark followers, pays much attention in his speeches to Col. Roosevelt, whom he ridicules and attacks bitterly.

This practice might be taken as indicating a fear of the Roosevelt candidacy.

They needn't worry. Governor Wilson will be the Democratic nominee for the presidency, and then there will be no fear of Col. Roosevelt.

Looks Like An Outsider Already.

Insistent reports that Taft is going to withdraw are accompanied by accumulating evidence that there is nothing for him to withdraw from.

WILSON IN OHIO.

The first returns from Ohio showed that Governor Wilson had carried several congressional districts against Governor Harmon of that state, and this was a splendid showing, together with the fact that he received a good vote throughout the state: Harmon is governor of Ohio, and he was elected to that position only two years ago by a plurality of more than a hundred thousand. He has made a good governor, too, and as a "favorite son" candidate was expected to be strong in his home state. Then, too, Governor Wilson had not entered the state in person, because of the unwritten rule of courtesy that prevents a candidate from making a fight in the home territory of his opponent.

Later returns show that Governor Wilson has gained not seven votes, as first announced, but probably fifteen.

There can be no doubt whatever that if the "favorite son" complication had not existed, and that if Wilson had been a candidate in Ohio against any other candidate running merely as a candidate for the nomination and not as a "favorite son," he would have won as overwhelming a victory in Ohio as Roosevelt did.

As To Hero-Worship.

You can't convince the small boy that the man prominent enough to pitch the first ball is half as worthy of emulation as the man picked to pitch the succeeding ones.

WATER HIGHWAYS ARE THE PEOPLE'S.

A railroad has a right to capitalize fairly, and charge rates that will return fair dividends upon, its right of way. Making the grade, laying the track and providing stations costs money, and the railroad is of course justified in collecting a just return upon its investment.

But a steamship company has no right to capitalize its waterway, because that and the "stations"—harbors—are provided at public expense.

The waterways are the people's. They were a gift from the Creator, and they were improved by the people. The benefits, therefore, should belong to the people.

Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the traffic commission of the Duluth Commercial club, raised this point at the recent meeting of the public affairs committee, and he made it so clear that none may misunderstand it.

Water rates, he said, should be based entirely on the cost of the service, with provision for a reasonable profit.

The waterways being the people's, the people have a right, through the interstate commerce commission, to take hold of them and fix rates on the basis suggested. A steamship line has a right to impose charges that will return a fair profit on the cost of its boats and the cost of operating them, and no more.

This is clearly a matter that should be taken up by the interstate commerce commission. It means much to Duluth, and it means as much to interior points which would profit by a regulation of water rates that will secure to the people the full benefit of the enormous investment they have made in improved waterways.

It should be kept clearly in mind that public money was not put into improvement of waterways and harbors for the benefit of the capital engaged in lake navigation, but that the investment has been made solely in the interests of the public. If the public is not now getting its proper share of the benefits that accrue, steps should be taken to see that it does get its share.

These Shortsighted Times.

A Cleveland, Ohio, youth has been drawing pay from one firm under thirty-five different names, and now an unappreciative management has fired him instead of making him head of the business.

WHERE DOES CLARK COME IN?

Col. Henry Watterson of Louisville, who after praising Woodrow Wilson as a second Tilden threw him over because he resented Wilson's refusal to take tainted campaign money, is advocating the nomination of Champ Clark.

He says: "The national campaign before us will be fought out on the great issue of tariff reform. The strength of Champ Clark's candidacy is his identification with that great issue."

To which the New York World aptly retorts: "But why not Underwood rather than Clark? It is Oscar Underwood who is peculiarly identified with the issue of tariff reform. It is Oscar Underwood who has made the Democratic party's record in congress for tariff reform. If that issue belongs to anybody it belongs not to the speaker but to the chairman of the committee on ways and means."

If that is the basis of the Clark candidacy, it is unsound; because Underwood, as chairman of the ways and means committee, not only is "peculiarly identified with the issue of tariff reform," but almost totally obscured Mr. Clark in the public eye, though Clark occupied an office that up to that time had been as prominent as the presidency, if not more so.

But the great issue in this campaign will not be the tariff. It ought to be, perhaps, but it will not be. The issue in this campaign will be broader than any single concrete issue—it will be the issue between government by and for special privilege and government by and for the people. The abuse of the tariff in the interests of special privilege is the greatest and most important of the evils against which the people are fighting, but it is only one of them.

The party that hopes to win must nominate a candidate who is right not only on a single concrete issue, but on the general principle underlying all issues.

Neither parties, candidates nor political managers can dictate campaign issues, though they often try. The people make the issues, and the party that would win must consult the people and frame its issues and nominate its candidate in accordance with their will.

The one candidate who best represents the needs and aspirations of the people, not only as to general principles but as to concrete issues, the tariff no less than any other, is Woodrow Wilson.

Reminiscent, Anyway.

The Socialists have nominated Debs; the Republicans act like nominating Roosevelt; the Democrats are said to face the possibility of nominating Bryan—What's the campaign going to be? An old settlers' reunion?

UNREGULATED PLAYGROUNDS.

We gather from the interesting and instructive talks by Dr. Henry S. Curtis, a playground expert, that a playground movement can no more hope to start a playground and let it run itself, and expect it to be successful, than a man can start a business and then go off on a long vacation, expecting to find a large balance in his favor on his return.

To be successful, Dr. Curtis says, playgrounds must be supervised. If they are not supervised, the "bad boys" and the rough boys are likely to swarm there, make the playgrounds their headquarters, and produce a situation much worse than there would be with no playgrounds at all.

That all sounds so reasonable that it should almost go without saying.

And Duluth has had some experiences—not so many as might have been expected, but still some—which prove it. In one or two cases where play apparatus was provided, but no supervision, young hoodlums marched in and destroyed it. In other cases things have been made unpleasant for young children and girls.

Playgrounds are needed. It is the city's duty to furnish them because the character of the next generation depends on the way the childhood of this generation is treated, and Duluth's future demands a generation given its birthright of play in pleasant and wholesome places; not a generation compelled to steal its play from under the wheels of street cars and other vehicles and in noisome alleys.

But it is not enough to establish playgrounds. They must be equipped, and they must be supervised. Duluth is well started in the work of providing playground sites, and it has done fairly well toward equipping them. Dr. Curtis gives us a timely reminder that it ought to do more toward supervising them.

Neither Short Nor Ugly.

Having avoided the shorter and uglier word in the Ohio campaign, maybe Will and Theodore will give us a treat in New Jersey by cutting loose with honorificabilitudinitatibus.

A BOYS' ATHLETIC MEET.

The boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. will hold its seventh annual interscolastic athletic meet at the West End Baseball park tomorrow afternoon, and more than two hundred lads will participate in twenty events. These annual affairs are highly interesting, and providing they do not overdo it, the training the boys get in preparing for them is building a healthy and vigorous manhood.

The senate has declared that there should be no haste about investigating any money trust. Now isn't that surprising?

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

"SWAT THE FLY."

To the Editor of The Herald:

With the coming of the warm weather Duluth should begin an active campaign against the fly. It's evils are well known, but they cannot be emphasized too much. From now it should be "swat the fly" from morning until night. The health department officials have generally taken charge of this matter in the past and I trust that they will be even more active than before in this line. A systematic plan of action should be outlined and every effort made to follow it until the snow flies again. The municipal collection of garbage should be urged at the same time.

A PHYSICIAN'S WIFE.

Duluth, May 24.

WHAT DO THEY STAND FOR?

Farm, Stock and Home: F., S. & H. is interested in the Minnesota state campaign for exactly the same reason and in exactly the same way that every citizen should be. It is concerned, not with candidates' names, nor with partisan battle cries, but with the problem of whether or not we, as citizens of the state, are going to clean up the house we live in.

There are certain specific things that need doing in order that we may make progress in a civic, moral and social sense. We talk about reapportionment, the initiative, the referendum, and the recall, as though these were the vital things. Desirable things they are, highly important, but only as tools to the establishment of a larger freedom. None of these things possess in themselves the guarantee of better government. That necessarily comes up from the people. These reforms merely make the way of securing good government easier, but unless there is a sense of direction toward better things on the part of the people themselves the rule of future administrations will be no better than that which now controls the state, and they may possibly be worse.

A program looking no farther into the needs of the state than these reforms go is neither genuinely progressive, nor will it deserve nor receive the support of broad-minded purposeful men who wish for the largest benefits to the people. There must be something beyond these measures, not held out to the voters as a "perhaps," but as a thought-out and practical plan that will make the state a better place in which to live.

What are we going to do with the 3,000,000 acres of state lands? Are they to be held in trust for a future generation by a timber-interest serving adherence to laws a generation behind the times, or shall we boldly and consciously set ourselves to the task of developing these holdings for the benefit of men and women now living, and in such a manner that we shall not rob the future? Where does your candidate for governor stand on this social question? Has he a definite workable plan to propose? If not, why support him?

How about drainage? Are you satisfied that we have a satisfactory system? Are you willing to pay taxes to secure further drainage benefits without knowing whether or not such benefits are reasonably proportioned to the cost? Are you willing to give the remaining state-owned timber to the lumber and paper industries at job-lot prices? Are you ready to turn over to the power trust the water-powers of the state—its only substitute for coal—without a protest, and for all time to come? If you are not willing to sign, seal and deliver these benefits to private graft, now is the time to speak. What does your candidate say about them; and how does he propose to protect the property of the people? If he has no plan, why follow a blind leader?

The "economy" slogan can be overdone. What we get out of the state's expenditures should be the test, rather than the paring of appropriations. It is the general belief that waste is rampant. How does your candidate propose to more profitably spend the money of the people? Will he kick the political henchmen off the payroll? Does he have in mind some practical method of reorganization of the police and administrative business that now litter the capitol with popgun politicians, and the state at large with machine cogs and oilers? If his platform does not reach these vital matters, why should he get your vote, through the delegates you select at the caucuses?

Political Conversation.

Franklin P. Adams in the Metropolitan Magazine: What bothers us is the drabness of most of the political talk we have to listen to. This—with obeisances to Hughey Keough of the Chicago Tribune—is a photograph—a bromide enlargement, you might call it—of a conversation overheard in a New York restaurant:

"Begins to look like Rooz-a-velt had a chance for the nomination."

"Don't you believe it."

"Sure he has."

"Not one in a million. Looks like Taft to me."

"Never be elected."

"Oh, can't tell. People getting tired of Teddy."

"Crazy about him all through the West."

"Well, he knows what the people like."

"You bet he does."

"You have to hand it to him."

"Oh, sure. Great personality."

"Great personality is right. You sure said something."

"Woodrow Wilson might give him a run."

"Say, that's what I've been saying right along."

"Course, Wilson might not run strong at all."

"No, he ain't very popular."

"Able man."

"Sure. Got a fine mind."

"Still, that isn't the main thing. Look at Taft."

"That's right. Man's got to have executive ability to be a good president."

"That's it in a nutshell, executive ability."

"Well, there'll be something doing at the convention, all right."

"Something doing is right."

"Guess they'll put T. R. through."

"Maybe. Never can tell about politics. It's a funny game."

"'S right. You never know."

"Well, see y' again."

"Sure. Call me up."

"By."

"By!"

And the worst of it is that they tell their wives that they had lunch with Bill this noon and had a mighty interesting talk. No, that isn't the worst. The worst is that they believe it.

Not Exactly What Was Intended.

Lippincott's: He was a budding author, and his wife, determined that his train of thought should not be trampled by domestic worries, said to the new maid: "Now, Jane, if you want anything, always come to me. Never go to Mr. Bookmaker unless I am out."

A few days later there was a knock at Mr. Bookmaker's studw door, and in reply to the usual "Come!" the new maid, fresh and pretty appeared. "Please, sir," she said, "Mrs. Bookmaker said I was never to disturb you unless she was out."

"Well?" said Mr. Bookmaker inquiringly.

"She's out, sir."

A Consoling Thought.

Harpers Weekly: "Do you believe, doctor," asked Mrs. Wumps, "that men become what they eat?"

"Yes, madam, I do," said the bishop.

"What a comfort that must have been to those early missionaries when they were eaten by the cannibals!" sighed Mrs. Wumps.

THE DEMOCRATIC CONTEST.

No Use for Clark.

Little Falls Herald: While Speaker Clark is well thought of by the Democrats in this territory, they are apparently solid for Wilson. They believe that he will carry out the policies of the national government along the lines that he carries out his policies as governor of New Jersey, which are most commendable. They also believe that he will draw more Republican and independent votes than any other man now a candidate for the nomination, whether the Republican candidate be Taft or Roosevelt. One thing is certain, the Democrats of Morrison county want a man nominated who they can give their hearty support and one when elected they believe will carry out the policies they believe in. Their preference as far as we can find tallies with that of The Herald—Governor Wilson of New Jersey for president.

No Juggling Goes.

St. Cloud Journal Press: The Democrats will hold their primaries in this state this week, and it remains to be seen whether the rank and file who seem to want Wilson will be juggled out of the delegates by the bosses who are lining up for Champ Clark.

The Strongest Democrat.

St. Cloud Times: In the judgment of the Times, the man who would prove the strongest Democratic candidate for president is Woodrow Wilson. Other Democrats there are who would poll the full party vote, but to win the Democratic candidate must secure independent and Republican support. Every day we hear of Republicans who say they would vote for Wilson if either of the Republican contestants is nominated. We do not know of a single instance when this has been said of Clark, Harmon or Underwood.

Wilson's record as governor of New Jersey won the confidence of the people. His high character, broad mind and sterling integrity commends him to the respect of all.

Towne, and Williams, and Pettigrew, and William Randolph Hearst may belittle him, but nevertheless he is today the strongest aspiring Democrat.

All for Wilson.

Red Wing Republican: The attempt of certain forces in the state to create a sentiment in favor of Champ Clark for the presidency, among the Democrats of this section, is apparent.

The Democrats of Goodhue county, together with the large majority of their political brethren in the state have been avowedly friendly to Woodrow Wilson or Mr. Bryan. The bringing to this city the other evening of an Eastern politician, to make a special plea for Champ Clark of Missouri, calls attention to his candidacy and awakens an interest in its promoters and the man.

It is all the more singular that Clark should be pushed forward at this time when his candidacy has been regarded, heretofore, largely as a joke.

The Typical Man.

Albert Lea Standard: Of all the Democratic candidates Woodrow Wilson is the typical man in the highest sense for president. He would make an honest, independent, patriotic, modest and great president, and fortunate, indeed, will be the republic if he shall be chosen to serve them in the high estate to which he honorably aspires.

Wilson Is Ideal.

Aitkin Independent: The primary is the starting point in the great political drama which culminates in the general election next November. This promises to be a Democratic year, and Democrats everywhere are taking a more lively interest in political affairs than for many years.

The Independent thinks that Governor Woodrow Wilson is an ideal candidate under the present circumstances, particularly for Minnesota, and we believe that that is the sentiment throughout the county.

Let us then start in right and never let our interest flag until we secure his nomination and election.

The Independent Vote.

St. Cloud Times: Governor Wilson would poll more independent and Republican votes (and we need these to win) than any Democrat yet named. One needs but to talk with his Republican and independent neighbors to realize this.

How Nice It Would Be!

New York Globe: Wouldn't it be nice if Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt would get together and withdraw in favor of a third candidate? To insure the success of such an arrangement they would, of course, agree upon him and let their supporters know they had agreed. All the two principals have to do is to find a man who does not believe we have enough democracy in the United States, who is in favor of giving us more, and who at the same time is opposed to making any change in that system of representative government which our fathers handed down to us. This candidate will approve the review of a certain class of decisions by state courts, while not denying that the review of decisions will speedily put an end to constitutional government. He will trust the majority, because he thinks the majority more likely to be right than any smaller selected class, and at the same time he will admit that he can't say this without becoming a flatterer and a demagogue.

To make a platform for such a candidate would be about as easy as finding the candidate. The platform would admit frankly that vital differences of opinion did not matter; that the important thing was to elect a president labelled Republican; that the election of a man bearing this label was the only way to save the country from the ruin sure to follow a Democratic victory. A plank might be structurally used which affirmed that only wicked Republicans could quarrel about principles on the eve of battle.

This would be a soothing outcome of the present conflict, wouldn't it? And yet such is still the virtue of a party name that some Republicans, usually quite sane, talk as if this outcome would be rather satisfactory.

After Cure of Alcoholism.

From Charles B. Town's "Help for the Hard Drinker" in the June Century: When a patient by intelligent treatment has been put into a receptive state of mind, he should be told to look up his old associates and to them declare himself upon the liquor question. If they are friends, they will congratulate him; if they are not, he will have gained by making certain of it.

And there is very little danger that, after he has seen them, he will wish again to make intimates of them; that after, in his sober senses, he has examined the surroundings which they frequent, he will be willing to return to them. Being himself normal, he will wish for normal men as friends; being far more fastidious than he was when he was alcoholic, the old haunts will fill him with disgust.

This declaration of himself the man must himself make. Good friends may help him otherwise, and chiefly by refraining from the slightest thing which may by chance tend to decrease his self-respect and his confidence in his own power to stay reclaimed.

No Humorist.

Lippincott's: "What of his sense of humor?"

"Well, he has to see a joke twice before he sees it once."

At a Disadvantage.

Lippincott's: While awaiting the coming of her friend, the mother a visitor to a Baltimore household, was holding a desultory conversation with one of the little girls in the drawing room.

"Where are your two little sisters?" the caller asked.

"Oh, they," observed the little girl, with the air of one upon whom responsibilities rest heavily—"they're out somewhere to have what mother calls 'mischief' and what they call 'fun.'"

"And why didn't you go to share in the 'fun'?" asked the caller.

The child sighed. "Mother trusts me so dreadfully," she explained, "that I can't have much fun."

THE ONE RIGHT CANDIDATE.

The current World's Work in giving an editorial estimate of each of the candidates for president on the eve of the convention, makes this characterization of Mr. Wilson:

"Governor Woodrow Wilson—a scholar in government, with a historical and political perspective; a man of profound convictions, holding that there should be no class that shall receive privileges from the government; regarding boss rule and the private conduct of public business as the worst crimes against political society; trustful of the people, a Democrat in fact; with brief but eminently successful executive experience (the New Jersey of today being a wholly different community from the New Jersey of two years ago); courageous because he has fundamental convictions and a sturdy seriousness of character; a man of high ideals to whom politics has a profound moral significance; a man with a definite, well-reasoned program, to whom our institutions and our national life are living organisms; his political creed, therefore, a working creed to fit present problems and not a set of fixed formulas; courageous for conscience's sake and not from sheer love of fight; modest to the verge of timidity as regards his personal relations and fortunes and, therefore, handicapped in a rough race by a gentle hesitancy, having the modesty of a well-bred mind and the humor of a philosopher; the most convincing public speaker in political life, master of exact language without pedantry; not favored by those who for any reason wish the government to be a dispenser of favors or wish it to be conducted by professional cliques or bosses; a man of stern stuff, resolute, gently bred and, because of his combination of force, dignity, and grace, in a class by himself among the candidates for the presidency; so clearly right-minded and right-tempered that if there were a clear-cut presidential primary in all the states he would probably win the nomination with no second in the race."

Janette's Hair.

Oh, loosen the snood that you wear, Janette;
Let me tangle a hand in your hair—my pet;
For the world to me had no daintier sight
Than your brown hair veiling your shoulder white;
Your beautiful dark brown hair—my pet.

It was brown with a golden gloss, Janette;
It was finer than silk of the floss—my pet;
'Twas a beautiful mist falling down to your wrist;
'Twas a thing to be braided and jewell'd and kiss'd—
'Twas the loveliest hair in the world—my pet.

My arm was the arm of a clown, Janette;
It was sinewy, bristled and brown—my pet;
But warmly and softly it loved to caress
Your round white neck and your wealth of tress,
Your beautiful plenty of hair—my pet.

Your eyes had a swimming glory, Janette;
Revealing the old, dear story—my pet;
They were gray with that chasten'd tinge of the sky
When the trout leaps quickest to snap the fly,
And they match'd with your golden hair—my pet.

Your lips—but I have no words, Janette—
They were fresh as the twitter of birds—my pet,
When the spring is young, and roses are wet,
With the dewdrops in each red bosom set,
And they suited your golden brown hair—my pet.

Oh, you tangled my life in your hair, Janette;
'Twas a sliken and golden snare—my pet;
But, so gentle the bondage, my soul did implore
The right to continue your slave evermore,
With my fingers enmesh'd in your hair—my pet.

Thus ever I dream what you were, Janette,
With your lips and your eyes and your hair—my pet;
In the darkness of desolate years I moan,
And my tears fall bitterly over the stone
That covers your golden hair—my pet.

Primaries and Primaries.

Philadelphia Times: Four unwilling legislatures—in Massachusetts, Maryland, Michigan and Illinois—have passed presidential preference primary laws this season under whip and spur of aroused public sentiment.

Not one of them did it because legislature or machine nominal control wanted to do it.

In every case the effort was to pass a law that would give as bad a primary as possible.

Michigan went so far as to pass the law and then refuse to let it take effect till 1916. As a direct result the Michigan Republican party is split wide open and the chance of Democratic victory is excellent.

The Massachusetts enemies of primary legislation, compelled to pass something that they could call a preference law, made it just as bad as possible. The Crane machine did that. It was forced to give something that could be labeled a primary; something that was expected to serve the machine's purpose and save Crane.

The counterfeit has served, instead, the purpose of giving Roosevelt a great victory and exposing the fatal weakness of Crane. Today he faces defeat for re-election as a direct result of the sharp practice in making that primary law.

In Maryland the better sentiment of both parties forced a legislature that was politically close to pass, and a Taft governor to sign, a primary measure that was intended and expected completely to subvert the real primary principle, and to leave the machines of both parties in easy control.

As to the Democrats, it worked; as to the Republicans, it failed and the machine was smashed.

Following these various experiences with half-baked primary laws made by the enemies of the whole primary system we hear voluble denunciation of primaries in general. The entire scheme is declared to have failed.

To whatever extent it has been unsatisfactory it has been so because it was in the hands of its enemies; because laws were drafted by them, passed by unwilling legislatures and administered by men who wanted them to fail.

In the face of all this the bold fact stands out that these laws have given the most satisfactory results the country has seen. The primary states have been the influential, the determinative states. They have put the acid on the candidates, showed exactly how they stand with the people, and demonstrated that Mr. Taft, who led the nation-wide fight against popular nominations is repudiated.

Don't worry about the failure of the primary. No wonder the Tories and the machine managers regard it as a failure. It has nowhere failed to swat them.

As to the minor imperfections of primary acts, they will be remedied before they will be used again. They will be made over by their friends, which means that they will be made to do surely and effectively their work of ending machine rule.

The Fly Catechism.

The following rhythmical set of questions and answers has been the summer creed of Indianapolis for a year. The World's Work prints it as a worthy summer creed of every man, woman, and child in every city, village, and community in our land.

1. Where is the Fly born? In manure and filth.
2. Where does the fly live? In every kind of filth.
3. Is anything too filthy for the fly to eat? No.
4. (a) Where does he go when he leaves the vault and the manure pile and the spittoon? Into the kitchen and dining room. (b) What does he do there? He walks on the bread, fruit, and vegetables; he wipes his feet on the butter and bathes in the buttermilk.
5. Does the fly visit the patient sick with consumption, typhoid fever, and cholera infantum? He does—and may call on you next.
6. Is the fly dangerous? He is man's worst pest and more dangerous than wild beasts or rattlesnakes.
7. What diseases does the fly carry? He carries typhoid fever, tuberculosis, and summer complaint. How? On his wings and hairy feet. What is his correct name? Typhoid fly.
12. How shall we kill the fly? (a) Destroy all the filth about the house and yard; (b) pour lime into the vault and on the manure; (c) kill the fly with a wire-screen paddle, or sticky paper, or kerosene oil.
13. Kill the fly in any way, but KILL THE FLY.

Made Resigning Easy.

Lippincott's: When Delegate Mark Smith of Arizona was a boy he lived on a big plantation in Kentucky. It was in slave days, and one of his father's slaves was Uncle Ike, who was the preacher for the place.

Smith's father had built a small church on a corner of the plantation, and Uncle Ike held forth there every Sunday. This was pleasing to Ike, because it not only gave him a chance to exhort the negroes, but it absolved him from any of the Sunday chores.

One Sunday Mark went out by the barn and found Uncle Ike sitting disconsolately under a tree.

"Look here, Ike," said Mark, "why ain't you down there preaching?"

"Well, Mars Mark," Ike replied, "I ain't goin' to preach to dem niggahs no more. They's always fightin' 'mongst theyselves, an' I'm sick an' tired, an' done preachin'."

"Stop your lying, Ike," said Mark. "You wouldn't quit such a soft snap as that. What's the matter?"

"Well, Mars Mark," Ike replies, "ef you mus' know, dem triflin' niggahs done sent me my resignashun."—Lippincott's.

CHILD CUT IN TWO BY CHICAGO CAR

Motorman Is Unable to Stop in Time to Save Little Italian Girl.

Chicago, May 24.—Evaline Laurino, 3 years old, was killed and her body cut in two last night by a Halsted street car. The accident occurred in front of the South Clark street police station as the child, with older sisters and brothers, tried to cross the street.

Their father, Arthur Laurino, rushed to the scene barefooted, and kneeling beside the mutilated body, prayed aloud in Italian until removed to his home by the police.

J. O'Connor, the motorman, saw the child fall, and stopped the car with a jerk that threw half the passengers from their seats, but not in time to prevent the first wheel passing over the body. It was necessary to call a truck company of the fire department and the street car wrecking wagon to remove the body. The street car crew was allowed to complete the trip and then held pending the inquest.

WOULD CHARTER FEDERAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Washington, May 24.—A federal charter for the chamber of commerce of the United States is asked in a bill introduced by Representative Burke of Pennsylvania, Republican. The proposed organization, intended to further domestic and foreign trade, would have no capital stock and would be permitted to own only such property as might be necessary to carry on business. The charter is based on the findings of the recent meeting of boards of trade in Washington, which was called by President Taft.

CARNEGIE TAKES SHIP.

Refuses to Talk of Political Situation as "Too Humiliating."

New York, May 24.—Andrew Carnegie, his wife and daughter left yesterday on the steamship Celtic for their annual visit to Europe. The "Laird of Skibo" displayed keen pleasure in the thought that he is to make an address to the students of Aberdeen university, which elected him lord rector.

"Not a word on the political situation," he said; "it is too humiliating. But," he added, as an afterthought, "I shall never despair of the republic. It bears a charmed life and all will come out right in the end."

Chicago, May 24.—Chicago was named as the meeting place of 1912 of the National Slack Cooperage Manufacturers' association. A. B. Struthers of Rome, Ohio, was elected president.

TANG SHAO YI HAS QUIT PREMIERSHIP

Chinese Cabinet Is Trying to Persuade Him to Change His Mind.

Pekin, May 24.—Revised estimates of the Chinese budget for 1912 show a revenue of 297,000,000 taels ($207,900,000), and an expenditure of 576,000,000 taels ($403,200,000) including extra army expenditures of 32,000,000 taels ($22,400,000) and provisional administrative expenditures of 110,000,000 taels, ($77,000,000).

Premier Tang Shao Yi has resigned in consequence of the violent attack by the national council on his alleged prodigal expenditures of the foreign loan.

The cabinet is endeavoring to persuade him to withdraw this resignation, but in some quarters it is thought the retirement of Premier Tang Shao Yi will tend to remove the growing disgust of both foreigners and Chinese.

TAFT ATTACKS ROOSEVELT AGAIN

Speaks in New Jersey Less Emphatically Then He Did in Ohio.

Trenton, N. J., May 24.—President Taft began his New Jersey campaign with speeches last night at Camden, Burlington and Trenton. The president showed the effects of his hard campaign through Ohio and spoke with less emphasis than he did last week.

At Camden, where he addressed a crowd that filled the armory, he again deprecated the entrance of a president into a political controversy and attacked Colonel Roosevelt in the same bitter language he has used before.

Mr. Taft started his New Jersey tour from Philadelphia, where he spent most of the day. Before speaking in Camden, he motored several miles through the city streets. He was frequently cheered.

The president's train was more than forty-five minutes late at Trenton. He spoke in the armory to a crowd, many of whom had been waiting nearly two hours. He concluded his Trenton speech with a sentence that brought an unusual outburst of applause.

"We have done without Abraham Lincoln," said the president, "and we can do without Theodore Roosevelt."

READY TO ARGUE ON COFFEE TRUST

Government Is Seeking to Prevent Transfer of 950,000 Bags.

New York, May 24.—Counsel for both sides in the Federal suit against Herman Sielcken and the New York Dock company, as members of the Brazilian coffee trust, are in readiness to proceed with the arguments set for this afternoon before judges of the circuit court of appeals.

The hearing is to show cause why an order temporarily restraining the defendants from removing or parting with the control of 950,000 bags of coffee pending the trial of a suit in equity should not be made permanent. In the equity suit the government seeks to have acts of the Brazilian valorization committee declared in violation of the Sherman law, and have a receiver appointed to sell about $10,000,000 worth of coffe which, it is asserted, is being withheld from commerce to the detriment of consumers.

The suit has been the subject of diplomatic representation on the part of the Brazilian ambassador in Washington, and the department of state has been in communication with the department of justice.

Solicitor General Lehmann is here from Washington to argue the case for the government.

Hoboes Who Beat Up Omaha Brakeman Bound Over.

Eau Claire, Wis., May 24.—Clyde Jones of Dillon, Mont., Henry Weddige of Pennsylvania and Jas. McCann of South Boston were bound over to circuit court by Judge McBain on a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm in connection with the vicious attack made Wednesday morning by them on H. H. Adams of Black River Falls, an Omaha brakeman, in the Omaha yards here when Adams ordered the three men mentioned and three others off a freight car. Jones pleaded guilty to the charge but his two pals, Weddige and McCann pleaded not guilty.

Ford, Harmon and Smith, the other three who were with the trio bound over and who were arrested with them after the episode in the yards here, were released as it was shown that they had nothing to do with the attack on Adams but tried to prevent it.

"NOT GUILTY" VERDICT IN IOWA LABOR CASE.

Davenport, Iowa, May 24.—The jury in the case of Clayton Rowland, who with thirteen other union leaders, was charged with conspiracy to intimidate non-union button workers at Muscatine, returned a verdict of not guilty late last night. It is said the others probably will not have to stand trial and that the indictments will be dismissed.

VERDICT OF GUILTY ON LESSER CHARGE.

Joseph Kenney, a bartender, was found guilty of attempting to have improper relations with a girl under the age of 18, by a jury late yesterday afternoon in district court. Sentence has not been passed as yet. The case was tried before Judge Cant.

Kenney was indicted for the more serious offense of actually having had relations with the child and the jury, the court so instructed, would have been justified in returning a verdict if they believed certain testimony given by the girl.

The court, however, instructed the jury that there was evidence to justify a verdict being returned of having made the attempt rather than the actual commission of the crime itself. The jury took this stand.

Kenney admitted on the witness stand yesterday that he had taken 16-year-old Mary Kollarek to his room in the St. James hotel on the night of April 13. The girl's story, with reference to time and some other details, was rather loose and disconnected.

The girl has been at the school of correction at Sauk Center since April 20. She will return today, now that the trial is over.

EUROPEANS IN THE LEAD

United States Has Neglected Commercial Opportunities in South America.

C. M. Mauseau Now Head of Rio de Janeiro Telephone Company.

C. M. Mauseau, formerly connected with the Duluth Telephone company, and at the present time superintendent of the Interurban Telephone company of Rio de Janeiro, and also connected with a large general service company in Rio de Janeiro, is visiting Duluth friends.

"We have put in an up to date telephone system in Rio de Janeiro," said Mr. Mauseau. "Before we entered the field a German had the telephone business, but the service was not up to date. Rio de Janeiro is as up to date in most things as New York or any other large city of this country. It is cosmopolitan and thoroughly alive.

"For instance, they have the mosquito brigade. Officials go around the city and if you have a tin can in your yard that would furnish a breeding place for mosquitos they will require you to remove it. As a consequence we have no mosquitos in Rio de Janeiro.

"Germany, England, Italy, France and other countries are getting the trade that this country should have. South America is just beginning to wake up and there are wonderful trade possibilities there. I think that the United States is beginning to go after the business this great country has to offer, but the European countries are still far ahead of the United States.

"About twenty years ago the slaves were freed and a business depression, something akin to the reconstruction period of the South following the war, resulted. The people had the idea that they could not get along without slaves.

"They have discovered the error of their belief and the result has been the commercial progress of the country. South America has as great a future as any country in the world and the people are just beginning to realize this."

NOTICE

Deaths from kidney disease have frightfully increased—now nearly 90,000 a year.

If this is to be changed people should know—

1. That kidney trouble is INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS and that when it becomes chronic it is declared incurable.
2. Prof. Tyson says the incurable stage is established about the sixth month. Hence no part of that six months ought to be wasted.
3. Treatment of inflamed kidneys by excitants has broken down—Prof. Tyson declaring (with reference to agents to restore the normal condition of the kidneys), "I believe there are none," which cuts out at one sweep all the kidney medicines on druggists' shelves.
4. That these conditions gave rise to a search for something to palliate instead of excite inflamed kidneys.
5. That as the result of those researches a bland infusion was worked out that reduces inflamed kidney tissues and that a majority of cases now yield whether in the chronic stage or not.

We desire to hear from and advise with cases not yielding. Ask for free literature.

GRADUATION EXERCISES

More Than 100 Will Receive High School Diplomas.

Grade School Pupils Will Hold Exercises June 12 and 13.

More than 100 children will graduate this year from the Central high school after completing the regular four-year course.

The exact number is not known as yet, but there will be more than 100. This is considered an average class. Last year there were 101 and the number this year is expected to run several over that.

The graduation exercises will take place in the high school auditorium on the evenings of June 12 and 14. Class night exercises will be on June 12 and commencement on June 14.

Those who will contribute numbers on the programs have not yet been decided upon. The system of selecting those thus honored has changed. No longer is it the five highest in standing who deliver the orations. They are now picked from their ability to speak, the excellence of their senior essay, and scholarship.

These are the last days of school and both teachers and students, tired after a long, hard year, are putting forth extra efforts for the windup. Students back in some subjects are being given examinations so that they may have a chance to graduate with their class. Several of these examinations were being conducted by Principal Young this morning.

Grade Schools.

The grade graduation exercises will this year be held in the different schools from which the children graduate. Formerly the classes were graduated together with appropriate exercises at the high school auditorium. Later they were divided into two parts and the exercises held on two different evenings, one program being given by the children from the western part of the city and the other by the children from the eastern part. This year each class will have graduation exercises in its particular school.

These exercises will be held on June 12 and 13. All grade graduation exercises will take place in the afternoon.

The number to graduate from the grades this year is larger than ever before in spite of the fact that a class was graduated in February. The entering class at the high school next year will be the largest ever. The figures have not as yet been compiled.

STOCKHOLDER DECLINES TO PAY

Albert H. Powers Sued for Amount of Stock Assessment.

An action to compel payment of an assessment levied against Albert H. Powers, as stockholder of the Powers-Simpson company of Hibbing, was started in district court here yesterday by Lowell J. Chadburne, as receiver for the company. The company failed in business about two years ago and the court ordered an assessment made on the stockholders to meet the indebtedness. The assessment against Powers was $19,960, or 40 per cent on his stock.

The suit to enforce the collection of the stock assessment against Powers is an outgrowth from a former action brought about two years ago by the William T. Joyce company of Minneapolis, to which the Powers-Simpson company was indebted in the amount of $15,501.85. The Hibbing firm also owed the Gowan-Peyton-Congdon company, wholesale grocers of this city, $3,263.53. On Dec. 17, 1910 the district court appointed Chadburne as receiver and made an order for a 40 per cent assessment on the stock.

At that time George A. Simpson, the principal stockholder, was insolvent. Simpson was the owner of 500 shares of the capital stock, Powers had 499 and William Dwyer one. The assessment against Simpson amounted to $20,000, that against Powers $19,960 and Dwyer $40.

JUDGE APPEALS CONTEMPT CASE

Chicago Political Mass Will Be Taken to Higher Court.

Chicago, May 24.—A formal order adjudging County Judge John E. Owens, Chief of Police McWeeny, Assistant Chief Schuettler, Sheriff Zimmer and Election Commissioner Czarnecki guilty of contempt of the superior court and fining each $500 was entered in court today by Superior Court Judge McKinley. An appeal at once was prayed and allowed.

The case was an outgrowth of the Cook county Democratic convention April 15, when Court Judge Owens and city and county officials ignored the injunction of the superior court restraining them from interfering with the convention. The doors of the building in which the convention was held were battered down at the order of the county judge and the faction of the local Democracy known as the Hearst-Harrison forces took possession of the convention hall. The opposing faction, known as the Roger Sullivan men, held another convention.

The violation of the injunction was defended by the county judge on the ground that this court and not the superior court had jurisdiction over all election matters.

URGES USE OF GREEN SPRIG

President Taft Gives Indorsement to Idea for Decoration Day.

St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—In twenty or more states of the union the children in every public school will be urged to wear a green sprig on May 30, as an outward manifestation of their appreciation of the sacrifices made by the soldiers of the civil war. This idea of universal adoption of the sprig of evergreen for Decoration day has been suggested to most public men of the country by J. W. Hamilton, sales manager for a large wholesale dry goods house here.

A few days ago President Taft commended the idea in the following language: "Mr. Hamilton proposes that the custom be established among school children. I believe that it might be extended to include all those whose reverence for brave deeds and lives sacrificed for the country create in them the desire to pay some tribute to the honor of the dead and the gallantry of those who still live. I earnestly hope that the suggestion will become a custom. It is but a small recognition for a great sacrifice."

For over two years Mr. Hamilton has taken time from his regular duties to urge the adoption of this custom upon governors, state superintendents of public instruction and officers of various patriotic societies. They all have given it their hearty approval and have helped spread the idea. It was first suggested by Mr. Hamilton that the wearing of a button signifying the importance of the day to be worn by school children and the public generally. It was soon perceived, however, that the expense of this button, although small, would prohibit its universal use. There is no one flower which is in bloom in all parts of the United States by the last of May, so Mr. Hamilton hit upon the idea of using the widely distributed evergreen. The thought on the part of many people that Decoration day is not being observed in the way that it should has tended to spread the idea of universal use of evergreen in memory of the passing warriors. The state superintendent of public instruction in Wisconsin, C. P. Cary, has issued a circular to all teachers in the state urging them to adopt the custom. The same thing has been done in Idaho, Illinois, Minnesota, Colorado, Kansas, Maine, New Jersey and Virginia and school authorities have corporated generously in spreading the custom of wearing a sprig of evergreen.

Mr. Hamilton is hoping that the patriotic societies of Canada and England will unite on this plan in recommending the wearing of evergreen on May 30, in memory of the soldiers of those countries. His idea goes further than this in the hope that through this common custom these nations may be drawn into still closer bonds of Anglo Saxon sympathy.

A BREAKDOWN AT BALD KNOB.

Railroad Men: The rumbling and groaning train had been tolling along from Memphis, Tenn., toward Bald Knob, Ark., all through a hot afternoon. The stops had been frequent but at last came one of unusual duration.

After a tiresome interval the conductor walked back through the mosquito punctuated aisles until his glance met a sympathetic face. He bent over the kindly looking passenger and whispered: "Stranger, have you a bit of string about you? The engine's broke."

RARE VOICE GIVEN GIRL

While Under Hypnotic Influence She Sang Operatic Selections.

Just Like Miss Trilby—Her Own Voice Is Mediocre.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 24.—Du Maurier's fanciful tale of Svengali's weird power to transform Trilby's unmusical voice into that of an accomplished singer, received justification in one of the most remarkable exhibitions of hypnotism ever seen in this city. In the College of Physicians' building, a young girl, while under hypnotic influence, sang several solos to the accompaniment of a phonograph, as a psychical illustration in voice production. Normally, the girl's voice is mediocre. The extraordinary exhibition took place during a symposium on "The Standardization of Tone in Voice Production," held by the members of the American Laryngological society. The identity of the girl and of the man who placed her in the hypnotic state were not made public. It was learned, however, that the hypnotist is a manufacturer and that the girl is one of his employes.

The psychical illustration in voice production was introduced following an address by Dr. Frank E. Miller of New York. Dr. Miller, who spoke on "Vocal Art Science From the Viewpoint of Use and Abuse of the Voice," is one of the most prominent nose and throat specialists in the country, and it was while treating the girl that he learned of her employer's influence over her. The young girl told Dr. Miller for several months she had been a sufferer from severe headaches and that her employer, an amateur hypnotist, had on several occasions cured her headache by placing her under the influence of hypnotism.

Her Own Suggestion.

Among Dr. Miller's patients are many stars of the opera, and following several visits to the doctor's office, during which she met many famous singers, the girl expressed a desire to become a great singer. Knowing that she possessed a voice mediocre in quality she suggested to the doctor that she be placed under hypnotic power and that an attempt be made to have her sing to the accompaniment of a phonograph. Dr. Miller, who is a believer that the condition of the mind, to a large measure, controls the voice, encouraged the suggestion, and a few days later the experiment was made.

How well it succeeded was shown when, after being placed in a hypnotic state before more than 200 physicians, musical critics and teachers of voice culture, the young girl sang, in a splendid soprano voice, several operatic selections. It is the theory of many of the physicians that the girl imitated the voice coming from the horn of the phonograph and that the experiment proves beyond all doubt that abnormal conditions of the voice apparatus due to disturbances in other parts of the body can be cured by a temporary relief being given these disturbances. It is thought that while in the state of hypnosis the girl was freed from all physical disorders, so far as the control of her voice was concerned.

Voices of well known soprano and tenor singers were reproduced on the phonograph and to each the young girl sang with perfect ease. Her voice was clear and strong and might easily have been mistaken for that of a choir singer. The experiment ended when the girl sang "The Rosary." Following the singing she was taken about the room in a hypnotic state by her employer and introduced to the physicians, teachers and critics.

HOOSIER PIES FOR HINDOOS

Indiana Missionary at Bombay Utilizes Edibles From Home.

Anderson, Ind., May 24. — Mrs. George Springer, formerly of this city and Noblesville, has written to friends here that after nearly two years of study she has mastered the Hindoo language sufficiently to take charge of the orphanage of nearly 100 boys and girls near Bombay, India. Soon after the death of her husband in this city about four years ago Mrs. Springer announced she would engage in missionary work, as representative of the Central Christian church, and that she would finance her work.

Several months ago her friends in this city sent her a box of canned fruit. It was something that the natives of India near Bombay had never tasted, and they had a feast of pies made from Indiana frut and pumpkin.

GOSSIPS AGAIN BUSY.

Report of Vincent Astor's Engagement to Miss Andrews.

Newport, R. I., May 24.—Miss Margaret F. Andrews and her mother, Mrs. Paul A. Andrews, are returning from Europe to New York after a long trip in the Old World, and strange to say, the plans of Vincent Astor to sail with his mother have been changed and he remains in America.

All last summer Vincent Astor and Miss Andrews were seen together considerably, especially in the Astor automobile, in which Miss Andrews attracted much attention.

Earlier in the summer Miss Andrews drove the fast car of Herman Oelrichs, but later it was always the Astor car, and this made people whisper that the young couple were engaged.

This was denied by young Astor and Mrs. Andrews. Yet Newport society believes Vincent Astor is engaged. Time will tell, for denials of engagements are fashionable in society.

NEW TEST OF ORTHODOXY

Southern Sociological Congress at Nashville Strikes National Note.

Social Service Has Now Fixed Place in Church Programs.

Nashville, Tenn., May 24.—The changes that are under way in American religious life at the present time have found striking expression in the Southern Sociological congress. Socialized Christianity, long kept outside the door of the church as an alien, has been welcomed into the stronghold of Christian conservatism. It is but a few years since orthodox Protestants scoffed at social service as a mere fad of religious liberalism. Now we see the whole South united in a conference distinctly its own, and ranking in importance with the greatest sociological gatherings of the North, and manned almost entirely by men identified with leadership in Christian work.

This Southern Sociological congress, which sounded the slogan, "The Solid South for a Better Nation," was an official thing summoned by the invitation of Governor Ben W. Hooper of Tennessee, whose own romantic childhood history makes him especially susceptible to every form of social service. Responses came from all over the South and more than 600 delegates were enrolled. From the very first it was evident that the conference would be a success, for Southern loyalty rallied to its support, and this was reinforced by the real interest that exists so widely in the topics announced for discussion. New York city and other northern social centers lent their leaders for the program.

Churches Are For It.

The distinctive characteristic of this sociological congress is the number of church leaders who were identified with it. A man dropping in on the sessions who was familiar with the church life in the South would have said that he was in a religious gathering. And he was. No questions were raised about the relation that should exist between religion and social service; this was taken for granted, and therein lay one of the most significant points of the congress. The delegates simply went ahead and did their work without once raising the bugaboo of liberalism. The theological discussions did not go beyond the story of the good Samaritan.

A Methodist Episcopal layman, J. E. McCulloch of Nashville, was the executive head of the congress, appointed by Governor Hooper. It was his work that made the congress in its multitudinous details the comprehensive gathering that it became. Mr. McCulloch is the head of the training school for Christian workers at Nashville, and this relationship alone would have portended great influence for the congress in future years. It was wise strategy which placed the gathering amid the many educational institutions of the Athens of the south. Peabody college for the training of teachers and Vanderbilt university were both identified with the congress. Educationally, religiously and politically the gathering had all the standing that the south could impart to it.

What It Means.

Doubtless the Nashville chamber of commerce is chuckling over the success of the congress, for it has been made a permanent institution, and whether its sessions are held in Nashville or not it will always be identified with that city and do good advertising work. Just as the peace conference at Lake Mohonk and the conference on oriental questions at Clark university have become nationally famed, so this southern sociological congress will figure in the discussions of leaders all over the land. A volume of proceedings is to be printed. At one bound the south has taken a place of leadership in the development of the social ideal.

Yet it is scarcely a decade since the south was itself a field for social exploitation by northerners. "The field has become a force," in Parkhurst's vivid phrase. The south is taking up her own problems, and in no narrow or sectional spirit. A national sense is stronger in the south than the nation at large realizes. Of late it has shown many evidences of religious leadership, for what southern men do they do heavily. Nobody can predict the consequences of this new movement whereby the south, with its watchword, The Solid South for a Better Nation, seeks to express its patriotism and religion.

Some Peculiar Problems.

While escaping many of America's social problems due largely to an alien population, the south has several that are particularly her own. The negro question is a southern question and it grows graver year by year. Everybody is coming to understand that the negro question is not to be solved from Boston, but that the people of the south, white and black, have the future of this problem in their keeping. The mountaineers are another social problem visualized by the Allen case. The illiteracy of some southern states is giving grave concern to social leaders. Present problems are more acute in the south than elsewhere, and the advent of the cotton mill has created certain industrial perplexities which are more easily described than settled.

Sweeping the Circle.

This congress was in session for four days. The afternoons were given to departmental conferences upon child welfare, adult dependents and delinquents, public health and housing, charity organization, tuberculosis, recreation and medical inspection, negro problems, temperance and the church and social service. The general sessions considered the peculiar southern problems, delinquent and dependent children, infant mortality, illiteracy, child labor, the relation of educational and social work, the purpose of imprisonment, prison conditions in the south, municipal problems, the money-shark business, trained leadership in social work, co-ordination and co-operation, the church and modern industry, insurance, nursing, public health, the degenerate, the relation of the public library to social movements, the qualifications of the social worker.

The speaker embraced a distinguished array of names familiar in the religious world: Chancellor J. H. Kirkland, Dr. James I. Vance, Dr. Ira Landrith, Professor G. W. Dyer, John G. Woolley, Dr. Luther H. Gulick, Miss Jean M. Gordon, Bernard Flexner, Dr. Hastings H. Hart, Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, Mrs. Cora Bristol-Nelson, Miss Gertrude Knipp, Miss Agnes Morris, Dr. G. H. Detwiller, Professor S. G. Gilbreath, Alexander Johnson, W. S. Rankin, L. B. Myers, E. G. Routzahn, J. H. Dillard, Professor H. B. Carre, Dr. Samuel Z. Batten, Dr. Owen R. Lovejoy, Dr. Henry F. Cope, Thomas Finty, Jr., Dr. W. H. Oates, Professor C. S. Potts, Philip Weltner, F. E. Lyon, Louis J. Bernhardt, W. Woods White, Dr. Bruce R. Payne, John M. Glenn, Dr. Charles S. McFarland, Dr. Charles L. Minor, Dr. Lee K. Frankel, Dr. W. C. Stiles, Colonel J. L. Ludlow, Dr. Seale Harris, Dr. C. P. Wertenbaker, W. D. Weatherford, Rev. John Little, Dr. Oscar Dowling, Judge W. H. Thomas, William M. Samford, Professor Charles A. Ellwood, Miss Marilla Waite Freeman, Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, Dr. Edward T. Devine, Dr. Graham Taylor.

Beyond preadventure social service has now a fixed place in the program of the churches. This congress is but one evidence of the trend of the times. An era of change has come and the business of reaching out a helping hand to all the varied needs of humanity has come to be the first concern of the Christian church.

SKIRT PREVENTS WRECK.

Mobile, Ala., May 24.—Pulling off her red flannel underskirt, Laura Jones, an aged negro mammy, signalled an incoming passenger train on the Bay Shore railroad in time to prevent the train from dashing into a serious washout.

The train was returning from an Alabama coast resort, and was heavily laden with passengers.

When the passengers learned that the old ex-slave had perhaps saved their lives, they took up a collection.

"Dis is de mos' money I'se ever had in my born days," she exclaimed as she shuffled from the scene. The passenger train was brought into the city over the Louisville & Nashville road.

DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS FOR PALE PEOPLE

For Nervous People

It is never too late to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for nervous troubles.

You can be certain that a breakdown or exhaustion of your nerves is due to a lack of nourishment caused by thin or impure blood. The starved nerves break down after any unusual strain. This condition is easily remedied with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They start at once to build up the blood, making it richer and purer with every dose, thereby checking further wear on the nerves and the progress of the disease. The new blood makes the nerves more fit every day to do their work.

The thoroughness with which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People act is seen in the clear complexion, better appetite, improved digestion, gain in weight and the freedom from restlessness, sleeplessness, irritability and headaches.

Mrs. Wm. C. Hull, of No. 4912 Melrose avenue, Fruitville, Cal., says: "After a severe attack of the grip a few years ago, I began to suffer from nervous prostration. For three years I was a nervous wreck and was confined to bed during all that time. It is hard to describe my suffering. I was completely exhausted and had no strength. I felt as though I would never get well. I could not get much sleep and would cry a great deal. When friends called on me I could brace up only for a short time when I would collapse. I was living in Gilroy and was treated by three doctors. They gave me only temporary relief and said I was suffering with nervous prostration. I was completely discouraged until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. After a short trial I was surprised to find how much good they were doing me. I gained in flesh and strength and kept on improving until I was cured. I felt twenty years younger. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are my only doctor now and whenever I don't feel just well, I take a few doses of the pills and they always help me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People have given gratifying results in nervous debility, nervous headaches, neuralgia, sciatica, St. Vitus' dance and even partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia. They are guaranteed to be free from habit-forming or harmful drugs.

Woman's Realm

Certainly the courtesy and generosity with which the members of the board of directors of the Young Women's Christian association and the other workers in the campaign for $8,000 which closed this afternoon have been received by the business men of the city, is a tribute to the association and those who run it.

Quick and generous response to their request for money with which to carry on the work of the association for the year manifests a trust in the board women and their ability to run the work to the best advantage, so that the association can stand for the greatest good to the city and the girls and young women.

Not only the business men have been generous donors but interest in the work has been materially manifested by large donations from the women of the city. Twelve $100 pledges have been made by women, one of $150 and several for $50 each, and last evening about 9 o'clock one woman called at the association building and left $20 which she said she wanted to give and was afraid she might not be able to get it in today before the close of the campaign at 4:30 o'clock.

The women who have worked so faithfully for the past eight days were entertained at a tea this afternoon at the close of the work, when all reports were made for the final count of amounts received.

The results of this morning's work were most encouraging, a good start being made towards the $1,287.25 which they lacked to make up the $8,000. At noon today Miss Trimble stated that they felt almost sure of reaching the $8,000 mark, "but if we don't," she said, "we will surely make it up in the next two weeks for many of the regular subscribers of the association are out of town and have been during the campaign and we know that we can count on them for help even if we cannot count their donations in the campaign fund."

One hundred and thirty new members had been added to the lists by noon today and there are probably many more who have added their names for a special effort was being made today for members.

SUFFRAGISTS CRITICISED.

Head of American Association Says Conference Lacked System.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 24.—Miss Jane Addams of Hull house, Chicago, was the speaker at the closing session of the Mississippi Valley Suffrage conference last night and declared that the suffrage movement, delayed for years, was now on its way to full fruition. She declared the world would be farther advanced today if the women had been given the vote at the time of the French revolution. After Miss Addams' address, Mary Swayn Wagner, head of the American Suffragettes, caused a disturbance by criticising the methods of the conference, and many women left the hall while she spoke her mind on the lack of systematic effort evidenced by the leaders of the movement.

At the afternoon session of the association a resolution was introduced adding a national move to buy no goods when traveling in Great Britain as a protest against the sentence of Mrs. Pankhurst. No action has been taken as yet.

Miss Mary McFadden of this city and Mrs. A. T. Hall of Minneapolis president of the Minnesota Woman's Suffrage association, have been attending the sessions of this conference.

The swimming pool will be kept open until June 1 by Miss Stewart who has volunteered to take this work until then and it will then be closed for ten days for redecorating and cleaning.

After June 10 Miss Veitch will arrive to take charge of the pool for the summer and the schedule will be announced later.

Playground Advice.

Club women of this city received a wealth of advice from Dr. Henry S. Curtis, playground specialist, at the special meeting of the Woman's council held yesterday afternoon at the library clubroom. The advice was based on the knowledge gained in this work in New York and other cities where playgrounds have been successfully established and after his talk he answered many questions which the women asked on various phases of the subject.

Spalding "Lilac Tea."

The tea tomorrow afternoon at the Spalding hotel is to be a "Lilac Tea." Great branches of these blossoms have been ordered for the decorating of the pretty Palm room and palms and ferns will also offer a relief to these flowers. The program, which will be played during the tea will be of more than exceptional merit, as Miss Wally Heymar, violinist, Miss Florence Lawson, cellist, and Miss Alice Mae Brown, contralto, will all appear as soloists as well as giving their usual trio numbers. Many little informal parties are being planned for the afternoon by groups of from three to eight for these teas have become an established custom in the social life of the city and always draw large crowds.

Bonci and His Wife Sail for Sunny Italy

A. BONCI AND WIFE.

Alessandro Bonci and his wife have sailed for Europe. Bonci was very happy as he went away for next season he returns to opera. For several years he has been singing in concert only. Now he will return to the Metropolitan to sing lyric tenor roles. And no one sings them as well. Bonci was discovered by Oscar Hammerstein and he has been an American fixture every winter since. They don't like the American climate these songbirds, and they are anxious to get away to sunny Italy or La Belle, France, as soon as the season is over. But they are equally glad to return in the fall for another harvest of American dollars. Bonci has brought suit against the New York Central Railway company for damages because the car in which he travelled to Canada was not heated and he caught an expensive cold.

THE EVENING STORY

WHEN DEBBY PAID

By Susan Hubbard Martin.

Debby was serving the chocolate in Mrs. Gibson's dining room.

"Yes," that lady was saying, "I was at the parsonage the other day, and I really felt sorry for the minister's wife. It was the first day she had been up since her illness, and the children were noisy. How very small, too, the rooms are at the parsonage. I declare, I don't see how she manages at all in such a little place. I noticed how pale she was and weak still. Her hands quite trembled. And do you know, things down there are beginning to look quite shabby. Oh, by the way, have you not heard that we ere behind again on the salary? I certainly would never be a minister's wife."

"Neither would I," replied Mrs. Clayton, carelessly, as she sipped her chocolate. "So we are really behind again, are we? How many eggs are there in this cake? It's delicious."

"Four," replied Mrs. Gibson, a trifle absently.

"And she's subscribed $4 to missions," she added slowly.

"Who?" demanded her friend.

"The minister's wife," answered Mrs. Gibson.

"Debby, pass Mrs. Browning the sugar. "You see," went on that lady, "she pledged it before she had that illness. I've been wondering if it won't be hard for her to pay it. All our pledges must be in by the last of next week. She really can't afford to give to missions, and yet how she loves them. She'd give to them if she hadn't any shoes." Mrs. Clayton laughed.

"I wouldn't," she remarked. "If I have a weakness, it's for pretty, well fitting shoes."

"Well, as soon as I can find time, I'll try to run down there and see her but, dear me, we are all so busy." And Mrs. Clayton, whose husband was on a large salary and who kept a cook and second girl, actually sighed. Then Debby took the cups out and washed them. Debby was small and dark eyed, with thick braids of black hair. For the services she rendered Mrs. Gibson that lady paid her $3 a week.

Debby had always been poor. There was a large family at home, and it came her turn early in life to earn her own living. She had never had any pretty clothes, and she was trying hard now to buy a new dress. Upstairs in her dresser drawer was a little tin box containing all her money she had in the world—$4. She gave her mother $2 every week, and that left her $1, but lately she had not been able to save even that.

First Jimmy, her little brother, had fallen down and cut his head, and the doctor had to sew that up; then the baby took the whooping cough, and her mother lost her best place for working out in consequence; so Debby had given it all to her without a word. But now, if nothing more turned up, she would soon have enough to buy the coveted dress.

She wanted a blue one, dark blue, with velvet on the collar and cuffs. She had never had, in all her life, such a dress as that was going to be. But as she went upstairs to her little room that night she kept thinking of the minister's wife. She had heard them talk, too, about the salary not being paid. "And she's promised $4 to missions," thought little Debby. "Oh, someone ought to pay it for her when she's been so sick. They all have so much more, but they won't think any more about it." And then a sudden thought struck Debby: "Why not pay it yourself?"

To be sure she would have to wait longer for the new dress, and her old one was getting shabby; but then, she was young and strong, and now that things were moving smoothly at home she could save more. She knew the minister's sweetfaced wife well. Then Debby cheerfully made the sacrifice.

It was her afternoon out the next day, and Debby, when she had left everything spotless went her way. It was only a few minutes' walk to the parsonage. One of the little boys let her in. The minister's pale little wife was trying to hush the baby. She was holding it in her arms.

"I'm Mrs. Gibson's girl," said Debby, coming forward; "that is, I work for her, and you're not to pay that pledge to missions. I've brought you the money." A beautiful flush rose on the face of the minister's wife.

"Mrs. Gibson!" she cried. "How very, very kind of her." She looked at Debby in her sweet, interested way. "It was going to be hard for me to pay it, terribly hard," she added, "with the expenses of my sickness and everything. How good the Lord is."

"Yes," answered Debby, softly, as she put the $4 in her hand. "He is always good." The girl saw she did not understand. Debby would never have told her. She reached out her arms for the baby. "Let me take it," she pleaded. "Most children like me." And the baby was no exception. As he felt the pressure of the young, strong arms, he suddenly ceased his wailing, pulling at Debby's red ribbons.

"The sweetest thing happened today," said the minister's wife to her husband, as soon as he came in, "I have thought that the ladies of the church did not always appreciate how hard it is for ministers' wives to do their part when salaries get behind and people fall sick, but I'll take it all back. Mrs. Gibson's paid my subscription to missions, dearest—$4—and the time was getting so near. I quite trembled, for all the children need stockings, and Bobby must have some shoes; but now this eases me. Wasn't it good of her?"

"It was, indeed," agreed the minister. "And Mrs. Gibson, too. Somehow one would hardly attribute such thoughtfulness to her. She impresses me as being rather cold and distant. Another case of never judging, my dear." The very first day she was able to go out she went up to the Gibson home. She was very pale still. It had been a hard illness and she had recovered from it slowly. She took Mrs. Gibson's extended hand and kissed her. "I wanted to come sooner," she began. "I was afraid you might think me ungrateful, but indeed you will never know just the good your money did me. The thought that you understood and cared helped me quite as much as the $4."

Mrs. Gibson looked perplexed. "The $4?" she repeated. "I am afraid I do not quite understand."

"Why the money you sent me to pay up my subscription to missions," explained the minister's wife. "Your little maid brought it down, Debby, I believe you call her."

"Oh, Debby—" A light broke over Mrs. Gibson's puzzled face.

"Excuse me a moment." Mrs. Gibson went straight to the kitchen. Debby was ironing napkins. Her cheeks were rosy red. "Debby," she began, "the minister's wife is here, thanking me for some money I sent her. I never sent her any. Do you know anything about it?" Debby blushed.

"Yes'm. The afternoon I served the chocolate I heard you talking about it, and I felt sorry for her. I know what it is to be poor, and sick, besides, so I took my $4 down to her. She understood you sent it, and I didn't tell her. It really didn't make any difference, just so she got it. I hope you don't mind, ma'am."

Mrs. Gibson looked at Debby—at the small, toil hardened, rough hands, her honest, cheerful face. And then suddenly it came home to her heart that the small, underpaid servant in her kitchen knew better than she what it meant to follow "in His steps."

What sacrifice had she ever made? Whom had she rendered happier on account of it? What a poor make believe of a sham she had been, after all. No wonder they fell behind with the salary, if all the members were as selfish as she.

"Debby," she said, suddenly, "come with me, "and taking Debby's hand, she drew her into the parlor. The minister's wife sat there. "My dear," Mrs. Gibson said, huskily, "you must thank Debby, not me. Debby paid your pledge to missions. Debby, you're a good unselfish girl. Oh, I am so ashamed. I have learned a lesson in giving I shall never forget."

But the minister's wife had taken Debby's rough, red little hand and was crying quietly—and so was Debby—and so was Mrs. Gibson.

Former Duluthian Outdoes J. Ogden Armour Who Waltzed With His Cook

Chicago, Ill., May 24.—Not since J. Ogden Armour waltzed with his cook, and Mrs. Armour was led through the mazes of the Virginia reel by her coachman has such a scene been enacted as that which took place in the apartments of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Roderick McLennan, on Lincoln Park boulevard, when the McLennans' cook and maids entertained the elite of the lake shore drive coachmen, valets, butlers, maids and cooks at an elaborate ball and supper.

The expense of the function was defrayed by the McLennans, who left for their new permanent residence in the country near Lake Forest today. In commemoration of the pleasant times they had had in the exclusive apartment where they had lived for the last ten years, they gave the party to all of their "help."

Many of the chauffeurs received permission from the owners of cars to call for and take the other invited guests to the party. The supper was served by a fashionable caterer and following the elaborate repast there was music and dancink. Mr. and Mrs. McLennan and their friends were among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. McLennan are very well known in Duluth, having formerly resided in this city. They are also frequent visitors here, and Mr. McLennan is a partner in the Manley-McLennan insurance agency.

NO CHANGE IN ICE PRICES

Same Schedule Will Be in Force as Last Summer.

Ice will be sold at Duluth through the camping summer at exactly the same schedule of rates as prevailed last summer. This was stated today by officials of the leading Duluth ice companies, when asked about it by The Herald. The most generally used items of the schedule are those providing a charge of $2.50 a month for two deliveries of fifty pounds of ice each per week, and a charge of $3 a month for three such deliveries a week.

"This same schedule has been in vogue since 1900," said an official of one of the ice companies today. "Last winter there was more expense incurred in cutting the ice than during the previous winter, because the weather was so much colder, and it was harder to get the men to work. Yet the price of ice will not be raised. We have a standing schedule that has been figured out with great care, and we estimate that although the cost of getting the ice varies from year to year, the average cost is such tht the schedule we have had since 1900 has yielded and will continue to yield a fair profit."

IOWA FISHERMAN DROWNS WHILE TAKING SWIM.

Iowa City, Iowa, May 24.—Leo Blakeman, aged 20, a freshman in Iowa university, was drowned yesterday afternoon while swimming in the Iowa river. He was the son of Herbert Blakeman of Jessup, Iowa. The body was recovered. Ralph E. Gray of Eldora, Iowa, though a cripple, attempted to rescue the drowning boy and narrowly escaped death himself.

CAMPFIRE ON BEACH

Spanish War Veterans of State Will Gather Here in June.

Duluth Soldiers Will Entertain Visitors With Boat Rides and Auto Trips.

A campfire on the beach will be one of the features of the annual state encampment of the Minnesota Association of United Spanish American War Veterans, which will be held here June 21, 22 and 23.

The detailed program for the encampment has not been completed, but one evening will be given over to the campfire, which will be held on Park Point. A camp dinner will be served and the setting will be in characteristic camp style.

A business session of the convention will be held each morning of the encampment and the afternoon and evening will be given over to entertainment features. There will be a drive around the boulevard, a boat ride on the harbor and a banquet in addition to the campfire on the beach.

The state association has a membership of about 1,000, and many visitors will accompany the members of the encampment. The local arrangements are in the hands of members of John G. McEwen and Major A. M. Diggles camps of Duluth.

REPLEVIN SUIT IS DECIDED

Wholesale House Recovers Stock of Furniture From Retailer.

A suit in replevin brought in district court by C. E. DeWitt, as trustee for creditors, against John H. Thomasson, for the possession of a stock of furniture valued at about $7,000, came to an end yesterday in Judge Ensign's court after having been on trial for several days. The jury found for Mr. DeWitt, the plaintiff.

From the evidence it appeared that creditors held bills against Mr. Thomasson aggregating $5,500 and that Mr. DeWitt was acting in the capacity of trustee for the creditors. There was also evidence that when a representative of the trustee attempted some few weeks ago to take possession of the goods he was ejected from the premises in no gentle manner.

Mr. DeWitt claims that in an attempt to terminate the trusteeship, Mr. Thomasson brought a suit against him and demanded an accounting. When the accounting case was called for trial Mr. Thomasson dismissed the case. The replevin suit was then tried, which resulted in a verdict in favor of Mr. DeWitt.

On the verdict returned by the jury the court will enter judgment that Mr. DeWitt be given possession of the stock of merchandise which has been in litigation. It will be sold, it is understood, to satisfy the debts of Mr. Thomasson.

The case was hard fought by the attorneys in the case, H. J. McClaren represented the plaintiff and A. E. McManus was attorney for Mr. Thomasson.

UNIQUE RAILROAD TRAIN.

Popular Mechanics: One of the most interesting railway trains in the world is now making a tour of the western section of the United States for the purpose of showing people interested in transportation the great progress that has been made in rolling stock and appliances during the last thirty years.

The train includes representative types of locomotives, flat cars, box cars, coaches, etc., of 1881 and 1911. To add interest to the spectacle, for it is a spectacle, the men who operate the train, the conductor and engineer, have both been in the service of the railroad more than thirty years.

They started to work when the ancient locomotives and obsolete cars on their new train represented the highest development of mechanical and engineering progress. The train is pulled from town to town along the main lines and branches of one of the biggest systems in the country and is sidetracked and exhibited to the townspeople. Representatives of the railroad explain to visitors the improvements and their superiority over the old.

SOLDIERS AS FARMERS.

Boston Advertiser: How to be a soldier contentedly and profitably at far away posts is being solved at one lone fort in the West. At Fort Stevens in Oregon the coast artillerymen there have taken to farming, raising garden truck and hogs.

The beginning was made last spring with eight hogs valued at $200, and Quartermaster Sergeant Hacking has on hand now thirty-five fat hogs worth at least $30 each. In a period not exceeding eight months he has increased the assets of the company by more than $1,000.

The capital was of course provided by soldiers stationed at the fort, who did also some of the labor. Table scraps were used to feed the hogs with and $50 was spent in providing feed. The profits realized were at the rate of 500 per cent. One hog killed weighed 600 pounds and brought $75.

The soldiers are satisfied with their summer work as farmers and will start on a larger scale next season.

A NEW GRAIN DISCOVERED.

Chicago Tribune: A new grain known as black winter emmer has been evolved after years of study by Prof. Buffum, who conducts an experiment farm in the Big Horn basin near Worland, Wyo.

The grain is somewhat larger than wheat, and is a cross of wheat and several other less known grains. It will grow in much drier soil than wheat and four times as much can be grown to the acre. It weighs more to the bushel than wheat, and while hardly so fine as that grain for food purposes, may assist materially in solving the general food problem, owing to its excellence and cheapness as fodder for the animals whose flesh figures on the dinner tables of men. Emmer itself is not a novelty. It has been raised for many centuries, and has been given much attention by farmers in Russia.

LOOKING FOR WORK.

London Answers: The laziest man in the village was actually running, and running hard.

On, on he ran, until—crash—he landed plump into the portly vicar.

"What—what is the matter?" gasped the reverend gentleman in astonishment.

"Can't stop, sir!" came the hurried reply. "I've just 'eard o' some work."

"And have you got the job?" asked the vicar interestedly.

"Don't know, sir, just goin' to see."

"What is it?" asked the clergyman in amazement.

"Some washin' for my wife!"

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

WHILE naturally the press agent is on the job, and is at the present time just beginning to get his trusty typewriter warmed to the service of grinding thoughts for those people who do not think, and raising the interest in the coming Johnson-Flynn fracas, it is a matter of fact that the high altitude, as mentioned in one of the press reports, may have some bearing on the ring behavior of the jocose Johnson. If the fight does not prove a walk-away for Johnson—if Flynn can make any kind of fight of it at all, then the dinge might start puffing in some of that rarified ozone and feel a weakness below the bread line that will leap to the instant advantage of the white.

While here Jack Curley, between opening telegrams and letters, mentioned something about the rare air hurting Johnson if he should be pressed for deep gulps of nature's sweet reviver. Perhaps, who is the person to answer. Curley selected Las Vegas as the place to hold the fight as the section on the hemisphere where the former feeder of the panting engine would have the very best chance in the world to win.

When all has been said and several things done, the whole question is one dealing with the condition of Johnson. Even book agents scarcely realize the loss of nerve force, so insidious is the inroad of time and ingredients that are served at tables and by waiters. Johnson may think he is as good as he was, and then climb through the ropes and find at the end of the first round that he is a grinning ghost of the fighter who used to be.

Sullivan at New Orleans was nothing if not comical in the last stages of the fight. Jeffries was a whole burlesque show. Johnson may become somewhat affiliated with precedent and tread with ponderous stride the path that was taken by two great former stars of the ring.

And there you are—and there is the chance and the only chance of Flynn.

TO J. H. R. Let's both confess. That Michigan game incident you speak of was ended when the referee called time for the second half—all of which shows your lamentable ignorance of football history. Now will you tell what George Capron said to you that time, and also tell why you laid off so suddenly? Is it that you have a weakness and quail before a show of wrath?

YESTERDAY'S mail brought a highly decorated envelope from Salt Lake City, Utah, said envelope bearing the pictures of Walter Miller and Mike Yokel, the two great little grapplers who are to meet at Salt Lake City on May 27.

Miller writes that the outlook is great for the biggest crowd that has ever attended a wrestling match in the Far West. "It looks like a sell out," says Walter, "and the capacity of Salt Air pavilion, where the match is to be held, is 10,000. Your humble servant has an option on a per cent of the gross in addition to my guarantee, so that this talk of turning 'em away does not make me feel bad in the least."

Walter is one of the cleanest little fellows in professional athletics, and he is a business man from the instep up. It is a pleasure to see a boy with the principles of Miller get ahead, and here is hoping that he beats the Yokel man on the festive occasion.

PRESIDENT BLUME has the right hunch regarding the shortening of the games played at Athletic park. The best service that a president of a league can perform is to please the fans. Tickle the risibilities of the fans and there is little danger of the turnstile becoming rusty. The fans of Duluth want the games played in faster time, and therefore the action of the genial president shows that he has his ear lobe close to terra firma.

What we want here is fast and snappy exhibition of the national pastime, and if President Blume is the fair haired child of opportunity who is going to see that we get it, it is three huzzahs and a bouquet for you, Harry.

FROM CHICAGO way comes the song of the wires announcing that J. Arthur Johnson will leave on the morrow's morning train for the scene of the impending battle with Flynn and that his training quarters have been selected. J. Arthur will train and automobile daily from Ferypat, which is eight miles east from the city of Las Vegas.

According to the stories that come forth from the base part of Chicago, Lil' Arthur will have music and other forms of entertainment that stir the soul and heat the imagination. According to Will Shakespeare's dope, Jack Johnson is no savage, for music—if the bass viol can qualify—is one of the daily diversions of the big black man who has got so many of the little white boys during his career in the ring.

SOME OF THE MINERS from Casper, Wyo., are pooling their per diem's living accounts and are going to plunge on Jim Flynn. If the cost o living in Casper is the rude and haughty thing that she is in other parts of the country, our advice to the miners is to hang on and cultivate the respect of and a nodding acquaintance with the pay teller of one of the leading banks of the place.

JACK CURLEY, promoter of the coming fight between Flynn and the colored conquerer of Jeff, has been married—again, we mean. The new Mrs. Curley is the daughter of W. C. Drescher of Denver, and according to the press dispatches, the period of acquaintance was short and sweet. Jack met the bride two weeks ago, and now comes rice, old shoes, the ring—and the promises. Promptness of decision and the courage of his convictions have ever been two of the distinguishing traits of the promoter of the next championship bout.

JUDGING FROM THE RESULT of the encounter between Willie Lewis and George Carpentier, the French middleweight, the parley vous lad will prove rather soft for Miquel Gibbons, the sensation from the south of us. Gibbons had two frolics with Lewis, the last one lasting so quick that some of the seat holders wanted their money back. If the pair hook up, it will not be a case of let George do it—it is quite likely to be a case where George had it done. That old golden rule is always being mistreated.

St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—The eight-oared crew which will represent the Minnesota Boat club in the dual race with the University of Wisconsin at Madison next Saturday, left St. Paul last night at 8:30 p. m. over the Northwestern line. Upon arriving at Madison the crew will unload the boat and have it transported to the lake and will then go over the course on a practice spin so that the men may become familiar with rowing in still water, and get accustomed with the course. As all the rowing done by the local club is on the Mississippi river, where there is a decided current, it is necessary for them to go to Madison a day earlier to get their balance on still water and get accustomed to the heavier drag upon the catch. For this reason the crew will take two preliminary spins today for the race which will be run off, weather conditions permitting, at 10 a. m. Saturday.

ALL-NATION BALL TEAM.

Houghton, Mich., Aggregation Has Eight Nationalities in Line-up.

Houghton, Mich., May 24.—Baseball in the Michigan Copper country seems to be the true melting pot for the races. An example of the interest taken by all races in America's national game can be seen in the Houghton Athletic association team just organized among the miners. The nine players on the team represent eight different nationalities. The members are: Glado Bannucci, Italian, catcher; Ed. Hiltunne, Finn, pitcher; Stephen Austin, American, captain and first base; Louis Jacobs, Jew, second base; David Verville, French Canadian, third base; Fred Beauchanne, French Canadian, shortstop; Yalmar Anderson, Norwegian, right fielder; William Folgrase, Cornishman, center field; William Flnnegan, Irish, left field.

Tim Hurst Resigns.

New York, May 24.—Tim Hurst has resigned as manager and matchmaker of the Garden Athletic club. Ill health made it impossible for him to continue longer and on the advice of physicians, he has gone back to Belle Harbor, Long Island, to recuperate. Hurst, after being ill with pneumonia, tried to resume his duties last Saturday, but grew worse and had to give up altogether.

Duluth Loses Hard-Hitting Extra Inning Game By 7 to 6 Score.

Winnipeg Comes From Behind and Overcomes Big Lead of the Sox.

Winnipeg, Man., May 24.—The Maroons won a slugging fest from the White Sox yesterday by the score of 7 to 6 after ten innings of exciting baseball. The locals came from behind in the ninth inning, tying up the score with four runs. The winning run came with two down in the final round.

Each team used two pitchers. Altman for the Maroons led in the hitting, getting four hits, including a double. Sours led the Sox with the willow, connecting safely three times out of five trips to the platter. The contest was one of the heaviest hitting contests ever seen at Riverview park. The score:

Grand Forks, N. D., May 24.—Grand Forks lost a close and exciting game to Superior yesterday by the score of 3 to 1. Rhoades only allowed the Flickertails three hits off his delivery, while but four blows were gathered off the delivery of Wilson. Poor work upon the part of the infield was responsible for the loss of the game.

FLYNN GETTING HEAVY.

Fireman Will Enter Ring With Johnson a Large Man.

East Las Vegas, N. M., May 24.—Jack Curley, handler of Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, has high hopes of having his entry enter the ring weighing 200 pounds when he squares off with Lil Artha Johnson six weeks hence. Flynn has been inserting an average of five pounds per annum on his robust form since forging to the front. For years Flynn, who will be 30 years old Dec. 24 next—not 32 as is chronicled in most dope books—has been fighting since 1901. The Coloradan was called a little fellow. He was as low as 156 when he met Jack Johnson in their other encounter. That was Nov. 2, 1907, practically five years ago, Lil Artha beating him in eleven rounds, after Flynn had given a rare good account of himself, the difference in weights and experience considered. It was not until a year later, when Flynn was fighting big fellows like Al Kaufmann, Sam Langford, Battling Johnson, Jim Barry and Philadelphia Jack O'Brien, that he ever made the scales wobble at 190 pounds. In 1909 he increased his bulk to 165 pounds. In 1910 he was varying between 165 and 168. The weight kept coming until in his last engagement, with Carl Morris in New York, Sept. 15, 1911, he came in weighing 175 pounds. Curely is ready to guarantee the public that Flynn will weigh at least 190 pounds July 4; in fact, Jack believes that the fighting fireman will scale as high as 195. Then there is a possibility that he will tip the scales at 200. Curley whirled a little delegation of friends out to Flynn's camp at Montezuma Springs in his automobile yesterday. Jim weighed 210 pounds when he reached Las Vegas last Thursday night.

LA CROSSE WAR CARRIED INTO COURT.

Vancouver, B. C., May 24.—Judge Morrison in the supreme court declined to grant injunctions to prevent Cliff Spring and Len Turnbull from playing with the New Westminster lacrosse team in a game with Vancouver today, Victoria day. The decision was a move in the lacrosse war which extends clear across Canada. The two men involved are stars of the national game.

R. J. Fleming, who owns the Toronto lacrosse team, says he hired the two men early this year to play in the East. They returned recently to New Westminster, their home town, and Fleming instituted proceedings to restrain them from playing today.

Rifle Shoot.

Camp Perry, Ohio, May 24.—Captain E. Eddy, inspector of rifle practice of the Eighth regiment, O. N. G., was high score in the first day's shoot here yesterday in the contest of sharpshooters of the National Guard to pick a team to compete in the international shoot in France next month and also at the Olympic games in Stockholm, Sweden.

TEN EYCK SHIFTS NEW MEN TO THE FIRST EIGHT

Recruits Given Chance to Win Seats By Good Work—But Three Vets in the Boat.

(BY BRUCE.)

Last evening Ten Eyck shook up the first eight. With the shift of the men in the junior eight came some words from the coach. He informed the new men that if they proved good enough to hold their places in the first boat that the change would be permanent; and on the other hand, if they fail to grasp the opportunity to make good there will be another shift and a new night crew will be on the job.

As they climb into the shell now the crew is: Thompson, at stroke; Lathrup, at 7; Kent, at 6; Amsbuchler, 5; Glass, 4; Cheney, 3; Peterson, 2; Quimby, bow.

Sole and Grant, two of the men who rowed last year, have been shifted to the second eight for the time being. The present lineup means that but three of the men who rowed in the first eight last year are in the first eight this season. Quimby is the only old man outside of Thompson, Lathrup and Kent. Quimby rowed bow in the junior four last season.

It is altogether too early to tell what the new men are going to do. If they round to there is the prospect of a very good eight going out of here for the regatta at Winnipeg, which is attracting more interest in Duluth than any sporting event of the past few years. But it will require some time for the development of the recruits.

Groomed as Sculler.

Cliff Thorburn is being groomed for the sculling event and if said Cliff comes along between now and the first of July, Jimmy will have his first sculling protege since coming west. There is also the possibility that Thorburn will hold down the stroke position in the junior four as well as compete in the junior sculls. That all depends upon the showing of the material that the coach is using in the four at the present time. If a stroke doesn't develop Thorburn will be a sweep oar as well as a sculler.

Early in the year it looked as if the junior eight would be composed of veterans. Here we are pulling in June and it is discovered that the eight will be somewhat of a green one—that is, figuring the makeup of the crew from the present writing.

Glass is showing form, though somewhat light. Amsbuchler is a moose and seems to be taking to the rowing game. Cheney has had some experience with the sweeps, rowing on the freshman crews of one of the Eastern colleges. He is a well-putup chap and should make good. Peterson is a strong and hardy youth, and if he masters the finer points of the game he will make a very valuable man.

Wallace Quimby is rowing better this season than ever before. Ten Eyck has ironed some of the wrinkles out of the Quimby boys' form, and as Wallace has always been one of the most willing workers at the club, he is showing the improvement that has come with patience and the proper kind of coaching.

Jimmy Ten Eyck received a letter from his pater yesterday. The old gentleman, one of the grandest rowing men that this country has ever produced, is the coach of the Syracuse crew, and the letter was penned after the great victory over the Annapolis naval school.

Back in 1908 young Jim stroked Syracuse and at the end of the mile the navy was all in. Old man Ten Eyck was following the race in a torpedo boat and was keeping an anxious eye on his boys. Jimmy nodded to his father that they were winning in a walk. The old gentleman evidently didn't notice it. Then Jimmy took off his cap and waved it, all the time keeping on rowing.

In the letter received yesterday the old gentleman wrote that Thurston, one of the boys that Jimmy gave some valuable rowing pointers to, stroked a great race, but that he used both hands to win.

Since that 1908 victory of Syracuse the fact that Ten Eyck rowed a small fraction of the way with one hand has been a standing josh. The navy boys are the best losers in the world, according to James, and they make a joke out of the fact that a crew defeated them with a stroke that only used one hand part of the distance.

The navy boys had rowed so high a stroke to the mile mark that they were all in when Ten Eyck took one hand off the oar. Thurston in the race of the other day used the same oar that Jimmy used back in 1908.

CORNELL IS THE WINNER

Ithaca Crew Takes Triangular Boat Race With the Greatest Ease.

Boston, Mass., May 24.—Holding always the master position the Cornell varsity crew, three lengths to the good at the finish, watched Harvard win second place from Princeton by 10 feet in an interesting triangular contest yesterday afternoon, over a course of 1⅞ miles in Charles river basin.

Cornell completed her sweep of the basin half an hour later, when the freshmen crew came across the line a full length ahead of the Harvard 1915 crew.

Cornell caught the water first and getting a half length lead in the first ten strokes, the race settled down within the first two minutes to a terrific struggle between Harvard and Princeton. The tenacity with which the orange and black oarsmen clung to the crimson, was the feature of the contest. At no time could Harvard gain open water over her pursuers. Cornell had open water at the half-mile but Princeton's bow oar was even with Harvard's stroke. Half way down the course, Cornell increased her lead to two lengths, and with plenty of reserve power left, the Cornell oarsmen watched the fight astern.

At the one and one-half mile, Harvard hit up the stroke in a last effort to shake off their opponents. But the orange and black men responded instantly and gained foot by foot on the crimson, finishing one second after Harvard. The freshman race which followed quickly was even more exciting than the fight for second place among the older crews. The Harvard youngsters had the better of the start and made their advantage nearly half a length at the half mile. Then the Cornell coxswain called on his men, and in the next half mile the relative positions had been reversed and Cornell held the lead across the line.

DECLINES TO PASS ON LAW

Albany, N. Y., May 24.—Attorney General Carmody has declined to pass upon the right of a referee to render decisions on boxing matches in his state. The question was presented recently to the attorney general by the state athletic commission following the action of a referee, who indicated the winner of a recent bout at the National Sporting club of New York city.

Mr. Carmody informed the commission that the law creating it gave it full power to make rules and regulations governing boxing matches, and that the action of the referee was a question for the commission.

The commission revoked the license of the National Sporting club for violating the rule prohibiting decisions. The club then secured an injunction restraining the order from being enforced until the case could be decided by the appellate division. The commission retaliated by obtaining a court order directing the club to show cause why the injunction should not be vacated.

Golf at Short Hills.

Short Hills, N. J., May 24.—There were few upsets in the second day's play of the Metropolitan Golf association tournament at Baltusrol. Among those to survive the second round were: Jerome D. Travers, the titleholder, Findlay S. Douglass of Nassau, Walter J. Travis of Garden City and Oswarld Kirby of Englewood. The most notable match was that between Wallace Sinclair and S. D. Bowers, Sinclair finally winning after three extra holes had been played

WATKINS LEAVES THE INDIANS

Indianapolis, Ind., May 24.—W. H. Watkins, president, and James Burke, manager, of the Indianapolis club of the American association, resigned yesterday, and Charles O'Leary, shortstop, succeeded Burke as manager.

Dissatisfaction with the team's playing and differences of opinion as to a policy to improve it, brought about the decision of Watkins and Burke to resign, according to Sol Meyer, treasurer and principal stockholder.

Watkins has been interested as part owner and president of the Indianapolis club for years. O'Leary, the new manager, came to the team from the Detroit Americans.

Cobb Will Play Saturday.

Chicago, May 24.—Tyrus Cobb, the suspended Detroit Star, will be back in the game by Saturday, according to President Comiskey of the Chicago American league team, who returned yesterday from the meeting of the American league presidents at Philadelphia as a result of the strike of Jennings' players. Comiskey conveyed the impression that a ten-day sentence was placed against Cobb at the special session, but this was not announced. Comiskey also announced that a new infield would be ready to line up against Detroit on Saturday.

Baseball Decisions.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 24.—Holding that the lowering of its classification and changes in its membership did not relieve the Ohio and Pennsylvania league from obligations of previous years, the National Baseball commission upheld a national board award of $62.70 to Player Welchonce dating from 1910. The request of Player Jack Pfeister to be declared a free agent because of the failure of the Milwaukee club to negotiate with him within ten days after his release to that club by the Chicago National league club, was renewed.

ON THE IRON RANGES

BACKA TRIAL CALLED OFF

Pleads Guilty to Second Degree Manslaughter, Going to Stillwater.

John Drexler, Who Killed Virginia Saloon Keeper, Also Sentenced.

Virginia, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Backa, who fatally shot his wife at their home south of Hibbing several months ago, will spend the next several years in the state penitentiary at Stillwater, as he pleaded guilty here today in district court to manslaughter in the second degree, and Judge Hughes imposed an indeterminate sentence of from one to fifteen years in the penal institution. Backa was being tried a second time, the jury in the first case having disagreed. Yesterday was spent in an effort to secure a jury. When court adjourned last night nine jurors were in the box and the panel was exhausted. A special venire of fifteen, returnable this morning, was issued. When the work of selecting a jury was resumed this morning, counsel for the defense offered to plead guilty to second degree manslaughter for his client. This was acceptable to Assistant County Attorney Boyle, and the case was accordingly ended, the judge accepting the plea of guilty and passing sentence.

Slayer of Two Sentenced.

John Drexler, found guilty of manslaughter in the first degree, was given an indeterminate sentence from one to twenty years in Stillwater. He shot and killed Axel Pakkala in Pakkala's saloon here on the morning of Dec. 24 last. At the same time he killed John Koski.

Joe Blake, who pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the second degree, received an indeterminate sentence of from one to five years in Stillwater.

STILL LOOKING FOR MURDERER

David Ahonen, Alleged to Have Killed Makkela, Is Being Sought.

Ely, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Meining and posse, aided by the local chief of police and others, are scouring the country around here for David Ahonen, the woodchopper who is alleged to have assassinated Jacob Makkela, a prominent Finnish farmer in White Iron Lake township, about six miles south of here, yesterday morning. The murder was one of the most cold-blooded committed in this section in years, the victim being shot down about a quarter of a mile from his home while opening a gate across the county road to go to work on the county road.

Someone during the night had closed the gate, and when Mr. Makkela went to open it he was shot in the back and died from the wounds in about four hours. He left home at 5:30 a. m., a little while later a shot was heard by one of the men employed on the farm, and about 6 o'clock Makkela was found by John Havanen. Mike Hivanen and Matt Mantilla helped carry him to his home, where he died about 10 o'clock, without being able to give any information in regard to his assailant. Blood spots show at the gate, which he had opened just about two feet, and his effort to get back to the house can be traced for about forty feet where he was found. This gate is in a dense woods, although a little clearing has been made on one side, and brush piles and corded wood made it possible for the murderer to hide completely from the victim. Mr. Makkela was 40 years of age, and leaves a widow and eight children, the oldest of whom is about 15 years of age and the youngest being only about 1 year old.

Wound Mortal One.

The body was brought to the Laing undertaking rooms in Ely, where an autopsy was held last night by Coroner Ayres. The bullet passed through the tenth rib on the right side, shattering it, passed through the lung and came through the fourth rib, shattering that also and cut the line on the harness of one of the horses near the bit, which would seem to show that the murderer was but a very short distance away.

A few days ago David Ahonen asked Mr. Makkela to get him some liquor and left money to pay for it. Later he came back saying that he had left a $20 gold piece by mistake. This was denied by Makkela, who claimed he had left $2. A quarrel ensued and Ahonen is claimed to have remarked that he would shoot him. Last fall Ahonen had some difficulty with E. Nickson and threatened him, so no attention was paid to the remark. Ahonen has been drinking heavily lately. Ahonen's cabin was searched by the authorities yesterday, and it was found that his rifle and six cartridges were gone, and the alarm clock was set for 4:30. The presumption is that he was awakened at that hour and waited for Mr. Makkela for an hour.

Mr. Makkela was a member of the Maccabees and Woodmen. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon.

WHITE PLAGUE HAS CLAIMED ANOTHER

Louis Coursolle of Two Harbors, Despite Good Treatment, Passes Away.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Louis B. Coursolle died yesterday at the home of his parents. He had not been well for several years, but it was not realized that he was dangerously ill until he went to the state sanatorium at Walker, where it was found that the disease had made such inroads that treatment would be unavailing.

Louis B. Coursolle was 30 years old last February. He was married in April, 1910, to Miss Eva Pronovost. Besides his wife he leaves a son, born last November, also his parents, who reside here, and five brothers and two sisters. The brothers are: Albert, Victor, Joseph and Edward, all living here, and Nazard, chief clerk in the D. & I. R. engineering department in Duluth. There are also two sisters: Mrs. Mary Vincent and Miss Clara Coursolle, both of this city. The funeral will probably be held Saturday morning from the Holy Ghost Catholic church and interment will be made in the Calvary cemetery.

HIBBING WOMAN IS VICTIM OF PARALYSIS.

Hibbing, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Melinda Chamberlain, for several years a resident of Hibbing, died yesterday from the effects of a stroke of paralysis with which she was afflicted several weeks ago at her home at one of the mining locations. Her case was called to the attention of the visiting nurse by the Oliver police. Mrs. Chamberlain was about 40 years of age and had no relatives in this section. An effort is being made to locate her people who are believed to reside at Ypsilanti, Mich., and the body will probably be shipped there for burial.

TOWER COMMERCIAL CLUB HAS MEETING.

Tower, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club met Wednesday night. The committee on Young People's club reported unfavorably on the Commercial club assuming any responsibility in the matter.

The delegates to the Chisholm meeting of the St. Louis Commercial club are J. D. Murphy and Herman Olson. The city council is unfortunately not inclined to lend its assistance to enable the club to entertain the St. Louis Commercial club at Tower for a summer meeting. The work of hatching 300 quarts of wall-eyed pike eggs was reported as about finished by the state fish commission employes.

Baking Helps

Valuable Suggestions

By Mrs. Nevada Briggs, Exponent of the Art of Baking, as taught by Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill

Helpful Cake Making Hints

Always sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times. The more sifting, the lighter the cake. Remember that! To cream butter and sugar quickly, warm the sugar slightly. Beat yolks of eggs with rotary beater. Whip whites of eggs with flat spoon whip. Water makes lighter cakes; milk makes richer cakes.

To mix a cake, first cream butter and sugar thoroughly, then add yolks, if used. Then alternately add moisture and flour that has been sifted with baking powder and stir until smooth and glossy, adding egg whites after thoroughly mixing.

Always use K C Baking Powder.

Biscuit Helps

Always sift flour and K C Baking Powder at least three times.

Have shortening cold and firm. Mix dough as soft as it can be handled. The softer dough goes into the oven, the lighter the biscuit when it comes out. It is easier for K C Baking Powder to do its work in soft than in stiff dough. Mix biscuits very little. Do not knead. Stir up with spoon or knife and press in shape to roll on floured board.

With K C Baking Powder results are sure and certain. Ask your grocer for K C. 39

EVELETH WILL SOON HAVE BAND CONCERTS

DIRECTOR MORONI.

Eveleth, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth city band will begin on June 2 to give regular semi-weekly concerts on the street, the same as last year. A subscription of $1 a month each will be made up from among the business men and others. The band, which gained an enviable reputation last season under the leadership of Prof. Joseph Moroni, will be directed by the same man this year. Regular practice has been kept up all winter and the organization comes out this spring in excellent form. Prof. Moroni has already made several contracts for playing at summer picnics.

ALICE PEOPLE FEAR RESULTS

Annexation to Hibbing Reported Not as Popular There as in Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the issue of the annexation of the village of Alice to Hibbing, now being much discussed by the people of both villages, ever comes to a vote of the people and there is not a radical change in public sentiment at Alice it will never carry. Out at Alice a well known Hibbing gentleman expressed it yesterday, "they seem to have an idea that some one is trying to gobble them up." No one in Hibbing is willing to stand for that insinuation, but those who have carefully sized the situation up from all angles are agreed that annexation has a good many advantages for both towns.

The incorporation of Alice has never been satisfactory to some of the big mining companies in that vicinity. They have fought and are fighting the validity of the organization of the village in the courts and they do not want to be compelled to pay 90 per cent of the actual cost of contemplated improvements. Substantially this is at present the issue between the village of Alice and the Scranton Mining company. In the meantime all improvements of every nature are held up because of a lack of funds, which is indirectly the outcome of an injunction recently secured. When the present litigation will end it is hard to determine.

Hibbing For Annexation.

A good many Hibbing people would like to see annexation carry, with the assurance that the street car line would be extended to the city's southern suburb and desirable residence lots and home acres would be accessible at a reasonable figure. Hibing is not a city of homes, but there is a growing sentiment to make it such. The uncertainty regarding mining operations on the townsite is responsible for this condition. Realty in the townsite is far beyond the pure of the ordinary man. Rents are high and the combination has driven many people in recent years to move to the locations. There is no more desirable residence place in the vicinity of Hibbing than the village of Alice. It is off the ore bodies and its permanency as a home place is thus assured. Then, too, there is reason to believe that if annexation were consummated territory now included in the Utica, Morton and Agnew mines would be joined to Hibbing and the valuation of the village would be greatly increased. Improvements would be made then at Alice commensurate with its needs. Alice needs electric lights, better streets and a sewer system.

"TRIED THEM ALL"

"My little girl was sickly the first few months, but from the time we gave her Mellin's Food she has steadily gained until you can see how well she looks now. We have tried all the infant foods on the market but believe there is none that can compare with Mellin's Food. We are glad to recommend it to anyone."

Mrs. Russell S. Dean, Detroit, Mich.

"I want you to know how delighted I am with Mellin's Food. I think it is the best food that any mother can give to her baby. I started when my baby was three weeks old, because my breast milk wasn't enough for him, and I can say with all my heart that if it wasn't for Mellin's Food my baby would starve. He is now three months old and is good, healthy and strong."

THEY LIKE WILSON.

New Jersey Governor Is Popular Among Itasca County Democrats.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Democratic state convention is to be held in the village hall at 2 o'clock next Wednesday. The primaries will be held Saturday.

The county convention will elect seven delegates to the Democratic state convention.

In Itasca county there is considerable sentiment among the Democrats for Woodrow Wilson for president, and it is quite likely that the Itasca county delegation will be instructed for him.

STATE OFFICERS WILL VISIT ELY

Auditor Iverson, Treasurer Smith and Others Going on Vermilion Range.

Ely, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ely will be the host tomorrow to some state officers. State Auditor Iverson, Attorney General Smith, State Treasurer Walter I. Smith, Ralph Wheelock the governor's private secretary, accompanied by Georgt Flinn of the Iron Range road will arrive on a special car and represent the state land and timber commission in investigating land conditions on the iron range. They will arrive at noon. An automobile trip to Burntside Lake, fishing, etc., is planned. James Moonan has charge of the arrangements.

MEANS BETTER ROADS.

Itasca County to Take Advantage of Elwell Law.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Great benefit will result to Itasca county in the way of better roads as a result of the supreme court decision upholding the Elwell road law, as it will mean the expenditure of a large sum for road work in this county, according to speakers at the mass meeting of citizens of the county held at the courthouse Wednesday evening, with President Kiley of the local Commercial club presiding.

County Commissioner King, an earnest advocate of road building, delivered an address laudatory of the Elwell law, and predicting great good would result to this county. "The Elwell law makes it possible," said Mr. King, "for Itasca county to raise and expend on her roads this year $240,000. This will cause no increase in taxation whatever, but, on the contrary, Itasca county will get her $240,000 worth of good roads at an expense to the county of only $60,000.

"The average township in this county is paying a 10-mill tax for roads, and the added increase to this will be only 1½ mills, which will insure good roads to all parts of the county. If the Dunn amendment carries at the next session of the legislature it means that over $1,000,000 will be spent in Itasca county next year in highway construction."

SUPERINTENDENT BLISS RE-ELECTED SCHOOL HEAD.

Virginia, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The school board has voluntarily increased teachers' salaries from $8 to $10 per month, the average increase being over 12½ per cent. The increase applies to every teacher except in cases where teachers were receiving the maximum which has been fixed by the board. Lafayette Bliss who has been superintendent of the Virginia schools for several years, remains at the head of the schools. There are fifteen vacancies on the teaching staff yet to be filled. The examinations under the direction of the state high school board began today and will continue Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Nearly 500 in the high school, the eighth and the seventh grades are taking the examination.

GOING TO VERMILION.

Tower, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies' Aid Society of the St. James Presbyterian church has chartered the Olive for a trip on Lake Vermilion tomorrow. Many are expected to enjoy the trip. The dinner will be served at Gold Island. The dam and Goodwills will be visited in the course of the day.

G. D. Lizer of the land department of the D. & I. R. R. was a business visitor in Tower Thursday.

An excursion to Isle of Pines is planned for Sunday. Boats will leave at various hours for the objective point.

The pulpit of the St. James Presbyterian church will probably be occupied next Sunday evening by a minister who comes from Michigan and is a candidate for pastor of the Ely and Tower congregations.

Arrangements are progressing for a dinner by the Commercial club at the Vermilian opera house May 31.

SAGE TEA WILL DARKEN THE HAIR

Restore Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Dandruff Quickly Removed.

There is nothing new about the idea of using Sage for restoring the color of the hair. Our grandmothers kept their hair dark, glossy and abundant by the use of a simple "Sage Tea." Whenever their hair fell out or took on a dull, faded or streaked appearance, they made a brew of Sage leaves and applied it to their hair with wonderfully beneficial effect.

Nowadays we don't have to resort to the old-time tiresome method of gathering the herbs and making the tea. This is done by skillful chemists better than we could do it ourselves; and all we have to do is to call for the ready-made product, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, containing Sage in the proper strength, with the addition of Sulphur, another old-time scalp remedy.

This preparation gives youthful color and beauty to the hair, and is one of the best remedies you can use for dandruff, dry, feverish, itching scalp, and falling hair. Get a fifty-cent bottle from your druggist today, and you will be surprised at the quick results. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Special agent, Max Wirth, 13 West Superior street.

The grounds will be used for play grounds for the children and an agricultural garden will be put in this summer. The grounds surrounding the St. Paul location school at Keewatin will also be graded and fenced. Work will be commenced next week.

SCHOOLS PETITION FOR CONSOLIDATION.

Thirty-one applications, many of which are from St. Louis county and Northern Minnesota, have been made to the state superintendent of schools asking for the consolidation of school districts in order to secure greater financial assistance from the state under the provisions of the new law adopted at the last session of the legislature.

Under the new law, school districts which consolidate and change from a common to an independent district are entitled to secure additional departments to their courses such as manual training, domestic science and agriculture. In addition they also obtain special aid besides one-half of the expense of maintenance.

Under the consolidated plan, the united districts must provide transportation rigs of a prescribed style with which to carry the children to and from the central school. St. Louis county already has two of these schools established. They are at Floodwood and at Meadowlands.

NICARAGUA MAY SUFFER REVOLT OVER FINANCES.

Washington, May 24.—Inability of Nicaragua to obtain a loan has placed that country in an embrassing financial position, which may result in violent disorder, according to the state department dispatches from the legation at Managua. Officials of the Nicaraguan government have impressed upon the American minister the immediate need for several thousand dollars for payment of the so-called gold debts and back salaries of government employes. Unless financial assistance is promptly given, it is said, many business houses to which the government is indebted, will fail.

NEWS OF THE WEST END

COMMISSION PLAN FAVORED AT ROUSING MEETING OF THE GREATER DULUTH CLUB

Nearly 300 Business Men Vote for New Form of Government.

Public Market Place, and Playgrounds Are Also Considered.

Steel Plant Will Be Operating "In the Very Near Future."

By a unanimous vote the members of the Greater Duluth club last evening went on record as favoring the commission form of government, and a resolution was adopted and passed urging a special election at an early date. The meeting of the club followed the monthly banquet held at the new Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street, and was attended by about 300 business and professional men of this city. The remarkable growth of the club is shown by the fact that only 40 were present at the first meeting and 150 at the second.

E. J. Filiatrault, treasurer of the club, introduced the resolution indorsing the commission form of government as the only way to successfully manage the municipal affairs of a city. Following is the resolution, which was unanimously adopted by the members of the club:

"Whereas, The experiences of nearly 200 American cities that have adopted the commission plan of government show that without exception it has worked an improvement over the old system, giving as good a government for less money, a better government for the same money, and often a better government for less money.

"Whereas, The fairly effective government which Duluth has enjoyed has been due more to the character of the men chosen by the citizens than to the system itself, which frequently breaks down at many points; and

"Whereas, An efficient, economical, practical and businesslike city government would be a vital factor in the upbuilding of the community; therefore,

"Be it resolved by the Greater Duluth club, That we earnestly approve the commission form of city government; that we urge that a commission plan charter be prepared and submitted to the voters for their approval at a special election to be held at the earliest practicable moment, and that we pledge our support in the campaign for its adoption by the people."

Enthusiastic Meeting.

The meeting last evening was the most enthusiastic held by the club since its organization three months ago. Dr. Henry F. Curtis of New York and George H. Maxwell of Chicago, both national municipal experts, addressed the club. The two speakers praised Duluth for its effective work in the past and gave rousing addresses on the future of a Greater Duluth. They both urged a better and cleaner Duluth during the growth of the city in size.

Other important matters taken up at the meeting last evening were a public market for Duluth, which plan was launched by Frank Randall, secretary of the club; an investigation into the railroad situation in and about Duluth, as advocated by J. J. Robinson; and a street car extension to the steel plant, which was originally taken up at the last monthly meeting of the club.

P. E. Dowling, president of the club, opened the meeting with a vote of thanks to the West end business men for their reception and dinner given to the members of the Greater Duluth club last evening. He introduced E. L. Millar as toastmaster for the evening.

Commission Row.

Frank E. Randall was the first speaker on the program. He gave a most interesting talk on "The Relation of Michigan Street to Duluth," in which he advocated a public market place to solve the high cost of living and to give the nearby farmers a market for their produce. Mr. Randall cited a number of municipalities throughout the country, all of whom are conducting public markets at a profit to both the consumer and the farmer.

"Direct dealing between the producer and the consumer is far more satisfactory than purchasing in a round-about manner," said Mr. Randall. "The success of the market in Minneapolis shows what can be done in this city. The farmer is able to dispose of his wares; the consumer is able to receive his vegetables fresh from the garden; the merchant is able to purchase for his customers and sell at a fair margin of profit; the commission man is able to fill orders from outside of the city on short notice.

"With a public market in continual operation the farmer is benefited more than anyone else. He learns through the purchases of the consumers just what fruits and vegetables are most in demand. He learns at what seasons certain produce is needed. With this information it is evident that he will only plant such produce that will sell at all seasons, without being compelled to lose many times through lack of understanding. The farmers would form a gardeners' association and among themselves could hold experience meetings, thus conducting in a literal sense a milliature agricultural college. At Minneapolis the city has now in operation the largest public market in the world. The prices are at their lowest, because of competition. The produce is fresh every morning. The grocer could also benefit by purchasing direct from the farmers. It is a fact that many people are averse to carrying a market basket under their arm, but with a public market in operation, the grocer could probably sell his goods at a similar price as he would buy at a cheaper rate from the farmer.

No Opposition.

"Many have said that the commission man is opposed to a public market. This statement is wrong and have a tour along Michigan street last week I learned that practically every merchant on the street is in favor of a market place. And not only that, but they are willing to contribute substantial checks to the cause."

Mr. Randall read a letter from V. R. Culbertson of Culbertson Brothers, commission merchants, in which the writer defended the commission men of Duluth from all abuse directed to them during the past few years. Mr. Culbertson denies that there is a combine on hand to raise prices and announced that his books are always open to the public for inspection. He also announced that after taking a canvass of the merchants he learned that all were in favor of a market place.

Something For Nothing.

In introducing Dr. Henry F. Curtis of New York, Mr. Miller gave an interesting talk on how much a Duluthian can get out of his city for nothing. "We should not talk about the high cost of living," he said, "but should come to realize that in no city in the world can you get so much for nothing. The many treasures of the city, which nature was so kind to give, are all yours without the cost of a penny. If you care to fish, all you have to do is to walk a couple of miles and return home with a string of river trout, which men in the East pay hundreds of dollars to catch. In the fall we can go out a few miles and shoot deer and bears to our heart's content, while hunters in the East pay hundreds of dollars for hunting suits and dogs. And all these for nothing."

Dr. Curtis then gave a most eloquent address on "Playgrounds For Duluth." He not only urged playgrounds in every part of the city, but especially asked the members of the club to secure attendants at each playground in operation. "A playground without an attendant, without a competent person in charge," said Dr. Curtis, "is as bad as a gambling house or a saloon. It is on such a place that the lowest types of boys and girls would gather and set examples to the younger element of a community. There should be no swearing on a playground, there should be a routine established by a competent instructor and the loose girl and the undesirable young man should be kept out. I have seen many playgrounds that are nothing better than saloons or immoral resorts.

Supervision Needed.

"You cannot turn a lot into a playground and say that it is a playground. You must secure competent instructors and attendants, who know the games of the little folks, who know what apparatus is needed for the outdoor gymnasium and who will secure the needed social results for your community. Chicago was at one time laughed at for its playgrounds and park extravagance and today its greatest asset is its park system. One thing that has helped make Chicago the greatest of cities is its extensive park system.

"The playground work has become a science and today there are over fifty colleges throughout the country in which special courses in this work are given to playground workers. The activities of a playground must be organized at all times. In the summer the games could be played in the open while in the winter the social centers could be instituted for the children of each neighborhood."

"Ultimate Duluth."

George H. Maxwell of Chicago, the father of the homecroft movement in this country, was given a most enthusiastic reception following his talk on "The Ultimate Duluth." He urged the citizens of this city to not only work for a greater Duluth, but for a better and cleanner Duluth. Mr. Maxwell cited the many cities of the East, where conditions in tenements and flats are most deplorable. He urged Duluth not to grow in this manner, but to plan ahead and see into the future. He said in part:

"You must not only build a city, but you must build a citizenship. Go back as far as history itself goes and you will find that where a city has grown to immense proportions, humanity itself degenerated. Here in Duluth you have the natural resources by which the humblest citizen can have more than the millionaire in New York. Whether you will preserve your future generations, or whether you will allow them to decline as other cities have done, is all up to you.

"The only way to make Duluth grow better and cleaner is by means of the individual home. Not a tenement, a flat or an apartment house, but the individual home with an acre of land, a playground, and the mother of the home the superintendent of this playground. Here in Duluth all this can be done, because of the natural conditions. All you hear from the cities is the cry for factories, mills and workmen. And if a city has enough of these, that city is called successful. Then it is better for Duluth never to grow at all, if that is called growth. Unless you can grow right, do not grow at all. With an acre of land, the workman can always turn to something in case his mill or factory shuts down. During hard times he will be able to make a living for himself and family.

Wrong Way to Grow.

"It is a downhill game if you are planning to grow like New York or Pittsburg. But it is an uphill game to grow with an ultimate Duluth always in view. What your citizenship is, your city will be. The foundation for a Greater Duluth is a greater citizenship."

J. J. Robinson introduced the following resolution in his talk on "The Relation of the Railroads to Duluth:"

"Whereas, One of the purposes of the Greater Duluth club is to bring the people of the surrounding country in closer business relationship with Duluth, and

"Whereas, the only way to bring about such relationship is through good local train service, by which is meant such train service as will enable people living within 100 miles from Duluth or thereabouts, to leave their homes at a reasonable hour in the morning, to have at least three or four hours at Duluth in which to do their shopping and to return the same day arriving at their home at a reasonable hour in the evening, and

Whereas, Such local train service is not furnished at the present time by any of the railroads except the range roads, and

Whereas, We believe that such local train service will result in benefit to all concerned: to the people of the surrounding country, to the people of Duluth as well as to the railroads, therefore,

"Be it resolved, That the members of the Greater Duluth club hereby go on record as being entitled to adequate local train service, that a committee of five be appointed by the president to investigate existing conditions and to confer with the proper officials of the several railroads running in and out of Duluth, relative to making such changes as will provide satisfactory local train service."

Herald Is Commended.

The resolution was adopted and President Dowling will announce the committee some time next week. Mr. Robinson commended The Herald in its article last Saturday against the knocking sentiment of many citizens of this city. He urged agitations, but protested against knocking.

In introducing W. A. McGonagle as the next speaker, Mr. Millar gave a warm eulogy to one of Duluth's most prominent and public-spirited citizens.

"Men are made of different materials," said Mr. Millar. "God made men of ashes. He made men of mud. He made men of clay. He made others of wood, who are known as wooden men. He also made men of steel. Such a man as the latter is our next speaker, W. A. McGonagle, president of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad."

Mr. McGonagle praised the work of the Greater Duluth club and also urged a hearty co-operation among the various commercial bodies of Duluth. He commented on the work that has been done and also mentioned the coming here of Dr. B. N. Rastall of Milwaukee to take charge of the Industrial bureau of the Duluth Commercial club. This move, he said, was the best the bureau could have taken.

"The first thing we want in Duluth," said Mr. McGonagle, "is the commission form of government. The sentiment here is strong for it, as the recent election on the referendum and recall polled a 4 to 1 vote. I believe the same treatment will be given the commission form of government when it is brought up for election. By this government we can reduce the expenses of our city; we can put the government into the hands of experts; we will reduce taxes and get rid of politics."

The Steel Plant.

Mr. McGonagle gave a most interesting account of the work at the steel plant and affirmed his recent statements that the plant will be finished in the very near future and as soon as sensible business policy allows. "The honesty of the corporation that is building the plant has been questioned," he said, "but this has usually come from the outside. As fast as especially asked the members of the club to secure attendants at each playground in operation. "A playground without an attendant, without a competent person in charge," said Dr. Curtis, "is as bad as a gambling house or a saloon. It is on such a place that the lowest types of boys and girls would gather and set examples to the younger element of a community. There should be no swearing on a playground, there should be a routine established by a competent instructor and the loose girl and the undesirable young man should be kept out. I have seen many playgrounds that are nothing better than saloons or immoral resorts.

money and men can push and complete the work at the plant, it is being done."

"The plant is being built here for business reasons," continued the speaker, "and the growing markets of the West, Northwest, South and Southwest make it imperative that this corporation have its plant located near the center of production. It will be the master of steel industries. While no doubt thousands of workmen will be employed in the plant, the number will be only a drop in the bucket to those employed by secondary plants which will be compelled to locate in the vicinity. These secondary plants will manufacture all the specialties of the steel industry.

"The fact that a steel plant is locating here should not be an impetus toward the boosting of real estate prices. The principal questions asked by a manufacturer seeking a location for his plant is the prices of real estate, the housing conditions for employes and the cost of living. If we make the conditions ideal we will have no trouble in attracting large manufacturers.

Praises Work of Women.

"I wish to commend the Woman's Council for its efficient work in making Duluth a cleaner city to live in. The women should have the co-operation of the Greater Duluth club, the city council and all other organizations.

"In the absence of Miss Mary McFadden, I also wish to give a small boost for the votes for women. In California, where it has been tried, the women have shown great judgement in exercising their right of franment in exercising their right of franchise. The state of Minnesota should follow its footsteps and grant the women the right of suffrage. We men do not always perform our duties as citizens and recent returns at the polls have shown that many of us stay away."

Value of Diplomacy.

Mr. McGonagle concluded by urging the citizens of Duluth to use diplomacy in making their requests to the railroads. "Never use clubs," he said, "but go ahead in a business way and see the highest official of the road. Never go to the station agent or brakeman, as many are doing now, but come to the official in a business manner and if the suggestion is reasonable, nine times out of ten, it will be granted and acted upon. But if the officials of the road do not comply to a reasonable request of the citizen, then is the time to use clubs."

Mr. Dowling concluded the meeting by giving a review of the work done so far by the Greater Duluth club. He also announced that after an examination of the road to the steel plant it was learned that about $35,000 in improvements were needed before the street car company could build its proposed extension. It is up to the council, he said, to appropriate the money for the improvement as the street car company could then begin work this fall on building the extension.

Mr. Dowling announced that John J. Moe, by whose invitation the Greater Duluth club came to the West End, had just telephoned from Minneapolis and sent his best wishes to the club. Mr. Moe is attending the Methodist conference at Minneapolis and was unable to get away for the banquet last evening.

Quotes The Herald.

Mr. Dowling ended the meeting by making a most stirring appeal to the citizens of Duluth to wake up and see what this city needs. He quoted The Herald of last Saturday evening, when a list of cities in this country was named, giving the main asset of each city. As Duluth has all these assets combined, Mr. Dowling cited examples showing how Duluth grew only 48 per cent in the past ten years, while the other cities grew from 100 to 275 per cent.

"I am not knocking," concluded Mr. Dowling, "but am trying to awaken you to the fact that concerted action and effort are needed to the future growth and welfare of Duluth. You have not even encouraged the United States Steel corporation in its great work by attempting to secure this street car extension. You are willing to wait until the plant is finished, when the immediate extension of the car line is imperative. We want every citizen of Duluth to work for the city, to assist in its growth and to make himself a part of the municipality. Favor home products for one thing in your campaign to help Duluth grow. We can keep thousands of dollars and hundreds of workmen in Duluth by this just courtesy to our manufacturers."

During the evening Mrs. W. A. Kaake rendered the following readings: "Her Tailor Made Gown" and "The Census Taker." Blewett's orchestra furnished the music during the early part of the evening.

NO ANSWER FROM SOO ROAD

West end business men have not yet heard from the Soo road with regard to the freight station for the West end and are now anxious to know the plans of the railroad company. Several business men interviewed yesterday said that the local agents promised to take the matter up with the officials of the road nearly six weeks ago.

Early in April the various business men met with General Agent George A. Sherwood and Local Agent Hoof at the Sloan block, where the desires of the local men were heard. The two Soo road officials heard the complaints of the business men and following the meeting promised to refer the matter to the officials of the road. The conditions now existing have been fully explained and the business men are anxious to have these remedied.

The matter will probably be taken up at one of the West End Commercial club meetings.

LET CONTRACT FOR NEW BRICK BLOCK.

Jacobson Bros., contractors, were yesterday afternoon awarded the contract for the construction of a two-story brick building at 2022-24 West Superior street by A. H. Burg & Co., realty dealers, who are the agents for the new building.

The new building will cost $15,000 and will occupy the site of the old frame structure, which was torn down two weeks ago. Mohaupt Bros., proprietors of the West end Five and Ten-Cent store at 2020 West Superior street, have taken a 25-year lease on the entire building and will move into the structure the early part of September. The building is expeced to be finished by Sept. 1.

The new structure will have a frontage of fifty feet and will extend from Superior street to Michigan street. There will be entrances on each street.

SPENDING $3,000 ON CHURCH REPAIRS.

Considerable repairing is being done at present on St. Paul's Lutheran church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street. The old addition to the structure has been torn down and the building is to be moved nearer the sidewalk. The rear of the building is being remodeled and repainted.

The workmen have just finished a large new basement for the structure. A newly equipped kitchen has been installed and Sunday school rooms and parlors have been built on the basement floor. The remainder of the ground floor is given over to furnace and fuel rooms. The main auditorium is being repainted and redecorated.

The entire cost of this improvement is estimated at $3,000 which was appropriated at a recent meeting of the congregation. The following committee of the church, with Rev. E. Wulfsburg as chairman, is in charge of the work: A. Sauer, E. H. Olson, A. Haugh, S. Solberg and O. J. Klippen.

SPOKANE PASTOR WILL PREACH HERE.

Rev. C. August Peterson of Spokane, Wash., superintendent of the Rocky mountain district of M. E. churches and founder of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, is visiting in the West end and will preach at the First church this evening.

Rev. Mr. Peterson organized the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church in 1893, serving as its pastor for six years. He later left for the coast, where he is now at the head of that district. Rev. Mr. Peterson has been attending the general Methodist conference at Minneapolis and was invited to Duluth by Rev. Edward Erickson, pastor of the church. He will remain in Duluth over Sunday and during his stay in the city is the guest of Rev. Mr. Erickson, 430 North Twenty-third avenue west.

CURTIS WILL SPEAK TO COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Dr. Henry F. Curtis of New York, who is conducting a playground campaign in Duluth this week, will speak at the West End Commercial club meeting this evening. Dr. Curtis will speak the latter part of the evening, as he is also scheduled to appear before the West Duluth Commercial club at 8 o'clock.

Before Dr. Curtis' arrival the members of the club will transact the regular business for the week. The special committee on the white way appointed at the meeting of the club two weeks ago will make its first report this evening. The members have been interviewing the business men and property owners on Superior street for the purpose of learing the sentiment on the question.

Other business matters to be taken up are the improvement and paving of the West end streets, the garden and homecroft plan and the advertising campaign. The latter is to be launched at a meeting of the club in the near future. The object of this is to encourage residents of the West end to shop and deal with the merchants in this end of the city. Photographs of the various mills, shops and department stores will be taken and shown to the members of the club and then taken before the various improvement clubs in this end of the city. Special matinee meetings for women are also being planned.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon communion services for the new members will be held and in the evening a reception will be given in honor of the confirmants. Each member of the class will be presented with a Bible in commemoration of the occasion.

Following are the members of the class: Albin Anderson, August Anderson, Christine Anderson, Edward Anderson, Elmer Anderson, Lillie Anderson, Roy Anderson, Ruth Anderson, Edith Bergquist, Esther Bjorlin, Knut Boreen, Adolph Broman, Anna Broms, Arthur Carlson, Ruth T. The deceased was 67 years old and leaves four daughters and three sons besides Mr. Moir. The funeral will be held at Kingston Monday afternoon and Mr. Moir will return the latter part of next week.

Duluth Assembly, No. 595, Equitable Fraternal union, will hold its regular bi-monthly meeting tomorrow evening at its new lodge rooms in the Woodmen hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. A class of ten new members will be initiated during the first part of the evening.

Organize Ball Team.

The tenants of the Sloan block, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, have organized a baseball nine and the members are now planning to arrange for games with other teams of the West end. The members practice every other afternoon and are anxious to schedule a game with tenants of other buildings in the West end.

ASK BALDWIN TO SEEK NOMINATION

Connecticut Democrats Want to Present Him at Baltimore.

New Haven, Conn., May 24.— The presentation of the name of Governor Baldwin of Connecticut to the Democratic national convention at Baltimore as a candidate for the presidential nomination will depend, it is understood, on the outcome of a call on the governor today of a committee of the state delegation to ascertain his position.

The Democratic state convention requested that the fourteen votes of Connecticut be cast for Governor Baldwin. Subsequently the delegation appointed a committee to wait on the governor and request permission to present his name to the convention.

LEARNING TO BE THRIFTY

Pupils of the Irving School Have Saved Sum of $1,134.

Boys Saving the Money Formerly Spent for Cigarettes.

The banking department of the Irving school originated by S. A. Foster, principal of the school, is a big success. According to the report of Mrs. Jensen of the First National bank yesterday afternoon, the pupils of the school have already deposited $1,134.84.

About 400 pupils are listed among the depositors of the First National bank, which is conducting this school banking plan throughout the city. The Irving school was the first to take up the plan, following Principal Foster's earnest work in its behalf. Mr. Foster is well pleased with the work accomplished so far and believes that the banking system has also increased the thriftiness and morality of the pupils. Boys, who formerly smoked or foolishly spent their money, are now making their weekly deposits, said Mr. Foster.

The idea of school savings banks dates back to 1834, when Dulac first introduced it in a communal school at Le Mans, France. In this country the system was first introduced in 1885 at Long Island Sound, N. Y. Following is a list of the cities of this country, showing how long the banks have been in successful operation:

Long Island City, N. Y.	1885
Chester, Pa.	1890
Pittsburg, Pa.	1898
Williamsport, Pa.	1890
Kansas City, Mo.	1902
Atlantic City, N. J.	1905
Augusta, Me.	1907
Hartford, Conn.	1906
Oakland, Cal.	1908
Minneapolis, Minn.	1908
San Francisco, Cal.	1909
Spokane, Wash.	1909

The following report was recently sent by one of the leading banks of San Francisco to the superintendent of the schools: "The system is in 90 school houses, 1120 rooms; established Aug. 7, 1911. There are 44,915 scholars on the registers; 4,412 of them deposited $31,146.89; $639.24 of this has been withdrawn, and $30,507.65 remained in the Bank of Italy to the credit of 4,412 scholars Dec. 16th."

That the movement is nation-wide can be seen by the fact that the Massachusettes legislature at its last session, passed "An act to provide for compulsory instruction of thrift in the public school."

WATER FOR NEW DULUTH

Independent System Will Be Established If Guaranty Is Raised.

When Business Warrants City Mains Will Be Extended.

If the residents of Duluth will guarantee the water and light department an income of $1,500 yearly, an independent water system will be built in New Duluth.

The board considered plans and estimates for the New Duluth system and a resolution was adopted that the system be installed as soon as a petition, signed by the residents and property owners of New Duluth, guaranteeing an income of $1,500 yearly, is filed with the board.

The plans contemplate an independent system supplied from wells by a pumping station. The estimated cost of the system is $24,000. A 10-inch water pipe, which will be large enough for the future needs of the suburb, will be installed in Commonwealth avenue.

As soon as the business warrants and the department is able to bear the heavy expense involved, the city system will be extended to New Duluth and the independent pumping plant will be used as an auxiliary.

DULUTH SCHOOL GIRLS CAN MAKE A DRESS FOR $1

A house dress complete for 98 cents is the latest achievement of the girls of the sewing department of the Central high school under the direction of their teacher, Miss Florence Aikin.

True, the dress wouldn't be quite the thing on the boardwalk at Atlantic City, and it wouldn't do to wear to a dog luncheon in New York city, but it does very well for what it was intended—a dress to wear in and about the home.

One girl wanted a little more "fussy stuff," a ruffle here and there, and hers cost $1.03. At that it is a very neat piece of work and serviceable.

The dresses are made of gingham and the cost including everything, cloth, trimming and all, comes to only $1, slightly more in some cases and slightly less in others.

"Economy coupled with serviceable material and good workmanship is the key note to what the department is trying to do," said Miss Aikin in showing some of the dresses this morning.

Everything from patching to tailoring is taught in this department. The advanced class will take up millinery next year. Even home decoration is gone into thoroughly, the students being taught the difference between good taste and bad in everything from the building itself to furniture.

Although the sewing department was authorized by the school board but a few months ago and has been installed the present school year, the girls have taken a great interest and under Miss Aikin have developed greatly during the year in the home-making branch of their high school studies.

"Cost of living and ways to keep it down and yet appear decently clad are one of the problems of our day," said Miss Aikin, "and that is what we are trying to help solve, in the sewing department.

"The girls will get a lot of wear out of their 98-cent dresses and a lot of satisfaction, too, for they made them and that is satisfaction in itself.

"Some of my girls never had a bit of experience in sewing before they came into my class and they have picked it up almost as quickly as those who had. The dresses fit, they are neat, they will wear and the girls, I think, enjoyed making them."

The dresses were completed in the class room, the girls fitting one another.

INDIAN LAND BILL IN FAVOR

Steenerson Measure to Quiet Title Will Be Reported Favorably.

Some Amendments Are Made By the House Committee.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, May 24.—Representative Steenerson's bill to quiet title to lands in the White Earth Indian reservation which have not been attacked in the government suits now pending, was today ordered reported favorably to the house by the committee of Indian affairs. The bill was modified to provide that patents should be issued within six months after its passage, instead of ninety days as provided originally.

The bill also was amended to provide for a modification of the Clapp acts of 1[illegible] to provide that hereafter restricti[illegible] shall be removed from lands he[illegible] Indians with one-half or less of Indian blood.

Some Exceptions Included.

"All other allotted lands," the amended bill provides, "shall be restricted and not subject to alienation contract to sell, power of attorney or other incumbrance prior to July 1, 1933, except that Indians of more than half and not over three-quarters Indian blood who have allotments in area exceeding eighty acres may alienate such of their allotments as are in excess of that area. The secretary of the interior shall not be prohibited by this act from continuing to remove restrictions as heretofore, and nothing herein contained shall be construed to impose restrictions heretofore removed to cases where conveyances have heretofore been made."

The amended bill also provides that a roll of the White Earth Indians shall be made under the direction of the court of claims, within six months after the passage of the bill, which is to show the quantum of blood of each Indian.

FAVORS ONE CENT POSTAGE

Charles W. Burrows Says First Class Mail Is Unfairly Taxed.

Charles W. Burrows, president of the National One Cent Letter Postage association, addressed a meeting at the Commercial club today on the objects of the association.

Mr. Burrows asserted that the adjustment of postal rates, under which first class mail pays many times the cost of the service is involved, is inequitable and is an economic loss to the business men of the country. He outlined the campaign for a decrease of letter postage to one cent and an increase in the second-class rates to make up the deficiency.

Mr. Burrows quoted statistics to support the position of the association. He charged that most of the magazines carried under the second-class rate are trash and that the expensive advertising pages make up the bulk of them.

Mr. Burrows is accompanied on his present tour by George T. McIntosh, secretary of the association. Both are Cleveland business men.

STRAW HATS ON SUPERIOR STREET

The straw hat season seems to have arrived for good. Half a dozen of the light skypieces were seen on the streets of Duluth today. This is the first time this season that more than one has been seen on Superior street at a time since they were stowed away early last fall. Although an overcoat may be necessary at times, it is considered perfectly safe to appear with a straw hat in public.

RAINING IN SOUTHWEST

This News Causes Bull Movement of Wheat to Collapse Quickly.

Scarcity of High Grade Linseed Sends the Prices Still Higher.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 24.—Although wheat started off in a bullish fashion on the markets of the United States this morning, by reason of reports of hot, dry weather in the Southwest, later reports of cloudy weather and rains caused the bottom to drop out of the bull movement, and closes were made at considerable declines. Duluth July wheat closed at a decline of ⅞c. Cash wheat closed a full cent over July. Duluth durum closed ½c off, oats ⅜c off and rye and barley unchanged. Duluth May flaxseed closed 1c up and July ½c higher.

During the early part of today's session on the wheat market of the United States, there was quite an upward movement, mainly due to reports of hot, dry, windy weather in the Southwest, especially Kansas. There were some very alarming reports from that region, and there seemed to be a general feeling that unless there was rain in that section soon, there would be an appalling loss in this year's wheat crop. Brokers became alarmed and wheat crept steadily upwards. Later in the day, however, reports began to come of cloudy weather looking like rain in many parts of Kansas and still later there were reports of rain at Hutchinson, a place near Wichita, and elsewhere in that state. This not only stopped the bull movement, but caused the bulge to ease off. At noon, July wheat at Duluth was selling for exactly what it was commanding at the close last evening, $1.14½ asked. Minneapolis wheat was likewise unchanged and Chicago was up a little. The Winnipeg market was closed in observance of Queen Victoria's birthday.

News from Liverpool was rather bearish, wheat on that market closing unchanged to ½d lower. The pressure of Argentine offers and reports of liberal Argentine shipments had the effect of bearing the market considerably, though lighter shipments from Russia were forecasted.

Flaxseed Still Higher.

Although receipts of flaxseed from the country on the Duluth market today were fairly large, there being 33 cars on the track for inspection, there was still a great scarcity of the high grade seed, and both the options went up. Duluth May flaxseed at noon was 1c higher at $2.31 and July was ½c up at $2.18 asked. Without doubt, the Duluth market would show much lower quotations if there were not such a big proportion of off-grade seed in the arrivals. Buenos Ayres May closed last night unchanged at $1.78⅛ and London Calcutta May and June closed unchanged today at $2.79⅞.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Bulls in Wheat Pit Show Courage on Weather Outlook.

Chicago, May 24.—Wheat speculators appeared in a mood today to take chances on some accident happening to crops, especially the fields southwest. The weather map showed that practically no rain had fallen in the districts where most needed, and this fact drew attention anew to the undoubted shortage in the states nearby to Chicago. There was also encouragement for the bulls in the report that country stocks in the Minneapolis territory were the smallest ever known at this time of the year. The opening varied from ⅛@⅜c off to a shade advance. July started at $1.10 to $1.10¼, ranging from ⅛c to ¼c lower to 1-16c up and finally rose to $1.11⅛@1⅜.

Subsequent reports of rain in Kansas led to a decided relapse. The close was nervous with July ⅛@¼c net lower at $1.10.

Corn rallied quickly with wheat. Besides, there were reports that in many districts of Illinois and Iowa not half the planting had yet been done. July opened ⅛c to ¼@⅜c down, at 76⅛@76½c, and climbed later to 76⅞@76⅞c.

In the last half of the day, the market was easier on account of wheat having undergone a reaction. The close was at 76½c for July, exactly the same as last night.

Lightness of offerings in the oats crowd made the market firm. Advices were at hand that where seeding had been done when the ground was wet, the growth was rather yellow. July started unchanged to ⅛c lower at 50c to 50⅛c, and ascended to 50⅜c.

Provision dealers kept their eyes on the action of corn, and largely ignored a decline at the yards. Initial sales ranged from 5c lower to 7½c advance, with September delivery $18.35 to $18.40 for pork, $10.72½ for lard and $10.27½ for ribs.

Cotton Market.

New York, May 24.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 1 point on May, which was influenced by a few notices, but generally unchanged to 3 points higher. The weather map was considered favorable, also the official forecast, but rumors that the National Ginners' association would issue a bullish report either tomorrow or Monday evidently caused a good deal of covering for over the week-end, and there was also some buying by trade interests. The May notices were said to be soon absorbed and the market later in the first hour was firm on a flurry of scattered buying with prices about 10@12 points net higher on the active months. Liverpool was about as due. The English market will be closed tomorrow, also on Monday, Friday and Saturday of next week.

Futures closed steady; closing bids: May, 11.16; June, 11.12; July, 11.21; August, 11.26; September, 11.30; October, 11.37; November, 11.40; December, 11.46; January, 11.43; February, 11.46; March, 11.53.

Spot closed quiet, 10 points higher middling, uplands, 11.60; middling gulf, 11.85. Sales, 950 bales.

MOVEMENT SLUGGISH

Prices of Stocks Rise and Fall Within Narrow Limits.

Much of Early Advance Lost By Fresh Selling at Close.

New York, May 24.—A two-point advance in American Tobacco was the feature of the opening of the stock market. International Mercantile Marine preferred and United States Rubber made fractional gains. Reading was strong with some weakness in Lehigh Valley.

Market leaders developed a better tone after the opening, with a further rise in some of the specialties, American Tobacco's gain reaching 7 points. Trading was marked by frequent pauses and more manipulation of obscure issues.

Prices of important securities rose and fell within narrow limits during the first two hours of today's market. The movement was almost too sluggish at times to suggest any definite trend, but sentiment, while still inclining towards conservatism, was more cheerful. Aside from a brief spectacular rise in American Tobacco and strength in such allied shares as Liggett & Myers and Lorillard, together with half a score of other specialties, the net result of the early session was rather confusing and devoid of real meaning. A spurt in Pacific mail at over 2 points advance, revived rumors of change of control of that property.

Bonds were steady.

The market closed steady. Another upturn in the standard stocks was met by fresh selling and much of the advance was lost. Peoples Gas was active and three points higher and Seaboard All Line issues also rose several points.

HIGH COST OF LIVING

Co-operation Being Boosted By the Labor Interests in Canada.

Are Turning for Relief to the Means of Mutual Service.

Ottawa, Ont., May 24.—The high cost of living is a question that will not down. No one seems to be prepared to give a solution of the difficulties that confront every housewife to make both ends meet on the old stipend. In the absence of any satisfactory answer to the problem wage earners are agitating for increases from their employers. The employes of the Ottawa Electric Railway company have demanded an advance notwithstanding that their pay was increased recently. Their case has been submitted to the labor department for adjudication under the Lemieux act. In support of their claims they have prepared a statement of the cost of living, showing how it is impossible for them to get along under their present weekly pay bill. The Ottawa electric line is one of the best on the continent and there never has been any trouble between the employes and the heads of the road. The last increase was given without being asked. The president and vice president of the company were at one time telegraph operators in this city and they have always taken a kind and sympathetic interest in those who work for them. The men are willing to admit all this, but still the enormous cost of everything they have to buy makes it impossible for them, so they say, to live on what they now receive.

Mergers and Combines.

Other trades are agitating for higher wages and the man on an annual salary feels the burden of increased prices equally with the laborer and the artisan. Mergers and combines are multiplying and these have no considerations for the reduced buying power of the dollar as long as they are able to control the market. Take the case of bread. A bread merger was formed some time ago in the province and some bakeries were merged in this city. Without any apparent reason which even the bakers themselves could put forward, the price was raised. Being interviewed by the press, the only excuse given was that the bakers desired to make as much money as possible and as long as the people were willing to pay they saw no reason for not taking the money. How to get cheaper bread is being actively canvassed by consumers, and the proposed remedy is to start co-operative bakeries and also co-operative stores.

This plan has been a success in Guelph. There the trades and labor council got a number of workingmen to band themselves together and start baking on the co-operative principle. The first co-operative store in Guelph to put bread on the market succeeded in bringing down the price 2 cents a loaf. Shares were issued at $2 each and no one was allowed to take less than five shares. No single shareholder could hold more than $50 in stock, so there was no fear of the shares being bought up by outsiders. The profits, of course, will be divided among the patrons.

Competition Eliminated.

The packing houses have also merged their interests, with the result that prices are away up. Competition in many instances is eliminated, and the concentration of business interests has made for huge profits, which the consumer has to pay. The latter sees no immediate remedy except higher wages. Workingmen are unable to live within the city limits, and have to build or rent outside. Those who do live within the bounds of the corporation have to pay all the more taxes. Co-operation is being boosted and may come to stay.

Several years ago Lord Grey, when governor general of Canada, appeared before a parliamentary committee and advocated co-operative stores in a very emphatic way. He gave his own experiences while investigating the system in the old world and showed how beneficial they would be to the consumers on this continent. Mr. Monk, the present minister of public works, got this parliamentary committee to consider and report upon a co-operative bill which he introduced in the house. Witnesses were examined from all over the country and experts gave their views. The result was that the bill was reported by the committee to the house of commons and afterwards passed the popular chamber by a good majority. The retail men throughout the country were aroused over this legislation and came to Ottawa to object to the bill when it was before the senate. The senate held the bill over at the request of this large delegation. During the last session of the Laurier government Mr. Harris of Brantford and Mr. Monk brought co-operative bills, but neither passed.

Agreed to by Laurier.

During his western tour Sir Wilfrid Laurier was pressed by the grain growers for co-operative legislation and he agreed to this, but his government was defeated before he had an opportunity of dealing with the subject. He told the grain growers that he did not know there was any special demand for such legislation, but if there were then he did not see any objection to it. However, Mr. Monk is a strong advocate of co-operation and knows more about it than any other man in parliament. But the subject is one that the government would prefer to see handled by a man outside the cabinet, so that politics could be left out of it as much as possible.

Not satisfied with blocking the co-operative bill the Retail Dealers' Association of the Dominion was incorporated and is now placed in a better position to block any co-operative bill that might be brought forward in the house. The only way that co-operation can carry will be through the government policy. An effort will be made to induce Premier Borden to do so. It would meet with favor in the West and the friends of the principle are increasing in number daily in Eastern Canada. It would be a concession to those who are clamoring for a reduction of the tariff on the grounds that it would assist in reducing the cost of living. But the subject has not been sufficiently well discussed or hard pressed for the government to take any immediate action. No government is looking for trouble and until such time as the people show their strong sympathy with any proposition it is not likely that it can make any substantial progress.

In the Civil Service.

The men in the civil service of Ottawa have been making some headway on the advocacy of co-operation. They have had a co-operative loan association which is well established and doing a good work, notwithstanding that it cannot get incorporation because of the lack of co-operative legislation. There is also a civil service co-operative store. Although in existence for only a year the outlook is that it will be a success. There is also a civil service ice supply company and coal is supplied to the service on a co-operative basis. The only real drawback to all these efforts to cut down the cost of the middleman lies in the want of co-operative legislation, such as Lord Grey and others advocated, and there is not any reason to expect that it will be forthcoming at the next session of parliament. But it is bound to come in the near future.

PETTY GRAFT IN HOUSE, HE SAYS

Representative Fitzgerald Starts Wordy War Among the Members.

Washington, May 24. — A charge that members of the house were guilty of petty grafting was made on the floor today by Representative Fitzgerald, chairman of the appropriation committee. The allegation precipitated a wordy war, in the course of which Mr. Fitzgerald himself was accused of having submitted for payment bills for material for which there was no provision by law.

The clash marked the consideration of the emergency appropriation bill, carrying $201,000 for the expenses of the house.

PLEADS FOR THE FOREIGNERS

Marinus James Speaks Before Baptist Meeting at Des Moines.

Des Moines, Ia., May 24.—"There is as much religion in not calling a Hebrew a 'Sheeney' and an Italian a 'Dago,' and a negro a 'Dinge,' as there is in chanting Psalm 119," declared Rev. Marinus James of Brookline, Mass., in addressing the Northern Baptist convention here today.

"Americans are too hasty in their judgment of the immigration question and their feeling of hatred toward the foreigner is too great," he said.

Mr. James, who recently made a trip across the sea in the steerage at the request of the Baptist board of managers, made a strong plea for improved places of worship and better instructors for the foreigners in America.

The American Baptist Home society opened today's session of the convention.

Three million dollars is the sum that the Baptist churches of the Northern Baptist convention territory will seek to raise this year for the use of convention and its co-operative societies. This sum is to be raised annually. Two million dollars will be expected each year from the churches and $1,000,000 is the annual expectation in personal gifts.

"Every Member" Canvass.

State delegations here for the convention will take the steps for the opening of the campaigns in their various home states. Plans will be made for the conduct of a workers' conference on one day of each state convention. There will be a place on the program of each state convention for a strong presentation of the campaign. Each state association will have an apportionment committee by which the separate churches may be reached. An "every member" canvass is to be conducted. The churches will be asked to give as much for benevolences as for current expenses.

Free Baptists Would Join.

Providence, R. I., May 24.—Notification of its decision to consolidate with the Baptist denomination has been forwarded to the Northern Baptist convention at Des Moines by the Rhode Island Free Baptist convention.

A LOST BOTTLE OF RADIUM.

Paris correspondence New York American: A tiny tube of radium from the laboratory of Madame Curie has been lost in Paris. Inconceivable terrors and dangers surraund this apparently trifling occurrence.

The tube of radium may cause death or mutilation to innocent and ignorant persons, or, in the hands of criminals, it may become an instrument for committing crimes that will defy detection.

This tube of radium is shooting out rays at the speed of 132,000 miles a second. The powers of those rays are only partly understood, but it is known that they can cause terrible injury and death according to the length of exposure.

The lost tube was given to a messenger for conveyance to an American doctor in Paris. On arriving at his destination the messenger found that he had dropped the tube or been robbed of it.

Already the suggestion has been widely spread that radium might be used in crime, and has certainly been acted upon in some instances.

The police are investigating a series of crimes believed to have been committed by a gang moving in fashionable society in Paris. The criminals are of good education and possess abundant resources of all kinds. One of their number is a brilliant and beautiful woman of noble birth, who has played the part of a social hostess with great success.

They plotted to get possession of the fortune of a millionaire named Count de Castillon. Having made his acquaintance, they invited him to stay at a handsome chateau they rented in the country. The woman criminal and one of the men posed as host and hostess. With them was their beautiful young daughter.

After a week in this house the count was stricken with an attack of general paralysis. A doctor was promptly called in and failed to give the sick man any relief. He was greatly puzzled by the case, for he was unable to find any explanation of the disease or any history which might have led up to it.

The count gradually grew worse and died in the conspirators' house. The woman expressed the deepest grief at this event, and explained that the dead man had been engaged to her young daughter.

The doctor's suspicions had been slightly aroused by the behavior of the people in the house. A strange circumstance suddenly strengthened these suspicions.

While attending the dying man the doctor had accidentally carried away with his instruments an ordinary collar button belonging to the patient. When he discovered it he placed it on a glass dish in his office and forgot it for some days. Then the sufferer died.

The doctor picked up the glass dish and was astounded to find that it had assumed a strong violet tint. This, as nearly everybody knows, is the invariable effect of radium on glass. The doctor immediately carried the button and dish to a laboratory.

There it was found that the shaft of the button contained a tiny speck of radium of high power, so placed that there was only a partition of a sixty-second of an inch between it and the outside of the button which would rest against the wearer's neck.

The medical men informed the police of the circumstances. The latter found that the deceased had left a will leaving all his fortune to the young daughter of the mistress of the chateau. The girl and her mother were taking the usual steps to have the will put into effect.

Police and scientists pieced together a theory that one of the conspirators had acted as valet at the chateau and had changed the count's collar button for one containing the particle of radium. The deadly substance, worn day after day over the spinal cord just below the base of the brain, had inevitably produced paralysis. The conspirators had previously forged a will, dated some months before the visit to the chateau, leaving the count's property to the young girl. Every step in the plot had been carried out with exquisite skill.

The supposed criminals will fight desperately for the property, and it will be exceedingly difficult to prove the case against them.

Just now Madame Curie is suffering from a mysterious illness, at first diagnosed as appendicitis, but now decided not to be that disease. It is believed that the radium may have had a specially destructive influence on her intestines without showing its effect on the outside of the body. It is also possible that she has absorbed large quantities of radio-active water, which has remained in her tissues.

HER RULE WITH HUSBANDS.

Los Angeles Times: Miss Kate Riverton Byles, one of the suffragist leaders of Colorado, said at a recent suffragist dinner in Cripple Creek:

"Opponents of woman's suffrage would have you believe that a vote turns a woman into a monster. Yet, when a young man, arriving at the age of 21, gets the vote, does he, or does he not, become a monster?

"But to hear the anti-suffragists talk you'd think that every voting woman was like that lady, rich in her own right, to whom her husband said:

"'My suspicions are at last confirmed. We part forever from this moment.'

"But the guilty lady retorted haughtily:

"'Not at all, sir. Not at all. It's my invariable rule to require a month's notice from every husband.'"

PLAYGROUND ASSOCIATION WILL BE REORGANIZED

Effort Will Be Made to Put Work on Firm Footing.

Dr. Henry S. Curtis Will Bring Week's Campaign to Close.

The six days' campaign of Dr. Henry S. Curtis to stimulte interest in the playgrounds movement in Duluth will be brought to a close with a big meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 6:15 tomorrow evening.

At that time steps will be taken to completely reorganize the local playgrounds association along lines which will enable it to give the city the greatest benefit of the work which has been done by Dr. Curtis during his stay in Duluth. With a knowledge of playgrounds second to that of no man in the country Dr. Curtis has spread the gospel of supervised playgrounds and breathing spots for children from one end of Duluth to the other. He has succeeded in impressing upon the local public their necessity as it was never impressed before. He was able to draw upon his years of experience in various large cities of the United States to aid him in pointing out desired changes in Duluth.

The earnestness with which Dr. Curtis and his addresses have been received, leaves no room to doubt but what the meeting tomorrow night will be well attended, all who are interested in the playgrounds, whether or not they have ever belonged to the playgrounds association are asked to be present at the luncheon tomorrow evening. Those who are planning to attend are sked to notify the Y. M. C. A. in advance.

Last evening Dr. Curtis gave an eloquent address on the subject before the Greater Duluth club and this evening he will talk to both the West Duluth and the West end Commercial clubs.

Yesterday afternoon he spoke to the Woman's Council, in part as follows:

"The play movement, as we have it, came to us directly from Germany. In this country the first playgrounds were opened in Boston in 1886. The city of New York took up the movement in 1898. The Playground Association of America was organized in 1906. From that time the development has been almost phenomenal. In the summer of 1907 there were in this country 90 cities maintaining playgrounds. The next summer there were 185, showing a growth of 100 per cent; the next summer 386, showing again a growth of something more than 100 per cent. In the summer of 1910 there were something over 500 cities. The statistics for the past summer have not yet been compiled.

"In the spring of 1907 the state of New Jersey passed a law authorizing the mayors of the different cities to appoint playground commissions to have charge of playground developments in the different cities. Under this law every large city of New Jersey is now organized. The next year the state of Massachusetts passed a law requiring every city of 10,000 inhabitants to vote whether or not it would maintain playgrounds. Under this law 42 cities voted, and 40 voted 'yes' with a vote that was five to one. Since that time a number of other states have passed playground laws.

Progress Abroad.

"In Germany they have a good development of the play movement in the country, and most of the organized play in England is outside the cities. We have a good start in a number of rural communities in this country, but thus far the developments have not been rapid. I believe that the social and recreational need of play is greater in the country than in the city.

"The play movement in this country shows three distinct stages. The first developments are apt to be in charge of a playground committee of the Woman's club. This committee usually goes to the board of education and asks for the use of one of the school yards during the summer. They go to the sand man and beg the sand for the sandbin, to the lumber man for the lumber for the equipment. A kindergartener contributes her time, and so the movement has been begun in most of our cities.

"The next stage, and what is coming to be the first stage, is where the people of the city organize a playground association. Organization is the secret of most of the social progress of modern times. If twenty-five people in any city will organize and work united-ly and earnestly for some good project, they will usually carry it against twenty-five thousand who are indifferent. There are now playground associations in practically every city of 100,000 in this country, and they have proved tremendously effective in raising money, in securing appropriations from the city and in the general promotion of the movement.

Public Enterprises.

"In a half or more of the cities the play movement is a private movement, but these are the new cities that are just making a beginning. Nearly everywhere that playgrounds have been carried on for a year or two, they have become a public enterprise and are supported in whole or in part by the cities themselves. This makes possible a very much larger development than was possible from private sources. The city of Chicago has spent $11,000,000 on her playgrounds during the past six years. It is spending $500,000 every year to maintain them. It would be quite impossible to maintain such a system from private funds.

"When we say, however, that there are five hundred cities in this country maintaining playgrounds, we must not think that we mean at all the same thing that we do when we say that these cities maintain a system of public schools. Then we mean that there is a seat in some school for every child in the city, but there is not a city in the country that provides a place for every child to play.

"We find from the registration of the children at the playgrounds in the different cities that the children do not come regularly more than a half mile. This clearly means that if we are to reach the children there must be a playground within one-half mile of where they are living. The city of Chicago has thirty-eight playgrounds and needs 340, thus having a little more than one-tenth of the number required.

"Probably the place where organized play is most needed is in the orphan asylum or other institutions for children. These children cannot go fishing or shopping or wander about. They have a craving for the companionship of adults; they have an abundance of time, and their lives are over-mechanized. I believe that vigorous, enthusiastic play could do more for these children than the public school, and I doubt if there is an institution in the country that is making adequate provision for it.

"The little children under 6 ought to get most of their play at home. They have all of their time for play. Play is much the most educating thing that they can do, and the establishment of health and a vigorous physique is the paramount consideration. For about $25 it is possible to put into the yard of a private house, one or two swings, a sand-bin, equipment for croquet and tether ball, and make a fine playground for the little children. Less than 1 per cent of our homes are making this provision.

"The playground of today is very different from the playground of ten years ago. The first playgrounds were simple affairs, consisting usually of a few swings and seesaws and a sand-bin. They were usually open only four or five weeks during the summer. We have added to this equipment the outdoor gymnasium, the wading pool, the swimming pool, and in Chicago and a number of other cities, the field house, which is practically a public Y. M. C. A. building open to all, free of cost. Many of the playgrounds are now carried on throughout the year and in some the playground day has been lengthened to 10 o'clock at night, so as to make provision for the working boys and girls, and adults as well as children. The whole tendency of the play movement at present is for it to become a movement for public recreation, and take as its province all forms of recreation in the community."

MARINE DAVIDSON IN HARBOR

Boat on Which Eight Men Were Scalded Arrives in Port.

Ingolf Sanvik, Coal Passer, Hailed as Hero By Companions.

The steamer Davidson, on which eight men were severely scalded, one of them so badly that he died, arrived in the local port this morning.

The Davidson is one of the Tomlinson boats, and the accident happened at Marquette.

Immediately after the accident, Marquette vessel inspectors went over the boat, and after making an investigation, ordered three new tubes put in before Capt. McGregor was given a permit to sail. The boat had not been inspected since July 26, 1911, it is stated.

Clarence Berg, a Superior man, employed on the boat as a coal passer, died from his burns at one of the Marquette hospitals, and the body was received at Superior today.

The accident was caused, evidently, by the explosion of tubes in the boiler. The men injured were all below, and they were injured by escaping steam.

Ingolf Sanvik, a coal passer, showed unusual courage in trying to save Berg. Berg was in one of the coal bunkers, and Sanvik made three unsuccessful trips after him. Almost choking with steam which escaped from the boilers, Sanvik badly burned, made the fourth trip and was successful. Berg was hurried to a hospital, but was so badly burned that he died in a very short time.

Marine Inspectors Meno and Milne of Marquette required Capt. McGregor to have a full crew on board before leaving Marquette.

Sanvik is considered a hero on board the Davidson and there is some talk of trying to get a Carnegie medal for him. The other members of the crew marvel at his daring and courage. The skin in many places on his body is literally burned from his body. His home is at Moose Lake, Minn.

Marine Situation Unchanged.

The grain rate is now firmly established, apparently, at 1½c and numerous charters are being made at this figure, it is said.

Ore is going down the lakes from both Duluth and Superior docks in great quantities. There is no letup in this branch of the trade and present conditions warrant a steady outpouring of this commodity the entire season.

There is plenty of work for the lumber boats. Never have boats engaged in this trade had a more prosperous season. Eastern men are buying freely and the rate is still $2.50 to Lake Erie ports.

All the companies report package freight business rushing. The passenger business will begin the first week in June. The first boats are expected by a number of the companies about June 4.

American Gets on the Job.

The steamer America of the Booth line will begin making her regular trips to Port Arthur and Isle Royale points next Sunday. She will leave Sundays and Wednesdays during the remainder of the season.

The Booth officials are enthusiastic over prospects for summer tourist travel. Isle Royale was never so popular as it was last year and from the inquiries constantly coming in at the Booth office, travel will be even heavier this season.

ORE "PUNCHER" WANTS DAMAGES

The early freeze-up on the ore docks last year, necessitating the use of steam to thaw frozen ore before loading boats from the docks, is responsible for a $7,800 personal injury suit which Tony Antozkiewicz, an ore puncher, brought in district court yesterday against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway.

Antozkiewicz claims that while employed at the Missabe docks, this city, on Nov. 15 last, it was part of his duty at that time to handle the hose which was used to convey steam and hot water into the pockets, which were clogged with frozen ore. While so doing, he claims, one of the connections of the pipe gave away and as a result, he was severely scalded.

"MOVING THE HEAD OF THE LAKES BACK TO DULUTH"

HOW DULUTH IS BECOMING A GREAT RAILROAD CENTER

One of City's Greatest "Talking Points" Is Its Wonderful Growth as a Traffic Center.

How a Great Railroad Shifted Its Base From Twin Cities to Duluth.

They are moving the Head of the Lakes back to Duluth.

The traffic commission is doing its part—a big part.

The railroads themselves are doing their part, because they see it is good business policy.

Every citizen who comes to Duluth and does business here, gives the Head of the Lakes another little jolt back toward Duluth.

One of the biggest talking points Duluth has, is its railroad development and growth, and it is a talking point that is seldom heard mentioned in Duluth. There is no lack of scolding about some detail of the local service, but the fact that Duluth is slowly, but surely becoming one of the greatest railroad centers in the United States, is rarely heard mentioned.

For years Duluth has been a way station on the lake and rail route between the East and the Twin Cities. It was rather a convenient place to transfer freight from the ships to the trains, but the all important rates were not based upon Duluth, but upon the Twin Cities. The rates "broke" at the Twin Cities instead of at Duluth, and for all practical purposes the Head of the Lakes was at the Minnesota transfer.

Temporary Condition.

But the railroads have realized that this was a temporary condition that existed because Minneapolis and St. Paul "had the jump" on Duluth in the matter of growth, and that it could not continue indefinitely. The result has been a change of base on the part of the railroads and nothing can show this more forcibly than the two accompanying maps showing the Soo lines. In 1908, these lines all converged on Minneapolis. The system was like a huge hand with the fingers reaching over the Northwest, and the wrist at Minneapolis. Today that wrist is moved to Duluth, and the thumb only, stretches down toward the Twin Cities.

The Soo simply saw that it was making a mistake in trying to make Minneapolis its base. The logical base was at Duluth and in less than four years it changed its entire plan of development.

Bright's Views.

Here is what A. H. Bright, general counsel for the Soo lines told the West Duluth Commercial club members, on April 11:

"This city had long since shed its swaddling clothes and already reached the stage of lusty youth, before it arrested the serious attention of the Soo Line, or was considered as vitally

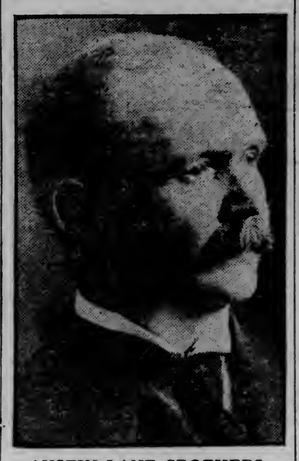
EX-GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND DEAD



AUSTIN LANE CROTHERS.

Former Governor Austin Lane Crothers of Maryland died at Elkton, Md., of Bright's disease last night. He was born in Cecil county, Maryland, May 20, 1860, and was admitted to the bar in 1880; member of the Maryland senate from 1897-1901; defeated for re-election; judge of Second Maryland judicial circuit in 1906, and governor 1908-12. His home was at Elkton. He never married.

NEGRO IS BURNED AT STAKE BY TEXAS MOB

Two Thousand Surround One Confessed Assailant of Girl.

Written Admission of Participation in Crime Followed By Lynching.

Tyler, Tex., May 25.—Dan Davis, a negro, was burned to death at a stake in the streets of Tyler early today after he had confessed to assaulting Miss Carrie Johnson of this city a week ago. Two thousand persons participated in the lynching.

Davis had signed a statement confessing to the assault, but before the match was touched to the pile of wood on which the negro had been bound by the mob, he was again asked if he were guilty.

"I am guilty," he cried, and a moment later the flames were leaping high above his head.

Wrote His Confession.

Davis was brought here early today from Athens, Tex. When members of the sheriff's posse arrived at the jail with the negro they were confronted by several hundred citizens, who waited until the black had written his confession, then demanded that he be turned over to them.

Officers and citizens who had gath-

BISHOPS ARE ALL ELECTED

Methodists Give W. P. Eveland the Office for Southeast Asia.

Social Creed of the Church Is Outlined in Committee Report.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. P. Eveland, president of the church seminary at Williamsport, Pa., on the third ballot today was chosen missionary bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church for Southeast Asia. He received 545 votes, with 495 necessary to elect.

By a vote of 557, or thirty-eight more than necessary to elect, the general conference late yesterday elected W. P. Thirkield, president of Howard university, a negro institution at Washington, D. C., the eighth and last of the bishops or general superintendents. In addition the conference elected Dr. J. W. Robinson, formerly of Harlan, Iowa, but twenty years a missionary in India, a missionary bishop for Southern Asia, and re-elected the four publishing agents of the church.

The election of Dr. Thirkield came on the twenty-sixth ballot, practically his only opponent being Dr. Hughes of Pasadena, Cal., who received 173 votes.

Eight New Bishops.

The eight general superintendents, or bishops, as distinguished from missionary bishops who have authority only in their own districts, elected at the present session of the conference are:

Homer C. Stuntz, New York; T. S. Henderson, New York; W. O. Shepard, Chicago; N. Luccock, Kansas City, Kan.; F. D. Leete, Detroit, Mich; F. J. McConnell, Greencastle, Ind., R. J. Cooke, New York, and W. P. Thirkield, Washington, D. C.

As soon as the election of Mr. Thirkield was announced, the conference turned to the election of two missionary bishops, one for Southern Asia and one for Southeastern Asia, which includes the Philippine Islands and Malaysia. Dr. Robinson was elected over the Rev. Rockwell Clancy, a missionary in India.

Publishing Agents.

WILBUR WRIGHT GAINING STRENGTH

Temperature Is Lower and There Is Hope He Will Recover.

Dayton, Ohio, May 25.—Further signs of returning strength were noticed by attending physicians today in the case of Wilbur Wright, the aviator who has been low with typhoid fever. Wright spent a comfortable night, and with a drop in his temperature, there sprang up new hope for his ultimate recovery.

MINISTER LEAPS OUT OF WINDOW; DIES.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 25.—Delirious from typhoid fever, Rev. H. G. Buisch, an Episcopal minister of Tarentum, Pa., escaped from his nurse in a hospital here today and jumped from a window, dying soon after.

St. Louis Bankers Entertain.

St. Louis, Mo., May 25.—Executive officers of twenty banks and trust companies of eastern cities, representing $3,000,000,000, are here to attend today's "Day in the Country" entertainment of the St. Louis Bankers' club.

GERMAN AVIATORS WANT MORE PAY

Will Strike If They Are Not Given $75 a Month Wages.

Berlin, May 25.—The German professional airmen have unanimously decided to strike tomorrow if the demands of the German aviators' union for a minimum wage of $75 monthly, which was presented today to the aeroplane construction companies, is not granted before noon.

Tomorrow is the principal day of the big national aviation week and a strike of the airmen will cause its failure.

It is stated that the wages of some of the professional aviators are as low as $37.50 a month.

MAY ASK ILLINOISAN TO RESIGN

Vice President Sherman Makes Rush Visit to the Windy City.

Poll of Members Shows Only Forty Supporters of the Senator.

Thirty-Nine Are Certain to Vote Against Him—Sixteen "Doubtful."

Washington, May 25.—Senator Lorimer of Illinois will receive word direct from his friends in the senate that they cannot hope to save him in his fight for the retention of his seat.

While it is not admitted that Lorimer will be urged to resign, it was said he might decide on that course.

Vice President Sherman left Washington last night for Chicago. It was said his mission was private business, but it was rumored he would see Senator Lorimer and communicate to him the result of a poll of the senate recently concluded.

The poll shows:

Certain for Lorimer, 40; certain to oppose him, 39; doubtful, 16.

There is one vacancy.

Worry Over "Doubtful" Votes.

The attitude of the senators whose votes are classed as doubtful has given the friends of Senator Lorimer much concern.

Although nearly a week has gone by since the poll was taken, the Lorimer

HUERTA'S MEN ADVANCING

Mexican Federals Have to Rebuild Bridges to Pursue Rebels.

More Than 800 Dead Left on Field By Orozco's Army.

At Gen. Huerta's Headquarters, Federal Troops, Rellano, Mexico, May 25.—Confronted once more by a series of burned railroad bridges, Gen. Huerta set his engineers at work today to repair them, at the same time ordering a division of cavalry to pursue the rebels, who fled northward after the battle here two days ago.

Every bridge between Rellano and Corralitos is destroyed today, and the rebels, continuing the fight to Jiminez, destroyed most of the railroad behind them.

The federal cavalry today was within two miles of Corralitos, the rebel front, and Gen. Huerta has ordered his horsemen to hurry north to check the insurrectos engaged in destroying the bridges.

The federal columns are in much better condition to resume the cam-

GERMAN MILITARY AIRSHIP WRECKED

Parseval VI Destroyed By Storm While at Anchor.

Leipsig, Germany, May 25.—The dirigible balloon Parseval VI was destroyed this morning by being torn from her anchor by a squall. One of the soldiers on guard near the balloon was injured by the flying tackle. The Parseval VI had arrived only this morning and had been anchored in an open field.

The flexible dirigible balloons of the Parseval type have been almost as unlucky as the Zeppelin dirigibles. Parseval VI, destroyed today, had already met with several accidents. It was severely damaged on March 16, 1911, by being dashed against the balloon shed at Johannisthal near Berlin, and again near Brunswick on April 22, 1911. Parseval II was totally wrecked at Bitterfeld on May 17, 1911. Parseval III was badly damaged during a forced landing in a snowstorm near Bitterfeld on Nov. 16, 1909, and Parseval V was destroyed by fire at Hannoversch-Muenden on June 27, 1911.

REGARD BOLT AS PROBABLE

Politicians Figure Roosevelt Will Run as Independent Candidate.

This Depends Upon His Failure to Win at Chicago Convention.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Out of the result of the primaries in Ohio proceeds a most serious political situation. That President Taft should be unable to carry his own state against an invader makes him on the surface absolutely impossible as the presidential candidate of his own party. By this I do not mean that it is impossible that he shall be nominated. For as his friends control the national committee, and through it the committee on credentials, it is going to be perfectly easy for them to throw out enough Roosevelt delegations to nominate Taft, but that would be somewhat of phyrric victory. Nobody who knows the present fighting spirit of Roosevelt will for a moment doubt that if the victory which he believes he has won at the primaries should be nullified by the committee on credentials he would not

POTSDAM TURNS DOWN BRITONS

German City Refuses Funds to Entertain Visiting Physicians.

Berlin, May 25.—The depth and persistency of the anti-English feeling in Germany which resulted from last summer's crisis in Anglo-German relations was demonstrated today by the refusal of the Potsdam board of aldermen to vote funds for the entertainment of British physicians who are to attend the convention of the Royal Institute of Public Health in July. This convention enjoys the patronage of the highest official circles in Germany.

"England treated us abusively and shamefully," and "England, who is hostile to Germany, wishes to press us against her ley bosom," are among the phrases uttered by the aldermen of the city, in which the emperor has his residence, when giving their motives for their refusal to go to any expense in entertaining the British visitors.

FIGHT HOT IN NEW JERSEY

Roosevelt and Taft Have Aroused Interest of the Entire State.

Business Is Neglected So People Can Hear the Campaigners.

Newark, N. J., May 25.—The whole state of New Jersey is one big political forum. Two days of campaigning for primary votes have put a keen edge on the expectation with which the commonwealth awaits the result of the voting next Tuesday. Every day the candidates have attacked their work with fresh vigor and by primary day there will be scarcely a hamlet, however remote, that has not heard one of the aspirants for the Republican presidential nomination.

Today Theodore Roosevelt and President Taft had speaking programs that would occupy their time close to midnight, and Senator La Follette planned to make several speeches in the vicinity of this city. The candidates were favored by ideal weather.

Like a Holiday.

The interest in the struggle has increased, until today seemed like a holiday all over the state, business being neglected while crowds assembled at the railroad stations or

DON'T FORGET THAT MONDAY IS THE BEGINNING OF CLEAN-UP WEEK.

CARMEN JOIN IN LONDON STRIKE

About 120,000 Men Are Idle Owing to the Walkout.

London, May 25.—Large numbers of carmen augmented the ranks of the striking transport workers in the course of today and it is calculated that by tonight 120,000 men will have ceased work.

Some friction is threatened owing to the attempts of employers to have their clerks do the work of the strikers, but up to the present no disorder has occurred.

A stoppage of work by all transport workers early next week is threatened throughout the whole United Kingdom.

The leaders confidently anticipate they will be able to call out 245,000 trade unionists without difficulty and they expect to secure the support of 200,000 non-unionists. The railroad men, it is thought, could easily be induced to participate. The glut of ships in the Thames is constantly increasing. Their cargoes, which are mostly composed of foodstuffs, much of which is perishable, remain untouched. The markets are already feeling the pinch of depleted supplies.

MAN WITH $1,000,000 TO SPEND, DROPS $1,000 HERE

Wants to "Put a Hostetter in Every County in America."

Robbing the Soil as Much a Crime as Robbing Men.

Bert Ball, the man with a million to spend, the Brewster of fact, not of fiction, is in Duluth tiday. He brings the glad tidings that St. Louis county is the first county in the United States to get a slice of his million.

A. B. Hostetter, whom Mr. Ball termed "the dean of the bunch and the nucleus of the whole idea," is responsible for St. Louis county's eligibility. The county will get $1,000 of the $1,000,000 as a reward for Mr. Hostetter's work among the farmers of the county.

Mr. Ball talked during the lunch hour at the Commercial club today. He's a little man, but he has a great voice. His talk was one of the snappiest ever heard at the club. He talked about four minutes at a rate of about sixty thoughts a minute.

"St. Louis county is a pattern to the whole United States," he said. "If we can get them as good as Hostetter, we're going to put a Hostetter into every county in the United States."

Mr. Ball gave a short history of the organization of the Council of Grain Exchanges of the United States and the organization of the crop improvement committee, which grew out of the great scarcity of good seed grain.

Half Is Half Developed.

"Here in Minnesota you're only half developed," he said. "The half that is developed is only half developed, so that you have only one-quarter efficiency. I was over in Glenwood at a meeting of farmers this week. I talked to Hostetter and we got twenty counties picked in which we will set a man to work up organizations for the employment of Hostetters.

"You've got the right idea here in Duluth. A city can't live on wind and air. It's got to be like a tree and get its roots into the ground.

"We've got the United States government interested and it is going to co-operate with us. We're going to cut out the farmers' institutes and go into personal work. We're going to put a man on the job in every county to find out what the county produces and who produces it. When we search out a man below the average, we'll find out why he's below the average.

"The millenium is at hand. Our prosperity will continue. There's a million dollars lying dormant in every county in the United States and we want to get it into circulation.

"The time has come for the farmer to get business into his farming or the business man to get farming into his business.

"The time has come for the statutes to make robbing the soil a crime just as taking wealth from a person.

"The time has come when every man will be compelled to replace all the fertility he extracts from the soil, with a percentage for posterity."

Mr. Ball, who is chairman of the crop improvement committee of the council of grain exchanges, has charge of the disbursement of $1,000,000 which has been given by a Chicago firm for distribution among the 1,000 counties in the United States first employing an agricultural expert to do personal work with the farmers.

After the first meeting at the Commercial club, Mr. Ball addressed a meeting of grain men of Duluth and Minneapolis on the subject of crop improvement. The meeting was called to talk over means of improving the seed grain condition and the average yield in the Northwestern states.

I was in very poor health, was weak, all run down, just able to walk, had a large tumor in my right side for a long time. Many doctors advised an operation, but I was too weak I had a feeling I would die on the operating table. Hearing of Dr. Mitchell and of the wonderful cures he was performing I went to Duluth, found his office full of patients waiting for treatment. They all said Dr. Mitchell's treatment was helping them. After taking treatment the tumor disappeared and all my pain and the catarrh of my head, stomach and bowels does not bother me any more. I will be glad to substantiate this statement. All forms of asthma, catarrhal conditions, nervousness, rheumatism, paralysis, stomach, liver, kidney, bowel and blood diseases, eye, ear and throat and all other physical and mental ailments cured by Dr. Mitchell. COUNCIL AS A MEDIATOR

Will Take Up Differences Between Traction Company and Employes.

Will Also Begin Work of Preparing Road to New Duluth.

The council Monday night is expected to take up the matter of settling the differences between the street car company and its employes. The company has sent in a communication expressing its willingness to meet with any committee to hear any suggestions which may be made. At the last meeting the council appointed a special committee to take up the matter, but as the letter of the street car company was addressed to the council as a whole the members of the committee felt that it would be advisable to have the council take action upon it.

It is expected that recommendations will be made that all preliminary work of grading and improving the route of the proposed street car line to New Duluth be completed as soon as possible. When the surveys and estimates and legal matters are disposed of no time will be lost if the conference committee makes a levy for the work when it meets this fall.

The ordinance reducing the saloon limits on West Superior street from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-third avenues west is due to come up for final passage. The third precinct of the Seventh ward has become so large that it is deemed necessary that it be divided and it is thought that the council will take steps towards that end at the coming meeting. The matter of covering Buckingham creek with a concrete culvert may also come up for discussion.

VIOLIN AND RIFLE BESIDE BONES OF UNKNOWN MAN

A small, round bullet hole through the forehead tells the cause of death of the unknown man whose skeleton was found under a brush pile seventy-five feet from the Calvary road, about half a mile from the end of the Woodland car line, at 5 o'cock yesterday afternoon.

The discovery was made by A. E. Spooner, foreman for Raymond Bros., who are clearing land in the vicinity for the Reliance Real Estate company. Coroner McComb was notified and after an examination the remains were removed to the undertaking rooms of Olson & Crawford in the West end.

The indications point to suicide, although it is possible, but not probable, that he was murdered. Lying across the bones was a 22-caliber rifle, while nearby were the remnants of a violin and a suitcase. The bullet hole in the forehead was such as might have been made by a rifle of that size. The leaden pellet had taken an upward course, lodging against the top and towards the middle of the skull, a direction which it could easily have taken if the man had discharged the rifle himself.

The man had apparently been dead about two years. Grass had grown over and around the skeleton and his clothes had about disappeared. The rifle was a mass of rust and the violin was so disintegrated that it was difficult to tell what it had been.

It would seem that the man had been traveling along the road and had gone into the brush to end his life. It was far enough away so that it could not be discerned by any one who might pass by on the highway. No mark or clew was found which might lead to the establishment of his identity. The skeleton was that of a man about 5 feet and 6 or 8 inches tall.

RED CROSS APPEALS FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

New York, May 25.—The Red Cross has issued an urgent appeal for funds for the relief of sufferers from the Mississippi floods. Money in large amounts is needed—and needed at once to feed and clothe thousands of refugees, to send nurses and doctors to see that hastily patched-up refugee camps do not become hotbeds of typhoid and malaria, and, as the flood subsides, to re-establish the sufferers in their homes where houses, stock, fences—all the means of livelihood—are swept away.

Ernest P. Bicknell, director of the American Red Cross, issues the appeal and describes the situation in detail in this week's issue of the Survey magazine, which is the accredited spokesman for the organization. He shows how the flood has been progressive and cumulative. Starting at Cairo, Ill., April 1, it has followed the Ohio and Mississippi rivers down their courses to New Orleans. A great belt of devastated country lies in the flood's path. Farms, villages, cities, have been wrecked. Live stock is dead. Houses were carred away. 150,000 people are homeless. There are 25,000 refugees in and about only two of the many flooded districts—at Vicksburg, Miss., and Helena, Akr.

The army has done splendid work, Mr. Bicknell says, in rushing supplies, forming refugee camps, rescuing survivors. But the Red Cross must now take charge all down the course of the rampaging rivers. It must continue to feed the people, to maintain order and regulate sanitation, to nurse the sick, to provide for the babies that were born in the army tents.

Gradually it must re-establish the people in their homes. That is the biggest task of all. For that task, the Red Cross is particularly well equipped. Its agents are all through the stricken districts. The need is for money—in generous sums.

Mr. Bicknell points out that the comparatively slow progress of the flood has robbed it of the elements of surprise and horror which have been important parts in raising large relief funds following sudden disaster. The prompt action of the army has led some to think that all needs have been met. Just the contrary is the case. To keep tens of thousands of people well in camps and to restore them to their homes and to self-support is a task measuring up in many aspects to the Red Cross work at San Francisco. Contributions should be sent to the mayor of your city, or the governor of your state, or to Jacob H. Schiff, treasurer American Red Cross, 52 William Street, New York City.

HAPPY REUNION OF DULUTH FAMILY.

The Johnson family of Duluth, of which Lewis Johnson, city jailer, is a member, is due to have a happy family reunion this evening, when Mr. Johnson reaches home with his brother, Aage Johnson, with the latter's wife and eight children, who have just come over from Sweden.

The reunion was threatened with failure because the United States immigration authorities refused to admit the youngest child, Gotorn, 8 years old, who is suffering from incipient tuberculosis. Representative Miller, however, saved the Aage Johnson family from disruption by giving bond that the young girl should be sent to the new sanitarium at Duluth for treatment.

Louis Johnson and his three sisters, also residents of Duluth, have bought a farm of forty acres near Munger, on which their brother's family is to be established.

Jailer Louis Johnson met his relative at Sudbury, Canada, yesterday and the party is due in Duluth late this afternoon.

WILL ELECT WILSON MEN

Democratic Caucuses Expected to Choose Supporters of Wilson.

Sentiment for the New Jersey Governor Predominates in County.

Delegates to the county convention favorable to the candidacy of Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey for president are expected to be elected at the Democratic caucuses to be held in St. Louis county this afternoon and tonight.

The county convention will be held at Virginia next Wednesday afternoon.

For the most part, the caucuses tonight will be harmonious and unanimous in their action. Here and there, some sentiment for Clark has appeared, but generally the Wilson men are in control and will elect their delegates.

The caucuses in the city of Duluth will be held at the regular polling places from 7 to 8 o'clock. In the rural districts and villages of the county, they were held from 2 to 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Wilson sentiment has been predominant in St. Louis county since the New Jersey governor first entered the field. A few Harmon sympathizers made themselves known from time to time, but they have shifted allegiance to Clark. The Clark sentiment is so small that it is not expected to have any appreciable affect on the caucus results. With the Wilson men in control, the county convention at Virginia will elect delegates to the state convention, pledged to vote for the instruction of the state delegation for Wilson.

NAME CLAPP WITH TEDDY

Roosevelt Men in Washington Suggest Minnesotan for Vice President.

Friends Say He Should Wait and Seek First Place in 1916.

(From The Herald Washington Bureau.)

Washington, May 25.—That Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota is a vice presidential possibility, in the event of Theodore Roosevelt's nomination at Chicago, is the assertion of some of Mr. Roosevelt's supporters in Washington today.

It is pointed out that it has been the practice during past conventions to name as temporary chairman some man in the party who is close to the probable nominee for head of the ticket, and himself in line for second place The suggestion by Ormsby McHarg in Chicago yesterday that Senator Clapp will be named by the Roosevelt men for temporary chairman of the Republican national convention, places him in the category of vice presidential possibilities.

Senator Clapp's friends here say that he would make a mistake in accepting the nomination for the vice presidency, however. They say that Mr. Clapp will be the Roosevelt leader in the senate if the former president is again elected, and that Clapp will be the logical candidate for the presidency after Roosevelt retires.

"That's the way the political dope sheet reads," said a prominent Minnesotan today. "Mr. Clapp should stay in the senate and get himself in line for the nomination for the presidency four years hence."

MAY RETIRE BOND ISSUE

County Planning to Reduce Its Indebtedness By $250,000.

Last of $400,000 Courthouse Issue Will Be Paid This Year.

St. Louis county will probably take advantage of an opportunity which will be given it next year, to take up the Missabe Aid bond issue of $250,000, on which 5 per cent interest has been paid for the past twenty years. The bonds were issued in 1893 and are 30-year bonds. There is a proviso, however, that by giving a 60-day notice, they may be taken up after twenty years has elapsed from the date of issue. This will probably be done.

The Missabe Aid bonds were issued by a vote of the people in 1893 in order to give the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway a bonus of $250,000. The bonds become due in 1923, but they may be paid off in November, 1913, providing a 60-day notice is given to the bondholders by the county auditor. It is probable that the board of county commissioners will take official action on this matter authorizing the auditor to take up the bonds.

According to Auditor Odin Halden, the county will on Nov. 1, this year pay off $150,000 of courthouse bonds, the last of the $400,000 issue. So without raising the county tax levy, the county will be in a position to take up the Missabe Aid bonds or at least half of them in 1913 and half in 1914. The saving to the county on interest for one year on these bonds is $12,500. The bonds are held by Eastern capitalists for which the American Exchange National bank of New York city is trustee.

If the Missabe Aid bonds are taken up next year, the bonded indebtedness of the county would be reduced to $788,000. The present bonded indebtedness is $1,188,797, which will be reduced $150,000 when the last of the $400,000 courthouse bond issue is taken up this fall. The $600,000 issue of courthouse bonds does not become due until 1918.

St. Louis county has a remarkably small bonded indebtedness as compared with its assessed valuation, which this year is $287,000,000. At no time in its history has the county been heavily bonded and county officials take pride in the fact that St. Louis county stands practically alone in this regard in the state.

During the past six years, the county has taken up, paid and cancelled bond issues aggregating $650,000.

AN ALMANAC STARTED IN 1686.

London Chronicle: The oldest almanac in existence is the "Almanac National," which has been issued by the French government since 1686. Its name has been changed a good many times during its career of 225 years. Originally the "Almanac Royal," it became "National" in 1793, "Imperial" in 1805, and reverted to its original name nine years later.

Since then the title has been altered four times. Like most publications of this sort the "Almanac National" has grown bulky with advancing years. The first issue contained forty-eight pages, as compared with 1,580 pages in the current issue.

CLIMAX OF CAMPAIGN

Duluth Playgrounds Association to Be Reorganized on New Lines.

Dr. Henry S. Curtis Winds Up Week's Work in Duluth.

The Duluth Playgrounds association will be reorganized at a meeting to be held at the Y. M. C. A. at 6:15 this evening.

The meeting will be the climax of the campaign conducted in Duluth this week by Dr. H. S. Curtis of New York, president of the National Playgrounds association. Dr. Curtis has addressed various civic organizations during the week and all will have representatives at tonight's meeting to assist in the reorganization.

Dr. Curtis addressed the Commercial club of West Duluth and the West end last evening. He dwelt again on the necessity of properly supervised playgrounds as an adjunct to city life. He said in part:

"While most of the positive habits of children are formed in their play, most of their vicious habits are formed in their idleness. The city that offers nothing for the children to do in their spare time except to roam the streets may expect a plentiful crop of wild oats.

"Parents will often forbid their children to play with certain vicious children, thinking that they will thereby suffer great harm. The fear may be well founded, but it is not in the play that the harm is done. A child may play with almost any kind of child, so long as the game is carried on with enthusiasm, without suffering much harm; but let him be idle with the same child for a half hour and he may suffer incalculable harm. It is in the moments of idleness that children learn to shoot craps, to smoke cigarettes, to tell smutty stories, to plan questionable adventures and nearly all of the things which we would have them avoid. The devil not merely finds things for idle hands to do, but thoughts for idle minds to think, and words for idle tongues to say, and the habit of idleness formed in youth grows naturally in the adult into loafing and all that series of crimes that are attendant thereto. 'The boy without a playground is father to the man without a job,' and the man who is not willing to work, finds it necessary to make his livng in some easier way, which can only come through begging, gambling, stealing or some other illegitimate method.

Active Play Necessary.

"Again, the city that passes ordinances forbidding the children to play vigorous games on the street without making any provision for such play elsewhere, is conducting a school of crime. Out of 717 children arrested in the city of New York in July of last year, more than 400 were arrested for some form of street play. The inner law of child nature demands this vigorous, physical activity, and if our law forbids it, we may be sure that the child will live up to the inner and higher law though he becomes a law breaker thereby

"But it is not merely in breaking the ordinances of the city that the unregulated play of the streets and vacant lots tend toward lawlessness. Any one who will observe this play will see that the children are constantly disregarding the rules of the games that they play because there is no umpire or referee, and no one to insist that the shall obey them, and when a boy practices disobeying the rules of the games he plays, he is getting the most fundamental training in lawlessness that it is possible to give to a boy; for there is no other place where law is quite so real to him as in the law of the game of baseball or basketball, or any other game that he plays. When a boy takes part in these games in the playground, it becomes absolutely necessary that he should play them according to rule, because otherwise it is impossible to hold contests with other grounds, and if there is the right sort of director in charge, she insists that the rules of the game be obeyed as religiously as the moral law; for, in fact, in its ultimate outcome there is not very much difference between disobeying the rules of baseball or football, for all of these tend to produce a lawless individual."

STRIKE WILL NOT BE CALLED

Union Official Predicts That Troubles of Men Will Be Adjusted.

Street car employes voted today for a committee of three men to represent them at a conference to be held with the officials of the company.

The ballot box and ballots were furnished by the company. The only requirement made by the company was that the men selected be men who have been steadily employed for at least six months previous to the talk of a strike. The result of the vote was not known up to 3 o'clock this afternoon.

"There will be no strike," said a union official this morning. "Manager Warren will raise the wages slightly, not as much as the men want, but there will be a raise. The new waiting room will be built—in fact the company has been planning it for several months past—and things will go on as usual."

Manager Warren's communication will be read to the council Monday evening. A committee from the council will probably meet with a committee of employes and officials of the railway company.

SAYS CLAPP MAY PRESIDE

Ormsby McHarg Predicts Opposition to Root at Chicago.

Republicans Will Have at Least 260 Contests to Settle.

Chicago, May 25.—Ormsby McHarg of New York, one of the managers of Colonel Roosevelt's campaign for the Republican presidential nomination, declares the Roosevelt forces will refuse to abide by the selection of United States Senator Elihu Root of New York as temporary chairman of the national convention.

McHarg said the Roosevelt managers would insist on the naming of a chairman in accord with the Roosevelt politics. The name of Governor Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri, Governor Hiram W. Johnson of California and Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota were mentioned by McHarg as being acceptable, in this connection, to the Roosevelt forces.

McHarg in Charge.

McHarg spent several hours with the Illinois Roosevelt managers on his way to St. Paul, where he will meet a delegation from the state of Washington to map out plans for presentation of Washington contests to the contest committee in Chicago. McHarg said he would have charge of all the Roosevelt contests to be taken before the Republican national committee this year, as he did four years ago for President Taft.

"When the convention meets," said McHarg, "the Roosevelt strength will be such that we will control absolutely. We propose to organize that convention along lines that will not be at all comfortable for Senator Root to preside over. That convention must have as chairman a man who is in accord with Roosevelt's views and policies; and that means, it must be some one other than Senator Root. It is obviously impossible to have a chairman delivering a key-note speech who is out of sympathy with Roosevelt and the progressive cause. There is no other side to that question."

At Least 260 Contests.

McHarg said there would be at least 260 or 270 contested seats, as against 229 contested seats at the 1908 national convention. He will return to Chicago June 3 to take up the active work of presenting contests June 6.

June 3 it was said, will signalize the opening of activities in Chicago for the final pre-convention struggle between Taft and Roosevelt. National headquarters will be moved from Washington, D. C., to Chicago.

WHAT TAFT IS TRYING TO DO

President Presents Views on Tariff Revision and Other Issues.

Again Defends Tariff Bill Vetoes and Opposes Judicial Recall.

New York, May 25.—"What I Am Trying to Do"—an article by President Taft—appears in the current issue of the World's Work and deals with tariff revision, business prosperity, arbitration and independence of the judiciary. The president asserts that he is willing to go before the people for a verdict on his veto of the three tariff bills passed by the house in extraordinary session last year; that no charge yet made against him has gone nearer to his heart than that he, by enforcing the anti-trust law, was hurting business; that he intends, so long as he can raise his voice, to continue to favor general arbitration and that the Republican party would lose caste as a defender of American civilization should it take up the judicial recall as one of its tenets.

In part, the president's article follows:

"I was elected president of the United States on the Republican platform of 1908. The party declared in that platform that 'in all tariff legislation the true principle of protection is best maintained by the imposition of such duties as will equal the difference between cost of production at home and abroad.' The party went before the people on that issue and was sustained.

Democratic Tariff Bills.

"Our Democratic brethren have departed from the faith in a tariff board which a majority of them once embraced, and, in the extraordinary session of last year, they passed three tariff bills without the aid of information from a tariff board, drawn in such an unscientific, unsystematic and reckless way that I did not hesitate to veto them, in order that they might await the coming in of the report of the tariff board upon Schedule K, wool and woolens, which one tariff bill affected, and upon cotton and cotton manufactures, which another tariff bill affected. We should be entirely willing to go before the country and invite a verdict of the people.

"No charge has been made against me that went nearer to my heart than the charge that I, by the enforcement of the anti-trust law, was injuring the business of the country. I enforced it so far as lay in my power and duty because it is on the statute book. I enforced it because I believe it to be a good law, and I believe it, when properly construed, to make a right guide for business. I believe that by the construction of the courts of the laws that are on the statute books, and by decisions that are yet to come, the line may clearly be drawn so that business may square itself to those boundaries which the law fixes.

"I should deprecate the suggestion of any so-called reform that involves constitutional changes without our knowing exactly what we are going to do and what the effect of these changes will be. What I would deprecate is the sudden suggestion of amendments for this end, and amendments for that, and having amendents for breakfast the next morning as if the amendment of the fundamental law were nothing but the repeal of an ordinary statute or the passage of an ordinary appropriation bill.

The Peace Treaties.

"There is one other subject which is a rather tender one with me. I am convinced that most of the audiences I had the privilege of addressing within the last year were in favor of passing and ratifying the peace treaties just as they were presented to congress.

"I give notice that I have not lost interest in that point and I have no thought of surrendering, because I intend, so far as I can and so long as I may raise my voice, to continue to favor general universal arbitration. I acknowledge and admit the power of the senate, and I believe it to be a great part of the structure of our government, and I would not have it eliminated for anything. I recognize the authority of the senate and have no quarrel with the exercise of that authority, but the ultimate source of all authority in this government is the people. It is the people who, by deliberate judgment, can effect a reform which commends itself to their hearts and their souls and their minds, and it is upon them that I depend in this matter.

"We have treaties pending also with Nicaragua and Honduras to carry out the policy of the treaty with Santo Domingo and they ought to be ratified.

The Judicial Recall.

"There are other aims of government to which reference might be made, such as the movement looking to greater economy and efficiency in government work and expenditures; penny postage through postal economies; extension of practical conservation acts; parcels post; revision of currency laws and prevention of panics; scientific study of industrial conditions and international investigation of the high cost of living. But there is one subject to which I would refer in conclusion.

"Should the Republican party take up the judicial recall as one of its tenets, it would lose caste as a defender of our civilization, a maintainer of the Constitution and an upholder of justice. When we depart from the principles of the independence of the judiciary we shall lose the valuable essence of the administration of justice and we shall retrograde to the point where the history of the decadence of republics begins. I am not unmindful of the necessity for judicial reforms, but that depends not on changing the character of the judges, but upon the change of procedure, the expedition of judgments and the reduction of the expense of litigation."

LA FOLLETTE IS CONFIDENT

"If You Want to Look at a Winner, Look at Me," He Says.

Newark N. J., May 25.—"If you want to look at a winner, take a look at me," said Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin to a big audience in the new auditorium here last night. The senator was near the close of a hard day's campaigning around central New Jersey, which had taken him from the pine region at Lakewood, along the ocean shore at Asbury Park, Long Branch and Red Bank.

In his day's addresses Senator La Follette rehearsed the history of his campaign and alluded to what he declared had been the effort to have him run in the real interests of another Republican candidate, declaring that he was "no stalking horse" for anybody and never would be.

G. O. P. FIGHT TO BE BITTER

McKinley Predicts Roosevelt Will Try to "Terrorize" Convention.

Gives Out Statement Attacking Ex-President for Alleged Plans.

Washington, May 25.—The bitterness of the fight that is to rage about the Republican national committee when it begins consideration of contest cases in Chicago June 6, is emphasized by a statement by Representative William B. McKinley, head of the Taft campaign.

Mr. McKinley declared it was becoming apparent that Col. Roosevelt "and his followers will resort to every known means to terrorize the Chicago convention."

"That the time has come when the moral stamina of the leaders of the Republican party is to be tested as it has not been since the Civil war, is certain," Mr. McKinley continued. "It is within the power of the national committee to make or break the Republican party for many years to come. The party is strong enough to withstand the shock of any attack, within or without, but no party can survive a compromise with principle, or an abandonment of all principle."

Denied by Roosevelt Men.

The McKinley statement was given out as the result of widespread reports that Col. Roosevelt desired the removal from the national committee of certain members whom he knew to be strongly opposed to him. Senator Dixon, the Roosevelt manager, was not in the city, but his close associates declared the Roosevelt committee gave no approval to the stories that the national committee was controlled against their candidate.

Mr. McKinley's statement was followed by another from the Taft bureau, in which it was asserted that telegrams circulated by the Roosevelt headquarters tending to show that Taft supporters were considering a compromise candidate were without foundation.

"It must be expected that those national committeemen whose conscience may force them to disagree with Mr. Roosevelt will be openly denounced by him," said Mr. McKinley, "and the whole committee will be misrepresented and vilified, collectively and individually, by Mr. Roosevelt, exactly as he has misrepresented and denounced those who have hitherto disagreed with him during his public career.

Must Stick to Rules.

"The Republican national committee itself made the rules under which delegates have been elected to the national convention, and its sole duty now is to see that these rules have been obeyed to the letter. The mere fact that one candidate, Theodore Roosevelt, has seen fit to bring 95 per cent of the 'contests' before that body, does not alter the issue involved.

"The friends of President Taft believe that the Republican national committee as now constituted is representative of the Republican party, and that it will do its full duty by the party at Chicago. The friends of the president will not try their cases of contested delegates before the country until the national committee meets. They have no sympathy whatever with Mr. Roosevelt's endeavors to bring influence to bear upon the party tribunal—the national committee— before the evidence is heard.

"To the country at large, however, the friends of the president protest against the tactics now being employed by Theodore Roosevelt in an endeavor to excite popular passion against the members of the controlling body of the Republican party before an iota of evidence in the 'contests' to be decided has been laid before that body."

It is reported here that George A. Knight of California, national committeeman from that state, is to have charge on behalf of the Roosevelt forces of the contests before the national committee.

hesitate for one moment to bolt. The Roosevelt independent ticket is, as a matter of fact, a thing upon which politicians are now figuring with perfect certainty that it is likely to be the dominating factor in the coming campaign.

Somebody asked Senator Crane the other day if he thought Roosevelt would bolt the Republican nomination. "He won't bolt if he is nominated," said the sagacious Crane. But everybody believes that if he is not nominated he will try to test his popularity with the people on an independent ticket of his own.

Regarded as Untrustworthy.

The Roosevelt phenomenon is unique in American politics. It is no purpose of mine to attack him, but I may say with entire accuracy that among public men and among journalists who associate continually with public men he is looked upon as the most absolutely untrustworthy man in public life. Time was that the managing editors of New York newspapers prohibited their Albany reporters from interviewing Governor Roosevelt unless at least two were present in order that his repudiation of the interview might be met by proper testimony. Just now in a good natured way people are laughing at his formal announcement that he never drank a highball in his life and never touches whisky. Among many people who do not regard indulgence of this sort as sinful, there is great amusement at Mr. Roosevelt's denial of having thus indulged, when everybody in Washington who knows him, and probably thousands of people in the United States, are perfectly cognizant of the fact that his denial is ridiculous.

Notwithstanding all this, Mr. Roosevelt has invaded the state of the president and carried it by an overwhelming vote. This fact indicates qualities both political and personal which have never been possessed by any politician in the United States. Men say Roosevelt does not tell the truth, and then men by the tens of thousands go out and vote for him in the primaries against Taft in Ohio, against Penrose in Pennsylvania, against Crane in Massachusetts. Men admit that he has utilized the bosses for his own purposes, but they vote for him as a rebuke to bossism. He appears as the candidate of the common people and spends in the county of New York practically $60,000 and according to common repute $300,000 in Ohio, and yet legions of voters who deplore the use of money in elections come out and vote for him at the primaries.

An Astounding Phenomenon.

Mr. Roosevelt is the most astounding phenomenon of American politics. No man has ever been able to preach radicalism and to practice when in office conservatism as he. None has been able to denounce the malefactors of great wealth and yet draw from that very class the biggest campaign funds ever known to history. No man in public life has been able at once to hold the confidence of the common people and the warm affection of the trust magnates.

Hardly anything that Mr. Roosevelt is preaching today but was advocated years ago by Mr. Bryan. But there is something in the Roosevelt political method which enables him to preach radicalism without estranging the voter, while Bryan, with vastly more sincerity, seemed to make people apprehensive of disaster. I will not say that in listening to the Roosevelt preachments, people think that he has no intent of putting them into effect as they did think Bryan would. But at any rate they do accept from Roosevelt the old-time Bryan proposition apparently without apprehension and without hostility.

A very curious phase of this presidential contest is that no candidate, with the exception of Senator La Follette, nor the manager of any candidate on the Republican side, has carried his own state. Col. Roosevelt lost New York. His manager, Senator Dixon, lost his state of Montana. President Taft lost Ohio, and his manager, Representative W. B. McKinley, lost Illinois. Apparently in the Republican party the prophets are without honor in their own country. Thus far in the Democratic party the candidates and their managers have been successful in their own states. Only one great state is yet to speak, New Jersey; but while the feeling is that Governor Wilson will have a fight on hand, there is no doubt of his carrying the state. It was most unfortunate for Wilson that he failed to manifest the diplomatic tact which had led Governor Harmon to announce that he would not allow his name to be used on the ballot in any state presenting a favorite son. Governor Wilson permitted himself to be used for the purpose of destroying Governor Harmon in Ohio. And it will not be at all surprising if the friends of Governor Harmon shall take an opportunity to resent that action.

MACALESTER COLLEGE GETS $50,000 GIFT.

New York, May 25.—Nearly $1,000,000 was contributed to the cause of education by the general educational board, founded by John D. Rockefeller, at its meeting here yesterday. Of this sum $700,000 was appropriated for distribution among five colleges, the largest contribution, of $250,000, going to the George Peabody college for teachers at Nashville, Tenn., for the establishment of the Seaman A. Knapp School of Country Life. The other colleges awarded appropriations are:

Beloit college, Beloit, Wis., $100,000; Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, $100,000; Macalester college St. Paul Minn., $50,000; University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y., $200,000.

It is explained that the gifts to the colleges mentioned are conditional on an equal sum being raised by the respective institutions.

BUSINESS VOLUME EXPANDING

New York, May 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly Review of Trade today says: The volume of business continues to expand, as is evidenced by the statistics of bank clearings and railroad earnings. The situation during the last week has been improved by the much better weather, which has served to increase the retail and, to some extent, the wholesale distribution of merchandise.

There has been some lull in new demands for iron and steel, but a considerable tonnage is in prospect and price advances are made more easily. In many lines, production is now on a heavier scale than last month, the larger plants operating to capacity and orders booked will keep the mills busy for several months to come.

Specifications indicate that the bulk of material is going into consumption and a scarcity is developing in basic materials. Buying on the part of the railroads tends to make up for the reduced requirements in other directions, car inquiries amounting to fully 30,000 tons and aditional contracts for over 35,000 tons, of rails being noted. There is only fair activity in wire products and the quotation of $1.60 for wire nails is shaded in some instances, but plate for third quarter delivery has advanced. Two more furnaces in the Pittsburg district have been blown in, yet stocks of pig iron are being reduced in spite of the increased output.

Fine cotton goods are quiet at first hands and the upward tendency in staple cotton goods is not so marked. Advance fall business continues in better volume than a year ago, and while export trade is not so active, shipments continue large, for the year to date 181,000 bales of domestics being sent out through the port of New York, as against 121,000 bales during the corresponding period a year ago. Of 60,000 pieces of print cloths sold at Fall River last week, about one-half were for spot delivery. Dress goods of a staple character are selling well for fall delivery and business continues moderately active at all textile centers as contrasted with the dullness of last year at this time. The broad silk is generally quiet, but ribbons appear to be in growing demand. Worsted yarns are in fair request and cotton yarn spinners appear more willing to name prices closer to buyers' ideas on late fall deliveries.

Trade in footwear is rather quiet, on the whole, but sales are increasing at a number of points and leather continues very firm. The prominent fact remains, however, that the trade movement, as a whole, is considerably larger than last year and business sentiment more hopeful.

NO INTERFERENCE IN THE COFFEE AFFAIR.

Washington, May 25.—The state department has declined to interfere at this time with the holding up of Brazilian coffee by the valorization committee in New York. The department committee informed Brazil through the Brazilian ambassador that it must await the decision of the federal court in New York, where the case is now pending.

The issue presented is not the same as, though it resembles, the potash controversy with Germany. It is pointed out that in that case the United States was obliged to admit the right of German potash producer to control the price and quantity of German potash in the American markets.

CATECHISM IS REVISED

Presbyterians End 124th. General Assembly at Louisville, Ky.

Clearing House for Pastors Established By the Church.

Louisville, Ky., May 25.—Dissolution late yesterday of the 124th general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, marked the end of one of the most successful years in the history of the church.

A new intermediate catechism for the special religious instruction of the young people of the church was approved, though subject to amendment and revision at the next assembly.

The previous attitude of the church against the manufacture and sale of liquors was affirmed by this assembly, which recalled Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson as an appointed delegate to the Pan-Presbyterian council in Scotland next year, substituting John W. Foster of Washington, D. C., who, under President Harrison, was secretary of state. The assembly declined to revise the attitude of the church toward women as ministers, declining to open to the suffrage-seeking sex the door to Presbyterian pupilts.

Pastors' Clearing House.

In an effort to supply pastors to the 3,000 vacant pulpits of the Northern Presbyterian church, the assembly created a new standing committee on vacancy and supply, which will have its headquarters in Chicago. The committee will serve as a clearing house, endeavoring by correspondence, which the assembly decidtd, after debate, should not be confidential, to bring the pastors to churches without pastors.

Publishers of church periodicals were urged by the assembly to exclude medical advertisements.

The six additional members of the church erection fund board named are Rev. Drs. John A. Boyd, Portland, Ore.; J. Frank Smith, Dallas, Tex.; Robert B. A. McBride of Leavenworth, Kas.; Elder E. C. Stringer, St. Paul, Minn.; Elder W. M. Crosby, Birmingham, Ala.; Elder H. H. Crowell, Chicago.

At the assembly, 851 commissioners, representing all but seven of the 292 presbyteries of the church, were in attendance.

"SALT TRACK" TO BE TORN UP

Commission Gives Northern Pacific Right to Make Improvements.

Great satisfaction is expressed by the heads of the mercantile establishments on the west side of Lake avenue over the decision of the state railroad and warehouse commission, allowing the Northern Pacific Railway company to tear up what is known as the "salt track" in the ship canal neighborhood.

It has been necessary to tear this track up in order to improve the trackage facilities in the rear of the Marshall-Wells hardware house, the Northern Shoe company's establishment, the Gogebic Boiler works, the Rust-Parker-Martin wholesale grocery house and several other concerns that do a great deal of shipping. Along this strip of land the Northern Pacific has been constructing a double spur track.

In order to lay this double track it is necessary to tear up the old "salt track." To this the Connecticut Life Insurance company, through whose property this track runs, raised objection. The railroad officials, however, felt sure of the position they had taken that they had a right to tear up the old track, and brought the matter before the state railroad and warehouse commission. Yesterday the commission awarded a verdict in the railroad company's favor and it is expected that the double track will soon be completed. Better spur track facilities have been rendered necessary by the increase in the jobbing business of that district.

MINNESOTA UNIVERSITY

Cadet Corps Wins Sham Battle With St. Thomas at Fort Snelling.

Charles Evans of Duluth Goes on Intercollegiate Debating Team.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Monday was military day at the university. It was the occasion of the annual inspection of the cadet corps by an officer from the United States army. All classes for the day were dismissed in those colleges which require drill. In the morning the regiment went through its maneuvers and was inspected. The drills were executed with great precision and the ceremonies of parade and review well performed. Capt. Harry T. Tebbetts, U. S. A., was the inspecting officer. After guard mount the crack squad gave an exhibition in the armory. The big event of the day was the sham battle against the St. Thomas cadets at Fort Snelling, which was won by the university. Both sides worked desperately for a victory as it was the "rubber" contest.

The final try-outs for positions on Minnesota's intercollegiate debating teams for 1912-1913 were held Tuesday. Among the eight successful candidates is Charles Evans of Duluth. Mr. Evans is repeating the success of his brother, who was on one of Minnesota's teams four years ago.

The annual law alumni association banquet will be held at the St. Paul hotel June 8. The principal speakers will be President Vincent and Dean William R. Vance.

That Dean Vance intends to thoroughly overhaul and reconstruct the law college is shown by the many changes that have already taken place at his direction even before his arrival. The new dean has been at Yale this year, but will take charge at Minnesota in person next year. The schedule of classes and program have been greatly changed, and the course of study given to the junior law class was very different from any ever given before. The Harvard case system is being installed, requiring greater use of text books. Besides reconstructing the course along the lines of the best eastern law colleges, the dean has several innovations of his own which he is going to apply. There are persistent rumors that there will be several changes in the faculty next year.

The four women's organizations on the campus, the Students' Government association, the Woman's league, the Woman's Athletic association and the Y. W. C. A., will be at home Saturday afternoon in Shevlin hall in honor of Dean Comstock. Miss Comstock has resigned her position as dean of women and next year will go to Smith college, where she will have the same position. Miss Comstock is a graduate of Smith. Her successor has not yet been appointed.

The Junior Miners are now getting the practical work which is given as part of their course. They finished their final examinations a couple of weeks ago and since then have been surveying in the suburbs of Minneapolis. Next week they leave for the iron range. At Eveleth they will work in the Fayal mine for a couple of weeks, doing underground surveying. From Eveleth they go to Denver, Colo., and thence to Bisbee, Globe and other camps in Arizon, where they work all summer in the mines as common laborers. The summer work furnishes the material for their senior thesis.

The Senior Miners completed their course the early part of May. Among the graduate were Dean Coventry, Guy Bjorge and Howard McAdams, all from Duluth. Mr. Bjorge and Mr. McAdams graduated with high honors, and both were elected to the honorary society, Tau Beta Pi.

The faculty of the law college has decided to continue the night course for two more years. It had been given out that the night classes were to be discontinued altogether next year at the university and that the present classes were to be moved to a building down town. The student organization of the night laws wrote to President Vincent asking that the present course be continued. Their petition was granted and as a result the night course is to be continued for two years, so that those already in the classes can graduate.

The graduates and upper classmen will give a reception Tuesday evening in the faculty parlors for Prof. W. M. West. For a great number of years Prof. West has been at the head of the history department. He will retire at the end of this year and will give up all academic work to become a farmer. He has a large farm and intends to mke it his permanent home.

• • •

Not to be outdone by the musical shows of the present day the senior class play, "The Girl From Away," will have its specialty dance, the "Varsity Minuet," which is said to rival the "Campus Canter" from "The Girl in the Moon" and the "Student's Glide," seen in the "Red Rose." The new creation is intended as a successor to the Boston and its attendant variations, but is a reaction against the tendencies of the day. Dean Ada Comstock will attempt to enforce the rule this year than none of the men shall leave the theater during the performance.

The regular work of the semester closes Wednesday of next week. The final exams start Friday, May 31, and last until the end of the following week. Commencement week is the following one. This makes the close of school a week later than other years. The summer school opens the week following commencement.

• • •

The University Glee club is to make a three weeks' tour after the close of the term. They will travel all over the state giving concerts. They will show in Duluth in the early part of June. The Masquers will also tour the state from June 3 to 24, playing "The Merchant of Venice." Both of these organizations will perform in connection with the university weeks.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

SKATING SEASON WILL CLOSE

Dances Will Be Given at the Auditorium During Summer.

The Auditorium skating rink will close for the summer Thursday, May 30, after a most successful season.

The management of the rink is giving a series of Wednesday evening dances. These dances are in response to many requests for clean, well conducted dances. The Auditorium policy of excluding the rowdy element, which was so rigidly adhered to during the skating season, will be enforced at the dances. The music will be furnished by La Brosse's orchestra under the personal direction of Mr. La Brosse himself.

The excellent floor, the perfect ventilation and the high class music should make conditions ideal for dancing.

WHAT OTHER CITIES ARE DOING

Activities of Other Municipalities, Which Might or Might Not Be Copied in Duluth.

SIGNS have been prepared and will be posted immediately pointing the way to Waycross, Ga., on all roads in that section. The various auto trips of the immediate future will see sign tacking the entire distance of the trips, this being the method adopted to get the roads marked. The territory to be so marked will include most of the country within a fifty miles' radius of the city. The work is being done by the board of trade and the Waycross Auto association. The slogan "All roads lead to Waycross," will be a reality when the signs now on hand have been placed.

More signs would be appreciated on the roads leading into Duluth and the advertising which they could be made to give the city would be useful. Many of the country highways are now marked by signs at the cross roads. All of them should be marked. The information would be a great help to motorists and others who make use of them. The matter might be taken up by the automobile club or other organization. The expense would not be very heavy.

Y. M. C. A. SECRETARY VISITS DULUTH.

B. C. Wade, state secretary of Colorado for the Young Men's Christian association, is in Duluth today accompanied by E. W. Peck, state secretary for Minnesota.

Mr. Wade is said to be considering an offer to assume the position of secretary of the local association, left vacant by the resignation of Philemon Bevis, but no definite action will be taken until after the next meeting of the board of directors.

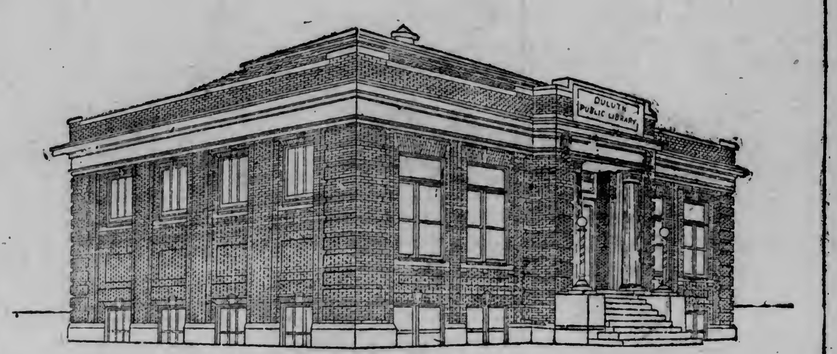
WEST DULUTH'S NEW LIBRARY AS DRAWN BY HIGH SCHOOL SOPHOMORE



PERSPECTIVE DIAGRAM OF WEST DULUTH LIBRARY

Drawn by Josef Usenski, Sophomore, Industrial High School

Joseph Usenski of 6208 Wadena street, sophomore student at the Duluth Industrial high school, drew the above perspective of the new Carnegie library at the corner of Central avenue and Elinor street.

Usenski is taking a course in manual training at the school and has already shown an antitude for architecture. He has drawn many plates not in the regular course and far beyond the ordinary student. The above drawing took several weeks in the making.

The library building is practically completed and is now being furnished by the library board preparatory to the opening the early part of next month. The exterior of the structure is finished, as is the interior, with the exception of the fixtures which are now being put in. The wall cases are also being installed. The boilers and engines in the basement have all been installed.

The front of the building, covering forty feet, is almost entirely of glass. There are four glass windows and two large glass doors, which practically cover the front of the structure. The entrance to the building is on Central avenue. In the basement besides the engine and boiler rooms are the smaller assembly rooms and halls. There are two large reading rooms and librarian's desk on the first floor. The library board has not yet announced the opening date of the branch, nor who will be in charge of the institution.

GOOD ROADS DISCUSSED

Movement for Highway From Central Part of City Revived.

Early Completion of Road to Steel Plant Also Urged.

Better roads between Duluth and the western end of the city, concerted action for a road to the steel plant, the exchange of dock property, the opening of Raleigh street and the value of playgrounds to a community, were discussed at the meeting of the West Duluth Commercial club last evening.

A resolution requesting the city council to make permanent improvements on at least one thoroughfare between Duluth and West Duluth was adopted. A discussion was held on the subject, after which the members appointed the following committee to push the campaign and bring the matter before the council at an early meeting: Emil J. Zauft, Walter H. Evered, Louis Ramsted, Lucien Merritt and W. F. Hurst.

The improvement of the road between West Duluth and the steel plant will be the feature of the club's work for the next month. The council will be requested to appropriate sufficient money to complete the work as early as possible. The following committee was appointed to go before the council Monday evening: Charles Kauppi, L. A. Barnes, W. B. Getchell, A. H. Merriman and A. J. Meldahl.

The proposed exchange of park land for dock property was discussed at length by the members. A resolution was passed to this effect and the following committee was instructed to investigate the advisability of making the change and making the necessary recommendations within the next few weeks: L. A. Barnes, M. J. Filiatrault and C. G. Futter.

• • •

A. J. Meldahl, member of the board of public works, informed the club that the proposed opening of Raleigh street between Central and Fifty-first avenues could only be done through condemnation proceedings. The property is owned by individuals and the only thing to be done is to institute condemnation proceedings in district court.

• • •

Dr. Henry S. Curtis of New York, who is conducting the playgrounds' campaign in Duluth this week, spoke on "The Value of Playgrounds" the early part of the evening.

CHURCH LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED

The quilt contained 530 names of prominent business men and women of Duluth, which were sewed into it by the members of the society. The auction started with an initial bid of $25.

KNIGHT GOT AWAY WITH BIG AMOUNT

Fargoan's Action May Result in State Law Controlling Stocks.

Fargo, N. D., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The next legislature will be asked to pass a law controlling the sale of stocks and bonds in this state and to safeguard investors. The disappearance of A. M. Knight has brought the matter to a focus. Knight was secretary of the state Eagles and local secretary of that body and also of the Red Men. He was partner in a stock and bond concern and his shortages are estimated all the way from $30,000 to $110,000. Twelve thousand dollars worth of stocks owned by his wife was among the lists of amounts.

This morning the Central high school baseball team defeated the Cathedral high school team by the score of 3 to 2. The game went twelve innings and was fast all the way through. Watkins pitched for the Central team and was steady throughout. The game was the second of the season for the high school boys.

The fast Rovers of Superior will play the C. B. C. tomorrow afternoon.

COLLEGE OFFICIAL ADVOCATES BOXING

Philadelphia, May 25.—Dr. R. Tait McKenzie, director of athletics of the University of Pennsylvania, is the latest recruit to the ranks of the fight managers. Dr. McKenzie probably wouldn't phrase it in just that way, but the fact remains that he is now conducting a correspondence with the heads of the athletic departments of the leading Eastern universities with a view to seeing intercollegiate boxing bouts scheduled for next season.

Unlike most managers, "Doc" McKenzie is not doing any worrying about the financial end of the prospect. So far he has issued no proclamation that the wearers of the red and blue must be given the best end of a 70-30 per cent arrangement. He is an enthusiast and will be perfectly happy if, as a reward for his labors, he sees the best college boxers competing in their respective classes.

There has been talk of bringing the colleges into the charmed twenty-four-foot space before, but this is the first time that an earnest attempt to start the custom has been made. Dr. McKenzie is a good boxer himself and believes that it is one of the best of sports. He has had a number of talks with the athletic authorities of Yale, Princeton, Columbia and Cornell, and it is not at all improbable that a league of these four colleges will be formed with a joint tournament as a climax for the dual bouts.

There have been some mighty good wielders of the gloves in the college ranks who have never attained general reputation among fight followers. Bill Goebel, the Yale football player, knew a great deal more about the ring game than many a "white hope" who has come out of the West. Tom Shevlin, J. R. Kilpatrick and Steve Philbin of Yale were active men in the ring; and Mose King, the boxing instructor of New Haven, has said that if he could only induce the Yale men who have learned the game under his charge to go out for ring honors he would leave a famous name on the athletic calendar. Morris, the Penn. center of a year or two ago; Capt. Hart and Cooney of Princeton and Ham Fish, the Harvard captain, are others who knew how to defend themselves.

Dr. McKenzie has already formulated a set of rules which he has had submitted to athletic directors of other colleges. Included in them is a provision that there be but one second to a boxer and that he be an undergraduate in good standing. The second is not allowed to coach his man while the action is on and must fan his charge from a position outside the ropes, being compelled to stay outside the ropes at all times. Another provision is that if on a knockdown, the contestant is saved from going out by the intervention of the bell, he must be able to walk to the corner unassisted or lose the bout. The McKenzie code provides for the giving of decisions, so there may be another clash with the boxing commission in case the tournament is given in New York next fall.

BASEBALL NOTES

They hear in Cleveland that it will be at least four weeks before Nap Lajoie will be able to get back into the game. Larry was brought home from Chicago, suffering from what the doctors said was a badly strained back, sustained in practice.

We have yet to see Harry Steinfeldt in a Baltimore uniform. Jack Dunn wanted the veteran, but is said to have thrown up his hands when the former Cub asked for a salary of $400 a month.

• • •

So Arlie Latham has become an umpire. Umpire McNulty of the New York State league has been obliged to resign because of his ill health, and Latham landed the job. Arlie at one time was reported to have signed as an umpire in the United States league.

• • •

Jack Hannifin, the former Skeeter, is doing some pretty good hitting for the Holyoke team, Connecticut league. That's where Jack hangs up his hat.

Birmingham of the Southern league tried hard to send George Speer, the one-time Detroit and Buffalo twirler, to Fort Worth, but the deal was halted when the Texas league club wanted a guarantee that Speer would be in condition. Speer was late in reporting to Birmingham.

• • •

If "Hank" O'Day can see his way clear, he will have Rafael Almeida, one of the Cuban players, in a minor league. Almeida got in bad by reporting to the Reds at a late date and when the Reds made the trip to St. Louis he was twenty-four hours behind the others. No explanation was forthcoming, either.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Lindberg is Candidate for Senate—Alva Eastman for Congress From Sixth District—Candidates for Governor Confused by Extra Session Possibilities—Widely Different Claims Made for Taft and Roosevelt.

Lindbergh for Senator.

Most of the expected has happened. Congressman C. A. Lindbergh of Little Falls has announced his candidacy for Senator Knute Nelson's seat, and Alvah Eastman of St. Cloud has abandoned pursuit of the nomination for congressman-at-large and has announced that he will endeavor to step into Mr. Lindbergh's shoes.

Senator Nelson has not yet announced his retirement, but that is expected to come in a few days. The Lindbergh candidacy is said to be the result of Senator Nelson's expressed determination to retire. The Alexandria man is said to be anxious to retire to the peace and quiet of private life in his old age, the fact that he would have to make a campaign for renomination contributing to the decision. "Bill" Grimshaw is still hopeful and says Senator Nelson will not retire.

It looks like Lindbergh and James A. Peterson of Minneapolis for the Republican nomination. Both are Progressives. Lindbergh has the advantage of long service and a good record as congressman from the Sixth district. It will be a good fight, with no favors.

There may be other candidates for the Republican nomination in the Sixth district, but Alvah Eastman has the advantage of having been before the public for some months. There was no talk of opposition to him as a candidate for congressman-at-large, and he is naturally much stronger in the district that he would be in the state as a whole. He is personally popular, is able and a ready maker of friends. He will have the support of the press of the district, and any candidate who goes against him will have a heavy task ahead.

Running in Circles.

Candidates for the governorship and for other state offices are running around in circles. If the extra session were only over, they might be able to stop for a moment and set the compass, but just now they don't know where they are, although they care very much.

The greatest consternation is around the executive offices in the state capitol and at other places where interest is taken in the political fortunes of Governor Eberhart. The governor figured that the call for an extra session would be a fine political play. It was too transparent and the fulsome praise that was expected hasn't come. In the meantime, legislators are talking a second choice primary, a distance tariff bill, an increase in the gross earnings tax and other subjects that are extremely distasteful to the administration.

The governor may regret the extra session call, but he will have to go through with it now. Public opinion will demand a second choice primary law and will very likely get it. That will eliminate the governor. He cannot win under a second choice primary, whatever he might do in a straight primary. Then if the legislature should pass a distance tariff bill or a bill increasing the railroad gross earnings tax, the governor would be put in a most embarrassing position. Politics is a perilous game, even when played by master minds, such as Ed Smith possesses.

The Chicago Convention.

Sixty-four delegates to the Republican national convention at Chicago are yet to be chosen. They are New Jersey (May 28) 28; South Dakota (June 4) 10; Arizona (June 3) 6; Texas (May 28) 20. Roosevelt and Taft both claim them all, but Roosevelt is reasonably certain of getting South Dakota and Arizona, and is considered to have the best chance of getting New Jersey and Texas.

Claims of the rival managers and published tables are of almost no value in forecasting the result of the Chicago convention. Perhaps the result cannot be accurately forecasted. Surprises may be sprung. Just now the balance of power rests in the contested delegations. The balance of power when the convention meets may be with the Cummins and LaFollette delegates, forty-six in number.

The Detroit News is a strong Roosevelt paper. Its latest published table gives Roosevelt 456, Taft 273, 17 uninstructed, and 182 contested. If the table is correct, Roosevelt's nomination on the first ballot is inevitable.

On the other hand, the Chicago Record-Herald carries a table giving Taft 454, Roosevelt 407, and 113 uninstructed. The Record-Herald divided the contested delegates according to its own judgment. If that table is correct, anything may happen, but it is just a guess and gives only an indication of what may come about in the convention.

Enthusiastic Roosevelt men claim that the Chicago convention will be a ratification meeting for the nomination of Roosevelt. The Taft men haven't quit yet. If a guess may be hazarded, it is to the effect that there will be plenty of fireworks around the hotel lobbies and if Roosevelt is nominated it will be only after a display of politics, and a battle of delegates such as this country has not seen in many years.

Democratic Primaries.

Democratic primaries are being held in many counties in Minnesota today, and the county conventions will be held next Wednesday. The small army of Clark orators that invaded the state this week has not made much of an impression. The character of the campaign against Wilson has prevented its making any headway. Minnesota Democrats are not convinced that Clark is truly Progressive and that all his alliances are Progressive; they are satisfied that Woodrow Wilson is Progressive. That is the situation in brief, and Minnesota Democracy is progressive.

For Lieutenant Governor.

W. B. Richardson, mayor of Rochester, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor. A. B. Cole of Fergus Falls is also in the field.

"MOVING THE HEAD OF THE LAKES BACK TO DULUTH"

related to the Soo system. Only ten years ago when its Frederick branch was built, the suggestion of my friend Henry S. Butler of Superior, that the Soo should build on to the Head of the Lakes, met with slight hospitality. It was, I suppose, hostile to its original plan of developing its own lake port at Gladstone. But time and circumstances have changed that view and here we are.

"When the time was ripe the Soo came in every direction but the north; by the Brooten line from the southwest, by the Wisconsin Central from the southeast, by the Moose Lake and Plummer line from the west, and last by the extension of the Frederick line from the Twin Cities. I do not see how we could have come any more unanimously. It looks like a case of deferred but most ardent love.

"It is quite unnecessary to say that the coming of the Soo to Duluth involved great expense but time will show it was no mistake. I believe nothing more important has happened in its development. Nor is it too much to say that it was an event of very great importance to Duluth and Superior. Through the Soo and its foster mother—The Candian Pacific—Duluth has the fullest and most direct access to the largest transportation system in the world. That tells the story, and I will relieve your patience."

Aroused Little Enthusiasm.

That does tell the story of the Soo's coming, but it doesn't tell the story of how Duluth received it. Duluth made about as much fuss about it as Seattle would about securing a new roof on its Union station, and then a howl was raised because the one passenger a week who wanted to go from Duluth to Podunk Center had to get up before 6 o'clock or miss his breakfast, in order to catch a train.

That is what the Soo road has done to help move the Head of the Lakes back to Duluth. It has switched its base 150 miles north, from the Twin Cities to Duluth.

Canadian Northern.

Some time within the next two or three months—it was announced for July 15, but that is probably a little early—a train of cars with the words "Canadian Northern" on them will come down from Virginia over the company's new line and run into the Union depot. Only one or two trestles in West Duluth remain to be completed before the line will be ready. The Canadian Northern and the Canadian Pacific are the two great rival roads of Canada. What one does the other cannot afford not to do. The Canadian Pacific through the Soo line, was establishing a base at Duluth. The Canadian Northern is building in its own line. This last winter Canada showed it had grown faster than its railroads. There was a wheat congestion. The terminals at Fort William and Port Arthur were swamped. The Canadian roads simply diverted the stream to Duluth and Duluth easily handled some 15,000,000 bushels of wheat and relieved the congestion. That helped move the Head of the Lakes back to Duluth.

There are well established routes of travel. Duluth is the natural gateway from the East to the great Northwest. But the Twin Cities were here first. The route was established from Chicago through the Twin Cities and up to Winnipeg—a roundabout, unnatural route. The completion of the Wisconsin Central, now a part of the Soo Line, and the building in from the north of the Canadian Northern and the Soo, will establish a new route. With the establishment of through service to Winnipeg over the Thief River Falls branch of the Soo, which is sure to come, the Soo Line will have a direct route over its own lines from Chicago to Winnipeg, through Duluth. The Northwestern road and the Canadian Northern offer another direct route. They will help move the Head of the Lakes back to Duluth.

Railroad Construction.

A glance at Map No. 3, accompanying this article, will probably surprise even the most optimistic booster. It shows the new railroad construction in the states of Minnesota and North and South Dakota since 1893. North Dakota and Northern Minnesota are considered "Duluth territory" in a business way. South Dakota is supposed to be Twin City territory, although Duluth jobbers have given some of their Twin City rivals many restless nights by the manner in which they refuse to recognize the vested rights of the Twin Cities to the South Dakota field. The map shows in a very striking way a comparison of railroad construction in the two fields. South Dakota and Southern Minnesota have had their great railroad growth.

North Dakota and Northern Minnesota are just enjoying theirs, and every mile of railroad built in Northern Minnesota and North Dakota helps move the Head of the Lakes back to Duluth.

Down in the southwestern corner of Minnesota is Ortonville, a junction point of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road, which has recently completed its transcontinental line. Recently a company was organized, filing its articles of incorporation at St. Paul, to construct a railroad from Ortonville to Duluth through Big Stone county. Maybe it is a Milwaukee road enterprise. Maybe it is not. Duluth men who are well informed on railroad topics, believe that it is, or that it will be ultimately. It will give Duluth a fifth transcontinental line, if it is.

It will help move the Head of the Lakes back to Duluth.

PACKAGE FREIGHT.

Package freight service is a rather mysterious sounding phrase to the layman, who knows little of railroad freight handling. A package freight car starts from a terminal and peddles its freight at the small stations for a distance of 100 or 150 miles. The next section of 100 or 150 miles is covered with another car To let one car cover more than that distance would mean too great a delay for the freight destined to the towns 300 miles away. Until recently, if a Duluth shipper wished to send a small consignment of freight to some small town or settlement on the Great Northern road west of here, it was sent to the Twin Cities, placed in a package freight car there, and peddled out along the line until it reached its destination. The Duluth Traffic commission induced the Great Northern road to install a package freight service on all its lines out of Duluth. Now the peddling out process begins in Duluth.

It is helping move the Head of the Lakes back to Duluth.

But that is not the best of it. The package freight service on the Great Northern has paid and the business has grown in volume since the day it was established. The traffic commission has recently sent out 15,000 postcards for the purpose of gathering information on package freight question. When this information has been compiled it will be presented to the heads of all the other railroads running into Duluth, and it is hoped that a similar service will be established on every line of railroad running out of Duluth.

That will help move the Head of the Lakes back to Duluth.

President W. A. McGonagle told the members of the Greater Duluth club Thursday evening, that the way to get concessions from a railroad, was not to kick to a brakeman or to a station master, but to go to the head of the railroad with a fair demand, presented in a business like manner, and it was nine chances to one that it would be granted. The traffic commission has been working on this theory. It argues that a railroad can be clubbed into doing a few things for a city, but can be induced by fair means and by tact, to do many times as much, if it is approached with a fair demand.

That is helping to move the Head of the Lakes back to Duluth.

But the traffic commission has a club also—or rather three of them. They are the three rates cases now pending before the interstate commerce commission. One is the lake and rail case, one the grain case, and the other the case covering rates into southwestern territory. The most important of these is the lake and rail case. It attacks the entire structure of lake and rail rates, which are based, the commission claims, on the Twin Cities, rather that Duluth. In a nutshell this case shows that goods may be brought from the east by boat and rail to the Twin Cities and reshipped there to points in the northwest, cheaper than they can be brought to Duluth and reshipped from here to the same point. It is even a fact that goods may be taken to the Twin Cities and shipped half way back to Duluth, cheaper than they can be brought to Duluth and shipped by local freight half way to St. Paul. The lake and rail rates make the Twin Cities the head of the lakes rather than Duluth. The case of the traffic commission was presented in a manner that won the admiration of the railroad men and rate experts, and a partial victory at least is looked for.

It will help move the Head of the Lakes back to Duluth.

SUMMARY.

Here then in brief is the situation: During the past four years a great railroad system, the chief subsidiary of the greatest transcontinental line in America, has shifted its entire base of operations from the Twin Cities to Duluth; another great transcontinental line is just completing an entrance to Duluth; a third transcontinental line is believed to be planning an invasion; twenty miles of branch lines have been built in Duluth territory during the last fifteen years, to one built in the territory of the city's chief competitor; Duluth is being made a distributing center, in fact as well as in theory, and the entire system of rate making for the lake and rail route promises to be rebuilt to give Duluth its just dues.

It is a "talking point" for the city that would make a Seattle or Los Angeles booster foam at the mouth. And when that story is told, nothing has been said of the older roads like the Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, the two range roads and the Duluth South Shore & Atlantic, which are adding to their terminals, building new docks, hiring immigration and development agents to bring settlers to the lands tributary to their lines, and sending special trains loaded with agricultural exhibits and carrying agricultural experts to help make two potatoes grow where one grew before. Their activities are taken for granted, but in new railroad construction alone, Duluth has acquired in five years enough "talking points" to make a library of booster literature for a score of western boom cities.

ered inside the jail protested, but finally surrendered the negro to the mob, whose number made protest useless, the officers say. From the jail the prisoner was led to the public square, where several wagon loads of wood had been piled.

He was tied to a rail, and after he reiterated his confession, a match was applied and the flames enveloped him. The mob stood around the fire until it died down and little was left but charred bones and ashes.

The work of the lynchers was done quickly and quietly. The determination of the men who had the execution in charge appeared to have a sobering effect upon them.

Attacked Farmer's Daughter.

In his written statement Davis told how he and another negro attacked Miss Johnson, who is the daughter of a farmer, as she was walking along a railroad track to Tyler in mid-afternoon Monday, May 13. She was first knocked down, he said. The pair left her with her throat gashed, believing her dead. She later was found after an all night search.

While the girl herself did not identify her assailant, he was identified by a man who claims to have seen him in the neighborhood soon before the crime was committed. The girl's condition is critical. Davis said his partner had been arrested in Waco.

public halls and squares where the candidates' trains or automobiles paused.

The Taft managers congratulated themselves on having planned his speaking tour so that he could appeal to the towns of the commuters' belt on a Saturday, when many of the workers could leave New York offices early in the day. After spending the night at the home of his brother, Henry W. Taft, in New York city, Mr. Taft took an automobile and started on a brisk circuit of the big towns in the vicinity of this city which are peopled largely by families whose breadwinners work in the metropolis. He was due here at 2 p. m., for a brief speech at the Newark industrial exposition. Arlington, Orange Park, Passaic, Paterson, Ridgewood and Montclair were on his route during the day time, and this evening he expected to speak indoors at Rutherford, Hackensack and Englewood, returning to New York about midnight.

Roosevelt in Shore District.

Col. Roosevelt's work this morning lay in another part of the state, principally the shore district, where a large part of the population earn their living by farming or catering to the summer visitors. His itinerary also touched the southern fringe of the commuting district.

The colonel spent the night in his private car at Trenton, where he delivered his last speech yesterday. One of his first stops today was Asbury Park, and there was a lively curiosity to see whether the clergyman who asked Senator La Follette his views on prohibition there yesterday would carry out the senator's request and put the same question to Mr. Roosevelt.

From Asbury Park, the Roosevelt party intended to skirt the beach, making stops at Long Branch, Red Bank, Perth Amboy and Rahway. In the afternoon the colonel will speak at New Brunswick, Plainfield and several smaller places in the vicinity.

He will wind up his day's tour with a speech at Elizabeth. From Elizabeth he will go to his home at Oyster Bay, where he will remain until he leaves for his final day of New Jersey campaigning on Monday.

Compares People and Bosses.

Lakewood, N. J., May 25.—Col. Roosevelt got an early start today on his third day of campaigning in New Jersey. The first stop was made at Freehold.

"I have come to the conclusion that New Jersey is the real place for a strenuous time," he said in his speech here.

"I know the people will make mistakes in governing themselves," he continued, "but they will not make one-tenth the mistakes the bosses will make in governing them."

paign than the defeated rebels, as the losses to the government were small. This was because the artillery of the federals kept the rebel infantry back so far that their fire was ineffective.

Orozco's Artillery Poor.

Orozco's cannon practically were useless. The shells were of poor manufacture and the range of guns short, most of the shells exploding 300 yards short of the federal lines.

One and one-half million rounds of ammunition were used by the federal infantry, and 400 shells were fired by the artillery during the eighteen hours of fighting, according to a statement by Gen. Huerta today. The artillery inflicted a terrible punishment on the insurgent columns. Some of the shells severed the fleeing rebel troop trains, killing scores at a time.

More than 800 dead and wounded rebels were found on the battlefield behind Rellano as the federal advance guard, under Generals Rabago and Telles, pressed northward in pursuit of the retreating insurrectos.

Rebel Losses 3,000.

In all, Gen. Orozco is estimated to have lost nearly 3,000 of his force of 8,000 rebels Two thousand are reported to have fled in disorder.

"We mean to press the campaign vigorously," said Gen. Huerta today. "The victory has once more shown the power of the government. Our men are full of confidence."

El Paso Paper Dynamited.

El Paso, Tex., May 25.—Shortly before 11 o'clock last night the office of the Paso Del Norte, a Spanish newspaper, published in the heart of the city yand supporting the Madero government, was dynamited.

The bomb was thrown at the front window, producing a violent explosion, which, however, only wrecked a portion of the front of the building. No one was injured.

Graham and H. C. Jennings were those elected to their old position as publishing agents.

During the seconding of the nomination of Dr. Marvin Rader for missionary bishop in Southeastern Asia, Dr. Benjamin Young of Portland, Ore., who for a time was among the high candidates of the bishopric race, jocularly declared that he favored Dr. Marvin, declared that "he does not have red hair because he smoke." Friends of Dr. Young declar that a story which was circulated to the effect that Dr. Young smoked, but which later was denied, injured his candidacy.

Neeley Is Disappointed.

Bishop Thomas B. Neeley of New Orleans, in a speech before the delegates, attacked the present session of the general conference for retiring the general conference secretary, declaring that the committee meeting had been held in secret, that he had not been given a fair opportunity to defend himself and that he did not appear before the committee two or three times as has been claimed, but only once.

Last night's session was given over to the work of the American Bible society, the Methodist Brotherhood, and the Methodist Federation for Social service. Among the speakers were: J. P. Wragg, Atlanta, Ga.; S. P. Kirkbride, Chicago; W. P. Mell, San Francisco; W. I. Haven, New York; Bishop F. D. Leete and H. F. Ward, Chicago, Ill.

The report of the American Brotherhood society dealt with the work of circulating biblical literature over the world.

Report of Brotherhood.

The report of the Methodist Brotherhood declared that the brotherhood is "a serious attempt to help solve the man-problem in the church," and pointed to the issuance of 1,250 charters in the four years since its organization. Work of the brotherhood in Switzerland and India was noted, and a plea was made in the report that the many groups of men doing work for the church affiliate with the brotherhood for the advancement of the cause.

Attention was directed to the part the Methodist brotherhood has played in organizing the Knights of Methodism, a boys' organization in the church, and in conclusion the conference was told that the part taken by the brotherhood in shaping and directing the Men and Religion Forward movement was gratifying to those having that movement at heart.

The conference was asked to continue the brotherhood for another quadrennium.

Church's Social Creed.

The social creed of the church was the burden of the report of the Methodist Federation for Social Service. The report was in the nature of an answer to questions referred to the federation by the general conference of 1908, one of which was: "What principles and measures of social reform are so evidently righteous and Christian as to demand the specific approval and support of the church?"

In answer the federation affirms that among other things the Methodist Episcopal church stands:

"For equal rights and complete justice for all men in all stations of life.

"For the protection of the family, by the single standard of purity, uniform divorce laws, proper regulation of marriage and proper housing.

"For the abolition of child labor.

"For the conservation of health.

"For a release from employment one day in seven.

"For a living wage as a minimum in every industry, and for the highest wage that each industry can afford."

For Immediate Work.

Immediate action by the church in the industrial field is recommended in the report on three propositions, one day's rest in seven, reduction of the hours of labor, and a living wage.

Activity in each community by the leaders of the Methodist Episcopal church to meet the community needs was recommended, and the necessity of co-operation with other agencies for good voiced.

FRIENDS OF LORIMER SAY HE IS SURE TO BE PUT OUT OF SENATE

supporters have not been able to add one name to the list. Those classed as doubtful have refused to give to the Lorimer men any indication of their indications.

Lorimer men were forced to the conclusion that the list of doubtful votes was too large to give them any chance to win if the case were brought to a vote. It was decided, therefore, to submit the exact situation to Senator Lorimer.

Think He Should Resign.

There was no one of the Lorimer supporters authorized to speak for the junior Illinois senator today, but it was urged he should resign and not further uselessly embarrass his friends in what they felt would be a futile battle.

It further was argued that Senator Lorimer should be content to rest on his former victory, and the fact that a majority of the committee which investigated the charges the second time had reported in his favor.

Finally it was agreed that the only thing that could be done was to present the situation to the senator himself. His health has been impaired throughout most of the present session, and he has been unable to remain here to look after his own interests. It was thought he might be influenced to abandon the fight on that account.

Curtis Believes Funk.

One severe blow to the Lorimer forces was the knowledge that Senator Curtis of Kansas, who voted for Senator Lorimer last session, would be against him if the case again came to a vote. This offsets the gain by Lorimer of Senator Jones of Washington, who last session voted against him.

Senator Curtis justifies his change by his lifelong friendship for Clarence S. Funk of Chicago, general manager of the International Harvester company.

The Kansas senator says the testimony given in the last investigation clearly raised a question of veracity between Funk and Edward Hines, a Chicago lumber dealer, charged with having said he helped "put Lorimer over." Mr. Curtis says he believes Funk.

Sherman in Chicago.

Chicago, May 25.—Vice President Sherman is believed to have arrived in Chicago this morning. Whether his visit has anything to do with the reported collapse of the Lorimer defense was a matter of conjecture as the vice president was reported to have left the train at Englewood, some distance from the heart of the city and to have given no hint of his destination.

FIND CHAUFFEURS' CORPSE IN LAKE

Only One Victim of Chicago Motor Tragedy Not Yet Found.

Chicago, May 25.—The body of John W. Buchanan, the chauffeur who, with four companions, was drowned early last Monday morning, when the automobile which he was driving plunged through an open draw at the Ninety-second street bridge into the Calumet river, was found today at the Calumet breakwater in Lake Michigan.

The bodies of three other victims of the accident have been recovered. The fifth, believed to have been Charles Rummick, still is missing. Two of the dead were Anna Mahoney, aged 21, and Florence Mahoney, aged 19, daughters of Policeman Thomas Mahoney.

Buchanan was chauffeur for Mrs. C. S. Spaulding

STUB ROO TONIC!

E. A. JOHNSON.

Manufacturer Stub Roo Tonic.

Duluth, Minn., June 17, 1909.

Stub Roo Medical Co., Duluth, Minn.:

Dear Sir:

I will let you know about your antiseptic lotion — for four years I have suffered untold agony from rash of eczema, which I had all over my body, with terrible pain, and nervous from itching and heat that I could tear my flesh to bleeding when all the hard spells came. I had all the doctors in Duluth and used their prescriptions, but all in vain. I tried all the patent medicines I could think of, but nothing helped me. I was advised by a friend of mine to try the Stub Roo lotion. I did and got help from the first bottle. I used and spunged my body all over and felt like I was all well after I got through my first treatment. No more itching, it checked the pain and I felt fine and had a good sleep, that I did not have for four years. My eczema is gone and I can now realize the blessing of health. I shall never fail to praise the remedy and the treatment, and why not? When all other remedies failed, Stub Roo Lotion has cured me. It is certainly the best remedy for eczema or any inflammatory eruption of the human body. I will gladly answer letters anyone may write to me, and I hope one and all who try your treatment will be entirely cured as I was. May God's best blessing be on you now and forever,

Yours truly,

THE LEGISLATURE'S CHANCE.

The extra session offers the Minnesota legislature a great chance to redeem itself, but it presents grave dangers as well.

Ever since the close of the regular session the legislature has been in bad repute in this state—undeservedly, on the whole, The Herald has contended and still thinks. It was blameworthy, it is true, but not to such an extent as it has been blamed.

Criticism mostly ran to the unseemly bickering in the house; yet the house passed every constructive measure then demanded by the people, including a fair reapportionment law and a statewide primary law. These measures were beaten by jockeying in committees, by confusion of issues among two thousand bills, and by endless tactics of delay by a minority in both branches. There is not one of these bills that would not have become law if it had come to a straight, open vote in each house. Even reapportionment would have gone through had the compromise measure proposed by Senator Rockne not been beaten by Governor Eberhart's maladroit interference.

The extra session gives the legislature a chance to prove that its critics were mistaken, and that the governor and his supporters were most mistaken of all when for nearly a year they refused an extra session on the ground that the legislature would not do anything if it got together.

But the members of the legislature must remember that the forces opposed to progressive legislation and the reform of the state's political control are fighting desperately in the last ditch.

They will not fight openly.

They will fight by subtler means—by confusing the issues through the introduction of many measures, by subtle amendments with disguised destruction in them, by smothering bills in committees, by jockeying for delay in the hope of tiring out the members and bringing about an adjournment without legislative results.

Open fighting would be futile. The underhanded methods will be successful unless the legislature is on its guard. If it is on its guard, nothing can prevent its making a record for constructive work in a short, sharp session that need not last three weeks.

Clear Case of Monesty.

Adams county, Ohio, where so many citizens were disfranchised, went for Roosevelt. After the lesson those people had in vote-selling it is useless for the Taft managers to raise the corruption yell in that particular case.

AN ARM AROUND THE VETERAN'S SHOULDER.

The Citizens' Staff was formed a few years ago to take the heavier burdens of the Memorial day observance from the shoulders of the veterans of the Civil war and put them upon men younger and better able to stand the heat and burden of the day.

It was a beautiful idea, and it has worked out admirably. Again this year the Citizens' Staff is co-operating with those who wore the blue. This splendid organization deserves and should have the earnest support of all who find it possible to help; and anybody who seeks the chance to help will find it easily possible to do so.

Might Have Known It.

Of course you understand why all these disasters and wars and things are happening this year—add the numerals in the number 1912.

BACK TO THE OLD MOORINGS?

At a recent gathering of cotton manufacturers in Boston the president of the association deplored the "wave of radicalism" that is sweeping the country, and urged upon his colleagues the idea that it is their duty to lead the people back into ways of contentment and sanity.

The notion of the owners of an industry which the present "wave of radicalism" is certain to deprive of its power through special privilege to tax the consumer and oppress labor, leading the people back into their old slough of apathetic contentment, is rather good. It has a trace of humor in it that its author manifestly did not note.

Said he: "We may well pause a moment to consider some phases of the way in which radicalism has swept over the country. There has been so much talk and so much denunciation of the established order that one naturally begins to wonder if, after all, this nation and its form of government are failures. It seems clear to me, as a result of this talk, criticism and denunciation on the part of the politicians and demagogues there has followed, quite naturally, a growth of Socialistic ideas and Socialism throughout the country. The agitators have sown discontent and dissatisfaction, and the country is reaping Socialism and anarchism. As manufacturers and public-spirited citizens, I believe it our duty to take heed and to do our part to lead the people back to the old moorings and see that confidence is restored in the old leaders."

That's rather good, you know. The cotton manufacturers, who reap rich profits out of a benevolent protective tariff while their millworkers have to drive their wives and children to make both ends meet, and who are threatened with a tariff revision that would cut off their power to tax the people for their own selfish benefit, propose to "lead the people back to the old moorings and see that confidence is restored in the old leaders."

Back to the old moorings, of course, means back to the golden era of McKinley, when the tariff was as high as greed commanded it to be, when the tariff and other special privileges were being capitalized, and when water in torrents and oceans was being poured into the stocks on which the people were to be expected, for all time to come, to pay dividends.

And by all means the cotton manufacturers should see to it that confidence is restored in the old leaders. Probably that isn't possible in the case of Matt Quay and Mark Hanna; they're dead. It's hardly worth while restoring public confidence in Aldrich and Hale, because they are out of office, and probably couldn't be induced to return to it at their ages.

But Cannon still is in office and still alive. Tawney isn't in office but he is very much alive, having probably by this time recovered from the effects of his failure to carry Minnesota for Taft. Taft is still president. John Dalzell has just been beaten for renomination, but perhaps a heroic effort might put him back next time. Senator Crane has just announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election, but perhaps if the cotton manufacturers can restore confidence in the old leaders, he could be induced to change his mind.

By all means, let the cotton manufacturers try that experiment of sweeping back the wave of radicalism with the whiskbroom of personal interest. By all means, let them try to lead the people back to their old moorings and attempt to restore confidence in the old leaders.

It would be interesting to see how far they could get with it.

Natural Error.

Nat Goodwin is said to be married again. Nat denies it. Oh well, probably some careless makeup man just happened to grab some of the old stuff that was kept standing.

PROSPERITY AND PROGRESS.

Some of the discomfited and dismayed reactionaries who witness with bewildered concern the rising tide of revolt against prevailing social conditions declare, with much heat, that the forces of revolt are menacing prosperity, and that if they are not headed off they will destroy it.

That's not true.

All parties, and all factions of parties, are heartily in favor of prosperity and the national well-being. Not a reformer can be found, whether he calls himself Progressive, Republican, Democrat, Socialist or Prohibitionist, who has a word to say against prosperity and good business.

But one kind of party and faction of party doesn't mind what becomes of our aggregate wealth, so long as it is big. Such elements are fond of pointing to totals and drawing averages, as evidences of the national well-being. If the total wealth is great, and the average wealth high, that's all people ought to care about, they think.

But another kind of party and faction cares more about the general well-being of the people than about aggregates or averages.

Both believe in more wealth; but one believes only in more wealth, while the other believes in a wider distribution of comfort and well-being.

There is no attack on prosperity or business as such. Those who want to see better average well-being rather than a higher average wealth are as anxious to see business good and the nation prosperous as the others.

But aggregates and averages don't mean anything. In a community of a thousand people, it looks impressive to say that its aggregate wealth is a million dollars, and the average wealth per capita a thousand dollars. Yet in that community one man may own $950,000, and the other nine hundred and ninety-nine may share more or less equally what is left. The one man may be rotting in surplus riches, and the nine hundred and ninety-nine may be rotting in poverty and misery.

Your progressive, by whatever name he calls himself, wouldn't destoy a penny of that wealth. But he would try to find out how it happened that one man got so much and the rest so little, and he would try to correct the condition that made this possible.

In other words, material prosperity, which by special privileges of one kind or another is allowed to congest in the hands of a few, is not enough. In fact it is worse, and more productive of harm, than lack of material prosperity.

"The greatest good to the greatest number" should be the ideal of a democracy; and a democracy has strayed far out of its path which neglects that ideal.

A nation which impoverishes the many that the few may have great wealth is inviting peril of the most deadly kind. A nation which is content with that condition has sown the seeds of decay.

Here It Is—The Prize Joke At Last!

THE POCKET TELEPHONE.

Life grows more complex all the time. The more ingenious facilities invention provides, the greater the demand for new ones more intricate still; and the more inventors make it easy to live conveniently, the less convenient it is to live at all.

Germany, according to the Chicago journal Telephony, has contrived an improvement on the telephone that will permit everybody—who has the price—to carry his telephone along with him in his pocket, and to stop and use it wherever he may happen to think of the need of it.

This pocket telephone is so small and handy that it is easy to carry it in the coat pocket, and women can put them in their handbags. The receiver and the transmitter fit into a circular nickel case two and a half inches in diameter and three-quarters of an inch thick. The whole weighs but seven ounces. The new invention is already in use in Berlin.

Says Telephony: "Contact devices have been provided on every street at very short distances. They are fastened to walls, doors, trees, lampposts or other convenient places. They are tightly inclosed, so that neither humidity nor storms can damage them, and they are thoroughly insulated.

"There are so many of these contact places that it is now as easy to telephone as it is to mail a letter. Indeed, in the busy portions of Berlin there are two or three of them to every block.

"Of course, one misses the privacy of the telephone booth, although the pocket telephone is so delicately constructed that one need speak in only a very low tone of voice."

At present the new system is used mostly for police purposes, but its coming into general use the world over may be looked for.

It is already so convenient to use the telephone that busy people are subject to interruption by telephone calls at any moment. What will it be when their friends carry pocket telephones about with them and can stop anywhere on their travels and begin a conversation about any vagrant thought that happens to strike them?

Anything to Please.

Col. Roosevelt's evident enjoyment of the campaign might indicate that he'd be satisfied not to be elected, if only the people would let him run for office whenever he feels like it.

A PERVERTED VISION.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota, one of Aldrich's aides in the perpetration of the Payne-Aldrich bill, in a speech in the senate yesterday accounted, to his own satisfaction, for the election of a Democratic house in 1910, for the revolt against Taft and the Old Guard, and for the spread of radical ideas.

The newspapers did it, says the senator; the newspapers and the magazines.

Why did they do it? For the utterly wretched and shameful reason that they wanted free print paper and couldn't get it. So says the senator, who also charges that the newspapers and magazines intimated that if they got their free paper they would hush up about the scandal of the proposed distribution of tariff special privileges.

Of course magazines don't use print paper, but that's a mere detail. What interests us is the caliber of a mind that can satisfy itself with this accounting for a nation-wide revolt against a political bossism that has prostituted free government for the benefit of a powerful and greedy few.

Is Senator McCumber judging the magazines and newspapers by his own standards of morality and honesty? If he is, he must be more contemptible and corrupt than he charges the press of the nation with being.

Naturally.

Some New York society women gave a zoo party the other day, but it didn't get half the attention given a similar impromptu event of a few years ago when a certain noted tenor figured in a monkey-house episode.

IF.

This campaign might have been a very different affair, and certainly a prettier one, if death had stayed its hand.

Since 1908 two brilliant figures in American life have been removed by untimely deaths. Each of these men stood high in the love and respect of their party associates. The logic of events may easily be interpreted to show that both of them would have been presidential candidates this year if they had lived.

These two men were John A. Johnson of Minnesota and Jonathan P. Dolliver of Iowa.

John A. Johnson would most assuredly have been the Democratic candidate for president, and with little serious opposition. Doubtless Hearst, who has no respect for anything or anybody that he cannot twist to his own uses, would have been heaping billingsgate upon him; but he was made to be a people's leader, and the nomination would have been his.

Dolliver was the brains and the heart of the insurgent movement, which has burned with a dimmer and less certain light since he died. He would have been the logical candidate for the presidency against Taft, and in many respects he would have been an ideal one. It is altogether probable that Roosevelt would have supported him instead of running himself.

What a fight it would have been with these two! And the country would have been safe and progress certain with either as president.

He Has Too Strong a Punch For That.

Lyman Abbott says Roosevelt's principal drink is milk, but President Taft can hardly be blamed if he doubts whether it is of the human kindness brand.

THE NEW HOMESTEAD LAW.

Prompt action is expected on the three-year homestead bill, committees from both branches of congress having agreed on its provisions, and it will be interesting to note the effects of this measure, which is intended to stimulate homestead settlements on idle government lands.

The present requirement is five years' practically continuous residence on the land, with the privilege of commuting at a dollar and a quarter an acre at the end of fourteen months' continuous residence.

The new provisions are that the entryman may gain title to his homestead at the end of three years, that he may be absent from the land for five months of each year, and that one-sixteenth of the land must be under cultivation at the end of the second year and one-eighth at the end of the third year.

The provision that is likely to be of most importance in this region is that allowing five months' absence from the land each year. This will permit the settler to leave his claim during the winter months and work in the woods or elsewhere to earn money to promote his farming operations during the period of pioneering. It is possible that this provision will stimulate homestead settlement in Northern Minnesota considerably.

The reduction of the time between filing and patenting from five years to three will be largely sentimental in its effects so far as it produces any results. If a man really intends to make a farm on his claim and live there, it should matter little to him whether he gets his title in three years or five, except that perhaps he will feel better about it if he can call the land his own in three years instead of waiting five. On the other hand, those who file merely to get the land for speculative purposes will be encouraged as much as those who are really homeseekers, and these are not persons it is desirable to have locate on government land.

On the whole, the new provisions ought to stimulate the demand for the remaining government acres. It will be interesting to see what really does come of it.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

ROOT'S AMENDMENT TO DILLINGHAM BILL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

With your permission I would like to have the following facts catch the eye of every foreign-born citizen of this county:

Senator Root's amendment to the pending Dillingham bill provides for the deportation of any foreign-born person who aids by donation of money or otherwise takes part in any political campaign against any friendly powers. I do this with the view that such readers of your paper would write protests to our congressmen against such legislation, which would deny the right of asylum to any one who financially or otherwise may try to help any kindred or friends who may be making their way to industrial and political liberty in this or their country, for such legislation would be equally effective against Irish, English or Russian born persons who are fighting oppression, as against the Mexican rebel, who is only a rebel against another set of rebels who succeeded in being able to exploit the country with the aid of American capitalists who got tired of Diaz and afraid of his power and backed up Madero.

"NAILS."

Duluth, May 24.

THE EXTRA SESSION.

His Back to the Wall.

Bemidji Pioneer: Governor Eberhart, with his boss, Ed Smith, has his back to the wall and is fighting desperately to stave off the certain defeat of renomination that stares him in the face. The motives for calling an extra session of the legislature, seven months before a regular session is due, are at least questionable.

Last winter the people of the state made a practically unanimous demand for an extra session of the legislature to consider progressive and equitable legislation. Governor Eberhart stated many times, even as late as March 28, when he wrote to W. T. Coe of the Hennepin County Progressive league, that the people of the state did not want an extra session of the legislature and that he would not call one. The governor heard no demand for an extra session until his own chances for renomination became desperate. It is impossible not to believe that he has some motive other than the common good in taking action at this time. Eberhart has his back to the wall! He will bear watching that he and his bosses do not try to foist on the state laws which will allow the bosses to evade the will of the people and continue in power.

Charges of Vacillation.

St. Cloud Journal Press: The governor has steadfastly refused to call an extra session, although urged to do so by many people—but at the demand of the convention changed his mind in short order.

It may be that his hind sight is his best vision, but it subjects him to the criticism of vacillation and of being peeved. This may be an injustice to him, and he may reason that he felt it his duty to obey the suggestion of the state convention to have a preferential vote. Whether it is a wise or otherwise will depend upon the action of the legislature.

In a Turbulent Sea.

Fergus Falls Journal: Opposed to the primary idea until he saw that the overwhelming sentiment of the people demanded it he has now granted the concession when he sees that it is the only thing which can save for him the governorship and his disabled political machine. He realizes full well that in a general primary with the opposition to Governor Eberhort divided among a multiplicity of candidates the governor will be able to lead although he has but a minority of votes, but in taking the action which he has now taken, he has created a political disaster of Titanic proportions, and has thrown everybody as well as the governor into a most turbulent sea. If the legislature is convened and a primary election law passed not only the governor will become involved in the turmoil, but every other office-holder in the state house. Like that ancient character of Biblical times, he has pulled down the African marble which holds up the roof of the capitol, and in the wreckage are all the other office-holders.

Should Limit Session.

Albert Lea Tribune: If the members of the legislature hold to the expression which they give in interviews gathered by the Minneapolis Journal, it ought not to be a hard task to limit the legislation to be entered upon at the coming special session. The majority express themselves of the belief that an extra session was entirely uncalled for. Fully half seemed to think that the statewide primary should be the only legislation taken up. Among the others there is such a diversity of opinions as to what legislation should be considered that it ought not be a hard matter to get a majority to agree to stand for a statewide primary, and then go home.

Reason for Short Session.

Stillwater Gazette: It appears to rest entirely with our legislature now, as to what kind of a primary law Minnesota shall have. And reapportionment will be thrashed out as well as a corrupt practices act bill. The three above mentioned will likely bring forth much argument, which may be extended over several weeks, possibly months. One strogn reason, however, for expecting a brief session, is the fact that about all the laymen can think of that the legislators can draw, is railroad fare, but it will not go far paying hotel bills.

Inopportune Time.

Mankato Review: There is no question but that the time selected for a special session is most inopportune for the securing of those results that should at least be hoped for in the enactment of legislation so important to the whole people of the state. It looks very much as though Governor Eberhart has acted in this matter from motives that are purely personal and with a desire solely to further his own candidacy for re-election. Whether the object so sought will be accomplished by this move on his part is only a conjecture at this time, but it can be safely said that the people at large do not look with favor upon a move that will increase their burden of taxation to gratify the political ambition of one man.

Hears the Call Too Late.

Lake Crystal Union: Governor Eberhart has heard the coming of the "300,000 strong, Abraham," and will call an extra session of the legislature to convene June 4, 1912. Saltpeter won't save the bosses. The people have woke up!

Good Manager.

Judge's Library: A clever newspaper woman, whose income is never less than $3,000 a year, went into a department store to purchase a pair of stockings.

The silk-and-jeweled salesgirl contemptuously threw down the asked-for lisle threads, and then, in the maddeningly condescending manner of her kind, opened a box of the $3 silk variety.

"These," she said loftily, "are quite nice for the price. I've worn them for several years and find them very satisfactory."

"Good gracious! what a manager you must be!" cried the customer admiringly. "If I could make my salary go as far proportionately as you do yours, I could have a yacht, a French car and a country estate!"

EBERHART AND THE EXTRA SESSION.

Cambridge North Star (Rep.): Seldom in the history of the state has a governor signed his own political death warrant so decisively as has Governor Eberhart in issuing the call for a session of the legislature to convene, June 4. As an eleventh hour "conversion" and a death bed confession, it rivals the record of the most contrite convert at the most emotional rival, ever held in the name of any denomination.

Governor Eberhart's record on the extra session agitation prior to the Minneapolis convention, May 16, writes him down as the greatest political wobbler in the political annals of the state. This statement can be proved. We proceed to the proof:

In Brainerd, Dec. 1, 1910, on the eve of the meeting of the Thirty-seventh legislature, Governor Eberhart said at the meeting of the Northern Minnesota Development association:

"I am satisfied that there will be no necessity to urge the legislators to remember what the people expect of them. However, I shall use, so far as I rightly may do so, my influence to secure reapportionment. It it should become necessary—I do not think it will—I shall not hesitate to call an extra session to obtain just reapportionment."

The legislature at its regular session failed to give Minnesota either a just reapportionment or any reapportionment at all. Repeated demands were made upon Governor Eberhart to call an extra session, notably by members of the Northern Minnesota Development association. In answer to these demands, Governor Eberhart said, Dec. 6, 1911, in a letter to A. C. Wedge, a member of that association, that there was no demand for an extra session. He dwelt in length on the injury such a session would have upon the Minnesota rate case now pending and in closing said:

"This is the whole situation in a nutshell, and while it is true that it would be a sort of a popular thing to play to the galleries for increased railroad legislation, it is not a question of popularity; it is a question of right, and irrespective of any consequences which may result to me, I am going to stand by what I believe to be right."

Owing to the work of Eberhart's friends in the association, no demand was made for an extra session, although some plain things were said upon the floor at the various sessions against Governor Eberhart for breaking his pledge, Dec. 1, 1910, at Brainerd.

On June 2, 1911, Governor Eberhart upon a return from Duluth, gave the following interview to the St. Paul Dispatch:

"It is realized that to ask the members of the last legislature to pass a reapportionment bill is useless. It would be a waste of the people's money to call them to the capitol."

June 11, 1911, in Duluth, while en route to attend a meeting of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association at Itasca state park, he said:

"It is folly to talk of assembling the legislature in extraordinary session at this time to consider railroad legislation."

June 20, 1911, in response for further comments Governor Eberhart stated to the Dispatch:

"Everyone with whom I have talked believes that it would be a stupendous waste of public funds to call an extra session."

Again on the third day of November, 1911, Ralph W. Wheelock declared the press had distorted Governor Eberhart's words at Brainerd relative to an extra session. From a "verbatim" speech found in Ralph W. Wheelock's desk, the administration forces declared that what Governor Eberhart really said on that occasion was:

"I don't believe in calling an extra session. No member of the legislature can go home and square himself with his constituents unless he passes that bill. There is no need to instruct the legislature. It knows its duty. By doing its duty it will be fulfilling and carrying out the pledges of both parties. If reapportionment is slighted, I might be forced to call an extra session. There is no threat in this."

Nov. 9, 1911, before a political gathering for the discussion of fire prevention, arranged by J. A. O. Preus, chief reactionary of the Eberhart administration, secretary of the state central committee, which ignored the appeals of the voters of the state for a presidential preference primary, our chief executive boldly declared that there would be no extra session if he could help it. He said, referring to the Minnesota rate case:

"There is plenty of time to talk extra session after the supreme court is heard from, which it is expected, will be early in 1912. It might make me popular to go up and down the state shouting in favor of extra sessions, but if popularity must come through being a demagogue or employing muck-rake methods, then I think there are a few of us left who would prefer to be unpopular."

This sentence you will note has a Wheelockesque climax.

March 28, 1912, in a letter addressed to I. A. Caswell, state Roosevelt manager, in response to a request that Governor Eberhart call an extra session to enact a presidential preference primary, our executive said:

"This question has been before the people in one form or another ever since the adjournment of the last regular session, and it is a matter of common knowledge that the sentiment is overwhelmingly against such an extra session. This I know of my own knowledge to be a fact."

In April Governor Eberhart was silent on the extra session. It was a month of reflection. Just over the horizon appeared a cloud, no bigger than a man's hand; the demand for presidential preference primaries so ruthlessly repelled by the Ed Smith machine. Quickly followed the Waterloo of the Eberhart administration; its Elba and its St. Helena, too, all in one awful cataclysmic crash in the historic presidential caucuses, May 11, when the Minnesota electorate with one hand tied behind its back, swept the brewery nourished machine of Adolph Eberhart from its perch.

The Minneapolis convention, May 16, was the climax. Governor Eberhart, like a man in a mill pond going down for the last time, grasped for a straw; the extra session. Here he hopes with the aid of the brewery and railroad lobbies to rehabilitate his political fortunes, by writing upon the statute books of the state a primary law which will give him a distinct advantage over the other candidates in the field.

A new order of things is ushered in. Governor Eberhart belongs to the old order, and cannot survive. In the words of the Hebrew prophet: "He that soweth wind shall reap a whirlwind."

Most Socialized Nation.

Samuel P. Orth in the World's Work: A German laborer may begin life attended by a physician or a nurse paid by the state; he is christened by a state clergyman; is taught the rudiments of learning and his handicraft by the state. He is drafted by the state into the army, devoting two of his best years to the drill sergeant. If he falls ill, his suffering is assuaged by the knowledge that his wife and children are cared for, and that his expenses will be paid during illness, and he spends his convalescence in a sumptuous state hospital. If he fall victim to an accident, the ample insurance, even if he be permanently injured, is a balm to his suffering. If he gets out of work, city and state unite to find or make work for him. If he wanders from town to town in search of work, the cities through which he passes offer him free hospitality. If he wishes to move to another part of his town, the municipal bureau will be glad to help him find a house, or even lend him money to get one of his own.

If he is in dispute with his employer, the government furnishes a court of arbitration. If he is sued by his master or wishes to sue him, the state has provided a special industrial court. If he is in trouble the city places a lawyer at his disposal.

And it is in this land of cautious caretaking for the humbler folk, that Social-Democracy casts half the Socialist votes for the world.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Patriotism of Peace.

The character of Memorial day is bound to change as the years roll by. On each succeeding anniversary a smaller number of veterans gather to decorate the graves of their fallen comrades. Each year some ride who walked the year before, while some are missed from the ranks altogether. The Grand army is but a shattered remnant of the noble host of young men who swept to the front fifty years ago.

Moreover, a generation of Americans has grown up upon whom the solemn and beautiful ceremonies of the day cannot make a first-hand impression. Associations of the war cannot move us today as they did the men and women of four or five decades ago, who endured the strain and terror of it. When the graves of dead soldiers were first decorated by their living comrades, the spectators included many who had known the soldier personally, had perhaps seen him march away in his blue uniform, had seen his name later in the dreadful list of the killed. In the very nature of the case, the war cannot be vivid in this way to all the thousands born many years since its close and on the stage of active life at the present time.

That the day shall ever cease to be observed, or its lessons be lost, I do not believe. When, in the course of years, the last remaining veterans shall have been gathered to their fathers, the children of the republic will continue the gracious custom they established. Lessons of patriotism shall be taught wherever Americans gather together, as we "take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion."

The call to patriotic service is no less insistent in these piping times of peace than in the days of the Rebellion. The citizen who loves his country has plenty of calls on his courage and in his patience. It sometimes requires as much stamina to cast a ballot as to shoulder a gun. Let no one imagine that the spirit of bravery may have no exercise save on the field of battle.

In some ways the modern world sets a sterner challenge before civilians than any the warriors met. It is not only a question of physical bravery. In this regard let us believe that the mass of men would measure up to the standards of the past. In any crisis, Americans will "rally 'round the flag" as quickly as ever. The particular demand today is for moral bravery, and that is the hardest test that can be applied.

Genuine patriots will be honest in their dealings with the state when, by dishonesty, they might gain some personal material advantage; they will exhibit public spirit when inclination and the example of others prompts to selfishness; they will obey established law when disregard for law is characteristic of rich and poor. Genuine patriotism prompts to

Some sense of duty, something of a faith,
Some reverence for the laws ourselves have made,
Some patient force to change them when we will,
Some civic manhood firm against the crowd.

The willingness to sacrifice personal gain or comfort for the public good is the essence of all patriotism, whether in war or peace. Bad measures are enacted and bad men get into office because good men are too busy or too lazy to provide better measures or better candidates. Three fourths of the ills that vex our body politic might be cured if we were willing to make the sacrifice of ease or money required.

There are patriots in our land today, many thousands of them. Peace is having her victories no less than war. Hats off, I say, to the men who fought out the battle of freedom and union on bloody fields a half-century ago! And hats off, too, to the soldiers of peace who, in public office and out of it, are standing today for honesty and sobriety and law!

THE PARSON.

Do You Envy Her?

She stood at the glass and she tried with her might
To button
Her waist
Behind.
The movements she went through were surely a sight,
To button
Her waist
Behind.
She would reach and she'd tug, she would sigh and she'd groan.
And after each effort she'd let out a moan;
She twisted and squirmed till she strained every bone,
To button
Her waist
Behind.
She would take a long breath and then stand on her toes,
To button
Her waist
Behind.
She strained at the risk of ripping her clothes,
To button
Her waist
Behind.
She had a contortionist beaten a mile,
She would bend like a jackknife, then straighten awhile,
And wonder why nightmares like that were in style—
The waists
That button
Behind.
For an hour she labored in wildest despair
To button
Her waist
Behind.
Her face became red and all loosened her hair
To button
Her waist
Behind.
She wept, and the tears splashed down in her lap,
While for life and its pleasures she cared not a rap.
When she went to the office a hideous gap
Was there
In her waist
Behind.

Remarks on Fishing.

C. Leslie Van Every in Judge's Library: The wise old angler goes by certain signs—usually by all of them.

The fellow who always has poor luck should cheer up and remember that many of the largest fish ever recorded as having been caught weighed less than a pound when first taken from the water.

To manipulate a reel properly, liquid bait should be used.

I once sent to an editor a little poem written about some fish I had lost because my lines were poor. The poem was returned to me with the information that its lines were not unlike the ones I had been fishing with.

Even the small things should be taken into consideration when plans are being made for a fishing trip. The mosquitoes, for instance.

Strenuous Singer.

New York Herald: Scrag McQuorig, one of the leading Republicans of Schoharie, drifted into Republican state headquarters with the following Roosevelt story:

"I had a dream about Roosevelt the other night," he said. "I dreamed he died and went to heaven. After St. Peter had shown him about and asked him what he thought of everything, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"'I like everything but your choir. Ought to improve that.'

"'Well, what would you suggest?' asked St. Peter.

"'Well, first off, send for ten thousand sopranos.'

"'That'll be pretty hard,' said St. Peter, 'but if you say so I'll do it.'

"'Then get five thousand altos.'

"'Yes.'

"'Then ten thousand barytones.'

"'Yes.'

"'Then you'll have a real choir.'

"'But how about the bassos?'

"'Oh, I'll sing bass.'"

THE SITUATION

By SAVOYARD.

In 1904 "the interests" poured out money like water to compass the nomination of an eastern man for president of the United States in the Democratic national convention of that year. In 1912 those same "interests," reinforced by other equally vigorous and more repulsive instrumentalities, are making lavish expeditures of corruption funds to defeat the Democratic nomination for president of another eastern man. The victory of Alton B. Parker at St. Louis in 1904 was purchased, and they who bought it hope to procure the overthrow of Woodrow Wilson at Baltimore in 1912 by the lavish use of boodle. The best of Democrat s have repeatedly admitted that their party is a fool. Shall we have to confess that our party is a knave? That depends on whether the contemptible conspiracy, now becoming brazen and blatant, against Woodrow Wilson shall triumph in its nefarious machinations.

It is a conspiracy, the foulest of which any public man American has yet produced was ever the victim. He is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president before all the voters of that party in all the states and he is a candidate without a campaign fund. In some regions the conspirators bring out one candidate against him. In other sections they put forward other candidates. All over the country it is three against one, and each of the three has a campaign chest overflowing with boodle. Wilson could have had this nomination nailed down. Had he accepted a single contribution for the "interests" the fly would have been in the spider's parlor and the race would have been over, but such a nomination as that would be valueless to such a man as Woodrow Wilson. And that is why they hate him—that is why he will be defeated for the nomination if it can be bought.

The president and the ex-president have brought it in fashion, and I reckon a poor devil of a newspaper man will be pardoned for employing the "short and ugly." The first lie they told on Woodrow Wilson was about that alleged "ingratitude" toward one Jim Smith—that Smith nominated him for governor, elected him governor, and then Wilson refused to support Smith for the United States senate. Who is this Smith? He is worth millions. He is a magnate of the leather trust. He is a beneficiary of the tariff on leather. He is the boss of the odious Democratic machine of Newark, Essex county, New Jersey. As a senator in congress in 1894 he fetched and carried for the tariff ring and aided Arthur P. Gorman to fill chock full the Democratic tariff bill with party perfidy and party dishonor.

There is your Smith and here is your truth. Now listen! In 1910 the Democratic party of New Jersey had for titular leader this Jim Smith. A governor was to be chosen that year, and the Democratic party of the state was in sore need of some respectability. Woodrow Wilson was the most illustrious man then a citizen of New Jersey, and then as now he was the profoundest political thinker, the sagest political philosopher, the most consummate master of statecraft, in the country. And so he was nominated and he accepted with the distinct understanding, with the express condition, that if elected he was to give Jim Smith nothing and Jim Smith was to ask for nothing. Smith agreed for he expected to be senator not only without the aid of the governor, but despite the opposition of the governor. He thought he had a mere scholar and student to deal with, and that his machine would brush the governor aside. He was woefully mistaken. He found he had to do with a giant. He was overwhelmed by this "scholar and student," and that is what is the matter with Smith; but for months the miserable little abortions of practical politics have been running up and down the earth whining about Woodrow Wilson's ingratitude." Had Woodrow Wilson been as "grateful" to James Smith, Jr., as Champ Clark says he is to William R. Hearst, the campaign of Wilson for the Democratic nomination for president might be nearly as opulently financed as Champ Clark's is.

And speaking of Hearst. His Cosmopolitan magazine lies about Wilson by suppression or expurgation—the meanest, the most cowardly, the most knavish sort of lying there is. Now Hearst sets himself up as a prophet in our Israel. He has the impudence to challenge the democracy of Woodrow Wilson. Madame de Pompadour was made censor of letters in France. She was an infamous king's more infamous procuress, and the Democratic party will be as vile, as base, as atrocious, as ignominious as Louis XV was whenever it chooses Hearst as its pander. And that is the office he is invited to usurp. Baltimore will disclose whether this man is to be the Mark Hanna of the Democracy of 1912.

But Hearst is not the only "angel" of the Champ Clark show. There are the liquor men putting up for the speaker. That is notorious everywhere and denied nowhere. Isn't it possible that there is a nigger in this here woodpile? Shouldn't wonder. There is a young man in congress from North Carolina, the Hon. Edwin Yates Webb. Months ago, or more, Mr. Webb introduced a bill in the house of which Champ Clark is speaker, the provisions of which will forbid the interstate traffic in alcoholic liquors, where the merchandise is shipped from any state into a "dry" state or community. It would do more to enforce "dry" legislation in the states than all the other laws the states or the nation could enact. Whenever that bill comes to a vote in the two houses of congress it will be passed. Why is it not brought to a vote? Somebody is sitting on the lid. Is that why the liquor trust is putting up the money for Champ Clark? The whisky trust has no politics and before it is through with it it is going to be mighty sorry that it dabbled in the Baltimore convention. By its attempt to debauch the Democratic party it is turning thousands of "wets' into "drys." What do North Carolina, Tennessee and other Southern "dry" states think of this effort of the whisky trust to buy out of hand the Democratic party?

In Kentucky the opposition to Woodrow Wilson protests that it would be something like treason for the Democratic convention to fail to instruct the delegation to Baltimore. We are told that there is not enough honesty in the old commonwealth to name a delegation that would not sell out at Baltimore and therefore the men chosen must be bound hand and foot. It may be true. The whisky trust, with both pockets full of money, is in Democratic politics up to the elbow in the old commonwealth.

• • •

But just across the line in old Virginia the opponents of Woodrow Wilson say it would be treason to instruct the delegation to Baltimore. The Martin machine is straining every nerve to prevent the old dominion from honoring the greatest Virginian now living. And in South Carolina the opposition to Wilson is clamoring for an uninstructed delegation. Before the thing is over somebody may have the bad manners to say some incongruvial talk about these things.

In Kentucky they are running Champ Clark as a Carlisle Democrat. In Maryland they ran him as a Gorman Democrat. He will not himself deny that on the tariff question he is a Joe Bailey Democrat. How can they run him as a Carlisle Democrat on the tariff question is a puzzle—unless it be that order of politics which a distinguished Kentuckian said was hell.

There is a story abroad in Clark circles in this town that will make it necessary for somebody to say something of some interest to James K. Vardaman and Clark Howell before

WOODROW WILSON: The Story of His Life. By William Bayard Hale, author of "A Week in the White House with Theodore Roosevelt," etc. Garden City, Long Island: Doubleday, Page & Co.

This is the life story of a real Democrat—who happens also to be a democrat—told sympathetically, truly and entertainingly. It is brought down to the present time, and it includes the full story of his work as president of Princeton university and as governor of New Jersey. It is to be noted that Woodrow Wilson is by training, lifetime habit and settled conviction, truly democratic. It was this inspiration of democracy that led to the troubles at Princeton toward the close of his career as its president. He attacked the club system because of its aristocratic and exclusive; because it bred snobs instead of men. In so doing, he aroused against him every instinct that clings to ideals of exclusive aristocracy. The fight was bitter, and as strong was tradition and Bourbon tastes that the victory was with habit, and not with the president. He was condemned by graduates and undergraduates for trying to "make a gentleman chum with a mucker" when he proposed the "quad" system instead of the exclusive clubs.

Governor Wilson's democratic instincts came in contact with conditions worse still when he became governor of New Jersey, but it is a curious fact that his success in democratizing a standpat state has been much greater than his success in democratizing an aristocratic university. There, as in his presidential contest, he enjoyed the bitter enmity of the bosses and members of the Old Guard of both parties, and there he triumphed in spite of them. It will be a pity if he does not triumph in spite of them in his presidential canvass.

Mr. Hale has written an interesting story of an interesting life, and the publication of the book is timely.

NEW DEMANDS IN EDUCATION. By James Phinney Munroe. Garden City, Long Island: Doubleday, Page & Co. $1.25 net.

This is a frank, fearless, sane, practical and constructive criticism of the American public school system by an educational expert. It discusses what the pupils and the public require of the schools, and the wide gap between these requirements and what the schools are furnishing.

The author points out that the average child who has to labor must get his entire education from the public school. The farmer boy is better off, because he gets part of his education on the farm; though in the past the unsuitability character of his school education has made the farm boy discontented with the farm. But the lad in the city worker's family gets little real education, and "it is vital to him, vital to industry, above all vital to society, that the education which he receives from the public school should prepare him to make the most of his subsequent life as a worker, as a citizen and as a man. This comprehensive education the average school does not give; and because it does not we are not only squandering our chief industrial and civic resources, we are stunting and wasting human lives."

This is a strong indictment of the conventional public school system, but it is none too strong, as all will agree who read this book. The public school courses are devised for the benefit of those who can complete the high school and go to college; and so the ninety-and-nine are educationally neglected for the benefit of the one in a hundred who can go to college. The results are a surplus in the professions, and a great lack of skilled mechanics, farmers and housewives; not to speak of thousands of melancholy failures in life because of a lack of suitable preparation for it.

This timely book gives vigorous treatment to a subject of tremendous importance. We wish every school director and teacher could and would read it.

STORIES OF THE GREAT RAILROADS. By Charles Edward Russell. Chicago: Charles H. Kerr & Co. $1 postpaid.

After reading this book, it is quite clear that everybody who failed to go into the business of making railroads committed a grave error, if financial gain were his aim.

The process is very simple: First get hold of a small line, engage the interest of men of money, capitalize the road heavily, bond it heavier still, and sell the stock and bonds for what you can get for them. Then buy another line, but don't put out any of your own money. Pay for it in bonds, and issue enough stock and bonds so there will be a big profit. As the road grows and the country develops and earnings increase, keep watering the stock so that dividends won't look too large. Cut a melon frequently, making sure that you get a large slice of it yourself. Keep pulling a poor mouth and asserting that rates are so low you can't raise wages and keep up interest and dividends. When you grant your employes a little more pay, make it the basis for a large increase in rates. Do these things, and you shall be rich and envied and—hated.

One of the chapters in this book appeared originally in Hampton's Magazine, and it is the claim of the owners of that publication and of the author of the story that it ruined the publisher and killed his magazine, which is now in other hands.

Even allowing for Socialist bias—if Socialist bias is not a synonym for clear vision—there is much in this vigorous book to make people think.

THE BROKEN BELL. By Marie Van Vorst, author of "The Girl From His Town," "First Love," etc. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill company. $1 net.

A young American girl, married at 17 to an Italian count, discovers after marriage that her husband is hopelessly unfaithful to her. After forgiving him many times, the burden becomes too great and she goes away into the mountains, to visit the old nurse of her dead child. There she meets a doctor, who had had an unfortunate marriage, also, and they fall in love with each other. They are all but carried away by their passion, and in fact an elopement is averted only by the receipt of a penitent and loving letter from her husband. We hoped that the husband was as cleansed and reformed as the book made him out to be. We didn't know for sure whether we wanted her to run away with that excellent doctor, naughty as it was to do it, or to go back to that reprobate of a husband. But we were interested in the story, because it is told with passion and power and in a very fascinating style.

THE FALL GUY. By Brand Whitlock. Indianapolis: The Bobbs-Merrill company. $1.25 net.

Brand Whitlock knows life. Therein lies his success as a writer. His stories are not the creations of an imaginative brain. They are the simply-told tales of everyday life as seen by the eyes of the observer. His characters are the characters of the world of today. His stage is the stage on which his readers tread. His plots are the plots of fact applied to fiction. He sees where others are blind; he tells where others remain silent. Where the world sees the worst, he can detect some good; where the world often sees nothing but good, he reveals the bad behind the veneer.

Mr. Whitlock's latest book is a collection of short stories, or sketches of life. All were published in popular magazines before their publication in book form, but even though some of them are familiar, they lose none of their charm by a re-reading. The book takes its name from the first story,—a tale of a "yegg" with a heart. Crime, the life of the city, the life of country towns, living people of familiar types, are subjects of stories written with the sympathetic interest of the student of life. Mr. Whitlock is ever interesting, ever entertaining and ever opening new avenues of thought for the reader who will go where he leads.

Among the Magazines.

Henry van Dyke in the June number of Scribner's Magazine presents a very winning picture of "The Good Enchantment of Charles Dickens." His analysis of the qualities of Dickens that have endeared him to his readers is the most sympathetic that the season of the centenary has called forth. He believes that Dickens has deepened our faith that there is "something of the divine on earth and something of the human in heaven." Charles Sheldon, whose book on "The Wilderness of the Upper Yukon" was the best outdoor book of the past season, contributes a stirring article of adventure entitled "Hunting the Big Bear on Montague Island." This island is off the coast of Alaska, and is seldom visited by white men. The bears there are of unusual size, and Mr. Sheldon's adventures were amusing and exciting. John Fox's serial, "The Heart of the Hills," gives the migration of little Jason to the Blue Grass, and opens before him the prospect of a larger experience. Mr. Mason's serial, "The Turnstile," is concluded with a dramatic decision by the hero of the Antarctic.

The June Woman's Home Companion contains an article, "The Vanishing Husband," by Mary Heaton Vorse, which presents an extraordinaryily clear explanation of why it is that men like to get away from women and enjoy each others' society. The main contention in the article is that men can get along without their women-folks but women cannot get along without the men. It is an article full of advice and at times humorous observations. The June Companion also contains a sketch of "Princess Pat" of Connaught; an account of the recent dramatization of "Little Women;" a description of what has been done in New York city toward reducing the death rate of small children; and a report of the progress made in this country toward the accomplishment of a sane Fourth of July.

"Toys of Fate," by Louise Winter, opening novelette in June Young's Magazine, is a stirring story of a beautiful but provincial girl, married to a commonplace and somewhat brutal husband. The couple live in Reno and to this colony of constant changes comes Kitty St. Julien, a frivolous matron, who fosters a friendship for Rhona and finally persuades the girl to leave her prosaic lord and set out for New York. Through the intervention of Kitty's former matrimonial partner, Rhona secures a position in the chorus, but is soon elevated to higher rank because of her splendid voice and great personal charm. Gleason, the hero, is linked in the life of the beautiful singer, not only by his love, but through his indirect connection with one of her most persistent admirers—Prince Caesar Orloff. The prince has made desultory love to Gleason's sister, also a divorcee, and her life is wrecked when he throws aside the pampered aristocrat for the simply-born but brilliant actress. Despite the nobleman's treachery and intrigue, however, love triumphs. The story embraces many phases of New York life and deals with innumerable types of the great metropolis.

There is more than the usual amount of fiction in the June Century—new and rather dramatic chapters in William Locke's serial, "Stella Morris;" a story of racy humor, "Finerty Holds the Meeting for the Candidate," by Charles D. Stewart, author of "The Fugitive Blacksmith;" a quaintly humorous story of the simple people of the Pennsylvania Dutch, "Revenge in Lehigh County," by Elsie Duncan Yale; and good stories to read in idle hours by Chester Bailey Fernald and Katherine Fullerton Gerould. Mr. Roosevelt, who knew Charles G. Towns, and the work he has done for the cure of drug and alcohol addictions, will want to read his article on "Hope for the Hard Drinker," a sane, authoritative presentation of the harm wrought by "the greatest of humanity's curses," a summary of our existing inadequate methods of dealing with the problem, and an optimistic statement of what can and must be done to save the man worth while.

The Strand magazine contains an interesting and useful article by Frederick A. Talbot on "Farming With Dynamite," the latest method for breaking up the ground for agricultural purposes. It is claimed for this new means of making barren lands fertile that it will accomplish in a few hours what by other methods would take many weeks. Another article of interest is "How the Coronation Picture Was Painted" by the artist, Mr. J. H. F. Bacon, A. R. A. "The Japanese Bayard" by Arthur Morrison and "The Finest Flower I Ever Grew," a symposium of specialists in the cultivation of popular flowers, are also attractive.

Stories of adventure, exploration, sport and travel form the contents of the June Wide World magazine. Frederic Lees writes an interesting article on "Witchcraft in Morocco" and explains in a foreword that to obtain the information which he is able to give, a young French scientist, Dr. Emile Mauchamp, sacrificed his life, being murdered by emissaries of the wizards, who were determined to preserve their secrets at all costs. In an article dealing with "The Dogs of the Northland," W. F. Priestley, the Alaskan correspondent of the Wide World, deals with the prospector's best friend in the icy North—the faithful, hard working dog who pulls his sled.

Life's special number this week is supposed to be devoted to gardens. As a matter of fact, it deals with the world at large in Life's usual flippant manner and contains reflections about a great variety of subjects—from hens to the devil himself. In "Life's Auto Race," several of our most prominent men are started off on a long journey for unknown regions, the inference being that the country is very much better off without them. Life's sense of irresponsibility is at its best in the account of a journey like this: especially as we realize that there is a deep current of satire.

In the World's Work for June, Frank Parker Stockbridge describes the parcels post systems of three continents in such a way as to throw great discredit on us for our lack of any system at all. Samuel P. Orth, in "The Solid Million in Germany," tells why it is that Germany breeds 100,000 Socialists a year. William Bayard Hale relates, from personal observation, the serious and humorous experiences of the Knox party, on the Central American mission. Robert Sloss explains "Why Coffee Costs Twice as Much," going from Sao Paulo to Baden Baden for his reasons. Stewart Edward White very amusingly pictures a Wildebeest hunt in which he took part while visiting an American estate in South Africa. President Taft, in his own words, tells "What I Am Trying to Do;" Charles M. Harvey in "The Chance Drama of Conventions" recalls breathless moments in previous national conventions; and there is clear-sighted editorial analysis of the candidates as they stand ranged for battle.

June days bring June diversions, so the June number of Lippincott's Magazine has been carefully attuned to the season of roses and recreation. It is planned to amuse, not to instruct, or, if so, only through the channel of enjoyment. First, we have a long complete novel entitled "Helping Hersey," by the Baroness von Hutten. There are doubtless writers whose books have a greater number of readers than hers, but surely none with a more enthusiastic following. "Pam," "Kingsmead," "The Black Patch," and her other delightful stories have won her recognition as one of the leading novelists of the day. "Helping Hersey" represents her best work. The character drawing in it is inimitable, and her plot new and surprising. It is a London story, but some of the people who figure in it are Americans. John Reed Scott, whose new novel, "The Last Try," bids fair to rival his famous "Colonel of the Red Huzzars" as a "best seller," contributes a characteristically good short story called "The Balance of Power." Other noteworthy ones are "The Apple of Paris," by Annie Steger Winston; "The Wraith and the Statue," by Alfred H. Bill; "The Unsuccessful Alumnus," by Rose Henderson; and "A Night-Letter Serial," by Anna Rozilla Crever.

The June Metropolitan has a variety of entertaining and thoughtful articles as well as some excellent fiction. "New York's Favorite Show" is a description by Mary Heaton Vorse of the famous Weber and Fields show from behind the scenes, with lively illustrations by Wallace Morgan. "Sirens of the Sands," by E. Alexander Powell, is an account of the professional dancing girls of North Africa, and illustrated with many striking photographs. In "Two Famous Sea Duels" William Sage gives the interest of fiction to some stirring adventures of the War of 1812. One of the most important contributions to the June issue is Carl Hovey's sympathetic but impartial study of Haywood and the industrial movement he represents.

In Harper's for June, Arnold Bennett gives an entertaining account of a lighting trip about Washington. He calls it "Taking Europe's Revenge" for the way in which Americans often rush through Europe. Albert Bigelow Paine, the authorized biographer of Mark Twain, talks of the great humorist's early visits to England and Scotland and his friendship for Dr. John Brown. Other articles of special interest in the June number are: "London By the Sea," by Harrison Rhodes, with illustrations in tint by F. Walter Taylor; "Some Unsolved Problems in Science," by Robert Kennedy Duncan; "The Planet Venus and Its Problems," by William H. Pickering; "The Great Queen Isabella," by Mildred Stapley, illustrated with photographs. The fiction is up to the usual high standard of Harper's.

There are some excellent stories in the June number of Harpers Bazar, including "The Pictures of Polly," by Mary King Courtney; "Peggy's Summer," by Josephine Daskam Bacon. In "The Girl Who Sings," Emery Destine, the great singer, gives some advice to girls who would follow in her footsteps. Inez Haynes Gilmore continues her bright articles on "The Life of the Average Woman." "Bargains in Babies," by Constance Kirby; "The Flat vs. the House," by Martha Bensley Bruere; "Summer Verandas," by Helen Richardson, and "The Best Sellers at Women's Exchanges," by Eleanor Graham, are other interesting articles, while the Bazar's fashions and regular departments are as attractive as ever.

The issue of Harper's Weekly for May 18 is devoted in part to special industrial articles relative to Pennsylvania and Delaware. Among other articles appears one by A. Maurice Low, entitled "Obscuring the Issue," in criticism of Mr. Roosevelt's candidacy. John Larkin writes upon "Princeton's New President;" Lewis M. Terman discourses upon the stuttering child; Alan Sullivan recounts a night ride in the engineer's cab from New York to Buffalo. The usual fiction, editorial and humor features go to the making of this number.

BRUCE'S COLUMN

COMMENT AND DIVERS DISCUSSION OF THE MERRY WORLD OF SPORT.

ONE of the manifold advantages of baseball, the greatest game that the fertile brain of man ever invented, is that it is honest and has for at least the past two decades been above the suspicion of even the chronic knocker. If Flynn should happen to beat Johnson on the day when antiseptics, surgeons, nurses, ministers and undertakers are generally kept very busy, namely the Fourth of July, there will be those who harbor the opinion that the bout belongs to the order of the North Pole club. The attempt to burnish up Jeff's old standing at the expense of the public, left its brown taste in the public's mouth. But there can be all kinds of combinations in baseball, and yet the dear old public knows and cherishes the knowledge—for the game is above suspicion.

HAL CHASE has been at outs at different times with the management of the New York Highlanders. He was made manager so that he could make all his kicks to himself. As a leader he failed to lead. Like those that sing Italian opera and spend their money abroad, he has the artistic temperament. Hence the rumor of the contemplated trade to the Boston Americans.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

SELF CONFIDENCE seems to find just as natural a resting place in the breast of the average athlete as a diamond horseshoe does in his violent necktie. Jim Flynn says he can beat Johnson and Charley Cutler is just as sure that he can throw Frank Gotch. In a burst of confidence Kid Paul once remarked that he would like to get at Pal Brown. That is one of the reasons why men take to philosophy in their more mature years.

In these days anything goes for that grouchy individual. DULUTH CREW HAS THE POWER FOR GOOD SPEED

Last night the first and second eights rowed off a good eleven miles. It was the longest and by far the most satisfactory workout of the season. During most of the row the water was ideal. Later a small breeze whipped up the bay and wringled the limpid surface somewhat.

After sending the two crews almost down to the Superior shore, Ten Eyck brought them back to within two miles of home, gave the second eight only a slight start and told them to go home as fast they could make the distance.

The first eight caught the lighter and green seconds, but Ten Eyck suddenly switched his attention from the first to the second eight, whipping the second boys down the last half mile. You should have seen the second men pick up. With light men, and some lads who had never sat in a boat before, they outrowed the first crew during the latter part of the drive and finished right at the middle of the first shell.

It is early yet and criticism in the fore part of any season is both foolish and profitless. The first eight is not making the speed as yet, as it indicated by the performance of last evening. But the power seems to be in the boat and there are also vast possibilities when a coach has the power.

Some of the same old faults are still with the old men. Also the new men in the boat have much to learn, but the material seems to be there, and if Ten Eyck has any kind of a decent break in luck, he is going to turn out a crew that should be heard from at Winnipeg.

Speaking of Winnipeg, it is stated that there are over sixty men out for positions in the boat. Bert McDowell has been up in that country and has been looking the Peggers over. He reports that they have a lot of fine men and that the famous old energy that has always characterized the rowing the Winnipeg men, is there.

The lineup of the St. Paul crew as given in yesterday's Herald, indicates to those who have followed rowing during the past few years, that some of the best of the old men are back in the shell. Charley Foster is one of the best sweeps that the Minnesota club has ever developed and Clarence French has the reputation of being one of the cleverest strokes that the down river organization has ever had.

Some of the vets have evidently been replaced by some of the younger men, but this may be only for the time being, for the crew has been thrown together rather hastily. But the comeback spirit is manifest at St. Paul, and it is rather certain that the cherry and white shirted athletes will be real contenders at the Peg, something that was not true of the St. Paul boys last season.

JACK CURLEY MADE REAL POLICE CHIEF

East Las Vegas, N. Mex., May 25.—Li'l Artha Johnson, king of pugdom, who is due in Las Vegas the first week in June to prime himself for his championship encounter with Jim Flynn, the fighting fireman, on the Fourth of July, wants to take precious good care that he treads the narrow path, refrains from knocking off sixty miles an hour in his wealthy wagon and does not start anything that could go under the head of hurrah stuff when he takes up his abode in this city.

To begin with, the chief of police is a disciplinarian with a large "D." Before assuming his present position he fought Indians and quieted noisy cow punchers for a livelihood. Gameness is his middle name. The chief has just been given a new assistant and his name is Jack Curley.

Curley gained the appointment direct from Mayor Taupert. His honor appreciates the fact that the advance doings of the Flynn-Johnson scrap July 4 have started to get under way and that his daredevil chief needs assistance. So on the job as first assistant goes Curley, and Mayor Taupert, Charley O'Malley, Herman Ilfield, Frank Springer, Charley Farley, Jack Laubach and all the other first citizens of Las Vegas are having a badge made for Curley that is thought to be a perfect jewel of the jeweler's art.

Jack anticipates receiving something that will look like a full brother to a tin wash boiler, but Mayor Taupert and all are out to surprise him, and the badge will be an expensive gold one, studded with diamonds and appropriately engraved.

"Jack Johnson, I have read, has caused the police of all the big Northern and Eastern cities more or less trouble through his various escapades, particularly through his fast driving," states Assistant Chief Curley. "Well, our laws must be obeyed. I am not counting upon any trouble from him, but he would better beware. It is in my power to arrest Johnson if he gets gay and I will treat him like a bank robber or horse thief if he forgets himself and starts anything during his stay in our city."

The official colors for the contest Independence day, so far as the display of pennants and emblems is concerned, have been selected, and figuring that it is a white man against a negro, the selection was not a particularly painful task. The Flynn flags will be a solid white color; the Johnson will be a solid black.

IRA DAVENPORT RATED AS OLYMPIC WINNER

Seldom indeed it happens that a real farmer's boy becomes a cinderpath champion, but such was the start of Ira Davenport, the great allaround runner of the University of Chicago, who will carry the Stars and Stripes on his breast in the middle distance events in the coming Olympic games at Stockholm. Davenport was born on a farm at Winfield, Kan., on Oct. 8, 1888, and there he lived for five years. With the opening of the "Cherokee Strip" in Oklahoma in 1893, Davenport's father gave up the Kansas farm to take up life in the newly settled country. Ira got the foundation of his ability as a runner by herding cattle. This he started doing when he was ten years old. The right way to herd cattle is on horseback, but as the Davenport horses were too busy helping with the farm work to bear Ira about in his quest of steers, our hero was obliged to use that famous and reliable steed known as "shank's mare." This condition of affairs furnished young Davenport with about five miles of good, fast leg exercise every evening after school was out. And, by the way, "school" was about two miles down the road from the Davenport place, which made four miles more per diem for the sturdy legs of the embryo champion.

The Davenports were not wealthy, but that did not prevent Ira from getting an education. He learned how to run a threshing machine at the tender age of sixteen, and in the summer months made enough money in this way to pay his expenses at the Oklahoma State Prep. school in winter. Nor was young Davenport idle in his few spare hours during the school term. He got a job looking after a steamheating plant near the schoolhouse and earne dmore money and late at night Ira was on the job stoking, while his more fortunate school companions were taking life easy.

Baseball Player.

When Davenport went to prep. school he had never seen a track meet, and his highest ambition was to play on the school baseball team. This he did in his very first year in school. He guarded first base in fourteen games without an error and swung his bat against the opposing pitchers' curves to the tune of .320. The first two years that Davenport was in school the only meet there was for him to take part in was the interclass games. Even this early he exhibited his ability to run any distance by capturing first place in the 100-yard, 220-yard, 440-yard, and one mile runs in the first meet he started in. In 1906 he won the same events with the pole vault, discus, low hurdles, broad jump, and hop, step and jump added.

In 1907 and 1908 Davenport represented the Oklahoma Prep. school in the state interscholastic championships, and on both occasions won the 100-yard, 220-yard and 440-yard dashes with ridiculous ease. In June of 1908 Davenport got his first chance to shine in fast company, and shine he did. His school sent him to the University of Chicago interscholastic meeting on Marshall Field, Chicago, and Ira staggered the Middle West experts by racing home an easy winner in three races once more. He did 10 2-5 seconds for the "100," 22 2-5 for the "220" and 51 1-5 for the quarter mile.

Davenport's college record is too well known to need recounting here. Sufficient to say, that as a freshman he swept everything that opposed him off the track, and in the intercollegiate conference meets in which he has started it has been the same tale. The young Oklahoman has won both the quarter and half-mile runs at the conference meeting two years running, and has established new conference records at both instances. At the 1910 meet Davenport raced the quarter mile in 48 4-5 seconds after having, fifty minutes earlier, won the half-mile in 1:56 3-5. Last spring he won both races again in 49 3-5 and 1:56 3-5, respectively. It is needless to add that this is grand running.

The athletic experts are counting on Davenport being a very valuable man to this country at Stockholm, and the 400-meter event is the one that he will be asked to look out for. Davenport with his ability to get away to a sprinting start, and with his wonderful finishing power, should land Uncle Sam's shield up near the front in the long sprint with the world's best quarter milers. He has but to duplicate the record of 48 4-5 seconds for the full "quarter" that he made at the conference games to do close to 48 seconds for 400 meters, and that will come pretty near winning.

The habit of working in his spare moments that Ira Davenport acquired on the farm in Oklahoma and at prep. school is still with him. Davenport is working his way through college, paying every cent of his expenses. He has a job as an advertising solicitor and it is interesting to note that in this line Ira has been even more successful than he was at herding cattle afoot, running a steam thresher, or tending a steam heating plant. Davenport is not a dub in the classroom, either. In prep. school he was president in his senior class and valedictorian at graduation. Davenport stands well in his studies at the University of Chicago, too, and has never been barred from athletics because of conditions in his studies. After he is graduated in June Davenport will enter the automobile business with the Mitchel-Lewis Motor company at Racine, Wis.

Davenport, in all his career on the cinderpath, has sustained but one real defeat, and that was in an indoor race, in which he was at a great disadvantage, because he had never competed on the boards before. At the games of the Knights of St. Anthony at Brooklyn, N. Y., last February, Jim Rosenberger defeated Davenport in the scratch Suburban Quarter in 51 seconds. The field was too large for the track and Davenport got into a bad position early in the race, from which he could not extricate himself in time to catch the flying Irish-American A. C. runner. "Rosie" won by a yard and a half, but Davenport was coming like a whirlwind at the end and would have nabbed Rosenberger in a few more strides. The Eastern experts, who had always been rather skeptical up to that time, united in saying that Davenport is one of the greatest quarter-mile runners that has appeared in the metropolis since the days of Maxey Long.

JOHNSON MAY RETIRE.

Battle With Flynn May Be Last Appearance of Artha.

Chicago, May 25.—There is a growing suspicion that Jack Johnson's show against Jim Flynn will be his last, unless Dame Fortune should turn on him, later, and take away the substance he has gathered together in the last three years, says a writer in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Johnson is 34 years of age and the sun must be setting on his physical prime. Added to this is the fact that he intends turning publican, shortly. Whatever Time has overlooked, is pretty apt to be taken care of by John Barleycorn. Only necessity will drive him into the ring after July 4, and that doesn't seem imminent, now.

Besides, Johnson does not like fighting. He has persistently sidetracked opportunities to engage in battle against men with a real chance to beat him—men of his own race.

Afraid of "Tham."

There is scarcely a doubt that Johnson fears Sam Langford. Every inducement has been offered to get the champion to enter the ring with Jeanette, Langford or McVey, but the golden smile is always the prelude to a negative, when the question is raised.

Johnson doesn't want any of the game of his black brethren.

As for "white hopes" there is none in sight likely to develop before "taps" is sounded over Johnson's career. Thus, if Flynn can't turn the trick, history may have to record that the only retired, undefeated champion of the world is a negro.

UNIVERSITY ATHLETICS

College of Law Wins Baseball Championship of University.

Track Coach Is Raising Chickens on Northrup Field.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The College of Law won the baseball championship of the university in the series of games just completed. The team composed of the Middle Laws went through the series without a defeat. They beat the other classes in their own college and then defeated the combined teams in the other colleges. The great strength of the law team was in their battery, Elder and Hanson, who were to have been the varsity battery this year. The game with the Engineers, deciding the championship, was a very close one, going four extra innings before the Laws could beat the 1 to 1 tie. Burnett of Duluth was one of the pitchers for the Engineers.

This is the end of the intra-mural baseball games which are being tried as an experiment in solving the athletic problems. The games were a great success and proved that the intra-mural idea is a good one. The games aroused much interest among the students, there being fair crowds at all of the games. It was a good year to try out the scheme because the absence of inter-collegiate games stimulated interest in the college and class games, and the latter had the whole field to themselves. It is not considered best that these contests should replace inter-collegiate games, as nothing can ever replace the popularity of a varsity team, but the intra-mural contests will be a valuable subsidiary to the college game.

Chicken raising is the latest use to which Northrop field has been put. Seeing that there isn't much need of Northrop field for athletic purposes as in the past, Track Coach Dick Grant, decided not to let all the property remain altogether useless, and so has started to raise chickens, using part of the field and the space underneath part of the grandstand for henhouse and scratching grounds.

⊙ ⊙ ⊙ ⊙

The Minnesota track team meets Iowa in a dual meet on Northrop field this afternoon. The team has not been winning as many meets as it usually does. Minnesota was defeated by both Nebraska and Wisconsin. The material this year is mostly green, but the new men show promise of developing into stars by next year. This young material under Coach Grant's thorough training means excellent teams for the next couple of years. Minnesota greatly misses Stanley Hill, the captain of last year's team and star sprinter, for it is in the shorter distance runs that Minnesota loses. Minnesota has won most of the field events, especially in the weights, where Capt. Leonard Frank is invincible.

In connection with the Iowa meet will be held the sixth annual intercholastic meet. One hundred and sixty-eight athletes from twenty-one preparatory schools throughout the Northwest will enter. They are from the high schools of North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota. Silver cups will be given to the winning schools, and medals to the point winners.

The followers of tennis are rejoicing in the many victories which the Minnesota Tennis team is winning in its tour of the East. To date they have had six contests winning five of them. Ohio State university, Kenyon college, University of Pittsburg, University of Pennsylvania, and College of City of New York have all been defeated. In these contests Armstrong won all of his matches, and Minnesota won all of the doubles, but Stellwagon dropped a couple of his matches. It was before the fast Princeton team that the Minnesota team fell, losing all three of the matches. Armstrong lost to Mathey, who is considered the best in the East this year. Armstrong is playing better than ever and Stellwagon is playing in his best form but his inexperience is noticeable. Many of their hardest matches are ahead of the team yet.

Infielders Dropped.

Chicago, May 25.—Eddie Lennox and Charles Moore, infielders, were ordered by President C. W. Murphy of the Chicago Nationals to report to the Louisville American association team at once. A "string" is attached to Moore, but Lennox was released outright. The rumor that Pitcher Snyder and Infielder Stansbury were to come here in exchange for the two infielders proved to be without foundation.

ANNUAL REGATTA ON SCHUYLKILL

Fine Weather for Boat Races of American Rowing Association.

Philadelphia, May 25.—Ideal weather and a smooth course are the prospects for the tenth annual regatta of the American Rowing association, popularly known as the American Henley regatta, which will be held on the Schuylkill river this afternoon.

There are nine races on the program, the most interesting of which is expected to be that for junior collegiate eight-oared sculls. Yale Boat club, Harvard University boat club, Columbia University Rowing club, University of Pennsylvania and Princeton University Rowing associations are entered in this race.

Other events include the first single scull race, second single sculls, first double sculls, first four-oared shells, first four-oared sculls, first eight-oared shells, special inter-class eight-oared clubs and inter-scholastic eight-oared shells.

The races start at 2:30 and are over a course of one mile, 550 yards long, the English Henley distance.

Travis Beats Old Rival.

New York, May 25.—Jerome D. Travis of Upper Montclair, the champion, and Oswald Kirby of Inglewood, reached the final round of the annual championship tournament of the Metropolitan Golf association at the Baltusrol Golf club by winning their matches in the semi-final round yesterday afternoon. Travis defeated his old rival, Findlay S. Douglas of Nassau, 3 up and 2 to play, while Kirby eliminated Wallace Sinclair of the home club, 2 up and 1 to play.

Golf at Englewood.

Englewood, N. J., May 25.—Mrs. Victor Earle of Englewood won the women's Metropolitan golf championship by defeating Miss Marion Hollins of West Brook in the final round over the links of the Englewood Country club. The margin was 6 up and 4 to play. Mrs. Earle was the runner-up last year for the title.

Michigan to Play "Pennsy."

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 25.—Director Bartelme of the Michigan Athletic association announced yesterday that a four-year football contract had been closed between the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Michigan.

DULUTH WINS SECOND ALSO

White Sox Defeat Winnipeg Twice Before Immense Crowds.

Sours Wins Opener With Home Run—Worman Strong in Final.

Winnipeg, Man., May 25.—Before the biggest crowds that ever attended two games here, the Duluth White Sox took two games from the Maroons, winning the morning game by the score of 3 to 1 and the afternoon contest by the one-sided score of 11 to 1.

It is estimated that nearly 4,000 fans rode, walked and motored out to Riverview park for the first game. In the afternoon contest over 6,000 people packed the park and witnessed the Maroons routed by a disastrous score.

The morning game was a pitching duel between Hoffman of Duluth and Cummings of the locals. The only scores of the slugging visitors came in the fourth round, when with two on Sours hit for the circuit of the bases, breaking up the best game that has been seen here this season.

There was nothing to the second game of the big Empire day date. Worman held the Peggers to four hits, being invincible, while Hirsch was hit all over the park by the visitors, fifteen hits being secured during the afternoon.

O'Brien led his warriors in the second game in hitting, getting four blows, with big Sam Menelce close behind.

SUPERIOR MAKES A CLEAN SWEEP

Grand Forks, N. D., May 25.—The Flickertails lost the game last evening to Superior by the score of 10 to 4. The game was called at 6 o'clock and was witnessed by a large crowd. Dumb work enabled the visitors to take the game. Rothermal, a new pitcher from Iowa, was on the slab for the locals and pitched a strong game, but errors and stupid play wrecked his chances of registering a win.

Jack Says He Will Win.

Chicago, May 25.—"John Arthur Johnson will bring home the bacon before the fifteenth round." That was Champion Jack Johnson's final word as he carefully cased his famous "dog house" bass viol and prepared to take an early morning train today for Las Vegas, N. Mex., where he will fight Jim Flynn on July 4.

McGRAW A TEACHER OF YOUNG PLAYERS

New York, May 25.—It must be a source of considerable satisfaction to John McGraw, as it is to his well wishers and well wishers of the Giants here, that his present champion team is mostly of his own building and developing, individually and as a strong whole. The competent managers can develop the smooth and potent machine, given the capable units—that's what they're there for—but McGraw, like his great rival, Mack, has an exceptional gift of taking green material, learning quickly whether it is of sufficient potential worth to keep, and then with patient skill nursing it along until it is of top-notch caliber and ready to be shoved into a regular place to keep up the speed of the team.

There is much more to McGraw's high ability than the influence of his personality to keep his men always doing their best and his keen eye for maneuvering, though for a while these were thought to be his entire stock in trade. He has accomplished a good deal by shrewd trading for material already developed, but he has accomplished more through new material secured through scouts—a sine qua non of modern baseball—and by his own expert handling of new men, says the New York Sun.

Merkle, Devore, Snodgrass, Meyers, Marquard, Shafer, Fletcher—a good part of his team—all these have made their greatest improvement, realized their possibilities under McGraw. Larry Doyle was a pretty good ball player when he came here, but was made into a better one. Shafer and Fletcher were kept along on the bench for several seasons, but always imbibing knowledge, and when the time came to make regulars of them they jumped in and more than filled the places of those they succeeded. Much that Devore knows about batting he learned from McGraw, who also taught him how to make the best use of his natural speed.

Chief Once a Joke.

Chief Meyers was a lumbering and just an ordinary catcher when he first cast his fortunes with McGraw and was considered something of a joke. But McGraw saw before anybody else that Meyers not only had the making of a first-class catcher, but was a wonderful natural hitter. Meyers at first was weak on flies, but now he is not only good on them, but the most valuable backstop in baseball today.

It is well known how Snodgrass was made into an outfielder and a helpful run-getting factor from a catcher; how Marquard, under McGraw's tutelage, when everybody else was condemning him, was transformed from a lemon into a peach; how Merkle, an obscure substitute during the Tenney days, was retained, and when he did get his chance developed rapidly into a crack first baseman. It was under McGraw that Herzog came into prominent notice, and he schooled Crandall until that pitcher became the steady, dependable workman he is. Mathewson became famous under McGraw. Arthur Wilson, substitute catcher, is good enough to be a first-string catcher on any team not having a Meyers.

All of which goes to show that McGraw has made his own team.

Connie Mack has demonstrated no less ability in his handling and developing of men. Coombs, Struhk, Collins, Baker, Barry, McInnes, Thomas, Lapp, Bender and Oldring are stars who reached their zenith under Mack. The Athletic genius showed that he was that when he found the proper place for McInnes, as clever a managerial stroke as baseball knows. Thomas didn't know how good a catcher he was until Mack showed him, and Rube Oldring thought infielding was his forte until Mack made an outfielder of him. Dan Murphy didn't strike his real gait until Mack shifted him from second base to the outfield.

Finding the Right Job.

Coincident with the growth of baseball, and in a measure helping that growth, has been a good deal of this faculty of managers of so handling a man as to make a star out of him in the position he already was playing—teaching him things and making him realize his own worth—or of fitting him into some other position for which he was naturally better suited, but didn't know it. 'Tis a combination of knowledge of baseball and human nature on the part of managers which has done much in supplying the demand for required quality in modern baseball.

A case in point is that of young Foster of the Washington team. It remained for Clark Griffith to discover that Foster's true position was third base, not shortston, where he had met with indifferent success, and unless Foster is a flash in the pan, a morning glory, he has just found his metier, and that through a shrewd manager. Ty Cobb was always an outfielder, but Hugh Jennings helped him to find out what a rich prize he really is. Stanage, Willett and Gainer are stars who have come to their full effulgence under Jennings. Hal Chase, great player that he always has been, might become still greater were the right manager to come along, though Wolverton may be that man.

It took Griffith to discover that the best place for Esmond of the Reds was at shortstop, and in Zelder, Jimmy Callahan seems to have made a fairly good second baseman into a really good first baseman. The case of Jack Miller of the Pittsburgs, prompted by Manager Clarke, is analogous. Frank Steele made a great first baseman out of Fred Tenny, once a catcher, and there are numerous similar cases. A great manager, Selee. He had much to do with the building up of the Cubs, though Frank Chance, under whom Schulte, Tinker, Evers, Hofman, Brown, Kling and Zimmerman attained their greatest fame, also did a great deal. There is no doubt that Roger Bresnahan made an improved third baseman of Mowrey and he either brought out or improved Hauser, Bliss, Harmon, Sallee and Evans.

MODERN FIGHTERS ARE SAVING THEIR PENNIES

Wolgast, Bat Nelson, Jeffries and Other Pugilists Are Rated as Rich Men.

(By Robert Edgren.)

The sums of money now being paid fighters for short bouts with well-padded gloves would have been beyond the wildest dreams of the old-time champions. A couple of weeks ago we saw Packey McFarland getting $10,000 in cash for boxing ten rounds with Matt Wells, who cleaned up a like sum himself, including his picture money. Johnny Kilbane will receive $5,500 for boxing ten rounds with Frankie Burns. Wolgast wants $15,000 for boxing ten rounds, and turns up his nose at anything else. A mere $10,000 he regards as hardly worth the attention of a champion.

Just compare that to the money the old-timers fought for. Charlie Mitchell fought Jack Burke at Ascot race track for the championship of England. The fight lasted an hour and seventeen minutes. The stake was $250 a side. Jack McAuliffe fought seventeen desperate rounds with Jack Hopper, skintight gloves, for a purse of $200. The great John L. Sullivan, early in his fighting time, fought Steve Taylor at Harry Hill's sporting resort in New York and received $50 for the winning. Later, when Sullivan got $750 for knocking out John Flood in that historic fight on a barge on the Hudson, he showed the money with great pride. This was back in 1881.

Shortly after that came the first big purses. Some of the champions who are now dead and buried made fortunes in the ring and through theatrical exhibitions after their big fights. Peter Jackson of Australia made, in all, about $250,000. He "blew" it all, and was at last sent back to Australia by public subscription, a broken-down wreck, to die there of consumption. Joe Gans cleaned up about the same amount of money. Once, in a burst of confidence, Joe told me that he had gambled away about $200,000, as near as he could figure it. He saved a little money from his last three or four big fights.

Dixon made $200,000, approximately, ing the ring and on the stage. He died without a dollar to his name. Wine and women! That got the old-timers.

Spent a Million.

John L. Sullivan was the greatest money-getter in the history of the sport. John earned, one way and another, over $1,000,000. He blew it all. Then, when an old man, discretion came to him. He stopped drinking and began a very successful theatrical career, with his own show. Sullivan drew great houses everywhere for a few years. Today he has over $100,000.

Tommy Ryan is another farmer. Tommy admits that he can draw his check for $50,000. Perhaps he has more than that, counting in his farm property.

Two old-timers who made their money in the ring and threw it all away were Denver Ed Smith and Paddy Slavin. When down and out at last both went to Alaska, where they cleaned up comfortable fortunes in excess of $100,000 each by placer mining.

Jim Jeffries made a fortune in the ring. When he was champion, and shortly after he beat Tom Sharkey the second time, Jeffries showed me a bank book in which he was credited with a balance of $100,000. Afterward he greatly increased that. He was worth $250,000 in property before he fought Johnson, and he added over $100,000 at Reno and during the few months he spent on the road before fighting.

Battling Nelson, in spite of rumors to the contrary, is a rich man. Fake mining schemes never got much of Bat's money. He may be land-poor, for he has invested great sums in property. But I know of one occasion on which Bat insisted upon having a mutual acquaintance of ours accompany him to a safe deposit vault, where Bat brought out a box and displayed negotiable securities to the value of $120,000.

Packey McFarland can draw a big check. Packey's savings aggregate no less than $200,000. He has invested his money well, in apartment house property and stock in big companies that pay good dividends. His favorite stock is that of the gas company, in which he has invested about $50,000.

Ad Wolgast has a lot of money. Ad likes to blow a little now and then, but he is a genuine farmer, and doesn't like to let the price of a good horse or cow go all in one lump.

Terry McGovern had over $100,000 once. When Terry lost his balance temporarily the bookmakers took advantage of his plight and practically stole forty or fifty thousand from him in a few weeks. They let Terry bet "on the finger." When he lost they collected. When he won they said they hadn't seen his signal, or that they knew he was "off" and so hadn't accepted his bets. It was a simple method. Sam Harris stopped it finally by going to the bookies and threatening to expose them to the newspapers if they took Terry's wagers, and by making Terry hand over control of what money he had left. Today Terry is fairly well fixed.

Jimmy Britt is a wealthy fighter. He invested his money as fast as he could get it, and now owns at least a block of San Francisco apartment houses. Tom Sharkey has been a cagy fellow with his coin. Thomas doesn't draw any big checks for exhibition purposes, but he could if he wanted to. Gus Ruhlin, who died recently, left his widow a comfortable fortune. Fitzsimmons lost over $200,000 in Wall street when he was champion. Today he has a big, fine farm, paid for, and not much else.

Champion Jack Johnson is something of a spender, but not nearly so lavish with his money as some people think. Lawyers have trimmed the edges of Jack's bank roll pretty successfully, for he's always in court and trouble of some sort. He throws away a few thousands on racing cars. But he makes money easily, and up to date his income has run steadily beyond his expenditures. I imagine Johnson wouldn't have much trouble in raising $100,000.

Jack Munroe has been a money-maker since he stopped racing. He's mayor of Elk City up in the Cobalt region, and writes that he expects to sell out his mines in a couple of years more and go to Paris with a million or so. Munroe has a hankering for Paris.

Tommy Burns was a great money-maker. On his European and Australian trip when champion of the world, he made a fortune. Every fight he had was a gold mine for him, for he did some heavy betting until the affair with Johnson came along. On that one occasion he was satisfied with his end of the purse, fortunately for him, and that amounted to $30,000. Burns is in business at Calgary, up in Alberta. He is worth easily a couple of hundred thousand.

FLYNN BANKS ON ALTITUDE

Pueblo Fireman Says Johnson Will Have Trouble in High Air.

East Las Vegas, N. M., May 25.—"So Jack Johnson does not think the altitude is going to make any difference to him when he clashes here on the Fourth of July? Well, all I can say, is that a 'Smoke' belongs in swamps and that Jack had better become acclimated, or this 8,000 feet above the sea level will get him."

Thus did "Sunny Jim" Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, declare himself today in his camp at Montezuma Springs, in the course of arguments that "Lil' Arthur" did not take any stock in the recent crack of Jack Curley's that one of the Flynn "aces in the hole" was Las Vegas's thin atmosphere and high altitude.

That the stranger to these parts is up against it if he cuts loose at too speedy a clip before becoming acclimated was exemplified at the boxing show given last night under the auspices of the Order of Moose. Wednesday a young athlete from Ellinwood, Kan., John Demel by name, arrived in town and reported to Jack Curley. He was booked to work with Flynn, and his sponsor, according to Curley, is a man who ought to know a good pugilistic performer when he sees one.

Demel is only 19 years old. He is a welterweight at best and that is the reason Flynn and Curley cannot find any employment for him, though the man who is vouching for him considers him the best 148-pound ringman in the world. Demel neither drinks nor smokes and is a high type of athlete in general appearance. The gent who was going to battle with the redoubtable Kid Burns, a young pugilist who has made this section sit up and take notice, had himself scratched at ringside and Demel consented to take his place.

The Kansas youth went into the ring on ten minutes' notice. He stripped nicely and when he started looked to possess as much style and own as sound a smack as Kid Burns. Curley, figuring high altitude stuff, arranged to have the rounds sliced to two minutes. Demel did well for exactly two rounds, then the thin air got him. He meandered along through the fourth round and Curley, who was seconding him and saw his pitiable condition, nodded to Referee Charley O'Malley to declare the bout over. It was a good half hour after the set-to before Demel was able to get his breath easily.

"Explain the sensation? I simply can't," he buzzed back, "but take it from me I thought I was going to choke to death. I had heard of this high altitude before I became an athlete and take it from me that's the truth."

REGATTA DATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Big Rowing Events to Be Held at Winnipeg July 19 and 20.

The Northwestern International regatta will be held at Winnipeg on July 19 and 20. This definite announcement was wired to the local rowing men yesterday. The date is just a week before the time expected by the officials of the Duluth Boat club and will result in the Duluth carnival being brought forward a week.

With the announcement of the regatta comes also the announcement that there is a very strong likelihood that special rates will be secured for the regatta. It is understood that the Canadian Northern is ready to make some concessions for those who wish to take in the biggest amateur sporting event of the Northwest, and it was also intimated yesterday that Secretary Albert Ames of the local club would set about getting a definite statement from the officials of the Canadian Northern.

It was believed here that the regatta would be held on July 26 and 27. The announcement of the definite date will not result in any great inconvenience, as no definite plans have been made for the carnival that is to be held here some time in July.

SHIFTS FOR FORKS.

Rumor Says the Flickertails Will Be Materially Changed.

From Grand Forks comes the report of a search for new players for the Flickertails. This has only been expected around these parts. As it stands today the Grand Forks team is far below the average of the other three teams of the league. They need some pitchers who are real pitchers, and also there is room for a generous shift in some of the other positions of the team. Allowing for the fact that the team had no spring practice, and also allowing for about sixty-seven other handicaps, the fact remains that some men are born not to be ball players. The Grand Forks management was unfortunate in securing some of these misguided youths.

TRACK MEET AT FARGO

Of Agricultural College and State University Athletes.

Fargo, N. D., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The athletes of the agricultural college and the state university are holding their annual track meet here today with the chances said to be favorable to the university.

The second baseball contest of the year will occur following the events. The Aggies took the first contest at Grand Forks last week.

BIG DEAL IS ON.

Cubs Are After Several Players From the Louisville Team.

Louisville, May 25.—One of the biggest baseball deals of the season probably will be closed tonight among the Chicago Nationals, Louisville and Columbus clubs. Pitcher Charley Snyder will be sent to the Cubs in exchange for Eddie Lennox. Third Baseman Jack Stansbury, now out of the game on account of injuries, will go to the Cubs in the fall. The Columbus angle is puzzling Schoenbern wants a player from either the Cubs or the Colonels. Snyder is one of the best young pitchers in the association.

Kids' Field Meet.

This afternoon at Athletic park the "kiddos" of the various grade schools of the city are having the big annual field and track events. The complete lists of entrants was given in Thursday evening's Herald, making the biggest field and track meet that has ever been held in this part of the state.

Sporting Gossip.

John Paul Jones of Cornell, the world's champion mile runner, is working his way through the Ithaca college. He, with two other students, conduct a laundry agency. In the summer vacation he works as an engineer in the treasury department at Washington, D. C., his home town.

AUTOMOBILES

ALL IS READY FOR BIG RACE

Dare-Devil Auto Drivers to Compete at Indianapolis Memorial Day.

Fortune Will Be Pulled Down By Winner of the Event.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 25.—Lured on by the richest prizes ever offered in automobile speed competitions, and driving the speed creations of the most brilliant engineering minds of Europe and America, the drivers entered in the second annual 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor speedway will begin their long journey around the brick oval at 10 o'clock next Thursday morning.

For the second time in the history of the world's greatest race course the five-century contest for cars under 600 cubic inches will be offered to the speed lovers and the sporting lenlined followers of the automobile game in the United States.

This is the greatest of track races. The first 500-mile event on the vitrified oval at Indianapolis astonished the world, and Ray Harroun in his Marmon Wasp was the hero of the nearly seven-hour speed combat.

The second race will astonish the world. The greatest drivers on this side of the Atlantic are entered and many of them participated in the first event. The cars are faster than in 1911. The requirements of the entry conditions were much more stringent. The facilities for handling the largest number of people that will witness a sporting event in 1912 are much improved over the 1911 conditions and Indianapolis people by co-operating with the speedway management and the hotels will be able to easily handle all its guests.

The motor speedway, at a cost of $650,000, has substituted a tunnel for the old foot-bridge just north of the pits. This will facilitate the handling of the autos that are parked in the infield and the vast crowds that will view the race from this enclosure.

Track in Perfect Condition.

The speedway has in every way perfected its arrangements to make safe every possible angle of the race. The track has been gone over carefully and smoothed out. The drivers will be instructed Monday night at 8 o'clock, in a meeting at the Claypool hotel by the A. A. A. officials in charge of the race, and cautioned to be vigilant at all times. An elaborate signal system for use in emergencies on the track has been worked out.

Only the cars that comply with the entry requirements in every particular will be allowed to face the starter Memorial day morning. Monday morning, May 27, at 9 o'clock, under the direction of Referee A. R. Pardington, Starter Fred J. Wagner and Chief Timer C. H. Warner and his assistants, the twenty-seven entrants will begin their trials to qualify. This demands the lapping of the track in 2 minutes flat or at a speed of seventy-five miles an hour for two and one-half minutes.

On Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock the cars will begin to weigh in. This requirement is 2,000 pounds or over.

All steering knuckles, front axles, frame hangers and steering mechanism, including tie rods, will be subject to the approval of Howard Coffin, famous as engineer. These metals prove to the layman that the first race demonstrated to the speedway and the motor car designers and builders the necessity of the precautions in running a race of such a distance.

Not only will the race for 500 miles be the longest track event in 1912, but it will also offer the largest amount of cash to the drivers of the modern space-eaters. Fifty thousand dollars is offered to these men who will catapult their cars through space for more than six hours in an effort to cross the tape first with 200 laps to their credit.

Winner Will Get Big Stakes.

The winner will receive for his probably six and one-half hours' exertion, the modest sum of $20,000, while Ray Harroun, the winner of the first race drew down $10,000. In addition to this amount of cash offered by the speedway, the various accessory manufacturers interested in the race have offered cash. The following amounts will be given to the next eleven drivers in the order that they finish: $10,000, $5,000, $3,000, $2,500, $2,000, $1,500, $1,400, $1,300, $1,200, $1,100 and $1,000.

Among the drivers and relief drivers named for the twenty-seven entrants in the race, seven drivers and seven relief pilots will ride in their first 500-mile event. The drivers that were not participants in the first five-century gasoline Marathon are: Harvey Herrick, Bert Dingley, Billy Liesaw, Joe Horan, Lem Ormsby, Charles Shambaugh and H. J. Kilpatrick. The relief pilots to make their bow in the 500-mile event are "Big Roy" Rader, Johnson, Swanson, Fuller, Farr, Kittrell and Fowler.

Some of the Drivers.

Teddy Tetzlaff, now holder of the world's road racing record with an average of 78.50 miles per hour, made at Santa Monica May 4, will drive a Fiat, the same make of car with which he won his laurels. Last year he had a Lozier mount. Ralph De Palma finished sixth in the first event in a Simplex and this year will be probably the individual favorite driving a big Mercedes.

Gil Anderson will again drive a Stutz and will have as team-mates Charley Merz, famous as a National pilot, and Len Zengel, winner of the 1911 Elgin, at the wheel of a National. In the first race both Zengel and Merz appeared at the wheels of Nationals. Louis Disbrow and Harvey Herrick will drive the two Case entries. Herrick is a new 500-miler, but Disbrow drove the Pope-Hummer last season.

Spencer Wishart, the New York millionaire, who won fourth place in the initial race, will drive the same Mercedes. Harry Knight, driver of the Westcott that he wrecked in the first event, will appear at the wheel of a Lexington. This will be the initial bow of the Lexington in speedway racing.

The National team will present a new front. Howdy Wilcox will again drive a fifty-horse power, the same size National that he finished in seventeenth place with in the first event. David Bruce Brown, twice winner of the grand prize of America, will drive a second National fifty. Bruce-Brown finished third in a flat last year. Joe Dawson, winner of fifth place in the first race at the wheel of a Marmon, will round out the National's team. Truly, one of the most formidable trios that ever grasped the steering wheel of a rubber-shod, gasoline-devouring speed monster. Bruce-Brown is for the first time driving an American-made machine.

Bert Dingley, famous for his work with a Pope on the Pacific coast, and participant in former Vanderbilts, will make his bow in a Simplex.

Johnny Jenkins, former pugilist and famous as a Cole driver, will mark the return of the White to the racing arena. The last appearance of the Cleveland machine in the speed lists was with the White steamer.

Bob Burman, "Speed King," will drive a Cutting in the event. Burman held the wheel of one of the Benz entries in the first event.

Lee Frayer, who finished thirteenth in the Firestone-Columbus in the 1911 event, will drive the same mount.

Billy Liesaw, at the wheel of the Marquette-Buick, is a new face among the five-hundred milers.

Old "Farmer Bill" End'cott, with a penchant for green and famous as a pilot of Cole cars, has transferred his affection to racy appearing Schacht, of vermillion hue.

Mel Marquette, driver of the McFarlan six in the first event, will have a mount of the same make.

Ralph Mulford, the laughing youth that made the name Lozier synonymous for speed, will, for the first time in his long career, appear at the wheel of another make. Mulford will drive a Knox Six. He promises to be a strong contender and the Knox Four, driven by Belcher last year in the race, had a world of speed. Mulford finished second in the first event, driving a Lozier, one minute and forty-three seconds behind Harroun.

Hughie Hughes, winner of many events in his class in the little Mercers, has one of the most formidable speedsters at the track. Hughes finished twelfth last year in a Mercer. Len Ormsby will drive an Opel, a famous German car, in his speedway debut. Shambaugh of Lafayette, Ind., is a newcomer. He has built a special car for the event, but is still doubtful if he will be ready in time to say "Good morning" to "Wag."

Joe Matson and Joe Horan will drive Lozier cars. Horan was under contract to drive an Amplex in the first event, but an accident before the race prevented his appearance. Matson was a relief driver on the Fiat team in the first event. Kilpatrick, driver of the Mason, is also making his bow. Kilpatrick is known to the racing fans by his work at the wheel of the Hotchkiss car on the mile tracks in former years.

Among the relief drivers, five of them had mounts in the 1911 race. Knipper, relief pilot for the Stutz trio, drove a Benz, teaming with Burman. Bragg, relief pilot to Tetzlaff, had a Fiat mount. Hearne, relief for the Case pair, drove another Fiat. Rupert Jeffkins, relief to DePalma, had a Velie entry in 1911. Henry Endicott, relief to Farmer Bill of the Schacht, drove the Inter-State in the original event. Don Herr, relief for the National trio, won his first race at Elgin last year, winning the 301 to 450 event with a National and was a relief pilot in the first five-century test.

If the weather is cool, the breaking of Ray Harroun's average of 74.61 miles an hour will be possible, but if it is torrid July weather on Memorial day the breaking of the record will be a task.

To break Harroun's time of 6:42:08, the car must average seventy-five miles an hour or complete the race in six hours and forty minutes, or two minutes to the lap. To do seventy-eight miles an hour the cars must average 1:55:4 per lap or complete the race in 6:24:40.

However, the cars are built for speed as indicated by their size and the lines of the design. There will be six cars in the six-cylinder class if all the entrants qualify, and twenty-one four-cylinders. In the 500-inch division of the race there are ten cars, in the 400 class eight, in the 300 class seven and two in the 200-inch piston displacement. "Speed King" Burman has the car with the largest piston entry, having a piston displacement of 243.5 cubic inches.

The nomenclature of the officials selected by the Indianapolis motor speedway embodies the names of several of the most prominent men in the automobile game. R. P. Hooper, president of the American Automobile association, will be honorary referee. A. R. Pardington will be referee and "Pardy" has officiated in this capacity in previous speedway events. "Ole Reliable" Fred J. Wagner, jocularly referred to as "Wag," will again start the cars and wave the green and checkered flags.

While Ray Harroun, the Bedouin pilot winner of the original 500-mile grand, will not sit behind a brass steering column and watch the bricks seemingly glide rapidly under him, he will be a part of the race as he is assistant Wagner as starter. Harroun will help line the cars up and send the boys away in their effort to smash his record in the Marmon "wasp."

John S. Cox, director of scorers in the first race, will again occupy the same position, and the checking in of the winner and the cars in the money will rest with this man. William Schimpf of New York, chairman of the contest board of the A. A. A., under whose sanction the contest is held, will be on the grounds and he will be assisted by C. W. Sedwick, Indianapolis representative of the A. A. A.

ENGLISH SPORTSMAN WILL INSPECT AMERICAN ROADS

LORD MONTAGU.

Lord Montagu of Beaulieu has arrived in New York and will remain in America for some weeks. He is accompanied by Geoffrey Marks, an associate. Lord Montagu is the editor of the foremost motor journal in England. He has been an ardent sportsman for years and is especially interested in the problem of good roads. He has come to America to study the road problem here. He will see some pretty bad road construction—unequalled in almost any part of the settled world—and it is to be hoped that he will take a look at the "black stick" country in Missouri, the "gumbo" roads of Iowa and the unspeakable dirt roads of Illinois. In the vicinity of New York he can see some of the worst roads in the country for the principal highways have not been rebuilt and in many cases not repaired for two years. The Boston Post road, the highway between New York and Boston, is a case in point. It is to be hoped that he will report on the famed roads of New Jersey which were regarded as so sacred by the lawmakers of that state that they refused to grant reciprocity in the matter of licenses to motormen from other states. The famed roads of New Jersey are in a state of dilapidation and the ferries between New Jersey and New York are thick with Jerseyites on their way to use the better roads of that state—now that reciprocity has tardily been granted. In addition to his interest in sport, Lord Montagu is a financier and he is interested in the great water-power plant at Keokuk, which he will inspect while here.

WILL DRIVE THE NATIONAL ENTRY

Joe Dawson Will Be Seen in Memorial Race at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 25.—When the big blue Nationals poke their noses across the starting tape in the big field of twenty-seven cars at the Indianapolis motor speedway next Monday, Joe Dawson, erstwhile Marmon pilot, will be seen at the wheel of one of them. And when the race is finished thousands of Indianapolis enthusiasts are hoping that it will be Joe, who receives the first olive wreath in the shape of the largest piece of prize money that has ever been hung up for an automobile race. Dawson and the National company came to terms at the last moment, and Dawson getting acquainted with his car has been reeling off fast laps at the big brick track.

When the Marmon factory announced that no car would be entered in the Memorial day race, speculation became rife as to what Dawson would do. It was rumored several week ago that smiling Joe might drive a National, but when his name was connected with the White Six entry the National talk died down.

There will be a big sigh of relief go up from the dopesters' camp when it is known that Dawson has picked a car. The National's speen is a known

Dawson can not be classed as a dare-devil driver. He is a product of that school of racing that believes that a car should be carefully driven. Dawson is a past master in taking care of his tires and his car, and he probably will not deviate from his cool, head driving in the coming race. Many races have been won through nursing tires and machine. But, again, the faster the pace the better Dawson likes it. They can't drive too fast for him.

Pointers for Motorists.

A very compact but complete tire and inner tube repair kit has just been added to the wide variety of accessories supplied by the Michelin Tire company, Milltown, N. J. The substantial metal containing box measures only 6x3x3½ inches, yet a liberal supply of repair materials is included, such as 2-ounce cans of Michelin Mastic and Cement; an envelope containing six assorted red Para inner tube patches; an inside envelope or "blow out" patch, and a good sized piece of emery cloth as well as a box of Michelin Talc.

A feature of this new repair kit is a very complete 32-page illustrated booklet full of practical instructions for making all sorts of quick and permanent repairs to envelopes and inner tubes. This booklet also contains many practical hints for tire users and suggestions that have developed during Michelin's long experience.

Michelin Mastic, one of the accessories in this new repair kit, is a quick-hardening plastic cement for filling cuts in envelopes and repairing punctures in inner tubes. It is not simply an adhesive but is a plastic compound or filler which replaces torn rubber, making a perfect repair as it practically renews the injured parts. Michelin pure gum cement is also particularly adaptable and is an enduring adhesive. The red Para patches supplied with this new kit are of standard Michelin quality, beveled at the edges to prevent curling when cementing.

Studebaker Builds Better Than You Would for Yourself

Your Studebaker car is built with more attention to perfect results than you could possibly require if you oversaw the whole process. Little details, you would think unimportant, receive the most thorough care, because Studebaker never built a slip-shod product, and never will.

Degrees of hardness of steel and the fitness of each—hidden parts which only long service proves—the very core of every piece of metal in your car, these things we know, and in our own factories we carefully make them right.

You would be careful if you could build your own car. We are far more careful because we care as much and know more about it.

G & J BRAND UNITED STATES TIRES

If it were necessary to pay more for

G & J TIRES

than for other kinds you could well afford to pay it.

Mr. W. E. Clark of Waterloo, Iowa, has gone thru the mill in tire experience, and has discovered (as a good many motorists are discovering) that tires are not all alike.

He says—

"I wish to say unsolicited that G & J Tires have been the most satisfactory tires we have ever used in the past seasons. It is hard to express one's feelings towards a tire that has given the satisfaction G & J Tires have given up to the present time."

You can have the same kind of service by using the same kind of tires.

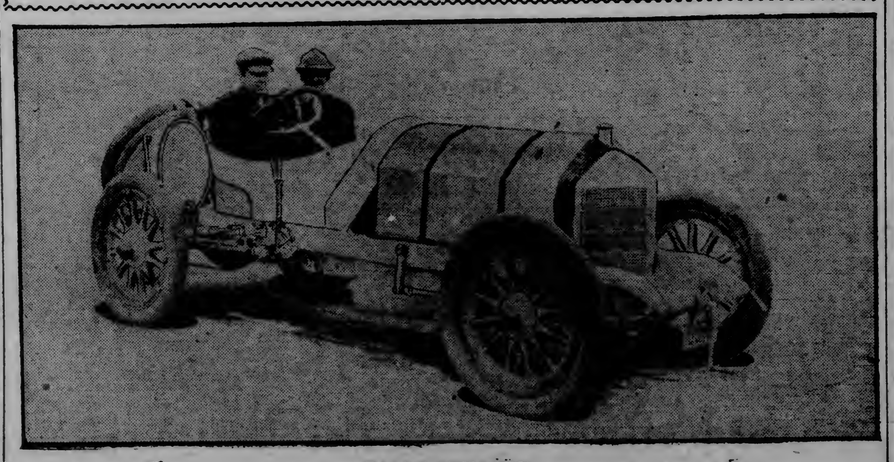
MULFORD WILL DRIVE HIS OWN CAR IN THE BIG MEMORIAL DAY RACE



RALPH MULFORD.

It has been several times persistently rumored that Ralph Mulford had been engaged by this or that automobile factory to drive in the Indianapolis race.

Mulford strenuously denies that he has been engaged by any factory, although he admits having had very flattering offers from several companies.

He early determined that his reputation would be best conserved by going into the market and buying the car which in his opinion offered the greatest possibility of winning the race.

He decided after careful investigation that a six-cylinder Knox would meet all his requirements and expresses himself as more than pleased with his decision after a recent thorough tryout of the car.

REPUBLIC TIRES

Means Tire Satisfaction — Means Tire Satisfaction

They wear better—have more life—run more miles—in fact, give you better service all around.

Of course—they cost more. That's because it costs more in rubber and labor to make them. But the cost to you per 100 miles of road traveled is less than for any other tire made.

ON THE IRON RANGES

GAME WARDEN TAKES THREE

Two Buhl Men Who Netted Fish for Saloon Keeper, Fined $50 Each.

Hibbing Miner Also Caught But Let Off Easily Because of Family.

Hibbing, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Erick Mattson and Alex Tujui, in the employ of John Anderson, a Buhl saloonkeeper, were arrested early yesterday morning by Game Warden Wood. They were caught red-handed netting fish in Six Mile lake. Both were brought to Hibbing and entered pleas of guilty before Judge Brady in municipal court and were assessed fines of $50 and costs each which were paid.

In court they confessed that they gave most of the fish to Anderson of Buhl, who advised them to fish at night and keep a sharp lookout for the game warden.

Miner Also Breaks Law.

Eric Smith, a Finnish miner, residing at 112 North street, Hibbing, was also arrested yesterday by the warden, charged with illegal fishing. He pleaded guilty and gave the warden evidence which resulted in the arrest of several other people on a similar charge. He was fined $100 and costs. Smith has a large family dependent on him for support and upon the recommendation of the game warden he was allowed to pay a fine of $10 and costs.

The parade will start at 10 o'clock. In the afternoon at Olcott park, Prof. Alfred Jenks of the state "U" will speak, and in the evening at the Roosevelt auditorium, Rev. George R. Gebauer of Duluth will give an address. In case of rain the afternoon meeting will be held in the auditorium and in case it is not practical to give the parade it will be given some other day.

ARRANGING FOR TWO GATHERINGS

Chisholm Plans to Entertain Finnish Festival and County Club Meet.

Chisholm, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The midsummer festival for the outdoor athletics which will be held by the Finnish people here promises to be an attraction of considerable importance. An extensive program is being arranged and many prominent speakers are being arranged for. Lieutenant Governor Sam A. Gordon has accepted an invitation to make a speech and invitations have also been issued to other prominent speakers. Mayor Joseph Austin will make an address of welcome. C. T. Knapp will also speak. Athletes from all over the Northwest are looking forth to this event, and a large number from the Copper country of Northern Michigan are expected. The Finnish people here have many friends and relatives on the Vermilion range who will come here not only to participate in the events but will come to visit and renew acquaintances during the festival.

To Entertain County Club.

The committee appointed by the Commercial club on arrangements for the entertainment of the County club here on May 28 is busy. Mayor Joseph Austin will deliver an address of welcome after which other speakers will make an interesting talk on different subjects. Assistant County Attorney Warren Greene is on the program as is President McGonagle of the Missabe road, Clean T. Knapp of Chisholm, Judge Martin Hughes and A. J. McGuire of Grand Rapids have expressed a willingness to talk. Arrangements have been made for a sight seeing trip around the mines after the business session has been finished and an automobile trip to Sturgeon Lake and an evening at the Oliver clubhouse. A big smoker at the clubhouse will be one of the features of the lake trip.

CHISHOLM TO PAVE.

One Trustee Dissenting, Council Decides to Proceed.

Chisholm, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—With Trustee Borin alone dissenting the village council has decided to pave Lake street from Fourth avenue to about 100 feet east of Central avenue and on Central avenue from Lake street to the south side of Chestnut street. A special meeting of the council will be held May 29 to give property owners a hearing as provided by law.

Trustee Borin voted against the resolution not because he did not approve of paving this year, but he thought that the council should pave the alleys on each intersecting street. The additional expense would run into the thousands and as the budget has made no provisions for paving at all it is going to be a hard matter for the council to figure out of the budget enough money to do the paving that is forced upon it by the reason of the coming street railway.

The village engineer has been instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the same and has also been instructed to issue a call for bids on sewer pipes to be put in where the streets are to be paved. The water department will also arrange to have all connections that are necessary before the paving is done.

CHISHOLM GETS DEMANDS.

Telephone Company Promises to Install System Demanded.

Chisholm, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Mesabe Telephone company has acceded to the demands of the Commercial club for the installation of the central energy system, which will do away with the bell ringing when calling.

A representative of the company was here Thursday and gave a signed statement to the secretary of the Commercial club that the company has plans under way for the removal of the present 'phone instruments and install a more modern equipment all around. There has been considerable feeling over the telephone situation and at a recent meeting of the Commercial club drastic measures were adopted to compel the company to make the improvements which they have now granted, many threatening to remove their telephones.

MUST BELIEVE IT

When Well-Known Duluth People Tell It So Plainly.

When public endorsement is made by a representative citizen of Duluth the proof is positive. You must believe it. Read this testimony. Every backache sufferer, every man, woman or child with any kidney trouble will find profit in the reading.

J. E. Watts, 918 Tenth Ave. W., Duluth, Minn., says: "I gladly verify the public statement I gave in 1908, regarding Doan's Kidney Pills. I had an attack of backache and lameness in my loins which obliged me to stop work. There was so much pain in my kidneys that I could not bend over and I was so stiff that the least movement made me miserable. I tried different remedies but nothing helped me until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They acted like a charm, and it would have been impossible for me to have obtained better results. Since then I have always kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand and they have helped me when I have taken them."

HEAVILY FINED; ALSO SENTENCED

Eveleth Saloon Keeper and Helper Convicted of Robbing Rooming House Guest.

Eveleth, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Matt Thomson, a local saloonkeeper, was found guilty of petit larceny in Municipal Judge Moylan's court yesterday and fined $100 and costs or ninety days in the county jail. Andrew Matson, an inmate of Thomson's rooming house above the saloon, was also found guilty of petit larceny and got the same sentence, Thomson will appeal his case, but Matson will be taken to Duluth to serve out his ninety days. The complainant was Dominic Androsoni, a young Italian, recently from the old country.

Victim Seen Robbery.

Androsoni testified in court that Monday night he secured a room in Thomson's place and was put to bed with Matson. He had taken off his trousers and hung them on the bed when he left the room for a short time. On his way through the hall back to the room he saw Matson put his hands in Androsoni's pants pockets, take out his pocketbook and hand it to Thomson. He made a fuss about it, when Thomson ejected him from the house.

FIRST FEATURES OF COMMENCEMENT

Two Harbors High School Graduates Hold Class Night Exercises.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.— The program given last night by the graduating class of the local high school was the beginning of high school commencement week.

Each of the thirteen members of the graduating class took some part in the class night exercises. Ruby Headley and Alfhild Nordby rendered an excellent duet on the piano.

William Fortman in his president's address gave a splendid bit of oratory.

In giving the class characteristics, Robert McCurgy assumed the part of an alumnus who had happened to open an album containing his classmates' pictures, which of course made him reminiscent. Margaret Peterson handled the class prophecy very nicely. She constructed a plot which fitted her prophecies very well, and these created many laughs.

Fred Switzer, the class cornetist, rendered two selections on his instrument which pleased the audience very much. The class will, given by Astor Anderson, was in the nature of the minutes of the last business meeting of the calss of 1912. The property of the class of 1012 was distributed among the present juniors but failed to go all the way around and the class was compelled to leave instructions with the faculty as to what should be given the remaining juniors. Harold Irwin finished up the first part of the program by a splendid valedictory. Mr. Irwin was successful this year in carrying off the highest honors of the class.

"The Cool Collegian."

The second part of the program consisted of a farcical comedy "The Cool Collegian" which was to take the place of the larger plays which the graduating classes have been in the custom of doing, lack of space preventing that now. Edward Kernan was very good in the part of Fred Parks who tried to change names and consequently got in a bad mix up with his aunt and his sweetheart. John Woodward starred as Harry Meredith a college chum of Fred Parks, who assumed the name of his chum and put his chum Parks in "bad." Woodward filled his part very excellently. Ella Olson as Mrs. Huntoon, Fred's aunt, was a very prim looking old lady. Ida Johnson took the part of her niece Fanny Morrison while Svea Peterson acted the part of Molly Wainwright her chum and the girl whom Parks wished to marry and for whom he had made such a mixup. Leo Streeter as Muggins the colored servant, and Ruby Headley, as Kate, the Irish servant, furnished a good part of the comedy with their continual scrapping. But the play came out very happily in the end and both couples found apparently their heart's desire.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached Sunday evening at the First Methodist church by Rev. Mr. Pickard. Commencement exercises and the banquet will be held on next Wednesday evening at the Minnehaha assembly. The class officers are: President, William Fortam; vice president, Ella Olson; secretary-treasurer, Harold Irwin. The class colors are old rose and silver gray.

SHOPLIFTER GOES FREE.

No Prosecution of Hibbing Woman Who Admits Guilt.

Hibbing, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be no prosecution of Aina Anderson, the young woman of respectable family who was arrested Thursday, as told in the Herald, on the charge of shoplifting, it being claimed she had taken a number of articles from two department stores. As the parties who lost the goods refuse to prosecute and the accused offered to make good the amount of the thefts the proceedings have been dropped. Miss Anderson cannot explain her action except on the theory she is a kleptomaniac and not responsible when tempted by a glittering array of finery in a big store.

Contracts Flabby Muscles and Rubs Out Wrinkles

Wrinkles can be erased in a short time with an ordinary Chinese ice-pencil, by rubbing the pencil the long way of the creases, then massaging gently. Repeat a few evenings and wrinkles will entirely vanish and the skin will be smooth and velvety. This treatment gradually dissolves the fatty tissues on each side of the furrows, and so energizes the tissues under the creases that they quickly respond.

To reduce flabby muscles, apply plenty of the ice and massage from point of chin to ears. The slightly astringent properties of the Chinese ice gradually contract the muscles, and after a few treatments they will assume their natural condition and the flesh will be firm and smooth. This also frees pores of blackheads and other obstructions and gives to the skin a rich embellishment and youth-like texture. Any druggist can supply Chinese ice-pencils for a nominal sum.

The funeral will be in charge of the orders of which he was a member. There are few men still in Virginia who were here at the time Mr. Carlson came to the city first. CHEATS JUSTICE BY TAKING LIFE

David Ahonen, Alleged Slayer of Makkela, Adds Suicide to Murder.

Ely, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The search that has been carried on continually for David Ahonen, supposed slayer of Jacob Makkela, the white Iron farmer, resulted in finding his dead body at 5 o'clock last evening in a clearing about a quarter of a mile from the scene of the murder. Hhe had evidently shot himself, the bullet passing through the abdomen. The gun, a 30-30 Winchester, was found a short distance from the body. Evidently he had committed suicide very soon after shooting Makkela, as the body was in bad condition, laying as it did in the open clearing, where it was exposed to the sun.

About to Abandon Search.

The party of searchers were just about to give up for the night when one of the party suggested that they take a walk down through this clearing, which resulted in finding the body. The body was brought to the Laing undertaking rooms here last night and will be buried this morning at 9 o'clock. Sheriff Meining and one of the deputies from Virginia were in the party that found the body. Deceased leaves no relatives so far as can be learned here. Ahonen had worked around Ely for a long time, about seventeen years ago working in one of the mines here, later he drifted into the lumber camps. He has been in trouble with the police, on minor offenses, before.

AMERICAN WARSHIPS WILL CONCENTRATE NEAR CUBA

can forces already on the island or en route should be inadequate to give protection.

The number of warships to rendezvous at Key West will be left to the discretion of the navy department, but it is declared at the state department there will be enough ships to steam to various parts of the island with sufficient forces to guard American property.

Send Battleship Nebraska.

The battleship Nebraska, which left New Orleans last night for Hampton Roads, it is declared, will undoubtedly be ordered by radio to anchor at Key West as a part of the "precautionary fleet." It again was asserted at the state department that this was in no sense a move toward intervention, but merely a matter of precaution in the interest of American lives and property.

Commander George C. Mitchell, commanding the gunboat Paducah, the first to arrive at Gauntanamo, has been told that he may supply guards for American property upon request without reference to Washington, if, in his discretion, they are needed.

Conditions Getting Worse.

Private dispatches to the state department during last night all agreed that the negro revolutionary movement in Cuba was hourly growing more serious.

The Washington government, it can be stated, is preparing for eventualities, but will wait another day or two before sending any more marines or troops to the island. The Cuban government will be given adequate time to demonstrate its ability or inability to clear out at least a part of the revolution before the American forces now en route to Guantanamo are augmented.

The plans for increasing the armed forces of the United States in Cuba, it is carefully pointed out, do not contemplate intervention. The troops would be used merely as a protective force.

Taft Averse to Intervention.

If the Cuban government, finding it is unable to quell the disorders, should ask for American aid, the matter would be thoroughly discussed by the president and his cabinet before action was taken. Mr. Taft, it is said, is very averse to intervention, or any move that could be interpreted as such.

There is no possibility of an agreement being reached between the striking Cuban stevedores and the steamship lines, according to state department advices today. The fifteen days' truce ends at midnight and the stevedores announce they will walk out at that time.

This will furnish another serious complication to Cuba's troubles. Importation of food supplies will be stopped, which in turn, has the serious effect of cutting off customs receipts at a time when the island republic most needs them.

Attack American Property.

Santiago, Cuba, May 25.—A strong force of insurgents is attacking the Santa Lucia sugar plantation, near Gibara, on the north coast of the province of Orienta. The plantation is American property.

No government forces are anywhere in the vicinity, but the employes are making a successful resistance.

A strong band of armed and mounted negroes this morning attacked the plantation of El Sllo, about fifteen miles from the city, and carried off all the horses, provisions and other plunder.

The government is dispatching troops from here to Guantanamo. Steamers have been chartered for the purpose, on account of the complete interruption of the railroad.

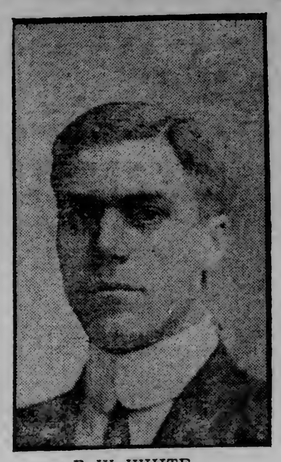
TEACHING NORTH DAKOTA FARMERS BETTER METHODS

THOMAS COOPER,
Director of the Experts.



F. W. WHITE,
Wimbledon, N. D.

OTTO O. UHLHORN,
Lisbon, N. D.

T. T. KRISTJANSON,
Milton, N. D.

EDWIN MAYLAND,
Valley City, N. D.

J. W. HAW,
Langdon, N. D.

O. A. SHOLLANDER,
Montpelier, N. D.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—That North Dakota farmers are ready to change their farming methods has been proved conclusively by the manner in which the activities of the North Dakota Better Farming association have been received, and the promoters of that organization have reason to feel thoroughly satisfied with the progress that has been made.

The association experts who have been sent into the field under the leadership of Director Thomas Cooper have been virtually received with open arms by the farmers. The theory of better farming which, in years gone by, has been exploited from the lecture platform, has taken on material form now, and the experts employed by the association are going from farm to farm explaining the various questions that arise and even going into the fields and helping the farmer drive a drill or handle a plow.

Changing Farming Methods.

Farming methods in nearly a score of counties are being changed directly through the work of these experts. In the other counties the sentiment that has been created by their work is being felt, and before the end of the year the entire state will be receiving benefits from the activities of the organization.

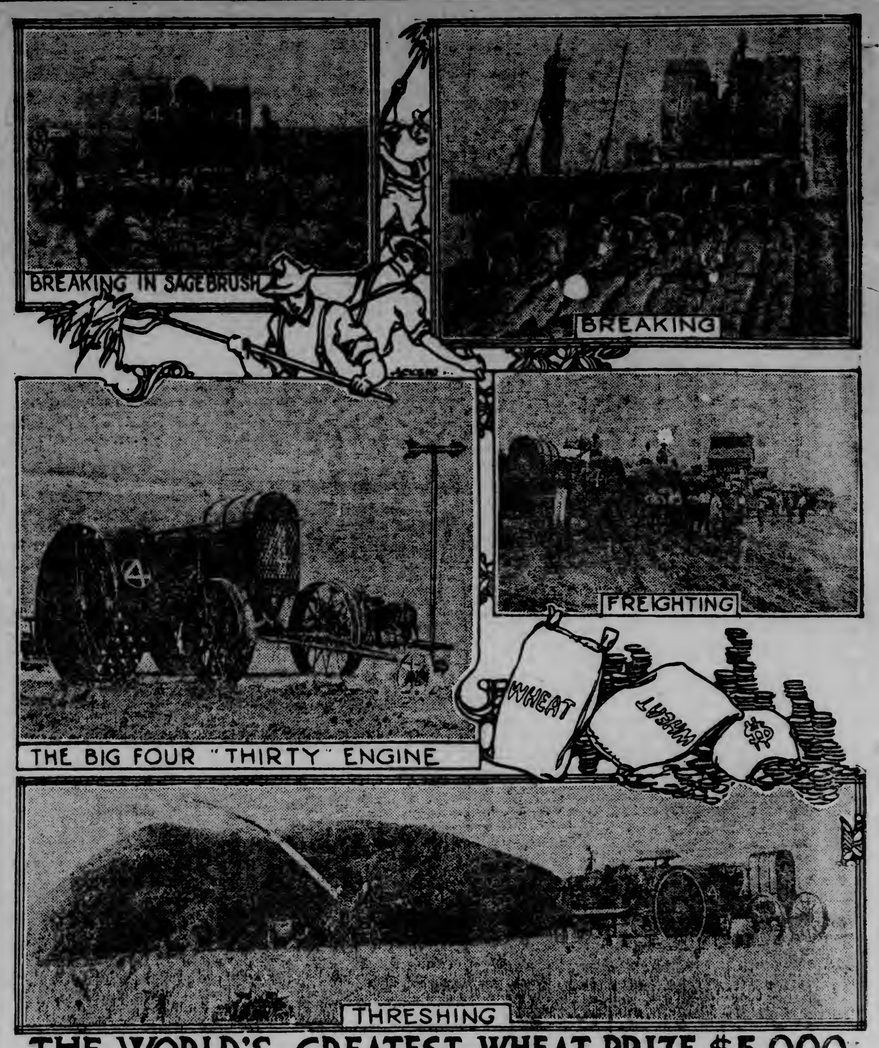
Experts who have been assigned to different counties are going about their work in a thorough manner. They are in the fields all the time with the farmers, showing them how to seed various grains, how to till the land, and what grains should be sown and when they should be planted. And, again, they are assisting the farmers in caring for livestock, in improving their herds of dairy cattle and in giving more attention to poultry. Then, too, some are engaged in promoting the production of small fruits and new grains and grasses; that is, new to the farmers, or a majority of the farmers, at least, of this state.

Experts in the Field.

The experts who are in the field under the direction of Secretary Thomas Cooper, the former farm manager men man of Minnesota, are: J. V. Bopp, Fessenden; W. H. Burns, New Rockford; O. D. Center, Grand Forks; Edwin Mayland, Valley City; W. A. Peck, Minot; A. F. Borchert, Jamestown; R. B. Coglan, Lansford; J. W. Haw, Langdon; M. B. Johnson, Bottineau; T. T. Kristjanson, Milton; W. R. Lanxon, Hettinger; T. E. Mills, Bowman; C. M. Ruzicka, Fargo; O. A. Schollander, Montpelier; O. O. Uhlhorn, Lisbon, and F. W. White, Wimbledon.

No detail of farm management, no feature of the production question, is so small that it does not receive the attention of these experts, and before the season is over about 20,000 acres of land will be cultivated under the direction of the association men. Next year the acreage will be even greater.

North Dakota's better farming movement is based on the situation that exists in this state with relation to the method of cropping, which in many localities is very poor. It is aimed to improve those conditions and the manner in which those ends are sought is interesting.



THE WORLD'S GREATEST WHEAT PRIZE $5.000.

Where is the farm or ranch in the American Northwest which is a regular bonanza when it comes to producing wheat; where is the one lode or pocket of earth which will give the world the best bread?

To find this spot and secure the best five bushels of wheat grown in the American Northwest this season, the Northwest Development league has just announced a prize of $5,000—just $16.65 per pound.

But to win this prize the five-bushel sample of wheat has to make the best bread as well as have the best appearance and scores for plumpness, luster, uniformity, conformity to type and freedom from weed seed, injured kernels, dirt, dust and smut. It is all right for wheat to look good, and handpicking may help to win the big prize, but the test will come in the baking as well as counting the scores on intrinsic points.

The most famous flour millers in the world will grind the samples, and the best bread-makers these millers can name will make the flour into loaves. The number of cubic inches to the loaf, the chemical analysis showing actual food values of the bread, will all be taken into consideration.

This great wheat competition will be held this fall after the harvest is over, in connection with the Northwestern Products exposition, which will bring together the products of the soil, forests, rivers, lakes and mines of Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Alaska.

So far as known, this is the largest prize ever offered in the world for any sample of grain. A single prize worth half the amount was posted in Canada two years ago, but the most valuable prizes for wheat in the United States have been under $1,000.

The Northwest league prize consists of a modern farm tractor, with breaking plows and tools for ripping up the prairies tired of growing buffalo grass and sagebush and wanting to produce wheat. The officers of the league selected the prize because there is no single factor in the development of the Northwest which is playing a more important part than the modern farm tractor. All over Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon these giant horses are cutting the broad prairies into fertile farms and making homes for thousands of settlers.

NORTH DAKOTA GEOLOGIC SURVEY

Lignite and Other Mineral Resources of Bismarck Area Described in Folio Issued By Geological Survey.

Another portion of the great geologic map of the United States which the geological survey is constructing has just been completed and is published with descriptive text in Folio 181 of the Geologic Atlas of the United States, covering the area known as the Bismarck quadrangle, in North Dakota. The area of this quadrangle is approximately 820 square miles, and the maps are printed on the scale of two miles to the inch.

During the remote period of the earth's history known as cretaceous time North Dakota, along with the rest of the Great Plains region, was submerged beneath an interior sea. The earliest sediments of this ancient sea became the present rock formation known as the Dakota sandstone, which lies more than 2,000 feet below the surface of the Bismarck quadrangle. Other bodies of sediments were subsequently laid down in this sea, which finally withdrew from the region, the later formations being deposited along streams and in marshes and swamps. The vegetation which grew in these marshes resulted in the lignite deposits which are today found in great beds underlying the area.

Great Trees and Huge Land Reptiles Flourished.

The fossils that have been found in the Bismarck quadrangle show that as many as 400 species of plants lived at this early time, among them being a sequoia, which is related to the giant redwood of California and the remains of which have been preserved in the rocks. During this period of mild climatic conditions when swamp vegetation flourished great land reptiles such as dinosaurs were abundant, especially the massive triceratops, which must have roamed in large numbers along the shores of lake and swamp.

The principal mineral resources of the Bismarck quadrangle, besides the surface and underground water, are lignite, clay, gravel and sand. When freshly mined the North Dakota lignite is usually lusterless and massive, but on exposure it rapidly breaks down or "slacks" into small shiny cubical blocks and this tendency is one of the greatest obstacles to be overcome if the fuel is to be consumed in plants so located as to necessitate long hauls by rail or much handling of the material.

Analyses and producer-gas tests were made at the United States geological survey's fuel-testing plant in St. Louis of samples of lignite taken from a mine near Wilton, a short distance north of the Bismarck quadrangle, but as the lignite in this quadrangle is not essentially different the results are of value in showing the general nature and composition of the fuel. These analyses and tests made showed a surprising success with lignite in producer-gas plants.

Efficiency of Lignite as a Gas Producer.

The following statement has been made concerning the efficiency of North Dakota lignite in the gas producer and gas engine:

"The result of the steam test was so unsatisfactory that there is nothing by which a direct comparison can be made of the efficiency of the fuel used in the producer-gas plant as compared with the efficiency developed in the steam plant. Nevertheless, a comparison of the results obtained on other coals under the steam boiler is instructive. The table shows that to produce one electrical horse power hour in the producer-gas plant required 2.29 pounds of dry North Dakota lignite, whereas to produce the same results in the steam plant required 3.39 pounds of the best West Virginia coal. This means that North Dakota lignite, with the moisture eliminated, will do more work when used in a producer-gas plant than the best coal of the country will do in a steam plant."

A number of tests have been made by the fuel-testing plant of the Survey and later by the bureau of mines to determine the best methods of briquetting North Dakota lignite. It has been found that the lignite can be briquetted, some of it without a binder, and that its efficiency is thereby materially increased. The briquetted product also stands weathering and handling much better than the raw material.

Steaming tests have also been made with specially constructed fire boxes and grates and the results are highly satisfactory, as the efficiency of this lignite when properly fired is so increased as to compare very favorably with that of fuel of higher grades.

The Bismarck folio also includes a description of the shallow and deep wells of the area and the character of the soils. It contains an excellent topographic map of the area, from surveys by Basil Duke and J. G. Staack, of the United States Geological survey and a map showing the areal geology. The Bismarck quadrangle was studied by the United States geological survey in co-operation with the North Dakota geological survey and the description of the geology and mineral resources of the area is written by Arthur G. Leonard, state geologist of North Dakota. In the field work Mr. Leonard was assisted by W. H. Clark and R. L. Sutherland, of the state survey.

THE COMMISSION PLAN OF CITY GOVERNMENT

By Attorney Halvor L. Halvorson, President of the Minot, N. D., City Commission.

A great many medium sized cities throughout the United States have for some time been operating under the so-called commission form of government. The fact that recently some of the larger cities of the United States are seriously contemplating the adoption of this form of government and the further fact that some of the larger cities have already done so, particularly St. Paul, Minn., gives new impetus to the movement of its universal use and application.

It will not be the aim of this article to go into any of the niceties of the law or to deal with it from a technical legal standpoint, but simply to contrast some of its leading features with the old council system where the aldermen are elected from various wards and districts, and where responsibility is not centered in any particular head or person.

I might state at the outset that the commission forms of government as adopted by the various cities in the United States are all patterned after the Des Moines and Galveston plan, and differences existing are of minor importance, the first improvement being the provision providing for the election of all commissioners by the city "at large," which, at least in the medium sized cities, works out admirably. I believe that even in the large cities, with the extensive and intense publicity which can now be had as to all public needs, it will work out equally well. It eliminates the feeling formerly existing among all aldermen of getting something for their own ward, often irrespective of its needs, and resorting, if necessary, to "log rolling" for that purpose, a system which is expensive to the taxpayer, and I might say that all the benefits which I can see in the commission form eventually work back to the man who pays the taxes. They are not beholden to any ward, district or precinct for election, but to the entire city, and to give satisfaction must of necessity serve the city as a whole.

Centralizes Responsibility.

Another feature which is of untold benefit is the plan of dividing the business of the city into heads or departments, such as police, fire, streets, waterworks and finance, and such other departments as the city may need to carry on its public functions. At the head of each department the board places one of its members. This centralizes both power and responsibility, enabling the citizens to immediately locate the proper person where he desires to make suggestions or enter complaints, and enabling the public at large to immediately place the blame where its business is neglected. These heads of departments, while primarily responsible, are at all times subject to the desires of the entire board of the commission, which holds towards them very much the same position that a board of directors holds towards the officers of a corporation. Comparison between this system and the old council method, where complaint or suggestion had to be made to from any-where from nine to thirty different men, all of whom were able to get out from under and shoulder the responsibility on some one else, shows conclusively the advantage of the newer method. All appointments are made by the entire board or by the president of the board, and approved by the board. These appointees cannot be removed during their term of office at the caprice of the board or any member thereof, but may be improved upon complaint to the board showing inefficiency or neglect of duty and upon such complaint being made, are entitled to a hearing and trial; in other words, all appointees hold for the term of their appointment unless cause is shown. This places the appointive offices of the city upon more or less of a civil service basis, at least so far as the term of appointment is concerned. More care is always exercised in making appointments where this rule prevails than is true under the hire and fire as you please method. It might also be stated that the public are better able to select their commissioners when they do so with the view of selecting men who are capable in the various lines in which the city is engaged. The man who would make an excellent commissioner of streets, chief of police or superintendent of waterworks might not be at all adapted to the position of commissioner of finance, and in electing members to serve on the board of commission, the public generally have an opportunity to take these matters into consideration, and are often able to procure the services of specialists in the different lines.

Puts City on "Cash Basis."

Another very important feature of the commission system is that designated as the placing of the city upon a "cash basis." We all know that formerly the board of aldermen issued city warrants wherever they were short of cash for the ordinary running expense of the city and for such incidental expense and appropriation as they thought necessary from time to time. This board power led to extravagance and often was sponsor for expense being incurred which could well have been omitted or curtailed. Nearly every city has a floating indebtedness of this kind, upon which it is paying interest at 7 per cent, and this interest and floating indebtedness eats up the cash returns from year to year from the levy made and necessitates more warrants being issued as well as more interest being paid. It is a very easy matter under the commission form to bond such floating indebtedness as may exist at the time it goes into effect, at 3 or 4 per cent. In the city of Minot, a saving of several thousand dollars per year on this item alone has been made. When the city is thus caught up, there is no need or occasion, if business methods are applied, barring some great catastrophe, of ever deviating from a cash basis. The levies from year to year are sufficient to do this, and the sinking funds and appropriations retire all past indebtedness. It might also be stated that both as to salaries and commodities, better service and closer prices can be obtained under a cash system. There are no discounts to be paid to banks by the holders, and no interest to be paid eventually by the city. A dollar in cash goes further than a dollar in credit. Extravagant expenditures are, to a great extent, curtailed, because only those expenses taken into consideration at the time of the annual budget have appropriations made for their payment, and as this must be done practically a year in advance, it gives the board as well as the public members of the board who are experienced in the conduct of the city's business. This feature makes of the commission form of government, a decidedly democratic system, and recognizes the principle that public servants are but the hired men of the people and should, where their usefulness to the people is in doubt, be subject to retirement at their will, the same as any other servant or employe.

The application of this form of government to our large cities will be of particular interest now that we have so thoroughly tried the system as applied to the smaller places and should the same degree of success be met with there, it will be only a question of a few years until the old council will pass into history.

A Splendid Tonic

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place, says, "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui, and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic, medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. RECORD-BREAKING OUTGO OF IRON ORE FORECASTED

Old Ranges Are Now Vieing With the Mesaba in Activity.

Marquette Mines Expected to Ship Largest Amount in Their History.

Lagging behind at first, the old ranges of the Lake Superior region now are vieing with the Mesaba, not in the volume of shipments from that world's greatest iron mining district, but in the activity at which ore is going forward. The gait already hit up is such as to give promise of a record-breaking outgo.

On the Marquette range, those of the operating companies that are in the market have all made important sales and those that are controlled by steel producers have been called upon for generous quotas. The Lake Superior & Ishpeming railway alone has contracts for the transportation of 2,000,000 tons. It will be the biggest season in the history of that line; last year only 800,000 tons were handled. The Lake Superior & Ishpeming is owned by the Cleveland-Cliffs Iron company and the Jones & Laughlin Steel company and its traffic will come from mines wrought by those corporations. The balance of the Marquette range product is handled by the Chicago & Northwestern, the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul companies. These three roads combined are expected to transport fully 2,500,000 tons, bringing the aggregate outgo of the district to at least 4,500,000 tons, the largest yet recorded.

Practically all the steam shovels on the Marquette range are already in commission engaged in loading from stockpiles. Some of this ore has been carried over from several seasons, notably that at the Cleveland-Cliffs company's Salisbury mine at Ishpeming, where three mammoth piles had been accumulated. The product in stock at the Imperial property at Michigamme also has been sold by this company. This ore is of the limonitic class, low in metallic iron, and it hardly was expected there would be a demand for it so early in the season. While the Imperial has not been wrought since the suspension of operations last year, the approching removal of the stockpiles is taken to presage an early return to activity. As is customary at this time of the year, the Cleveland-Cliffs company has resumed work at the South Jackson pits at Negaunee. It produces a hard hematite ore, all of which is run through a crushing plant before being sent out. The South Jackson is booked for a larger tonnage than has been shipped for several years.

The Breitung Mines.

The E. N. Breitung interests of Marquette are now employing 750 men at their properties at Negaunee, the most of these at the Mary Charlotte, where the force recently was augmented to the extent of 150 miners. The increase in the payroll is the result of the receipt of additional orders for ore. The working forces had been scaled down earlier in the spring and it was announced that no sales would be made at the ruling prices. It is understood now that in the neighborhood of 500,000 tons of ore have been placed at satisfactory quotations and other contracts are pending. The Breitung shipments last year approximated 550,000 tons, the bulk of this from the Negaunee mines and the remainder from the Baron property at Humboldt. The company is prepared to send out a still larger tonnage this year. In the Cascade district, five miles south of Negaunee, the Empire mine of Oglebay Norton & Co., idle last season, is employing a force of seventy men. Notwithstanding the product is a silicious ore of low grade, 50,000 tons have been sold to date and it is not improbable that additional orders will be booked. The Empire sent out 110,000 tons in 1909, its banner year.

On the Gogebic range, Corrigan, McKinney & Co. have added 15 men to the working force at the Colby mine at Bessemer. Good-sized orders have been booked and it is expected that the year's shipments will run in excess of 200,000 tons, an outgo not attained since 1888. While the Colby sent out 40,000 tons of ore last season, this from the stockpiles, the property had been all but closed since November, 1910, only a very small crew being employed, and these men chiefly at repair work. The mine produces both Bessemer and non-Bessemer ores, each grade of the soft, blue class. It is understood that the sales this season are of the non-Bessemer quality. Gogebic people have been much interested in the reported decision of Ferdinand Schlesinger to build large steel mills at Hammond, Ind., for the reason that that Milwaukee capitalist is the largest individual producer of ore on the range. Mr. Schlesinger operates the Newport mine, the biggest underground mine in the Lake Superior iron region, together with the Anvil and the Palms. The Newport is slated for a production of a million tons this year, almost double that of last season and almost as much as was shipped in 1910. The company is establishing logging camps at Newport Siding, in the Gogebic country, preparatory to cutting timber for use in mining work. R. B. Whiteside of Duluth, who has been exploring north of Marenisco, at the eastern end of the Gogebic, has been successful in finding ore and has now started shaft-sinking to prove up the deposit. The field is Virgin territory and much interest attaches to the developments.

An Important Deal.

A deal of no small moment to the Wisconsin portion of the Gogebic was closed when J. R. Thompson and his associates took over from the Jones & Laughlin company the leases to the Hennepin, Pence and Snyder properties, west of Hurley. The tracts had been in the hands of the big Pittsburg steel concern for the last seven years. The results of the exploratory and development work had been indifferent, however, and altogether only 325,000 tons of ore have been produced at the Hennepin and Pence, with the Snyder not yet a shipper. Mr. Thompson is the man who made the giant Newport mine what it is today—who found the ore even after the operating company had become discouraged and had ordered shaft-sinking stopped, locating a deposit of such proportions that the Michigan tax commission last year increased its assessed valuation to $13,000,000. Since that achievement on the Gogebic, Mr. Thompson has developed a big and important mine in the American property, on the Marquette range, a property that he and his associates acquired a few years ago after it had gone begging and had been refused by various large concerns. There is no one in the Lake Superior country that knows more about the rocks of the region than Mr. Thompson and if he does not make a success of the Gogebic properties just taken over it is believed that no one else can. It is intended to push the exploratory operations vigorously, both by going down deeper and by extending the lateral openings. The mining of such deposits as previously located meanwhile will be continued. J. S. Kennedy, superintendent the last seven years, is among those associated with Mr. Thompson and will be in active charge of the work.

The Peninsula Power company, which is developing a water power at the Twin falls of the Menominee river, near Iron Mountain, has started to furnish electricity to mines in the Iron River district. Pending the completion of the big central plant at the river and the erection of the forty miles of transmission lines to the western end of the Menominee district, the Iron River sub-station is served by steam. Afterwards, the smaller plant will be retained only for emergency use. The main station is designed for five units, each of a generating capacity of 1,250 kilowatts. Only three units are being installed at present, the installation of the others to follow when additional demands for power are made. The forty miles of wires to Iron River will be carried on forty-foot steel towers, imbedded in concrete and set at intervals of 500 feet. At present only two Iron River mines are being served. These are the Wickwire, operated by the Wickwire Steel company of Buffalo, and the Davidson, operated by the New York State Steel company. Eventually, it is expected, the majority of the more than twenty properties being developed in the field will become patrons of the Peninsula Power company.

All Three to Be Shippers.

The Wickwire company not only is operating the Wickwire mine, but it is developing the Cortland and Virgil properties in the same district. All three will be shippers the present year. Much new construction is in progress. An extensive building program also has been instituted at the Jones & Laughlin company's new Forbes mine, northwest of the James and the Davidson. The construction includes an engine and boiler house, 110 by 55 feet; an office building, a miners' change house, dwellings, trestles, coal sheds, water tank and a steel shaft house. The latter is being erected by the Minneapolis Steel Machinery company and will be of the most modern design, equipped with double track and ladder way. An underground electric haulage system will be installed as soon as the mine is sufficiently developed. The ore deposit is large and the Forbes will be an important producer.

The work of extending the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad from the Crystal Falls district to the Iron River field, the contract for which recently was awarded to the J. H. Flick Construction company of Dubuque, Iowa, is in progress. Portions of the work have been turned over to subcontractors. The extension will be something more than twenty miles in length, in addition to which will be the spur lines extending to various mines for the ore traffic of which the Milwaukee road will make a bid. It is not expected that the extension will go into commission the present year.

Pickands, Mather & Co., have commenced the shipment of 60,000 tons of ore from the Calumet mine, in the Felch district of the Menominee range. The property is inactive at present. The product is a low grade material. Eighty thousand tons are in stock.

ACTIVITY IN THE PORCUPINE CAMP

Seven Hundred Men on Hollinger Payroll—Dome Mill Shipping.

Toronto, Ont., May 25.—According to all reports the season in the Porcupine district is opening up with marked activity. The Hollinger has now on its payroll 716 men, a large portion of these being employed in work on the mill and cleaning up the property. Precautions are being taken against any recurrence of losses through bush fires and the remaining bush and stumps are being blown out and burnt to prevent any fires from running over the property and endangering the buildings. An insurance of $100,000 has been placed on the mill, and owing to the precautions that are being taken against fire from outside sources, the rates obtained were very favorable. The commencement of milling should take place during the present month, if the rate of progress now being made is maintained. The cement floors for the tables are in place. Work on the big tanks is progressing nicely and little difficulty is being experienced now in obtaining the necessary material, delays on the railroad being one of the greatest sources of delay that has been experienced in the construction of the mill. By June 1 the Hollinger should take its place as a bullion shipper. Progress has been made on the refinery sufficient to show that this mill will be all in readiness by the time the mill commences.

From the first cleanup from the plates and the Merrill presses at the Dome mill 240 pounds of bullion were shipped. The "heads" on three of the tube mills broke and for the first month the mill was only running at half capacity and on an average only twenty out of forty stamps dropped on ore.

The management is confining underground work entirely to the 50 and 100-foot levels, as it estimates on the results of the diamond drill operations that there is a sufficient body of ore above that even for the needs of the mill for years to come.

The West Dome mine, which F. Augustus Heinze helped to promote, has ceased operations, though the shafts are not being allowed to fill up. The property adjoins the Dome and is believed to have possibilities, though reports have never been encouraging.

The property has been actively developed, but if any favorable results were obtained they were never made public.

ARE BECOMING INTERESTED

Butte and Anaconda Men in the Georgetown Mining District.

Butte, Mont., May 25.—The Georgetown mining district, west of Anaconda, is attracting very general attention since the Anaconda Copper Mining company has purchased the Southern Cross and the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific railway has started to extend its line through the district. Many inquiries from mining men and investors East and West are being received. Local mining men are becoming interested in the district in large numbers. One of the new concerns that will do extensive work in the district is the Butte & Anaconda Consolidated Mining and Milling company, which owns eleven patented claims northwest of the Southern Cross mine. Considerable development work has been done on the property and the showing is said to be exceptionally good. A fine exhibit of ore is being made in the Leys store window by the company and is attracting much attention, as the exhibit gives a good idea of the character of ore in the Georgetown district. The snow in the district is still very deep, but in a few weeks the whole country will be accessible and big things may then be expected.

GROUND TO BE DRILLED

New Company to Start Operations on Holdings in Michigan.

Ojibway Still Opening Fair Average Ground in Kearsarge Amydaloid.

Houghton, Mich., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Official announcement will soon be made of the formation of a new mining company with holdings in Ontonagon county. The new organization has the backing of local and Eastern capital. Operations will be at first confined to diamond drilling for the purpose of making a further test of several rich copper-bearing lodes disclosed in surface trenching. The company's holdings aggregate nearly 15,000 acres in a fairly compact tract, about ten miles distant from the Victoria mine.

Naumkeag.

The Naumkeag Copper company is making a geological survey of its property preliminary to exploratory work. The Naumkeag property lies just west of the village of Houghton and is believed, with good reason, to carry the southern extension of the Quincy-Pewabic lode.

North Lake.

The North Lake has cleared the site of the first shaft to be sunk on that property and will break ground in this work as soon as the railroad now building can be completed. The shaft will sink vertically in the neighborhood of No. 3 drill hole and will serve to explore a number of lodes previously disclosed in diamond drilling, among them being the so-called Adventure series of lodes.

Algomah.

The Algomah has opened about seventy-five feet of excellent copper ground in an unidentified amygdaloidal bed lying in the approximate horizon of the Lake lode. This opening is on the 200-foot level, 565 feet west of the Algomah exploratory shaft sunk on the ore body. Development work in the ore body upon which operations were begun ceased some months ago. The quality of the ore, first class in the immediate vicinity of the shaft, rapidly decreased in quality and the ore body itself, has practically petered out so far as can be told from openings in it. The company is also engaged in diamond drilling in the territory west of the present scene of underground activity and recently encountered a copper-bearing amygdaloid of rather small width though of great richness.

Houghton.

The Houghton, operating next north of the Superior mine, has started a winze from the 640-foot level in the so-called Superior main vein. About 500 feet of the openings made in this vein disclose copper ground of commercial value. The winze is expected to develop this ore shoot to a depth of 200 feet, where it will cross with the line of the shaft sunk some distance in the footwall. The new west lode, which has recently shown such great improvement in the adjoining Superior property has also been opened on the 640-foot level in the Houghton property, but no drifting has been started upon it.

Oneco.

The Oneco has attained a depth of 1,250 feet in the Isle Royale-Portage lode in which activity is centered. Crosscuts have been run across the formation at intervals of 100 feet and an excellent showing was obtained on the 900-foot level. Crosscutting has just started on the 1,225-foot level. Crosscutting has just started on the 1,225-foot level and will be followed by drifting on the vein, in width drill borings previously made disclosed a width of twenty-six feet at this depth.: The situation at Oneco has gradually improved with depth and prospects are altogether encouraging.

Ojibway.

The Ojibway continues to open fair average ground in the Kearsarge amygdaloid opened by shaft to a depth of 1,800 feet in No. 1 shaft. The No. 2 shaft opened on the southerly extension of this lode, has reached a depth of 1,900 feet and is without important developments. A crosscut from the bottom of this shaft is driving in a southwesterly direction for the purpose of exploring the Ojibway acreage lying between the Kearsarge horizon and the Osceola boundary. The No. 1 shaft is sinking steadily below the depth of 1,800 feet. Drifting is in progress on the 1,600-foot and 1,700-foot levels.

New Arcadian.

The New Arcadian has broken ground for a shaft in section 17 in which drill borings recently located a copper-bearing amygdaloid of considerable promise. This shaft can be sunk to a depth of 4,000 feet before reaching the boundary. Equipment for the shaft will be taken from an old exploratory shaft sunk some years ago in the Baltic horizon. Work elsewhere on this property is confined to diamond drilling and has recently resulted in the disclosure of two amygdaloidal beds in the presumed horizon of the Baltic lode. Results here have not been sufficiently encouraging to warrant development work at this time and exploratory work will therefore continue in a further effort to determine the work of the formations encountered.

MINES OF TONOPAH STEADILY IMPROVE

Being More Vigorously Prospected Than at Any Previous Time.

Tonopah, Nev., May 25.—The Tonopah district is now being more vigorously and more intelligently prospected than at any other period in its history. Its geology, ore bearing formations, ore occurrences and faults are now thoroughly understood. The development in the West End and Tonopah Extension mines has stimulated operations on the western ore zone, where the Tonopah 76, West End Extension, Tonopah Merger and Monarch-Pittsburg Extension companies are all preparing to do extensive development work to open up ore bodies. On the eastern ore zone the Mizpah Extension, Halifax-Tonopah and Buckeye-Belmont are spending large sums of money prospecting at great depth and the success of these companies will be followed by extensive developments on properties east of their territory. The latest developments in the Midway mine will undoubtedly attract attention to properties in that vicinity and this extensive prospecting on all sides of the district will unquestionably result in the opening up of some more great mines to add to the growing output of bullion from Tonopah and largely increase the dividends distributed to the stockholders in its mines. The early theory of the limits of the western and eastern ore zone has now been proved to be erroneous and no one now dare set a limit on the great ore bodies either on their eastern or western course. In a similar manner the Midway mine has moved the northern boundary of the ore zone still further north and only sinking to depth and cross-cutting the formation will determine the true limits of the ore bearing formation north. That it has not yet been reached will be proved in the near future.

INSPIRATION CONCENTRATOR

Possible Sites Being Surveyed and Development of Mines Resumed.

Globe, Ariz., May 25.—The survey for the possible site for the Inspiration Consolidated concentrator on Salt river, two miles below the dam across Pinal creek has been completed and the engineering crew is now engaged in surveying the Black Warrior camp site two miles north of Miami for the same purpose.

The development of the mines has been resumed.

At the Inspiration mine a small force has been put to work under ground and this will be gradually increased. The Joe Bush shaft has been equipped with skips and underground ore pockets and will be working within a few days. The 10 by 16 double-drum hoist at the Colorado shaft is being moved to the Scorpion shaft, which is now 275 feet deep and will be sunk by contract an additional 220 feet.

Another 150-horse power boiler will be added to the equipment of the power house at the portal of the main tunnel and it is possible that a new air compressor will be installed, as it is thought that the one in use will not be able to furnish air for all the drills necessary to be used in the development of the ore body.

Until the new equipment is installed at the Scorpion shaft, the gasoline hoist now at that shaft will be used in sinking.

A force of men has been put to work repairing the wagon road in Webster gulch from the Inspiration mine office and camp to the Black Warrior camp.

At the Live Oak mine, the boilers have been blown in at No. 2 shaft and the hoisting and air compressing machinery placed in commission. A contract has been let to Jack McIver for sinking this shaft from its present depth of 928 feet to a point below the 1,100-foot level.

No. 1 shaft, near the eastern end of the property, will also be sunk 180 feet deeper, its present depth being 470 feet.

It is expected that the development of the mine to the producing stage will now rapidly proceed through the four development shafts and tunnel above mentioned.

The plans for the working shafts will not be complete until the location of the concentrator has been decided upon.

E. J. Harrison, J. L. Mauch and C. B. King, construction engineers, associated with Repath & McGregor of Douglas, have arrived in Globe and will spend the next two weeks at the Inspiration mine in connection with the construction work that is about to be started.

It is rumored that negotiations are being carried on for the acquisition of the Keystone mine by the Inspiration Consolidated Copper company, on a basis of 3,000,000 tons of developed ore.

J. Parke Channing, consulting engineer to the General Development company, which owns the controlling interest in Keystone, declines to either affirm or deny the truth of the report.

The Keystone mine lies between the Inspiration and Live Oak mines and might logically have gone into the consolidation of those properties and from the standpoint of economy, its acquisition and operation by the Inspiration Consolidated company is considered by some to be the proper thing.

DECREASE IN COPPER OUTPUT

But Increased Yield of Silver in Michigan Last Year.

Washington, May 25.—In 1911, according to B. S. Butler of the United States geological survey, the mines of Michigan produced 219,840,102 pounds of copper valued at $27,480,013, and 497,281 fine ounces of silver, valued at $263,558, a total value for both metals of $27,743,572. This is a decrease in value of $715,698, or about 2.5 per cent, from the 1910 production, due to a slightly smaller output of copper and a little lower average price for the metal. Owing to this slight decrease in the price of copper there was a decline from $2.54 in 1910 to $2.50 in 1911 in the average value per ton of rock treated. The recovery of refined copper per ton of rock milled in 1911 was 20 pounds, compared with 20.5 pounds in 1910.

The quantity of silver recovered was 497,281 fine ounces, an increase of 166,781 ounces over that of 1910. Of the silver, 513 ounces were obtained as pickings and 496,768 ounces were derived from the electrolytic treatment of 43,756,777 pounds of copper.

The mines of Houghton county produced 83.9 per cent of the copper and 92.4 per cent of the silver output in 1911.

PROFITABLE YEAR SHOWN BY REPORT OF ANACONDA

Recent Strikes Increase Butte & Superior Reserves 50 Per Cent.

Fine Showing Being Made By the Butte-Alex Scott.

Butte, Mont., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—While the dividends declared during the past year by the Anaconda Copper Mining company exceeded the profits by $565,031.24 this does not by any means indicate that the company did not have a profitable years, as the annual report shows that the repairs and improvements were in excess of that amount, the sum expended on the installation of electricity for the operation of the compressed air plant, the renewal of shafts and for development and general repair work being $582,462.27. When it is considered that the company paid out in dividends during the year upwards of $8,000,000, and that in no one year in the history of the company has there been as much money spent in new work and extraordinary repairs, the showing made, as a result of the year's work, must be highly gratifying to every stockholder. Another expense and one which, of course, was entirely unforeseen, was incurred in fighting a serious fire which broke out in the High Ore mine and which entailed an enormous expenditure of money for three months when it was finally conquered. Then again there was the expense of putting new cylinders on several engines for the use of the compressed air plant and the purchase of fourteen electric motors for service in connection with the underground haulage system instituted. But all these improvements are bearing fruit, for it is announced that notwithstanding that there was a curtailment policy in force during the past year as to the grade of ore mined was no higher than that treated in previous years, the cost per pound of copper produced was lower than in former years, showing that the more general use of electricity as a substitute for steam and the other economies introduced are going to mean increased earnings with the copper conditions prevailing at present. By the close of the present year or early in 1913 all the engines will be equipped for hoisting ore by compressed air, so that in another year the full benefit of the vast expenditure of money ought to be quite fully realized. The Mountain View, Diamond, High Ore, West Gray Rock and Leonard are operated now by compressed air and the Tramway engine is being changed for the same system.

Successful Smelter Tests.

It has been known that for a considerable length of time experiments have been carried on at the concentrator of the Great Falls smelter for the purpose of attaining a higher percentage of extraction from the ores treated, and although the results of these experiments have been carefully guarded it is now announced in the annual report that they have been highly successful. With the new method one full section was equipped and operated continuously. The showing was such that the saving was even more remarkable than the most sanguine expected. The method proved such a success at Great Falls that it was decided to introduce the system at the Washoe smelter in Anaconda. In addition to increasing the percentage of saving in the treatment of ores, the new method will also greatly increase the capacity of each section.

The reduction works of the company treated during the past year 3,154,035.94 dry tons of ore and other cupriferous material at Anaconda, and 1,101,777.84 dry tons of ore and other cupriferous material at Great Falls. Of this amount 3,756,235.05 tons of ore furnished from the company's mines, 499,077.33 tons of purchased ore, together with 501.4 tons of precipitates from the old works were treated by the company, from which there was produced 191,573.730 pounds of fine copper, 8,510,122.14 ounces of silver and 40,546,216 ounces of gold at Anaconda, and 67,823,318 pounds of copper, 1,221,439,210 ounces of silver and 5,403,570 ounces of gold at Great Falls or a total production of 259,407,093 pounds of fine copper, 9,731,561.35 ounces silver and 48,949,768 ounces of gold. The reports on the lumber and coal departments showed satisfactory results, while the year's operations of the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific railroad showed that a dividend of 6 per cent had been declared, leaving a surplus profit for the year of $46,944.28. The dividend amounted to $60,000. The gross earnings of the railway company were $1,040,682.32. There was paid for rental of tracks and miscellaneous tracks rents $17,321.39; operating expenses, $866,295.45; taxes, interest and rental on leased lines, $85,763.98; net income, $106,944.28.

Mention is made in the report, in connection with the operating of the railroad, of the purchase of the Southern Cross property and the extension of the railroad into the Georgetown district, in which it is stated that the Southern Cross in the past has been one of the largest producers.

Butte & Superior.

The recent offering of 30,000 shares of Butte & Superior stock at $27.50 per share was fully subscribed for by the shareholders.

The first section of the new mill is doing good work. Within a few days it will be milling 400 tons per day.

By reason of favorable underground developments during the past sixty days, it is figured that ore reserves have been increased fully 50 per cent during this period. On the 900-foot level there is exposed a vein having a 35-foot face of 20 per cent ore.

The raise above the 900-foot level is eighteen feet wide, and is up sixty feet in solid ore running 35 per cent zinc and 30 ounces of silver.

A new find of ore has been made on the 1,200-foot level, 800 feet east of the shaft in the Four Johns claim. The face of this vein is now twenty-five feet wide.

In the east end of the 1,400-foot level the drift has been advanced thirty feet and crosscutting commenced to determine the width of the ore body at this point. The crosscut is now in ninety feet, and while the full width of the body is not yet determined, it is averaging 25 per cent zinc.

On the 1,300-foot and 1,400 foot levels westerly the levels have been advanced during the past few weeks about eighty feet each, the ore holding the same width and value.

Butte-Alex Scott.

None of the independent mines have made a better showing in the past six months than the Butte-Alex Scott. The directors are to meet in the latter end of June and a dividend of 50 cents a share is to be ordered payable in July, which means at the rate of $2 a year. The company is averaging 225 tons a day to the East Butte smelter and it is quite likely this will be increased to 250 tons a day next month. Last month 6,000 tons of ore were shipped, producing 700,000 pounds of copper. Some of the ore ran better than 10 per cent copper. Mining is being carried on on the 1,400, 1,600 and 1,700-foot levels. On the 1,800-foot level there is a very large ore reserve. The chute is 250 feet long and runs from 5 to 8 per cent copper, while on the 1,700-foot level the chute is 250 feet long and is still extending. The stopes are from two to six sets wide. The Butte-Alex Scott was never in better condition than it is at present. A new compressor was received a few days ago and it will be installed within the next sixty days. It is not contemplated to use the compressed air for hoisting purposes at least for some time to come.

Tuolumne.

A director of the Tuolumne company made the statement a few days ago that the company would pay two dividends before the end of the year. He did not say when the first dividend would be ordered, but he did say that the financial affairs of the company were in such condition and the earning power was being so largely increased that another month would find more than sufficient money in the treasury to meet at least a 15-cent dividend in July. The output of the mine has been increased from 150 tons a day to 300 tons a day, and it is just possible that next month the production will be 400 tons a day. The ore shipped during the month so far has averaged a little over 7 per cent copper.

Tramway Closed for Repairs.

The Tramway mine, which is now closed down to admit of the engine being equipped with cylinders for operation by compresed air, will not be in commission again for nearly three months, owing to the fact that much general repair has to be made to the engine, and in addition the shaft is to receive an overhauling. The output of other mines has been increased slightly, in addition to the starting up of the Leonard, to make up for the loss in production caused by the Tramway going down.

LEAD AND ZINC IN WISCONSIN

Increase in Zinc and Decrease in Lead in 1911 Reported.

Washington, May 25.—The value of the mine output of lead and zinc in Wisconsin for the calendar year 1977, according to J. P. Dunlop of the United States geological survey, was $3,582,006. The value of the production in 1910 was $3,188,460, so that the increase was $393,546.

The lead concentrates sold declined from 5,608 tons in 1910 to 4,359 tons in 1911. The sphalerite concentrates sold increased from 89,232 tons to 93,963 tons and the zinc carbonate concentrates declined from 5,269 tons to 5,035 tons.

The metal content of the lead concentrates was 1,060 tons less than in 1910. The recoverable zinc content of the sphalerite and carbonate of zinc concentrates increased 2,847 tons over that of 1910 and the value was $480,120 greater.

Benton, the largest producing district, had an increased output of both lead and zinc concentrates. The value of the output from the Hazel Green district doubled that of 1910 and placed that district ahead of Platteville.

MARRIAGE.

Los Angeles Times: "Don't sneer at the Chinese literati and the ancient Chinese literature."

The speaker was Hsu Ping-chen, the Chinese consul general at San Francisco. He continued:

"Our ancient Chinese literature is wise. Take for example one of its epigrams on marriage. Could anything be wiser than this epigram:

"'Marriage is like a besieged city—those without want to get in, and those within want to get out.'"

PROF. HUGO MUNSTERBERG.

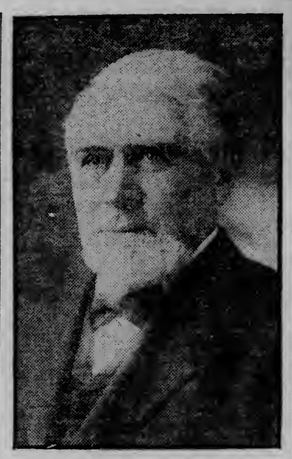
ALEXANDER GRAHAM BELL AND GRANDSON.

(Copyright, 1912, by E. J. Edwards.)

IF THE ordinarily observant citizen were asked to name the live topics of day he would pretty surely mention along with politics, trust prosecutions, labor disputes and other things, the question of immigration. Various occurrences of recent date, among which the strike of the foreign-born mill operatives in Lawrence, Mass., was perhaps the most prominent, have served to focus attention once more on this subject. An agitation for legislation that will give greater assurance that the immigrant hosts that continue to pour into this country will be assimilable by our citizenship has sprung up. Prominent men in various walks of life have been making public their views on the question, and a general discussion of the matter has followed.

Whether or not this agitation will produce definite results remains to be seen, but at any rate it will have been productive of many interesting suggestions and reflections. One matter for reflection that it suggests is the part taken today in our national life by citizens of foreign birth.

Few persons realize probably how large a part men of this sort are taking in American thought and affairs. Yet a cursory survey of the field reveals among the representative Americans in practically every line of endeavor many men who migrated to this country. In the special sense of the word—the sense in which it is used in the present public discussion—not all these men were immigrants, though, of course, in the broad definition of the word, all were. Some came here with reputations already made to step into places waiting for them, but others came unheralded and unknown, with no resources but vigorous minds and bodies, seeking their fortunes in the land of promise, in essentially the same way as the latest arrival in the steerage from the shores of Southern Europe.



SENATOR KNUTE NELSON.

"Big Business" Leaders of Foreign Birth.

In the field of big business, for example, it will be found that many of the most prominent and successful men in this country were born on foreign soil and are Americans by adoption. In this connection the name of Andrew Carnegie is suggested first of all. But the famous iron master is only one of many leaders of business that Scotland has furnished this country. There are the brothers, James B. and Davis R. Forgan of Chicago, two of the best known bankers in the country. There is James R. MacColl of Rhode Island, one of the most widely known cotton manufacturers in the United States and formerly president of the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, who was born at Glasgow; and there is Edward Tuckerman Nye, New York, financier and organizer of many great industrial and railroad enterprises, who is a native of the same Scottish city.

Many leaders of big business in this country are of Irish birth. The Cudahy brothers, who founded one of the great American packing houses, came to this country from the old, as boys. John Flannery, the well-known cotton merchant and banker of Savannah, Ga., first saw the light in County Tipperary, and so did Dennis Sheedy of Denver, Colo., who has engaged in the cattle business and the smelting industry on a large scale, and is also prominent as a banker. One of the original members of the New York Public Service commission, William McCarroll, a prominent merchant of New York City, is a native of Belfast. Of Irish birth was the late John B. McDonald, the man who built the New York City subway, and one of the most phenomenally successful of American business men was the late John W. Mackay, who was a native of Ireland. One of the greatest of American international mercantile houses was founded by the late William R. Grace and his brother, Michael P. Grace, both born in Ireland.

The greatest American railroad builder of recent years is a Canadian by birth. The reference is, of course, to James J. Hill, who was born near Guelph, Ont., but who began his business career in Minnesota.

There are a good many other natives of Canada who must be numbered among the leading business men of the United States today. There are, for example, H. St. Francis Black of New York, one of the great builders of mammoth structural steel buildings, and head of one of the biggest realty corporations in the country; E. A. S. Clarke of New York, a native of Ottawa, a graduate of Harvard, an expert steel man, president of the Lackawanna Steel company, and interested in more than a score of industrial enterprises and railroads, and Hugh J. Chisholm of New York, who began life as a newsboy on railroad trains, settled in Maine, went into the woodpulp business, and was one of the organizers of the International Paper company, of which he is now president. Samuel Insull of Chicago, one of the leading men in electric transportation and lighting business in the United States, came over here thirty years ago from London, where he was born, to become private secretary to Thomas A. Edison, with whom he was closely associated in business for many years.

Still another example of the English born American citizen who is a leader in big business is Edward T. Jeffery, who a few years ago was elected president of the board of directors of the Wabash railroad and who previously had been elected to the presidency of several other railroads, including the Rio Grande and the Western Pacific. Mr. Jeffery was born in Liverpool and came to this country when he was 7 years old.

The big business of this country claims also a good many men of German birth. There is, for instance, Frederick Weyerhaeuser of St. Paul, who is known as the "lumber king," and who is, if not the richest man in the world as he has been said to be, at least one of the richest. Mr. Weyerhaeuser was born in Neidersaulheim, Germany, and came to this country as a lad of 18, settling first in Pennsylvania.

Jacob Schiff, financier and head of one of the greatest private banking houses in the world, is a native of Frankfort-on-the-Main. Frederick G. Niedringhaus, the St. Louis capitalist, came to the United States as a boy from Germany. The three Strauss brothers, all of them famous as merchants—Isidor, who met his death in the Titanic disaster; Nathan, who has figured prominently in Democratic national politics and is widely known as a philanthropist, and Oscar, who served in the cabinet of President Roosevelt and as American ambassador to Turkey, were born in Rhenish Bavaria.

The Foreign Geniuses of the Telephone.

If we turn to the field of science and invention we shall find that not a few of the names most conspicuously associated with American achievement in that field are those of men who were born on foreign soil.

The telephone, for example, is justly regarded as one of the most distinctively American of the great inventions of the nineteenth century and yet it is a fact that some of the men who made the greatest contributions to the perfecting of the telephone apparatus were foreign born. Professor Alexander Graham Bell himself, who conceived the essential principle of the telephone, was born at Edinburgh, was educated in Scotland and England, and migrated to the United States by way of Canada.

Emilo Berliner, whose inventions in connection with the transmitting and receiving apparatus of the telephone converted that instrument from a sort of scientific toy to a commercially practical mechanism, came over here a poor boy from Hanover, Germany, to seek his fortune in the new world just as millions of immigrants have done before him, just a score of industrial enterprises and railroads, and Hugh J. Chisholm of New York, who began life as a newsboy on railroad trains, settled in Maine, went into the woodpulp business, and was one of the organizers of the International Paper company, of which he is now president. Samuel Insull of Chicago, one of the leading men in electric transportation and lighting business in the United States, came over here thirty years ago from London, where he was born, to become private secretary to Thomas A. Weddings

A very pretty wedding took place at St. Clement's Catholic church Tuesday morning when Miss Charlotte E. Sullivan was united in marriage to John H. Silvers of this city. The wedding service was read by Rev. Father Augustine at 8 o'clock, in the presence of relatives and friends.

The bride was prettily gowned in white voile over white satin and carried a huge shower boquet of bride's roses and white sweet pease. She was atended by her sister, Miss Mary Sullivan, who wore a gown of cream colored silk marquisette trimmed with medallions and fringes of seed pearls and carried a bouquet of Killarney roses.

Mr. Silvers was attended by Edward Gallagher as best man.

A wedding breakfast was served to the relatives and friends after the ceremony, at the home of the bride's mother. The rooms were effectively decorated in pink and white, ribbons and flowers being used. Over the table a dome of pink and white carnations, peonies and roses were suspended.

A reception was held in the afternoon and Mr. and Mrs. Silvers left that evening for a wedding trip to Chicago, where they are guests of relatives and friends.

Beginning on Monday, May 27, continuing through the week and until after commencement of the week following, there will be shown in the various rooms of the training department at the normal school, excepting the kindergarten, a representative exhibit of the work that has been done during the year.

No special preparation, except in a few instances, has been made for the exhibit; but rather an effort has been put forth through a careful filing of papers during the year to show specimen copies of various pieces of work from the different subjects, to serve as an index to the development of individual pupils, and to the work that has been covered. The departments of drawing, manual training and domestic science are included.

The seniors in Miss Strong's classes in themes and literature have held a series of very interesting debates in class during the past week. The first question, "Resolved, That the United States Navy Should Be Enlarged," was won by the affirmative.

A question which aroused a great deal of interest and excitement was, "Resolved, That Candidates For Graduation From the State Normal School Should Have a Record of 100 Per Cent in Spelling." This was won by the negative. The negative also scored in the question: "Resolved, That Such Holidays as Washington's Birthday Should Not Be Celebrated by Closing School." Other debates decided that schools should furnish free text books, and that high school curricula should not include any elective studies. The affirmative debates won in the following debates: "Resolved, That a Course in Themes Should Be Given During the Junior Year," "Examinations Should Be Abolished," "Railroads Should Be Under Government Management," "Coeducation Is Preferable to Separate Education for Women," and "Current Literature Is More Valuable a Study Than Classical Literature." In both classes the momentous question of woman's suffrage was decided for the negative by the unanimous vote of the judges.

Furs Scientific Treatment Insures Long Life to Furs

It is an established fact that Furs are greatly benefited by Dry, Cold Air Storage, in addition to the protection against moth and other insect pests. Dry, Cold Air acts as a life renewer to the hair, filling each cell with pure oxygen, giving it life and lustre and preventing the drying out of the natural oils. The old style method of foul, obnoxious odors to prevent the ravages of moth—making it necessary to almost ruin the garment in order to save it—is a thing of the past. To put away furs in a so-called moth-proof box, air-tight sack or with a mixture of camphor balls, tarred paper or tobacco, means to it great injury. It takes all the like and vitality out of the garment, and when unpacked it is crushed and soiled and unfit for use until thoroughly aired or fumigated.

You have, no doubt, already proven the inefficiency of that class of protection and know how unsatisfactory it is to get out your beautiful furs and find them moth-eaten, ill-smelling and soiled—wrecks of their former selves. But when removed from our Cold, Dry Air Storage in the fall they are clean, fresh and wholesome and in even better shape than when they left you.

The cost will not exceed the old style, inadequate and dangerous method which was generally used before Cold Storage became known.

Our receipt is your guarantee. It is positive insurance against any of the troublesome elements to which your garments are exposed during the summer months. Entrust your furs to our care, then forget them until you need them.

Now is the time to store—before the Moths get in their work. Phone, either Grand or Melrose, 988 and our wagon will call.

OUT-OF-TOWN CUSTOMERS can send their furs to us by prepaid express and we agree to pay return charges.

Northern Cold Storage and Warehouse Co.

After each debate the question was open to the class for further argument, after which a vote was taken on the merits of the question.

CONCERT BY MINNEAPOLIS ORCHESTRA WILL BRING BRILLIANT MUSICAL SEASON TO CLOSE

DULUTH'S MUSICAL TRIUMVIRATE.

S. H. JONES.

T. W. HUGO.

H. W. REYNER.

ON THURSDAY next the advance subscription list will be closed for the coming spring festival of music by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Emil Oberhoffer on Friday and Saturday, June 7 and 8.

This engagement will be the close of what has been the most brilliant musical season in the annals of Duluth, and as the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra has played an important part in the building up of Duluth's appreciation of music, these concerts call for the loyal and hearty support of all interested in the cause of music in this city.

The Programs.

As regards the programs, the first night, known as "Symphony night," is of more than usual merit. The program will open with Tschaikowski's "Symphony" in E minor, No. 5. This wonderful composition is divided into four movements and does not require a trained musician to appreciate the magnificent harmonies of the great Russian composer's work. Apart from the symphony all the other numbers are novelties and will be heard in Duluth for the first time. MacDowell will be represented by his suite in A minor, in four movements—(a) "In a Haunted Forest;" (b) "Summer Idyl;" (c) "In October;" (d) "Forest Spirits."

This is a charming and characteristic work by America's foremost composer. Two intermezzi from Wolf-Ferrari's new opera, "The Jewels of the Madonna" and the "Malaquena" from Moszkowski's "Boabdil" complete the orchestral part. Vocal numbers will be given by Lucille Stevenson, soprano, and Horatio Connell, baritone.

The popular matinee on Saturday will open with the overture to "Donna Diana" by Reznicek, a composer new to concert goers. Richard Czerwonky will play Saint-Saens' "Rondo Capriccioso;" and a rare performance of it will be given, as Czerwonky is now an artist of first rank upon his chosen instrument, the violin. Bizet's suite "L'Arlesienne," one of the finest speciments of French orchestration, Dvorak's famous "Humoreske," orchestrated by Emil Oberhoffer, Victor Herbert's dainty "Badinage" and three numbers from Berlioz's "Faust," "Will o' the Wisp," "Dance of the Sylphs" and the "Hungarian March," are the remaining orchestral numbers.

Genevieve Wheat will sing an aria from Debussy's "Enfant Prodigue", and Joseph Schenke will sing "Lend Me Your Aid" from Gounod's "Queen of Sheba."

Operatic Night.

The closing concert, the Wagner and operatic night, on Saturday is the great popular night. The concert opens with Wagner's overture to Renzi, followed by the "Entry of the Gods Into Valhalla" from the "Rhinegold." Horatio Connell will sing the "Song to the Evening Star," from "Tannhauser;" Joseph Schenke will sing the "Prize Song," from the "Meistersinger;" and Lucille Stevenson will sing Isolde's "Liebestod," from "Tristan and Isolde." The second part of the program will include: "Dance of the Nymphs and Satyrs," by George Schumann, a wonderful composition by a composer new to Duluth; the "Polonaise," from Thomas' "Mignon;" and the famous "Divertissement" by Saint-Saens.

These programs are the most interesting that have been presented here by the orchestra. As to the orchestra itself it is now one of the leading orchestras of the country, and this festival should be, in the matter of interest and attendance, the best that has been given in Duluth.

The school matinee will be in charge of Miss Isabel Pearson and a committee of the Matinee Musicale. Miss Pearson early in the week will visit all the schools and arrange for the sale of the tickets.

If the evening performances and the Saturday matinee had the same size audience the school matinee has, the Lyceum would be packed and people turned away at every concert.

Girls Dance.

Folk dancing for the girls of the Washington school district seems to be attractive for at the meeting last evening at that school there were forty-six girls between the ages of 14 and 18 in the circle. Miss Nellie Stoughton is the directress of this class, membership to which has been limited to 50.

The girls will pay 10 cents for each four lessons and the money thus raised will be used for the pay of the janitor. Miss Stoughton is giving her time without remuneration.

Miss Olds, the principal of the school, was at the meeting last evening and Miss Sprague and Miss Mereen will also assist.

The girls are most enthusiastic about the work and though many meetings cannot be held this term the class will be taken up again early in the fall.

CAMPAIGN ENDS.

Y. W. C. A. Raises Money Needed for Its Yearly Expenses.

Soliciting for funds of the Young Women's Christian association is finished for the year. At least the active eight-day campaign which worked towards a goal of $8,000 ended yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock with a subscription amounting to $7,693.75. This is just $307 short, but the members of the board feel confident that this amount will be made up soon, as many contributions on the way are received and others who are regular subscribers of the association who are out of town return.

With a tea at the association building yesterday afternoon the accounts of the workers were all closed and the reports made out.

THE Trinity pro-cathedral full choir will give a special musical service at Trinity, tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock. Mrs. C. P. Craig will be the soloist, singing Bach's "My Heart Ever Faithful." Beginning at 4:30, Miss Isabel Pearson, organist and director will give a half hour organ recital playing among other numbers, the so-called Mendelssohn prelude and fugue of Bach,, a nocturne by a young American composer: "Romance" in D-flat by Lemare (by request), and closing with a big chorale of Guilmants'. These musical evenings on the last Sunday of each month are very popular services, not only with the members of Trinity, but other denominations as well. The choir of thirty-five voices is doing good work.

WANT NATIONAL LAW.

Equal Marriage and Divorce Law to Be Discussed By Women.

THAT the National Federation of Women's clubs is to take up the question of a national marriage and divorce law is of general interest to the club women throughout the entire country. The women of Duluth have been interested in the question which was spoken of at the convention of the Eighth district clubs which was held in Duluth a short time ago.

The executive board of the National Federation has passed a resolution that one is needed and at its biennial convention in San Francisco in June the resolution is likely to be endorsed. Then the 800,000 members will get at work. Backed up by the power of the National Federation the club women will go before the law making bodies and press the passage of the law. If they should succeed it would be a tremendous triumph for women. Men have been trying to have such a law passed for years, and as far as they got is to secure the reference of the subject to the commissioners on uniform state laws appointed by the state governors in convention.

Will the women succeed? Club women who have gone over the ground carefully say that they believe the interest awakened the country over will spur the legislatures of the different states to take action in regulating marriage as well as divorce. They declare that the need of a uniform law is apparent.

Mrs. Philip N. Moore, president of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, said recently, in presenting the subject to her constituents, that before getting a divorce most persons had to lay bare many secrets to the judge, whereas in contracting marriage men and women were at liberty to walk to the altar without telling anybody anything about their health, morals, habits of life, or financial standing. The reason, she said, that the executive board of the National Federation had come out in the open and passed a resolution favoring a uniform divorce law was the number of communications received by the board from club women all over the United States asking whether something could not be done to remedy the divorce evils in this, that and another state.

Then in order to round up the state federations of women's clubs and get them to consider the matter thoroughly and to spread the propaganda among all the women's clubs connected with each state organization, the resolution was submitted to the executive committee of every state federation. This has been going on for nearly two years, and it is the results of this matured deliberation that will be presented by the delegates from women's clubs in every state and territory of this country at the June biennial meeting in San Francisco, the most important yet held.

THE School House Recreation center will receive much attention on the program of the Recreation congress to be held in Cleveland, Ohio, June 5-8. Men and women of national prominence will discuss its effect in lessening vice and immorality, in aiding immigrants to adjust themselves to American conditions.

Some school buildings are used for motion picture exhibitions and for amateur dramatic performances, some are thrown open for dancing. In certain cities clubs are allowed to hold their regular meetings in the public school. Whether this evening use of school buildings is interfering with the use of these buildings during the day for classroom purposes will be discussed.

WOMEN EDIT PAPER.

Lawrence, Kan., May 25.—The women of the Douglas county equal franchise league will get out today's issue of the Lawrence Daily Journal-World and have full control of the news columns and editorials. Mrs. Frederick Cowper, editor-in-chief, has announced that the issue will not be purely an argument for suffrage, but will contain "all the news." A staff of suffragist reporters will "cover" the city.

Social Center Play.

An interesting entertainment will be given Friday evening of next week at the Salter school by the girls of the social center folk dancing class, which is conducted there every Tuesday evening under the direction of Mrs. Helen Shores Savage.

The social center work at this school has been interesting to a large number of people in that community and the attendance at all of the meetings has been large. HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The "bogey" of the happy-go-lucky student has at last made its appearance in the form of the final examination. Most of the teachers have already subjected their classes to the trying ordeal, and the students are reluctantly burning the midnight oil in preparation for the rest of the exams, which may be expected at any time.

About thirty students availed themselves of the opportunity to secure a credit in physics by taking the special make-up examination in that subject, which was held Thursday afternoon at the close of school.

Dr. Henry S. Curtis, the Chicago playground expert, delivered an interesting address to the students assembled in chapel Wednesday morning. Dr. Curtis described the playgrounds in vogue in Chicago and informed the students as to the general working of the system as employed in that city. He declared that the modern playgrounds established in most of the large cities are exerting a marked influence, physically and socially, on the lives of the boys and girls, and stated that the local authorities should co-operate with the children in the enlarging and improvement of the playgrounds instituted in Duluth last year.

The special makeup examinations in spelling were given at the close of school Monday afternoon in room 208. Many of the seniors are taking the examinations in the four years work in this study, which is necessary for graduation.

Medical Uses of Fruits

By W. ALLISON MAYSON, M. D.

A living authority thus summarizes the uses of fruits in relieving diseased conditions of the body:

It should not be understood that edible fruits exert direct medicinal effects; they simply encourage the natural processes by which the several remedial processes which they aid are brought about.

Under the category of laxatives, oranges, figs, tangerines, prunes, mulberries, dates, nectarines and plums may be included; pomegranates, cranberries, blackberries, raspberries, barberries, quinces, pears, wild cherries and medlars are astringent; grapes, peaches, strawberries, whortleberries, prickly pears, black currants and melon seeds are diuretics; gooseberries, red and white currants, pumpkins and melons are refrigerants; and lemons, limes and apples are refrigerants and stomachic sedatives.

Taken early in the morning, an orange acts very decidedly as a laxative, and may generally be relied on. Pomegranates are very astringent and relieve relaxed throat and uvula.

Saving Time and Energy

By AMANDA MOORE.

The modern housekeeper seldom runs the danger of becoming a household machine. Those who are wise make use of other women's time-savers. The homely "wrinkle" becomes worth its weight in gold.

"Always rinse out a saucepan with water before boiling milk," says one friend, "and your saucepan will never burn at the bottom."

Another makes the discovery that a lather of shaved white soap, water and vinegar is excellent as a means of cleaning the inside of the bottles. In the case of a vinegar or sauce-stained cruet flask, half a dozen shot will remove yellow stains in less than a minute.

After the kitchen work of the morning is over, a beginner generally finds the blackened crust at the bottom of kettles and pans has transferred itself in an unwelcome way to her hands. Instead of using soap, she should try rubbing them with a little boiled potato. The skins of cooked potatoes will answer the purpose economically.

Do you imagine that any worthwhile buyer of real estate is going to overlook your ad in this paper? Not unless he is sick abed.

RAISING ONE MILLION DOLLARS

That Sum Wanted By Congregationalists For Mission Work in the Cities.

Fifteen states, beginning with Minnesota and extending through to the coast, and including farther south Utah, Nevada, Colorado and Nebraska, have now been surveyed by representatives of home mission societies, and ten religious bodies, supporting five in six of all home missionaries, have agreed upon co-operation in these states. There is to be an end to competition. At the same time most home mission leaders declare that overlooking is quite as deplorable as overlapping. For example, in one of the states surveyed, Wyoming, it is stated that 86 per cent of the population, and 30,000 children, are without adequate religious advantages.

Congregational home interests, represented in their home society, propose the raising of $1,000,000 for home extension. A considerable part of this sum, if raised, is to be expended in cities. Other sums are to be used in strengthening churches at college centers, so as to attack the student problem, and still other sums, if the advocates of country church interests have their way, will be employed to endow the rural pastorate, the argument being that it is from the country that many of the best leaders of the cities come.

CATHOLIC FOREIGN MISSIONS

France, the United States and Germany Lead in Contributions---Society Avoids Debt.

The Catholic Society for the Propagation of the Faith, whose headquarters are in Lyons, France, had total receipts last year of $1,545,845, a gain of a little more than $50,000 over the year 1910. The society is unique among missionary organizations in that it collects money one year, and after it knows the exact sum in hand, it expends it the next year. By this plan it avoids debt. All other societies make budgets, begin expenditures, and then get both ends together without debt—if they can.

France gave $605,000, or well-nigh half of all the society's receipts, while the United States was second on the list, with gifts of $281,234. Germany is third contributing country, with gifts amounting to $186,000. Italy, Spain and Austria, strong Catholic countries, contribute to world missions of course, but do so chiefly through the orders. In 1822 Lyons established its famous society and gradually has led France, the United States and Germany into the secular rather than the regular channel of giving.

The United States, working in close sympathy with this French society, has recently established a foreign mission seminary, and within a fortnight its first building will be dedicated by Cardinal Farley. This action was taken by the Roman Catholic Archbishops who selected two young priests and sent them to Europe to study conditions and needs. The aim is to get larger numbers of Catholic young men of America into the foreign mission fields. Heretofore most such workers have been enlisted and educated in France. England has furnished a few.

It was this Lyons society that early assisted the planting of Catholic churches in America. Ever since it has been granting money to America, until the total sum given between 1822, when the society was formed, down to 1900, when Catholic America attained its majority by being put on the same footing as European countries, exceeded $10,000,000. Most of this money came from French Catholics, but was granted to hierarchies that were and are largely Irish.

HILLSIDERS WANT PARK BOARD TO IMPROVE CENTRAL PARK

Hillside district residents of the West end are now circulating petitions requesting the park board to make several improvements and changes at Central park, which is located between Fourteenth and Seventeenth avenues west and extends from First street up the hillside.

Those behind the campaign claim that 300 signatures have already been secured. The petition will probably be presented to the park board at the next meeting. The park contains about 160 acres and has not been improved since it was purchased by the city. The hillside residents are also attempting to secure the assistance of the Fifth Ward Improvement club in the movement for an improved park. The latter organization is endeavoring at present to have the city purchase a block at Ninth avenue west and Third street to be used as a park. The hillside residents are anxious that the club drop this proposition and assist in the campaign for an improved Central park. The members of the club will take this matter up at the next meeting.

The improvements desired for Central park include a better means of access to the park, the building up of the embankments and the construction of a highway between First and Third streets with a proper approach from Piedmont avenue to the Third street road. Only $5,000 is needed this year, say the hillside residents, to properly improve the park and make it fit for use. The proposition of the Improvement club would cost the city over $20,000, while only half of this amount would make Central park one of the most beautiful spots in the city.

Central park, say the hillside residents, is just as convenient to a majority of the residents in the Fifth ward as the proposed site on Ninth avenue west. Central park is about four times as large, would better serve the residents and would cost much less. The park is one of the most picturesque in the city and affords a most splendid view of the harbor, lake and the city itself. The boulevard runs through the upper end of the park and at its westward corner are the Twin lakes, which were destroyed two years ago by the washing away of the banks during a severe rainstorm. The citizens also have in view the rebuilding of the embankment for the lakes, besides the improvements to the park.

Many Visitors From Minneapolis General Conference Also Expected.

Following the general Methodist conference at Minneapolis, which will end Monday, the ministers of the Red River valley district of Norwegian-Danish M. Jensen of this city, who was an elder of the West end church, when it was founded in 1892. Rev. A feature of the opening night will be the rendering of the cantata, "The Risen Christ," by a union chorus of sixty-five voices.

REAPPORTIONMENT OF LIGHT FUND

Seventh Ward Residents Say They Are Given Unfair Deal.

Because the Seventh ward is the largest in the city and because the same appropriations are made to each ward of the city, the residents living on the hillside are compelled to get along without the necessary street lights. This condition was brought out at a recent meeting of the West End Hillside Improvement club and the members are now circulating a petition requesting the city council to appropriate the money according to the population of each ward.

The campaign was urged by Alderman Bernard, who told the members the reason why they were compelled to get along without lights. Should a large number sign the petition it is probable that the council will change the present ruling of making the same appropriations for each ward, regardless of size or population. In this way the larger ward would be able to receive its share of improvements during the year.

Several street lights in the vicinity of Twenty-fifth avenue west and Eleventh street are very much needed at present. The aldermen of the Sixth ward will be asked to co-operate with Alderman Bernard in this campaign and to assist him in the canvass among the members of the council. It is probable that the redistricting of the ward will be taken up by the council, so that the Seventh and Sixth wards would then have an equal population. In recent elections the former ward polled nearly three times as many votes as the Sixth. If the wards were redistricted, the appropriations would be more equal.

FIVE BROTHERS SEPARATE AGAIN.

After renewing acquaintances for a week, meeting each other last Friday for the first time in twenty-five years, the four brother ministers of Rev. Edwin Stromberg of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, left for their homes during the past few days. Rev. Hjalmer Stromberg of Gonkoping, Sweden, left last evening for a tour in the East previous to his departure for Sweden.

The five brothers, all of whom are ministers, and who spent the past ten days at the parsonage of the First Swedish M. E. church, 310 North Twentieth avenue west, are as follows: Rev. Edwin Stromberg, pastor of the Swedish M. E. church, Duluth; Rev. K. A. Stromberg, superintendent of the Iowa dtsirct of the Swedish M. E. conference of Swedish M. E. churches; Rev. Leonard Stromberg, Keene, Neb.; Hjalmer J. Stromberg, Gonkoping, Sweden; Rev. Fred Stromberg, Lindstrom, Minn.

During the week the brothers have been entertained by the members of the congregation. Thursday evening Rev. Hjalmer Stromberg gave an interesting lecture on Sweden.

RECOVERS AFTER HARROWING EXPERIENCE.

Algot Peterson, who froze his feet early last winter while lost in the woods near Tower, is recovering rapidly and is now walking about on a pair of cork legs, which he received last week.

"I was lost for two days and three nights during the coldest spell," he said. "I slept part of the nights, as I was tired, having been with very little food during all this time. Many wild animals prowled around during the night. I could always see the wolves hiding in the underbrush. The animals did not harm me in any way, but certainly did frighten me by their continual prowling about. The last day out I struck a road and I met a farmer, who took me to a nearby camp, where I was given the best of treatment."

Shortly after Peterson was brought to a local hospital, where amputation of his feet was necessary. The young man was without funds, but several of the West end Scandinavian societies became interested and held several benefit entertainments to purchase cork legs for him and to pay the hospital expenses.

JENSEN URGES CLEANLINESS

Would Have Better Garbage Collection System in West End.

The West end will enter into a street cleaning and garbage collection campaign, if the suggestions of George M. Jensen are followed out. Mr. Jensen gave an interesting address on the garbage question at the regular meeting of the West End Commercial club last evening. No action was taken on the matter last evening. A discussion will be held next Friday.

Mr. Jensen would have the streets, alleys and yards cleaned out and beautified. Mr. Jensen urges a better garbage collection system.

Dr. Henry F. Curtis of New York, who is coducting a playground's campaign in Duluth this week, addressed the club.

MEN OF CHURCH WILL CAMPAIGN FOR MISSIONS.

Beginning tomorrow afternoon the men of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, will start a campaign in behalf of missions. At a meeting early this week canvassers for every section of the West end were appointed and these men will go out and visit every member of the church tomorrow.

The campaign will continue through the week and the reports of the canvassers will be made next Sunday evening. The men will go in twos and will visit the families during the evening and attempt to secure a pledge for missions from every supporter of the church. The campaign follows the suggestion of the missionary institute held during the recent Men and Religion Forward movement.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

Some Promises Made by the Press Agents for Coming Attractions

AT THE LYCEUM

The one great musical comedy success of the current season is coming to the Lyceum May 31 and June 1, Friday and Saturday with matinee Saturday, when Klaw & Erlanger present the brilliant musical comedy, "The Pink Lady." This surest of all hits has recently terminated its remarkable run of over 400 performances at the New Amsterdam theater in New York city and will be seen here in every essential exactly as it was given there and in the same spirit which captivated theater-goers of that center of theatrical activity for over a year.

Local patrons may not be familiar with the details of "The Pink Lady," but they have heard its music played to every imaginable form and have been awaiting the coming of the big production ever since the season opened. "My Beautiful Lady," the sensational waltz hit, is a factor in the score, but is only one of eighteen distinct numbers that have added to the fame of "The Pink Lady" as a whole. It is played by a selected orchestra of thirty players who have been with the piece ever since the New York run began and are traveling with the company on its present big tour. Ivan Caryll, who made the score, also worked out the orchestration of it, and while many are familiar with his music, they have not really heard it unless they have witnessed a presentation of the piece in the theater by the Klaw & Erlanger forces which are so skilfully utilized in bringing out every subtle quality of this pleasing feature of the production.

C. M. S. McLellan wrote the book and lyrics, his story being an adaptation of the French farce, "Le Satyre," by Georges Barr and Marcel Guillemont, which in its original form ran for nearly a year at the Palais Royal in Paris. Given a book of perfect construction and delightful humors and a score adjusted to the light moods of the story, Klaw & Erlanger have made their production a notable one. The intention was to realize its color possibilities in an artistic sense. To do this required a nice appreciation of its subtle influences. In the three scenes that frame the story are blended more tone harmony and understanding of color significance than has been revealed here in a light musical offering in years.

The exactions of "The Pink Lady" are numerous and the matter of players in the scores is not an easy one. A company of ninety people is utilized and each member of the cast is selected with a view to his or her individual fitness to the role. This even extends to the artistic manner in which the pink of perfection chorus is employed.

The advance sale of seats for this engagement extraordinary opens at the Lyceum box office on Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Mail orders are being received now and attended to in the order of their receipt.

Miss Dorothy Howard, who plays Beverly Calhoun the charming heroine of "Beverly," is perhaps the youngest leading lady in America in so far as years are concerned, who is playing a sta rpart, but as she made her debut playing child parts with a prominent San Francisco stock company, she is a thoroughly experienced and convincing actress. Miss Howard imparts to the role of "Beverly" the same girlish charm and ingenuousness so marked in her portrayal of the heroine in "Cameo Kirby" and the leading role in the New York production of "The Aviator." Lawrence Evart as Prince Dantan, who masquerades as Baldos, a mountaineer, is a handsome young actor, who is well known to the majority of patrons of the better class of attractions having played leading roles with Walker Whiteside for six years, and for the past two seasons a popular star in romantic drama. No matter how cleverly constructed or entertaining a play may be, nor how much money may have been spent upon its scenic and costume equipment, if the play is not well cast, or in other words if the actors portraying the different parts are not particularly adapted to the roles assigned, a good performance is impossible. More especially so is this of a dramatized novel, where nearly every one who has read the book has formed a mental portrait of the characters. Fully realizing this A. G. Delamater in selecting his cast for George Barr McCutcheon's "Beverly" to be presented at the Lyceum on Thursday, May 30, matinee and night, has exercised unusual care with the result that each of the many characters in the play bears the impression of having stepped out of the story on to the stage. W. Boyd Turner, who plays Gen. Marlanx, has been prominently identified with all of the famous dramatic stars for a number of years, including Mr. Mansfield, Mr. Mantell, and Frederic Warde. Miss Florence Raddnoff, who plays Princess Yetive, is a former member of David Belasco's "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" company, and played a prominent role in "The Road to Yesterday." Eva Blaisdell, the Princess Candace, was formerly Ingenue with Annie Russell and Mrs. Fiske. Sixteen other well known artists are included in the cast.

May Robson, one of the most charming actresses of the present day, has developed a type of character new to the stage. The conventional old lady of the farce with traditional mannerisms of her predecessors, is absent from the work of May Robson, since she offers a distinctive type of the good natured, generous woman of today. While there is a wide scope for the introduction of "horse play," it is carefully avoided, and the action kept well within legitimate bounds. The play is well constructed, and above all very funny. Miss Robson's characterization of 'Granmum' is exceptionally clever and she has the widest range for emotional work from which she may change to the ludicrous and yet so quietly and so thoroughly at her ease that it does not jar, but is convincing to the last degree. There is in the background a certain amount of philosophy which occasionally glimmers in the lines, particularly the reference to hereditary influence—not as an argument, but as an opinion of a broad-minded old lady, generous enough to alter that opinion should she be convinced to the contrary.

The theme of "A Night Out," in brief, is based upon the absorbing love of an elderly woman for her grandsons, and the results of their influence over her. She is curious to know what the attraction is in the city that draws the young men from a comfortable home at night to visit the city. This curiosity is not satisfied until after stealing away from the house and visiting a well known restaurant in New York. Every thing is apparently proper until a visit from the police changes her opinion and urges her immediate departure. The arrival home in the small hours, finding the house fastened—the climbing up the ivy—the crushed and dilapidated appearance of 'Granmum,' all form a most laughable incident, one of the many in this funny play.

Miss Robson will present this play at the Lyceum June 5 and 6, supported by Jack Storey, Paul Decker, Lewis F. Parmenter, John Rowe, Geo. Hall, C. C. Gwynne, Eddie Leaman, Faye Cusick, Lotta Blake, Edith Conrad, Margaret Boland and Miss Louise Rand.

Music lovers of Duluth and the surrounding country have a splendid treat in store for them during the coming summer, when Col. W. A. Thompson will present a fine company numbering about thirty-five people in musical stock at the Lyceum theater. Col. Thompson is one of the best known theatrical men in the country and was the first manager to produce "La Boheme" in Duluth by the famous Royal Italian Opera company. He also brought to Duluth that popular organization, the Boston Lyric company. This is sufficient guarantee of the class of productions to be presented at the Lyceum during the coming season. He has secured the services of Charles Sinclair, one of the best musical comedy stage managers in the country. Mr. Sinclair acted in this capacity for Henry W. Savage for nine years, and was also connected with the Ziegfeld forces for four years. Col Thompson has engaged a chorus of girls who can sing and dance, and they will be headed by the young prima donna, Miss Loraine Crossman, who was the Yvone in "Madame Sherry."

"The Dixie Fashion Plate Minstrels," with singers, dancers, cakewalkers, comedians and musical artists, will be at the Lyceum Sunday, May 26, night only.

AT THE EMPRESS

The patrons of the Empress are promised one of the best shows of the present season commencing Sunday matinee.

This bill is reported as being composed of five of the best attractions on the Sullivan & Considine booking list and it should make next week a banner one with the theatergoers of this city.

For the headline attraction, the management announces the engagement of Mme. Marzello and her $10,000 troupe of trained birds. This act has just returned from a three years' tour of Europe, embracing every country and important city on the continent, playing a five months' engagement in the city of Paris alone. These birds have been taught to accomplish many new and strange tricks. The stage picture is said to be a sight beautiful to behold, displaying a tropical scene with scores of beautiful birds of every species. This troupe is said to contain more rare species of the bird kingdom than any attraction of a similar nature in vaudeville. There are comedy birds, dancing birds, acrobatic birds, posing birds, birds that ride and drive little carriages, in fact birds that perform stunts of every nature. The birds flying about and perched on gold perches makes a beautiful picture. Mme. Marzello has spent years studying the art of bird training and understands their habits and nature thoroughly. She is one of the most accomplished ornithologists in the world and her success in making these beautifully plumaged birds perform the most amazing feats is little short of wonderful. The Milwaukee Sentinel said of this attraction: "As a climax to one of the best vaudeville programs seen at the Empress in many months comes Mme. Marzello with her trained birds. The birds do everything but talk. They perform stunts of every description in a manner that would lead one to believe they possessed almost human intelligence. Some of the birds perform acrobatic stunts, others pose for the entertainment of the audience, and each bird goes through its part of the performance with scarcely any assistance from their mistress. This attraction is most pleasing to the eye, the birds with their beautiful plumage making a most alluring picture."

A notable feature on next week's program is the offering of Crimmins & Gore, who are considered among the foremost purveyors of grotesque comedy in vaudeville. They will be seen in their ludicrous comedy, offering "What Are the Wild Waves Saying?" They are said to be a most amusing pair of comedians. Most young women would deem it a misfortune to be six feet tall, but not Miss Gore, who takes advantage of the situation and coins money by her unusual height. Miss Gore presents a distinct type of the New York tough girl, a character that is found only on the East side of the metropolis. By "tough" it does not mean that she is a bad girl—this producet of the Bowery slums—far from it. On the contrary she is noted for her kindly but rough nature and the assumption of toughness is simply an attribute of her kind and the slang which to the rest of the world is almost unintelligible is part of her vocabulary. Coney island is the Mecca of the tough girl and her Bowery sweetheart and on Sunday the cars going to that happy land are crowded with the type of girl that Miss Gore is portraying. The Bowery girl is very frequently the mainstay and support of a large family and under a rough exterior kind hearts are often found beating. For stage purposes Miss Gore's conception of this type is true to life and she has presented this type in all of the largest vaudeville theaters in the East with much success. This attraction is said to be filled with original comedy surprises and it is expected to prove a hit during its coming engagement.

Hayden & De Vine will present what is claimed to be one of the neatest singing, talking and dancing specialties of the present season. This witty pair of entertainers have created an enviable reputation for themselves both in vaudeville and legitimate comedy and their act is reported as one that is bound to please. Miss De Vine is said to possess a soprano voice of wonderful range and purity and is also blessed with an engaging personality which makes friends for her from the start. Mr. Hayden is also favored with an excellent voice and is said to be a comedian of more than ordinary ability. The combination is a strong one and they offer a number of the latest song hits and some graceful dancing numbers, which are said to be highly entertaining.

The gymnastic feature with this bill will be Rhena & Azora, who will present a series of grotesque acrobatics and some feats in contortion, which are said to be marvelous. This pair is considered one of the strongest teams of this type in vaudeville, and everywhere they have created a sensation. "Their work is presented in a remarkably artistic manner and they accomplish the most difficult feats with an ease and finish that makes them doubly entertaining," says a Milwaukee critic. This attraction for several seasons was one of the features with some of the largest circuses and they will no doubt create a great deal of comment during the coming week.

Vaudeville audiences have always shown a liking for a good knock-about comedy acrobatic act and this is what they will be offered by Jerome & Barry, comedy acrobats. These boys present one of the most reckless comedy acrobatic specialties in vaudeville. Their comedy, while necessarily on the rough order, is clean and original and they are said to be rewarded with many a hearty laugh for their efforts. Both members of the duo are adepts in this particular line of athletics and they are said to take some comedy falls which would lead one to believe they were constructed of India rubber. Aside from the comedy feature of their turn, they accomplish a number of sensational feats which are said to be on the hair raising order.

The motion pictures as usual will complete the list of attractions. A bargain matinee will be given daily at 2:45, evening performances at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved one week in advance by either telephone. Special attention is paid to the comfort and entertainment of ladies and children at all times.

MARZELLO'S TROPICAL BIRDS, At the Empress Next Week.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

A. L. Erlanger of Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger, who went abroad in April to personally direct the productions of "The Pink Lady" at the Globe theater and "Ben-Hur" at the Drury Lane, London, has returned to New York city. He denied the reports that England looked upon these and other American productions as an American invasion. Of his trip and his prospects he said:

"I have never seen two such first nights as those in London. It was good to hear the cheering for both 'The Pink Lady' and 'Ben-Hur.' I only wish we could carry such audiences with us every time we produce a play, whether it be here or in London. So unmistakable was the approval of both of these plays that we have concluded to produce our American successes in London under our own supervision in the future. 'The Pink Lady' will be seen all over Europe within the next six months. Contracts to that effect have already been executed.

"Arrangements have already been made for the production of 'Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm' at Mr. Frohman's Duke of York theater, as it was originally produced at the Belasco theater in New York for an entire season. 'The Round Up' too, as it was originally presented at the New Amsterdam theater, will have a production in London next March.

"We have obtained 'Milestones,' by Messrs. Arnold Bennett and Edward Knoblach, and shall have two companies in this play, one opening in New York in the middle of September and the other in Chicago a week later. Both companies will be made up of English players. 'Milestones' has been one of the great successes of the London season. It was the first play the king and queen saw after their return from the Durbar in India.

"We shall immediately organize a company for 'The Count of Luxembourg,' which will reopen the New Amsterdam theater next season. The new McLellan-Caryll musical comedy, which is tentatively called 'Oh! Oh! Delphine' will be the opening attraction at the Knickerbocker theater. It is founded on a farce by Mons. Georges Berr and Marcel Guillemaud, who are also responsible for the farce that was the basis of 'The Pink Lady.' We have already arranged with Charles Frohman for the production of this piece in London.

"'The Little Cafe,' which has been running more than a year in Paris, is being Americanized by C. M. S. McLellan and will be set to music by Ivan Caryll. It will receive an early autumn production.

"Franz Lehar's new opera, 'Eva,' will most likely be presented in Chicago before it is seen in New York.

"I take no stock in this talk of 'an American invasion' because we are sending plays to London, and I am sure the Americans who are willing to take the risk will receive just as hearty a welcome from the British theatergoers as we extend to their actors when they come here. Joseph Brooks, who arrived with me, will return to Europe in three weeks to perfect arrangements for our American productions in London.

"I spent the first week in May in Paris in consultation with American capitalists who want to build for us a theater in London to house American productions, and also one in Paris. These propositions Mr. Klaw and I now have under consideration. Mr. Frohman, of course, will be associated with us. Mr. Klaw will go to Europe soon to continue the negotiations. He also will take up the organization of provincial theaters in connection with Oswald Stoll, who has formed the nucleus of a circuit embracing the principal cities of the United Kingdom, in which Mr. Frohman and ourselves will be interested."

The presence of Cyril Scott in the revival of "Patience" is only temporary. Instead of remaining with the organization which is to present "Patience," "Pinafore" and "The Mikado" on tour next season Mr. Scott will return to "The Best People," which was given a trial recently in Chicago.

* * *

Nat Goodwin has approached Lee Shubert with a plan to conduct a permanent stock company on Broadway. Mr. Shubert, it is said, favors the idea. He will supply a theater, according to the arrangement, while Mr. Goodwin will be responsible for the company and productions. Only revivals or established successes will be attempted.

* * *

Sam Bernard has given up his contemplated trip to London, where he had intended seeing the first performance of "Liebe Augustine," in which he will star next season. Objection on the part of his mother to her son taking a sea voyage is responsible for Mr. Bernard's change in plans.

* * *

The report that the Winter Garden will close for the season June 1 is denied.

* * *

Charles Hawtrey and his English company having concluded their four week's engagement in "Dear Old Charlie," will return to London next week. Beginning in October Mr. Hawtrey will tour the Shubert theaters in the same comedy.

* * *

James T. Powers has received an offer to revive "Havana" in Australia. His present engagement in "Two Little Brides" will prevent his acceptance. Through Fred C. Whitney the Shuberts have been asked to present the latter piece in London. If a suitable English company can be secured this may be done.

James T. Powers, the comedian, says it is impossible for him to retire. "I tried it recently," he says, "and failed. My wife prevailed upon me to give up the stage. We talked it over and finally I gave a reluctant consent. When you've been singing and dancing for years it's no easy matter to come to a full stop.

"For a few weeks my retirement was a complete success. Mrs. Powers had me so thoroughly domesticated that I used to back into the rocking chair every night at 6. She had me wearing carpet slippers, winding the clock and putting the cat out of doors. I shuddered at the thought of anyone being out after 9 o'clock. Then one fatal evening she took me to church. I behaved like a retired person till the organ began. The first thing I knew I was prancing down the aisle on my toes.

"I was forgiven for that relapse, but a few weeks later the end came when we attended a musical comedy. As we entered the theater the orchestra struck up a song and dance and my retirement resolution went to smash. All my bad habits came back with a rush. That night I arranged to go to work again. Thus perished my first attempt to break into the old men's home."

Pierre Loti, according to the Abbe Ernest Dimmet, writing in the London Saturday Review, is one of five men who really mean anything among the forty immortals of the French academy. The other four are given as MM. France, Lemaitre, Bourget, Barres. Pierre Loti and the other four, says the Abbe, "are men in whose presence you cannot find yourself without feeling that they are the embodiment of a great portion of French activity. What Loti and the others thought millions have thought after them in unconscious docility; their particular manner of viewing the world, their moral attitude towards it have been so copied as gradually to become familiar even to the man in the street." Pierre Loti is to visit the United States this fall to be present at the production of his Chinese play, "The Daughter of Heaven," which the Liebler company is to put on at the big Century theater.

"The Five Frankforters," which has met with immense success in Berlin, Munich and Frankfort, will be one of the first dramatic productions to be made by the Shuberts next season. The piece is a comedy by Karl Roessler, who has written many other comedies. The play also will soon be produced in London. Capt. Basil Hood has made the adaptation.

* * *

Sixty thousand dollars are being spent by William K. Vanderbilt and his associate directors of the New Theater company in transforming the roof of the Century theater, New York, into the first children's theater ever established in the United States. The Liebler company will have the management of the children's theater, as it now has of the Century theater downstairs.

"Gen. John Regan," is the name of a new play which George C. Tyler, managing director of the Liebler company, has just bought in London. It is said to be a delightful satire on life in rural Ireland.

* * *

Viola Allen has closed her season in "The Herfords," a play dealing with a man and wife, both of whom are sculptors, and their young daughter, whose proper rearing is threatened by the demands of her parents' art. Miss Allen toured through the South and West and accumulated such tidy takings as $2,000 a performance in even the smaller towns. Miss Allen doesn't really stand in need of such material recognition, her husband, Peter Duryea, being a man of large wealth. But she takes as much interest in her work as if her livelihood depended on it.

There isn't a single woman—or a married one either, for that matter—in "The New Sin," the play which the Liebler company will produce early next season. All are men, and the dialogue is of the Oscar Wilde smartness.

* * *

H. B. Warner is in the enjoyment of a dual pleasure—playing "Alias Jimmy Valentine" to capacity at the Plymouth theater, Boston, and thereafter looping merrily to Bass Rock, Mass., in his 90-horse power auto, "The Safe Opener." At Bass Rock, Mr. Warner has what he calls a menage, and he gives it out that the main reason for his accepting the Boston time was that Boston is handy Bass Rock. "Alias Jimmy" profits bought the "menage" for H. B.

* * *

Edgar Selwyn and William Harris, Jr., have formed a partnership for the production of plays. Selwyn is known both as an actor and an author, his most successful plays have been "The Country Boy" and "The Arab," in the latter of which he starred. Mr. Harris is the son of William Harris, the theatrical manager, and the brother of the late Henry B. Harris. The first venture of the new firm will be the production of a comedy, entitled "Partners," written by Mr. Selwyn. Their second offering will be a new play by Arnold Bennett, with whom Mr. Selwyn recently spent several weeks in the south of France.

Charles Frohman has been advised by his brother, Daniel, to look into securing "A Scrape of the Pen," by Graham Moffatt, who is now in London. Moffatt wrote "Bunty Pulls the Strings," produced in America by the Shuberts and William A. Brady, but he has not decided with whom to place his latest play.

* * *

Cohan & Harris have three new productions next season already planned. They are "The Other Man," by Eugene Presbrey, starring George Nash; "Queed," (book dramatization), by Winchell Smith, starring Brandon Tynan; "Seven Little Widows," a musical

MARY GARDEN BEING INTERVIEWED.

Here is Mary Garden being interviewed by the re-porters, as they call them in the West. What is Mary saying to the re-porters? That she wouldn't marry the best man on earth—or the worst. What did Mary say the last time she was interviewed? That she was going to marry a turbaned Turk or an Arab Sheik or someone like that. What will Mary say when she returns to these shores next fall? Probably whatever looks to Mary like the best bid for publicity. Mary is not nearly as ingenuous as she looks, and she really knows a bit of advertising when she sees it as well as anyone in the world. Mary sailed on the George Washington of the North German Lloyd line and will spend most of her summer in Paris.

BILOXI AND OFO LANGUAGES

Dictionary Issued By the Smithsonian Institution—Stories Embodying Mythology and Folklore of the Two Tribes.

The bureau of American ethnology of the Smithsonian institution has issued a dictionary of the Biloxi and Ofo languages, accompanied by texts of a number of stories embodying mythology and folklore of the two tribes. This volume is largely the result of painstaking investigation and study on the part of the late Rev. J. Owen Dorsey, to which Dr. John R. Swanton of the bureau has added the Ofo material, besides arranging and editing (from the linguistic point of view) the entire work.

The Biloxi formed part of the Siouan group of tribes and the Ofo were among the tribes of the same stock, being most closely related linguistically to them. Neither in size nor in the position occupied in history are the Biloxi of importnace; yet from many points of view their history has romantic interest. The first mention of the Biloxi was by Iberville in 1699, when he established a permanent settlement in Louisiana, and it was after this tribe that the first capitals of Louisiana were named, Old and New Biloxi. When first known to white men, the Biloxi lived in a small village on the Pascagoula river, several miles to the eastward of Pascagola bay. In about 1702 or 1703, they were forced to move to a small bayou back of the site of the present New Orleans, but between 1722 and 1730 returne dnearer to their former dwelling place. They seem to have been a quiet, unobstrusive people, and have received little attention in history, yet it is known that they shifted their abode from time to time. In 1874 they were found west of the Mississippi and gradually became more and more disorganized and scattered, until in 1908 only six or eight of the tribe could be located.

Like the Biloxi, the Ofo, usually known in history as the Offagoula or Ofogoula, are first mentioned in Iberville's journal of his expedition to the mouth of the Mississippi in 1699. They were then located on the right bank of the river, about four or five miles from its mouth, in close proximity to five other tribes. Being only a small tribe, the Ofo were forced to move up and down the river until 1758, when Governor De Kerlerec reported them as the remains of a fairly numerous nation, established at Natchez near the fort, to which they lent their united aid in ti es of strife, although numbering only fifteen warriors. In 1784 the remnant of this tribe was reported as having a small village of a dozen warriors located on the west bank of the Mississippi a few miles above Point Coupee. As far as the editor is aware as late as 1908, only one member of this tribe remained, who lived near Marksville, La., with a remnant of the Tunica tribe. It was from this survivor that the Ofo words recorded in the dictionary were obtained.

The Biloxi texts form an interesting collection of stories, some of which are already known from different sources, while others are recognized as pure American from their similarity to old negro superstitions and tales. For example, the story of the rabbit and the Frenchman is parallel to the familiar story of "Brer Fox and Brer Rabbit," and their comical doings with the "tar baby," by "Uncle Remus." This story, it is held, was borrowed from the negroes by the Indians, modified, and eventually adopted by them.

There is a little story in regard to the origin of the opossum's lying and deceitful nature. It seems that at on time an opossum, known as the Ancient of Opossums, who had been the sole possessor of the hunting ground on the shores of a pond, found one morning that some unknown animal had passed along before him and devoured all the cray fish to be found on the shore. After some time he met his rival hunter who turned out to be the Raccoon. Realizing that they both desired the same feeding ground, they agreed to see which would rise the sooner and go around the pond securing the spoils for breakfast. The Ancient of Opossums, however, overslept, and when he arrived at the pond found that the Raccoon had completed the course, eaten all the cray fish and was on his way home to rest. When the Raccoon told of his exploit the Ancient of Opossums said that he also had eaten and being very tired was likewise going to rest. The Indians say that since that time the opossum has always been a liar and to this day he deceives the hunter by pretending to be dead.

Another story relates to the creation of men and their division into the different races. In the beginning this myth follows the Bible, to a certain extent, especially as regards the story of the forbidden fruit, but later it deviates somewhat, and explains how the races were formed and how their colors originated. The representatives of the several races were directed to bathe in a clear stream of water, the American first, followed by the Frenchman, the Indian and the Spaniard. The water gradually became darker and darker until finally the negro had his turn, when he found the water so muddy that he washed only the palms of his hands, which have remained white ever since.

The story of how the dog delivered the men from the persecutions of the Wild Turkey is odd and accounts for the turkey's brush and scaled legs, as well as for the food eaten by dogs.

Another interesting myth relates of the manner in which the buzzard became bald.

In some unaccountable way, many of the stories of the Indians seem closely related to our own ancient tales, as, for instance, the story of the Ant, Katydid and the Locust, which resembles greatly the Aesop fairy tales of the industrious Ant and the singing Katydid.

These myths all read in an odd and fragmentary manner, due no doubt to the fact that they have been handed down by word of mouth only from generation to generation. Besides the stories relating to animals, the sun and the moon are also incorporated in these Indian myths.

In this volume, which forms Bulletin 47 of the Bureau of American Ethnology, there are thirty-one of these Biloxi tales, a list of many Biloxi phrases recorded in 1892 and 1893, the Biloxi-English dictionary of 150 pages nad an Ofo-English dictionary of 32 pages, making a volume of 340 pages.

Bulletin 47 is intended primarily for the student and not for the general reader, its distribution being restricted to specialists in Indian languages.

JEW MAY BECOME CHIEF JUSTICE

Attorney General Issacs May Succeed Lord Alverstone on the English Woolsack—Mysterious Wiping Out of Fish Hatchery.

London, May 25.—The recent ill health of Chief Justice Lord Alverstone has given rise to speculations in regard to his probable or possible successor and adde dinterest has been given to the discussion by the question of the eligibility for the woolsack of Attorney General Sir Rufus Isaacs, who is a Jew.

There is good authority for saying that the attorney general's religious faith does not exclude the woolsack from the range of his ambitions. Premier Gladstone in introducing his religious disabilities bill by which Roman Catholics were to be made eligible for the lord chancellorship, emphasized the fact that there were no legal obstacles to the office being held "by a Jew, by a Mahommedan, by a Buddhist, or a Hindu."

A telegram to the Fishing Gazette has announced the mysterious and complete wiping out of the trout and roach fishery of the Friendly Anglers' society of the River Colne. None but a fisherman could appreciate the calamitous nature of the news, for within a few hours 5,000 magnificent trout and as many fine roach were lying dead on the surface of the river and three years of careful planting by the members of the society had come to naught. The fishery had just developed into one of the finest in the kingdom. Chemists are now busy analyzing the water in an effort to discover the nature of the poison which must have killed the fish.

The remote suburbs of London are growing, but the metropolitan district proper is rapidly becoming depopulated, according to the rate returns of the London county council. Every year the percentage of empty houses grows larger. John Burns, president of the local government board, states that families are leaving the central London boroughs at the rate of 13,000 a year. London in population has apparently reached its high water mark.

The premiere of a play here last week was enlivened by the presence in an orchestra stall of a man whose dress clothes were set off by a jet black shirt, properly starched and fashionably frilled. When he rose with the rising of the lights after the first act all of the white shirts in the stalls followed him as if he had been the proverbial black swan. He wore a white collar and white stock tie and a white waistcoat, but unlike others who have attended sartorial novelties, he wore the usual black instead of white duck coat and trousers. No one recognize the mysterious wearer and fashionable London is wondering if his presence was due to an attempt to introduce a new fashion in evening dress.

The English summer resorts have awakened to the fact that London has what amounts to a practical monopoly on the money of American travelers and a campaign is being planned whereby the trans-Atlantic tourist may be persuaded to linger in the British Isle instead of passing on to the continent after seeing the metropolis. One seashore resort, Blackwood, is arranging to send a commission to the United States where an endeavor will be made to discover the things which appeal to the American pleasure seeker. Other seaside towns are considering the same step. As the result of a conference, several hotel managers have decided to run their places on American lines, using both the "American" and "European" plans. Among other things, the hotels have decided to fly the American flag; post prices in dollars and cents; engage American cooks for special American dishes; maintain American bars; have on each floor at least one English-speaking attendant; supply English and American papers, tobacco and cigars; serve buckwheat cakes; maple syrup, bear steak, green corn on the cob, terrapin, clam chowder, Rock Island oysters, pie and other delicacies supposed to be dear to the American palate; supply unlimited ice water, grape fruit, peaches; provide better telephone service, and generally to put in the continental hotels reminders of home.

Henry Prather Fletcher, United States minister to Chili, who stopped in London on his way to Washington, is enthusiastic over the possibilities of the west coast of South America and declares that the opening of the Panama canal will bring unprecedented prosperity to that territory.

He says that the business men of Chili are fully alive to the advantages which will accrue to them. The Chilian government is already planning to subsidize a line of steamships which will take advantage of the new trade routes which the canal will create. So strong is the feeling of optimism in the country that various industries are already beginning to boom in anticipation. This is especially true of the nitrate fields, which expect to profit greatly by the shortening of the route to the great central valley of the United States.

HAS BIG PROBLEM IN MOROCCO

Difficulties Encountered By France in Subduing the Wild Moorish Tribesmen—Gen. Lyautey Becomes Resident General and Is Expected to Produce Results.

Paris, May 25.—Morocco looms up as France's most difficult colonial problem. That is saying much, for France's experience is perhaps only second to that of Great Britain.

The recent savage massacre of French military officials at Fez at the very moment when France was establishing a protectorate was a powerful indication to the French of the difficulties to be met and conquered before the wild Moorish tribesmen to whom war is a diversion can be made over in to peaceful and successful children of France. At once was seen the need of appointing an experienced and capable hand to take the helm of the tremendous work of protectorate organization.

This man, France believes, has been found in Gen. Hubert Lyautey, who has achieved a reputation as a skillful, untiring officer and an adroit organizer and leader of men. Gen. Lyautey was born at Nancy in 1854. He passed rapidly through the various grades of military education and became a captain in 1882. Later he went to Indo-China as chief of bureau of the resident general, and there he met the famous Gen. Gallieni, who later ttok him to Madagascar. Gen. Lyautey did some fine work in pacifying and organizing the districts in the south of that island. Later service in Tunis and Algeria was followed by the applontment as commander of the Tenth army corps of France. He has written much, both on the colonial service of the army and upon the social development of the military officer. A recent study of the latter question created great interest in military and lay circles. Emperor William of Germany was so struck by the tone of the article that he wrote to the author to congratulate him and at the same time to take issue with him on several points.

Once the picturesque Arabs become devoted to France, it is believed that France will find in them a superb addition to her colonial army. Moulay Hafid, the sultan, thinks this is true, bue he warns France that the process of courtship must be slow and cautious. Above all, the Mussulmans of Morocco must be left unhindered and uninfluenced in their religious beliefs and proctices. Any encroachment by missionaries or others will, he thinks, be disastrous to French interests.

The attitude of Moulay Hafid himself is a puzzel. He declares himself very anxious to abdicate, saying that he wishes to travel and give up all authority which, after all, he says, he does not possess, since the French have taken it all from him; but the French insist on the sultan remaining in nominal power. They realize that the Moors without a ruler would be sheep without a shepherd. Gen Lyautey, who becomes governor, or more properly, resident general of Morocco, is above all a tactful man. He is certain to do all things to keep the sultan's good will and not offend the Moors by thrusting upon them the customs of civilized Europe.

An extraordinary case of superstition which recalls the days of Salem witchcraft, is reported from the Alpine village of Noirmont in the Canton of Berne, Switzerland. The peasants there accused an old woman who was living alone of possessing the evil eye, and of making their cattle ill. They blamed her also for various other local misfortunes. In vain the aged woman pleaded her innocence. The peasants chose a "delegate," who was instructed to "cast out the devil" from her. The man, on meeting the aged woman on the roadway, beat her severely. Later he was arrested and sentenced to two months' imprisonment.

Some conception of the world craze for picture postcards may be had from figures which come from Switzerland. In the year 1911 in Switzerland there passed through the postoffices 110,000,000 cards of every kind, though chiefly illustrated. This was an increase of 8,000,000 over the preceding year.

Among the many exhibits of sculpture at the salon of the Society of French Artists is one that possesses especial interest. It is the statue of the Canadian historian, Francois Xavier Garneau, and is the work of Paul Chevre, one of the passengers who was saved from the wreck of the Titanic. The work was completed and sent to the salon the day before Chevre sailed on the ill-fated steamer to attend the inauguration of his bust of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Ottawa.

The enormous picture which the veteran artist, Jean Paul Laurens, exhibits at the same salon is probably the largest ever painted since Veronese's "Wedding Feast of Cana." The government allotted to him an immense shed in the state stone yard which had formerly been used by Bartholdi and his assistants to execute certain pieces of the Statue of Liberty now in New York harbor.

The picture represents the Court of Love held by the Troubadours at Toulouse, May 3, 1324, and is intended for the capital at Toulouse.

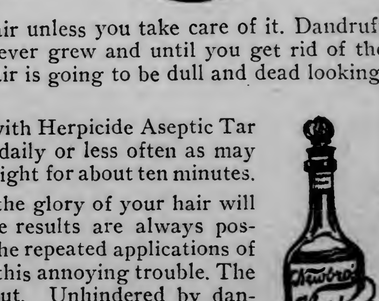
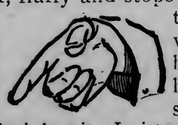
You Can Have Fascinating and Attractive Hair —HERPICIDE—



Let me tell you—You can't have good hair unless you take care of it. Dandruff will ruin the most beautiful head of hair that ever grew and until you get rid of the dandruff and the germ that causes it, your hair is going to be dull and dead looking, thin, brittle and uneven.

Shampoo your hair at least once a month with Herpicide Aseptic Tar Soap and apply NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE daily or less often as may be necessary. Brush the hair regularly every night for about ten minutes.

Keep this up for a reasonable period and the glory of your hair will surprise you. HERPICIDE is wonderful. The results are always positive, always right. Dandruff disappears and the repeated applications of HERPICIDE destroy the germ that causes this annoying trouble. The hair becomes light, fluffy and stops falling out. Unhindered by dandruff it grows naturally and luxuriantly, healthy and strong and develops a beautiful brilliancy and luster. You can't beat NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE for beautifying the hair. The odor is exquisite. Should you by chance be shown a remedy said to be "just as good as Herpicide" don't buy it. Insist upon having the genuine and original dandruff germ destroyer, NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE, or go where you can get it. There is no logic in buying an off brand hair preparation when the real thing costs no more, and in addition gives satisfaction.



Your dealer will sell you a bottle of Herpicide and agree to return your money if it does not do as claimed. It comes in two sizes 50 cents and $1.00 and is sold everywhere. Applications obtained at the better barber shops and hair-dressing parlors.

You can obtain a trial bottle and a pamphlet telling all about the hair by sending Ten Cents in silver or postage to the Herpicide Co., Dept. 82B, Detroit, Michigan.

HEALTH WORTH ONE THOUSAND

Disabled, a Traveling Salesman Had Offered $1,000 For His Health.

When Mayor Gaynor was shot a year ago in a murderous assault by one of the discharged city employes, the three attending physicians valued his health to be worth $25,000; the bill, however, was finally adjusted to $19,000, which is a nice little fortune. Mr. John A. Clark, a traveling salesman, was more modest in the estimate of his health; though he carries a life insurance of $7,000, he estimates his health to be worth at least $1,000, at least that is what he offered to pay the Electro Medical Doctors, if they would effect a cure in his case.

Mr. Clark has now been treating with the doctors, and in speaking about his cure he is very optimistic and says: "For over sixteen years have I been almost a constant sufferer from constipation and its long chain of symptoms. If I did not take some physic every night my bowels would not move at all. As a result of my constipation I had a great deal of headache, my nerves became a wreck and at times I was utterly unfit for business. The worst of it was that the more physic I took the more I had to take and it seemed that there was no cure for me; that I would suffer the rest of my life. I often made the remark that I would give $1,000 for a cure. I tried everything, many doctors had failed to cure me and I tried all kinds of patent medicines. Many things helped for a while, but none were curative.

"Gradually I developed Piles and got ulcerations of my stomach and as if that was not enough, I got rheumatism on top of it, which left me with a bad heart, from what the doctors called 'Endocarditis.' They found albumen in my urine and said that I had Bright's disease. Finally I went to see the Electro Medical Doctors at No. 26 West Superior street. They examined me thoroughly—gave me the best examination I had ever had from any doctor, and without asking me a single question, they described my case better than I could have done it myself. I was at once convinced that I had found a doctor at last who understood my case and when they told me they could cure me I gladly placed my case in their hands and gave them a check for their fee—which was not $1,000. They didn't even ask a hundred.

"They have cured me sound and well. My aches and pains are gone; my bowels move naturally, my nerves are built up and I feel like a new man. I give all praise to the Electro Medical Doctors' system of treatment. The reason I went to the Doctors was that I met a traveling salesman on the train who had been cured of rheumatism and kidney trouble by their treatment.

"When I saw what this wonderful new treatment was doing for me I advised a friend who had gall stones to go to the Doctors for treatment. He had been a sufferer with gall stones for years and several times I thought he would surely die when the terrible pains came on. He had used sweet oil, morphine, opium, calomel, phosphate of soda and everything the doctor prescribed but he kept getting worse and at last the doctors told him that he would have an operation; that he would die if he did not. It took a lot of talking on my part to persuade him to go to the Doctors but finally he went and now he is well and he says that the biggest favor I ever did him was when I made him go to the Electro Medical Doctors for treatment.

"I am traveling now most of the time and have no permanent address in Duluth, but I will gladly answer any inquiry to my case if he will send my letters in care of the Electro Medical Doctors, No. 26 West Superior street, Duluth. I want to state further, that I would not take $5,000 for my health now."

BANK ROBBER ADMITS GUILT

Confesses to Trying to Rob Shevlin Bank and Is Sentenced.

Bemidji, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unsuccessful in an attempt to burglarize the State bank at Shevlin, between here and Bagley on the Great Northern last Friday and arrested shortly afterward in Bagley, where in jail he is said to have confessed to E. G. Weare, special agent of the Interstate Bankers' Protective association, Peter Gallant was brought before Judge C. W. Stanton in this city yesterday, where he entered a plea of guilty. He was sentenced to serve an indeterminate term at Stillwater. Gallant said he entered the Shevlin bank about 10:30 last Friday night, but that he found the job of getting to the cash more difficult than he anticipated and went away with only a few bank drafts and a bank directory as a reward for his efforts.

MANISTIQUE, MICH., CHILD KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

Manistique, Mich., May 25.—A hail storm here Thursday afternoon lasted only about five minutes, but was one of the worst ever known in the region. The largest stones were from 1¼ to 1¾ inches in diameter. Over 300 windows were broken. The 10-month-old daughter of John Lasach was killed instantly by lightning, which passed down the chimney to the stove.

Nearly Smothered

Chandler, N. C.—Mrs. Augusta Lomax, of this place, writes: "I had smothering spells every day, so bad that I expected death at any time. I could not sit up in bed. I suffered from womanly troubles. My nerves were unstrung. I had almost given up all hope of ever being better. I tried Cardui, and it did me more good than anything I had ever taken. I am better now than I ever expected to be." Thousands of ladies have written similar letters, telling of the merits of Cardui. It relieved their headache, backache and misery, just as it will relieve yours, if you will let it. Try.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

WILL BUILD FINE ROADS

Carlton County Will Also Greatly Benefit By Elwell Law Decision.

Mass Meeting to Be Held at Carlton to Plan for Road Work.

Moose Lake, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Since the supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the Elwell law C. F. Mahnke, secretary of the Carlton County Development association, has had under consideration the calling of a meeting of the association to take up the matter of having the roads built that were laid out and designated last fall. President T. M. Ferguson has been interviewed and the meeting will probably be held in Carlton on June 1.

The past few days letters have been received from every part of the county, which is an indication that the people are now interested in the matter of good roads and are willing to take immediate action.

Fine Roads Laid Out.

Carlton county has laid out the best system of roads of any county in the state and when they are built no farmer can get farther than three miles away from one of these Elwell roads. He will have access to every town in the county and will be in a position to market his produce when he wants to.

An enthusiastic meeting is looked for and it is believed every village and township in the county will have its delegates there. The association will probably recommend that the county be bonded for enough money to build all the roads laid out, which equal about 200 miles.

The Carlton Commercal club has extended an invitation to the association for the meeting.

EIGHTH VICTIM OF MINE HORROR DIES

Vincent Zambrovitz, One of Men Taken From Norrie Mine, Expires.

Ironwood, Mich., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Death has claimed another victim of the Norrie mine cavein of May 13, Vincent Zambrovitz, one of the six miners rescued, having died at the Oliver hospital Wednesday night. This makes eight deaths resulting from the cavein in a shaft of the property.

The funeral of the last victim was held this morning and was largely attended.

Last Monday Zambrovitz had his right arm amputated with hopes of saving his life.

Hero Was Injured.

When the cavein occurred Zambrovitz grasped the compressed air pipe and one of the heavy timbers wedged against his hand in such a manner that he was unable to release it and the five men with him expended every effort to release him from his distressing position, but without avail. It required more than three hours work by the rescuing party to remove the obstructions that pinned him before he could be released. His hand and fingers were frightfully crushed, yet the hospital physicians at first had hopes of saving his hand. He was delirious most of the time and after his arm was amputated gradually sank until he died Wednesday night. He was about 40 years of age and leaves a wife and seven children, the oldest being about 15 years of age.

ADMITS HOOSIER MURDER.

Ralph Broom, Arrested in North Dakota, Said to Have Confessed.

Rugby, N. D., May 25.—Ralph Broom, arrested here for the Indiana authorities, is alleged to have confessed to the murder of Wade Robinson of Landesville, Ind., and to have also implicated W. O. Allison, whom he says did the actual killing. Robinson was killed, according to the confession, by Broom and Allison, who entered his store as masked robbers. There was another man in the store at the time, according to Broom, but Robinson engaged in a hand-to-hand fight with one of the robbers, meeting his death. The other man was not molested.

FEES STATE PROPERTY,

Rules Attorney General on State Medical Examinations.

St. Paul, Minn., May 25.—The state board of medical examiners has no right to charge a physician $50 for license to practice in Minnesota, if he holds license in another state and is not given an examination here. Furthermore, where such examination is given, the full $50 is the property of the state and should be paid into the state treasury. The board of medical examiners has no claim on the money whatsoever.

This is the opinion of Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith, who sent Andrew Fritz, public examiner, in connection with the investigation of the affairs of the medical board. Mr. Smith gave the same opinion in 1910, and adheres to it now. He adds that the fees paid the board for licensing midwives also belong to the state and not to the board.

LID IN BOTH TOWNS.

Both Houghton and Hancock to Be Dry on Sundays.

Houghton, Mich., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Complaint of Hancock saloon men that local thirst parlors have not been closed Sundays since May resulted in Prosecuting Atorney W. J. Macdonald giving out a statement that hereafter all saloons in the Portage lake district must be closed all day Sundays.

"Saloonkeepers who are not closed may be arrested like any common offender," stated the prosecutor. "An officer may taken them to jail without the preliminary red tape of swearing out a warrant."

The prosecutor's action has been accelerated more or less by the complaint of Hancock saloonkeepers, who say they are being unfairly dealt with when they are compelled to keep the lid on while Houghton liquor men enjoy almost unrestricted liberties.

DENIES HE IS DEAD.

Arthur Stringer, Author, Says Another of Same Name Was Killed.

Chatham, Ont., May 25.—Great alarm was caused here this week by a story to the effect that Arthur J. Stringer, the Canadian author, with his wife and child, had been killed in an explosion from a fire in an oil stove at their summer cottage. As Mr. and Mrs. Stringer reside at Cedar Springs, Kent county, near here, where they have a fruit farm, there was much speculation locally as to how they happened to be at Niagara Falls.

That the report was quite baseless was shown when Mrs. George Stephens, an aunt of Mrs. Stringer, who resides here, stated that she had been conversing with the Stringers by telephone to Cedar Springs. They stated definitely to her that nothing whatever had occurred. They were, in fact, absolutely at a loss to account for the item.

Not Anxious to Be Thought Dead.

The Chatham Planet later located Arthur Stringer by telephone at his home in Cedar Springs, Kent county, and inquired about the story that he had been killed by the explosion of an oil stove. Mr. Stringer was in his garden tearing up weeds and incidentally trying to unearth a few new ideas for a story, when his telephone rang. He said he was not dead, and as he has hitherto held reputation of sticking pretty closely to the truth, his statement was accepted without question.

"I would go any place to get a story," he said, "but I have no intention of following in Dante's footsteps just at this stage. If you had seen the big breakfast I ate this morning you would come to the conclusion that I was very much alive. My wife thinks that for a corpse, I have a pretty fair appetite. You may quite safely represent me as quoting Mark Twain in stating that the report is very much exaggerated. The oil stove hasn't exploded yet, and it was on the job doing excellent work before breakfast this morning. I have no idea where such a story could originate, although I have since been told that some Arthur Stringer in Michigan met with some such accident. If he did, he has my sympathy. I am sorry that the report got out on account of the feelings of my relatives, who seem to have taken the matter seriously. They would evidently think quite a lot of me if I were gone. I am getting advertising through it, but unfortunately I do not crave a reputation as a dead writer."

OFF WITH THE COAT.

Let Man Be Comfortable and Preserve His Temper.

There is sound sense in the suggestion of summer dress reform for men. The recognition of the coatless shirt as a suitable garment for luncheon, dinner or public places is bound to come. The woolen coat is an abomination and is the chief affliction of the summer man. Swathed in its folds man suffers and swelters. He is the pitiable victim of foolish custom. Discomfort makes him irritable, quarrelsome, and unfit for companionship.

A neat, clean negligee shirt like the SUMMIT TOWN AND COUNTRY SHIRT is comfortable and attractive. With light trousers and belt the man in the coatless shirt is completely and correctly clothed. He is more becomingly dressed than a man in a coat. The general adoption of the soft shirt and its admission to restaurants and public places will contribute to the health of all men. Clothing that increases the effect of heat is unwholesome. Comfort induces the serene mind and the serene mind is the condition of efficiency.

Health, comfort and taste unite to support man's dress reform movement. Let us throw down the bars—OFF with the woolen coat and ON with the coatless shirt.

QUICK CURES

Have you been taking medicine for months and years because you have dealt with physicians who failed to effect a cure on account of treating you for symptoms instead of making an exhaustive diagnosis and combating the main malady?

ROOSEVELT ENJOYS IT

Laughs and Chaffs With the Crowds in New Jersey Campaign.

Answers Taft Charge About Taking Votes From the Negroes.

Camden, N. J., May 25.—"We are going to beat the politicians right out of New Jersey next Tuesday," said Col. Roosevelt at the close of his second day's campaign in this state. "When we got through with them in Pennsylvania there wasn't enough left of them to put into a coal scuttle. It will be about the same thing here."

Trenton heard his final speech of the day. The crowds which turned out to hear the colonel were large and enthusiastic. In some places the combined efforts of policemen and firemen were of no avail in keeping them back. The people swarmed about him, cheering, and struggling to get close enough to shake hands with him. At times the colonel was obliged to pitch in with both arms to fight his way out.

Col. Roosevelt did not mention the name of President Taft during the day's trip. In Camden, where he spoke at night, he replied to a statement which Mr. Taft was reported to have made.

Attacks Negro Vote Claim.

"Mr. Taft says that if my proposal for a referendum on judicial decisions were adopted," said the colonel, "there would be nothing to prevent a legislature from repealing the thirteenth, fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Constitution and disfranchising the negroes. It is impossible to treat such statements as either sincere or serious. It is sheer nonsense. You might as well speak of recalling the vote by which the thirteen original states adopted the Constitution.

"Suppose that the income tax amendment to the Constitution is adopted. Does Mr. Taft think that two or three states would recall that amendment after it had become a part of the Constitution? It is difficult to reply seriously to such nonsense."

Laughed and Chaffed.

In his other speeches Col. Roosevelt mixed politics with various other things, some of which bore no relation to the issues of the campaign. He was in a rollicking mood, and laughed and chaffed with his audiences. He told stories of his experiences in the "cow country" and during the Spanish war.

He gave advice to parents as to the proper way to bring up children and urged the people to practice the "square deal."

It was a blistering day, but Col. Roosevelt said he did not mind the heat, and was having a good time.

POLICE HAVE TO QUIET WOMAN POLITICIANS.

Chicago, May 25.—A policeman was called to restore order at a meeting of the county central committee of the woman's party of Illinois yesterday when "regular" and "insurgent" members became engaged in a wrangle over the alleged "arbitrary tactics" of Mrs. Myra Strawn Hartshorn, president of the committee.

After Mrs. Hartshorn had made a futile effort to calm the women, she called for police assistance and Policeman John Clark went to her rescue.

Trouble between the two factions had been brewing for several weeks. Mrs. Hartshorn and Mrs. Charlotte Rhodus, secretary of the central committee, have headed the opposing factions. About a week ago the Rhodus faction incorporated themselves under the laws of Illinois as the Women's Party of Cook County, Illinois. Immediately Mrs. Hartshorn and her followers prepared to oust the recalcitrant forces by the writing of a new set of by-laws. These by-laws, providing that no persons who belonged to the new party could hold membership in the old organization, came up for passage yesterday, and the fight was on.

TAFT PARDONS MAN NOT PRESENT AT TRIAL.

Washington, May 25.—President Taft has pardoned Austin McKinney, convicted at Greenville, S. C., in 1901 of selling liquor without a license. It was a unique case, in that the defendant was not present at his trial; was wholly unaware of the proceedings, and did not even hear of his conviction until eleven years afterward, when he surrendered. His first trial in 1900 resulted in a disagreement. Remarks by the judge gave him the impression that the case was dismissed. He departed and was re-tried in his absence. The judge handed down a sealed sentence of three months in jail.

WALL PAPER MEN ARE NOT GUILTY

Jury Acquits Them of Trust Charge in Trial at Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 25.—A verdict of not guilty was returned last night in the federal court for the eight wall paper manufacturers and jobbers who were tried for alleged violation of the Sherman law in conspiring in restraint of trade in the conduct of their business. The jury was out about four hours and took twenty-nine ballots before reaching a verdict.

The defendants were J. B. Pearce of the J. B. Pearce Wall Paper company, Cleveland; Winfield A. Hupp uch, Standard Wall Paper company, Hudson Falls, N. Y.; Robert E. Hobbs of Hobbs, Benton & Halth, Hoboken, N. J.; John McCoy, York Card & Paper Co., York, Pa.; George Tait, Campbell Wall Paper company, Glenns Falls, N. Y.; C. C. Aler, Aler Wall Paper company, Columbus, Ohio; Norton Newcomb, Newcomb Brothers Wall Paper company, St. Louis, and Charles E. Maxwell, S. A. Maxwell Wall Paper company, Chicago.

TAFT SAYS HE WILL WIN OUT

Claims He Has Enough Delegates to Insure His Nomination.

Jersey City, N. J., May 25.—"I have enough delegates to re-nominate me at the Chicago convention."

That was President Taft's declaration to a score or more of Republicans who met him at the luncheon given in his honor by State Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey at Somerville.

The president's second campaigning day through New Jersey was one of the hardest he has ever put in. For more than five hours he honored four dusty New Jersey roads, talked to thousands of persons, and kept up his attacks on Colonel Roosevelt. Although he started out in the morning with but little of the fighting spirit he showed in Ohio, he warmed up as the day grew older and before he made his last speech here at night he was in his old stride and was talking about Mr. Roosevelt in every speech.

DEWEY FLEET GUNBOAT OUT OF COMMISSION.

Vallejo, Cal., May 25.—The United States gunboat Yorktown, one of the vessels of Dewey's fleet which captured Manila, was placed out of commission at the Mare Island navy yard here yesterday. The vessel probably will be sold to one of the Central American republics, although it is reported that Mexico has made a provisional offer of purchase.

MAX BLANCK'S CAR RUNS OVER CHILDREN.

New York, May. 25.—In separate accidents a girl was probably fatally injured and a youth was badly hurt yesterday by an automobile belonging to Max Blanck, one of the proprietors of the Triangle Shirt Waist factory, which burned last year with a loss of about 140 lives. The boy was run over while Mr. Blanck was on his way to business. In the same car, later, Mrs. Blanck was out in the park when Jessie Levy, aged 6, sprang in front of the machine to recover a ball and was run over. It is said the girl will die.

CHINESE TURN BUDDHIST TEMPLES INTO SCHOOLS.

Seattle, Wash. May 25.—Rev. Herman F. Voss United Evangelical missionary, who has just arrived from Kunan province, China, says the new republican government is seizing the Buddhist temples and turning them into schools. The altars and idols are sold or destroyed. Efforts of the Buddhist priests to incite the population to rebellion have failed, Mr. Voss says.

"SOCIAL AFFAIRS" OF A COLORADO TOWN.

Indianapolis News: R. G. Knox, former pastor of Troub Memorial church, now has a charge in a town in Colorado. Though they have been in Colorado only a month Mrs. Knox has already adopted the personal pronoun in speaking of the town. She also seems to possess originality of expression. In writing to a friend here she said:

"We are the county seat and an up to date town in every respect. Since writing you last we have had one murder, one suicide, one death by a gun going off that wasn't loaded and quite a number of other social affairs."

DEALERS REPORT GOOD DEMAND FOR FARM LANDS

Many Actual Settlers Buy Acreage in Vicinity of Duluth.

Some Activity in City Property Is Reflected in Transfers.

There is little change in the realty situation, slightly better tone to the inquiry for farm lands and mortgage loans is noticeable and real estate dealers report that there has been some activity both in city property and acreage during the past week.

The land department of the Duluth & Iron Range railroad reports a splendid business during the past few days. Six St. Louis county sales were made, divided between Meadowlands and Cook. Eight sales of lands were made in Red Lake county in the western part of the state, and there were several other scattering forty-acre sales throughout this part of the state. The buyers in nine cases out of ten are actual settlers.

A frontage of fifty feet on Central avenue, west side near Bristol street, changed hands this week at a price said to be in the neighborhood of $6,500. The property is unoccupied except for a small wooden building of little value, and was purchased by Joseph Oreckovsky from Charles O. Baldwin. The deal was made through the office of the Harris Realty company.

The same company this week reported the sale of a residence property on the lower side of Third street between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenue west from James Moriarity to David W. Ridgewell for $3,500.

C. Sundby & Co. report the sale of a forty-acre farm near Hermantown to Frank Haines for $2,500; also a small house at the corner of Eleventh street and Thirteenth avenue east to Ludvig Nagel. Earnest money has also been received on a house at the west end and inquiry for property of all kinds is reported to be good.

* * *

A good deal in acreage is revealed by the real estate transfers of the week in the purchase by Winnifred Harding from Robert S. Sinclair of all of section 16,51-20, for a consideration of $12,800. The land lies about five miles southwest of Floodwood.

Swanstrom Bros. of the west end are finding active inquiry for the lots which they have for sale on the northwest end of Pike lake, where it is expected that a number of new summer homes will be erected this season. A number of these lots have been sold within the past week and only a few more are on the market.

* * *

The northwest corner of Twenty-sixth avenue east and First street has been sold by Ethel Sorenson to M. M. Gaser for $12,000. The property fronts fifty feet on First street. The sale was recorded in the real estate transfers of the week.

* * *

A property on the lower side of Fifth street between Ninth and Tenth avenue east has been disposed of by J. E. Cooley to H. J. Grannis. The frontage is seventy-five feet and the consideration about $12,000.

* * *

George M. Tallant has purchased from Ella M. Cooley, 100 feet on the lower side of Second street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues east. The consideration was $4,700.

A twenty-five foot frontage on the upper side of Second street, between Twenty-second and Twenty-third avenues west has been sold by Swan Carlson to Carl B. Abrahamson for $2,750.

* * *

J. A. Scott has sold seventy-five feet on the upper side of Main street, between Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth aveneus west to John W. Juntila for $2,000.

* * *

For a consideration of $1,050 James G. Leyes has sold to Andrew A. Wanvick a twenty-five foot lot on the upper side of Eighth street, between Ninth and Tenth avenues east.

* * *

John C. Merrick has purchased from George W. Norton for $800, a frontage of sixty-seven feet on the west side of Fifty-seventh avenue west, between Olney and Tacony street.

The southeast corner of Piedmont avenue and Sixth street sold for $700 by Ellen Van to Carl Nelson this week.

* * *

George L. Raymond this week sold to Gust A. Nelson for $600 a frontage of fifty feet on the lower side of Sixth street, between Thirty-ninth and Fortieth avenues west.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

Revoking the licenses of saloons where robberies are reported would be one way of helping to improve conditions in Duluth, say the police.

The city has several joints where things of that kind seem to be tolerated. Putting them out of business by refusing them licenses would not only eliminate those particular places but an example of two of that kind would have a decidedly salutary effect upon others who might have a tendency in that direction.

The big majority of the saloonkeepers of the city do not want anything of that kind to happen in their places. But there are a few who seem to tolerate it, if they do not actually encourage it. They let men of known bad reputation hang about their places and when they see them becoming chummy with men who come in with rolls of money they cannot help but know that those men are looking for something more than drinks that the others may buy. The drinks are only a means to an end. They want the intended victim to become stupified, when their work becomes easy. And if the booze route does not get them soon enough, it is not an unheard of thing for their drinks to be doped. Many bartenders and saloonkeepers have called the attention of the police to cases of this kind before it has been too late, but if more of them were reported there would not be so many robberies reported.

Last night brought a most brazen case of this kind to the notice of the police. The victim not only claimed that he had been beaten and robbed in the place, but that Ole Olssen, the proprietor, had helped do the job. A number of other robberies of a similar nature have been reported of the same saloon, which is located on the east side of St. Croix avenue near the railroad tracks.

Chief Troyer said this morning that he intends to recommend to the council Monday night that Olssen's license be revoked. He stated that he gave Olssen fair warning at the time the last strong-arm affair was reported from his saloon that he would take such action upon a repetition. Olssen apparently paid no attention to the matter and there seems to be a general sentiment that the revocation of his license would be a good thing.

Olssen was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of having assaulted Edward Johnson. He pleaded not guilty and his trial was set for next Monday afternoon.

Johnson, a railroad laborer, reported to the police that he had been beaten and robbed of $26 in Olssen's saloon.

He claims that the attack on him was led by the proprietor himself, who knocked him down while other men in the barroom closed the front and rear doors, after which all of them helped the saloonkeeper pound him.

Johnson said that he went to the saloon last night to pay Olssen $2.50 which he owed him. He told the bartender that he wanted to settle up, but was informed that he had better wait until Olssen came in. Johnson declares that as soon as Olssen caught sight of him he made a dash for him, shouting that he would kill him.

After he had been mauled a while he said he heard the bartender cry out, "Don't kill him, you devils." After that he said he was jerked to his feet and his money taken from him by a man wearing a stiff hat. He asserts that he was then thrown out of the front door. When he did not see a policeman in the vicinity he made his way to headquarters.

Edward L. Wood, a chauffeur, was arrested this morning on a warrant sworn out by Chief Troyer, charging him with driving an automobile on London road, east of Fortieth avenue east, at a faster rate than fifteen miles an hour. He pleaded not guilty and will be tried next Wednesday morning. The chief said that residents of the vicinity had complained to him of the speed at which the car was being driven.

Ray J. Metcalf, 30 years of age, a salesman, was arrested yesterday afternoon on a charge of passing a worthless check for $20 in the saloon of Coughlin & Hartlage at 421 West Superior street. He asked for an examination when arraigned in police court this morning and his hearing was set for next Wednesday afternoon. The police say that he passed the $20 check on Hartlage and then put over another for $30 on Coughlin. Both were drawn on the First National Bank of Fergus Falls.

Charles Lindberg didn't wait to be asked if he had ever been arrested before when he was arraigned in police court this morning to answer a charge of having become voluntarily intoxicated. As soon as he confessed his guilt he said that he had been in only once before, several months ago. He asserted that he had a job and wanted his liberty so that he would not lose it. The court suspended sentence.

It was reported at headquarters this morning that Sam Hadley, colored, who is being sought by his brother, had worked in a barber shop at Stillwater until a year or two ago. From there la is claimed that he went West. Sam's brother says that he is anxious to meet him, as he has not seen him since they were separated at the time of the Civil war.

Edith Gieser, arrested on a charge of shoplifting, was not prosecuted. When it was learned that the people from whom she had stolen would not swear out a complaint against her, she was given her liberty.

REPUBLICANS TELL CLAIMS

McKinley Says Taft Has 566 —Dixon Says Teddy Has 629.

Lines Between Wilson and Clark Appear to Be Tightening.

Washington, May 25.—With about sixty delegates remaining to be selected, both the Taft and Roosevelt managers today gave out detailed figures intended to prove their respective claims to control of the Chicago convention.

Representative McKinley claimed for President Taft 566 instructed and pledged delegates, and conceded 366 to Col. Roosevelt. In neither total did he include the results of the Ohio primaries.

Senator Dixon claimed for Col. Roosevelt 493 instructed, 38 pledged and 52 "still to be elected" in Arizona, South Dakota, New Jersey and Texas. Adding the La Follette and Cummins delegates, 46, he claimed a total of 629 for Col. Roosevelt.

Democratic Claims.

The estimates of strength made today by the managers of the various Democratic presidential candidates indicate a tightening of the lines in the race. Up to the present time, approximately 775 delegates to the Baltimore convention have been elected, or slightly more than two-thirds of the total of 1,094. The maximum strength claimed by the respective headquarters today was as follows:

Clark, instructed, 323; pledged, 68; total, 391.

Wilson, instructed and pledged, 275; certain as second choice, 30; total, 305.

Underwood, instructed, 100.

At Harmon headquarters it was stated an estimate of strength would be prepared next week.

SOME WHEAT REMAINING

Last of Canadian Grain Will Not Be Moved Before June 10.

Tonnage in Good Demand—Coal Not Moving Freely Yet.

The last of the Canadian bonded wheat will be out of the local port by June 10.

There is at present about 3,000,000 bushels of Canadian grain in storage at the local elevators. Eight medium sized ships could take caro of this if they were to be had.

Yesterday grain brokers canvassed the market at 1⅞ cents but were unable to line up any tonnage at this figure. The rate is considered high, but will likely go slightly higher before the rest of the grain is taken away.

The Buffalo elevators have been more than crowded for the past month and the congestion has interfered somewhat with the rapid movement of boats. This is one of the reasons grain cargoes do not look good to vessel companies, so much time being lost in unloading.

Some Soft Coal Moving.

Soft coal is moving more freely, but conditions might be much better. No hard coal has been received as yet. Most vessel companies are doing a 50 per cent business. This means that they carry ore down and come back light. It is thought that coal will not be moving freely until about July 1. The season for coal will be shorter this year by about six weeks. There are, however, more boats engaged in the trade and when it does begin, it will come very quickly.

Wild ore carriers are in demand. Many of the boats are so tied up with ore contracts that they will have to move quickly to keep their agreements.

Promotions.

Promotions that have affected men all the way down the line in both the forward and aft ends of several ships of the Pittsburg Steamship company's fleet, have been made since the opening of navigation. Altogether twenty-seven men have been changed from the lineup as announced at the opening of navigation. They are as follows:

Capt. John Nahrstedt, from the Morse to the Gary.

Capt. W. P. McElroy, from the Siemens to the Morse.

Capt. John Burns, from the Gary to the Siemens.

Capt. T. F. Zealand, from the Cort to the Hoyt.

Capt. Allen Collins, from the Saxon to the Cort.

Capt. M. E. Glenn, from the Wawatam to the Saxon.

Capt. H. J. Clegg, from mate of Bunsen to master of Mather.

Fireman Dies.

Tony Everson of Ishpeming, one of the firemen injured in the explosion of the boiler on the James E. Davidson Monday night, died at a Marquette hospital last evening after three days of terrible suffering.

Everson and Clarence Berg of Superior, the coal passer who died Tuesday night, were the most seriously injured. Berg's condition was so serious that he had to be carried from the ship. Everson was just as badly injured, but he made light of the affair and refused to be carried. During the three days at the hospital he bore up so well that it was believed he would recover, but his grit could not save him. He was only a youth, hardly more than 20 years of age.

There are now five survivors of the accident at the Marquette hospital, all of whom are doing well. It is believed that all of these will recover, as the condition of none of them is very serious. Berg and Everson were the most badly injured. The five men in the hospital now are: Axel Johnson, Moose Lake, Minn.; Edward Flemming, Rochester, N. Y.; Thomas Burns, Edward Mothander, Superior; Will Finney, Wexford, Mich.

Huge New Dock.

The immense ore dock built by the Pennsylvania railroad at Cleveland, Ohio, at a cost of $6,000,000 is now in service. The dock, which is said to be the largest on the lakes, is 1,000 feet long and built of solid concrete. It has been in use in the course of construction for several years. A bridge, 612 feet long, with an ore-storing capacity of 1,500,000 tons, extends at the side of the dock to a rear wall 890 feet long. The docks and yards, covering sixty acres of lake front, besides being capable of holding 1,500,000 tons of ore, have room for 700 railroad cars at one time. The four clamshells, each capable of lifting seventeen tons at a grab, and of making a grab every minute, can empty a boat of from 8,000 to 12,000 tons in three hours. The extra time is consumed in taking out the small amount of ore which the clamshells cannot reach.

KANSAS IS PARTLY DRY

Unsatisfactory Weather Conditions Cause Wheat to Go Higher.

Flaxseed Takes a Tremendous Jump—Better Grades Are Scarce.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 25.—Although rains have fallen in many parts of the Southwest where they were badly needed during the last twenty-four hours, there were still complaints from large regions, notably Northern Kansas, of hot, dry weather, and grain brokers feared that there might be considerable damage to the hard winter wheat crop. The result was that there was a general, though not a sensational, bulge in the price of wheat on the leading markets of America today.

Duluth July wheat closed ¼c to ¼c higher at $1.14¾@1.14¾ asked. Minneapolis and Chicago were also slightly higher. Duluth cash wheat closed 1c over July. Durum, rye and barley closed unchanged and oats ⅛c lower.

Primary wheat receipts of America today showed a large falling off both from those of a week ago and of a year ago.

There was no wheat market news from Liverpool, that market being closed. Antwerp wheat was unchanged and Budapest ⅞c higher. Russian crop weather reports continued to be unfavorable.

Flax Goes Skyward.

Duluth May and July flaxseed both had big bulges today. May closed 4 cents higher and July 2¼c up. The rise seems to have been due largely to the scarcity of the good grades of flax seed. The options can be satisfied only with No. 1 flax seed unless the holders see fit to take something inferior, and the holders have not thus far shown any disposition to do this. The margin between Duluth and Winnipeg flax seed is something that excites a great deal of wondering comment. Winnipeg May flax seed closed today at $1.99, being fairly strong, but made no such bulge as was made at Duluth. This leaves a margin of 35 cents between Duluth May No. 1 American and Winnipeg No. 1 Northwestern, which is really a better seed. Under normal market conditions the Winnipeg seed would pour over the 25 cent tariff wall and rush upon the Duluth market, but somehow it does not. The Buenos Ayres market was closed today on account of a holiday. The London market was almost as bullish as that of Duluth, May and June seed closing 3½c higher at $2.33⅜.

MARKET GOSSIP

The Duluth Board of Trade today had an uncommonly large number of guests. Among these were Bert Ball of Chicago, secretary of the crop improvement committee of the American Grain Exchanges, and thirteen grain men of Minneapolis, some representing the line elevator interests, and the rest Grain and Commission Merchants' Association of Minneapolis. All were guests not only of the board of trade, but of the Grain Commission Merchants' Association of Duluth. The latter body acted as host to the visitors at a dinner which all attended in the early part of the afternoon at the Commercial club. Mr. Ball addressed this gathering, as well as the general gathering that was held under the Commercial club's own auspices.

The Minneapolis visitors included the following: C. A. Magnusson, president of the Northwest Elevator company; C. M. Case of the George C. Bagley Elevator company; L. D. Marshall of the National Elevator company; C. A. Brown of the St. Anthony and Dakota Elevator company; F. L. Carey of Hallet & Co.; F. R. Durrant of the Grain Bulletin; W. O. There has been a brisk demand for paint of late, and manufacturers are doing an active business. This means a good demand for linseed oil, and the market shows it. Strictly pure linseed oil in carload lots at Minneapolis is quoted at 71c a gallon. In Chicago, the market is very firm at 72 cents for like quantities. Crushers are not at all disposed to lower the oil prices, and though some buyers are holding off in the hope that the oil will be cheaper, there does not seem to be much hope of this in view of the high price of flaxseed and the scarcity of flaxseed of good quality.

The linseed cake market is quiet. Prices have been ruling on a basis of $33 per ton f. o. b. Chicago.

Chicago, May 25.—Continued drouth in Western Kansas permitted the bulls today to bid up wheat. The weather map showed good rains in the southern and eastern part of the state, and also in Missouri, but not in the section necessary to make sure a bumper yield. There were also reports from Russia telling of unfavorable weather and Hessian fly damage. The opening varied from ⅛c off to ⅜c advance. July started at $1.10¼@1.10¾, a gain of ⅛@¼c, and rose to $1.10⅞.

Subsequently reports of rain in Northwest Kansas and of perfect conditions in Oklahoma and Texas brought about a reaction. The close, however, was firm with July at $1.10⅜, a rise of ⅜c net.

Although corn displayed sympathy with the strength of wheat, prices later receded owing to a break in the quotations for hay. Pastures were reported in excellent condition. July opened a shade off to ⅛c up at 76⅜@76½c to 76⅝c, touched 76⅝@76¾c, and fell back to 76¾c.

The later backset in wheat sent the corn market still lower. Closing prices were firm, though at 76¾c for July, a loss of ⅜c net.

The fact that pit offerings were light put backbone in oats. Cash houses bought July. That month started unchanged to ¼c higher at 50¼@50½c and ascended to 50¾c.

Provisions worked lower on account of selling on the part of stockyards speculators. Weakness in the price of live hogs furnished the reason. Initial sales ranged from 5c decline to 2½c advance, with September delivery $18.35 for pork, $10.72½@10.75 for lard and 10.27½ for ribs.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Some Slight Activity in Issues of Minor Importance.

Gain of Point By Chesapeake & Ohio and Canadian Pacific.

New York, May 25.—The only changes of note at the opening of today's stock market were an advance of 1¼ points in People's Gas and 1 point in Seaboard Air Line preferred. The active issues were extremely dull.

Apart from a further rise of 3¾ points in People's Gas, based on rumors of an increased dividend, dealings in the first half of the session were almost featureless. Sears-Roebuck was down 2¾.

The market closed steady. The final hour was duller than the first with no change in general conditions except for some slight activity in issues of minor importance. Chesapeake & Ohio and Canadian Pacific were the only railroad stocks to gain a point.

LORIMER REFUSES TO ANSWER QUERIES AS TO RESIGNATION

"Feeling Better Today" Is Senator's Only Reply to All Questions.

Appears at Bank and Is Besieged With Inquiries as to Plans.

Friends Repeat Belief That He Will Not Give Up Seat.

Chicago, May 27.—United States Senator William Lorimer today appeared at the bank of which he is president and was closely questioned concerning the visit of Vice President Sherman to Chicago last Saturday. The junior senator from Illinois made no objection to any of the questions asked him, nor did he answer any of them.

"Senator, did the vice president have a talk with you Saturday about the advisability of you resigning your seat in the senate?" he was asked.

"I am feeling a trifle better today," replied the senator.

"Have you seen the reported poll of the senate?" persisted the interviewer.

"Feeling Some Better."

"I can safely say I am feeling some better today."

"Have you decided whether you will resign your seat?"

"It is a remarkably pleasant day, and I feel better."

"Are you going to resign?" was the next pointed question.

"I am decidedly improved and feel better now."

Personal and political friends of Senator Lorimer repeated today their belief that he will not resign under any circumstances.

NEW VERSION BY BOLAND

Coal Operator Testifies Again in the Archbald Inquiry.

Tells of Court Order Issued Verbally That Differed From That on Record.

Washington, May 27.—William H. Boland, the Scranton, Pa., coal operator who is responsible for some of the charges filed against Judge Robert W. Archbald of the commerce court, was recalled by the house judiciary committee today for cross examination.

Mr. Boland stated he first formed a suspicion that "the judge was using his office for the railroads" when Judge Archbald ordered that he proceed in his lawsuit with John W. Peale of Scranton "forthwith."

Attorney Worthington, representing Judge Archbald, produced the court's order. It directed the plaintiff to take testimony for thirty days, and gave Boland unlimited time to prepare his case. Boland replied he knew nothing about the order; that the judge had given him orders through his attorney and in the presence of a witness and no written order was entered.

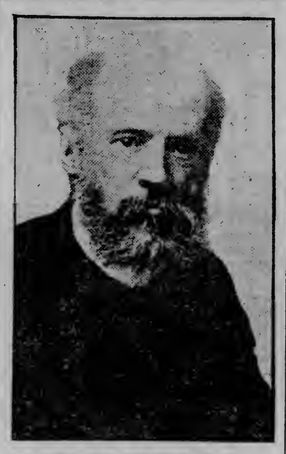
As to $500 Note.

With regard to a $500 note which E. J. Williams took to Boland to be discounted for Judge Archbald, Mr. Worthington wanted to know if Williams had said Boland "might have saved the costs in the Peale case if he had discounted the note."

The witness declared Williams said "it might do him some good" and that "it would help him with the judge" to discount the note.

Boland retracted some of the statements against Judge Archbald which he made to the attorney general. He said he had not refreshed his memory and was unprepared when he made the statement. He admitted it might contain mistakes.

VETERAN EDITOR WILL RETIRE FROM WORK



DR. J. M. BUCKLEY,
For Thirty-two Years Editor of the Christian Advocate of the Methodist Episcopal Church, Withdraws From Active Service.

BUCKLEY TO LAY DOWN PEN

Veteran Editor and Methodist "Bishop-Maker" Retires From Service.

General Conference at Minneapolis Is Drawing to Close.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. J. M. Buckley of New York, known in the Methodist Episcopal church as the "bishop-maker" and for thirty-two years editor of the Christian Advocate, one of the strongest church papers, today withdrew from active service.

The action of Dr. Buckley was not entirely unexpected, as for the last week there has been considerable talk among the delegates as to his re-election.

Dr Buckley first was elected at the conference where Bishop Henry W. Warren, dean of bishops, was consecrated thirty-two years ago, and has been considered one of the strongest men in the church. Dr. G. P. Eckman of New York prominently is mentioned as Dr. Buckley's successor.

The conference today agreed to adjourn sine die at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The resignation of Missionary Bishop W. F. Oldham to take a place on the board of foreign missions also was accepted. A new bishop to take his place may not be elected, the work in India being redistricted.

Buckley May Be Shifted.

Chief among matters to come up is the election of the editors of the strong church papers, of which the principal

London, May 27.—Reports have reached Tien Tsin that the reactionary movement is gaining strength in the vicinity of Wu Chang, where Gen. Li Yuen Heng, vice president of the Chinese republic, has his headquarters. According to a dispatch from Tien Tsin this morning, the Republican officials in Wu Chang are growing very apprehensive and are preparing secretly for flight.

The districts surrounding Hankow are seething with anarchy. Wholesale executions are taking place in this district daily.

NEWSBOYS KICK AND BEAT MAN

Chicago, May 17.—Harry Wallace, aged 21, a delivery wagon driver employed by a morning newspaper, was set upon by a crowd of fifteen striking newsboys and strike sympathizers and severely beaten in front of Stewart park, a playground on the north side, today. Wallace was knocked down and kicked repeatedly. He sustained cuts and bruises on his head, face and body and was given medical treatment at a hospital before being taken home by the police. Wallace was unable to give the names of his assailants and no arrests were made.

CITY BEGINS ITS ANNUAL CLEANING

Rain Interferes With Work on First Day of "Clean-up Week."

School Children Will Be Asked to Do Their Share.

Growth of Garden Movement Has Greatly Improved Conditions.

Early morning rain with showers forecasted for this afternoon and tomorrow marked the opening of clean-up week in Duluth.

The weather is proof in itself of the wisdom of Health Commissioner E. W. Fahey in designating six days as the period for making Duluth a spotless town, rather than following the past custom of naming a single cleaning day.

The authorities are hopeful that at least half of the week will be bright and clear, particularly Saturday. On that day the thousands of children will

BRITISH STRIKE IS ORDERLY

Transport Workers Limit Activities to "Peaceful Picketing."

London, May 27.—Although everything is proceeding with the utmost quietness in the vicinity of the docks, the police took precautions today to insure the removal of meat and provisions from steamers which have been tied up as a result of the strike of the riverside laborers, truckmen and transport workers.

As it was necessary to move large quantities of provisions to replenish the supply, detachments of police reserves were sent to the landing wharves. By the adoption of many ruses the retailers of Covent Garden market and many retail storekeepers secured supplies, some of them conveying the meat and vegetables in cabs from the dock to their shop.

The officials of the Transport Workers' union have not gone beyond the "peaceful picketing" allowed by the law in their endeavors to bring out every man employed in transport work. The men are responding generally to the appeals of their striking comrades to join them, and at Covent Garden vegetable market practically all the unionists, who are, however, in the minority there, have thrown down their tools.

ROOSEVELT AND TAFT BEGIN LAST ROUND OF FIGHT IN NEW JERSEY

STEAMSHIP OWNERSHIP

Bill That Would Create Serious Situation in Transportation.

Abbot Believes Neither Taft Nor Roosevelt Can Be Elected.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The passage by the house of representatives of the bill which prohibits the ownership of steamship lines by railroad companies, when the route of the steamship line under independent ownership would make it a competitor of the railroad, is likely to create a very serious situation in transportation circles. Of course the purpose of the bill was to protect the Panama canal against the exploitation of the transcontinental railroads. But it became evident that no legislation could be applied to the canal which would not logically apply equally to the steamship lines on the Great Lakes and those plying through Long Island Sound and carrying freight and passengers between Boston and New York. Necessarily the Hillsboro, Mo., May 27.—Sheriff Bechler of Jefferson county left for Jefferson City this morning with Joseph Seidl and Mrs. Annie Hunning, convicted respectively of murder and complicity in connection with the killing of Mrs. Hunning's husband. Both were sentenced to life imprisonment in the Jefferson City penitentiary.

BIGELOW MUST PAY $2,100,000 TO THE OLD DOMINION COMPANY.

Washington, May 27.—The supreme court today affirmed the Massachusetts judgment by which Albert S. Bigelow of Boston was directed to pay to the Old Dominion Copper Mining & Smelting company $2,100,000 as secret promoters' profits.

Colonel Starts Day at Morristown and President at Perth Amboy.

Ex-President Answers Charge That He Spent Too Much Money.

Taft Declares He Believes "In His Heart" That He Will Win.

Newark, N. J., May 27.—This was another day of hard riding and fast talking for President Taft and Colonel Roosevelt. Tomorrow New Jersey will instruct her twenty-eight delegates to the national conventions, and the last full day of the primary campaign was utilized by both candidates to its last hour.

Many other signs besides the meteor-like trips of the candidates made it apparent today that the state was at the crisis of a big political battle. The billboards, which stretch for miles along the railroad lines out of New York, flamed with political posters. The newspapers are full of political advertisements and campaign literature has been distributed by the ton.

Colonel Roosevelt started from Oyster Bay early this morning for what may be his last day of campaigning before the national convention, unless he decided to go to South Dakota. It was said that the colonel might visit the latter state if President Taft

TENNESSEEANS SHOOT NEGRO

Riddle With Bullets Prisoner Identified as Woman's Assailant.

Nashville, Tenn., May 27.—Jake Samuels a negro charged with assaulting Mrs. Walter Ramsey, wife of a Robertson county farmer, Saturday night, was taken from officers Sunday morning by a mob and riddled with bullets.

Ramsey left his wife and two small children at home alone Saturday night to go to Orlinda, one mile away for provisions. On the way he met the negro, Samuels. It is surmised the negro went direct to the Ramsey home and attacked Mrs. Ramsey. She was dragged from her bed into the yard. When the negro fled she walked half a mile to seek help.

Samuels, having been arrested and identified as the assailant, was taken from the officers, carried into a field and shot a hundred times.

TWO SAFES CRACKED BY YEGGS IN GARY AND NEW DULUTH

Robbers Secure About $550 in Cash From Two Jobs.

One Safe Carried From Store Into Woods to Be Cracked.

Believed to Be Same Men Who Operated at Cook.

Yeggmen cracked two safes in the western end of the city last night, one at New Duluth and the other at Gary.

From the safe in the saloon of Prettner & Francel at New Duluth they secured approximately $400 in cash, $150 in gold and the balance in silver. From the strong box in the general store of Vincenzo Vigna at Gary they took about $150.

The thieves carried the New Duluth safe out of the saloon into a shed at the rear of the building and lugged the other out into the bushes some distance from the store. Both were badly wrecked, having been blown open with heavy charges of nitroglycerine.

Entrance in both cases was gained through rear doors, which had been battered from their hinges. The yeggs evidently worked during the heavy storm with little fear of discovery.

The jobs last night were the first of the kind which have been pulled off in Duluth for many months. The men left no clews behind them whereby their identity can be established. The police were notified this morning and furnished as complete reports as possible in both instances. An investigation has been started and detectives are now busy working on the cases.

The safe crackings last night

INTERVENTION NOT MEANT

Taft Reassures Gomez on American Attitude Toward Cuba.

Answers Cable Message Protesting Against Interference.

Washington, May 27.—President Taft today replied to President Gomez' telegram of yesterday regarding the attitude of the United States toward Cuba. He declared the American government's activities in the mobilization of war vessels at Key West and dispatching the Prairie with marines to Guantanamo was not in any sense an intervention move. The following is the text of the message:

"I am certainly gratified to learn of your government's energetic measures to put down the disturbance and to know you are confident of being successful.

"As was fully explained to the Cuban charge d'affaires here, this government's motive in sending ships to Key West was merely to be able to act promptly in case it should unfortunately become necessary to protect American life and property by rendering moral support or assistance to the Cuban government. As was made quite clear at the time, these ordinary measures of precaution were entirely

GRAND ARMY MAN IN DARROW CASE

George N. Lockwood to Continue Testimony in Bribery Trial.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 27.—Minor law suits had precedence today over the trial of Clarence S. Darrow, the Chicago lawyer, for alleged jury bribery. The case will be resumed this afternoon.

George N. Lockwood, the Grand Army man who Saturday began his story of the alleged attempt to bribe him as a prospective juror in the McNamara attempt trial, was expected to resume the stand for the completion of his direct examination.

It is not believed the prosecution hopes to connect Mr. Darrow with the Lockwood bribery through Lockwood himself, as it is said to be the intention of the district attorney to present that phase of the case through Bert H. Franklin, who is expected to follow Lockwood on the stand.

Franklin pleaded guilty to bribing Lockwood and was fined $4,000.

ROBERTS ON STAND AGAIN

Steel Corporation Director Admits Data Shown Were Not His.

Bridge Company Auditor Will Be Subpoenaed in Trust Case.

New York, May 27.—Percival Roberts, jr., director of the United States Steel corporation, recalled today in the hearings of the government suit to dissolve the corporation, admitted that he had not personally prepared tables and reports he had previously submitted in evidence comparing the capacity of plants of the American Bridge company and that of its competitors.

Judge Jacob M. Dickinson, attorney for the government, questioned the authenticity of the evidence which tended to show that the American Bridge company has not had a monopoly of the bridge industry as alleged in the government's complaint.

Roberts said his statements were mainly a compilation of reports of selling agents of the American Bridge company, and that he had not seen any of the original data.

Saw Only Finished Tables.

"I never saw the statistics until they were handed to me in finished form," he said, "but they were statistics that were regularly kept and it would have been ridiculous not to have accurately kept the information about our competitors."

"Who gave you these statements?"

"Mr. Ball, assistant auditor of the American Bridge company."

"Subpoena him," Judge Dickinson ordered.

Roberts' statistics showed that in 1904 the American Bridge company's productive capacity was only 38 per cent of that of the whole country and that in 1911 this had fallen to about 21 per cent.

MARINE

ALONG THE DOCK FRONT

Rapid Growth of Package Freight Business to Copper Country.

Heavy Fog Delays Vessels---Lumber Carriers in Great Demand.

The Western Transit company has established a branch office at Houghton, Mich. J. H. McFadzean, formerly manager of the Duluth-Chicago Transportation company, with offices in the local board of trade building, has been placed in charge.

Formerly the business at Houghton was taken care of in a joint office operated by the Western Transit company and the Anchor line. The business of both companies became so large that it was necessary to have the offices separated.

C. O. Bergman was the joint agent at Houghton for some years and it is stated that he will continue as the agent for the Anchor line boats.

The business to and from the Copper Country in the merchandise line has been on the increase for the past five years. It has been growing by leaps and bounds, so fast, in fact, that at times the package freighters have been unable to care for it.

Mr. McFadzean, the new Western Transit company agent at Houghton, is well known in marine circles, at the Head of the Lakes and he takes with him to Houghton the best wishes of all.

Heavy Fog.

A heavy fog hung over the local harbor this morning and boats were moved very slowly and carefully. It was impossible to see more than a very short distance and some of the masters preferred to lose the time rather than attempt to shift.

Advices from down the lakes state that ships are bunched at the different ports today. Many of them lost a great deal of time Friday and Saturday because of the thick weather. Some of the boats are said to have been as much as thirty hours late.

Thirty boats were held up at Sault Ste. Marie until early Saturday morning. The thick weather bunched the boats and they are arriving in groups today at the different unloading places.

Coal shippers are complaining of a lack of labor with which to work the mines and as the call for coal is heavy in the East, it is very probable that the commodity will not be moving up the lakes for some time.

Lumber carriers are in the best demand for years and the hookers are making as many trips as possible. It is some seasons since the little boats were in such demand. The rate is still $2.50 from Lake Superior to Lake Erie ports. The rates is strong and is expected to last out the season.

Capt. Martin Cole, president of the Licensed Tugmen's Protective association, has succeeded in lining up crews for all the tugs of the Great Lakes Towing company. When the agreemen was signed last May for two years, the Chicago men signed but refused to abide by the contract. They were given plenty of time to reconsider and go back to work, but they refused and the crews have now all been filled with members in good standing. The National officers have withdrawn the charter of the Chicago men.

PLAINTIFF MOVES TO DISMISS CASE.

A personal injury action brought in district court against the Section Thirty Mining company by John Helbacka, a miner who is suing for $5,000 for injuries received at the mine on Jan. 24, last, was dismissed by Judge Dancer this morning on motion of the plaintiff. The case had been called for trial and the jury had been drawn. It will probably be tried at the next term of court.

Helbacka claims that while working in the Section Thirty mine near Ely in the capacity of machine operator on the second sub-level, timbers in the drift gave away and precipitated a quantity of rock and ore upon him and a fellow worker. John Lindback, who was killed. The action is brought on the grounds that the company was negligent in not properly timbering the mine.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

William Sareault, 38 years old, was not the recipient of any pretty bouquets when he was arraigned in police court this morning to answer a charge of drunkenness.

Capt. A. G. Fiskett reported that Sareault is an undesirable citizen; that his brother doesn't want him to live with him; that as a father he sets a decidedly poor example for his children, and that as a husband he is a very poor specimen.

"He has been hanging around his brother's boarding house at 414 Lake avenue south, drunk, the last month," Capt. Fiskett stated. "His brother told me this morning that he has been bringing other men to his wife's room. She was arrested last night with a strange man after her husband had been booked up for drunkenness. But no one will prosecute the case against her or the man, so we will have to drop it."

Sareault pleaded guilty to the charge of drunkenness against him. The court imposed a sentence of thirty days straight in the county jail. Stay of execution was ordered until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. If he has left the city by that time he will escape service of his sentence. His wife will probably leave with him.

Sareault claimed that he had been working about the house for his brother, and said that during the navigation season he labors on the docks.

He wanted more time before leaving, pleading lack of money. But the police said that his brother will be willing to furnish the cash necessary to take him out of the city.

Efforts to learn where the three Indians, who were arrested yesterday for drunkenness, bought their liquor were unproductive of results when they were questioned this morning.

"I don't remember where we got it," said the redman who acted as spokesman. "If I told where we got it I might tell a lie. I might make a mistake."

A grip which they had in their possession was found to contain several bottles of beer and a flask of whiskey when it was examined today. As far as could be learned it was not the property of any of the men who had been arrested. The liquor was evidently purchased by others of the party who were in the city last week. They left for the reservation before becoming entangled in the coils of the police department. The trio which landed in jail became so befuddled that they could not find their way to the train. Even if they had been able to locate the depot it is highly improbable that they would have been allowed to board the train.

The three gave their names as George Cajune, Peter Niganash and John Stomp. They pleaded guilty when arraigned in police court this morning but were given suspended sentences upon their promises to return to the reservation without straying in the way of temptation.

Charles Lindberg, who volunteered the information in police court Saturday that he had been arrested before, was a member of the grist this morning.

"I was drunk, I guess, but I couldn't have been very drunk because I could walk straight," he said in extenuation.

Charles got off with a suspended sentence Saturday, but this morning he got $5 and costs or five days in the county jail. He was arrested when he came into headquarters Saturday night to look for lodging.

J. P. Harker telephoned the police station late Saturday afternoon that he had been robbed of about $25 in the saloon at 1103 West Michigan street. Patrolmen Perry and Mooney responded to the call. They searched Harker's clothest and found his money in his pockets. Whereupon he was booked on a charge of being drunk. He admitted his guilt in police court this morning and paid a fine of $3.

The new automobile of Chief Joseph Randall of the fire department went into commission today. It is painted a bright red, as was the old car, but it is larger and has much more power. The new buzz car is fitted out with all the latest appliances. The other car will be transferred to No. 2 station in the West end, where it will be used by Assistant Chief Granzow. The rear seat will be removed and a large chemical tank, with a long hose, will be attached to the machine, adding materially to the efficiency of the department in the western part of the city.

William Johnson didn't keep his word to the policeman when he promised that he would quit begging and leave the city. He was brought into police court today. He pleaded guilty and got $10 and costs or ten days in the county jail. Edward Hart, who was arrested about the same time yesterday afternoon on the same charge, was given a suspended sentence.

The horse driven by J. W. Richards dropped dead when he stopped in front of his home at Lakeside yesterday afternoon. It was reported that the animal had been electrocuted when it rubbed its nose against an iron light standard, but an examination is stated to have shown that death was due to apoplexy.

GRANDMOTHER'S HERBS

Almost every American man or woman can recall the collection of roots, herbs and barks made every fall for the home medicine chest.

It is interesting to note that the most successful remedy for female ills the world has ever known had its origin nearly forty years ago in one of these home medicine chests and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made today in immense quantities from these same roots and herbs with extreme accuracy, care and cleanliness. Merit alone could have stood this test of time.

BUTTERMILK TO SELL ONLY

Edward it. Boone's close association with buttermilk for four long years while employed as a butter maker evidently did not deter him from satisfying an appetite for demon rum, judging from the complaint which his wife, Lydia Boone, has brought against him in an action for divorce, which has been filed with the clerk of the district court.

Drunkenness and desertion are the grounds for divorce named by Mrs. Boone. They were married in Duluth on May 20, 1905. After honeymoon days were over things went from bad to worse. On Feb. 15, 1911, Mrs. Boone says, Mr. Boone departed from her abode and has not put in an appearance since.

About five years ago, she claims, Boone got a job as a butter maker. He worked at his job for several months and then he started to drink. Some time later, she asserts, when his habits became irregular, Boone's employer discharged him because of drunkenness.

Boone leaves no property nor children. She claims that he didn't even leave his address, and says that she has never been informed as to his whereabouts. She asks the court to grant her a decree of absolute divorce and to restore to her her maiden name, Lydia Lindholm.

Isaac Grettum is her attorney. The case will probably be tried at the next term of court.

DULUTH AS MODEL CITY

American Homecroft Society Is Reorganized With Headquarters Here.

Aim Is to Make Duluth a City to Point to.

Practical demonstrations, lectures, personal advice and bulletins on gardening and table economy figure in the tentative plans of the American Homecroft Society for making Duluth a model city in its application of the homecroft idea.

Duluth is now the headquarters of the American Homecroft society. At a meeting held at the Spalding Saturday, the society was reorganized with C. P. Craig of Duluth as president, and the headquarters of the society will be in Duluth. George H. Maxwell will continue as executive director in charge of the outside propaganda work of the society.

Development of Duluth along homecroft lines and planning the home garden to supply the wants of the owner the year round are the two main aims of the local branch. The local organization, which is part of the national, hopes to make Duluth a model in homecrofting. C. E. Roe, educational director under the direction of the local council, will be in charge of the local and national headquarters here.

At the meeting held at the Spalding Saturday, the American Homecroft society was reorganized with the following officers: C. P. Craig, Duluth, president; B. J. Horchen, Dubuque, Ia., vice president; George H. Maxwell, educational director. The permanent and executive council is part of the national organization and will also have charge of the local work. Its officers are: Chairman, W. E. McEwen; vice chairman, Dr. O. A. Oredson; educational director, C. E. Roe; treasurer, C. Francis Coleman. Four other members, chosen from various parts of the city, will be added to the executive council.

Will Outline Plan.

At a meeting of the society at the Commercial club tomorrow evening, Mr. Roo will submit a tentative plan of action. Arrangements have already been made for the use of an acre of ground at Woodland for demonstration purposes. An effort will be made to obtain the use of another acre in the western part of the city.

For the course in table economy efforts will be made to obtain the use of the domestic science equipment in two schools.

The course in gardening, which will be supplemented by lectures and bulletins, will take in the laying out of the garden for economy of space and division of products according to the needs of the family. The proper varieties of fruits and vegetables for cultivation in Duluth will be taught and the course will include all phases of practical gardening as suited to the climatic conditions and the needs of the family.

The course in table economy will continue through ten weeks of the summer vacation. It will teach the food values of various articles, the preparation of fresh fruits and vegetables for immediate consumption and preserving and canning and all other phases of the home preparation of fresh garden products. Practical women will be put in charge of the work.

Will Have Headquarters.

Headquarters, with Mr. Roe in charge, will be opened in the central part of the city and he will be prepared to give advice for the asking. Winter work, through lectures and bulletins, will be conducted and the propaganda will be extended to all parts of the city.

Duluth accepted the homecroft idea with enthusiasm when Mr. Maxwell first broached it here a year ago. So much interest has been shown and such strides have been made that Mr. Maxwell decided that Duluth was an ideal city to be made the headquarters of the society—a city to which he might point in his propaganda work in other cities. The success of the movement here will dispel false impressions as to the possibilities of production here and the movement will have great advertising value as well as great local benefit.

Three grades of membership in the society have been established. Individual members will pay $5, commercial members $10 and sustaining members $2 6yearly. It is expected that about $4,000 yearly will be needed to conduct the work and little difficulty is expected in raising the necessary amount.

ADVERTISES MINNESOTA AS "THE STATE OF OPPORTUNITIES"

"Minnesota, the State of Opportunities" is the title of a beautiful pamphlet just issued by the board of directors of the Minnesota State Agriculture society.

It is a complete, yet concise, description of the sttte and its resources. The facts are presented in a most striking and entertaining manner, by means of brief statements, comparisons, figures and cuts, with which the booklet is illustrated throughout. The facts that are given are such as every citizen of the state may study with profit. One of the main purposes of the directors in publishing the booklet is to interest citizens in the next annual state fair. This year it is predicted that fifty counties will have state fair exhibits. The directors are confident that last year's showing will be improved upon in size and quality and that the opportunities offered by the fair for gaining reliable information about Minnesota will be greater than ever.

The booklet treats under separate heads Minnesota's location and size, lands, soil, types of farming, farm crops, horticulture, livestock, poultry, dairy products, public schools, building material, lumber industry, manufacturers and mines, its three principal cities, and the Minnesota state fair. A separate description is given of each county together with cuts of the various county booths with their array of exhibits at the state fair of 1911.

The booklet says:

"New England laid upon the area of Minnesota would lack 16,000 square miles of covering this state. New York and Pennsylvania combined have but little more than the territory of Minnesota. Minnesota has greater natural resources by far than New York and all of New England and in agricultural possibilities is vastly richer than Pennsylvania. Belgium with one-eighth of Minnesota's area, supports three times her population. England and Wales, with five-eights of Minnesota's territory, support fifteen times her population.

"The population of Minnesota in 1910 was 2,075,708. On March 15, 1912, the total bank deposits of the state were $196,166,668, nearly $100 for each resident. There are 8,814.27 miles of railroads according to the 1911 report of the state railroad and warehouse commission. Their last official valuation was $411,000,000."

Speaking of the Zenith City, the booklet states:

"Duluth the third city in size, is the distributing and population center of Northern Minnesota, the most interesting, fertile and resourceful, yet undeveloped region, on the continent of North America. It is the head of navigation on the Great Lakes and is also the headquarters for the vast iron mining interests that have made Minnesota among the richest of the commonwealths.

"Duluth has a population of 78,476. It has 12,703 pupils enrolled in the public schools. Its public library has a circulation of 135,920 volumes. It has ten railroads and fifteen parks, comprising 420 acres. There is being built in that city at the present time a $10,000,000 steel plant, which will insure the total reduction and manufacture into steel of Minnesota's ore and will give employment to thousands of people."

lend color to the theory that the men who pulled off the job at Cook last Thursday night may have come to Duluth. Two suspicious-looking characters were seen climbing off the blind baggage of the Winnipeg train at Adolph last Friday morning. A detail from police headquarters, armed with repeating rifles, hurried to the place in the big Franklin touring car when the report reached the station. They thoroughly scoured the vicinity but did not locate the men for whom they were looking. The last seen of them they were going down the tracks towards Proctor, which is about six miles away. At Cook about $1,800 in stamps and money was taken. About $200 of it was in cash.

The burglars had an ideal night for their operations. With a heavy rain storm to deaden the sounds of their work and to keep people indoors they were in no great danger of discovery at any time. The results of their activity were not learned until this morning. It was stated at the New Duluth saloon that nothing in the place had been disturbed up to 10 o'clock last night, making it certain that the job was not done Saturday night.

one is the Christian Advocate of New York. For years Dr. J. M. Buckley, who is known in the church as the "bishop-maker," and is considered one of its strongest powers, has been in charge of the paper.

Another tangle which must be straightened is that occasioned by the election of Missionary Bishop W. F. Oldham of India to a position on the board of foreign missions with headquarters at New York. The question now is before the judiciary committee to ascertain whether, as he already has been assigned to a place by the conference, he now can be transferred, and if so, what shall be done with reference to the election of a successor. If a successor is elected, an especial consecration service probably will be necessary, as the ten elected at the present session of the conference yesterday were inducted into their office.

Talk of Race Bishop.

The question of a "race bishop" also is to be discussed, especially in connection with the providing of a negro bishop for the negro churches of the South. If agreed upon at this conference, it will have to go before the annual conferences of the church in the next quadrennium and then will come up for final action at the next general conference four years hence.

New Bishops Consecrated.

In services remarkable alike for their simplicity and solemnity, the eight new bishops, or general superintendents, and two new missionary bishops, yesterday afternoon, took the vows which bestowed upon them both the highest power and honor in the possession of the church. As a climax to the services of consecration, the entire board of bishops, including those newly elected, repaired to the grave, in a local cemetery, of Bishop Isaac W. Joyce, to pay homage to his memory.

Those who by their repetition of the vow "I will so do, the Lord being my helper," took upon themselves the administration of the church's affairs, were:

General superintendents—Homer C. Stuntz, New York; T. S. Henderson, Brooklyn; W. A. Shepard, Chicago; Naptali Luccock, Kansas City, Kan.; F. J. McConnell, president Depauw university, Greencastle, Ind.; F. D. Leete, Detroit, Mich.; R. J. Cooke, New York; W. P. Thirkield, president Howard university, a negro institution at Washington, D. C.

Missionary bishops—John Wesley Robinson, Lucknow, India; W. F. Eveland, president seminary, Williamsport, Pa.

Sang Hymns in Street.

Hours before the auditorium was opened for the general public, an immense crowd filled the street before the police-guarded doors, and passed the time in the singing of hymns. When the curtain was raised at 9 o'clock upon the members of the board of bishops, the bishops-elect, their presenting friends and other officials of the church, not a seat was vacant, and scores had been turned away.

During the entire preliminary services, in which bishop after bishop took part in the reading of the Scriptures or of the ritual of consecration, there was a hush over the audience that permitted the low tones of the speakers to penetrate every portion of the building, and when, on the final charge, the consecrating bishops, with hands laid upon the heads of the kneeling candidates, urged them to "be so merciful that ye be not remiss; so administrate discipline that you forget not mercy; that when the Chief Shepherd shall appear, you may receive the never-fading crown of glory through Jesus Christ, our Lord," tears fell from the eyes of numerous bishops-elect upon the open pages of the Bible.

Ceremony by Warren and Walden.

Dr. Stuntz was the first to be consecrated, the venerable Bishops Henry W. Warren and John M. Walden, both of whom now are retired, performing the ceremony. Others received "the laying on of hands" in the order in which they were elected, two ministerial friends presenting them, and two different bishops officiating in each case.

turn out to wipe off the last specks which may remain. In the meantime the grown-ups are expected to do the heavy part of the work of making the city beautiful and attractive. In the public schools the teachers will explain the purposes of cleaning week and ask the co-operation of the youngsters. They will prove a most valuable aid in improving the appearance of the municipality.

Despite the gloom and the wet some of the public-spirited residents of the municipality started the week by getting busy in their yards, both front and back. The remnants of the ash heaps, piles of rubbish, the rusty tin cans, old boards and rags and other foreign substances which had accumulated during the winter were made ready for the visit of the garbage man. In some places bonfires were lighted to destroy the stuff which had been raked up, but this plan was not found feasible because of the rain, which had thoroughly soaked all the inflammable material.

Deputy State Fire Marshall Helmbach will be in Duluth during the work. Working in the interests of the state he will devote most of his attention to the business district where he will make it a special point to see that all combustible matter is removed from the premises. He expects to be here most of the week.

When the week is over the department inspectors will make a thorough examination of the city. Every yard will be checked up, and where the provisions of the ordinance have not been observed it is announced that legal steps will be taken to have the premises put in presentable shape.

Those who have charge of the work state that the home gardening which has been finding greater favor in the city each year has been doing as much as any other factor to improve the city's appearance. The back yards and many vacant lots have been spaded and planted and are not only clean, but decidedly attractive. If every back yard were devoted to gardening there would be little need for a cleaning week or a cleaning day.

spoke there, but that the president's intentions were unknown.

Barred From Princeton.

Col. Roosevelt's itinerary included a number of large towns in the central part of the state, and tonight he expects to wind up at Princeton and speak from a balcony of Princeton inn. The selection of this rostrum, it was said, was due to the refusal of President Hibben of Princeton to let any of the university buildings be used for a political meeting unless nothing derogatory was said about President Taft, who was the institution's guest recently at President Hibben's inauguration.

Mr. Taft will continue his campaign up until the polls open at 1 o'clock tomorrow. Today he started from New York, where he spent Sunday and last night, for a tour of the towns along the Atlantic coast. His day's work will end at Atlantic City, where he will spend the night.

Governor Wilson may make his last speech before the primaries tonight at his home in Princeton. The Woodrow Wilson club of the university plans a torch light parade, which will march to the governor's house and call him to his front porch.

Denies Extravagance.

Morristown, N. J., May 27.—The last day of Col. Roosevelt's campaign in New Jersey began with a speech in Morristown, in which the former president took up the assertion that during his administration there had been extravagance in expenditure of public funds.

"Recently Mr. Taft has dealt upon the fact that my administration left a deficit," said the colonel. "He can say that by taking only one year and omitting the other six and one-half. During my administration we piled up a surplus of between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000. We paid a large part of the money used on the Panama canal without a bond issue."

Asks for Square Deal.

Perth Amboy, N. J., May 27.—President Taft left Perth Amboy early today and began his trip down the coast line of New Jersey. The president's voice in his first speech of the day, at Perth Amboy showked a decided improvement over Saturday night, and he was more aggressie in manner. He continued to fire hot shot at Col. Roosevelt, and asked the New Jersey voters to give him a square deal.

United States Senator Briggs of New Jersey, chairman of the Republican state committee, today gave out the following statement:

"I believe the the president will carry the solid delegation with perhaps the exception of two districts and in these districts we have an excellent chance."

The president said here that "in his heart" he believed Mr. Roosevelt would be defeated.

"I am here to ask you to give your approval to this administration as a Republican administration," said Mr. Taft. "I think you would have done so clearly and without question, if Mr. Roosevelt had not intervened, and now the question is whether his intervention ought to prevent your doing so."

disassociated from any question of intervention,

"WILLIAM H. TAFT"

Approved By Gomez.

Havana, May 27.—President Gomez has received the message from President Taft disclaiming the intent of the United States to intervene.

He immediately summoned a meeting of the cabinet, to which he communicated the text of the message, expressing his highest appreciation of President Taft's attitude.

President Gomez yesterday sent a cablegram to President Taft in which he protested, in friendly but firm terms, against intervention by the United States.

Hurts Cubans' Feelings.

"It is my duty to say that so serious a resolution alarms and hurts the feelings of a people who love and are jealous of their independence," he says, after reciting that he had received from United States Minister Beaupre a note informing him that the Washington government had ordered a gunboat to Nipe bay and a strong naval concentration at Key West in anticipation of possible eventualities, and also, in event that the Cuban government was unable to protect property, it was the intention to land forces for that purpose.

President Gomez says the government is doing its utmost, having within four days sent 3,000 troops by land and sea to crush the rebels in Oriente, and in that short time having restored order in all parts of the island with that exception. He also says that 9,000 rifles with ammunition have been distributed to loyal citizens, and that the government is prepared to flood the comparatively small disturbed area with regulars and volunteers.

"I appeal to you," he continues, "as a loyal friend of Cuba, respecting her rights, that you will be convinced that this government is capable and sufficiently supported by the votes and patriotism of the Cuban people to deal promptly with a few unfortunate and misguided persons without reason or flag."

Havana Strike Ended.

The strike of the lightermen and other laborers in the port of Havana has terminated and today all classes of workers in the harbor are actively engaged in their duties.

The settlement of the strike was due to the intervention of President Gomez, who indicated to the strikers that they must cease their agitation pending the crisis through which the country is passing.

The government has not received any further news today from the province of Oriente, but continues to rush reinforcements of troops to the front.

The authorities also are arming and putting into service all the revenue cutters and are arranging to charter some merchant vessels for utilization as transports.

There is said to be no indication of insurrection in any part of the island except in the province of Oriente.

Navy Yard Busy.

New York, May 27.—The Brooklyn navy yard is devoting its attention today to getting the hospital ship Solace ready for service in Cuban waters. The vessel, which was a fighting craft during the Spanish-American war, will sail at 7 o'clock this evening for Key West, in charge of Surgeon E. H. Gates.

Some time tonight a large shipment of supplies will be rushed to Norfolk.

The dreadnought Delaware which arrived here yesterday with Rear Admiral Osterhaus' fleet, did not go South with the other battleships.

Provide For Intervention.

Washington, May 27.—The senate committee on Cuban relations today directed Senator Page of Vermont, the chairman, to confer with President Taft regarding necessary recommendations for legislation to provide direct and clear provisions of law governing when and how the United States may intervene in Cuba under the so-called Platt amendment.

German's Property Burned.

Santiago, Cuba, May 27.—A coffee plantation belonging to Juan Botte, a German subject near El Cobre, ten miles west of this city, was destroyed today by a rebel band. The buildings were burned and the horses and cattle driven off. A protest has been lodged with the German consul.

It also is reported that a sugar mill at Hatillo belonging to a German has been burned by the rebels.

WILBUR WRIGHT WORSE AGAIN

Noted Aviator's Condition Takes on an Alarming Turn.

Dayton, Ohio, May 27.—Wilbur Wright's condition took an alarming turn early today and fear was expressed over the probable outcome of the case of typhoid fever with which the noted aviator is suffering. Wright spent a restless night, with his physicians in almost constant attendance. Today it was stated that he was again unconscious and had a high fever.

NEW YORK POLICE FORM TAXI SQUAD

Multiplicity of Crooks Among Chauffeurs Causes New Step.

New York, May 27.—The number of crooks and criminals working as chauffeurs on taxicabs in the city has caused the police to organize a taxicab squad to put a check on the criminal violence in which taxicabs play a part. Murders, holdups and robberies have been numerous and the police have found that there are about 200 men here with either prison or police records who have obtained chauffeur's licenses from the state.

In some cases the police have found that certain garages are owned by men who have police reputations.

TEXANS WILL BE BACK OF WILSON

Houston, Tex., May 27.—With supporters of Woodrow Wilson in the majority in the Democratic state convention, which meets tomorrow, delegates already are here in large numbers to dispose of preliminary matters. The Wilson men expect to name the forty delegates to the national convention.

WHITE MEETS WITH SOUTHWESTERN MINERS.

Kansas City, Mo., May 27.—John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, arrived here today to take part in the conference between coal miners and operators of the Southwest, in progress here for several weeks. The contract providing increased wages has been agreed on and final settlement is expected within a few days.

"All that remains is an agreement on a clause concerning the method of price-fixing during arbitration," said President White.

SEE THEM WIGGLE

When the Doctor says "It's coffee, stop it if you want to get well."

What a mean doctor, but then plain facts are best to know, so we may cut out the things that hurt.

A few years ago a Cincinnati man went to Germany for his health and to consult one of the famous physicians in Berlin.

The Dr. found him a nervous wreck suffering from loss of sleep and constipation and about 50 lbs. off his usual weight.

But let him tell his own experience:

"The Dr. surprised me very much by asking at once if I was a coffee drinker, and on telling him I used it two or three times a day he said: 'It is poison to some persons.'

"After carefully examining me he told me there was nothing the matter with me whatever but what could be entirely cured in 30 days by letting coffee and other stimulants alone and dieting.

"So I put back home and wife got some Postum for me.

"The first trial didn't please me but we found it hadn't been boiled enough. The next meal it was fine.

"I seemed to begin to get well at once and kept it up until I gained back my 50 lbs. and all the old sick times from coffee left for good. Now I am in prime health, fine appetite, and sleep like a boy."

GETS DIVORCE AND ALIMONY

Neither Joseph Di Marco Nor Former Wife May Remarry Another.

Wife Given One Child and the Husband the Other Two.

Forty dollars a month permanent alimony, the exclusive possession and ownership of her collection of hand painted china and other personal effects, the custody of one of her three children, and statutory rights in her husband's property are given to Mrs. Rose Di Marco, divorced wife of Joseph Di Marco, in a decree and findings entered in district court this afternoon by Judge Ensign, who tried the case at the last term of court. The divorce was granted on the grounds of cruelty.

The decree calls for a limited divorce, however. Neither of the divorced parties may remarry another. Di Marco is permanently restrained by the court from disposing of any of his property without his wife's consent as her statutory interest is not affected by the divorce proceedings. In addition to having the rights of wife, she also has the privileges of a divorcee, except she may not remarry. She may live apart from her husband.

The custody of the youngest child, Leslie, aged 5, is awarded to Mrs. Di Marco. Violet, aged 10, and Earl, 6, will remain with their father, Mrs. Di Marco is given the privilege of visiting the two older children once a week and the same right is accorded Di Marco with respect to the youngest child. The court further orders that the children shall be allowed to play together.

Di Marco is ordered by the court to pay his divorced wife $40 a month alimony, payable twice a month in $20 installments. Mrs. Di Marco secured a provision in the decree which awards to her a collection of hand painted china and other personal effects which are now in the possession of Di Marco at his home, 931 West Third street. The court made no further division of property, holding that under the terms of the decree that Mrs. Di Marco retained a statutory right in her husband's property.

Joseph Di Marco is a prominent Italian of the city and is proprietor of the Ideal pool hall on Superior street. He is 41 years old and his wife 29. They were married in Duluth on Feb. 6, 1901. The case, when tried at the last term of court, was contested by Mr. Di Marco. Mason M. Forbes appeared as attorney for Mrs. Di Marco and H. H. Phelps defended. The suit attracted considerable attention at the time, especially among the Italian people of the city.

It is understood that the Di Marco divorce is the first one to be granted to people of the Italian race in this court.

HAVE CHANCE TO "GET SOLID"

Ranges Look to Duluth for Delegates to County Club Meeting.

Duluth wholesale houses have an opportunity to "get solid" with their many good customers on the ranges, by being represented at the meeting of the County club in Chisholm tomorrow night.

Unless the jobbers come to the rescue with a delegation, it does not look as if Duluth would be very well represented. President J. H. Hearding and L. B. Arnold will attend from here, and there will probably be one or two others, but the Commercial club members have had so much of importance to attract their attention during the last few weeks, that few of them will be able to get away.

The County club includes all of the range commercial clubs, and range people are hoping for a big delegation from Duluth. Unless some prompt steps are taken, this big delegation will not be forthcoming.

President Hearding has been trying to stir up some enthusiasm in Duluth, for the meeting, but he is out of the city today.

STUB ROO TONIC!

E. A. JOHNSON.

Manufacturer Stub Roo Tonic.

Duluth, Minn., June 17, 1909.

Stub Roo Medical Co., Duluth, Minn.:

Dear Sir:

I will let you know about your antiseptic lotion — for four years I have suffered untold agony from rash of eczema, which I had all over my body, with terrible pain, and nervous from itching and heat that I could tear my flesh to bleeding when all the hard spells came. I had all the doctors in Duluth and used their prescriptions, but all in vain. I tried all the patent medicines I could think of, but nothing helped me. I was advised by a friend of mine to try the Stub Roo lotion, I did and got help from the first bottle. I used and sponged my body all over and felt like I was all well after I got through my first treatment. No more itching, it checked the pain and I felt fine and had a good sleep, that I did not have for four years. My eczema is gone and I can now realize the blessing of health. I shall never fail to praise the remedy and the treatment, and why not? When all other remedies failed, Stub Roo Lotion has cured me. It is certainly the best remedy for eczema or any inflammatory eruption of the human body. I will gladly answer letters anyone may write to me, and I hope one and all who try your treatment will be entirely cured as I was. May God's best blessing be on you now and forever.

Yours truly,
MRS. THOS. H. SEXTON,
616 East Fourth Street, Duluth, Minn.

GOVERNMENT IN THE FAMILY

Rev. Allen Clark Says There Should Be Discipline in the Home.

Rev. Allen Clark of the Plymouth Congregational church, Fifty-fourth avenue west and Bristol street, gave an interesting sermon yesterday morning on "Family Government," in which he decried the present conditions in the homes, claiming that the family government was losing its stronghold through the lack of discipline in the home.

He said in part:

"In the first book of the Bible we have a remarkable account of the Lord, accompanied by two angels, going down to pour fire and brimstone upon Sodom and Gomorrah where all family government had practically ceased. On the way thither, as the three departed from the tent of Abraham, where they had been hospitably entertained, the Lord said, 'Shall I hide from Abraham that which I do, for I know that he will command his children and his household after him and they shall keep the way of the Lord.'

"And so perfect was the family government of Abraham that we learn from the fact that when Isaac had come to his 28th year he submitted to be bound by his father and laid on the alter to be offered up. Isaac did not ask the reason why; 'twas his to obey his father and die. The same family government is a noticeable thing among the descendants of Abraham today. A president of one of our leading universities said a short time ago, in his baccalaurate sermon, 'In the last thirty-seven years I have instructed over 100 Jews and Jewesses, and not one of them ever violated the law of the university.' Go to your state's prison and among 1,800 prisoners you will find sons of Baptists, Presbyterians, Methodists, Lutherans and Catholics and some sons of preachers, but no descendants of Abrahaam.'

"By a false philosophy touching home life and training, by a shallow sentimentalism propagated by shallow people and by the caricaturing of the good old way of our fathers, Satan has for many years, been undermining the great pillars of the church, society and state, the family, and corrupting this fountain from which all the streams of society take their rise. His work needs to be undone or social rottenness, anarchy, nihilism and all the fores of evil which are trying to unChristianize society, will succeed.

"The remedies for this family decadence is right and constant teaching, secured obedience to the things taught, youthful industry versus devotion to amusements, exclusion from bad associations and low literature, limitations of spending money and in general, the application of the great law of love, tempered with wisdom and exalted righteousness as the ruling principle of family life. Let love, purity and peace rule in the home. Under their united sway the home will be another name for heaven. Family government will be in no danger of becoming family tyranny and on the other hand liberty will not degenerate into lawlessness."

WILSON MEN IN CONTROL

Supporters of New Jersey Man Will Dominate County Convention.

Only Seven of Eighty-One Duluth Delegates Opposed to Him.

Supporters of Woodrow Wilson will be in complete control of the Democratic county convention at Virginia Wednesday. The thirty-eight delegates to the state convention, to be held here June 6, will be instructed for the New Jersey governor.

Caucuses were held in the city of Duluth and in some of the range towns Saturday evening. Out of eighty-one delegates elected in Duluth, only seven are known to be opposed to the candidacy of Wilson. Virginia, Hibbing and other range towns are expected to send solid Wilson delegations to the Virginia convention.

There was only one contest in Duluth. In the Duluth Heights precinct of the Fifth ward, Charles McEwen and John Hogan were opposed. McEwen, who is favorable to Clark, won by a vote of 15 to 14. Later it was learned that the precinct is entitled to two delegates to the county convention, and McEwen and Hogan will both attend the convention.

The vote throughout the city was light, the fact that there were no contests in most precincts being responsible. The delegates reported elected to the Virginia convention are:

First ward—John Jenswold, jr., H. E. Webster, Frank Crassweller, George Bush, T. J. McKeon, Dr. D. D. Murray, M. B. Cullum, R. C. Mitchell, A. M. Morrison, C. F. Macdonald, Andrew Nelson, M. L. Fay, Alfred Jaques, T. T. Hudson, E. M. Tredway.

FIRST TOUCH OF REAL SUMMER

Warm, Bright Sunday Brings Out Crowds of Pleasure Seekers.

Duluth got its first touch of Sunday summer weather yesterday. Thousands of people took advantage of the occasion and as a consequence, the local parks and recreation spots were thronged with men, women and children.

Lester, Chester and Lincoln parks were popular yesterday. Lester park, it is estimated, attracted 10,000 people yesterday and it is safe to say that the crowds were proportionately large at the other breathing spots.

The summer weather did not go unobserved by yachtsmen and motor boat enthusiasts. Conditions were ideal on the harbor and on the river. A large number of boats made their first trip up the river yesterday.

Fishermen were also thankful for the weather and turned out in large numbers. Trout anglers looked to the Knife, Gooseberry and Lester rivers for their sport but with rather poor success as the streams are still high and muddy.

The bass fishing season will open Wednesday and it is expected that many local fishermen will take advantage of the first day. The fishing is said to be good this year.

The law regarding bass fishing provides that only twenty-five bass may be taken by one fisherman in one day and that none less than nine inches long may be taken.

TO ESTABLISH PLAYGROUNDS

Duluth Association Reorganized After a Six Day Campaign.

Preliminary steps for the reorganization of the Playgrounds association were taken at a mass meeting held Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. It was an enthusiastic gathering, the result of a six-day campaign under the management of Dr. H. S. Curtis, the playgrounds expert. Courtenay Dinwiddie was elected chairman and J. R. Batchelor secretary of the temporary organization.

Resolutions were adopted urging the park board, the board of public welfare and the school board to co-operate in securing a director of public recreation to have charge of playgrounds and social centers to be established in school yards, parks, and other convenient places. This director, according to present plans, is to have assistants, both men and women, to organize the children in their play.

The next meeting of the association will be held on Tuesday evening, June 4, at the Y. M. C. A. At that meeting committees will be appointed to work with the public welfare, school and park boards, and the Commercial club and other organizations, in securing playgrounds that are properly laid out, and placing them under an expert in that line of work.

SUNDAY REST FOR WORKMEN

Secretary of Lord's Day Alliance Gives Two Addresses Here.

The Duluth Letter Carriers' association was addressed yesterday on the subject of Sunday labor by George W. Grannis, secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance of New York. Mr. Grannis spoke at the Y. M. C. A. in the afternoon.

He gave an outline of the work which is being done in other cities in the direction of securing Sunday rest for workmen and especially Sundays off for the letter carriers.

Mr. Grannis says that he expects to see a bill passed through congress making the six-day a week work for postal employes, a law. The house has passed the bill and he believes that the senate will do likewise.

Last evening, Mr. Grannis spoke along similar lines, before a gathering of union workingmen at the West end.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS INCREASE FOR APRIL

Washington, May 27.—The monthly statement of the department of commerce and labor shows the total value of exports for April to have been $176,100,000, as against $154,900,000 for the same month last year. The imports were valued at $162,700,000, against $119,800,000 for April, 1911. For the ten months ending April 30 the total value of exports was $1,865,300,000 as against $1,726,500,000 in 1911. The imports for the ten months increased from $1,274,600,000 to $1,366,800,000.

There was an appreciable falling off in the exports of fresh beef, which last month consisted of only 800,000 pounds as against 3,400,000 pounds in April, 1911. For the two months the reduction was from 34,500,000 pounds to 14,500,000 pounds. Cattle also lost heavily for the month.

INVENTOR AND WIFE ARE MURDERED FOR REVENGE.

San Diego, Cal., May 27.—C. H. Toliver, airship inventor and president of the Toliver Airship company, and his wife were found dead in their home here and Bert G. Lewis, formerly secretary of the airship company, has been arrested on the charge of murder.

Lewis, the police say, sued Toliver several months ago for $10,000 on the charge that the inventor had alienated the affections of Mrs. Lewis. He lost the suit.

Lewis, in his cell in the city prison, calmly admitted to Captain of Detectives Myers that he alone was responsible for the murder of Mr. and Mrs. Toliver.

"Yes, I killed him," said Lewis. "He ruined my home; if I had not done it, some one else would have had to."

"TWENTY-FOUR NEW YORK VOTES FOR ROOSEVELT."

New York, May 27.—That 24 of the 90 delegates from New York state to the Republican national convention have pledged their support to Col. Roosevelt, is the statement of Senator Joseph M. Dixon, chairman of the Roosevelt national committee. He reiterated his claim that Col. Roosevelt has now more than a sufficient number of delegates instructed and pledged to assure his nomination on the first ballot.

Medill McCormick of Chicago, who conferred with Senator Dixon at the Waldorf Astoria, said that 614 delegates are now pledged to the candidacy of Col. Roosevelt. Senator Dixon talked with Col Roosevelt, who spent the day at Sagamore Hill, over the long distance telephone several times during the afternoon.

BLACKMAILER TELLS OF PLOT TO KILL TAFT.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 27.—William D. Pastorius was sentenced in criminal court here to serve not more than six years or less than four in solitary confinement in Riverside penitentiary, after being convicted of sending a bomb to Alexander R. Peacock, former partner of Andrew Carnegie and millionaire capitalist, and attempting to extort $5,000 from him.

Before being taken into court Pastorius sent for his attorney, A. C. Stein, and according to Stein, related details of an alleged plot to assassinate President Taft. The plans, he said, were made in the Hotel Navarre in New York. It was Stein's purpose to have Pastorius tell his story in court, but this was abandoned and the entire matter was placed in the hands of government officers here.

CURFEW LAW SHOULD BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED.

Miss Jean Poirier, state factory inspector for Duluth, believes that the curfew ordinance should be rigidly enforced.

Lincoln park at the West end, she claims, has become a rendezvous for children of all ages during late hours at night and some means should be taken to send them home.

Parents, she declares, are largely to blame for allowing their children to remain out late. The lack of police surveillance is also to be taken into account, she says.

Some of the boys who frequent the Lincoln park playground late at night she says are rowdy and obnoxious to the residents of that locality.

Storm Floods Yankton, S. D.

Yankton, S. D., May 27.—A severe wind and rain storm struck Yankton early Sunday, over three inches of water falling. Rhine creek, which flows through the town, was forced out of its bank. Boats were used on the main street. Several families living along the stream were forced to leave their homes. Four miles of track on the Great Northern was washed out.

TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE

Said Doctor, When He Heard of Miraculous Cures Done By Electro Medical Doctors.

One of the noble doctors of Superior inquired into the methods of the Electro Medical Doctors, who have performed some marvelous cures in the past few months. He said: "It's too good to believe. I would like to see some cases of which you reported in the papers, and should be glad to have an explanation of the methods of Electro Medicine." This was cheerfully granted, and the doctor rang up several patients and made apointments so the doctor could examine them personally.

"Speaking about truth," the doctor said, "why, it's the best thing in all the world, better than anything the mind of man can imagine. We want to be truthful. I have preached many a sermon with greatest delight. I believe in truth and honesty as the fundamental principle in the progress of the scientific advancement, of which medical science is the foremost of all, because it endeavors to do away with disease and suffering of mankind. The patients we cured can speak more for us than we can; it is through them that Electro Medicine has made such great progress in the past."

Talking about Electro Medical treatments, the doctor explained the different technical steps and different electrical energies by which remedies are introduced into diseased tissues. He then explained the chemical changes which take place when the poisons which cause the diseases are broken up. When the radicals of carbons of the poisonous components can be made to part, the poisons are dissolved, broken up in their different constituents and carried out of the body. The patient is then put under a high potential X-ray and high frequency, so as to impart to the nerves a natural nerve energy and vitality.

Though we have learned to recognize disease in a moment, and to cure it as quickly as a nerve can respond to treatment; though we have learned to recognize the cause of disease in the system before it has produced the disease, and to nip it in the bud, and have even learned to recognize a liability to disease, yet we are not sure that enough may be learned to enable us to avoid the liability, avoid the cause and the disease, and have no use for medicine, no use for anything but truth and faculty to comprehend it. Medicine has not advanced to that state as yet, but Electro Medicine has come nearer to it than anything else. We have tried to get at the truth and how to apply it to disease. We have learned a great deal in the cure of chronic diseases, and we are steadily working especially at diseases which have been thought to be incurable. We have been successful in the cure of Bright's disease in its prime state, of tuberculosis of the joints and also in the cure of cancers. We cordially invite people who failed to get cured elsewhere. We gladly offer them a free consultation, and advise them as to our best ability whether they take treatments or not. Our field is limited to chronic diseases of men, women and children. Our principles are "cures" more than "treatments" of chronic ailments. The offices of the Electro Medical Doctors are next to Gidding's at No. 26 W. Superior St.

FARM TRAIN ON ITS WAY

Agricultuarl Special Leaves Duluth for Northern Minnesota Tour.

Ten Days' Tour Will End at International Falls.

The agricultural special of the Northern Pacific railroad left Duluth at 8:30 this morning for a ten days' trip over the line of the railroad. The train will run to Brainerd and then over the line of the Minnesota & International railroad to International Falls, where the trip will end.

The train consists of four baggage cars loaded with exhibits of agricultural products, model dairy and poultry stock, and model agricultural implements and equipment; two coaches in which institutes will be held in bad weather, a tourist car and a business car.

Much of the land through which the Northern Pacific, especially the M. & I. branch runs, is not yet developed, and the railroad is anxious to get the settlers who are in, working along the right lines. COMPLETES HIS WORK IN DULUTH

State Scale Inspector Not Forced to Make Any Arrests.

J. H. Norby of the state department of weights and measures, who has been in Duluth making an inspection of the scales of the city, reports that he has not been forced to make a single arrest, as the owners of all the scales examined by Mr. Nordby and found to be incorrect agreed to destroy them or correct them at once.

"As a compliment to the business men of Duluth I will say that I have accomplished the task of examining all of the large scales without a single arrest," said Mr. Nordby.

The inspector left for Virginia today.

WAINWRIGHT PARTLY BURNED

South Side of Principal Business Street in Alberta City Destroyed.

Winnipeg, Man., May 27.—The south side of Second avenue, the business section of Wainwright, Alberta, was swept by fire this morning, with a loss of $100,000. The town hall and Union bank, in the Auditorium block, the fire hall and other buildings were destroyed. Wainright is an important division point on the Grand Trunk Pacific railway.

ENGINEER STICKS TO CAB; KILLED

John Fellows of Baraboo, Wis., Dies—No Passengers Injured.

Chicago, May 27.—John Fellows of Baraboo, Wis., an engineer, stuck to his cab today and was killed beneath it when the engine which he was driving to the Chicago & Northwestern station ran into an open switch and overturned.

None of the ten coaches filled with passengers left the track and none but Fellows was injured. His fireman jumped as the engine toppled over.

NEW ERA IN BUSINESS

Kansas City Meat Packer Says Calamity Howlers Are Silenced.

Looks for Very Prosperous Times in Spite of Politics.

"We are getting out of the stage of business discontent and the era of the knocker," said William L. Crane of Kansas City, Mo., an independent meat packer who is spending today in Duluth. Mr. Crane is on his way to the Pacific coast.

"The day of the knocker is when times are bad and even the man who is invariably an optimist is liable to be led to complain of the times. We have come through a period of bad crops, of business distrust and of the ultra conservative speculation. The man whose plaint is that the country is going to the dogs, has been on the job. Now despite the fact that we are in a presidential election year, we are on the verge of the biggest business that we have had since the prosperous years of 1906 and 1907.

"It may be early for a crop prediction in this country, but the conditions of the soil augurs one of the biggest crops that the Northwest has ever enjoyed. If the crop prediction of the Northwest is fulfilled, there can be little doubt of the wonderful increase of business in every line.

"People are feeling better. When a nation that takes so vital and absorbing an interest in politics as we Americans do, can sit by and state that it is a mater of business first—and pleasure afterwards, if you want to put it that way—why to my mind it indicates that the people are of the opinion that things are beginning to look right.

"In the steel business it is simply a matter of whether the material can be delivered. I was talking with an independent steel man the other day, and he told me that the whole matter of getting orders was whether the material could be delivered. The steel mills of the country are working to capacity and the old stocks are being used so fast that there will be none within a few weeks.

"The price of meat made a recent advance and the papers of the country commented freely and somewhat adversely upon the fact. One of the reasons of the increase in the price of meat is the increase in its consumption and the further fact that the supply is not increasing in proportion to the demand. It might also be added that within the past two months there has been an increased demand for the higher priced cuts.

"Business men over the country are of the opinion that we have come out of the period when money was scarce and legitimate speculation was discouraged by the tendency of the times. Business is not stopping for politics, for conditions are sound, and no matter what the outcome of the presidential election is, there is no doubt in my mind but that we are in for one of the most prosperous years since the great flood of business of five years ago."

CLARK FACTIONS CLASH AT POLLS

Primary Election Is Held in the District of Columbia.

Washington, May 27.—A primary election to select sixty-six delegates to the District of Columbia Democratic convention next Wednesday will be held in Washington today. Two tickets of Champ Clark delegates will be placed before the voters, owing to a factional fight between Edwin H. Newman, Democratic national committeeman, and Walter J. Costello.

The Clark national headquarters is urging voters, in newspaper advertisements, to ignore the Newman slate. The polls will open at 3 o'clock and close at 8.

The convention Wednesday will choose six delegates to the Democratic convention at Baltimore.

DIABETES

It was not easy for us to believe that Diabetes is curable, but the first case we came in personal touch with was astonishingly convincing.

We were considering the purchase of Fulton's Compounds and were looking for cases to try them out on. One of our number knew Charles A. Newton, the Yardmaster of the S. P. R. R. Co. at Sacramento—a very worthy man. He also knew that Newton had Diabetes and was in a hospital in the Capitol City, and that his recovery seemed impossible when he last heard from him. A letter was written to Newton that Fulton claimed his Diabetes Compound cured Diabetes and that we wanted to know from OUR friends if this was so, and that if he (Newton) would take it that we would send him a supply of it. Newton replied to the effect that some four or five months before we wrote him he had heard about the compound, had taken it, that the sugar was nearly out and he was almost well. His complete recovery followed, and he told an S. P. Engineer who had Diabetes and he recovered.

(The best results are had in cases of middle age and over.)

Ask for pamphlet or write Jno. J. Fulton Co., San Francisco. We desire patients to write us not improving by third week.

TRAIN FOR DEMOCRATS

Special Will Be Run From Virginia After Convention Wednesday.

Delegates Will Go to Range Town on Regular Missabe Train.

Duluth Democrats are endeavoring to get a crowd of about seventy-five together to attend the Democratic county convention at Virginia Wednesday.

Arrangements have been made whereby a special train will be run over the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad for the return trip from Virginia. The train will leave Virginia at 7:30 and will arrive in Duluth about 10:30 Wednesday night.

The delegates will leave Duluth on the regular Missabe train at 7:40 Wednesday morning, arriving in Virginia before noon. The convention will be called to order at 2 o'clock and will probably last about two hours. The delegates will have plenty of time to get dinner in Virginia before the special train leaves for Duluth.

Duluth is entitled to eighty-one delegates in the county convention and nearly all are expected to attend. The call provides for 213 delegates in the county convention, but all will not be on hand. About 150 are expected to be on hand when the convention opens in the Fay opera house.

The convention will be in complete control of Wilson supporters, who will send a solid delegation of thirty-eight instructed for Wilson to the state convention, which will be held here June 6.

Cook county is preparing to spend $60,000 on the improvement of a picturesque highway along the front of Lake Superior, to connect with a Canadian road being built by authorities of Port Arthur. The road will cross the International boundary at some point on Pigeon river.

"Lake county is joining in the movement for the highway," Mr. Mullen said today. "The road in Cook county is already partly constructed and awaiting improvements."

JUST SMILES AT W. E. LEE'S STORY

"No comment," he replied, and refused to answer questions.

HARD COAL TO BE HIGHER

Local Agents Expect New Schedule of Prices Next Month.

Price of Nut Anthracite Will Probably Be $8.25 Next Fall.

According to the present outlook of the anthracite market and what is said by local sales agents, those who have to buy large quantities for the winter of 1912-13 would do well to make their purchases next month. The local agents are about to receive a new scale of prices. The prices in vogue now are those of last winter.

As a rule the price of anthracite has dropped 50 cents on the first day of April of each year, but this drop did not take place this year. On April 1, 1911, the price of anthracite nut coal at Duluth to the small consumer was $7.50. This was the price through that month. Then, in accordance with their custom, the coal companies raised the price 10 cents each month, the May price being $7.60, the June price $7.70, July $7.80, August, $7.90 and September $8. The September price held all through the winter.

In the early spring, according to the statement made today by one of the local agents, the usual drop of 50 cents did not take place, for two reasons. In the first place there was a great deal of agitation on the part of the miners for increased wages, and a strike was feared. In the second place there was very little anthracite at the Head of the Lakes. So the price of $8 a ton was allowed to run on unchanged and that is the price today.

But the local agents have received notice that as higher wages must now be paid to the men working in the mines, and the law requires three shifts of engineers at the collieries, the expense of mining coal is much greater, and therefore the public must pay more for the coal. The exact schedule has not been fixed officially, but the local agents expect to see last year's schedule put into effect, plus 25 cents a ton. Thus, the June price of nut anthracite at Duluth this year, instead of being $7.70 will be $7.95, the July price $8.05, August $8.15 and September $8.25, and it is likely that this September price will follow the usual rule of remaining in force all winter and until April, 1913.

TWO COUNTIES TAKE THE $1,000

Wilkin and Stevens in Minnesota Accept Offer of Grain Exchanges.

St. Paul, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two counties have taken advantage of the offer made by the crop improvement committee appointed by the Association of Grain Exchanges to give $1,000 for an agricultural expert in each county of Minnesota, to help improve general crop conditions. These counties are Wilkin and Stevens.

"Any county in the state can get this $1,000 appropriation," H. J. Maxfield, state commissioner of immigration, said today, "by raising a similar sum and agreeing to maintain the work. A million dollars has been appropriated and is immediately available. Each county in this state should take advantage of it."

UNINSTRUCTED MEN IN CONTROL

North Carolina Convention May Not Pick Presidential Choice.

Raleigh, N. C., May 27.—Returns from the Democratic county conventions of Saturday, now practically complete, indicate that while Governor Woodrow Wilson will have more instructed delegates than Representative Oscar Underwood in the state convention June 6, by far the majority of the delegates will come uninstructed. Only about forty of the 100 counties instructed their delegates for presidential candidates.

Speaker Clark and Governor Harmon also made a showing of strength, so it seems certain an attempt will be made to prevent any instruction for any candidate. The Wilson leaders the expected to insist upon instructions.

KENTUCKY FOR CLARK.

Speaker Assured of Twenty-Six More Votes at Baltimore.

Louisville, Ky., May 27.—Clark swept Kentucky in the Democratic conventions in 115 of the 120 counties Saturday. Returns from about half the counties give him more than the 613 instructed votes necessary to control the state convention here May 29. One county instructed for Harmon, giving him 16 votes.

This victory will give Clark the entire delegation of twenty-six votes from Kentucky to the national Democratic convention.

Late returns show that Clark carried 10 of the 11 districts and meager returns from the Eleventh give him practically all the delegates. Sixteen counties are yet to be heard from.

NO matter what its size, how constructed or where located—you can make your house a home (warm in winter and cool in summer), by having the walls and attic floor lined with Linofelt.

To make a house a home, an abode of affection, peace and rest, to make it a congenial abiding place, requires absolute protection against the elements; and to make it genuinely comfortable it is important that the walls or ceiling of the structure be properly sheathed with Linofelt.

Linofelt is the only substance that will keep every room uniformly comfortable—the only substance that will successfully keep the heat in, when the outside temperature hovers around the zero mark; and keep the heat out when a 90-degree-in-the-shade temperature outside forces everybody to seek a cool retreat.

LINOFELT

used in the walls of your house like building paper will not only save 40 % of your coal bill every winter but it will also keep it cool and inviting in summer. In other words, it will make your house a home in every sense of the word—every month in the year.

The ¼-inch flax fibres of Linofelt positively resist the passage of heat and cold more effectively than any other known substance; more effectively in fact than 38 separate thicknesses of building paper, even if it were possible or practicable to make use of that many thicknesses in ordinary construction work.

When you build or remodel your home this summer, remember what Linofelt will contribute to your own and your family's comfort; remember the saving in coal bills it will insure—then call up our local agent and discuss the matter with him.

Or, better still, send for your copy of the Linofelt booklet of facts and proofs now while you think of it. Post yourself regarding the uses and cost of Linofelt, and let us help you make your house a real home—in comfort, satisfaction and fuel economy—before cold weather sets in.

ANSWER TO CRITICISMS

Virgil O. Strickler Addresses Large Audience on Christian Science.

Replies to Objections Presented to Healing By Prayer.

A large audience gathered at the Lyceum theater yesterday afternoon, when Virgil O. Strickler, C. S., delivered a lecture under the auspices of the First Church of Christ Scientist. The lecturer was introduced by Rev. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the Unitarian church. Mr. Strickler said, in part:

It has been truly said that every person has a problem, either physical or mental, a domestic or a business problem, towards the solution of which he needs God's help, and if Christian Science is able to help people to be happy, to be less fault finding, to be healthy, to have less fear, and to have more love, then it is something that every one desires.

Before becoming interested in Christian Science I was a member of an orthodox church. I had been taught to read the Bible and to respect and venerate its teachings, and I did so. There was one thing, however, that I was never able to understand, and that was why everybody who lived at the time of Jesus and witnessed his wonderful works did not believe in him. It seemed to me that if I had lived at that time and had been able to see him heal leprosy, blindness, insanity and raise the dead, it would have been very easy to believe in him.

Why They Refused.

Since becoming a Christian Scientist I can understand why the people of his time were not convinced by the works of Jesus that he was the true representative of God. They believed that a Messiah would come, but they expected him to come in a certain way, and because he did not come in that way they refused to believe in him.

It is the same quality of thought that prevents people at the present time from being convinced that Christian Science is the truth by the works that it does. All of the churches pray for the recovery of the sick. They do so because they expect that God will heal according to His promises in the bible, but when the healing comes through the Christian Science church and as the result of Christian Science prayer, some are ready to condemn it. Because the healing Christ does not come in the way they have expected, they are just as ready today as two thousand years ago to declare that he did his works through Beelzebub.

Let us not rob ourselves of any good thing because of prejudice or sectarianism. Christian Science is knocking at the door of this age with a message of hope for everyone. It declares that the truth taught and practised by Jesus is operating today and that it is as available for us as it was for those who lived in Apostolic times.

Christian Science Healing.

The thing that has caused the most criticism of Christian Science is that it claims to heal the sick without drugs, by spiritual means only, through the medium of prayer, and as this is the phase of Christian Science in which the public seems to be most interested I shall take the liberty of discussing the subject with some practicularity, and shall endeavor to answer the objecttions that have been presented to healing by prayer.

There are two classes of critics who attack Christian Science healing. First, those who say that it is impossible, and therefore preposterous, for Christian Science to claim that the sick may be healed without drugs, through the medium of prayer, and, second, those who claim that it is unscriptural to attempt to do so. All criticism of Christian Science healing falls under these two heads.

With respect to the first class, those who say that it is impossible, it can only be answered that through Christian Science all kinds of diseases have been healed. This cannot be denied. The entire Christian Science movement is made up of people who have been healed. Most of them turned to Christian Science as a last resort, after having failed to get relief through other channels. Christian Science churches are built with money contributed as a thank offering to God by those who have been healed through Christian Science. The person in this day who denies that Christian Science heals the sick is merely closing his eyes to what he does not wish to see. It is a fact that Christian Science does heal in manner of disease and suffering, and it is a fact for which everyone should be grateful.

With respect to the second class, those who think that it is unscriptural for Christian Science to teach that the sick may be healed without drugs, by spiritual means only, through the medium of prayer, I will say that it is difficult to understand how any person who has studied the bible or believes in God, can be troubled by such a question. It seems obvious that people who pray to God for everything they desire might also be expected to pray to Him for deliverance from sickness as well as from sin.

A Startling Point.

Christian Science declares without any equivocation that the truth taught by Jesus, when rightly understood and rightly applied, is sufficient without the aid of anything else whatsoever both to heal the sick and to regenerate the sinner. This, then, gives us a starting point from which to begin to measure Christian Science with the Scriptures.

It must be admitted that Jesus healed the sick by metaphysical and not by physical means. He did not administer drugs nor recommend their use, and yet he healed the sick in some manner and by some process that was infallible. Organic diseases yielded to his treatment as readily as those that were purely functional. People who were born blind and with crooked and misshapen bodies found themselves restored to normal conditions under his pathological treatment, as readily as those who were suffering from fevers or insanity.

The question is, How did He do it, and is it possible for human beings now walking the earth to learn His method so as to be able to produce cures in the some way?

Many believe that Jesus was able to do His wonderful works becanse He was divine, and therefore that it is impossible to do the works He did, and even blasphemous for any person to claim to do them. This, however, will not explain the exercise of the same power by His disciples, and by the early Christians. Jesus Himself never said anything to justify such a belief. On the contrary, He apparently took every precaution to prevent such a theory from becoming prevalent.

All Power From God.

In a conversation with His disciples concerning this very matter, recorded in the fourteenth chapter of the Gospel of John, He said in the tenth verse: "Believest thou not that I am in the Father and the Father in me? The words that I speak unto you I speak not of myself: but the Father that dwelleth in me, He doeth the works." This was equivalent to saying that God is Mind and that He dwelt in Mind and Mind in Him, so that He of Himself did not do anything, but it was God operating through Him that did the works.

Giving all honor and power to the Father, He said, "the Son can do nothing of Himself."

On all occasions Jesus denied that He had any power in or of Himself, and declared always that it was God operating through Him that enabled Him to do the works. He likewise declared that the divine power, operating through Him, was available to every one and could be possessed and exercised by every one who accepted His teachings and fulfilled their requirements.

In this connection it is significant that Jesus never at any time sent out his disciples to preach without telling them also to heal the sick. There is no Scriptural authority for preaching that does not have coupled with it the command to heal. "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel" and "heal the sick" were his commands. Lest there should be any doubt about it he said: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father." Almost the last words that he uttered before his ascension were: "These signs shall follow them that believe" and among other things he enumerated that they should heal the sick.

Not once in all the record did he ever say to use drugs. Is it reasonable to suppose that he would have commanded his followers to heal the sick by Spiritual means and without drugs unless he had known that it was possible to do so? Christian Scientists are striving to obey Jesus in his two-fold command to "preach the gospel" and "heal the sick," and in doing so they have met with such success that Christian Science is now recognized as an efficient curative system.

Primitive Christian Healing.

It was a surprise to me, as it doubtless will be to some of you, to learn that the primitive church healed the sick and raised the dead. This fact was one of the things that first opened my thought to Christian Science and caused me to see that in healing the sick the Christian Science church was not only obeying the commands of Jesus to go into all the world and preach the gospel and heal the sick, but was in fact re-establishing the healing work of the primitive church.

History records that the healing of the sick was a part of the regular church ministry for 300 years after the crucifixion and that the dead were raised during the first and second centuries. Afterwards the healing power was lost and history shows why. You will recall that the Emperor Constantine became a convert to Christianity in the third century. Tradition records that he was healed of an incurable disease by some member of the Christian church and that out of gratitude for his healing he became an ardent Christian. He made the Christian religion the official religion of his empire with the result that the church became very popular. Multitudes of people united with it, not because of their spiritual growth or because they understood its teachings, but merely because it was the proper thing to do. The officials and courtiers made haste to unite with the church and in time it became a semi-political institution and the spirituality departed from it.

Healing is the Sign.

Although the public regards the healing as the most important part of Christian Science work, such is not the fact. The vital thing about Christian Science is that it teaches the truth about man's relationship to God. By realizing and understanding this truth healing comes naturally, and is merely the sign that the truth is understood. When the knowledge of the truth comes to the human consciousness it destroys and corrects the false beliefs that have been entertained and the effects of the false beliefs disappear, just as the erasing of a wrong figure in the problem at the blackboard and the substitution of the right figure brings the correct result.

Christian Scientists, therefore, do not regard the healing of the sick by spiritual means as either mysterious or miraculous. A miracle is assumed to be something supernatural, done in opposition to law, whereas Christian Science shows that healing is the result of the operation of spiritual law, and that it is the natural and necessary result of the operation of spiritual law in the human consciousness.

From that period the church went down until it seemingly reached the bottom at the time of Martin Luther. It had then fallen into such disorder that an upheaval occurred within its ranks, and from then till now the trend of human thought has been upward towards a better understanding of God. The Christian Science movement means that we have gotten back once more into the zone of primitive Christianity, and we are again witnessing, to some extent at least, the same results from the teachings of Jesus that were produced by the primitive church.

What further things shall be brought to light in the future will depend upon the spiritualization of thought and individual growth in the true understanding of God, but it can be safely predicted that the healing power of Christ, Truth, will never again be lost to mankind.

Why should any one not wish to believe that God heals the sick? Is it not a thing to be desired? and is it not something for which humanity has been praying through the centuries? Now that it is here why should any one not wish to accept it? Let each one ask himself that question.

What Is Christian Science?

Christian Science is a religion. It is the science of Christianity—the science of God and man. It reveals spiritual law, and explains the operation of that law in its relation to mankind and the universe. It defines mortal mind and immortal mind, and so makes plain the difference between mortal men and man made by God in His image and likeness.

Christian Science pleads for a rational understanding of God in place of mere belief about Him, and it is urging mankind to look for the real causation in mind and not in matter. It declares that God is not the author of sin, sickness, or death, hence these conditions are illegitimate and can be destroyed by a knowledge of the truth. It denies that there is any divine authority for man to sin, suffer, or die, and recalls the solemn declaration of the Scripture that God gave man as his birthright dominion over all the earth and over all that it contained. Jesus said: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Christian Science says to the tired and suffering man who is wandering about without any dominion at all, that the knowledge of the truth will set him free from his bondage to sin, suffering, sorrow, and failure, and will give to him that dominion which God said in the beginning belonged to man.

A correct understanding of God, therefore, is necessary as the foundation of religion. Any system of religious teaching that is founded upon an imperfect or an erroneous conception of God must necessarily fail to bring to the believer the comfort and help that he seeks.

50,000 COMPETE IN MUSICAL AT PARIS.

Paris, May 27.—The first day of the greatest international musical competition on record, which has brought more than 50,000 performers to Paris, proved a brilliant success. Two hundred and fifty bands from all parts of Europe competed for the $2,000 prize, which was awarded to the Montigny brass band, the members of which are employed in the Courrieres coal mines, the scene of the great disaster in 1906.

The day closed with an imposing open-air concert in front of the brilliantly illuminated city hall by the combined choirs of Leeds and Sheffield, accompanied by the Amiens orchestra.

A HOMECROFT CITY.

Take any large city which is pointed to as a triumph in city-building because of its size and its bulk prosperity.

Skim out of it the rich and the well-to-do. It will be a fortunate community in which this element aggregates more than ten per cent. Then survey what is left.

You will find horrible poverty and much of it. You will find wide-spread discomfort, and conditions in flats and tenements that form a wretched travesty on home life. You will find crowding, insanitary conditions, bad health, lessened human efficiency, and the misery and crime that inevitably come of these things.

Yet that is the uniform product of city-building as it is being practised in this country. It is what Duluth will come to if it does not guard against it.

The aim of the American Homecroft society, which is now a Duluth institution, is to create in Duluth a demonstration ground of the possibilities of building a city around the "acre home" idea.

It may sound visionary to some, this idea of having an acre home for every worker. That's largely because the practice has been to crowd cities into such small compass that only the very rich can afford such a luxury. Build your city large enough, and a majority of the workers can have their acre homes. It means more contentment and greater prosperity for the masses of the community. It means better living conditions for all. It means that childhood shall have its birthright of a place to play and to grow hearty and vigorous and self-sufficient. It means cheaper living as well as better. It may appear visionary, but if Duluth has the will to do it it is the most solid and substantial and feasible proposition ever put before the community.

And if Duluth does it, Duluth will be the model city of America—a city which will be pointed to as an example, a city to which pilgrimages will be made to find out how happiness and prosperity can be so admirably promoted, a city that will get more free advertising and better than any other community could buy with an unlimited advertising appropriation.

The immediate aims of the Duluth Homecroft society are twofold:

First, to foster the growth of Duluth along the Homecroft lines.

Second, to teach household economics, first to grown folk and later through the public schools to all the young folk, in such a way as to make possible and practicable the idea of "gardening for the year around." It will help people to find out how much they should plant of each vegetable and fruit so as to have a year's supply of it. It will teach them how to store and how to can and preserve their summer's surplus for winter's use.

Ordinary home gardening methods provide an ample supply during the growing season, with a surplus to waste or give away. Home gardening on a systematic basis, accompanied by Homecroft housekeeping, will provide a supply for the full year that will form a large proportion of the family's food—all of it if need be.

Nothing more important ever was begun in Duluth. Its possibilities are enormous, and are practically unlimited. They are limited only by the amount of work Duluth is willing to do to realize them. If Duluth has the will, it can make itself the Homecroft city—the model after which all cities will be built hereafter.

The movement deserves the fullest possible support.

THE STATEWIDE PRIMARY.

There can be no questioning the fact that there is need of and a widespread demand for the extension of the primary election law to state officers, from governor down.

Whatever his motives, therefore, it is a good thing that Governor Eberhart has called an extra session to provide a statewide primary law, and the inconsistency of his attitude on the extra session question is something aside from this issue which he will have to explain as best he may, or leave unexplained, as he pleases.

But the state needs a statewide primary law, and it should have a sound one, even if it does inconvenience the legislature to stay in session long enough to frame one good for all time.

The primary law passed at the extra session is not for this year and this campaign alone, but for the future as well.

What effect it may have on any or all of the present candidates for governor should not be considered by the legislature for a moment.

If the legislature deems it its duty to become first aid to the Eberhart candidacy and the state machine, it will pass a plain statewide primary law on the same plan as the present local primary election.

If the legislature realizes that it is its duty to provide a primary law that will permit a real voicing of party sentiment, then it will pass a law with the second choice provision added.

Even if it were conceded, for instance, that this year Eberhart is the very man the Republicans ought to nominate, and that the opposition to him as evidenced by the large number of candidates against him were due to a misunderstanding which would be overcome by election day, it would be folly, from a Republican viewpoint, to provide a primary law allowing a minority candidate to gain the nomination. For next time it might be that instead of an Eberhart, the minority candidate would be one with corporation backing influential enough to buy up votes here and there over the state while the popular vote was split between a number of progressive candidates.

In that way, just as Eberhart might win out this year by a straight primary, a man might be nominated who would be repudiated by seventy-five per cent of the party members.

Under a plain primary, with a large field of candidates to divide the progressive vote, one reactionary candidate might lose every county in the state and yet get more votes than any other candidate and be nominated.

That might happen this year with Eberhart. It might happen in 1914 with Ed Smith himself as the reactionary candidate.

This sort of thing could not happen under the second choice primary.

And this is the very sort of thing the legislature should guard against.

It should build for the future, and not for the effect on this pending campaign.

How Times Have Changed.

CONDUCTING CITY BUSINESS.

When James Bryce wrote "The American Commonwealth," a quarter of a century ago, he said that municipal government in this country was the colossal failure of American democracy. And it was so.

It is still so in many places, but the steady spread of the commission form of government, now operating in two hundred cities of all sizes, will make it necessary for Mr. Bryce to revise his statement the next time he publishes a new edition of his monumental work.

For under the commission plan, city government is coming to be the greatest triumph of American democracy.

There is no magic in the commission plan. It is no automatic device that will insure good government to a negligent, indifferent or corrupt community. There is no such thing as that and there never will be.

The commission plan is a simple mechanism for handling city business in a businesslike way. It concentrates responsibility so that there never is a doubt as to who is to blame if things go wrong, and it is so directly responsible and responsive to the public will that it is always easy to correct wrong conditions.

It is fair enough to say that some cities are getting fairly good government out of the old plan; but it is also fair enough to say that there is no city working under the old plan that is getting as good government as any city that is working under the new plan.

In other words, the poorest commission government is better than the best government of the old form.

While it is true that to a large extent the success of any form of government depends upon the alertness of the public and the character of the men it puts in office, it is also true that the form of government counts so much that the same men who could make a great success with a commission government would be so tied down and hampered by the old form of government that the best of them would get along but indifferently, and the majority of them would fail.

The fact that it is not entirely dependent on the personality of the officials is shown in the many cases where cities in taking on the commission plan have elected as commissioners men who were mayors or aldermen under the old form of government, with good results.

Commission government has come easier in cities where the old government was conspicuously bad, because that made it easier to create a public sentiment in favor of a change. But there is not a single city in the country remaining under the old system that cannot be benefited by the adoption of the commission form.

Duluth has had less to complain about than many other cities, perhaps less than most. But like many other cases, those who are satisfied with existing conditions are satisfied because they have had no opportunity to see what can be done with new conditions.

When Duluth adopts the commission form of city government, as it is certainly going to do at its earliest opportunity, it never will return to the old form; and after a year's trial whatever opposition there may be in the beginning will have vanished.

OVEREMPHASIZING EBERHART.

The Long Prairie Leader points out the danger that Republicans who are in revolt against the character of the machine that dominates Minnesota will lay so much stress on Governor Eberhart that they may be satisfied with beating him, even though he is supplanted by a nominee who will do the bidding of the machine as readily as he does.

There is something to this idea. Naturally, as governor, Eberhart is the most conspicuous mark for those aiming at the Eberhart-Smith machine. He typifies and represents that machine in public life. So criticism is directed at him, and nobody is saying that it is misdirected. A man elected governor by the people should be governor for the people, not for a cabal of special interests which manipulated his nomination and will try to manipulate it again.

But as the Long Prairie Leader points out, while it is important to beat Eberhart, it is still more important to beat the machine that is behind him. Eberhart is but an incident. The machine was before him, and unless it is smashed it will remain after him. The machine is intent upon its own ends, and it fosters Eberhart because he serves them. When he can no longer serve its ends, the machine will deftly shift the cut and slip in another joker.

Little would be gained if Eberhart were beaten and the machine permitted to put a "compromise candidate" in his place who would be more dangerous to the public interests, perhaps, because more subtle, more intelligent, more forceful and more plausible.

June is recognized as the month of brides, which perhaps accounts for the showers we are having in May.

Down in Ohio they've nominated a college president for sheriff. He'll have a snap after having dealt with untamed sophomores.

Current events lead one to believe that the Roman records fall short in not telling the respective pre-election claims of Brutus and Young Caesar.

Incidentally, it is noticeable that nobody has claimed that the state Republican convention helped Governor Eberhart to prove his title to the name "Fortunatus."

Marquette penitentiary convicts beat the Marquette city team at baseball the other day. Probably one lot of the convicts were able to kill the ball and the rest were competent base-stealers.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

SOCIETY'S CRIME.

To the Editor of The Herald:

J. M. Burwick sounded a timely note in his letter to "The Open Court" in your issue of May 23rd, entitled "And Still Society Commits Murder." Of course, no sane person seeks to palliate the crime of Richeson.

It was foul, cruel and terrible. But the hypocrisy of some of those who sat in judgment on this poor sinsick soul, is easily seen.

In talking over the matter with some, one can readily see the thin covering that veneers their religious professions. If Richeson had been related to some of them they would have found some pretext to get him off, though some religionists are cruel enough to attack anybody whether related to them by blood or marriage or any tie civil or religious.

Do such people realize that we are not under the Mosaic dispensation, but under that of Christ?

Richeson was deeply penitent and would no doubt have done as did the noble Father Damien, who preached among the lepers, and died a leper for their sakes. Society could have given Richeson a chance to expiate his crime.

I am a liberalist in religion and proud of the fact. If a certain philosophy be true, (and I think it is)—we have not killed Richeson—we have simply projected him violently upon the astral plane and added to the world's karma.

I say "we" though it is a pity to drag the helpless minority, who do not believe in capital punishment, into it—a gory, brutal, religious (?) legal murder. The execution of Richeson was performed with all the solemnity of law, man-made. The pity is that people will try to palm such "divine decrees" off on God.

It has marked the commonwealth of Massachusetts as still working under the leaven of Puritanism, a religion strict, sanctimonious and literal; a religion entered in history in the role of the persecuted who turned persecutor, the administrators of divine justice. These are they who, in times past, burned witches and the like. Yet let us hope that this great commonwealth shall yet see the passing of the brutal in orthodoxy and show the revelation of a God of love—not the fetish worship of an anthropomorphic deity of darkened human conception.

When we look upon God as our Father—just, loving, merciful—we shall not stand up in the seat of the scornful as judges—but smite upon the breast as did the penitent of old.

Criminals should be restrained—not murdered. A CLERGYMAN.

Duluth, May 25.

Good-Bye to "Sis Hopkins."

Buffalo Inquirer: Few patrons of the theater in Buffalo, or, in fact, throughout the length and breadth of the land, have not seen Rose Melville in "Sis Hopkins." It was twelve years ago that Miss Melville, under the management of the late John R. Stirling, then manager of the Star theater in this city, began her first road tour of the comedy that two weeks ago she presented for the last time. Miss Melville is in Buffalo this week. She is awaiting the arrival of her touring car in which she and her husband will tour Europe this summer. Having accumulated a fortune estimated at $250,000, Miss Melville has decided that something like 12,000 times is sufficient for the presentation of one role, and has buried "Sis Hopkins" for all time.

While "Sis Hopkins" traveled over the popular-priced circuit, it was one of the few comedies that could survive and make money for its owners indefinitely, and it was not because of falling off in receipts that Miss Melville concluded to retire. The past season's business is said to have exceeded all others.

Thousands of theater-goers will regret to learn that one of their favorites has made what they will term such an untimely decision. They will miss hearing Sis say: "They ain't no sense doin' nuthin' fer nobody what won't do nuthin' fer you."

The Socialist View of It.

Chicago Daily Socialist: The heavy plurality which Ohio has given to Roosevelt has settled the question of Taft's nomination. He looked to his home state to decide, and it decided against him. The sun of his power rose with his love of injunctions; it sets in his love of courts. He is now free to amble more or less gracefully down the hillside of his declining years toward the heaven of his ideals; the heaven typified by the capitalist courts.

The dissension and disorganization which has resulted in the Republican and Democratic parties from their efforts to take a preferential vote gives food for thought. The Socialist party is controlled by the referendum vote of its members. Labor unions can take a free democratic expression of opinion without tearing out their internal works and disrupting their organizations.

In what way are the old parties different? Why could they not put a question up to their members without disaster?

The answer is plain—it is because they have no members and because they have no principles. The old parties consist of nothing more than political machines organized to function for the capitalist class. They dare not declare the truth when they seek the votes of workers, so they make a great noise with platitudes and phrases.

The old parties openly play for the following of the disorganized mob. They have no membership outside of their machines. No organized, intelligent group of people would vote for Roosevelt; but the mob will follow him. He is the original phrase artist, the platitude star.

With the workers it is different. They are organized, their organizations are based upon principles. They are not afraid of democracy. It is the breath of their being.

The old parties cannot imitate in this. It would be the death of them. A referendum vote is successful only when organized, intelligent people are voting for a principle.

Old part politicians need not try to understand. They can't do it. Their only alternatives are boss rule or mob rule and extinction.

Democracy With the Bridle On.

Ellis O. Jones in Life: The Rev. Mr. James M. Gray, dean of the Moody Bible Institute, characterizes syndicalism" as the "latest form of 'unbridled democracy.'"

This is more interesting than enlightening. Of course, it is not hard to understand what "unbridled democracy" is. It is democracy without a bridle, and we presume that democracy without a bridle is a free democracy—one which may wander withersoever it listeth. But is it a good thing or a bad thing? If "syndicalism" is the latest form, what are some of the earlier forms? Such information might help us. Was the American Revolution, for instance, a form of bridled or unbridled democracy, if either?

Again, if democracy is to wear a bridle, who is going to put it on? And what kind of bridle should it be? Should it have a curb bit, a snaffle bit or a straight bit? And who is going to hold the reins? Would there be any difference between a bridled democracy and an oligarchy or an aristocracy? In short, would a bridled democracy be a democracy at all?

Upon the answers to these questions, if Mr. Gray's characterization is correct, would largely hang the fate of "syndicalism."

Easily Proved.

THE EXTRA SESSION.

Bomb in the Camp.

Albert Lea Standard: Governor Eberhart has called an extra session of the legislature to meet June 4 and it is one of the biggest sensations that ever happened in the state. It is a veritable bomb in the Republican camp and it is a question whether its explosion will create the greater havoc to his opponents or to his own ambition. Its main ostensible purpose is to respond to the demand for state wide primaries for the nomination of governor and other state officers, but it is really a political blast of the governor to gain popularity and support which have lately been sweeping away from him in a flood that would inevitably engulf him unless promptly subdued.

The Last Hope.

Mora Times: A drowning man will grasp at a straw. As a last hope to save himself from defeat, Governor Eberhart has called an extra session of the lefislature to meet June 4th to pass a state wide primary election law. The goversor's action was precipitated by the action of last week's state convention in demanding a preferential vote on the governor at the coming primaries to select delegates to nominate a state ticket. The sentiment of the delegates at the convention was overwhelmingly against the governor, forecasting a certain defeat at the July convention. With half a dozen candidates in the field for a state wide primary contest, the governor hopes to pull through against a divided field of progressives. It is certain that a state wide promary bill will be passed and in all probability a second choice provision will be added. Minnesota is overwhelmingly progressive and with a second choice provision, the voters will be able to select one of the progressive candidates either as first or second choice.

Desperate Measures.

North Branch Review: The governor's action is considered by politicians as a desperate cast of the dice, in an effort to retrieve fallen political fortunes. He has given the cold shoulder many times within the past year to appeals for an extra session. He calls it at a time when no appeal is made, but on the eve of a contest for governor which is plainly going against him. It is based on the action of the Republican state convention, in asking the state central committee to provide for a popular vote in the primaries for governor. Governor Eberhart was not at the convention hall. He was in Minneapolis and was notified by telephone of the convention's actions. The call at this late day is considered by many as "the act of a drowning man grabbing at a straw."

Farmer Ben Speaks.

Farmer Ben in Austin Transcript: Governor Eberhart has drove the last nail in his political coffin by callin' a extra session of the legislatur for June 4 to fix up a preferential primary on governor as demanded by the state Republican convention. There is no need or sense in it at this stage of the game as the state convention had fixed the whole thing up thru the central committy. Eberhart is so desperate that he thinks he can squeeze in on a minority vote with the field divided betwixt Lee and Gordon and Young and Spooner and the others. The only kind of a primary law would be one with a second choice and one which would make a majority vote a winner. A extra session will be a big expense as it always is and the regular session meets next winter. There is no use of talkin' reapportionment at this time for it can't be passed. Eberhart is deader than ever. Ed Smith who is his adviser in playin' a slick game but it won't win out this trip. There was no call for a extra session now and Eberhart will find it out to his sorrow.

Too Belated.

Long Prairie Leader: The governor's call for an extra session of the legislature is a belated response to the demands of the people.

Called ostensibly in response to public sentiment for a state wide primary law, the move has all the ear marks of a sharp political trick.

Who'll Enact It?

Foley Independent: Like a drowning man Eberhart resorts to the enacting of legislation in the eleventh hour favorable to the people.

Disgusted.

Elk River Star-News: There is very general disgust over the action of the governor in calling an extra session of the legislature at this time, and if his object was to re-establish himself in the good graces of the public he missed the point by a hundred miles.

Deathbed Repentance.

Luverne Journal: Eberhart is overcome with repentance and in his dying political hour attempts an act of charity which he hopes will gain him admission through the marble gates of the governor's office.

Still Robbing The Consumer.

New York World: Possibly to test the patience and credulity of the public, the suggestion is put forth that the usual June discount of 30 cents a ton on coal will not be offered because of scant supply and the higher labor cost of mining. The usual April and May discounts of 50 and 40 cents a ton have already been withheld.

There is no coal shortage. The mining companies put out large quantities in anticipation of a strike. They have boasted of the fact. Deferring orders or filling them only in part has been resorted to as a precaution, but is no longer necessary. There is plenty of time to mine coal for the heavy winter demand.

The raising of miners' wages by 5½ per cent. adds less than 3 cents a ton to the mine cost of coal. In keeping the June price 30 cents a ton above its normal level the operators merely propose to do what they did after the great coal strike of ten years ago, and on the strength of a small wage advance exact it manyfold from the public.

For ten years and more, since the Morgan "gentlemen's agreement" was made by the coal railroads, New York and the Eastern cities have been paying an exorbitant monopoly price. This vast, crude, cheaply handled tonnage pays a fancy price for freighting and the profit is reflected in a market price of 570 for Lackawanna stock in 1911; of 178 7-8 for Delaware and Hudson; of 161 for Reading, 181 for Lehigh Valley and 307 for Jersey Central.

There is no more urgent case in interstate commerce for government interference than the exploitation of the public by the anthracite-coal combination.

Controlling the Situation.

Lippincott's: One year, when the youngsters of a certain Illinois village met for the purpose of electing a captain of their baseball team for the coming season, it appeared that there were a number of candidates for the post, with more than the usual wrangling.

Youngster after youngster presented his qualifications for the post; and the matter was still undecided when the son of the owner of the ball-field stood up. He was a small, snub-nosed lad, with a plentiful supply of freckles, but he glanced about him with a dignified air of controlling the situation.

"I'm going to be captain this year," he announced convincingly, "or else father's old bull is going to be turned into the field."

He was elected unanimously.

Reforming the Express Companies.

Life: Extensive preparations seem to be making by the interstate commerce commission to regulate certain practices of the express companies. While these corrective measures seem in themselves to be all right, as far as they go, we find it difficult to grow enthusiastic over them. It seems too much like begging the question.

The question is: Shall we have a parcels post?

THE LIGHTFOOT GIRLIE.

From "Billie Fortune and the Lightfoot Girlie," by William R. Lighton, in Saturday Evening Post: It seemed as if I was goin' to get my money's worth, from the changeableness of her. I'm sure do like 'em that way. I'd just as soon make love to a cigar-store Indian woman as to a girl that couldn't throw some variety into it to keep you guessin'. What else is love-makin' for? Kittie, she certainly had a changeable spirit.

We hadn't more than got set down to our table, over back in the corner, till she commenced on me. She'd hung her coat up, and pulled off her gloves and fluffed herself up some; and then she hitched her chair over toward me and leaned her head close, with her big blue eyes starin' right straight into mine. "Please tell me about Dreamland ranch," says she.

I don't know—mebbe it was the bright lights; or mebbe it was the newness of it; or mebbe it was the sweet smell of her hair and the look of her pretty little flower-bud of a mouth; or mebbe it was somethin' else. Anyway, I lit in and told her a tale. I told it as good as I could, too—and I'm somethin' of an artist with the bright paint when I start to put it on, if there's nobody listenin' that knows the facts. I forget how many miles of land I told her I had—but there was twenty thousand cow-critters on it—grades and full-bloods, and three or four big bands of horses spread round over the country, besides a big interest in the wool business on the next place to Dreamland; and it was all payin' me money faster than I could keep it counted, let alone spendin' it. With all the fancy touches I put in, me gettin' warmed up to it, I had myself most believin' in it. Kittie, she was plumb convinced. When I slacked up, on account of the first part of the supper comin' on, she fetched a deep breath and her little hand was tremblin' so she spilled some water out of her glass on the tablecloth.

"Oh, dear!" she says, real soft and sad, and her innocent face sort of clouded over with solemness. "It sounds too good to be actually true in this dreadful world—one person having everything that makes life worth while. Why couldn't there be enough to go round?" And with that she commenced drawin' some kind of a picture with her fork beside her plate, broodin' over it, with her pretty head bent down and not even lookin' at her oysters.

"This dreadful world?" I says after her. "Why, what's the matter with it? It always stuck me like a right good little old world."

She give me a long, steady, deep look. "Yes," she says, just above a whisper; "of course!" She started to dabble a little with her supper; but then she quit and put her fork down, proppin' her chin on her hands and studyin' me with that wide stare of hers. "Mr. Fortune," she says, real sudden, "how do you think life would seem to you on forty dollars a week?"

Whee! Murder! It brought me back with a slam. Me and my little thirty-five a month! It was sure comical.

I tried to think of it, but I couldn't. The most I ever dragged down in my life was forty-five a month and my board, with free cartridges for my gun throwed in—and I had to herd sheep for that; so it hadn't lasted. Forty a week and buy my own clothes! And there was me settin' out to play the prince-boy with her. I had to laugh.

"Well, gee-whiz!" says I. "How do you ever manage?"

The New Birth of Freedom.

Woodrow Wilson: I was saying today to some of the fellows out at Harvard that I wished I had been born twenty years later so that I could have had twenty years more of this exhilarating century upon which we have entered, a century which greets the challenge to originative effort. This is no century for any man who looks over his shoulder; it is no century for any man who has no stomach for the facts that change even while he tries to digest them; a century in which America is to prove once more whether she has any right to claim leadership in the world of originative politics and originative economic effort. This is a century just as worth living in as was the eighteenth century, better worth living in than was the nineteenth century.

When I hear men say that you are attacking American civilization by proposing, not rapid but slow, steady—if necessary, organic—changes, to meet the facts. I wonder what they think of when they look at the flag of the United States. The flag of the United States stands for the biggest kick on record.

The flag of the United States, in my imagination, consists of alternate strips of white parchment upon which are written the aspirations of men, and streams of blood poured out to verify their hope, and in the corner of that flag sparkle the stars of those states that have one after another swung into the firmament to show that there is a God in heaven, that men will not abandon hope so long as they have confidence in the God of Righteousness, the God of Justice, the God of Liberty.

Leaving the Club.

Chicago Tribune: The hasty interpreter of political events will relate Senator Crane's determination not to stand for re-election to his recent defeat as delegate to the national convention. Unfriendly critics will hint that discretion is the better part of valor in the case of Senator Crane. We concede no weight to such views.

We get Senator Crane's meaning fully. It is a rebuke and a forewarning. Senator Crane consented to go to the senate upon the understanding that its membership was limited to gentlemen and to men who would not presume to question gentlemen. As a result of the impending change in the manner of electing senators Senator Crane foresees a serious degeneration of the membership. There will be members who speak above a whisper habitually, who wear hobnails instead of rubber heels, and lack proper respect for important citizens. Some of them will take that Fourth of July stuff seriously and even insist upon applying it.

Really, with direct primaries, direct elections, campaign publicity, and restriction of expenditures, neither the senate nor politics is going to be what it was. Useful and respectful men like Mr. Lorimer are interfered with, and men the people ought to thank for saving them the trouble of running the government and seeing to the laws are not appreciated.

Senator Crane is just going to let the republic go to the demnition bowwows and serve us right.

The Height of the Ridiculous.

I wrote some lines once on a time
In wondrous merry mood,
And thought as usual men would say
They were exceeding good.

They were so queer, so very queer,
I laughed as I would die;
Albeit, in the general way,
A sober man am I.

I called my servant, and he came;
How kind it was of him,
To mind a slender man like me,
He of the mighty limb!

"These to the printer," I exclaimed,
And in my humorous way,
I added (as a trifling jest),
"There'll be the devil to pay."

He took the paper and I watched
And saw him peep within;
At the first line he read his face
Was all upon the grin.

He read the next; the grin grew broad,
And shot from ear to ear;
He read the third; a chuckling noise
I now began to hear.

The fourth, he broke into a roar;
The fifth, his waistband split;
The sixth, he burst five buttons off,
And tumbled in a fit.

Ten days and night, with sleepless eye,
I watched that wretched man,
And since I never dare to write
As funny as I can.

—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Scandalous Politics.

New York World: Certain opponents of Theodore Roosevelt are trying to hurt him by circulating stories that he is a drunkard. They ought to be ashamed of themselves.

To attack the personal habits of a public man is vile enough even when the attack has foundation. To fabricate lies about his character and habits is infamous.

We were glad to believe that with the first Cleveland campaign this country had seen the last of such disgusting practices. But unfortunately the breed of pious blackguards seems to be one of the hardest breeds to exterminate. These men undoubtedly knew that Mr. Roosevelt would not have the slightest trouble in puncturing their slander. But they probably believed that in puncturing it he would confess to being no teetotaler. And they figured on exploiting this admission among the total-abstainers and the temperance unions.

We in this country have gone pretty far in the organized minding of one another's business, but there are a good many Americans left who believe in a thing that used to be known as personal liberty. They believe that whether a man takes a stein of beer or four glasses of milk for his lunch, whether he takes sauterne or unfermented grape juice for his dinner, whether he even takes a cocktail before his dinner, is exclusively his own affair and in no sense a matter for presidential primaries.

If Colonel Roosevelt's intemperance consisted in a weakness for a glass too much instead of a presidential term too much, he would not be a menace to the country.

If certain of his enemies would tell the truth about his being dangerously drunk with ambition and would cease telling lies about his being drunk with mere alcohol, they would not be a disgrace to the country.

Curses.

Lippincott's: They were in Italy together.

"If you would let me curse them black and blue," said the groom, "we wouldn't have to wait so long for the trunks."

"But, dearest, please don't. It would distress me so," murmered the bride.

The groom went off, but quicly returned with the porters before him trundling the trunks at a double quick.

"Oh, dearest, how did you do it? You didn't—?"

"Not at all. I thought of something that did quote as well. I said, 'S-s-s-susquehanna, R-r-r-rappahannock!'"

ENTERTAINING VAUDEVILLE BILL

Trained Birds Feature New Program at the Empress.

There is an all around good show at the Empress this week.

Although the bill has five good features, each a headliner in its specialty, the act presented by Mme. Marzello and her troupe of trained birds, stands foremost. It is an act that one does not see often and it met with hearty favor with two large audiences yesterday.

Mme. Marzello has cleverly trained her collection of birds. They do many strange and unheard of tricks. Some of them have an acrobatic turn, while others pose for the entertainment of the audience.

From an artistic standpoint, the act is a beautiful one. There is an abundance of handsome plumage of all colors from the snowy white of the cockatoo to the funeral black of the raven. The picture is an attractive one.

The offering of Crimmins & Gore in their novelty, "What Are the Wild Waves Saying," is an amusing and entertaining one. Miss Gore is a six-footer and is seen in a type of the New York Bowery girl. There are many original comedy surprises in this act.

Hayden & Vine were seen in a clever singing and dancing specialty. They are a witty pair of entertainers and have created a reputation for themselves on the circuit. Miss DeVine has a voice of range and sweetness and Mr. Hayden can also sing creditably. He is a comedian of more than ordinary ability.

The Gymnastic gyrations of Rhena and Azora won much applause for them from yesterday's audiences. Their work is very difficult, but is accomplished with apparent ease and in an artistic manner.

Jerome & Barry, comedy acrobats of the India rubber variety, have a turn which drew a good many laughs yesterday. Their comedy is of the horseplay order, but is clean and more or less original.

The moving pictures are up to the usual high standard.

Lyceum Notes.

The Cincinnati, O., Tribune of Tuesday, September 14, says: Beverly at the Grand this week has created the most favorable impression of any of the productions that has been seen at the theater this season." In preparing "Beverly" for the stage, the manager, A. G. Delameter, has taken great care to retain all of the characters and scenes appearing in the book, and has faithfully reproduced them on the stage. The same great company and scenic production that delighted Cincinnati will be at the Lyceum Decoration day matinee and night. It is en route to Broadway, New York.

• • •

A line of ticket buyers at the Lyceum was in evidence this morning when the first day's sale for the engagement of "The Pink Lady" at that theater opened. Judging by this great demand, coupled with the usually heavy mail orders that have been pouring into the theater for the past several days, established beyond a doubt that the engagement of this great hit will mark a local record in keeping with the fame and success of the piece during its long New York run in the few cities it has been seen in since the road tours were inaugurated. The engagement is for Friday and Saturday nights with matinee Sturday.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Meager Returns From Caucuses Show That Wilson Men Will Control State Convention June 6—Senator Clapp May Be Vice Presidential Nominee—Spooner's Position in Doubt.

Wilson Men in Control.

Democratic caucuses were held in most counties in Minnesota Saturday and the meager returns show that supporters of Woodrow Wilson will have a safe majority in the state convention here June 6.

Caucus reports have been received from only a few counties, but the reports with the known Wilson sentiment in the state indicate that the claims of the Wilson men that they will control the state convention are well founded.

In many counties caucus delegates were elected uninstructed, but the county conventions will probably instruct their delegates in most cases. There will be a number of uninstructed delegates in the convention here, however, and some counties will send Bryan delegations, with Wilson as second choice. Clark may have a few county delegations.

The result in St. Louis county was a foregone conclusion. There will be a small Clark minority in the county convention at Virginia Wednesday, but the delegation to the state convention will be instructed for Wilson. In the city of Duluth, out of eighty-two delegates elected to the county convention, only six or seven are known to be for Clark, while the others are for Wilson. Virginia, Hibbing and other towns report the election of Wilson delegations.

The Hennepin and Ramsey county caucuses will be held tonight. In Ramsey county the old Democratic organization is in control and will probably succeed in sending a Clark delegation from the county convention Wednesday. In Hennepin county there is a close fight, with both sides claiming the county. The Hennepin and Ramsey caucuses will not only determine the delegation of 131 to the state convention, but will decide the two district delegates to the Baltimore convention.

There is a strong Bryan sentiment in many places in the state, but it is coupled with Wilson sentiment. Bryan has announced himself definitely out of the race, and Bryan followers in Minnesota are supporting Wilson. The old Hearst crowd, which figured in the contest in the convention here in 1904, is supporting Clark and even with a minority may be able to make things interesting at the convention here.

Caucus results indicate that Benton, Le Seuer, Traverse, Hubbard, Morrison, Martin, Stevens, St. Louis and Stearns counties will send solid Wilson delegations to the state convention, giving Wilson a total of 127 delegates. Rice, Waseca and Pennington counties, with thirty-two delegates, appear to be for Clark, and Lyon and Kittson counties for Bryan, with Wilson as second choice. Nicollet, Meeker and Winono counties, with forty-seven delegates, are doubtful.

In many of the counties the Democratic organizations are so imperfect that caucus returns are not made to any headquarters, and the results will not be known until the county conventions meet. The Wilson men are satisfied that the strong indications of Wilson strength before the caucuses will be borne out by the results in the county conventions.

Clapp for Chairman.

Senator Moses E. Clapp of Minnesota will probably be the Roosevelt candidate for temporary chairman of the national convention, opposing Senator Elihu Root of New York, who was chosen for the place by the national committee.

Roosevelt is not satisfied with the selection of Root, and the colonel's supporters will probably endeavor to have the convention overrule the national committee. If Roosevelt men are in control, Root will not be allowed to take the chair and Senator Clapp will be substituted. Senator Clapp is a successful presiding officer, and he would stand on the honors at the Chicago convention with dignity and force.

Incidentally, should Senator Clapp be chosen temporary chairman, he would be placed in the limelight as a candidate for the nomination for vice president. In the event of the colonel's nomination for president. Senator Clapp is a big man in the senate, an able campaigner and a source of strength for any ticket. He would be more than a figurehead in the vice presidential chair.

Nelson for Delegate.

S. B. Nelson of Luverne has become a candidate for delegate from the Second district to the Democratic national convention at Baltimore. Mr. Nelson stands a good chance of being one of the delegates. He has strong support in the Second district, and his personality will make him friends among the delegates to the state convention who will have the selection of the district delegates. Others mentioned for the honor are L. L. Champlin of Mankato, T. J. Knox of Jackson and Albert Pfaender of New Ulm.

Andrist to Make Campaign.

Prof. C. M. Andrist of the University of Minnesota, who has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor, will make the run at the primary if a primary election law is passed at the special session of the legislature. Prof. Andrist has received many favorable press notices and will command support in many parts of the state.

Spooner Source of Worry.

L. C. Spooner's plans are giving Twin City political writers considerable worry. When Mr. Spooner announced his candidacy for governor, he also said that he would not relinquish his right to be a candidate for his house seat, if he were defeated at the convention. The legislature will probably pass a primary law, setting the primary in September, so Mr. Spooner will be called upon the choose. Another complication is the entrance of Lindbergh into the race for the senatorship, and Alvah Eastman's candidacy for congress in the Sixth. That leaves the field for congressman-at-large open. If the extra session should fail to pass a congressional reapportionment bill, Mr. Spooner would like to be congressman-at-large, it is said. Mr. Spooner will probably rest on his oars until after the legislature convenes, and will declare himself only after he gets a line on the legislature's course.

Sixth Is Prominent.

The Sixth district is getting more than usual prominence in the present campaign. With William E. Lee in the field for governor and Alvah Eastman for congressman-at-large and with Senator Nelson as a prospective candidate for re-election, the Sixth was lining up to go before the Republican convention with a request for more than it would be likely to get. Mr. Lee didn't like the prospects. Now that Congressman Lindbergh has entered the field for senator, and Alvah Eastman has resolved himself into a district instead of a state candidate, the Sixth has dropped its aspirations to one office. Under a primary, a multiplicity of candidates for the Sixth would not greatly embarrass anybody, so Mr. Lee's fears were relieved even before the new alignment.

To Rescind Call.

The Republican state central is meeting in St. Paul today to rescind the call for the state convention July 2. The extra session call made the action necessary, in order that confusion might be avoided. A state-wide primary law will obviate the necessity for a convention. Incidentally, the Democratic state convention here June 6 will probably be the last political convention held in Minnesota. A presidential primary law will be in effect before the next presidential contest.

bill was so drawn as to involve both of these transportation services.

The shipping interests on the Great Lakes are controlled practically by two great powers, the Steel trust, which has its own fleet of ore carriers, and the railroad companies, such as the Lehigh, the Erie, the New York Central and the Lackawanna, which have their vessels that carry freight westward and wheat eastward in the season. Under this law, if it shall become a law, the railroad companies will be compelled to dispose of their vessels and leave the field open to free competition.

On Long Island Sound practically all of the passenger lines are controlled by the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad. This monopoly, too, will go down if the house bill shall become a law. That is to say it will go down in a certain sense. But even if the railroad companies do not own the ships they still own the docks and the railroad connections. Both on the Great Lakes and on the Sound this control or wharfage facilities and railroad connections will neutralize any sort of regulation which may be imposed by congress. It is perfectly clear that a ship without a wharf is useless and a ship with a wharf destitute of any connection with a railroad trunk line is next to useless. The bill as passed by the house does not meet all the necessities of the case. But it is becoming apparent that the matter of the relationship of maritime and railroad transportation is going to be presently put under the control of the interstate commerce commission. That commission has shown itself so vigorous and so exacting in its regulation of railroads that there is every reason to believe that it will grapple with this problem in a spirit that will give promise to the people of relief from the present railroad policy.

The New Jersey Contest.

New Jersey is the last fighting point between the Taft and Roosevelt forces. It ought to be looked upon as a Taft state because Eastern sentiment is rather for the president than for the colonel. But New Jersey is a state in which the power of money properly dispensed on election or primary day is exceedingly potent. Mr. Roosevelt seems to have all the money there is. There has probably been no campaign for a nomination so lavishly financed as this of his. If he can pour into New Jersey the amount of money with which he flooded Ohio, he can probably carry the state. If he can spend in Newark and Paterson as much as he spent in the county of New York, he ought to be able to swing those political centers, because $5 a vote is a pretty good price to be paid in a primary election.

Mr. Taft is making a hard fight according to his lights. Those lights are not very brilliant and some of his best friends are inclined to commiserate him upon the form his contest has taken. It was not fortunate for him to describe himself as a man of straw, or to express his postion as that of a rat in the corner. Probably it would have been better for him had he relied upon the exalted position of the presidency to protect him against the vociferous attacks of Roosevelt. But as he has chosen to go into the open and fight it has become perfectly evident that neither Mr. Roosevelt nor President Taft can under any possibility be elected. Should Roosevelt be nominated, which is improbable, the host of Taft Republicans would vote against him at the polls. I note that Col. Roosevelt says that if he controls the convention—he didn't really say "if"—Senator Rooth will not be permitted to be the temporary chairman, although selected by the national committee. In 1896 David B. Hill was chosen by the national committee of the Democratic party to be the temporary chairman of the convention. He was brusquely set aside by Mr. Bryan, precisely as Mr. Roosevelt now plans to set aside Senator Root. During the course of the campaign it was made very clear that the affront to Hill was costing Bryan the support of many influential men and at the end it cost him many votes. Mr. Bryan says that Col. Roosevelt has adopted most of his theories and seized upon most of his political clothes. It might be wise for the colonel to look up the record of what happened when Hill was set aside before he applies his big stick to Root.

Selling Short Weight Butter.

Lond du Lac., Wis., May 27.—Fred E. Downing, chief inspector of weights and measures of the state of Wisconsin, is here for several days on inspection and test work. Mr. Downing is also investigating the sale of butter in prints in local stores. In one store he visited he stated that he found butter prints being sold which weighed only fifteen ounces, but which were being billed as pound prints.

HITS AT TAFT EDITORIALLY

Col. Roosevelt Writes on "The Rank and File" and Bosses.

Declares His Fight Is for Justice to the Plain People.

New York, May 27.—In an editorial entitled "The Rank and File," by Col. Theodore Roosevelt, which will be published in the Outlook magazine of June 1, the colonel reiterates his charges that President Taft has been using federal patronage to coerce Southern delegates, and insists that the issue of the campaign is bossim. The editorial reads in part:

"This campaign has been a fight by the rank and file against the bosses. It is we progressives who are the real Republicans, because it is we who are standing along with the rank and file. The popular primaries have shown that the Republican voters want to govern themselves.

"Every party has to have its leaders. The true party leader is the man who tries to lead and not drive the voters, and to put into effect their deliberate judgment. He has the right and the duty to go before the voters and try to persuade them, but he has no right, by trickery or violence, to try to impose his own will upon them against theirs. The man who tries to impose his will upon the voters is not a leader—he is a boss.

Boss or People?

"In this campaign we have shown that wherever the people have a chance to express themselves, they have no use for bosses.

"The only question that remains now, is who is going to be master—the boss, or the people?

"When he was speaking in Ohio, President Taft said 'bossism is a false issue and a sham.' is it? The Republican voters in Ohio where Mr. Taft made that statement did not think so. They joined with the Republican voters of Illinois and Pennsylvania and Oregon and California and Maryland and Nebraska and Wisconsin and North Dakota in deciding that they did not want what the bosses had been telling them they must have.

"Efforts to substitute the will of the bosses for the will of the people were made in Kentucky, in Indiana, in Michigan, in New York, and notoriously in the South. Now the fight that once seemed almost hopelessly one-sided is ending in a victory.

Deliberate Judgment Winning.

"It has been proved that nothing can withstand the deliberate judgment of the people. In those places where the honest and decent citizens, the plain people, the rank and file, have had a chance to fight they have done their own fighting, and, nine times out of ten, have overwhelmingly won. And where these citizens, these plain people, who belong to the rank and file, have been denied the chance to fight, we progressives have been fighting their battles, and now have made it certain that they will have the right in the future to fight for themselves.

"Our cause is the cause of justice for the rank and file. When special interests scheme to deprive the people of their property in the natural resources of the country, we stand for the right of the people to control that property. When the workers have to bear all the weight of accident and death that ought to be borne by industry, we stand for human rights against the claims of property. When antiquated and worn-out views of the laws and of social justice stand in the way of the courts giving a square deal, we stand for the rights of the rank and file, even against the traditions of judges. So, when the power of the office-holder and the political leader is used to prevent the rank and file from enforcing their will, we stand for the right of the rank and file against the boss.

"Special Privileges."

"Those who want special privilege know very well who their friends are. They are glad to make alliance with the bosses. This is what they mean when they talk about being 'friends of constitutional government.' The way to break the power of special privilege is to break the power of a boss on whom it depends.

"There are well-meaning people among our opponents; but the fact that they mean well does not prevent them from being allies and friends of bossism. They are willing to be put in this position because they distrust the rank and file. It is no wonder that they dread the popular primary, for the popular primary is an appeal to the rank and file whom they distrust.

"It has been said by my opponents that what I am standing for is 'reversion to the party.' When they speak of the party they mean the bosses, and their understrappers who have so often manipulated the party machinery. I decline to recognize the bosses as embodying in their own persons the party. I recognize the rank and file as making up the party, and it is to them that my loyalty is due. When I say, therefore, that no Republican is called upon to surrender to the irresponsible action of party bosses, I am showing my loyalty to the people. No loyalty is due to the bosses who defy or disregard the will of the people. The only loyalty I acknowledge is loyalty to the rank and file, loyalty to the people."

1,000 MOORS DEAD ON BATTLEFIELD

Report of Fierce Fight By French Troops Published in Paris.

Paris, May 27.—A report is published here that 10,000 Moors have made an attack on the French camp at Merada, near the Algerian frontier; that the French troops lost 150 killed and 380 wounded, and that the Moors were repulsed, leaving 1,000 dead and 3,000 wounded on the field.

The ministry of war has not received any confirmation of the report.

NO SETTLEMENT WITH COLOMBIA IS MADE.

Washington, May 27.—So far as the state department is aware, no arrangement has been reached between American Minister Dubois and the Colombian government looking to the recognition by the latter of the independence of Panama, in return for a $30,000,000 indemnity, as was reported from Cartagena. There have been no negotiations between the two countries regarding Panama for nearly a year, unless the letter of Senor Ospina, which led to his retirement as minister to the United States, may be so regarded.

IRON AND STEEL REVIEW

New York, May 27.—The steel companies are compelled to resort to all sorts of expedients in an effort to meet the importunities of consumers for deliveries of finished material on contracts. Although new orders are less heavy, specifications are large and pressing and it is now impossible to increase output except by substituting Bessemer for open hearth steel, when allowed. It is like carrying coals to Newcastle to send crude steel to Pittsburg, but that is being done and more billets are being sought in the open market for similar shipment. Chicago is shifting orders to Alabama to make headway against the pressure for shipments.

The recent large buying of locomotives is reflected in an advance of $2 per ton in the price of lap weld steel boiler tubes, and the urgency for prompt shipments for bars, plates and shapes is evident in a further hardening of prices for warehouse stocks. Railroad demands for equipment are far from satisfied and building and bridge contracts are increasing.

Last week the Illinois Central ordered 4,000 cars, the Sunset Central 1,750 cars and the Seaboard Air line 26 locomotives. The Boston & Maine has prepared specifications for 4,880 cars and 150 locomotives. Several bridge contracts also were placed last week by railroads. Pacific railroads ordered 30,000 tons of rails and miscellaneous orders brought the total to 41,000 tons. A change of specifications has made the pending contract for 150,000 tons of rails for Australia more attractive to American mills.

The woman who got tired

Once upon a time there was a woman who got tired of cooking—especially soups.

That evening she served a certain soup—and its name was Campbell's Chicken Gumbo.

And the husband of the woman said, "My Dear, you are certainly improving".

And the woman smiled—and the next day she had conversation with her grocer.

STEGE-WHITE.

Treasurer of Orpheum Theater Becomes a Benedict.

A wedding of interest both here and throughout the state took place Saturday afternoon when Miss Clara Stege of Wausau, Wis., and Arthur B. White were married at the home of Mr. and H. E. Billings, 518 East First street. Rev. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church read the service at 5 o'clock in the presence of only a few friends. Lilacs and palms were effectively used in decorating the house.

Mr. White is the treasurer of the Orpheum theater and is one of the best known theatrical men in the state. He has been connected with theaters in St. Paul and Minneapolis and other cities, and has a very wide acquaintanceship throughout the state. His bride is the daughter of a well known Wausau family.

An Orpheum party was given Saturday evening for Mr. White and his bride, and they were entertained at dinner yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tate, 514 East First street.

Mr. and Mrs. White left last evening for Chicago on the 6:15 train and will spend the summer at Forest Lake where Mr. White has a summer home, returning to Duluth when the Orpheum reopens in the fall.

The wedding was in the nature of a surprise to their friends, who did not expect it would be held until today.

Mr. Billings, at whose home the wedding took place, is the manager of the Duluth Orpheum.

May Be Vice President.

Miss Annabelle Dunning, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Dunning of this city, has been chosen one of the two candidates for the vice presidency of the junior class at Vassar college for next year. Th other candidate is Miss Helen Hughes of Washington, D. C., daughter of Ex-Governor Hughes of New York. The final election will take place this week.

Hayt, past chief of Gate City Temple No. 10, Pythian Sisters of Duluth, had the honor of being the youngest most excellent chief to take the grand temple degree of the Pythian Sisters at Albert Lea, May 14 and 15. Mrs. Hayt was also complimented by the local temple on making the best grand temple report to the local temple.

CONCERT A SUCCESS.

Large Audience Pleased With Concert Program.

Enthusiastic and well pleased, the large audience which attended the concert given last evening at the Orpheum theater by the Bradbury Concert orchestra left feeling that they had heard a program delightful in every respect.

This was the first of the series and was a most auspicious opening of the season, for music lovers who went will attracted by the excellence of the programs given.

want to go again and others will be

The orchestra numbers were exceptionally well given under the direction of Fred W. Bradbury and the soloists who assisted were also well received.

Mrs. Bertha James Gilbert was heard again after an absence of several months. Her vocal solo, "Voices of Spring" by Strauss called for several insistent encores.

Miss Valborg Gunderson, violinist, played "Hejre Kati" by Hubay and "Meditation" from Thais by Massanet with her usual understanding and ability of execution and was laudly applauded.

Mrs. Bradbury, who is known as perhaps the best accompanist in the city, lived up to her reputation playing the piano parts for the two soloists, with artistic understanding.

The continuation of these concerts on Sunday evenings depends entirely upon the attendance. A second concert has been planned for next Sunday evening.

Suite in A Minor.

MacDowell's Suite in A minor, which will be played by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra on Friday night of next week, was heard in America for the first time Oct. 26, 1895, when it was played by the Boston Symphony orchestra. Mr. MacDowell wrote of it as follows:

"The suite was begun in Wiesbaden the year we returned to America, though it was hardly more than sketched. 'In October' was not written until the suite was practically finished. I have an idea the work was performed in Germany earlier than its first American performance. Edward had no more program in mind than the titles imply, but he was undoubtedly led toward the subject by the close proximity in which we lived to the big Wiesbaden forest. He spent hours wandering in the woods. His Scotch blood had filled his mind with mysticism. Deep in his heart he half believed the old tales of spirits and faries—not of course, in his ordinary moods, but his imagination often carried him far, even though he might laugh at himself. He hated cutting down a big tree; it seemed possible that something more than the tree suffered."

The suite is divided into four movements: "In a Haunted Forest," "Summer Idyl," "In October" and "Forest Spirits." The Boston critic, W. F. Apthrop, has written:

"Each of the movements is perfectly free in form. All the extra musical suggestions the composer has vouchsafed is contained in the titles of the several movements. It is best to let the music tell its own story to be understood as each listener likes best."

THE EVENING STORY

THE GAS MAN

By Ira Rich Kent.

In a large "college city" the ingenuity of students who are working their way has guided them to many curious and little heard of occupations in their search for a helpful dollar. But there are not many more curious or less heard of than "meter-reading."

Some years ago it was generally the case—and is now, unless a permanent staff of men is maintained—that the large lighting companies would find themselves confronted each month with the necessity of securing the records of many thousands of meters within the space of four or five days. The regular force of the company employes would be inadequate to such a task; men employed elsewhere could not stop to meet the demand, and the drifting "unemployed" are, as a rule, not to be depended upon for the necessary intelligence or trustworthiness. So the student, meeting all these deficiencies, would find his opportunity. If he had tact, agility and cool headedness in awkward, if not actually dangerous situations, so much the better.

The company furnished him with a badge, a book containing the register of the meters in a certain street or group of streets, and a lantern—the last a most necessary adjunct. He was expected to find each meter, identify it by the number, and note carefully the reading given on the three—sometimes four—little dials. An energetic man paid approximately at the rate of a cent for each meter, found it not difficult, on familiar routes, to earn $5 a day. Those meters which for some reason were not secured by the regular reader were noted on separate slips and given out later, to be sought for "by the hour." These would yield $2.50 a day for a couple of days; and the same rate of income could usually be obtained for two or three days longer by the distribution of bills.

This sounds like an extremely simple and easy manner of earning money, to be sure. But the meters are, naturally enough, put as much out of the way as possible. And in the city that means dark closets, in darker cellars, under stairways, on high shelves, in spots that seem made purposely hard to reach in order to try a tired boy's muscles and temper. Often—in warehouses and factories—it is impossible to get near the meter at all, and it must be read from a considerable distance. For such cases careful men have been known to carry opera glasses, a serviceable if incongruous addition to their equipment.

Down back alleys, into murky basements, through trap doors, up steep dingy stairways, through deserted warehouses and busy offices, into stifling engine rooms, clanging shops and humming factories—everywhere would go the wearer of the nickeled badge, lantern on arm. He saw the workaday—the interesting—side of things, and his experiences, optimistic, sordid, pathetic, exasperating and comical, followed each other swiftly.

Some ten or eleven years ago Arthur McLaren was an industrious and successful follower of this odd way of "self helping." Early in his junior year at college, having had the same books for a dozen times or more, he found himself able to get over his routes in a time shorter by a full half day than he had at first used. He at once asked the office for an additional book, and, as no complaints of "estimated" records stood against him, got it.

It was on the last morning of the October "reading" that McLaren started on his extra route. He found it a narrow street not far from the wharves, and given up almost entirely to small manufactories.

Working his way down the street at the moderate pace which a new book demands, he came, a few minutes after 12 o'clock, to a ground floor machine shop. Against this meter in the book he found the illuminating comment, "Pipes" set down by his predecessor.

Arthur was beginning to think about his luncheon, and he was in a hurry. He entered the building at a run, and cast a quick, practiced eye about. To his left, at the farther end of the long room filled with silent machinery, the men were talking and laughing over their dinner pails. There were "pipes" there, he knew, although they were not yet lighted; but close at his right were some others that seemed more to his purpose.

A jog in the wall of the room, some twenty feet in width and apparently of equal depth, was filled by stout racks, rising one above the other to the number of six. And these racks were filled with heavy sections of iron piping, leaving in each case a shallow space between the top of the pipes and the next rack above. In one of these five spaces McLaren felt sure, the meter was concealed.

He thrust his dimly burning lantern into the lowest. Yes, at the very limit of sight, far back in the dustiest, blackest corner, was the red tin box. The boy wasted no time. Thrusting his lantern in ahead of him, he threw himself flat on the pipes, and began to worm his way into the ten inch opening by skilful use of elbows and knees. At that moment Jerry Morris appeared from the boiler room, where he had been boiling his coffee.

Jerry was a new workman and a single minded one, anxious to do his full duty to his employers. The glow of that mysterious lantern and movement of those rapidly disappearing feet meant to Jerry nothing less than arson, burglary and wholesale murder. Jerry was frightened—fearfully frightened. But he gave a wild yell to summon up his courage and his fellow workmen and grabbed the legs!

The owner of them was naturally startled by the sudden, Herculean grip, and he yelled, too, although, owing to his compressed quarters, he was a poor second to Jerry. He made a half involuntary effort to scramble ahead out of the unknown danger. But there was no resisting the determined exertion that was being made in the other direction; the astonished "reader" was yanked out with a dizzy swiftness.

The effort upset Jerry's balance, too, and when the workmen came running up, pie and sandwiches in hand, the two were sitting face to face in the coal dust, eyeing each other with a variety of emotions—which, on Arthur's part, rapidly concentrated in a peal of laughter.

His identity and innocence were promptly established, and the young Irishman was quick to join in the laugh.

"Sure," he said with a wide grin, "if ye'd only been a burglar, after all, me boy, think what a hero I'd have been. Now why did ye spoil it all by turning into the gas man?"

CHURCH HURT BY NARROW MINDS

Speaker Tells Baptists "Little" Good Men Are Worse Than the Wicked.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 27.—That the churches of today are hindered by little, narrow-minded Christians more than by open wickedness, was the declaration of Rev. Dr. James Whitcomb Brougher of Los Angeles before the Northern Baptist convention, which continued in session here today.

During the morning the report of the commission on city missions was submitted. Several prominent church workers were scheduled to deliver addresses today, and the governor's reception was to be held late this afternoon.

"The Power of the Gospel to Evoke a Hatred of Sin" was the subject of an address by Rev. John W. Hoag of New Haven, Conn., who discussed the social responsibility of the church.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS

Grass slippers for bedroom wear are displayed in one of the shop windows down street. They are attractively woven of raphies and lined with pink or blue material like Turkish toweling. Trimmed with a little bow or rosette of the lining material they are pretty and comfortable for summer wear. They are priced at $1.25 a pair.

Another display window of this same shop is filled with pretty pictures in delicate and beautiful colorings for 10 cents apiece. Frames also of gilt or plain wood are displayed for 65 cents.

Another shop is displaying an attractive selection of summer frocks. One of heavy linen crash is particularly admired. This frock is made with a front opening fastened with pearl buttons which run clear down to the hem. The skirt is plain except for a two-inch tuck about the knees and the waist is relieved with turn back collar and cuffs of old rose ratine.

Another dress which is pretty and simple is made of an old rose linen trimmed only with white pearl buttons.

S.S.S. PURELY VEGETABLE

The absolute vegetable purity of S. S. S. has always been one of the strongest points in its favor, and is one of the principal reasons why it is the most widely known and universally used of all blood medicines. A great many of the so-called blood purifiers are really nothing more than strong mineral mixtures which act so unpleasantly and disastrously on the delicate membranes and tissues of the stomach and bowels, that even if such treatment purified the blood, the condition in which the digestive system is left would often be more damaging to the health than the original trouble. Not so with S. S. S.—it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, and at the same time is an absolutely safe and harmless remedy. It is made entirely of the healing and cleansing extracts and juices of roots, herbs and barks, each of which is in daily use in some form by physicians in their practice. Years of work and research have proven S. S. S. to contain everything necessary to purify the blood and at the same time supply the system with the purest and best tonic effects. S. S. S. cures Rheumatism, Catarrh, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Contagious Blood Poison and all other blood troubles, and it leaves the system in perfect condition when it has purified the blood. Book containing much valuable information on the blood and any medical advice desired sent free to all who write.

THE WEEK IN THE HOME GARDEN

The end of the present week or the first of next will see the finish of planting time in Duluth back yard gardens. Radishes and lettuce for midsummer and fall use will be planted at times after that, but the main crop should be in the ground complete by then.

All over the country the spring is rather late and Duluth has been no exception to the general rule. Planting was halted several days last week because of the rain. There were two fine days for planting, however.

If any one doubts that Duluth is becoming a city of back yard gardens, he should have been where he could see enthusiasts, clad in slickers, out in the rain last week, putting in their seeds. Some of the homecrofters simply could not wait and wishing their seeds to get a good start in moist soil and believing that fine weather was to follow, they were out in the rain, digging trenches to ward off the extra water and putting in seeds.

This week the gardeners are going to be more than busy, for during the next ten days tomato plants, cabbage plants and other plants started in the house or in a hot bed will be transplanted to the back yord garden.

Beans, peas, and corn should also go in within the week.

The sun is becoming warmer and even though there has been more rain than necessary, the soil is in fine workable condition. Tomatoes need warm weather with the right amount of moisture. It can't get too hot for tomatoes, except when they have been just set out. If the sun is too hot then, they will wilt and their growth may be not only retarded, but they may die.

When the plants are first set out they are apt to wilt to a certain extent even though the weather conditions are most favorable.

Shade For Young Plants.

If the weather is hot, it is a good plan to shade the plants with shingles. A few of these set about the plants will protect them from the burning rays of the sun.

After the plant has been placed firmly in the ground, taking care to take with tht plant from its original box some of the old earth, it is well to dampen the earth about the plant. Then the shingles should be placed about them to shield them from the sun. The length of time to leave the shingle about the plant depends entirely on the way the plant takes hold in its new condition. Leave the shade until the plant looks stronger and as though it is beginning to grow.

What is true of tomatoes is also true of cabbage. Both cabbage and tomato plants are apt to droop and appear listless in their growth for a day or so after having been transplanted. Shade the cabbage as you shaded the tomatoes.

Some set out the plants last week, but any time within the next ten days is considered the best time of the year for transplanting them by old gardeners in this territory.

Everything can go in within the next week. If you haven't yet set out your onion sets, planted your onion seed, set out your strawberries, set out the small bush fruit, planted turnips, rutabagas, potatoes, set out rhubarb or anything else that you intend to have in your garden this season, get busy and do it this week for it is now getting late.

It is always well to await settled weather, but it is as big a mistake to wait too long as it is to plant too early. The proper time to plant is here.

This does not mean that if you haven't as yet even begun your garden that it is too late. There is yet time to begin a garden and have a successful one this year.

If you are late in getting started, cut down the original size of the garden and get started. Have some kind of a garden this year, for the experience will be invaluable and the satisfaction out of the few things you raise will be great.

A row of lettuce, one of radishes, one of potatoes, one of onion sets, one of seed onions, a rhubarb plant, a few strawberries, a row of carrots, one of turnips, will more than pay you and it doesn't matter how short the rows are.

Even though you think that you won't be able to do a great deal this year, have a little green stuff out of your garden for your own table. Besides, if you intend, as you surely will, to have a better garden next year, the strawberry plants you will set out this year will have a fine start for next year. A few bush fruit bushes will have a year's growth by next season and your garden will be in fine shape for the more extensive plans.

Saving Money.

Many a back yard could produce vegetables that would cost a hundred and fifty dollars this season, if they were purchased at the grocer's, and the pleasure of growing them would be worth as much more to the gardener. Why not make a garden spot of your back yard this year?

Any patch of ground will grow something well worth while if you will give it half a chance. There probably is not a back yard in this whole city that would refuse to return a wonderful profit if it were planted to the right kind of crops.

It is profitable in every way to cut down the grass plot and devote more of one's limited space to vegetables. Use the borders and shady places for perennial flowering plants, and devote every inch that you can spare to vegetables. Many of the edible plants are just as beautiful in their way as the majority of our flowering plants, and they please the palate as well as the eye.

Don't attempt to grow vegetables in a spot where the sun does not shine for half of each day at the least. It is a mere waste of time to do so, except in special cases.

The city gardener can grow almost anything that any one can, but his space is so limited that he must economize as much as possible.

The Weed Problem.

From the Home Vegetable Garden by John W. Lloyd: The most tedious labor in the ordinary garden is the hand weeding of the small vegetables. By proper management of the garden a large amount of this labor can be eliminated. One way to avoid excessive labor in hand weeding is to keep weed seeds out of the garden as much as possible, by avoiding the use of fertilizer containing such seeds, and by destroying all weeds in and about the garden before they go to seed, even if they appear after the crops are harvested.

But in spite of all that can be done there will always be weed seeds present in garden soil. The way to prevent these from producing weeds that are larger than the vegetable plants and endangering the life of the latter, is to keep them from starting growth before the vegetables have a chance to start.

This is done by thoroughly working the soil immediately before the vegetable seeds are planted, thus killing any weed seedings that are about to appear above the surface, and giving the vegetables an even start with the weeds that may develop from seeds germinating later.

Still another way of reducing the amount of hand weeding is to cultivate very close to the rows.

In the case of slow germinating crops, like carrots and parsnips, it is wise to sow a few radish seeds along with the other crop, for the sake of marking the row so that tillage may begin before the plants from the slower germinating seeds are visible. This leaves only a narrow strip of soil unstirred, and hence very little space in which weeds can grow.

If the weeds which appear in this narrow strip are pulled when they are quite small, little difficulty will be experienced in keeping weeds from interfering with the growth of the vegetables; and the amount of labor involved in the hand weeding will be relatively small. If the weeds are allowed to become large before an attempt is made to remove them, the growth of the vegetables is checked both by the presence of the weeds and the process of removal, and the latter involves much more labor than if the weeds are removed at the proper time. Nearly all the vegetables grown in rows require thinning, and if precautions are taken to prevent the early starting of weeds, as above outlined, most of the necessary weeding can in many cases be done at the time of thinning, and thus one operation be made to serve both purposes.

Plants for the Cemetery.

(By J. J. Le Boriour.)

In selecting plants for cemetery planting, you should use care in selecting plants that will grow easily and still be bright. Red Geranium is one of the best plants to use because after they get rooted they will bloom even if not watered regularly.

Pansy plants are also good but they should be planted close together and the flowers should be kept picked during the summer to have them look nice all the time. Then there are the Lobelia, Sweet Alyssum, Daisy Hellotrope, Verbena and Phlox, all of which make good plants.

Alternantheras and Echveria are used for carpet bedding and have to be planted close together to get a good effect.

HITCHCOCK FOR PARCELS POST

Postmaster General Unqualifiedly Favors the Bourne Bill.

Washington, May 27.—Unqualified approval of the Bourne parcels post bill is given by Postmaster General Hitchcock in a report on the measure sent to the senate postoffice committee. The consolidation of the third and fourth classes of mail matter would greatly facilitate the administration of mail matter, the postmaster general said. The delivery of parcels to the limit of eleven pounds on all rural routes, and within the delivery limits of free carrier offices, was likewise approved as economic and a convenience to the public.

The establishment of units of area of carriable dimensions on the basis of latitude and longitude and various charges for the several sections were referred to as certain to lessen the cost of transportation, to stimulate the general trade in small wares, increase postal revenues and pave the way for other postal reforms.

"In my judgment," concluded the postmaster general, "the proposed measure will benefit all classes of the people, except those carriers now engaged in the business of transporting small wares. While the patronage of these will be lessened, it will have the effect to limit their business to the more weighty freight which is distinctly the business of such carriers."

Neither the house or senate has acted on the bill.

WINNIPEG PEOPLE KNOW HOW TO BOOST

Bert McDowell, a former resident of this city, who is connected at the present time with one of the big commercial houses of Winnipeg, is home for a visit of a few days. The former Duluthian says that Winnipeg is one of the most progressive cities on the North American continent.

"Winnipeg people are great boosters for their town," said Mr. McDowell. "They are of the firm opinion that it is going to be one of the biggest cities in North America. Counting all of the little towns that may be properly called suburbs, Winnipeg has at the present time an approximate population of 250,000.

"Its business is growing, the city is becoming more metropolitan, and it is rapidly taking its place as one of the big commercial centers of North America. The theaters are crowded every night in the week, the stores are always busy and there is every indication that Winnipeg is one of the prosperous cities of the continent."

EDSALL CELEBRATES.

Helps Keep Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Church He Founded.

Chicago, May 27.—Bishop Samuel Cook Edsall of Minnesota and many former parishioners, as well as several charter members of St. Peter's Episcopal church, attended the twenty-fifth anniversary celebration of the church yesterday.

Reference was made in the sermons to the way in which the church was founded. Bishop Edsall, at that time a young lawyer, felt the need of establishing a mission in the vicinity. He met with such success in the work that he decided to study for the ministry. The mission grew into the present prosperous church, and the founder, its first rector, was made bishop.

Bishop Edsall was succeeded as rector by Rev. Frank Du Moulin, now dean of Trinity cathedral, Cleveland, Ohio. Rev. William Carson Shaw introduced the present rector of the church.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

SHOULD SAVE STATE TREES

Wisconsin State Forester Urges Creation of Big Forest Reserve.

Otherwise, at Present Rate of Destruction, Big Industry Will End.

Madison, Wis., May 27.—"More than 930,000,000 board feet of lumber, valued at $20,000,000, is annually utilized in the wood-using industries of Wisconsin, and almost 50 per cent of this is purchased outside of the state. This means that in time the state will lose its wood-using industry unless the rapid destruction of the forests is checked."

Wants Huge Reserve.

This is a statement made by State Forester E. M. Griffith, who is back of a movement to create a forest reserve of at least 1,500,000 acres. The state has a reserve of less than one-third of this number already, but Mr. Griffith declares that a much larger reserve "can aid very materially in supplying this raw material, though the state cannot and should not be expected to do it all."

ARNOLD ON COMMITTEE.

Duluthian to Arrange for Land Show at Minneapolis.

St. Paul, Minn., May 27.—The committee appointed by the governor to put on an exhibit from the Northwest at the Northwestern Land show at Minneapolis next winter, has discussed preliminaries.

According to tentative plans, Minnesota was allotted 1,320 square feet of floor space in the Coliseum of Minneapolis, but 1,800 is wanted. This is a trifle more than was used last year, but members of the committee believe that necessary.

A finance committee to raise the necessary funds was appointed, consisting of T. B. Walker, Minneapolis; E. S. Warner, St. Paul; L. B. Arnold, Duluth, and H. J. Maxfield, St. Paul. It was the sense of the meeting that $5,000 in cash would be required to put on the exhibit, in addition to the cost of the floor space, which it is understood is to be provided free of charge by Minneapolis.

The following members of the committee were present: G. W. Glotfelter, C. P. Graig, Duluth; C. L. Moshier, St. Paul; C. B. Waddell, St. Louis Park; D. Shaw, Thief River Falls; E. S. Warner, St. Paul; D. Wallace, A. F. Woods and H. J. Maxfield.

DULUTH WINS IN THE NINTH

White Sox Drive in Five Runs and Defeat Red Sox.

Rabbit Kuehn Leads the Assault—Foss Makes Debut on Mound.

By a ninth inning rally, one that was brought about by clean and hard hitting by the White Sox, Duluth defeated Superior at Hislop park yesterday before one of the largest crowds that ever witnessed a baseball game on the other side of the bay. It was estimated that there were over 1,500 fans from Duluth.

The score was a tie in the final round when Rabbit Kuehn waltzed to the plate. He pickled one far over the fence and the fuss that resulted in the scoring of five runs was on. When the side was retired even the most ardent Superior sympathizer had no hope for the destruction Red Sox.

Foss, the new man O'Brien secured from St. Paul, followed Smith on the mound and made a very good impression. The new-comer seems to have the goods, holding the visitors after the rather disastrous debut of Brother Smith.

Kuehn struck out to open the joyous festivities. The first score was over as the result of doubles by McGraw and Menelce. Leber was safe on his infield offering, being played to nail Menelce at third. Little Eva pilfered second, went to third on a muss up of Sour's swat and scoring when old Bill Dunn heaved wild to the plate to stop the running kid. O'Brien was hit and was caught trying to steal after Sours had scored on Blum's hit.

Superior duplicated in score. Ford was safe on Sours' bubble and was sacrificed along to second. He went to third on Olson's infield offering. Olson stole and Francis walked, thus crowding the bases. Dunn was thrown out at first and Ford scored on the play. Roy hit an infield offering out of the reach of O'Brien and two more runs came across the platter.

Briggs doubled over the right field fence and went to third on Anderson's slow one along the third base line. Briggs scored on Ford's out at first.

The Sox came back in the third with a run that tied up the game. McGraw doubled to the left field alley and rounded up at third when Vance registered an error on Menelce's fly. Leber was passed and Chase was also passed, out of the box, giving way to Rhoades. Sours whiffed and on O'Brien's out at first McGraw came across the pan.

Popham stopped one with his personality in the fourth, advanced to third on a double by Foss and scored when Kuehn hit sharply to right.

In the sixth the Red Hose made a serious bid for the game, scoring two runs, the last effort of the Taylorites during the contest. Francis doubled and went to third on a balk. Dunn was passed and on the next pall pitched pilfered. Francis scored on a long sacrifice fly, Dunn going to third on the same play and scoring on a passed ball.

Kuehn doubled in the seventh and went to third on a wild peg to catch him off second. The rabbit came over on Menelce's double.

In the ninth Kuehn hit for all the bases in the park. McGraw beat out an infield dribble and went to second on a wild pitch. Menelce was hit by a wild shoot and both runners advanced when Leber sacrificed. McGraw registered on a passed ball. Sours was walked and Menelce scored when O'Brien singled. Blum doubled to right and Sours came over. O'Brien came over when Erickson hit a long sacrifice fly.

Superior could do nothing in their half and the percentage of the home team jumped.

FLICKERTAILS DOWN MAROONS

Grand Forks Takes Opening Game—Players Are Arrested.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 27.—Aside from the fact that Grand Forks won its third game of the season, defeating Winnipeg by the score of 5 to 1, the news feature of the day was the arrest of the players of both teams on a charge of desecrating the Sabbath. The two teams were hustled before a justice of the peace, a bond fixed for their appearance today, and the game resumed.

Young Bill Norton, a product of the local lots, was in the box and held the Peggers to six widely scattered hits. The boy is but 19 years of age and judging from his performance of yesterday, is a find.

President H. A. Blume of Duluth was a visitor and expressed himself as delighted with the new park, with the enthusiasm displayed by the fans of Grand Forks, and also the improvement shown in the Flickertails during the last two games.

A walk and two singles gave the locals their first two runs. Heyzer was hit in the third, was sacrificed along and scored on Foster's single. Two singles and a sacrifice scored the next run. Edmund's triple and a sacrifice score the last run for the Flickertails.

Two singles and two sacrifices scored the only run for the visitors.

"TY" COBB IS REINSTATED

President Johnson Imposes Fine of $50 in Addition to Suspension.

American League President Finds Cobb Was Aggressor at New York.

Chicago, May 27.—President B. B. Johnson of the American league has announced the reinstatement of Outfielder Tyrus Cobb of the Detroit club, whose suspension for attacking a spectator, who, he said, had insulted him in New York, resulted in a strike by the Detroit players last week. Cobb played yesterday. In addition to his ten days' suspension he was fined $50.

President Johnson in a statement promised full protection to all players, and said the league had arranged to increase the police force at every park, but declared severe punishment would be meted out to those "who assume to act as judges and avengers of real or fancied wrongs while on duty."

Following is the statement given out by President Johnson:

"Chicago, May 25, 1912.—Re suspension of Player Cobb.

"After a careful investigation into the causes and circumstances of the encounter between Player Cobb and Claude Lucker, a spectator, at the New York grounds on May 15, I find that direct responsibility for the unfortunate occurrence rests upon the player.

"Evidence in the form of affidavits clearly shows that the player was the first to employ vicious language in replying to a taunting remark of the spectator.

"Cobb did not seek redress by an appeal to the umpire, but took the law into his own hands. His language and conduct were highly censurable.

"As a lesson to the accused and a warning to all other players, I fix the term of the player's suspension at 10 (ten) days and impose a fine of fifty ($50) dollars.

"Full protection will be afforded to all American league players against abuse or attack from patrons; but sure and severe punishment will be meted out to those who, in disregard of discipline and of obligations to their clubs and leagues, assume to act as judge and avenger of real or fancied wrongs while on duty.

"In pursuance of this policy the American league has arranged to increase the police force at each of its parks. Policemen will be required to remove from its grounds spectators whose actions or comments are offensive to players and fellow-patrons.

"B. B. JOHNSON."

BIG DULUTHS LOSE TO CLOQUET

Errors Lose Game for Local Team, Lumbermen Winning 8 to 4.

The Big Duluths journeyed to Cloquet yesterday and were beaten by the score of 8 to 4. While the villagers got fewer hits than the Duluth players, the ragged playing of the latter team gave the game to Cloquet. The ragged play of Hilbor, Wike and Stanley prevented the Duluth team from winning.

JOHNSON IS AT LAS VEGAS

Champion Pugilist Begins Training for His Bout With Jim Flynn.

Las Vegas, N. M., May 27.—Jack Johnson, world's champion heavyweight pugilist, arrived here last night from Chicago and said he would begin active training today for his fight here with Jim Flynn, July 4. The champion was met at the station by a large crowd headed by a band.

Johnson was driven in an automobile to his training quarters on the Forsythe ranch, eight miles from here.

FLYNN ROUNDING TO.

Reports From Las Vegas Say Fireman Is in Good Shape.

East Las Vegas, N. M., May 27.—The rain, snow and general abominable weather of last week only serves to make the sunshine more appreciated, and Fynn just bakes in it at the Montezuma training camp. It certainly is a beautiful spot, just made to order for an athlete to prepare himself for a fierce contest.

Since coming here Flynn has been taking constitutionals and light rubdowns, and while in town last night he stepped on the scales and balanced the beam at 217 pounds. After making sure that the weights were correct he turned around to his chef, Chick Coleman, and laughingly told him that was what he was doing to him.

Flynn now expects to enter the ring against Johnson weighing 200 pounds, and he will be as hard as a nail and as fit as a proverbial fiddle. Today a scale will be sent out to his training quarters, so if any of the correspondents wish to see him weighed he will gladly and willingly step on to the platform. In fact, all of Flynn's training will be done publicly, and positively at no time will there be charges made to his camp.

PILOTS TUNING UP SPEED CARS

Each Entrant Must Show Speed of 75 Miles an Hour.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 27.—World-famous pilots and a throng of mechanics were busy at the pits alongside the speedway track early today grooming the twenty-six cars that were to be tried for speed in the qualification tests for the 500-mile race Memorial day.

Each entrant will be required to show speed of 75 miles an hour in one lap of the oval, which is two and one-half miles. As the race is for non-stock cars and a maximum piston displacement of 600 cubic inches is permitted, the makers of American, German, French and Italian cars that have entered have set in engines of enormous strength as assurance that the speed test will be met.

Ray Harroun, in his Marmon "Wasp" won last year's 500-mile race in 402:8, an average speed of 74.61 miles an hour.

WHITE SOX ARE SHOWING SPEED

Weather permitting the Sox are due to play at Athletic park today, Superior opening the series that will alternate between the two Head of the Lakes towns. Right at the present time the White Sox are going faster than any of the other teams in the league, Hitting has characterized the play of the O'Brienites in all of the games played away from home. In addition to the hitting the Sox are also showing an evenly balanced play, the team being generally believed to be the best we have had since the pennant-winning aggregation of three years ago.

In Kuehn, McGraw, Menelce, Sours and Leber the Sox appear to have a quintent that can murder the pill. The hitting of these men has proved the feature of most of the games played since the opening combat with Winnipeg. In Johnson, Worman and Hoffman, O'Brien also seems to have got the right kind of a pitching staff. If Foss shows strong it does look as if the White Sox will be hard to pull down out of the lead.

WRESTLING MATCHES ARRANGED FOR MOOSE.

There will be a series of wrestling matches at the Moose hall this evening. All of the matches have been arranged between the best grapplers at the Head of the Lakes and the program is one of the best that has been arranged for the fraternal order since its organization. Members and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

Martin Johnson will meet Bakus, who has just arrived from Sweden. The new man is said to be fast, clever and strong. The Gardner boys, two of the best athletes at the Head of the Lakes, will appear, and Andrew Danielson will meet Ole Nygard, Billy Beaulieu will meet Joe Fish and Walter Nezgoda will tangle with Louie Zorbas.

Adams Team Beaten.

The Adams team was yesterday defeated by the Proctor team by the score of 18 to 4. Jack Schmirler started on the mound for the triple A forces, but was sent to the dog house by the heavy hitting of the Proctorites. Hughes worked for Proctor and showed a lot of stuff.

The Oak Halls Win.

Yesterday the Oak Halls defeated the Duluth Universals by the score of 6 to 4. The contest proved a close and interesting battle between Hagland and Duclett. Both teams played well and the contest showed that despite the lack of early practice some very good baseball can be expected from both aggregations.

BASEBALL NOTES

"Rube" De Groff is another one of the old Eastern leaguers who has passed into the New England league. He is with Lowell, which team is at present leading the league.

• • •

Have you heard that "Hank" Groh has been released? Yep, but not the great little infielder who is with the Glants. He is a pitcher with Bloomington in the Three-I league.

• • •

A Chattanooga writer predicts that within three years Hardy Ware, Billy Smith's three-fingered hurler, will be in the big leagues. Ware paid his own fare to Chattanooga, didn't cost the club a cent and is one of the most dependable twirlers on the staff.

• • •

Joe Tinker is out with the boost stuff for Marty O'Toole, the young sorrel top hurler of the Pirates. Joe said Marty is the best looking young pitcher he has seen in many seasons and will certainly make good.

• • •

Maybe it was just for the sake of old times that Governor Tener of Pennsylvania appointed Thomas Quinn of Braddock, Pa., deputy state factory inspector. Quinn was a catcher with the old Pittsburg brotherhood team when Governor Tener was pitching.

• • •

A trip to the minors may yet be Jack Knight's portion. The ex-Highlander is said to be showing lack of condition and has been trying to explain to Manager Griffith. Jack promises to be on the job for training next spring, but it is not so certain that he will be retained and given the opportunity.

HIBBING WINS IN ONE-SIDED GAME

Defeats Chisholm-Virginia Aggregation By Score of 23 to 5.

Hibbing, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The opening game of the official baseball season in Hibbing yesterday was won by the locals from Chisholm-Virginia nine, 23 to 5. The visiting team, composed of players picked up in Chisholm and in Virginia, was no match for the locals and were held scoreless and did not get within hailing distance of the plate until the seventh.

The two teams paraded behind the band from the city hall to the park at 3 o'clock and for two innings after the game began there were indications the big attendance would see an interesting contest. A gift, an error and two two-baggers netted the locals two runs in the third. The fourth was a Marathon track meet. Carrol Booth for Hibbing got on with a three-bagger, Grady went out on an infield fly to Knapp, Brookins hit for two bases, D. Booth got on on a wild throw from second and Carroll cleaned up the bases with a home run over the right field fence. Williams and Burrows singled, Carroll Booth hit but was caught off second by Fredell, Kleffman waited out four wide ones, Callaghan hit for two bags, Grady got on on an error by Fredell, Brookins walked, Dwight Booth hit for two bases, Carroll and Williams singled, Burrows hit for two bases and Carroll Booth, at bat for the third time in the inning, walked, advanced to third on Kleffman's two-bagger, and stole home.

Made Seventeen Runs.

The combination netted the home team seventeen runs. During the inning the Hibbing bunch collected five hits off Nell, who was succeeded by Leighty, the second time Carroll came to bat. Leighty was touched up for two singles and a two-bagger in a row and Fred Anthony pitched the rest of the game and Langrel went behind the bat. The locals gathered another earned run in the eighth, Dwight Booth succeeded Grady in the box for Hibbing in the fifth. The visiting bunch got two runs in the seventh, one in the eighth and two in the ninth. Only two were earned.

The crowd lost interest early and the last five innings were uninteresting and listless. Carroll's home run and the hitting of Callaghan, who got three two-baggers and a single in five times at bat, were the features of the game. Grady struck out six in four innings and allowed the visitors but two hits.

LEONARD MINE SHIPS HEAVILY

Chisholm Property Sends 661 Cars to Dock in One Day.

Chisholm, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The shipping of 661 cars of iron ore from the Leonard mine Saturday creates a new record here for the season, the shipment aggregating more than 25,000 tons, making an auspicious start in a season which bids fair to eclipse all previous years in the amount of ore shipped from the range. The Leonard promises to be the best contributer to the general result in this district. In the pit three crews with night shifts are kept busy and in addition to this a steam shovel is daily reducing the large stockpiles. This mine shipped nearly 1,000,000 tons last year.

The tourist season has opened at Tower in earnest and many strangers are arriving by train and in automobiles.

The ladies' aid enjoyed a delightful excursion on Saturday on board the Olive of the Osterberg line. The day was fine and a large number enjoyed the trip. A picnic dinner was served at Gold Island. After dinner a cruise was made of the western part of the lake, and stops were made of some length at Vermilion dam and at Goodwell's summer home.

It was indeed some beautiful day, Tessie. Awakening to the present, there is no joy in the atmosphere, and more rain is predicted for tonight and tomorrow. "During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours light to heavy showers or thunder storms occurred in Pacific states, the entire Northwest, the Western Lake region and South Atlantic states, principally in connection with the barometric depression centered over North Dakota. WEST END

ADVOCATES THE GIVING OF TITHES.

Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street preached on "Tithing" at the morning services yesterday. Rev. Mr. McGaughey took his text from the ancient custom of giving one-tenth of the year's income to the Lord.

"We should take our example from the old testament and also give tithes," said Rev. Mr. McGaughey. "In this way the people of a church could more easily meet the finances of the church and devote ten times as much money to the missions, both at home and abroad."

The sermon yesterday morning was given preparatory to the mission campaign started yesterday afternoon by the men of the church. Every member of the congregation will be approached in this campaign with a duplex envelope. In this envelope contributions for the church and for foreign missions will be received. The campaign follows the recent Men and Religion Forward Movement.

In the evening Rev. Mr. McGaughey preached on "Patriotism." The pastor gave an interesting account of the battles of the Civil war and the true meaning of Memorial day. He also cited many examples of similar battles being fought every day by a true patriotic citizen. The saloon evil, social conditions and civic questions were all cited as examples of worthy battles for a patriot to engage in.

HOPEFUL OF SETTLEMENT

Council Will Set Date for Conference on Street Railway Troubles.

Duluth Men Choose Three Representatives, and Superior Three.

The date of the conference between a committee of councilmen, a committee representing the employes of the Duluth Street Railway company and the officials of the company, will be set at the meeting of the council this evening.

Manager Warren's communication will be read at the meeting at the city hall tonight. It was addressed to the city council, not to any one committee. For that reason it must be acted upon by the members.

Albert Hawk, Markwell Hall and William Lorris, are the men chosen by the employes of the company to lay their grievances before the council men and the officials of the company. All the men have been in the employ of the company for several years. Knute Thorsen, R. P. Richards and H. P. Strong were elected by the Superior men.

Labor leaders claim that the public may thank them for averting a strike last week. They state that the employes of the company were primed to strike, but that through the interference of union men, they were persuaded to await the result of the conference.

The employes express themselves freely as pleased with the progress already made, and state that they can see ahead a fair settlement with the company.

None of the committee men elected by the employes would talk for publication.

LOCATED ON WRONG LAND

Settler Says Brothers Sold Him Property They Did Not Own.

Blaming Henry F. Snyder and Isadore Snyder for locating him on his neighbor's land instead of his own, Frank F. Birman is suing the Snyders for $1,877 to rectify the mistake. The case is being tried before Judge Cant and a jury in district court today.

Birman makes the claim that the Snyders represented to him that they were the owners of 160 acres north of Cook and that they had told him that the farm had improvements in the way of a house, barn, shed and other outbuildings, and that five acres had been cleared and were under cultivation.

Under the impression that he was buying the property described to him, Birman says that he entered into a contract for the purchase of the north east quarter of section 36, 63-19. A cash payment of $10 was made and a mortgage note for $363.60 was given for the balance of the purchase price. Birman then moved onto the farm.

On February 22, 1911, Birman claims that he was informed by one Lafeyette Bliss, the real owner of the farm, that he was a trespasser and that the land which Birman had purchased was property adjoining the Bliss farm. Birman claims that he did not learn of his mistake until he had sold some of the timber from the land. On December 22, 1910, he made a contract with the Minnesota & Ontario Power company, he says, in which they agreed to cut the timber for this land.

The Snyders make a general denial of fraud and misrepresentation and set up the defense that Birman has forfeited all right to any property which they might have sold to him through his failure to pay the mortgage which has since become overdue.

WILL PLAN TERMINALS

H. T. Hazen Will Direct New Project on Hudson Bay.

Hugh T. Hazen, formerly in the employ of the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railroad company as chief engineer, has been engaged by the Canadian government to lay out the terminals for the new government road from Prince Albert to Fort Churchill. The terminals will probably be at Fort Churchill.

Mr. Hazen left Saturday. He has been with the above mentioned concern for some time, with headquarters at Port Arthur, Ont. The Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific is part of the Canadian Northern.

It now begins to looks as though the long talked of route to Europe will be pushed through. It is claimed that by building a road from Prince Albert to Fort Churchill, Canadian grain can be shipped over Hudson bay and over the ocean a great deal cheaper and quicker than by way of Duluth, Port Arthur or Montreal.

It is claimed that Hudson bay can be kept open the greater part of the winter. The course to Europe is much further north than the course now used between Montreal and Liverpool.

Mr. Hazen went to Fort Churchill directly from Port Arthur.

FIRE-EATING CANADIAN SOLDIER OF FORTUNE VISITING DULUTH

SERGT.-MAJ. SCHOOF.

Although an officer of high rank in the Canadian mounted police, Sergt. Maj. Gustav H. Schoof of the Alberta mounted police, branch of the Royal mounted police, could not resist the wanderlust and the desire to once again take part in an active battle. The old memories of the Boer wars, Matabele wars and many African encounters for the British flag all came back and last December when the rebels in Mexico declared themselves against Madero, Sergt. Maj. Schoof jumped into the thick of the fight. He is visiting in Duluth for several days.

Maj. Schoof had left Fort Macleod in Alberta for his regular leave and was giving a series of lectures in Texas. While there the uprisings started in Mexico and after many repeated efforts, Schoof was allowed to fight with the federals. Schoof also owns a large ranch in Texas, but the outdoor ranch life had no fascination for this battle scarred veteran, and he immediately saddled his horse and was ready for battle.

Maj. Schoof tells many interesting tales of the Mexican people and the uprisings. He was first placed with the band which chased Reyes across the country. After a remarkable flight across the Rio Grande, Reyes was captured by Schoof and his men. Reyes surrendered at Lenaire. Schoof was then sent to Mornlia, where he was placed in charge of the mounted police to hunt Emeliano Zapata, who was then in command of 5,000 rebels. The patrol guarded the towns and surrounding country from the rebels.

A little later Schoof was placed under Pasco Orozco, who later deserted and formed his own band against the federal army. After Orozco's departure, the men became disheartened and little could be done in the way of actual warfare. The men finally deserted and the remaining federals were placed in continual jeopardy because of their small number. It was at this time that Schoof left the country and came north. He is due at his camp early next month to take part in the annual inspection and maneuvers.

Mostly Convicts.

"Nine-tenths of the infantry soldiers in the Mexican army are convicts," said Serg.-Maj. Schoof this noon in speaking of his experiences. "The government instead of sending these prisoners or convicts to prison, compel them to fight. They are urged on at the point of the sword and actually make good soldiers. The Ruralists, or mounted police, are the best I have ever seen and for scouting work are much better than the Canadian police. All they get to eat is a kind of hash. And yet these men are the most fearless in their work. Just a few cigarettes is all they seem to need."

Asked why he did not remain for the end of the warfare, Schoof replied that a few weeks ago his small band was attacked by a large opposing force. They were helpless, but fought to their last bullet. Schoof's horse was shot from under him and he was left without means to secure another horse. He now carries a cavalry cloak and a small rifle as a gift from the Mexican government.

Schoof is lecturing in Duluth for several days and this morning gave an interesting talk to the students of the high school. Last evening he spoke before the Sunday school class of the First Methodist church. Tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock he will give an address on Africa, showing also a most wonderful collection of tiger, lion and leopard skins, which he secured during his wanderings and battles in that country.

Schoof is 6 feet, 1 inches tall. He is 46 years old, but "muscle and bones" all over. He has fought since 1888, when he swore allegiance to Queen Victoria at Cape Town. He spent fifteen years in Africa.

Maj. Schoof is wealthy, having property both in this country and in Canada, and is the owner of extensive ranch lands. The keeping of a ranch has no attraction for him, so he is constantly working with the Royal Mounted Police as a sergeant major. He is a striking figure in his Canadian uniform. He is an expert shot and one of the best horsemen in Canada.

Raining in California.
John Cox, who remained in Southern California after the other Duluth Shriners left for home following the Los Angeles gathering, going across the line into Mexico and visiting a brother living at Fresno, Calif., has returned to Duluth. En route home he spent a few days in San Francisco. He ran into wet, foggy weather there and was glad to leave. He says times appear to be quiet on the coast, many men being idle in the big centers. He praises the manner in which the Shriners were entertained in Los Angeles and says the Duluth nobles received much favorable mention in the newspapers.

TURTLE LAKE LINE MAY BE PURCHASED

Reported Great Northern Will Buy N. P. Branch for Coast Cutoff.

Carrington, N. D., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The purchase of the Turtle Lake branch of the Northern Pacific railroad out of here by the Great Northern company is a current report. If carried out it would materially alter present plans of the latter company in this vicinity, as it would give the Great Northern about 100 miles of trackage on the new line already begun and so far completed through the east side of Foster county and would be a big step in enabling the company to greatly shorten its line to the coast.

The new plan would be to build a new line from one of the new towns, probably Glenfield, to this city and then take over the Turtle Lake branch and continue it to the present main line in Montana.

The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale. The rate of interest on the unpaid balance is four per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1st of each year, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from the date of sale, the rate of interest will be computed at five per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber, if any, must also be paid at time of sale.

Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

WHEAT OFF; FLAX SOARS

Bullish Feeling Earlier in the Session Followed By a Slump.

Duluth Flaxseed Presents a Strange and Very Bullish Spectacle.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 27.—What started out to be quite a bullish day on the North American wheat markets had a weak close, caused by a period of profit-taking, which occurred late in the session. Duluth July wheat closed ⅛c to ¼c off. Cash wheat closed 1c over July. Oats closed 1⅛c lower. Durum, rye and barley closed unchanged. Duluth May flax closed 7c higher and July 3½c higher.

During the greater part of the morning the wheat markets of North America were inclined to be very strong, but towards noon they eased off somewhat. There were a great many reports of damage to wheat crops in the Southwest, especially Kansas, by reason of the hot dry winds, and the great need of rain. Moreover the primary receipts showed an unusually great falling off from what they were a year ago. There was a large decrease reported in the American visible supply of wheat, yet this decrease was not as large as the brokers for the most part expected, and as a result there was some easing off before noon from the bullish figures made earlier in the day. Broomhall reported the world's wheat shipments considerably larger last week than they were for the previous week and there was a slight increase over the total of a year ago. The corn shipments showed an enormous increase over those of a year ago. There was more unfavorable news regarding the Russian wheat crop, and it was announced that the Hessian fly had appeared in that country.

Duluth July wheat, which closed Saturday at $1.14¼@1.14⅜ asked, opened today at $1.14½ bid, and then began a rise that continued for some time in the early part of the morning. When the report of the American visible supply appeared, showing a smaller decrease than had been expected, a period of profit taking set in. At noon today Duluth July wheat was quoted at $1.14⅞ bid. At the same time wheat at Chicago was reported up a little, Minneapolis slightly lower and Winnipeg unchanged.

Another Flaxseed Bulge.

Duluth flaxseed this morning had another sensational bulge. At noon today Duluth May was up 7 cents at $2.24 and July was up 4 cents at $2.24. The bulge was remarkable indeed in view of the fact that there was no corresponding rise at Winnipeg, where at noon today the May option stood only ⅜c higher at $1.99⅜. The Duluth brokers did not seem to have any way of accounting for the tremendous rise, except that some of them repeated their inuendoes that the Duluth seed was being deliberately boosted.

FLAXSEED.

Flaxseed on the Duluth market was almost constantly on the up-grade in price through the week ending last Saturday. Saturday the May option closed at the staggering figure of $2.25, being 6½c up from the closing price of Monday. The margin between the prices of flaxseed on the Duluth and Winnipeg markets has been growing wider and wider. On Saturday Winnipeg May closed at $1.99, for No. 1 Northwestern. That is better seed then No. 1 American, and yet the Duluth seed, though of somewhat inferior quality commanded a price 36c higher than the price of the best seed on the Winnipeg market. Duluth brokers have often been asked what keeps the Canadian seed from coming to Duluth. Some say it is because the No. 1 northernwestern is so scarce that it is almost impossible to get it, and the No. 1 Manitoba would not do to satisfy the May option at Duluth, because it is too light, and the holders of the option will not take it. Others say that it is because the No. 1 northeastern seed on the Winnipeg market is in the hands of the very interests who have been keeping the price down at Winnipeg and boosting it at Duluth, their game being to buy seed cheap at Winnipeg and sell it high in the United States, using the high price at Duluth as an excuse for charging a good stiff price for the oil.

The Winnipeg flaxseed market during the week just past has been almost as bullish as that of Duluth, the gain since Monday being about 5½c. Although the receipts of flaxseed, both at Duluth and Winnipeg have been keeping up well, and rather increasing than otherwise, there is a great scarcity of first class flaxseed on both markets. Nearly all that arrives is of low quality. This has much to do with the bullishness of the May option.

The Buenos Ayres market during the past week has not been nearly so bullish as those at Duluth and Winnipeg, the price at Buenos Ayres gaining just a cent during that week. The price of Calcutta seed on the London market gained 1½c. It is plain, however, that the geenral feeling of flaxseed dealers the world over is decidedly bullish.

The demand for linseed oil has on the whole been quite brisk, the sales of paint being very good, and this has been another factor boosting the price of linseed.

MARKET GOSSIP

"St. Louis county, Minn., is several years ahead of us in the movement we have started to educate," Educators appointed to tell the farmers how to make the best use of their farms," said Bert Ball, secretary of the crop improvement committee of the American Grain exchanges, on the floor of the Duluth Board of Trade Saturday. "The work that we are trying to get various counties take up, by giving them $1,000 apiece, was begun in St. Louis county years ago by the Duluth Commercial club. The work that has been accomplished by the superintendent of the agricultural department of the club, A. B. Hostetter, in St. Louis county, is just what our organization wants to see done in various counties all through the country. When this nation gets so that it cannot raise its own food supplies, then and not until then am I in favor of that reciprocity program. But it is absurd to think that this nation must remain upon a domestic basis. The agricultural resources of the state of Minnesota are not a quarter developed. There is no reason why this country should not again be exporting food supplies. It can do so if it does not ask too high prices for them.

"Twenty years ago this country was raising about as much wheat as it is now raising, and in that time the population has increased by 30,000,000. Sixty years hence the country will have 200,000,000 people. The people must learn how to raise food supplies in the proper way or they will be confronted with starvation.

"I believe the time will come when the state will pass laws regulating the methods of farming within its borders. I believe it will be made a criminal offense to go on planting the same thing on the soil year after year and thus exhausting it. I think the state will require the farmers to restore to the soil the nutriment that has been removed, and thus provide for the welfare of posterity.

"At Glenwood, Minn., where I recently attended a meeting of the West Central Minnesota Development association, the project of educating the farmers was taken up with enthusiasm. A paid secretary will traverse twenty Western Minnesota counties and will get movements started in all of them, if possible, to have organizations formed to hire expert agricultural teachers.

"In the United States 150 counties have thus far applied to our committee for information as to the best methods for getting the work for which we stand started, and twenty-two have alrcady employed travelling instructors to teach the farmers how to farm."

Le Count wired from Grand Island, Neb.: "From Omaha here we have had no rain and crops need it badly. In fields examined here today the color and stand are good, the plants are healthy and large and some fields are beginning to head. There has been no damage yet, though brown spots are beginning to show in many fields, but will fully recover with rain by next Sunday. Very high winds and dust obscure the sun. Weather is hot and unfavorable. I consider the situation uncertain."

The following is from B. W. Snow, dated at La Crosse, Kan.: "There has been another bad day. It is hot and dry and there is a drying south wind. Crops west of South Bend are already over the damage line and irreparable damage is beginning to show. It has not been very hot or very dry, but the soil is caked hard and the roots so superficial that the plant has small power of resistance. There are spots and streaks in the majority of fields, where the plant is fired up to and including the top and the size of these burned areas increases with each day or sun and wind. The earlier fields are just beginning to show heads, which makes it the worst possible period for heat and drouth, such as there has been for the last two days. Unless there is general rain at once west of Great Bend, this Kansas crop will quickly fade away, and it has never promised more than 75,000,000 bu."

Houston wired from Kansas City: "I was 100 miles south of Kansas City Saturday and Sunday. Wheat looks bad. It has not made the growth expected of it and will not be a half have 200,000,000 people. The people must learn how to raise food supplies in the proper way or they will be confronted with starvation.

"I believe the time will come when the state will pass laws regulating the methods of farming within its borders. The following was received from B. W. Snow at Hays, Kan.: "From La Crosse to Hays, the north half of Rush county and the south half of Ellis county show almost a complete failure. It won't make bread and seed. They are commencing to plow to turn weeds under in acreage that was supposed to be left for the crop."

Inglis wired from Hutchinson, Kan.: "It is difficult to describe the condition of wheat through Kansas at the present time. The crop is late. Heading is not general yet, although some fields are heading in spots. It is a great lack of uniformity that causes one to hesitate in saying what the yield will be. From Dodge City to Hutchinson, Edwards county has lost as much acreage as I reported a month ago. Stafford also has lost heavily, but there is more good wheat in this county than in Edwards. Reno is still promising, but there are many fields that will run as low as five bushels. There is no old wheat back here."

* * *

Seymour wired from Buffalo, N. Y.: "Mr. Urban and I traveled through about seventy miles of the best wheat country Saturday. The agricultural report figures 19.4 bu to the acre in New York. If the country we saw raises 8 bushels to the acre we will be surprised. I never saw anything like it. It is the poorest ever known."

STOCKS ARE VERY DULL

Trading Slow as Decisions in Coal Cases Were Expected.

Contrary Movements in Industrials and Minor Railway Issues.

New York, May 27.—The market held steady with few changes of note at the opening, aside from the one point gain of People's Gas and three-quarters for Canadian Pacific. Otherwise, changes were merely fractional on light dealing.

The market leaders developed some weakness in the first hour, but trading was too dull to possess any significance. Lehigh Valley, Can, Interborough-Metropolitan preferred, and Rubber were up a point or more.

Wall street today professed to believe the supreme court of the United States would hand down some important decisions and pending such developments it decided to make no commitments. The market also lacked such inspiration as sometimes comes from abroad, where leading trade centers were today observing the whitsuntide holiday.

Except for Lehigh Valley and Canada, none of the active issues varied so much as a point. People's Gas again was moderately active and strong and Illinois Central lost a point.

Bonds were easy.

The afternoon session brought no relief from the intense dullness of the morning except for a few contrary movements in some of the industrials and minor railway issues.

The market closed heavy. In the last hour it became known that the supreme court had adjourned without acting on the coal cases and the market again weakened slightly.

New York Money.

New York, May 27.—Money on call, steady, 2¾@3 per cent; ruling rate, 2¾ per cent; closing bid, 2¾ per cent; offered at 3 per cent. Time loans, easier; sixty days, 3 per cent; ninety days, 3@3¼ per cent; six months, 3½@3¾ per cent. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4 to 4½ per cent. Sterling exchange, firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.84.75 for sixty-day bills, and at $4.87.20 for demand. Commercial bills, 84c. Mexican dollars, 48c. Government bonds, firm; railroad bonds, easy.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Prices Advance But Weakness Follows Sharp Break.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 27.—Minneapolis was relatively weaker than outside wheat markets. Early prices advanced and the crowd went long. The market became over-bought and there was a sharp break during the late session. July sold down 1¾c from early high. May closed ⅝c lower than Saturday; July ¾c lower and September ⅛c lower. Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 175,000 bushels for two days.

Carlot wheat receipts follow: Minneapolis today, 259; week ago, 189, year ago, 279. Duluth today, 24; week ago, 9; year ago, 70. Winnipeg today, 483; week ago, 524; year ago, 103.

Cash wheat was in slow demand today and market was easier. Offerings were more liberal. No. 1 northern sold for 1½@1¾c above the July contract

Minneapolis, Minn., May 27.—Wheat: May opened 1.13⅝, high 1.13⅝, low 1.12½@⅝, closed 1.12⅝. July opened 1.13⅜ to ⅝, high 1.14⅛, low 1.04¾, closed 1.04¾.

Closing cash prices: No. 1 hard, 1.14⅞; No. 1 northern 1.14⅜ to ⅝, to arrive 1.14⅜ to ⅝; No. 2 to arrive 1.12½ to ⅝; No. 2 northern 1.12½ to ⅝; No. 3 wheat 1.10⅜ to ⅝. No. 3 yellow corn, 75@76. No. 3 white oats, 51. No. 2 rye 85. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $22.50@$24.00.

Flour—There was no improvement in flour market over Sunday. Demand continued slow and represented only imediate needs. Prices unchanged. Shipments, 39,467 barrels. First patents, $5.50@$5.75; second patents, $5.20@$5.45; first clears, $3.90@$4.15; second clears, $2.80@$3.10.

Flax—Receipts, 59 cars; year ago, 13; shipments, 6. Demand slow for flax today. A few choice cars sold for 7c below Duluth May but the close was nominal at the even July. Closing price, $2.23½ nominal.

Barley—Receipts, 27 cars; year ago, 38; shipments, 8. Demand for barley was a trifle better today at steady prices. Closing range, 70c@$1.20.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., May 27.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Trade was on a quiet basis, and the indications are that the active spring demand is over, and that the market from now on will gradually contract to summer proportions. Dealers look for a liberal demand for horses and mules for railroad work during the next few weeks, but the demand for horses for farmin purposes will be light. Now that spring work is over, it is expected that values will not be as firm. Receipts today about sixty head. A number of short shipments were made to points in Wisconsin and Michigan. Duluth, Minn., Dec. 11, 1911.

Busines Manager, The Duluth Herald:

Dear Sir:—You may be interested in knowing that a short want ad which I have been running in The Herald every day for three years at a total cost of $72 has given me a profit of more than $8,000.

I know that advertising in good newspapers pays, but I think this must be the record for advertising results in Duluth.

BLAME FOR TITANIC TRAGEDY IS PUT UPON CAPTS. SMITH AND LORD

Senate Committee's Report Is Presented By Smith of Michigan.

Ismay Barely Mentioned But Rostron of Carpathia Praised.

British Board of Trade and Management of Ship Roundly Scored.

Washington, May 28.—Blame for the Titanic disaster is chargeable directly to the failure of the dead Capt. Smith to heed repeated warnings of icebergs ahead, but responsibility for unnecessary loss of life must be shared by Capt. Lord of the steamship Californian, through his disregard of distress signals.

This is the finding of the senate committee which investigated the sinking of the Titanic, as prepared in a comprehensive speech delivered by William Alden Smith of Michigan, chairman of the committee.

Senator Smith declared that responsibility also rests upon the British board of trade, "to whose laxity of regulation and hasty inspection the world is largely indebted for the awful fatality."

In denouncing Capt. Lord of the Californian, the senator said the Titanic's distress signals were plainly seen from the deck of his vessel, a short distance away.

Leave Punishment to England.

America will leave to England the chastisement of those guilty, asserted

WHITE STAR PAYS 60 PER CENT

Year's Profits of Owners of the Titanic Amount to $5,372,760.

London, May 28. — The annual report of the White Star Steamship company shows that the profits for the year amounted to £1,074,752, or about $5,372,760. The dividends amounted to 60 per cent.

The report refers to the loss of the Titanic as a source of deep regret, but of minor importance, compared with the terrible loss of valuable lives. It expresses sympathy with the bereaved and adds:

"As in the past, nothing shall be wanting in the efforts of the directors to protect travelers on the White Star steamships by having every precaution taken to insure their safety."

EIGHTY DIE IN FIRE IN PICTURE THEATER.

Castellon de la Plana, Spain, May 28. —The cinematographic explosion which last evening caused the death of eighty persons in a moving picture theater in the little city of Villareal, was even more terrible than first reported. The theater was completely burned out and very few of the audience escaped without injury from fire or from crushing in the panic. A large number of the injured are dying. Virtually every family in the vicinity is affected.

TO INSTRUCT THE FARMERS

Government Aid Proposed for Instruction in Scientific Agriculture.

How the Soil Has Been Depleted and Yield Decreased.

(By Willis J. Abbot.)

Washington, May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A bill pending in the house of representatives, introduced by Mr. Lever of South Carolina, marks a new forward step in legislation in behalf of the American farmer. Briefly it provides for government aid to state agricultural colleges, for the purpose of extending instruction in scientific agriculture.

While the bill itself is presented by a South Carolinian the project to which it gives legislat've force originated in the Northwest—in and about Chicago. It is pressed by the National Soil Fertility League, on the advisory committee of which I find such names as James J. Hill, William J. Bryan, Franklin McVeagh, J. M. Studebaker, Champ Clark and B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the 'Frisco lines.

It is of course, matter of common notoriety that agriculture in the

SUBSTITUTE TARIFF BILL

Senator Newlands Offers Measure With Graduated Reductions.

Provides for Non-Partisan Commission to Rule on Its Application.

Washington, May 28.—A compromise tariff plan designed to graduate reductions of duties so as to avoid impairing any American industry, was offered today by Senator Newlands as an amendment to the house steel bill.

It proposes a 10 per cent reduction June 1 on certain duties, and a further reduction of 5 per cent January 1 of ench year for four years thereafter, until a total reduction of 30 per cent shall have been made. A non-partisan tariff commission of five members, appointed by the president, would determine to what products the reductions should apply.

Senator Newlands said today his purpose was not to indorse the protection principle, but to recognize that protective duties had stimulated industries which must suffer by any radical change.

Senator Newlands pointed out that both parties had promised a revision of the tariff, and his purpose, he said, was to provide a graduated reduction with a brake so applied as to prevent excessive importations and consequent labor disturbances.

TAFT KEEPS ON TALKING

Carries Campaign in New Jersey Up to Hour of Voting.

Ideal Weather for Farmers May Make the Country Vote Light.

Newark, N. J., May 28.—More than half a million voters in New Jersey today have their opportunity to influence the selection of presidential candidates next month at Chicago and Baltimore.

Theodore Roosevelt went to his home in Oyster Bay last night to stay there until after the Republican convention, except for a trip to Gettysburg, Pa., on Thursday for a Memorial day address. President Taft, however, set out from Atlantic City this morning to make a last appeal to the voters. He will make the last speech of his New Jersey campaign at Glassboro at noon.

Forecast is Impossible.

New Jersey of late years has been a hard state for the political prophets to understand. A large part of the voting population is employed outside the state, in New York and Philadelphia. Of the remainder large numbers are factory workers and farmers. How these elements will vote today is difficult to foretell.

Both the Taft and the Roosevelt managers predict sweeping pluralities for their respective candidates. Senator La Follette's friends declare that he will make a good showing.

Superb summer weather prevailed

WILBUR WRIGHT SLOWLY DYING

Members of Family Abandon Hope of Aviator's Recovery.

Dayton, Ohio, May 28.—Wilbur Wright, premier in the science of aerial navigation, is slowly sinking at his home on Hawthorne street, this city, and his physicians say he cannot live longer than a few hours. All hope has been abandoned by the members of the family.

Heroic measures were adopted by his physicians in the final hope that the patient might be revived, but without effect. His temperature continues to hover about the 104 mark, his pulsation gradually growing weaker and the respiration more irregular.

Action May Be Taken Anyway If Gomez Should Protest.

Rebels Attack and Destroy American Plantation Near There.

Washington, May 28.—The United States is prepared to send marines and bluejackets to the interior of Cuba for the protection of American and foreign interests where necessary and where no Cuban forces are available for that purpose, even though President Gomez should object to such a course.

It is emphatically held at the state department that American marine and navy officers are expected to take such measures as become necessary to protect American and foreign plantations. No foreign government has as yet communicated with the United States on the subject of protection of its interests, and it is understood this government aims to make such action unnecessary.

Expect No Objection.

SOLID DELEGATION FOR WILSON WILL GO FROM GOPHER STATE

PREDICTS UNIT RULE AT DULUTH CONVENTION

FRED B. LYNCH,
Democratic National Committeeman From Minnesota.

Clark Fails to Carry Any District With Possible Exception of Fourth.

Democratic Caucuses Give Sweeping Victory to New Jersey Man.

Lynch Says Unit Rule Will Be Adopted at Duluth Meeting.

St. Paul, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Woodrow Wilson was indorsed emphatically at the Democratic caucuses held yesterday in a majority of the counties. Champ Clark failed to carry a district in the state. His only hope is the Fourth congressional district, where the Murphy-O'Connor machine will instruct the solid delegation from Ramsey, Chisago and Washington for Clark.

Under the unit rule, however, which seems bound to prevail at the Duluth convention, all of Minnesota's twenty-four delegates to Baltimore will go instructed for Wilson. The Fourth congressional district will select two Clark men to represent it at Baltimore, at the county convention to be held tomorrow at Federation hall, but under the unit rule these men will be forced to vote with the Wilson delegates.

Wilson Has 662.

From returns received at the office of F. B. Lynch, national Democratic committeeman, the victory is more sweeping than the most enthusiastic Wilson men expected. On the face of the returns Wilson has 662 instructed delegates; Clark 193, Bryan 37, and 66 are uninstructed. The county conventions which meet in every county in the state tomorrow probably will add to Wilson's strength. A majority of the uninstructed delegations have Wilson leanings.

The severe storms of last evening prevented the holding of a number of caucuses, and mass conventions will declare the preferences in these instances tomorrow.

Statement by Lynch.

F. B. Lynch, in speaking of the Wilson victory, said:

"Results in Hennepin county and the state at large mean that Minnesota will send a delegation to Baltimore instructed for Wilson and bound by the unit rule. The result in Minnesota is a great triumph for progressive Democracy. Speaker Clark's cause was injured in Minnesota because it was handled by such men as W. H. Williams and D. W. Lawler. Great credit must be given to E. A. Purdy, W. S. Stockwell, C. A. Quist, W. F. Nelson and others for the great fight put up in Minneapolis, where every ward but one was carried for Wilson.

"The returns from outside indicate that Wilson will have all the districts outside of the Fourth. In Brown county, where a preference vote was taken, Wilson won out 2 to 1 over Harmon and Clark, which indicates the great popularity of the New Jersey governor in this state."

Blame on W. H. Williams.

The victory for Wilson in Hennepin county was complete. W. H. Williams, who managed the Clark campaign, antagonized many of Champ Clark's friends by his style of campaign. It is said that the efforts of the Hearst and Tammany factions to dictate the Clark campaign alienated

ROOSEVELT UNABLE TO GO ON STUMP IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Sends Telegram to Sioux Falls Declaring Anti-Boss Platform.

Says He Is Only Progressive Who Can Win at Chicago.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 28.—The Sioux Falls Press today prints a telegram from Col. Roosevelt advising that he cannot come to South Dakota on account of his Memorial day speech at Gettysburg, Pa., but making an appeal to the people which is in part as follows:

"There has never in our history been a cleaner lineup than this between the plain people and the bosses. We are fighting for the fundamental principles of American citizenship. I only went into the fight when it became evident that unless I did so there was not the slightest chance to nominate any progressive candidate at Chicago.

"Events have made it certain that at Chicago either I will be nominated or else that a reactionary will be nom-

Michigan Girl Who Sued J. S. Sanborn Receives Check.

Sioux Falls, S. D., May 28.—On a judgment for $25,000 rendered in the United States court of appeals, Miss Ella Bay of Menominee, Mich., today received a check for $28,828.52, which includes interest since the verdict was returned in her favor in the fall of 1910 in suit against James S. Sanborn of Puckwana, S. D., for breach of promise. The case was bitterly fought for four years and finally carried to the United States court of appeals.

The woman was secretary of a lumber concern at Menominee, Mich., at a salary of $4,400 yearly and resigned on Sanborn's request to marry.

ILLINOIS DELEGATION IS INVITED TO OYSTER BAY

Will Discuss Plans for Chicago Convention With Roosevelt.

La Follette Platform Is Being Drawn for Presentation There.

Chicago, May 28.—The Illinois delegates who have been instructed to vote for Col. Roosevelt for Republican presidential nominee were invited today to visit Oyster Bay next Saturday and discuss the situation with Col. Roosevelt.

The invitation came through Medill McCormick, and each of the delegates was sent a telegram from the Roosevelt headquarters notifying him that Col. Roosevelt would be glad to meet him and other friends Saturday at Oyster Bay.

Th eobject of the meeting, the Roosevelt leaders declared, is to discuss plans for concerted action by the Central states delegates in advancing the candidacy of Col. Roosevelt, and also to aid in securing control of the convention.

MUCH SUFFERING IN FLOOD AREA

White and Black Refugees in South Are Clamoring for Food.

New Orleans, La., May 28.—While there has been general improvement in flood conditions for a week or more in some sections, suffering among refugees has been marked. In the Jena district whites and blacks are clamoring for food, and Governor Hall, who last week succeeded Governor Sanders as state executive, is making a determined effort to give them relief. As a result of damage to railroads, supplies cannot reach the Jena district before tomorrow.

The Atchafalaya river claimed another victim late yesterday, when a 3-year-old boy fell from the railroad station platform at Woodside, La., and was drowned. His parents had sought refuge on the high ground at the station.

Knickerbocker Is First to Feel the Action—Hires Strikebreakers.

New York, May 28.—The places vacated by 200 waiters who went out at the Hotel Knickerbocker last night on strike for higher wages and shorter hours, have nearly all been filled by strike-breakers, according to a statement made today by James M. Regan, proprietor of the hotel. There was no disorder today.

Joseph Elster, leader of the strikers, declared that the strike would be extended to every hotel in the Hotel Men's association that did not grant the waiters' demands. This includes many of the city's best known establishments.

DIVORCED WHILE AWAY

Wife Returned From Visit to Find She No Longer Had Husband.

Court Refuses to Reopen the Case, But Amends the Decree.

Absence evidently did not make hearts grow fonder in the instance of John and Elizabeth Aherns, erstwhile man and wife, now divorcees. And if the story of wifey is to be believed, hubby took advantage of her absence on a visit, hied himself to the courts, swore his better half had deserted him and was handed out a decree.

It was not until after she had returned from her sojourn, she claims, that she learned for the first time that she was no longer a lawful wedded wife. Presumably provoked at her erstwhile husband, she also hired an attorney and started legal proceedings.

When she came into court, she did so on a petition to have the divorce suit decided against her reopened and tried on its merits. The court, being advised as to the facts in the case, sustained a demurrer interposed by attorneys for the husband, which in effect denies the petition.

Mrs. Aherns is persistent, however. Today her attorney, C. R. Magney, secured an order from Judge Dancer amending the divorce decree in one particular. The Aherns have a son, Theodore, aged 10, who has been with his mother. In the original decree, the court ordered the woman to allow her husband to visit the boy once a week, but this decree will be amended so that Aherns will be obliged to support the child, although the boy will remain in the custody of his mother. Haroldson & Colton are his attorneys.

The Aherns were married in Duluth on Jan. 17, 1900. Aherns is a sawyer employed by the Alger-Smith Lumber company. He is 38 year old and she is 31. Last year Mrs. Aherns left the city and went to Denver, Colo. She claims that it was only a visit. During her absence from Duluth, Aherns secured a divorce on the grounds of desertion. The divorce was granted in March.

Stella L. Widner, aged 29, has been granted a divorce by Judge Dibell from George Charles Widner, aged 36, whom she married in Duluth on Aug. 7, 1903. The grounds are desertion and drunkenness. Mrs. Widner will have the custody of the children, Virginia, aged 7, and Elizabeth, 3.

Augusta Olson was yesterday granted a divorce from Hans Otto Olson in Judge Dibell's court. The grounds were desertion.

UNSPOILED BY THEIR SUCCESS

Duluthian Says Home Life of Wright Family Is Ideal.

"There never was a more beautiful friendship than that which existed between Wilbur Wright and his brother Orville and their sister," said T. D. Merrill today in speaking of the critical illness of Wilbur Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill were quite intimately acquainted with the Wright brothers and their sister. While in Pau, France, at the national aviation field a few years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill stopped at the same hotel with the Wright family for three months, and a warm friendship sprang up between the two families. This friendship continued, and on her way home from the East early this month, Mrs. Merrill spent two days at the Wright home in Dayton.

"It may not be generally known," said Mrs. Merrill, "but the Wrights were backed financially by such men as the Astors and the Vanderbilts and Russell Alger of Detroit. These men believed firmly in the Wrights and did not put in their money merely as an investment, counting the returns, but for the sake of allowing the brothers free play to develop their inventions and continue their wonderful work."

"Personally, three more delightful people could not be found than the Wright brothers and their sister. Their success has not changed them in the least and their home life is ideal. If Wilbur dies the blow will be a terrible one for his brother and his sister. I do not know of three people who live more for each other than they do."

WILL NOT DROP COFFEE TRUST

Wickersham Says Denial of Injunction Will Not Stop Suit.

Washington, May 28. — The denial of the attorney general's application for an injunction in the coffee trust case will not cause the government to abandon the suit. Attorney General Wickersham today declared the interests of the government would not suffer from the decision.

An appeal from the New York court's decision to the supreme court of the United States is being considered.

MILLERS LOSE FIGHT ON RATES

Chicago & Milwaukee Men Not Injured, Says Commerce Commission.

Washington, May 28. — The withdrawal of proportional freight rates on grain and grain products from Kansas City, Omaha and Council Bluffs to certain milling points in Wisconsin, leaving local rates only in effect, was decided by the interstate commerce commission today not to result in unlawful discrimination in favor of Chicago and Milwaukee millers.

CONFERENCE ON SURVEY

Water and Light Board Will Apply for Preliminary Examination.

Members of State Bear of Health Visit Duluth.

The water and light board will apply to the state board of health for a preliminary survey of the water situation in Duluth. If the preliminary survey warrants a thorough examination will be made of the conditions affecting the water supply to determine whether the purity of the water may be affected now or in the future.

Dr. R. H. Mullin, Dr. F. R. Martin and H. A. Whittaker of the state board of health held a conference with members of the water and light board and Dr E. W. Fahey, health commissioner, last evening. The plans of the board were outlined to the visitors, and Dr. Mullin suggested that formal application be made for a preliminary survey.

Recent bacteriological tests show that the Duluth water supply is pure, and members of the water and light board are confident that there is no immediate danger of contamination. They are anxious, however, to know just what conditions may affect the supply in the future, and the survey is intended to establish that fact.

Mr. Whittaker remained in Duluth today to make an examination of the physical condition of the plant.

BEGIN FIGHT OVER BATTLESHIPS

House Receives Proposition to Build Two at $6,000,000 Each.

Washington, May 28. — The fight on the naval appropriation broke in the house today when Representative Roberts of Massachusetts moved for two new battleships to cost not more than $6,000,000 each. The Democratic caucus opposed the battleship program.

PERMITS REQUIRED FOR FIREWORKS DISPLAYS.

Under an amendment recently passed by the council the city can have displays of fireworks outside of the city parks. Permission must first be secured from the council and the displays must be under the direction of the fire warden of the city. Under the ordinance no dealer is allowed to sell any fireworks or any explosive, or display or offer any of them for sale. It is also unlawful for anyone to discharge firecrackers or explosives or fireworks of any kind inside the city limits, except as specifically provided for by the ordinance.

GOVERNOR'S CHIEF CLERK IN DULUTH.

Archie Hays, the governor's chief clerk, returned from the range this morning after making an inspection of about all of the principal mines on the Missabe and Vermilion ranges. Mr. Hayes was with a party of St. Paul people, some of whom are on the range at the present time.

"We went down in pits and made an inspection of about all the mines they have up there," said Mr. Hays. "I have been up on the ranges before but I did not know there were so many mines on the ranges. From what we saw I should imagine that the ranges are very busy at the present time."

Mr. Hays said there was nothing new in politics that he could discuss at the present time.

SULTANS WHO WROTE VERSES.

London Chronicle: Among the royal authors must be included the Sultans of Turkey. Of thirty-five monarchs who have sat upon the throne of Osman II., Mr. Stanley Lane-Poole records, who have left verses the greatest poet was the terrible Selim the Grim.

Abdul Hamid was passionately addicted to journalism, or rather to "djournalism." Only the "djournals" which he fostered and the "djournalji" who wrote them would not be recognized by an institute of journalists. The djournals were the daily reports he received from his host of spies. They averaged hundreds a day, and the Sultan accumulated a collection of several millions.

THE "PRO ELLA" CROSS.

Wide World Magazine: In the Island of Ushant—the "Isle of Fear"—there exists a custom probably unknown in any other part of Christendom. When a native dies abroad or is lost at sea, his relatives have a small wax cross made, some seven inches long. This is solemnly taken to the church and presented to the priest, who deposits it in a box, shaped like a cinerary urn, that hangs on the south side of the alter of St. Joseph. This is called the "Pro Ella" cross, and is supposed to stand for the spirit of the dead. These memorial symbols are allowed to accumulate in the box till the next church mission comes round. As these revival services are held only once in every four or five years, the number of crosses may be very considerable. A day is then set apart for their solemn interment. It is the great day, the climax of the mission. The church is draped in black and crowded with a mourning congregation, many of whom break out into loud wailing. The crosses are brought from their urn in solemn procession, a requiem mass is said over them, and then they are carried to the churchyard, the iron door of the tomb is unlocked, and they are interred with full honors. Throughout the year hardly a day passes but some pious soul comes to sprinkle the tomb with holy water and say a prayer before it for the dead.

ROUTINE FOR METHODISTS

Other Work of the General Conference Is Over—Delegates Leaving.

Automatic Retirement of Bishops Is Adopted By the Church.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.) — With adjournment of the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church about twenty-four hours away, many delegates already have departed and it is probable that before the night session is closed today there will be not much more than a quorum for the transaction of business. For almost one week, excuses have been piling in upon the credentials committee, and while that body has been fighting the departure of delegates, in many cases their granting has been necessary.

Bishop John Neulson has been excused, as he must sail next week for his new residence in Zurich, Switzerland, in order to hold conferences on the continent which are scheduled for the present spring and summer. Many of the foreign delegates, some of whom have been away from home for three months, are anxious to leave, and many admit that they have had touches of nostalgia during the last month in which the conference has been in session in Minneapolis.

Routine business principally will be before the conference in its closing hours, although the report of the appointment of bishops to the annual conferences is awaited with interest.

Four Bishops Retire in 1916.

Four bishops, it is said, automatically will be retired at the 1916 general conference by the 73rd birthday age limit. They are:

Earl Cranston, born in 1840.
John Hamilton, born in 1845.
Charles W. Smith, born in 1840.
Missionary Bihop Joseph C. Hartsell, born in 1842.

Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church no longer need fear the "guillotine" method of retirement by which the general conference votes upon their effectiveness, as the result of the adoption by the quadrennial body of the majority report, which compels the retirment of a bishop at that general conference nearest his 73rd birthday. The ruling will go into effect at the beginning of the next general conference, as this conference already has approved the effectiveness of certain bishops who might be effected by the ruling.

Preceding the adoption of the report, the conference rejected an amendment by Robert Forbes of Philadelphia, which provided that any charges made against bishops should be presented to the senior bishop, who should present them to the board of bishops, where the complaint should be heard behind closed doors.

Letter From Secretary Knox.

In reply to the action of the church early in the session, asking that the United States recognize the new republic of China, a letter was received from Philander C. Knox, secretary of state, in which he declared that it is the disposition of the executive to accord recognition to the new Chinese government at the earliest opportunity afforded under the established usages of international law."

Praise Dr. Buckley.

Resolutions praising the thirty-two years of work of Dr. J. M. Buckley of New York, who yesterday retired as editor of the Christian Advocate, today at the session of the general conference of the Methodist-Episcopal church brought forth scores of speeches in his honor from the leaders of the church. The resolutions which expressed the appreciation of the church for Dr. Buckley's faithful service was adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

By a vote of 403 to 298 the conference today adopted a minority report whereby the work of the different business orgarizations of the church henceforth is to be administered by a nonpartisan board and is not to be under the direction of the Woman's Home Missionary society.

CAB DRIVER SAVES LIVES OF FIVE.

The presence of mind of Frank Fitzcello, a hacknan, saved five people from possible drowning in Pokegama river at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning. A party of five mourners were in a hack crossing the old bridge spanning the river, when the hack crashed through the timber, plunging a distance of about ten feet into the muddy water. Fitzcello broke open the window in his cab and dragged each member in the party to safety. Those in the cab were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rowan, Mrs. C. D. Larson, Mrs. A. Towlers and her 1-year-old child. The carriage was partly smashed, while the horses escaped without any injury.

IMPORTANT CASE ON THE CALENDAR.

Among the more important cases to come up during the present term of circuit court is that of Frank R. Ross against the Consolidated Land company. The outcome of the case will determine the right to plat sub-aqueous property in the harbor between the shore and dock lines. The city has entered in the case because the decision will affect all bay-front property.

An unknown man, apparently about 45 years of age, was picked up by Officer Beaton shortly after noon yesterday in a Third street saloon and taken to St. Mary's hospital, where he died shortly after 7 o'clock last evening. No means of identification was found in the man's clothes, with the exception of a small memorandum book, a bottle of medicine and a tobacco pouch.

The committee in charge of boosting the candidacy of T. B. Mills for grand exalted ruler of the Elks' lodge, has placed an order for 10,000 booster buttons, which will be distributed throughout the country. A reproduction of Mr. Mill's photograph will appear on the buttons.

New Secretary Arrives.

CONTEMPT CHARGE IN DARROW CASE

Detective and Newspaper Men Summoned Before the Court.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 28.—The contempt case of Detective R. J. Foster of Indianapolis was transferred this morning by Judge Hutton to the court of Presiding Judge Willis of the superior court.

The proceedings against Foster were expected to take precedence today over the trial of Clarence S. Darrow, charged with jury bribery in connection with the McNamara dynamiting case.

Members of the editorial staff of a Los Angeles newspaper were ordered to appear, in order that Judge Hutton could determine who was responsible for the publication of an interview in which Foster was quoted as having said he would convict Darrow with his telephone device. Judge Hutton declared the publication of the interview to be most reprehensible.

Nearly Came to Blows.

During the controversy which followed the filing of affidavits in support of a request for Foster's citation, Earl Rogers, chief counsel for the defense, and District Attorney Fredericks almost came to blows when Rogers asserted that the publication of the interview was a flagrant attempt by the National Erectors' association, which employs Foster, to influence the jury.

He accused Foster of attempting to "reach" the jury.

While denying the authenticity of the interview, Fredericks declared that neither Foster nor the National Erectors' association had participated or would have anything to do with the prosecution.

This was construed by many as an intimation that the state would not attempt to use the evidence said to have been obtained by Foster, and upon which the prosecution was said to have relied mainly to bring about Darrow's conviction.

Attorney Rogers also insisted there was something queer about Foster's staying at a club of which one of the jurors was a member. At this stage Fredericks declared that such an insinuation was "more than red blood could stand."

"I have some red blood, myself," shouted Rogers.

GOOD PROGRESS ON PINE ISLAND

James Cardle, president of the Vermilion Iron Development company has returned from an inspection of the company's property on Pine island.

"The shaft is now down 242 feet," said Mr. Cardle, "and it is timbered for 230 fet. The crosscut at the 200-foot level showed an improvement in the ore of about 12 per cent. If that improvement continues with depth we expect to find merchantable values at the 300-foot level. We have spent about $40,000 on the property to date, and it has been spent economically and to the best advantage."

ADMITS GUILT AND EXONERATES FRIEND.

Carl Covel, who the police claim stole brass valued at $300 from the shop of the Duluth Boiler works on Garfield avenue, not only confessed his guilt when arraigned in district court before Judge Dancer, but he also exonerated his alleged companion in crime, Axel Hancer.

Following the statement which Covel made, the indictment against Hancer was dismissed on the motion of County Attorney Norton. Covel was indicted for grand larceny, second degree. He had formerly pleaded not guilty. This morning, he withdrew that plea and entered one of guilty.

Covel and Hancer were indicted by the grand jury for having stolen brass from a locomotive belonging to the National Power & Paper company which was being repaired at the shop of the Duluth Boiler works. Ben Meltz, another boy, was supposed to have been associated with Covel and Hancer, but the grand jury returned a no true bill against him.

The brass was stolen on April 27. It is claimed that it was sold to the West End Scrap Iron & Metal company of which William Gansburg and Joseph Davis are proprietors. The grand jury indicted Gansburg and Davis on the charge of having received stolen property. Their cases will be tried later. Their shop is at 1910 West Michigan street.

KUBELIK RETIRES WITH A FORTUNE

JAN KUBELIK.

Jan Kubelik sailed for Europe last week on the Amerika with enough good American dollars to last him for several years. It is not likely he will return for he has been careful of his earnings and has a small fortune carefully put away. He says he will play hereafter only in large cities. Kubelik has been the best "press-agented" musician who ever came to these shores. Stories of his twins, of the insurance on his fingers, etc., have filled the papers. His earnings the past season are said to have been $150,000.

MUCH INTEREST IN AUTO TOURING

Improvement During Last Year in Roads Throughout United States.

With the approach of spring-like weather and the reappearance of thousands of cars on the public highways, renewed activity is evidenced in automobile touring, made more popular than ever by the wonderful progress in road improvement throughout the country, as well as the adoption by nearly all the states of uniform laws and regulations, and the granting of reciprocal privileges to non-resident tourists.

Coincident with the opening of the touring season this year comes the announcement from the Touring Club of America, Broadway at Seventy-sixth street, New York, that in addition to the eighteen departments and branches established by the club in the Eastern and middle Western states last year, seven new touring bureaus will be formally opened May 15, their locations being as follows:

In New York state, Arcade building, Utica; the O-te-sa-ga, Cooperstown; the Palatine, Newburgh; the new Hotel Taft, New Haven, Conn.; the Kittatinny, Delaware Water Gap, Pa.; the new Hotel Henry Watterson, Louisville, Ky., and Eastern Canada headquarters at the St. Regis, Montreal.

The importance of this chain of touring bureaus to motorists is readily appreciated, as the constant interchange of dependable information from one branch manager to another covers every requirements which the tourist may desire. For example, if an important thoroughfare is to be closed for repairs, immediate notice is sent to the Touring club's headquarters in New York, where in turn it is communicated to the branches in the cities nearest to the road in question, so that motorists in planning tours may have first-hand information, thereby precluding any trouble and inconvenience.

With the expenditure this year of $100,000,000 for new roads this service alone will be of immense value to tourists, since the constant improvement in the highways naturally necessitates detours and the Touring club has arranged with the highway authorities in each state to notify the club immediately of any changes or reconstruction work planned for the benefit of automobilists.

A special feature of the club's service at its several bureaus is the daily reports of weather conditions, which are posted each afternoon, so that tourists are reliably informed as to the probable changes in the weather from day to day.

Each office will have an enlarged map of the city in which it is located, also copies of the local ordinances regulating the operation of motor vehicles. The motor vehicle laws of the adjoining states will also be available for reference.

STRONGER GRAND FORKS TEAM IS COMING.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Forks baseball team which will leave the city tonight for Duluth, opening there tomorrow for the third series of the season against the Darby O'Brien outfit, will be a very much different aggregation from that which invaded the Head of the Lakes at the opening of the season.

Last Saturday several men who had been playing indifferent ball were released, and new men substituted. Dehaven and Bowers, coming from the Three Eye league, look like fast men. DeHaven replaced Strain at second base. Bowers is a change-off catcher and fielder. Norton, Snook and Whiteside are new additions to the pitching staff.

ANNOUNCE DATES FOR REGATTA

Winipeg, Man., May 28.—The Winipeg rowing club announced today dates for the Northwestern international rowing association regatta to be held in Winnipeg by St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, Fort William, Kenora and Winnipeg clubs, as July 19 and 20.

RAIN PREVENTS AUTO TRIALS AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Indianapolis, May 28.—Pouring rain prevented the remaining qualification trials for the Memorial Day 500-mile race at the Indianapolis speedway this morning. If the weather clears and the track dries, the prospect is that Eddie Hearne and his Case, Mulford and his Knox and Ormsby and his Opel will go against the test of two miles and a half in two minutes late in the afternoon.

As these cars have made better time every day in practice spins, there was little doubt they would join the entrants that qualified yesterday, bringing the total to 24.

Callahan Suspended.

Cleveland, O., May 28.—Manager Callahan, of the Chicago Amreicans today received notice from President Johnson of the American league of a three days' suspension for Callahan's "run-in" with Umpier Westervelt during the Chicago-Detroit game last Saturday. Callahan will send McIntyre to the outfield in his place.

Promising Recruit.

New York, May 28.—Carl Thompson of the University of Georgia, six feet, one inch in his stocking feet, and holding a strike-out record of 22 out of 27 men at bat in a regular nine-inning game, has been added to the pitching staff of the New York Americans. He will report in a few days.

THE BEDOUIN'S THREE TREASURES.

Wide World Magazine: There are always three things uppermost in the Bedouin's mind—his gun, his horse, and his wives. The most modern arms of precision have replaced the primitive spear which, until a few years ago, was the usual weapon. The Bedouin is quick to realize the efficiency of modern weapons, and soon becomes an expert marksman. So much has the spear fallen out of favor that the bearer of one would be ridiculed in his own camp. Such pride has the Bedouin in his weapons that even in his leisure hours he sits fully armed, examining and cleaning each piece in turn, making himself accustomed to carrying their weight. No youth considers himself a man until he has fully equipped himself. A sword is much esteemed, but generally only as an heirloom, and as giving distinction to the bearer. There are to be found many excellent blades among the sheikhs, some with a history of hundreds of years, having been handed down from father to son.

THE "SWINGING FESTIVAL" OF SIAM.

Wide World Magazine: Siam is a Buddhist country, but Buddhism is only a reformed form of Brahminism, and there are still left some few Brahmin priests who act as court astrologers and preserve many of the old ceremonies to the best of their ability; and one of these is the "Swinging Festival." First of all, two "auspicious days" are selected, and then His Majesty the King is approached to elect a representative. This he does in the person of some high official, and on the appointed days the "Mock King" is conveyed in great state and pomp to the big swing which is such a conspicuous object in the old walled city of Bangkok.

Opposite this swing, which is a highly ornate structure of teak and copper, over seventy-five feet in height, a pavilion is erected, and here the "Mock King," after dismounting from his State palanquin, takes his throne—or, rather, perch. For, not being a real Sovereign, he has to sit on a white-painted stile-like arrangement, with his left foot crossed over his right knee. And if, while the swinging is in progress, he should let his right foot touch the lower cross-bar, he has to pay a considerable sum of money to the swingers. In former years, should he touch the lower bar, the attendant priests were allowed to strip him to "the altogether" and drive him from his temporary throne, while his attendant guards were allowed to run riot and plunder all the shops in the vicinity. Nowadays, however, this license is not allowed. The "Mock King," or "Three Days' King," as he is known to the common folk, having been duly inducted to his throne by the attendant Brahmin priests, the swinging commences. From the lower cross-bar of the swing a plank, about six feet long, is attached by stout ropes so that it hangs about twelve feet from the ground. Some yards away, and in front of the swing, a bag of money is attached to a tall bamboo. All being in readiness, four or five Brahmins, with tall conical hats bearing little metal snakes in front, mount to the plank and urge it by every means possible towards the bamboo, when the man at the end strives to seize the bag of money with his teeth.

There are usually tnree lots of these swingers, and they display wonderful dexterity and strength in what is really a difficult and dangerous operation. The first lot get about five dollars, the second three, and the third a dollar and a half; but it is the honor which is really coveted. The swinging over, the Brahmin priests sprinkle water over all the people they can reach, which is considered as conferring a blessing, and the procession then reforms and returns to a big temple near the royal palace, where it disbands. The ceremony always takes place on two days—once in the morning and once in the evening—and on the second occasion the procession invariably reverses its route.

WHY WOMEN GO CRAZY.

The Congregationalist: Do not subject yourself to too many influences at once or the result may be confusing. We often have wondered how readers of the magazines for women, who have their houses to keep or their living to earn, get time to eat and sleep if they try to put their multiplied suggestions into practice. But we have supposed that nature mercifully interfered to create callouses of the soul, as she does callouses of the hands of manual workers. We have never interrogated the mad doctors, but we feel sure that if the women of America took what the newspapers describe for them seriously it must go far toward explaining the recent great increase in insanity. The class of women which reads these ingenious counsels seldom comes to articulate speech; but one victim takes a moment from her toils as a stenographer to indulge in a cry for relief, which the Chicago Tribune publishes:

Sir—I want to know how I am going to follow Miss Russell's instructions for developing the bust and the soul, Laurajean's hints for winning and holding a man, my fizzical culture teacher's on how to build up this temple of mine, Miss Peattie's on what to read and why, find time to visit the art institute, mend my clothes and make a few shirt waists, follow the orimer investigation—and still have leisure to pound out the boss's letters.

The world is suffering from laziness but we sametimes wonder whether it does not suffer more from diffused and wasted enegies. Try to be something or other and to follow it up to the best possible end. But don't try to do everything at once for the classic example of that is the donkey that starved to death between two bundles of hay, not knowing which to begin its meal upon. Why should you wish to have it written—or thought of—as your epitaph:

Here lies the body of Mehitable Drew,
Who habitually bit off more than she could chew.

AMUSEMENTS

"Beverly."

The attraction at the Lyceum Decoration day, matinee and night, will be A. G. Delamater's original Studebaker theater, Chicago, production of George Barr McCutcheon's "Beverly," by Robert M. Baker. The Buffalo Commercial has the following to say concerning the attraction:

"George Barr McCutcheon's 'Beverly' opened a week's engagement auspiciously at the Teck theater last evening before a crowded house. The dramatization promises all of the elements that go to make a successful play; admirable characters, elaborate settings, clever situations, and an interesting plot. All the parts are well acted and the company enters into the play with spirit and effectiveness. Curtain calls were frequent, the ending of the third act being the signal for long continued applause."

"The Pink Lady."

In all there are twenty selected song numbers woven into the score of "The Pink Lady" which is to be seen for two days at the Lyceum theater, beginning Friday, May 31, with matinee Saturday, and each of these is not there for the simple effect of a good song, but because they form a part of the story and accelerate its development. In this array it is difficult to single out a number of prominence, but of the many, the public has shown a marked preference for "My Beautiful Lady," "Hide and Seek," "The Girl By the Saskatchewan," "Donny Did, Donny Didn't," "I Like It," "I'm Going to Be Married in June" and "When Love Goes Astraying."

FRIDAY LAST DAY TO PAY TAXES.

Friday is the last day in which to pay the first half of the 1911 real estate tax without the usual 10 per cent penalty.

This week has seen a rush of people to the office of County Treasurer Holgate, whose force is fairly swamped with the work.

In most cases, the amounts are small, but the average day's receipts is upwards of $20,000.

MILL CITY EDITOR'S BODY RECOVERED FROM HARRIET

Minneapolis, Minn., May 28.—The body of H. C. Chapin, aged 51, editor and publisher of commercial magazines in Minneapolis, was recovered last week from the waters of Lake Harriet. Mr. Chapin disappeared Friday night while canoeing.

RUTGERS SENIORS' KEG PARTY MAKES TROUBLE.

New Brunswick, N. J., May 28.—Forty-nine of the sixty-five seniors at Rutgers college have been indefinitely suspended for the alleged attendance at a "keg party" at Raritan landing, after the class banquet last Friday night. The student body asserts its indignation that the faculty should have taken the action, and declares that similar post-prandial revelry has been the custom set by other graduating classes without being disciplined.

BOARD OF PUBLIC WELFARE MEETS.

J. S. Pardee was selected as temporary secretary of the city board of public welfare at a meeting which was held yesterday afternoon at the courthouse. The board has been given temporary quarters in the press reporters' room, No. 208, until a permanent place is found.

The board took up the correctional farm proposition for discusion, but took no action. Other matters which come within the general scope of the board's activities were brought up for discussion. The board is still without funds and is handicapped to some extent.

Besides Mr. Pardee, temporary secretary, the members of the welfare board present yesterday were: Mrs. Agnes L. Atwood, Bishop James McGolrick, Rev. Robert Yost, and George D. Lucore. G. G. Hartley, the other member of the welfare board, is touring Europe.

NEW YORK BEEF PRICES HIGHEST SINCE 1882.

New York, May 28.—The highest price since 1882 was reached by beef in the wholesale market here yesterday, when it sold at 13½ cents a pound in bulk. It is said to mean from 1½ to 2 cents a pound increase for prime meats at retail. The primary cause of the high prices, the wholesale men say, is the continued scarcity of cattle. Small retail dealers continue to talk of ruination of their business because consumers are greatly curtailing meat purchases.

A feature of the week's program is to be a memorial meeting in honor of the members of the ship's band who went down with the Titanic playing "Nearer, My God, To Thee." The exact date has not been fixed.

La Follette will make a number of speeches in South Dakota this week, beginning Wednesday afternoon at Milbank Senator La Follette's itinerary, includes Webster, Aberdeen, Watertown, Doland, Clark, Henry, Arlington, Redfield and a number of other towns, closing at Huron next Monday evening, the night before the primaries.

ORNAMENTS AND ART NOT IN SAME TARIFF CLASS.

Washington, May 28. — Only sculptures which are genuine works of art can come into the United States free of duty, according to a decision by the customs court drawing a sharp line between the ornamenter and the sculptor. The court held that an elaborately carved marble mantel, decorated with artistic pillars and figures, was not sculpture, but a specimen of architectural art dutiable at 50 per cent ad valorem.

The ornamentalist in stone, the court decrees, "imitates that which he actually sees, and his work goes no further than to please the eye. The sculptor reproduces that which is pictured by his imagination and his reproduction appeals, not only to the eye, but to the emotions as well."

Hudson, Wis., Man Killed.

throughout the state during the forenoon.

Hours Favor Commuters.

The voting hours—1 p. m. to 9 p. m.—have been set for the special convenience of the commuter population and the heaviest vote is expected during the last three hours the polls are open.

The opponents of Governor Wilson are confident of electing "uninstructed" delegates in this city.

Twenty-eight delegates will be chosen today, four-at-large and two from each of the twelve congressional districts. In addition the ballots have a place for a direct presidential vote.

Weather Is Ideal.

Trenton, N. J., May 28.—The weather for today's presidential primaries is ideal. It probably will have the effect of making the vote lighter than it otherwise would be in the agricultural counties where the farmers hesitate about losing the time to vote. The voting in the cities, however, is expected to be heavy.

Owing to the drastic corrupt practices act there is not expected to be much display of activity by party workers around the polls, and no disorder is expected.

Predict Heavy Vote.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 28.—Leaders of all political parties and factions declared that the fine weather and the great interest shown in the campaign will bring out a heavy vote in today's presidential primaries.

The campaign here has been the liveliest in years. President Taft, Col. Roosevelt and Senator La Follette having included this resort in their tours of the state. Governor Woodrow Wilson has also been in the city in the last few weeks.

Although he did not get to bed until long after midnight President Taft was up early today to begin the last lap of his New Jersey trip. He left here by special train shortly after 7 o'clock. He had planned to speak in nearly a dozen small towns before noon.

Taft Watched the Moon.

It was after midnight when Mr. Taft finished dinner, but he refused to go to bed, and with ex-Governor Franklin Murphy of New Jersey and Maj. Thomas L. Rhoades, his physician and aide, three secret service men and a dozen reporters, he started out for a stroll on the Boardwalk. There were only a few people out at that time.

With ex-Governor Murphy he sat for a half hour on one of the piers near his hotel and watched the ocean under the spell of the moon.

inated. Any progressive who casts a vote for any other candidate is merely giving aid and comfort to the reactionary. Any vote is equivalent to half a vote for Mr. Taft."

"Every boss in the country is against us. But the great majority of the rank and file of the people are with us, for this is their fight.

Lorimer a Type.

"We are fighting for their right to rule themselves. The combination of crooked politics and crooked business which we are fighting is best typified by Mr. Lorimer.

"We believe that the government should control in a thorough-going fashion not only the interstate railroads, but all big interstate business. We believe in the conservation policy and in extending the irrigation work as rapidly as feasible.

"We are against any effort by reciprocity or in any other fashion to put the burden of tariff reduction exclusively upon the farmer. The farmers and the wage-workers are the two men we especially desire to see benefited by the protective tariff. It must be a tariff to protect the little men, not to favor unduly the big men."

La Follette Tour Planned.

Huron, S. D., May 28.—Senator La Follette's manager, W. L. Houser, has completed arrangements for a speaking tour of the state for La Follette, beginning tomorrow morning and closing next Monday night, one day before the primary.

national Republican convention would be clearly defined at the meeting. In a letter received to Governor Herbert Hadley of Missouri, Col. Roosevelt has asked him to be temporary chairman of the Republican national convention to be held in Chicago, if the Roosevelt forces succeed in getting control of the convention.

Ormsby McHarg, who has charge of the Roosevelt contests for delegates, declared his preparations practically were complete for the contest committee hearings, which are to begin June 6. He asserted that regardless of the outcome of the delegate contests, Col. Roosevelt would be the Republican nominee.

"There will be about 260 contests," said Mr. McHarg, "and we expect to win at least a majority of them."

Two Women Delegates.

Credentials from 960 of the 1,078 delegates to the Republican national convention have been received by Secretary Hayward of the national committee. In the list are the names of two women delegates at large from California. They are Mrs. Florence Collins Porter and Mrs. Isabella W. Blaney of San Francisco.

Notice of contests were received today from the Thirteenth congressional district of Indiana, and from Florida. The Florida contest is the third received at national committee headquarters and includes an entirely new set of delegates at large from the First, Second and Third districts of the state.

The time limit on contests expires tomorrow, but as the call was worded that contests should be forwarded by May 29, it is likely the committee will continue to receive belated notices for several days.

Will Pray at Convention.

Fred W. Upham, chairman of the Chicago convention committee, announced the chaplains appointed for the convention. The invocation the opening day, June 18, will be given by Rev. James F. Callahan of St. Malachi's Roman Catholic church. Other clergymen who will officiate as chaplains are Rev. Joseph Stolz of Isaiah temple; Rev. John Balcom Shaw of the Second Presbyterian church, and Dean Walter T. Sumner of the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul.

Indications to the minds of some that the Republican convention may continue in session longer than was at first intended developed with the arrival of sample tickets of admission. The tickets are dated for June 18, 19, 20, 21 and 22, but the tickets for the last date read "good for Saturday, June 22, and all days thereafter that the convention may continue." Politicians were inclined to believe that this provision was to meet the possibility that a presidential nomnaton might not result in the first five days of the convention.

Will Contain 11,188 Seats.

A large force of workmen has begun preparing the Coliseum for the use of convention June 18. The convention hall will contain 11,188 seats. There will be 1,932 seats on the platform, 400 for working newspaper men, 1,078 for delegates, 1,078 for alternates 3,500 for visitors on the main floor and 3,200 for visitors in the balcony.

Draft La Follette Planks.

Madison, Wis., May 28.—Because of the large number of contests over nearly 240 delegates claimed by both Taft and Roosevelt to be seated in the Chicago convention, National Committeeman Alfred T. Rogers believes that the period from June 6 to 18 will be practically consumed by the national committee in settling these disputes. Mr. Rogers said today that he will go to Chicago on June 6 to be present at all the hearings.

At the capitol here it is understood that planks for the Progressive platform, which the La Follette forces will attempt to have incorporated, are being drafted to be submitted to Senator La Follette when he concludes his South Dakota campaign on June 4. The La Follette managers are going to make a big fight on the platform, and this time they hope to have many of their measures included. Four years ago the La Follette ideas were turned down by a vote of nearly 8 to 1.

UNCLE SAM IS READY TO LAND MEN IN CUBA TO GUARD PROPERTY

confident that with a clearer understanding of the purposes of American military forces in Cuban waters, there will be no further objection to the disposition of ships and men.

Cuba was officially notified as early as last Friday that it was the purpose of the United States to concentrate a naval force in Cuban waters. It is now known the demonstration was not an impulsive movement, but part of a general and carefully prepared plan on the part of the United States to restore order in Cuba, first by moral influence if possible, and by intervention in a political sense only as a last resort.

Prairie at Guantanamo.

The naval transport Prairie which left Philadelphia navy yard Thursday night with 700 marines aboard for the United States naval station at Guantanamo, arrived there early today, according to a radio report received at the navy department.

American Property Burned.

Santiago, May 28.—A body of insurgents today burned 8,000 tons of sugar cane, many cars and other property on the plantation of Marcos Sanchez, in the vicinity of Guantanamo, belonging to the American Fidelity company.

ANNUAL MEETING OF ODD FELLOWS

North Dakota Grand Lodge of Order to Meet at Williston.

Williston, N. D., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The program for the two days' gathering of the North Dakota grand lodge of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs here, June 4 and 5, has been arranged. Mayor J. W. Jackson will welcome the visitors in Gates hall. William G. Owens will extend welcome for the Williston lodges and Grand Master F. E. Smith will respond.

From noon until 1:30 o'clock there will be a barbecue and band concert in the park, and the afternoon will be given over to reports of officers. The evening session will open with a band concert, there will be competitive degree work for prizes in both bodies, and this will be followed by the annual grand encampment session at the K. P. hall.

Wednesday morning the lodges will reconvene for the regular business and conclude the session.

Cass Lake Badly Beaten.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Rapids team defeated Cass Lake on the local grounds by a score that sounded something like 33 to 3. The Grand Rapids boys stopped off here on their way home from Akeley, where they also were victorious by a score of 5 to 0.

BOUNTIFUL CROPS ARE NOW EXPECTED

Thomas Cooper After Trip Over North Dakota Is Very Enthusiastic.

Fargo, N. D., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Great enthusiasm was expressed by Secretary and Manager Thomas Cooper of the Better Farming Movement in this state. Sunday morning Mr. Cooper returned from an extended trip into the Northwestern and central parts of the state.

"The crop acreage in the Northwestern part of the state will be about normal," Mr. Cooper said, "despite rains that have delayed seeding. The wheat acreage has been reduced in the Northwestern counties about 20 per cent, but this is made up in increased acreage in oats, barley, flax, corn and potatoes. The amount of moisture is above the average and soil conditions are well nigh perfect. Farm work has progressed rapidly. Corn planting is practically through with a large acreage and great attention is being paid to potatoes. In some counties the acreage will be twenty times as large as last year."

SAYS THE CHURCH NEEDS TEAM WORK

Baptist Speaker Says Powers in Hell Will Then Take Notice.

Des Moines, Ia., May 28.—The report of the committee on home administration of foreign missions, which was submited to the Northern Baptist convention here today, was the principal business of the session.

"When the Christian church learns teamwork, all the powers in hell will have to sit up and take notice," declared Dr. James A. Francis of Boston, Mass., in addressing the delegates. "There is not a public wrong which cannot be wiped from the world by proper team work."

The spirit of social unrest, according to the speaker, was not the result of "stalking abroad of the devil, but rather the result of growing pains in the kingdom of God."

"The cause of social unrest is social injustice, and the cause of social injustice is personal greed, and the cure for the entire malady is the gospel," said Dr. Francis.

Preferential Vote Hereafter.

A resolution calling for a preferential vote on the election of officers in the future was adopted by the convention following the election of officers this afternoon. Heretofore the nomination committee has prepared the slate with only one name for each office, and it has gone through in routine order. The resolution was introduced by Dr. J. W. Brougher of Los Angeles. Henry Bond of Battleboro, Vt., was elected president of the convention.

Detroit, it was announced, will be recommended as the next meeting place, by the committee.

WIFE'S HEALTH RESTORED

Husband Declared Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Would Restore Her Health, And It Did.

Ashland, Ky.—"Four years ago I seemed to have everything the matter with me. I had female and kidney trouble and was so bad off I could hardly rest day or night. I doctored with all the best doctors in town and took many kinds of medicine but nothing did any good until I tried your wonderful remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My husband said it would restore my health and it has."—Mrs. MAY WYATT, Ashland, Ky.

There are probably hundreds of thousands of women in the United States who have been benefitted by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over thirty years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering.

MINNESOTA POLITICS

Hennepin County Result Makes Wilson Victory in Minnesota Complete—Call for Republican State Convention Is Rescinded—Extra Session Will Probably Be Limited to Short Legislative Program—Wilson Man Denies Clark Claims of Lead in Number of Delegates.

Victory For Wilson.

The Wilson victory in Minnesota is complete. The victory in Hennepin county last evening cinched the result and the convention here next week will be in complete control of the supporters of the New Jersey governor.

The support of Wilson in Minnesota was spontaneous. No campaign was made for him. No money was used in the state. There was no state-wide organization. No Minnesota manager was appointed, and E. A. Purdy, who is nominally the head of the Wilson campaign in the state, is secretary of the Hennepin county Wilson organization and looked after some matters in the state because there was nobody else to attend to them.

The Wilson sentiment dates back to the time the candidacy of the New Jersey man was announced. The Progressive Democrats of Minnesota settled upon him as the most progressive candidate for the honor and they have stayed by him despite the vicious onslaughts of his opponents.

Against the unorganized, spontaneous Wilson sentiment, the Clark people threw the weight of organization, Hearst literature and paid oratory. Early in the winter, announcement was made that W. H. Williams had been appointed Clark manager and rumor had it that he was well supplied with Hearst money. Headquarters have been conducted in Minneapolis for several months and tons of literature, mostly extracts from Hearst newspapers and magazines, were sent out through the state. In the last week of the campaign, the Clark people turned their heavy guns on Minnesota. George Fred Williams of Massachusetts, Charles A. Towne of New York, Fred Dubois of Idaho, C. A. Walsh of Iowa, Former Senator Pettigrew of South Dakota and lessor lights invaded the state and endeavored to start a band wagon movement that wouldn't start.

Hennepin county was the principal fighting ground, for Hennepin will have 131 delegates in the state convention and the control of them was important. "Billy" Williams exerted all his influence. He slated F. G. Winston for delegate at large and J. H. Musgrave and A. W. Benson for district delegates. All have strong influence and the weight of their names was expected to help the Clark crowd materially.

E. A. Purdy, who bore the brunt of the campaign in Hennepin was a novice at the political game, but he is so no longer. He has scored a triumph that entitles him to laurels over some of the shrewdest political manipulators in the state.

The only place in the state where the Clark support amounts to anything is in Ramsey county. Dan Lawler and "Dick" O'Connor, who were first for Harmon, shifted to Clark recently and they may carry the Fourth district tonight, but one Clark district will have little influence in the state convention, which will be completely dominated by the Wilson men.

Losing Minnesota at this stage of the game is hard on the Clark men, who were ready to point out the bandwagon to other states. Minnesota is recognized as a Progressive state and the defeat of Clark here will hold the attention of Progressive Democrats to Wilson.

Legislators May Attend.

The calling of the extra session of the legislature so that it will conflict with the Democratic state convention here June 6 has aroused a doubt as to the ability of the Democratic members of the legislature to attend the convention. Some of the strongest Democrats in the state are members of the legislature and their absence from the convention would be greatly regretted by other members of the party.

The legislators will probably be able to attend, however. The legislature will meet June 4 and bills introduced will go to the committees. Such important matters as will be considered at the extra session are not likely to be reported back before the end of the week and the Democrats will probably have time to run to Duluth for the convention. The only chance of their being unable to do so is an agreement to limit the session to three or five days, with a primary law the only matter for consideration.

Candidates In Sixth.

Although no opposition has appeared to Alvah Eastman as a candidate for congressman-at-large, he may not have any such easy sailing as a candidate for congress in the Sixth district. Meeker county Republicans are already talking of bringing out Col. C. H. March of Litchfield as a candidate for the Republican nomination. Other prominent men in the Sixth district have been waiting for some time for a chance to get into the congressional game and Lindbergh's action in hitching his chariot to a higher star may develop a real contest in a district where everything was regarded as cut and dried some months ago.

Call is Rescinded.

The action of the Republican state central committee yesterday in rescinding the call for the state convention July 2 was all that could be done under the circumstances. If the call had not been rescinded, confusion would rule while the extra session was on.

The committee gracefully indorsed the governor by declaring its support of the theory of direct nomination of candidates for state offices. It was not so ready to give power into the hands of the people when the question of presidential primaries was up at the April meeting. But it refused to indorse the second choice provision, as was expected.

Extra Session Program.

Republican members of the legislature will caucus before the beginning of the extra session and determine on a legislative program. Many are in favor of limiting the program to the three mesures mentioned in the governor's call—reapportionment, a state-wide primary law, and a corrupt practices act. Some of the members may not accede to the limitation. The legislature was subjected to severe criticism at the close of the regular session and many of the individual members are not in the good graces of their constituents. Those who have an eye single to their own political fortunes may want the gates thrown wide open in order that they may retrieve their political prestige by legislation that will please their constitutents. Calm counsel will probably prevail, however, and the program restricted to pressing matters of real moment to the state.

Contest Not Likely.

Talk of opposition to Fred B. Lynch as national committeeman, with T. T. Hudson of Duluth as an opposition candidate, is not given credence here. When the subject was up before, Mr. Hudson denied that he would be a candidate. Both he and Mr. Lynch are Wilson supporters and they are not likely to come into conflict on the subject of membership on the national committee. The opposition to Mr. Lynch is inspired by local politics in St. Paul and Mr. Hudson is not likely to lend himself to the scheme to oust the present committeeman to satisfy his political opponents.

Denies Clark Claims.

The claims of the Clark campaigners that the speaker has already nearly 400 delegates instructed or pledged, are not borne out by the figures of Wilson supporters. Frank B. Schutz, chairman of the Democratic national committee of Wisconsin, gave out a table in Minneapolis yesterday, which he says more accurately gives the standing of the Democratic candidates to date. The alignment, he says, is as follows:

IN THE DAY'S WORK AT WASHINGTON

Like Kilkenny Cats.

Washington, May 28.—President Taft and Col. Roosevelt were likened in the senate yesterday to the Kilkenny cats, which fought until nothing was left of either, by Senator John Sharp Williams during a lively debate over Mr. Hitchcock's resolution calling for all information of corporations as disclosed in the corporation tax returns. The returns, said Mr. Hitchcock, made more evident the disparity of wealth, and showed that protected interests had a revenue of a billion dollars a year over legitimate profits.

Iron and steel manufacturers, Senator Hitchcock declared, were alone collecting $300,000,000 more than their due. He referred to Andrew Carnegie as an example of the uneven distribution of wealth.

Senator John Sharp Williams interjected that it was necessary for the Democratic party to prepare to take charge of public affairs.

"After the two Kilkenny cats get through," said he, "there won't be any Republican party left, and the Democratic party will go in by default."

He predicted the nomination of Col. Roosevelt, who, he said, was dissatisfied "because he could not be both former president and president at the same time."

House Orators Extol Labor.

Labor was extolled and the working man crowned by more than a score of perfervid orators during the house debate on the naval appropriation bill. The sum total of the oratory was the adoption of an amendment to the bill providing that hereafter all coal purchased for the navy must be mined under the 8-hour workday law. A proposed amendment requiring the miners to be paid not less than the union scale of wages, was voted down. The house voted an amendment in the bill which would create a dental corps in the navy.

Page's Trial Begun.

Henry A. Page, the New York linen merchant, indicted for criminal libel for circulating pamphlets containing sensational condemnation of Representative Henry D. Clayton, chairman of the house judiciary committee, and other members of the house, was placed on trial yesterday. Thirty-two members of congress have been subpoenaed as witnesses. Page's attack grew out of his failure to have the judiciary committee begin impeachment proceedings against certain New York state judges who, Page alleged, had treated him unfairly in a divorce action brought by his wife some time ago.

Would Oust Gen. Wood.

The army appropriation bill was reported back to the senate and house by the conferees with anti-administration amendments which would legislate Maj. Gen. Wood out of office as chief of staff and would leave the location and distribution of military posts to a committee of retired army officers and two members each of the senate and house committee on military affairs. The amendment, which would remove Gen. Wood, also would prevent either Brig. Gens. Crozier or Funston from ever attaining the office of chief of staff. No officer who has not spent ten years in the line with troops before becoming a brigadier would be eligible.

Lieutenant Generals Young and MacArthur, Major Generals Randall, Lee and Humphreys, all retired, with two members of the house and two of the senate would compose the commission to report to congress by Jan. 1 upon the location and distribution of army posts, and the proposed abandonment of many recommended by the war department.

Near Tariff Vote.

Only a speech by Senator Heyburn of Idaho and conclusion of a speech by Senator Cummins of Iowa, stand this morning in the way of a vote on the iron and steel tariff bill in the senate. To expedite business the senate agreed to convene at 11 o'clock, an hour earlier than usual. Senator Cummins yesterday replied to speeches of Senators Smoot and Oliver. From the standpoint of a protectionist he contended that the metal schedule is susceptible of material reduction. He charged regular Republican senators with the intention of absenting themselves during the balloting on the bill.

WHEN THE LORD USED A RAZOR

A lively discussion of a Biblical question was taking place among the colored employes of a down-town shoeshining parlor today, just as several customers walked in.

"Yo' mean to say dat God he done shabe himself wid a razah?" cried one negro in amazement.

"I shuah do," declared another. "I done read it in de Bible."

"De Bible doan say dat God ebbah shabed himself wid a razah," exclaimed a third.

"I bet yo' two dollahs to fifty cents," was the emphatic reply of the one who had just spoken before.

"I take yo' bet up," said the negro who was speaking when the white men entered.

The bet was quickly arranged and the dusky Biblical authority left the shop to get a Bible. He presently returned with one, and handing it to one of the customers, he pointed to Isaiah vii., 20, and said, "Will yo' please read dat, sah?"

The customer read the following words: "In that day shall the Lord shave with a razor, that is hired, which is in parts beyond the river," and then said, "It is just a figure, that is all."

Both disputants claimed to have won the bet. According to the latest reports, the one holding the stakes still has them, being unable to decide which was the winner.

FIXES BURDEN OF PROOF.

Supreme Court Lays It on Government in Fraud Cases.

Washington, May 28. — In sustaining the right of the Colorado Anthracite company to recover from the government money paid by it on a coal entry made by Howard C. Stolber in Gunnison county, Colorado, and afterward cancelled, the supreme court holds that one qualified person could enter coal land for another qualified person, and that nothing appeared in the record to show that the company was not qualified to enter land. The court held the company had dealt openly with the government and had not acted fraudulently.

In cases of land frauds, the court said, the burden of proof is on the government.

DENOUNCES JAIL SYSTEM.

Iowa Prison Investigation Committee Makes Report.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 28. — "Our jail system is a disgrace to the state, and except to provide places of detention for prisoners awaiting trial, there is not a single excuse or justification for its existence."

With this sentence, the Iowa Prison Investigation committee opened its report condemning the jail system of Iowa. The report was presented to Governor Carroll.

Startling conditions existing in Iowa and unbelievable practices of county sheriffs are disclosed. Confinement of law violators in district penal institutions or farms and the establishment of at least three such places is advocated in recommendations of the commission.

INCREASE IN RATES ON MALT SUSPENDED.

Washington, May 28. — An increase of 3¾ cents a hundred pounds in the freight charge on malt from St. Paul, Minneapolis and other northwestern points to Kansas City, Mo., and destinations taking the same rates, has been suspended by the interstate commerce commission from June 1 until Sept. 17, next.

MAY USE MILITARY IN SAN DIEGO SITUATION.

San Diego, Cal., May 28. — Attorney General Webb says he has told the police authorities of San Diego that if they were incapable of handling the Industrial Workers of the World situation, it will be necessary for the state to take charge. The only way for the commonwealth to assume control, he said, was through martial law.

DR. HYDE'S THIRD TRIAL DELAYED UNTIL SEPT. 3.

Kansas City, Mo., May 28.—The third trial of Dr. B. Clark Hyde for the murder of Col. Thomas H. Swope has been postponed by Judge Porterfield until Sept. 3, because of the illness of Virgin Conkling, county prosecutor.

Will Welcome Germans.

Norfolk, Va., May 28.—The American warships which will welcome the visiting German squadron early next month have arrived here from Newport, R. I. They are the Louisiana, Kansas, New Hampshire and South Carolina and torpedo boats Drayton, McCall, Paulding, Roe and Terry, which passed in the capes bound for Hampton Roads, where they will await the coming of the German fleet.

WATER IN CANNED FOOD WILL BE "ADULTERATION."

Washington, May 28. — The addition of water to canned products will be considered adulteration in the future, except in those cases where a certain amount of water is required for the proper preservation and preparation and sterilization of the product, according to a pure food decision just signed by Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture.

NEWSPAPERS CONSOLIDATED.

M. C. Cutter Owns Thief River Falls News and Press.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two of the local newspapers have consolidated. M. C. Cutter, who recently purchased the Thief River Falls News, bought the Press. The material in the Press office will be moved to the News and as a newspaper the former will cease to exist. The new owner has been connected with the state board of control as purchasing agent for several years and is a practical newspaper man. Ernest Quist, from whom he secured the Press, is register of deeds for Pennington county and will hereafter devote his entire time to the office and his farming operations.

Unknown Dead Buried.

Mankato, Minn., May 28.—The body of a man found on the river bank near this city Saturday evening was buried Monday. An inquest developed nothing, and it was impossible to identify the man, who had been in the water several weeks if not months. He wore a black shirt and heavy clothing and was apparently a laborer. He may have fallen through the ice last winter.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

MUCH SOIL IS BROKEN

Tractor Engines and Gang Plows Big Help in Red River Valley.

Machines Are Being More Extensively Used This Year Than Ever.

Crookston, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The figure the tractor is playing in the development of the Red River valley this year can hardly be comprehended by those who are not on the ground, and many here do not realize the vastly increased area to be under cultivation this year is directly due to the big tractors which are plowing vast areas in almost every section of the valley.

Senator S. D. Works of Mankato bought several thousand acres near Beltrami, and after fencing in a large tract upon which he has placed 500 head of young stock prepared to plant considerable. He purchased a big tractor and a ten bottom steel plow, which alone weighs several tons, each plow being sixteen inches wide. The plow has run night and day, and the one engine has plowed 600 acres to date, all of which will be seeded to flax, most of it being already in the ground.

A portion of this was brush land, which could not have been plowed with an ordinary plow, and horseflesh sufficient could not be hitched to a plow to cut through some of the big roots, many of which were the size of a man's arm.

Doing Work of Horses.

Not only is the tractor plowing an immense acreage, but it is plowing it well. It takes more horseflesh than the ordinary farmer has to plow the acreage he thinks he must, and plow it properly, but the tractor is solving this greatest task of the farmer and solving it in a most satisfactory manner.

Senator Works will keep this plow going for some time, the exact time depending upon the weather. This is but one instance, and from any point along the Great Northern main line between here and the Canadian boundary, a passenger can look out the car window and see from five to ten of these rigs at work, few of them as large, but most of them pulling at least six plows.

Over two-thirds of these tractors have been purchased this year, so that next fall the plowing will practically all be done in three weeks after the threshing season starts, much of it so early that it will be nearly as good as summer fallowing as the foul seed will all germinate before the fall freezeup, thus cleaning the land of a great portion of the foul seed that with late plowing will not germinate till the following spring.

SAYS DYNAMITING BEATS PLOWING

Powder Company Demonstates Theory at Crookston State Farm.

Crookston, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. R. Angst, a representative of the Dupont Powder company, has just completed an experimental job on the Northwestern experiment station here, under the joint supervision of a number of the faculty of the Crookston School of Agriculture. Two acres of land have been dynamited and will be seeded to flax, side by side with a field of flax which will be seeded after ordinary plowing.

The theory is that by dynamiting, a vast amount of plant food will be made available, and that the roots of grain, flax or anything else planted will draw from a depth heretofore impossible because of practically impervious strata.

Charges of dynamite are placed in holes three feet deep at intervals of fifteen feet each way, and touched off with fuses in the ordinary way, certain sections at a time. While there is but an area of only three feet in diameter of dirt thrown up directly over each charge, the explosion cracks and loosens all of the dirt and breaks it up.

Give Powder for Experiment.

The manufacturers of explosives wanted the government to experiment, but there were no funds available, and the powder companies made a proposition that the explosives would be furnished free for experiments and tests, and the department of agriculture turned the matter over to the state department of agriculture, with the result of a series of experiments such as have been started here.

While the initial expense is now estimated as about $15 per acre, this may be reduced, and it will take experiments to discover just how often dynamiting would be necessary and could be profitably done. Mr. Angst believes the experiments will open up an immense field for the usefulness of this class of explosives, and if but 25 per cent of the farmers used but a small amount, the entire output of all the big companies of the country could not supply the demand.

SUMMER RESORT BURNS.

Prompt Action of Students Saves Other Delafield, Wis., Buildings.

Delafield, Wis., May 28.—Fire destroyed the large main building of the White summer resort and the home of Mrs. W. O. White early Sunday morning. The resort is located one-half mile east of here on Nagawicka lake, and has been the home of many Milwaukee people for more than twenty years. The damage of $30,000 is partly covered by insurance.

Prompt action on the part of the students at St. John's Military school saved five other smaller buildings.

At least fifteen people were asleep in the main building when the fire was discovered. All fled in their night clothes.

OFFERS CORN PRIZES.

Incentive for Wisconsin Boys and Girls to Raise Corn.

Iron River, Wis., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bayfield County Fair association announces prizes will be offered to the boys and girls winning in the corn growing contest open to boys and girls living in Bayfield, Douglas and Ashland counties.

The notice of the offer issued by Secretary Johnston of the fair association follows:

"The Wisconsin State bank of this city offers $25 as first prize in boys' and girls' corn growing contest, open to young people under 18, in Douglas, Bayfield and Ashland counties; business men of this city offer $10 as second prize. In order to compete for these prizes—which certainly are very liberal—contestants are to exhibit ten ears of corn and three stalks at the Bayfield County fair at Iron River, September 24, 25 and 26. The fair association offers further prizes of $5, $3 and $2, open only to Bayfield county exhibitors.

An expert judge of corn will be furnished by the state, and the seed corn for this contest can be obtained by sending 10 cents in stamps—to cover postage—to E. J. Delwiche, assistant Agronomist, state experiment station, Ashland, Wis., who will also give directions as to the planting, etc., so as to secure the best results."

SHOOTS AT NEIGHBOR

Is Charge Preferred Against Koochiching County Man.

International Falls, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Deputy Sheriff Holler is back from the upper Black river country where he arrested Frank Miller, a well known homesteader, on a warrant sworn out by Herman Oriepp, at whom Miller is alleged to have taken a shot. Miller will have a preliminary hearing next Wednesday. The affair is the outcome of a neighborhood quarrel, both men being residents of the Fairland country.

The city council has ordered the sidewalks in practically all of the business section relaid at once with concrete and the work is already under way in a number of places.

County Attorney McPartlin has returned from Bemidji where he was called in consultation with the executive committee of the Northern Minnesota Development association, regarding certain necessary changes in the state highway petitions in counties to the south. The changes will be made soon.

Attorney J. D. McKay of the Power company has been in Bemidji at hearings in injunction matters arising from the blowing out of the International Lumber company booms in the lower rivers by representatives of the Namakan Lumber company. Both companies have petitioned for injunctions. Attorney W. V. Kane went down to look after the interests of the Namakan company.

C. A. Haselden, the manager of the M. & L.'s uptown telegraph office, has resigned and will leave for his old home in Illinois as soon as he can be relieved. Mr. Haselden has made many friends here.

BACK IN PENITENTIARY.

Paroled Michigan Convict Returned From State of Washington.

Marquette, Mich., May 28.—Deputy Warden T. B. Catlin of the Marquette prison has returned from Walla Walla, Wash., where Westphal, a paroled convict from the Marquette prison, was turned over to him by the penitentiary authorities. Westphal has five years more to serve here. He was paroled about eleven months ago, in company with Szetter, who was returned to the prison Saturday, but he never reported to the prison authorities. He committed a crime in Washington for which he was sent to the penitentiary, and by this means Warden Russell learned of his whereabouts.

Adolph Szetter, who gave his name as Raiber when he was arrested on a charge of stealing a suitcase at the Janzen hotel, was found guilty in Justice Byrne's court and given a sentence of sixty days in the county jail. Compare the taste of Schlitz in BROWN BOTTLES with beer in light bottles

Schlitz is as pure when poured into your glass as when it left the brewery. It's the Brown Bottle. It keeps out the light. Light develops in beer a peculiar taste and a disagreeable odor.

This is not a theory. It is a fact proven by scientists.

Schlitz is properly aged before leaving the brewery.

It will not cause biliousness, nor ferment in your stomach.

Schlitz in Brown Bottles costs you no more than common beer in light bottles.

EXTRADITION LAW NEEDED

Wife Deserters Safe Once They Cross the Canadian Border.

Associated Charities Wants Treaty Made Between Two Countries.

Numerous instances which have been brought to the attention of the Associated Charities during the past few months have forced Secretary Courtenay Dinwiddie to the conclusion that there is urgent need of a treaty provision between the United States and Canada for the extradition of men deserting their wives and families.

Under the present treaty arrangement the offense of wife and child desertion is not extraditable. A man may desert his family—no matter in what destitute circumstances they may be left—and the Canadian boundary line will protect him from punishment. Local authorities who have attempted to prosecute erring husbands have been confronted with this obstacle.

Mr. Dinwiddie has written to Alex Johnson, secretary of the National Conference of Charities at Angola, Ind., urging that the national body take steps recommending that there be a treaty provision between the United States and Canada which will recognize the desertion of wife and family as an extraditable offense.

The Associated Charities is finding plenty of work for able-bodied men who apply. According to Mr. Dinwiddie, there has been some difficulty in finding work for cripples or those who have been incapacitated by the loss of a hand.

"These men desire work," said Mr. Dinwiddie. "They do not wish to become objects of charity. It seems to me that there ought to be people in Duluth who have light jobs in which some of these unfortunate fellows may be placed."

United States is scandalously wasteful. It has been the custom of the American farmer from time immemorial to take all obtainable from the soil and to put nothing back. One of the most pathetic phrases that any one interested in the agriculture of this country can hear is "farmed out." Yet you will hear that phrase applied to Virginia, to certain sections of New England and to many of the Southern states. Farmers have taken all the soil had to give, and when the time for repayment came moved away to where new and fertile land was cheap. That was the reason originally why Virginians moved to Ohio, Ohioans to the Dakotas and some Dakotans are now moving across the line.

At every point it has been the unwillingness of the land owner to take care of his land that has caused this general Western drift.

How to Meet Situation.

Now this National Soil Fertility League, through its president, H. H. Cross of Chicago, makes this statement of the situation it has to meet and its method of meeting it:

"Instead of caring for the soil as a friend, we have been depleting it as vandals; we have wasted and dissipated the plant food and have thereby been robbing coming generations of their birthright. Years ago we thought we had as much land as sky. The invitation to the world was to come in and help us possess it. They came in countless thousands by the stork and the steamship, and now in this twentieth century all of the good land is taken up and is mainly being farmed by the worst system imaginable. Population is overtaking production. We are consuming practically all we raise. We have an unparalleled high cost of living, and the end is not yet. Our export of foodstuffs is approaching the vanishing point. In fact We are importing now millions of dollars worth where we ought to be exporting. Potatoes is one item The export of dairy products in the last six years has fallen off two-thirds, and the same is true of live stock. The great cattle ranges of the West are gone. Our beef cattle and our mutton must be raised upon the farms. This can be readily done by scientific farm management plus silos and alfalfa.

Humiliating Facts.

"A world glance at agricultural methods is illuminating and humiliating as well. The average wheat yield for the United States for ten years is less than fifteen bushels per acre; while that of Germany is twenty-eight bushels, England thirty-two, Belgium thirty-four, and Denmrak forty bushels. The Ohio experiment station at Worcester has been making a specialty of wheat for twenty-five years and their average yield is about thirty-five bushels. The average corn yield for the whole country is twenty-five and a half bushels. Everyone knows who is familiar with the art that the general application of the best that is known of scientific agriculture will in a few years double the yield and triple the net income from the farm."

To correct this condition, the Lever bill proposes that the United States government shall aid the agricultural colleges throughout the United States to extend their service and to supply demonstrators of trained ability to educate the farmer. In the house this bill is on the calendar for passage backed by a unanimous committee report. In the senate the same bill has been introduced by Senator Hoke Smith and is being pushed by him with vigor.

States Also to Aid.

It is no purpose of the bill to interfere with the work now being done by the agricultural colleges. On the contrary it recognizes those state institutions and appropriates for their aid during the first year $480,000. This appropriation will be increased at the rate of $300,000 a year for ten years. The states will be required to furnish a similar sum for the same purpose. In all the charge on the individual will amount to about 10 cents a year, and as the present output of our farms is about $100 a year per individual, it would seem that this expenditure of 10 cents to increase it could hardly be looked upon as extravagant. Authorities on agriculture hold that the plan put forth in the Lever bill will in a few years practically double the output of the farms. That ought not to be difficult. If the farmers of the United States were taught or would adopt the methods of scientific farming in vogue in France and even more so in Belgium, two or three of our states could furnish all the farm products which the entire country does now. Thinking men are distressed by the recent discovery that this country, instead of exporting food stuffs, was importing them. It is the purpose of this bill and the organization behind it to correct that condition.

A CITY FOR THE PEOPLE.

In building a modern metropolis, they forget humanity. The consequence is that the larger and richer the city, the greater the amount of poverty and misery. There is great wealth and great poverty. There are magnificent palaces and wretched slum tenements—few of the first, but many of the second. A few are wealthy, but the many are poor. A few have vast surpluses, but many are hungry all the time. Even in the most prosperous times there is a surplus of labor, which means that wages are always lower than they should be and that there are many families to which the most abounding prosperity never reaches.

The Homecroft city idea is to build a city for the comfort and well-being of the people in it. It would build a city for humanity—not squeeze and impoverish and distort humanity for the sake of the city.

The American Homecroft society is now a Duluth institution. Its aim is to make this city a demonstration ground for its plan. If this aim succeeds, Duluth will not only be a big city—it is certain to be that anyway—but a great city. It will not only be a prosperous city, but it will be a city in which prosperity and comfort are more widely distributed than in any other. It will be the Mecca not only of workers, but of employers. It will be the most and best advertised city in the world. It will get advertising absolutely free that will do it more good than all the advertising it could buy with any amount of money.

A home in a city is seldom a home. There are a few homes in the suburbs of a great city, but mighty few elsewhere. There is a lessening number of homes grading between the millionaire's mansion and the worker's flat or tenement. The tendencies are inevitably toward a sharp division of a city's residents between these two extremes. No flat or tenement is a home in the true sense of the word. A home must have open air all around it. It must have shrubs and trees and flower beds in front, and a garden behind. There must be beauty and comfort. There must be a place to raise a large proportion of the family's food, and a place for the children to play in.

Compare for a moment the average "home" in a great city with the Homecroft home. At the best, the city home is crowded in by other similar homes. Light and air are shut out on two sides at least. There is no room for gardens; land costs too much. A few feeble spears of grass and a haggard flower or two in front are about the limit. At the worst the city home is a flat in a tenement, with light and air shut out on three or even four sides, with not a square foot of ground to grow anything in and with no place but the street or alley for the children to play in.

That's no place for a human being to live. It is necessary at great expense to provide city playgrounds. It is necessary for charity to provide a means to get poor children into the country for a glorious week in the summer. Humanity is starved — not alone physically, but by being deprived of the fresh air and flowers and growing gardens without which it is like a plant without water.

But the acre home which is the Homecroft ideal brings the country into the city. There is ample breathing space. There is plenty of room for the children to play in. There is plenty of space for flower and vegetable gardens, ministering to soul and body alike. There is comfort, contentment, happiness and plenty. It makes not only a big city, but a great city: a city big enough in area to provide elbow room and comfort for all its people; a city not only rich in the aggregate, but rich in the average.

Duluth has reached the parting of the ways. Growth, immediate and large, is coming to it. If nothing is done it will grow as New York and Chicago and London and Paris have grown—with a submerged nine-tenths and a plutocratic tenth. If it builds broadly, it can have acre homes for a large proportion of its workers, homes where the plan of "gardening for the year around" will make the home work as productive as the work in factory, store or office.

The American Homecroft society has come to Duluth to show the world how a city should be built so as to produce the greatest possible amount of happiness and prosperity for the greatest possible number. The character of the Ultimate Duluth, of the Duluth that destiny is about to make big, depends upon the support that is given to this movement.

Shall Duluth copy cities that have made humanity miserable, or shall its growth take such form as to make it the ideal of city building the world over?

That is for Duluth to decide—now.

Quien Sabe?

President Taft says there is no intention of intervention in Cuba. Is this on a par with that other declaration about "no personalities in this campaign?"

FOR THE ARTISTIC SIDE.

From June 6 to June 16 the state art exhibit will be in Duluth. The Minneapolis Symphony orchestra will be here June 7 and 8. So during the first half of next month Duluth will have a splendid chance to minister to its taste for art—to its love for good music and good pictures.

This will be good news to many. It ought to be good news to all. Mind and soul can be starved as well as the body. Souls die of starvation just as surely as bodies do; and there is nothing more melancholy than a dead soul in a live body. What is true of the individual is true of the community: it needs music and pictures as much as it needs the bread and meat of financial prosperity.

It won't cost a cent to see the pictures. It won't cost nearly so much as it is worth to hear the music. Duluth should by all means support both these enterprises in every possible way.

Rough estimates say an ocean liner's lifeboats would cost something like six or seven hundred dollars apiece. The White Star line recently declared dividends aggregating $5,372,760. Very interesting.

CANNY MR. CLARK.

Notwithstanding the robust claims of his managers that the fight is over, that there "is nothing to it," that Champ Clark will be nominated on the first ballot, etc., the speaker has filed for renomination to congress from the Missouri district that keeps him there.

There is nothing like an anchor to windward. We are glad Champ has done this, not only because it is a sensible thing to do—much more sensible than the absurd claims of his political managers—but because he performs a useful service in congress, and because he should remain there.

In point of fact, the Clark "boom" reached its maximum some time ago. It will not grow larger. Mr. Clark will have considerably less than a majority on the first ballot at Baltimore, and he never will have more than he gets on that first ballot. When the Democrats of the nation survey the situation and the candidates, and realize the peculiar needs of the party in its candidate, and the peculiar manner in which the governor of New Jersey meets those needs,—and the needs of the nation, —they will nominate as their candidate for president Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey.

The Herald's prediction of Jan. 26—that it will be Wilson against Roosevelt—still stands.

To Use a Roosevelt Metaphor.

Wonder just how much Speaker Clark is banking on the influence of that name of "Champ"?

THE COMMISSION PLAN IN DULUTH.

Chairman T. T. Hudson of the charter commission has announced that he will call a meeting for about June 10 to take up the work of framing a commission plan charter for Duluth.

Mr. Hudson points out that several months will be needed to draft the new charter, and that the special election at which the charter will be passed upon by the people should in any event come later than the general fall election so that there may be no confusion of the issue.

There can be little doubt about that. The Herald has been urging immediate action, but it did not mean, of course, that there should be an election within a few weeks on a charter hastily scrambled together. What it meant by immediate action was the immediate beginning of work on the part of the charter commission, and the completion of that work as speedily as will be consistent with doing it thoroughly.

This, we take it, is also Mr. Hudson's idea; and we have no doubt that it is the idea of the community at large.

Duluth not only wants the commission form of government, but it wants the best commission plan charter that can be framed. This involves a study of the charters of other commission-governed cities, and a comparison of the way they have worked out. The charter commission will doubtless take the charter that has worked best, and adapt it to Duluth's needs, adopting whatever changes the experience of other cities shows to be advisable.

It seems to have been overlooked that the commission has already made a beginning. A year and a half ago it appointed an excellent sub-committee which has put in some time gathering material which is now available; so that though its work was interrupted when a doubt was raised as to the constitutionality of the plan, what it had done when that issue came up will not be lost.

On the whole the probabilities are that the special election will be held early in December. If the commission were ready before that time it would not be necessary to wait so long, as there is a lull in the campaign, as a rule, following the primary election, so that if it were thought advisable there would be no grave objection to having the election late in September or early in October. However, the commission should be given all the time it needs, and if it believes that a December election would be better, a December election it should be.

The charter commission as a body is heartily in favor of the commission plan. It can be depended upon to frame the best possible charter, and to provide for its submission to the people, through the city council, at the earliest moment advisable. It can be depended upon, too, to put into the charter the essential elements of the commission plan—the centralized authority in a commission of five, salaries for the commissioners large enough to attract competent men, the abolition of the ward system and the partisan method of selecting public officials, and the initiative, referendum and recall, which Duluth has already adopted.

The campaign for the commission plan should be kept up, however, from now to the day it is voted upon. It must not be taken for granted, merely because it has worked admirably wherever it is tried, merely because none of the two hundred cities that have adopted it has gone back to the old system, or merely because it appeals to reason, common sense and public spirit, that it will be adopted without a struggle.

There will be direct and determined opposition, and its character will be such that it will be able to muster a formidable vote. But the greatest obstacle to be overcome will be the natural inertia inherent in any community, the natural opposition to change, the inevitable selfish interests which find the present system entirely to their liking and are suspicious of any change.

How About the Whistle?

So Louis Hill finally is out. But it's a safe prediction that father will retain his hold on the safety-valve.

THEY HAVE IT COMING.

If, as seems likely now, both the Republicans and Democrats nominate progressive candidates, there won't be much for the standpatters in both parties to do but take to the woods. Let them. They have carried the burden of government long enough, and they have a good rest coming. The people will get along very nicely without them.

Lorimer's only comment on the outlook for him in the senate was that he was "feeling better." So are the rest of us, thank you.

An Eastern locomotive manufacturer says he has got to increase his output, owing to the demand. How about the steam roller people?

Now they say Ed Smith is going to drop Eberhart. Sometimes a carpenter gets hold of a saw that won't take a new edge even as good as the old one.

FINIS J. GARRETT

By SAVOYARD.

Washington, May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—James G. Blaine, in his book about American history, American party politics and American public men, asserts that as a rule the great parliamentary reputations are made by statesmen who entered congress ere they were forty. Of course there have been exceptions, two notable ones supplied by my own state of Kentucky, James B. Beck, who first sat in congress at the age of 45, and John G. Carlisle, who was 46 when he became a member of the house of the Forty-sixth congress. But as a general rule to be efficient your statesman must learn in the schools of experience, and that constituency is best served that selects a young, honest and able man for its representative in the national legislature and gives him a lease on his seat "during good behavior."

I have in mind's eye the member of the house of representatives from the Second district of Massachusetts, Mr. Gillett of Springfield. When his present term expires he will have served in that body twenty years. He is very able and a very accomplished legislator—an invaluable public servant from the standpoint of his party. All his capacity, all his learning, all his time, all his industry, all his zeal are devoted to his duties as a member of the national councils. Not for one moment in all those twenty years has he been oppressed with the slightest solicitude as to his political future. He and his constituents are at a perfect understanding and it is this: His seat is secure as long as he continues to serve the people well, Mr. Gillett pays no attention to the party organization in his district. It is not unlikely that he would have to importune his memory to recall the name of the Republican chairman of the Second district committee of Massachusetts.

Intellectually old Joe Cannon would have to multiply himself to set the spring branch afire, much less the Potomac river, yet the past twenty years few men have exerted so great an influence on public affairs. Because of his vast legislative experience in the house at Washington, surpassing that of any other man in all our history, he has gained the title of real as well as nominal lawgiver.

Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee, though a much younger man, is a representative precisely after the order of Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts, except in the matter of legislative experience and a radical difference of political conviction. Both are elegant gentlemen, blessed with that nobility of politeness that comes from innate and spontaneous kindness. Both are gifted with intellectual endowment much above that of the average member of the body of which they are now becoming distinguished members. Both have rendered valuable service to the state. Both are formidable in debate. Both edify the house by a curtesy that should go before dignity itself. Gillett is the more accomplished scholar; Garrett is the more captivating public speaker. Either would grace the chair now occupied by the Hon. Champ Clark, and if both should remain in congress twenty years longer, one, perhaps both, will be clothed with the office of speaker. That is a prediction that visits no violence, or extravagance, on probability.

Mr. Garrett is serving his fourth term. He hails from extreme Northwest Tennessee, a magnificent agricultural community, with cotton the leading staple. For seven years he has fetched and carried for his people with unflagging vigilance and ceaseless activity. He is a pure man in his private walk and an incorruptible man in his public life. He has the acute, judicial temper, the calm, deliberate sagacity without which congress would be a ward meeting. I do not think that congress ought to be entirely made up of grave political philosophers. We need whirlwind fellows like Champ Clark, Joe Blackburn, Ben Tillman, even Tom Watson or Jerry Simpson, to stir things up, to prevent stagnation, but in the end the cool thinkers like Oscar Underwood, Smith of Texas, Gillett of Massachusetts and Finis Garrett determine as to what is idea and what illusion in statecraft.

Though he has been a member of congress seven years, Mr. Garrett is yet three years under 40, and while but 37 yeasr of age, he is a veteran of the house when estimated by the public service he has rendered. He is of the aristocracy of the house, which is the most pronounced of democracies, for in that body every member is the equal of every other member in matters of rights and duties; but in assignments of places the fittest survive and often the fittest are they of longest service as well as they of finest talents.

Garrett is a member of the committee on rules, after ways and means and appropriations, the most powerful committee of the body and frequently it takes precedence of either of those great councils. He has served on "claims" and "levees and improvements of the Mississippi river." He was also a member of the committee on insular affairs. He was an active member of the special committee raised to investigate the ship subsidy lobby. That investigation unearthed one of the most gigantic monopolies in the world and it paved the way for the investigation of the money trust by the Pujo committee of the present congress. This is the age when money—its corrup and turannical employment—stands for what the sword did in the time of Gustavus Adolphus. Morgan and Rockefeller, Carnegie and Frick, and their fellow-plutocrats sustain the same relation to mankind that was held by Tilly, Wallenstein, Alva, Guise, Farnese, Maurice of Nassau, Don John of Austria, and like chieftains in former ages. Money is not so bloodthirsty, perhaps, as was the sword; but it is not less cruel, not less oppressive.

Because of his familiarity with the investigation of the shipping trust, Garrett was the moving spirit of the committee on rules that brought in the resolution providing for investigation of the money trust. He also aided in the formulation of the present rules of the house that supplanted the czarism of Reed and Cannon. In fact, Mr. Garrett is a leading member of the great committee that cuts out the procedure of the house, an able lieutenant in that council of that great leader, Henry of Texas.

Mr. Garrett was a member of the special committee raised to investigate the sugar trust and it was the splendid work of that committee that culminated in the free sugar bill that has passed the house this session. He aided in the construction of the new Constitution for Porto Rico, which passed the house and failed in the senate. He participated largely in legislation for the Philippines. It was an onerous duty, and attracts all too little attention in the states. In fact, the general public has almost forgotten that we own the archipelago.

For forty years congress has been contemplating legislation designed to prevent the removal of causes pending in the state courts to federal courts by corporations alien to the states where the actions are pending. It is a matter to which the late J. Proctor Knott brought all the energies of his luminous mind, all the legal learning of which he was master, all his convictions as to the rights of the people and the powers of the government. It was my good fortune to hear that speech, that at once charmed and enlightened the Forty-sixth congress. But nothing came even of that great effort.

Garrett took it up and made a profound study of it, and his labors bore fruit. The idea was enacted by the house of the Sixty-first congress, though it was a Republican body and Garrett an intense Democrat. There was a disagreement between the two houses and the senate conferees receded from their opposition. The measure was lost, however, because it was the closing hours of the congress when it was in the power of a single senator to defeat it. But Garrett fetched it into the present session. The judiciary committee reported it favorably. It will pass when ordered to a vote, and it is confidently expected that it will be the law of the land before the expiration of the Sixty-second congress.

Such is a lame and imperfect glance at the parliamentary career of this able young man who was born for the station in which he has so greatly distinguished himself.

We'll make a speaker out of Finis Garrett some of these days, if old Tennessee will let us.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

WANTS TO KNOW WHY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

A large majority of Seventh ward citizens want no more saloons in their ward. In this respect the city council seems determined to override the expressed will of the people.

Several weeks ago the aldermen extended the saloon territory two hundred feet beyond Twenty-four avenue west on Superior street. Then they licensed a saloonist for a location in that territory. The mayor vetoed the license. The council followed suit by rescinding their action of extending the patrol limits beyond Twenty-fourth avenue.

Between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-third avenues are no saloons. To forestall any move for more saloons in the West End and as an expression of the will of the people, Alderman Gibson introduced a resolution pushing the saloon limits back one block, to Twenty-third avenue. Last night eight aldermen defeated this excellent resolution.

The principle of ward rule led the mayor to veto the objectionable license. Acting on the same principle, the aldermen rescinded the ordinance for the two-hundred-foot extension of patrol limits. Why were the aldermen unmindful of that principle last night?

Must the people become aroused, until indignation almost amounts to compulsion, before the aldermen will do the right thing that displeases saloonists? Why do some of the aldermen forget that they are servants of the people in the interest of righteousness?

This raises the allied questions:

Why does the mayor permit some saloons to sell on Sundays and to let minors frequent the saloons? Should citizens spend their time and money in the endeavor to bring violators to book, when escape from conviction on technicalities might be the result? The mayor could secure law enforcement and he is paid to do that.

Why was not Ole Olson's saloon license reported on by the committee? The chief of police has recommended that that license be revoked. Will that lawless place be continued under the same management with the old or with a transferred (?) license?

Why is a striking feature of Duluth, the drunkards on her streets and the human wrecks that loll about the saloon doors? The stench of these rotten conditions smells to heaven.

We of the West End, together with the home-makers all over the city, are being robbed of our rights by our city government.

Some affirm that criticism hurts business. We claim the victim's right to cry aloud. They have taken away our rights.

The city government is really injuring business and opposing the city's larger prosperity and greater interests.

Unless the mayor and some aldermen change their course of action the damaging reputation will become more widespread, that Duluth is a wide-open, saloon-ridden town. Does our present administration think that this moral disgrace helps business?

It is up to the mayor to really make stoutly the saloonists keep the law. It is up to the council to rescind their action of last Monday night. Do it for Duluth, even the saloon interests don't like it.

Yours for a better and bigger Duluth,
MILTON FISH.

Duluth, May 28.

Companions by the Way.

Woman's Home Companion: Just as an experiment, see how far you can walk in five minutes. It will convince you that a lot of your hurrying is needless.

Many of us let slip a thousand opportunities by waiting for inspiration, forgetting that idleness is not inspiring. "Inspiration comes to him who works."

Don't be afraid to give compliments. Over-delicacy in this respect is a social handicap and a cause of much needless lack of popularity, with consequent depression and timidity.

If you are in the habit of looking at your watch every few minutes, to see what speed you are making, better discard the watch. You will save ever so much strain, and actually suffer no loss of time.

Is it wise for sensitive natures to expose themselves to tragical plays and harrowing novels? They pay for the experience by suffering a ghastly nervous exhaustion out of all proportion to the temporary thrill.

Are you one of the people who hop up nervously when the train is nearing the station, and stand until it stops? You think you are saving a lot of time, whereas in reality a car empties itself in three quarters of a minute.

You have heard of "the total depravity of inanimate objects." They are not depraved. We blame them for our own folly—as when we pile dishes in reckless heaps that are doomed to tip over, or pour hot sauce into cut glass, or go into a dark room without trying to remember where the furniture is.

Why are people so aware of their sensitiveness to the color of furniture and wall-paper, and so blind to the effect of the color of artificial light and an agreeable lampshade go far toward making the evening restful and cheerful and cozy. Crude illumination is irritating.

The quickest way to cure "blues" is to identify them. If you look back a little and discover that your woe has no reasonable cause, and that you "just feel like feeling so," you know that the condition is physical. That knowledge puts you on the road to recovery, for the physical condition begins to improve as soon as you find there is nothing worse the matter.

Extraordinary!

Chicago Examiner: "What became of that little kitten you had?' asked a visitor of the small boy.

"Why, haven't you heard?"

"No; was it drowned?"

"No."

"Lost?"

"No."

"Poisoned?"

"No."

"Then whatever did become of it?" said the visitor.

"It growed up into a cat," was the reply.

Thought She Meant William.

Judge: William has been West with his mother and had enjoyed the trip in the glass bottom boat. He was telling about it to a little friend.

"Yes, Edgar, we could see the fish laying on the bottom of the ocean!"

"Lying, dear," put in his mother.

"No, I'm not, mother," he replied stoutly.

THE EXTRA SESSION.

Grandstand Play.

Browns Valley Tribune: If the governor had been sincere in his demand for a gubernatorial primary, he could have told his state central commitee to provide for one in their official call. But at the eleventh hour to call the legislature in extra session for the ostensible purpose of passing a primary law, looks to a man up a tree, or on the ground, like he was trying to make a grandstand play.

Aroused by Convention.

Breckenridge Telegram: The governor has issued a call for a special session of the legislature to meet June 4 next. It took him a long time to ascertain the will of the people, but the late convention finally aroused him.

Rather Late.

Hawley Herald: Gov. Eberhart has made one last final effort to stem the tide against his increasing unpopularity and has issued a call for a special session of the legislature to consider the matter of enacting a state-wide primary for the nomination of all officials, for the passage of a stringent and effective corrupt practices act, and a reapportionment law. These laws are needed in this state and the big majority of the people will welcome them, but at the same time they are rather apt to think that this is rather a late hour for the calling of a special session for the enactment of these laws. It is apparently Gov. Eberhart's best move, as the passage of a direct primary would give him a possible chance of getting the republican nomination, with the progressive vote being split up between Wm E. Lee and Sam Gordon. But at any rate, let us have a state-wide primary law; one that will be effective and one that will not permit the minority to dictate the nomination by receiving a mere plurality of the votes cast.

Grasping Opportunity.

Alexandria Post-News: The public demand for a state-wide primary law has become the governor's opportunity of advancing his own political interests. The opposition so regards Governor Eberhart's call for an extraordinary session of the legislature, at this late hour, for a final analysis of the situation leaves the conviction that this call is purely a political move, the master stroke of the shrewd political manager at the head of the state central committee and an expression of his political sagacity. Many of our legislators who fully endorse every reform measure proposed in the call cannot but disapprove of the advantage which the state administration seeks to secure under this call. The governor undoubtedly bases his action upon the declaration of the republican state convention favoring the extension of the primary law to state offices, but the resolution of that convention made no demand upon the governor for an extra session of the legislature. The convention's proposition, in so far as it related to the present campaign, was that the state central committee make some suitable provision for a preferential vote on the candidates seeking the gubernatorial nomination.

Hearing Came Late.

Moose Lake Star-Gazette: At last Governor Eberhart has got his ear close enough to the ground to hear the people say they want an extra session for the enactment of preferential primary law, equitable reapportionment of the state and a corrupt practices act, but he could not hear the voice of the people for the clamor of the boss and special privilege gang that filled his ear with the story that it is a bunch of disgruntled politicians and the Northern Minnesota Development association.

For Second Choice Law.

Owatonna Journal-Chronicle: There is only one course open—united effort upon the part of all republicans to the end that the legislature shall pass only a primary election law that shall embody the second and third choice principles embodied in the Wisconsin law.

Under this law no candidate with a mere plurality of the first choice votes can receive the nomination unless the percentage of second and third choice votes cast for him is large enough to demonstrate with mathematical precision that in a boiled-down result he is the choice of the majority.

His Hearing Was All Right.

Waverly Star and Tribune: The "Man of Destiny," who so wearily wears his crown these days, has heard of a demand for an extra session of the legislature and acted very hurriedly—after he heard the call. If his hearing had been more sensitive he might have heard of the demand several months ago.

A Mistake.

Detroit Quiver: Eberhart made a mistake in calling an extra session of the legislature at this time. He persistently refused to do so at a time when some good for the state might have been accomplished, and to do so now is unjustifiable. So far as a state-wide primary law is concerned—and that is all that profitbaly may be accomplished at this time—party machinery could have substituted for the legislature and saved the expense of an extra session.

The Art of Charles Dickens.

Henry van Dyke in Scribners: As an artist in fiction Dickens was great; but not because he had a correct theory of the technique of the novel, nor because he always followed good rules and models in writing, nor because he was one

"Who saw life steadily and saw it whole."

On the contrary, his vision of life, though vivid, was almost always partial. He was capable of doing a great deal of bad work, which he himself liked. The plots of his novels, on which he toiled tremendously, are negligible; indeed, it is often difficult to follow and impossible to remember them. The one of his books that is notably fine in structure and approximately faultless in technique—"A Tale of Two Cities"—is so unlike his other novels that it stands in a class by itself, as an example of what he could have done if he had chosen to follow that line. In a way it is his most perfect piece of work. But it is not his most characteristic piece of work, and therefore I think it has less value for us than some of his other books in which his peculiar, distinctive, unrivalled powers are more fully shown.

After all, art must not only interpret the world but also reveal the artist. The lasting interest of his vision, its distinction, its charm, depend, at least in some real degree, upon the personal touch. Being himself a part of the things that are seen, he must "paint the thing as he sees it" if he wishes to win the approval of "the god of things as they are."

Now the artistic value of Dicken's way of seeing things lay in its fitness to the purpose which he had in mind and heart—a really great purpose, namely, to enhance the interest of life by good enchantment, to save people from the plague of dullness and the curse of indifference by showing them that the world is full of the stuff for hearty laughter and deep sympathy. This way of seeing things, with constant reference to their humorous and sentimental potency was essential to the genius of Dickens.

An Urban Lay.

A winsome maid with Mobile face
And curling Auburn hair
Roams far Bayonne her native place,
With most Superior air.

Around a Little Rock she strays,
Then toward Ann Arbor green;
No Streator alley meets her gaze—
What Erie sight is seen?

A charging Buffalo she spies,
For Battle Creek its jaws;
"South Bend your steps!" a farmer cries,
"Get Thayer before you pause!"

Commandingly young Lawrence spoke,
He Spokane she obeyed;
The beast so Great Falls at his stroke,
Andover it the maid.

"I've Concord!" gaily he exclaimed,
"Eau Claire, your thanks express!"
"Augusta Me," she said, "they name,
So Macon other guess."

She sought to Barre from him her eyes,
Hot Springs a tear in view;
"A husband Fond du Lac," he cries,
"I'm bent on Marion you!"

"A happy Homestead Pa will give,
Where nothing Mahony;
How Joliet will be to live
In Union full of joy!"

"In thanks to Providence I vow
We'll long Revere this day;
And Wheeling up my cart, I'll now
Tacoma bride straightway!"

The Curse of Alcohol.

From Charles B. Towne's "Help for the Hard Drinker" in the Century: With increased unanimity the thinkers of the whole world are saying that in alcohol is found the greatest of humanity's curses. It does no good whatever; it does incalculable harm. A dozen substitutes may be found for it in every useful purpose which it serves in medicine, mechanics, and the arts; its food value, of which much has recently been said, is slight or nil; and it has worked greater havoc to the aggregate than all the plagues.

If not another drop of it should ever be distilled, the world would be the gainer, not the loser, through the circumstance. Yet the use of alcohol as a beverage is continually increasing.

The Express Companies Scandal.

Frank Parker Stockbridge in the World's Work for June asks why we haven't got the parcels post.

Mr. Wanamaker, more than twenty years ago, answered that question. He said, in one of his reports as postmaster general, that there were four reasons why we did not have the parcels post—the Adams Express company, the American Express company, the United States Express company and Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express. With ten express companies now doing business, as against four then, there would seem to be a multiplicity of reasons against the parcels post.

In the light of the recent investigations by the interstate commerce commission, however, Mr. Wannamaker's four reasons have become arguments for rather than against the parcels post.

For instance, the investigators found from the companies' own books in the year ending June 30, 1910, records of over-collections by the Adams Express company amounting to $67,197, and by the United States Express company in the same period of $22,026. One day's waybills of the Adams Express company shower over-collections of $267, and a single day's overcharges by the United States Express company, as reported by the some investigators, amounted to $471.

OPERATIONS TO START AT TOWER

Cook & Ketcham Company Will Start Sawmill About June 1.

The saw-mill at Tower, which was purchased last fall from Alger, Smith & Co. by the Cook & Ketcham company, will be put in operation by the latter company about June 1. A force of about 200 men will be employed and it is expected that the company during the first year will manufacture approximately 25,000,000 feet of lumber enough standing timber is owned by the Cook & Ketcham company to keep the plant supplied for several years.

J. G. Ketcham of the company was manager of the saw mill at Tower several years ago, when the plant was owned and operated by the Howe Lumber company. The mill was burned in 1900. Later the present plant was built by the Tower Lumber company, which some time afterwards sold it to Alger, Smith & Co.

White Salver Sentenced.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 28.—Frank Pedone, charged with being a "white slaver" yesterday afternoon was sentenced to two years in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, and fined $500 by United States Judge F. A. Geier. His offense was the placing of a Milwaukee girl in a disreputable house in Chicago.

A Remedy No Family Should Do Without

No matter how healthy a human being may be it is safe to say that not many months are passed without some obstruction of the bowels, in other words, constipation, even if only temporary. The bloating, the dull feeling may start after the evening meal. If a laxative is not taken that night it is certain that sleep will not be sound, and you will awaken unrefreshed.

Hence, it is important for you and for all the members of your family that a good, reliable laxative be always kept in the house for just such emergency. It is sure to be needed, and when needed you want it at hand. No family that is careful of its health can do without such a remedy. But the question of which remedy to have on hand is also of vast importance.

The laxative most highly recommended by the majority of intelligent Americans as being best for babies and grownups is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a liquid laxative-tonic, mild, and never gripes, is effective on robust people and can be given with safety to an infant. Children like it because of these gentle qualities and because it is pleasant to the taste.

It is the best all-around remedy you can have in the house for any disorder of the stomach, liver and bowels, and many people like Mr. O. S. Galvin, Manston, Wis., and Lester St. Clair, Wausau, Wis., say they would as soon be without the necessities as without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

DULUTH MAN DONATES OIL TO LAY DUST ON HOUGHTON STREET

According to the very best and most modern practices Thomas H. Lang of Duluth, Head of the Lakes manager for the Standard Oil company, sleeps with his window open. He spent Wednesday night in the Douglas House, Houghton, according to the Houghton Mining Gazette, in a room looking out upon Isle Royale street. He left the window wide open that the pure air, heavily laden with ozone, from Portage lake might waft itself to his eager lungs.

And in the morning, about sunup, a strong wind came into being. It stirred up a cloud of dust, some of which permeated the open window. Mr. Lang dreamed a dream in which he was lost in a sandstorm on the desert of Sahara or the Ripley baseball park, scene of his childhood's memories. When he awoke and discovered the cause of these wanderings of his subjective mind he closed the window.

Mr. Lang arose betimes and looked up John C. Mann, proprietor of the hotel. He said that as he expected to sleep in the hotel more or less frequently and wanted to have his window open he thought he would have to see that the street outside the hotel should be oiled. Contrary to all preconceived notions regarding the Standard Oil company and its officials, Mr. Lang donated the necessary oil. He promised Mr. Mann to at once send five barrels of road oil for the purpose of rendering dustless that block of Isle Royale street between Shelden and Montezuma.

This block of the street is paved with macadam bound with a tar or asphalt compound. But it is very dusty as most macadam streets are. Mr. Lang asserts that the oil dressing will be as dustless as a pond. The oil is to be applied by the public works department.

"WHAT SHALL I DO WITH MY LAST WINTER'S LID"

Only three more days after today in which legally to wear that winter hat. June 1 it goes into the discard, according to all traditions and the straw hat or Panama comes galloping in, indorsed by the credential committee of public health and hygiene. The mayor has already proclaimed that straw hats may be legally worn.

A dealer who is up on hats, gives the following list of "Don'ts" applying to the winter "lid":

Don't store your winter hat on the paving where the small boy and his concealed brick abounds.

Don't throw your winter hat into a tree for use as a bird's nest. Hats for nests went out of style with the passing of the raven.

Don't hand your winter hat to your wife expecting her to use it as a street bonnet next winter. Wives sometimes say things which are curt and to the point.

Don't go to a public gathering and carelessly mistake someone's nice new straw hat for your winter derby. Municipal judges never can see things your way on the morning after. Besides, the "and costs' which he usually adds, alone will buy a new hat for you.

Don't slide your derby beneath some man just as he sits down then demand that he buy you a new one. A lead pipe or sandbag is just as effective and there is less dialogue.

Don't stand just outside the bleachers on a windy day, waiting for a good hat to blow over the fence. Those who have good hats take no chances. They usually hold them in their hands till the game's over.

The best way to get rid of the old hat and obtain a new one, is to go to some place where there is fire, throw your hat into the ring, then look up a haberdasher and push about $2 or $3.50 over the counter and say: "Gimme some hat!" If your wife's hat is all paid for, you won't feel badly when you think of the difference in cost. Furthermore, you will have the satisfaction of going home and telling her about it.

DULUTH MEN IN RATE CASE

Examiner's Hearing on Implement Classification Held at Minneapolis.

Hardware Traffic Men and Three Railway Boards Are Represented.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—When Special Examiner Frank Lyon of the interstate commerce commission opened the classification hearing in the federal building yesterday he faced the most representative gathering of men identified with the traffic divisions of the implement and hardware industries of the Northwest ever seen in Minneapolis. From Kansas City, where he conducted a hearing Friday and Saturday that was a continuation of hearings previously had in Washington and Chicago, Examiner Lyon came to Minneapolis. J. M. Jones of Washington, rate expert for the interstate commerce commission, is assisting Mr. Lyon. Meanwhile classification changes that the hardware and implement men protested against, which were to have been effective Feb. 15 and were postponed until June 14, were again postponed Saturday until Dec. 14, to allow time for Commissioner E. E. Clark to conduct hearings at San Francisco and Seattle after the Minneapolis hearing has adjourned.

Big firms and big cities will thrive and little firms and small cities will suffer if classification changes proposed by the Western railroads become effective, according to C. F. Rowe of Marshall-Wells Hardware company, F. O. Davidson of Kelly-How-Thompson company and George Reeves of Gowan-Peyton-Congdon company, all of Duluth, who gave testimony in Minneapolis yesterday.

Questions in Controversy.

The classification changes originated with the uniform classification committee of the American Railway association and were indorsed for effect Feb. 15 by the Western classification committee at Chicago. Had not the protest of various traffic and trade associations to the interstate commerce commission caused postponement and a call for a hearing, the following changes, among others affecting Minnesota hardware and implement dealers, would now be in effect:

No binding twine to be loaded in cars of implements as is now done.

Not less than 20,000 pounds of implements in a 36-foot car and a charge of 3 per cent per foot for longer cars.

No allowances for bracing or dunnage.

The lowest charge for a small shipment to be 100 pounds first-class, instead of 100 pounds third-class.

Many Officials Present.

How important the proposed changes are considered was shown by the presence of George Rice, Franklin C. Robinson and Dr. W. S. Smith of the South Dakota railroad commission; Judge Ira B. Mills, C. F. Staples and C. E. Elmquist of the Minnesota commission, J. A. Little, representing the North Dakota railroad commission, and C. B. Bee rate expert for the Oklahoma railroad commission, who was chairman of the committee of twelve shippers that checked the classification schedule and started the present inquiry. H. G. Wilson, commissioner of the Kansas City Commercial club, and G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, were on hand, also Clifford Thorne of Des Moines, member of the Iowa railroad commission, and W. F. Dickinson of Chicago, attorney for the Rock Island road, who in the Minneapolis hearing represents R. C. Fife, chairman of the Western classification committee.

JAMES WILSON SCORED.

Methodist Protestants Close Conference By Adopting Reports.

Baltimore, Md., May 28.—The two final sessions of the twenty-first general conference of the Methodist Protestant church were occupied with the appointment of special committees, election of church boards and secretaries, adoption of belated reports and recommendations and consideration of a few minor resolutions. The place of the next meeting of the general conference, on the third Wednesday in May, 1916, will be decided by the executive committee.

Authority was granted the board of foreign missions to consider the consolidation of the educational institutions of the Methodist Protestant and Evangelical churches in Nagoya, Japan. Rev. Fred C. Klein was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the board.

The conference voted to consolidate the New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania conferences into the Eastern conference, and to merge the Texas and Central Texas conference

Censure Jim Wilson.

Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson was censured in the report of the temperance committee, which was adopted, for "accepting the presidency" of the National Brewers' convention.

The report of the Sabbath observance committee, which was adopted, disapproved of Sunday newspapers, Sunday excursions, and all forms of labor and amusement on that day.

Rev. F. T. Little was appointed commissioner of the Ecumenical council, and Revs. Charles H. Beck and C. H. Hubbell were re-elected secretaries, respectively, of the boards of home missions and of young people's work.

CHICAGO STORE SUFFERS ITS ANNUAL ROBBERY.

Chicago, May 28.—Robbed six times in five years, and once when the proprietor was shot to death, the Golden Rule store in West Madison street again has been invaded by robbers, who took away $7,500 in bonds. Six years ago Thomas J. Marshall was killed while defending the place against robbery, and since then the store has been robbed annually.

Reorganizing Allis Chalmers.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 28.—Foreclosure proceedings were brought in the federal court yesterday on a $5,000,000 mortgage on the Allis Chalmers company's plant by the Continental & Commercial Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, which holds the mortgage. The proceedings are formal steps in the reorganization of the company under the receivership, by which the new company, which has about $9,000,000 in bonds of the old company, will bid in the property at foreclosure sale and complete the re-organization. The foreclosure will in no way affect the operation of the company.

BOOSTING LIKE CHARITY

Begins at Home Says Leader of Grand Rapids Enthusiasts.

"Must Believe in Home City to Talk Convincingly."

"You can't boost a city to the outside world until you have a crowd of boosters at home."

"You can't talk enthusiastically until you are enthusiastic."

"The first step toward developing a city and pushing it to the front, is to get enthusiastic about it yourself."

"You have got to believe that you are living in the best city, in the best state, in the best country in the world, before you can make others believe it."

Those are Kileyisms.

Their author is E. C. Kiley, who makes a business of boosting Grand Rapids and Itasca county as a whole, and who puts in his spare time running the Grand Rapids Herald-Review, one of the liveliest weeklies in Northern Minnesota.

Mr. Kiley is in Duluth today in the interests of a publicity campaign which has been inaugurated for Itasca county. As president of the Grand Rapids Commercial club he has taken a very active part in this campaign. All of the commercial organizations in Itasca county are combined in a publicity campaign for the county. A booklet is now being prepared, and thousands of copies of it will be distributed.

"It is not going to be a sporadic attempt to advertise the county, but a well planned, long continued campaign" said Mr. Kiley. "It is going to be kept up, until the people of this state and other states, know that we have the greatest county in the Union."

Mr. Kiley has been making a Roosevelitian campaign tour to arouse enthusiasm in his own county for publicity and development, because he believes that boosting, like charity, should begin at home.

Coal Dealer Suicide.

Chicago, May 28.—Frank E. Lunkens, secretary and treasurer of the Illinois-Wisconsin Retail Coal Dealers' association, was found dead in a room of a hotel here. A bottle which had contained poison lay by his side. Police believe he committed suicide. Mr. Lunkens was 53 years old.

COUNTY DIVISION CASES ARE BEING ARGUED.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three county seat and county division cases which have been hanging fire from one to four years will be finally argued to the supreme court in Bismarck today and tomorrow. The cases involve the division of McLean county, to form Stephenson county; the division of Billings county to form Slope and Golden Valley counties, and the location of the county seat of Burke county at Flaxton instead of Bowbells.

GOPHER HUNTERS PAID.

Wells County, N. D., Slayers of Animals Collect 2 Cent Bounty.

Fessenden, N. D., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—This year 150,000 gophers have been killed in Wells county for a bounty of 2 cents each and R. J. Lyness has issued warrants for $1,000.58, ranging in sums from 2 cents to $32.32. The gopher tails were brought to the courthouse by the thousands, men, women and children bringing them in cans, bags, boxes and jars to receive their bounty money. Adam Zuber captured the "booby" prize, his warrant being for but 2 cents, while Julius Lorz claimed high honors with $32.32 as compensation for his hunt. Fred Ackermann brought in 3,050 tails in one bunch, Emil Larson had 1,320 and Charles Hollingsworth had 684. Several of the commissioner districts have not yet been heard from.

MANY WISCONSIN STREAMS ARE STOCKED.

Couderay, Wis., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—1,500,000 trout, bass and pickerel fry have been placed in the creeks, rivers and lakes of this section. The fry was furnished by the government fish hatchery at Bayfield. This spring's distribution of fish was a great increase over the usual amount distributed during previous seasons.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

RAIN, RAIN, RUN AWAY AND LET THE WHITE SOX PLAY

Wet Grounds Prevent Superior-Duluth Contest—Kramer and Marion Mentioned as Local "Maybes."

Some of the players who are strangers to this part of the country, have the perfect right to believe that is one —— place. You see that since the team returned from the training trip the weather has been of the brand to make an evangelist heroically deplore the fact that precedent and early training makes it impracticable for him to tell his real opinion of the weather with any color effects and the use of imagination. The game postponed yesterday was the second of the young season that the weather has interfered with on the home grounds.

There was some fanning during the wet of yesterday. Darby O'Brien told the cross-eyed player story to some of the new members of the team, also telling fifteen of the various leagues he has played in, keeping the majority of them back for other rainy days.

There is the possibility that Mike Kramer may join the White Sox. The possibility lies in the fact that he has submitted his terms. Just where he would be played is a matter hard to understand. With the trio in the outfield hitting the way they are at the present time, there is little chance for any man to chase flies in our daisy patch.

There is a story going the rounds that Don Marion is coming back to the smaller circles—but no one has said he is coming here. While several telegrams have been sent to Milwaukee—well that does not mean that the big boy will be added to the pitching staff of the local club.

League a Success.

So far the league has been more of a financial success than the officers dreamed of. Winnipeg has been drawing "great," there was a fine opening day at Grand Forks, while the Sunday crowd at Superior was one of the best outpourings that has ever attended a game at Hislop park.

To date the league race has demonstrated the patent fact, a fact with red flags hung all over it, that the officials of the Grand Forks team need to set about reorganizing the aggregation that is representing the Flickertail town at the present time.

Grand Forks is too good a town and there is too much enthusiasm there at the present time to hand the good people up there an aggregation such as has been representing the North Dakota hustling burg

True it is that Lohr had little time to get the team together, and it is also a fact that most anything had to go for the first few games; but it is also true that the manager has had time for more mature reflection and it is time that he has arrived at the definite and hard-lipped conclusion that some new faces are badly needed on the team.

That big holiday crowd at Winnipeg will help all the teams in the league. The receipts, except the admissions to the grand stand, will be pooled among the four teams. If the paid admissions were anything near the reports sent out, then each club in the league —there are only four—will have a nice money mountain, speaking from the humble comparisons of money in the bush, as the result of the big enthusiasm at the Peg.

Sentiment regarding the Duluth team has changed materially since the opening of the season. The fans have awakened to the fact that we have a good team here. It does appear that the Irish Orator has assembled the best aggregation since the dear days of Marion, Dauss, Mueller, McCrone, Breen, Kohl and some of the rest—by the way, one of the best teams that ever played in a league of its class.

But—there comes the pessimistic but always—the season is young. When here Winnipeg looked awfully good and it is difficult to account for the games the outfit has lost. The aggregation is surely a clouting one, so it must be that the pitchers have been going bad. But the race is still crying for castoria, figuratively speaking, and there is many a hard adjective between the cup and the slip.

Gotch vs. Americus.

League Still Lives.

St. Louis, Mo., May 28.—Magnates of the United States league will meet in Pittsburg on Wednesday of this week to rearrange the league's circuit, according to Marshall Henderson, owner of the Pittsburg team, who left here for home last night.

It was reported here today that St. Louis has been selected to take over the franchise recently surrendered by Cleveland and that either Kansas City or Indianapolis will get the franchise now owned by Washington. A local brewer has agreed to back a St. Louis club, provided the other cities in the league post forfeits of $1,500.

NEW YORK TEAM MAY DROP OUT

New York, May 28.—The scheduled game between New York and Chicago in the new United States league was not played yesterday afternoon and it looked last night as thought the local club would drop out of the league.

According to William Niesen, proprietor of the Chicago club, sixteen of his players were on the Bronx oval at the scheduled hour, but few of the New York players appeared and there being few spectators, the club finally left the field. According to other versions the New York players were on hand, but the Chicago men were so disappointed with the meager gate receipts that they refused to play and went back to Mr. Niesen's hotel, demanding funds. It is also said that a number of players left the club. Mr. Niesen said, however, that the Chicago team would proceed with its trip west to play the regular scheduled games. Representatives of the New York club admitted there was little likelihood of further games here.

President W. A. Whitman of the league, who was here, issued a call for a meeting of the league at Pittsburg Sunday.

BRUCE BROWN MAKES BEST TIME

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.—Twenty-one high powered racing cars ran in the qualification trial for the memorial day 500-mile race at the Indianapolis speedway. The drivers easily sent their machines over the two and one-half mile lap of the brick oval under the two-minute limit, prescribed for eligibility to lineup for the great race at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The best time was made by David Bruce-Brown in a National. His car pounded out the distance in 1:41:75.

Only two entrants had trouble, Romine's Continental broke a crank shaft and it may not be possible to get a new one in time to make the race. Lee Oldfield tried twice with his Mason to qualify but engine trouble prevented him and he will go after the test again today.

Others that will take the speed trial today are Ormsby (Opel) Hearne (Case) and Mulford (Knox). Because of incomplete adjustment following weeks of practice on the speedway, these cars were not in shape for the trials of yesterday.

Wilcox in a National made the round in 1:43.30.

Postponed Games.

New York, May 28.—The National league baseball clubs have thirty-three postponed games and one tied game to play off, according to a complete list. The dates not covered by the last announcement on May 11 are:

Oak Halls to Play.

Ed Northup, manager of the Oak Halls, announces that the Oak Halls have a game scheduled with the Treadwells of Superior for Thursday, and also a contest with the Duluth Heights for next Sunday.

ED WALSH CALLED THE GAME'S BEST PITCHER

New York, May 28.—A man, no matter in what walk of life, who can upset traditional laws of nature is worthy at least of more than passing regard. One who can go on doing it, year after year, should be an object of universal wonder. As such let us introduce Ed Walsh, the mainstay of the Chicago American league club's pitching staff.

Walsh is one of the most wonderful pitchers that the game has ever developed. Should he become permanently crippled tomorrow, so crippled that he could never again wield the little white sphere through which he gained his fame, this remarkable athlete would pass down through history as one of the great masters of his art. His name would be linked with those of Christy Mathewson and Cy Young, men who cheated time and conserved their cunning through twice the span of an ordinary pastimer's day of major league usefulness.

In point of years of service, Ed Walsh has a long way to go to equal the unprecedented record of Boston's grand old man. Compared even with Mathewson the White Sox marvel is still confronted with several years in which he must deliver his present puzzling brand. Yet the fellow seems equal to the task. He is every bit as good at this writing as at any time in his brilliant career and there are those who hailed him three seasons back as the most effective and capable tosser in the game.

Just look what this veteran is doing for Callahan's White Sox. Single handed he put Chicago's pennant chasers out to the front from the season's get-away. Of the first eighteen games played Walsh worked in nine. He didn't pitch the full time in each, but those he didn't start were the ones that really proved the hardest tests. He was called upon to save the day when some stalemates wavered. Therein lies Walsh's great value.

Since 1905 Walsh has pitched practically a third of all the White Sox's games. Fifty games in a season is nothing for him. He'll turn off that many on his own hook and finish half as many more for less fortunate mates. He won a pennant and world's championship for the White Sox in 1906. He won a city series from the Cubs last fall. No matter what sort of a club may be behind him, Walsh is always up among the leading pitchers of the major leagues. When his team finishes at all close to the leaders, it is safe betting that Walsh is the leading pitcher of his company or mighty close to it. It takes a near approach to shutout ball to stop this wonderful tosser in his average game.

Is it any wonder, then, that Charles A. Comiskey regards Ed Walsh as the greatest asset in baseball? During the league meetings in this city last December the Old Roman declared that he had just one player that he could not be induced to part with at any cost. "Walsh," said Comiskey, "has done too much for my club to become the subject of a trade. Of course, I couldn't trade him if I wished. My city wouldn't stand it. I might as well lock the gates as to part with him. But sentiment aside, there is not a player in the world for whom I would swap Walsh—no, not even the wonderful Ty Cobb. I consider Walsh today as great as Cobb. He is a pitching staff in himself. I cannot say that he is the greatest player of history. I can and do say that he is the greatest pitcher of history. New York will disagree with me on that score. I do not for a minute lose sight of Mathewson. But great as Matty is, I believe Walsh greater."

In many respects the cases of Mathewson and Walsh are quite similar. For years Matty upheld the pitching burdens of the Giants on his own broad shoulders. He not only did his share, his regular turn, but served as relief man in every important crisis, just as Walsh has done and is still doing. But never in the heyday of his career was the illustrious Mathewson such an "iron man" as Ed Walsh.

"If I had Walsh," declared Frank Chance after the White Sox had won four straight games from the Cubs, "I'd win world's championships every year. I'd work him every game." Of course Chance did not mean that statement literally. But it was a fine compliment, nevertheless, and a deserving one. It may be Walsh's wonderful physique that has enabled him to go on from year to year performing at its very best the work of three ordinary tossers.

Every time Walsh wavers the least little bit, fandom prepares for his funeral. "He's gone at last," is whispered. "He could not possibly stand up under such a strain of overwork." But each time the marvel comes back stronger than ever. Today he stands in a class all by himself.

It was Walsh who gave the lie to the theory that the spitball ruins a pitcher's arm. It never seemed to puzzle his flipper a great deal. Ed wasn't worth a plugged nickel as a hurler until he acquired the damp delivery. In his first year out with the Sox, 1904, he depended almost entirely on speed and he was hammered all over creation. He picked up the scaltvary slant from Jack Chesbro and commenced to use it in the spring of 1905. That is when his real career began. Before fall he was one of the greatest pitchers in the game. The following season he won a pennant and world's flag for Fielder Jones.

FAST BOATS ARE WANTED

Duluth May Witness Big Motor Boat Events at Coming Carnival.

(BY BRUCE.)

Attempts are being made to put Duluth on the circuit with the best motor boat racing cities of the west.

Plans are being formulated to bring here some of the fastest motor boats in the country for the carnival of July.

The successful launching of one great motor boat meet would mean that in time Duluth, with its grand facilities, would become one of the greatest motor boat racing centers in the United States.

Norton Mattocks is working on the scheme at the present time. While the progress of the plans is not definite enough to say that Duluth is going to see some of the famous speed boats in action here, it might be said that it is time that the various industrial bodies of the city got in behind the scheme and helped bring to Duluth the boats that are giving Peoria, Davenport, Detroit and some of the other cities of the west the greatest speed contests that can be seen in the United States.

It is believed that if the Commercial club would get behind the scheme that little trouble would be experienced in getting the fastest boats in the country here. In fact, Mr. Mattocks has letters from the owners of several of the real speed wizards of the country, stating that they will be only too glad to come here, providing that they can make their expenses out of the trip.

This means that Duluth will have to put up some cash prizes, as Peoria, Davenport and some of the other western cities have done in holding the annual motor boat events that have attracted attention all over the country.

A big motor boat contest, such as Mr. Mattocks is figuring upon, and which he hopes that the Duluth Boat club, the Duluth Commercial club, the Greater Duluth club and other organizations of the city will fall in with, would bring here in July visitors from the Twin Cities and the surrounding country. That would be only the beginning, as the event grew in after years, as it naturally would, it would become one of the big events in motor boat racing in the United States, dovetailing in the ambitious and progressive plan to make Duluth one of the great summer resorts of the country.

Peoria, holding annually one of the great speed boat contests of the West, has not one-half of the natural advantages of Duluth. We could unload the boats at the Superior shipyards with little trouble. We have stalls and innumerable places to shelter these boats. We have a fine sheltered course and we have a club with 250 motor boats. Why don't we have one of the big speed contests of the country?

It is expected that a definite move will be made this week. If the city will put up some cash prizes as Peoria and other cities have done, we can get some of the fastest boats in the world. This is going to be a great year for the speed boats and some of the best in the whole world will come West for the various races. The tentative date set upon for the Duluth carnival would fit in nicely with some of the Western motor boat dates.

At last it begins to look as if there was a chance to get the speeders up here and give the people of Duluth and this part of the country their first real touch of some of the best motor boat racing in the world.

Arranging Regatta.

Davenport, Iowa, May 28.—St. Claire Ede of Dubuque, Iowa, commodore of the Mississippi Valley Boat club together with Charles Thanley of Muscatine and W. B. Rose of La Crosse, members of the race committee, met with local committees yesterday to arrange for closing the entry lists of the regatta to be held here July 4. Boats from New York to the Pacific coast and from St. Paul to New Orleans have been entered for the regatta.

WILL NOT TAKE PART IN GAMES

Los Angeles, May 28.—Forest Smithson, who won the 110-meter hurdle for the American team during the Olympic games at London, 1908, will not compete in the Olympic try-outs in New York this year. This statement was made by J. B. Franklin, president of the South Pacific branch of the A. A. U.

Smithson participated unattached in the recent Pacific coast Olmpic tryout at Sanford university, but his showing was disappointing.

Talbot Unable to Make Trip.

Kansas City, May 28.—Lee Talbot, who participated in the Olympic games at London, and according to officials was expected to in the hammer throw for the American team at Stockholm and who also was to be entered in the discus throw, wired New York officials that he would be unable to take part in the games. Talbot's business requires his entire attention, he said.

CONFERENCE MEET COMES THIS WEEK

La Fayette, Ind., May 28. — Next Saturday the annual Western conference track and field meet will be held on Stuart field at Purdue university and arrangements for the entertainment for the army of visiting athletes are fast nearing completion here. That the track and field will be in splendid condition for the big event seems certain. The fine new running track with its 220-yard straight-away is said to be the fastest in the country. It has been constructed carefully and rolled until it is perfectly smooth. It is expected that nearly 500 college athletes will be here for the meet and preparations are being made to accommodate a vast crowd of spectators. The memorial gymn will be turned over to the visiting athletes and they will have every convenience and comfort possible. Athletic Director Hugh Nicol is leaving nothing undone to make the meet an unprecedented success.

Preliminaries on Friday.

While the main events will all take place on Saturday, June 1, it is likely that several trial heats in the dashes will be run off Friday afternoon, the semi-finals and finals to be run Saturday. While little can be ascertained as to the relative strength of the many different teams which will compete, it appears at this time as if the University of Missouri, University of Chicago, University of Illinois and University of California will be strong contenders for the championship.

The University of California, which last year scored twelve points, only five less than the score of the winning team, will again present such stars as Allen, Beeson, Wood and Hale. Chicago with Davenport, Menaul, Cayle and Kuh, looks particularly strong. Davenport, if he is in form should win the half-mile and quarter-mile events again this year. Kuh looks good in the hurdles. Menaul is likely to win the shot put and Coyle will place in the pole vault.

Wilson of Coe, who took second in the 100-yard dash last year and won the 220-yard dash, will compete again this year and looks especially formidable. Nicholson and Kirksey of Missouri may win the hurdles again and Berman will place in the half and quarter mile. J. R. Case of Illinois is a hurdler who looks good for a first or second place and Murphy will undoubtedly star in the pole vault. He is able to clear the bar at twelve feet nine inches without much trouble. Curtis, Sanders and Cope are other Illinois men who should give good account of themselves.

Stockton Best With Discus.

Purdue will not make much of a showing, but Stockton is likely to capture the discus event, as he won second place last year, and Roberts of Missouri, who beat him last year, is not in this year's meet. Stockton has been improving and is doing several throws better than last season. De Pauw and Earlham have entries, but probably will not figure in any winnings.

Indiana pins its faith on Boos, Draper and Hamilton. Boos is fast in the quarter mile. Kansas has a high jumper, French, who holds the conference record of 6 feet 5-8 inch. Minnesota with Shaughnessy, Frank and Lambert has three good weight men. Northwestern with Fletcher and Thorsen should make a good showing. Fletcher may win the shotput. Ohio State has G. M. Wikoff, a two-miler, who recently did the distance in 9:37 on a slow track against Notre Dame.

GOOD WRESTLING BOUTS.

Large Crowd Witnessed Grappling Program at Moose Hall.

Some of the best wrestling matches that have been held here for some time were put on before a large crowd at the Moose hall last evening. Danielson threw Nygard in straight falls, and Billy Beaulieu of Superior also downed Joe Fish of the same town in straight falls. Walter Nesgoda, the stocky little Pole and protege of Martin Johnson, failed to throw Loule Zorbas in the alloted time of half an hour, the match going to the little Greek.

The star bout of the evening was the contest between Martin Johnson and Bakus, the husky newcomer from Coleraine. Bakus has strength and speed in plenty, but his knowledge of the game was not sufficient to enable him to cope with the clever fireman wrestler. Martin took the first fall in 21 minutes and the second and deciding fall in 14.

Skat Tournament.

Chicago, May 28.—H. N. Mangelsen, of Clinton, Iowa, was declared the winner of the 12th annual skat tournament. He won 31 games and lost five giving him a net of 26. As the champion for the year 1912, he was awarded a $1,000 prize. August Thies of Chicago was second with a total of 1,074 points. E. Kreuter of Sheboygan, Wis., was third with a spade solo against seven matadors, while H. M. Fellen of Fond Du Lac, Wis., secured fourth position. T. C. Closse of Cleveland was elected president of the National Skat league.

LANGFORD BEATS "PORKY" FLYNN.

Melbourne, Australia, May 28. — Sam Langford, the heavyweight negro boxer of Boston, defeated "Porky" Flynn also of Boston. Flynn was being so badly hammered that the referee stopped the fight in the fourteenth round.

PLAY BALL

BASEBALL IS THE VERY BEST ADVERTISEMENT AND SPORT THAT A CITY CAN POSSIBLY HAVE

SEE-EYE LEAGUE

BASEBALL—the city's pride. Business men in most of the large cities realize this; in fact in most cities and towns of the country the business men are the best supporters of baseball, for the sake of the game and also for the reason that the wide and alert business man knows that baseball helps the town and consequently his business. This season the business men of Duluth are taking a great interest in the White Sox. Some of the leading business men of the city are interested in the management of the team, and with the policy of the new management, simply for clean sport and for the advertisement of the city, the business men of Duluth should make the success of the baseball team a matter of personal interest.

"DARBY" O'BRIEN,
Playing Manager.

DARBY O'BRIEN the Irish Orator has been the leader of three Duluth baseball teams. His first year as manager he won the pennant in the Minnesota - Wisconsin league. His next two years he was not so successful, perhaps because Duluth was one of the few teams in the league that observed with honest intent the salary limit prescribed by the rules of the organization. As a manager, the Orator has few peers in minor league baseball. This season he appears to have one of the most evenly balanced teams that has ever represented the city, and the result should be the pennant for Duluth. Darby is a genial, whole-souled Irishman, who would give his shirt to a friend, if the friend needed it.

COUNCIL REFUSES TO REDUCE PATROL LIMITS

Attempt to Cut Off Another Block of Saloon Territory Defeated.

Water Board Complains That Poor Gas Is Being Sold to City.

The city council last evening refused by a vote of 5 to 8 to reduce the patrol limits on West Superior street from Twenty-fourth avenue west to Twenty-third avenue west.

The matter did not evoke any discussion at the council meeting proper but after the adjournment several acrimonious differences relative to the matter developed. Two of the aldermen had heated words on the subject in the office of the city clerk and another of the aldermen and a West end clergyman had a wordy battle over the question in the corridors of the city hall building. Several verbal batteries were discharged, but they did not lead to any personal conflicts.

The patrol limits were recently extended 200 feet west of Twenty-fourth avenue west but the transfer of a saloon license at 2402 West Superior street was vetoed by the mayor. A week ago Monday night the ordinance extending the patrol limits was rescinded. At the same time the ordinance further reducing the limits to Twenty-third avenue west had its first reading. It came up for final passage last night and failed of passage by one vote, nine votes being necessary to carry it.

The board of water and light commissioners reported that it had adopted a resolution informing the Zenith Furnace company that unless the quality of the gas furnished the city is improved the municipality will refuse to pay for it. The resolution was as follows:

"Whereas: For some weeks numerous and repeated complaints have been made to this board by users of gas, stating that the quality of gas furnished by the Zenith Furnace company is so inferior that in many cases its use is being dispensed with by patrons of the department; and, from information which the board is able to obtain, it is satisfied that the complaint is well founded, and that the Zenith Furnace company is not complying with its contract with the city as to the quality of gas furnished,

"Therefore, be it resolved, That the board hereby calls upon the Zenith Furnace company to furnish the city gas of quality as contracted for and notifies said company that unless this demand is complied with the department will refuse payment for gas supplied."

• • •

Chief of Police Chauncey H. Troyer recommended to the council that the saloon license of Ole Olssen on St. Croix avenue, near the railroad tracks, be revoked. He reported that complaints of numerous robberies in the place have been received by the police department and that he does not believe that Olssen is a fit man to conduct a public drinking place. The matter was referred to the committee on police and license. In police court yesterday afternoon Olssen was found guilty of having assaulted Edward Johnson last Friday evening in his place of business. The chief said that more complaints have been had against Olssen's saloon than any other half dozen bars in the city.

• • •

Much of the time of the council last night was taken up with listening to arguments for and against a resolution directing the street railway company to lay a double track on Fifth avenue east from Fourth to Fifth streets and on Fifth street from Fifth to Sixth avenues east. Many residents of the hillside district attended the meeting and some strong speeches were made on both sides. The resolution was laid over one week in order to give the aldermen more time to look over the ground.

• • •

A resolution was passed rejecting the bids recently received for the remodeling of the police station and the board of public works was directed to hire an architect to draw plans for adding a third story to the building. The city has no money in the permanent improvement fund at this time and the resolution will give the city more time. When the bids for the third story addition have been received they can be compared with those for the interior remodeling and the cheaper selected.

• • •

The council authorized the exchange of the city dock property at the foot of Ramsey street for a larger tract in the same vicinity. The exchange gives the city 27,000 square feet of more available property for 15,000 square feet.

• • •

A petition was received to have Twenty-third avenue west put in shape for paving. It was reported that several washouts have occurred on the avenue and that the damage that has been done should be repaired.

• • •

A communication was received from Herbert Warren, general manager of the street railway company, stating that he would be willing to meet any committee which the council might appoint to confer with officials of the company and a committee of the company's employes. It is expected that the meeting will be held the latter part of the week, but the date has not been definitely announced. The council authorized the special committee to hire a stenographer to take the proceedings at a cost not to exceed $50.

Rupert Smith presented a bill for $130.50 for injuries alleged to have been sustained through the city's negligence at the recent fire at 310 East Superior street.

The Soo presented a bill for $2,500 for the damage which was done to its retaining wall at Twelfth avenue west by the recent flooding of the Glen. The council passed a resolution asking the city engineer for a feasible plan to take care of existing conditions at Buckingham creek.

• • •

The city engineer reported estimated costs of storm sewers as follows:

In Glenwood street, from Fifty-seventh avenue east to Lester river, $3,721.58.

In Forty-seventh avenue east from pitt street to the lake, $15,691.50.

In Fifty-eighth avenue east from Glenwood street to the lake, $9,044.20.

The contract for improving Perry avenue, otherwise known as One Hundred and Twenty-eighth avenue west, was awarded to John H. Brigham on his bid of $752.10. The high bid was $951.

The resolution of Alderman Phillips that union men be employed to do the steamfitting, carpentering, painting, plastering and blacksmithing of the fire department was lost by a vote of 14 to 2. Aldermen Phillips and Krueger of the Eighth ward voted affirmatively.

• • •

A resolution was passed directing the building inspector to make survey of the buildings on West Superior street between Third and Seventh avenues to determine whether or not the overhead wires of the street railway company cannot be attached to eye bolts fitted into the buildings. The company is putting its feed wires in that location underground and the council wishes to learn whether or not all poles cannot be dispensed with at the same time.

• • •

The council voted $200 for the mayor's contingent fund. This is the sum allowed for that purpose by the charter.

The board of public works was requested to furnish the council with a report of the probable sum which will be needed for storm sewers the present season.

• • •

The council appropriated $500 as the city's share of repairing the viaduct over the railroad tracks at Twenty-seventh avenue west.

The board of public welfare was allowed $800 to carry it to the end of the present season. It was given $1,200 a short time ago to aid the proposed industrial school for girls. The latter sum cannot be used for that purpose and will be turned into other channels by the board. This gives the board $2,000 for the balance of the year. The money will be paid from the general fund.

• • •

The new St. Louis hotel was granted permission to erect a canopy on Superior street. Manager Hickey gave an interesting talk on the matter and satisfied the city fathers that the desirable features of the proposed addition more than offset any obstruction which it may cause on the sidewalk.

• • •

An ordinance was introduced to establish six precincts in the Seventh ward instead of five, the present number. The third precinct is becoming so large that it necessitates division, making the additional precinct.

• • •

PLANNING ON EXTENSION

Council Takes First Steps Toward Securing Steel Plant Line.

City Wants Advance Payment on Taxes Now Under Litigation.

The city council last evening directed the board of public works to negotiate with the Northern Pacific Railway company relative to securing a right-of-way under its track near Smithville for the proposed street car extension to the steel plant.

The sentiment of the council is that the railroad should be willing to acede to its request in this regard and possibly bear part of the expense.

The works board was also directed to proceed with the preliminaries necessary to the acquisition of a right-of-way and report the cost of the same to the aldermen. The committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks, which recently made an examination of the ground, agreed that the extension is necessary and that the city officials should further it by every means in their power.

Bert Fesler, former city attorney, offered the suggestion that the city try to induce the street railway company to pay $30,000 of its personal taxes for the purpose of putting the road to New Duluth in shape for street car traffic. He explained that the company's taxes are now in litigation, but that the payment of a stipulated sum could in no way affect the case in court. He asserted that in any event the company will be obliged to pay at least the sum which it has tendered.

Acting on this suggestion the council passed a resolution directing the finance committee and the city attorney to confer with the street railway company relative to securing a part payment of its personal property taxes for use in strengthening and constructing bridges on the road to the steel plant.

It was stated last evening that the company believes that the extension to New Duluth should be made and that it will be willing to aid the improvement as far as it can consistently do so.

NELSON RETIRES FROM OFFICE

Resigns as President of Butte-Ballaklava Copper Company.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Butte-Ballaklava Copper company, held late yesterday afternoon in the offices of the company in the Sellwood building, President P. H. Nelson, at his own urgent request, was retired from the board of directors, and in his place, George C. Swallow, a prominent lumberman of Milwaukee, was elected. Otherwise the membership of the board was not changed and it consists of John A. Percival, J. L. Washburn, Gust Carlson, I. Freimuth, Millie Bunnell, A. L. Warner and George C. Swallow. Mr. Nelson desired to retire in order to have more time for his private affairs.

It was reported that there was a balance of $53,000 in the treasury. At the suggestion of the directors the stockholders voted to issue debenture notes in the sum of $100,000 to provide for the immediate financial needs of the company, especially to fight the suit brought by the Anaconda company, tying up one of the principal mining veins on the Butte-Ballaklava property.

A report from Dr. Harvey Weed of New York, geologist and consulting engineer of the company, was read, stating that from a geological standpoint the company had nothing to fear in its defense of the Anaconda suit.

There are other good veins in the Butte-Ballaklava property that are not affected by the suit. These, the officers say, are making a fine showing. The company is developing and shipping from one of them at the present time.

At the meeting 185,000 shares of stock were represented either by their owners in person or by proxy.

DR. RASTALL WILL DELIVER ADDRESS.

This will be Dr. Rastall's first public address since he was elected to that position.

Dr. Rastall has had great success in securing industrial enterprises for Milwaukee and without doubt he will have many new and interesting ideas to present. Tickets for the dinner may be obtained from John Stephenson in the Wolvin building. The service will begin at 6:30 p. m.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles.

Who does not know the value of Sage and Sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, Sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than Sage and Sulphur, if properly prepared.

The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put out an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for keeping the hair and scalp in clean, healthy condition.

If your hair is loosing its color or constantly coming out, or if you are troubled with dandruff or dry, itchy scalp, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, use it according to the simple directions, and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in the appearance of your hair.

All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented.

the senator, and he quoted British law to show that Capt. Lord might be prosecuted for a misdemeanor.

Other conclusions presented, in brief, were as follows:

Before the Titanic departed on her maiden voyage there were no sufficient tests of boilers, bulkheads, equipment or signal devices.

Officers and crew were strangers to each other and not familiar with the ship's instruments or tools and no drill or station practice took place and no helpful discipline prevailed.

The speed of the Titanic was twenty-four and one-half miles an hour at the time of the accident, although officers of the Titanic had been advised of the presence of icebergs by the steamships Baltic, Amerika and Californian.

Passengers Not Warned.

Passengers were not advised of danger, although President Ismay of the White Star line, who was taking the vessel's maiden voyage, was informed. No general alarm was given nor any organized system of safety undertaken.

Of the 1,324 passengers and 899 members of the crew on board, there was room in lifeboats for only 1,176 persons and because of lack of orderly discipline the boats took off only 704 persons, twelve being rescued from the water.

Officers of the White Star line "battled with the truth" after receiving information from their Montreal office Monday morning following the accident.

Senator Smith condemned "antiquated shipping laws and overripe administrative boards," and asked that all nations act together in shipping reforms. "New laws," he said, "will best testify our affection for the dead."

Praise For Rostron.

Capt. Rostron of the rescue ship Carpathia was praised by Senator Smith, and he urged that congress recognize his valor.

At the outset, Senator Smith defended the course of his committee in holding British subjects to secure their testimony without delay, and briefly answered criticism of his lack of nautical knowledge.

"Our course was simple and plain—to gather the facts relating to this disaster while they were still vivid realities" he said. "Questions of diverse citizenship gave way to the universal desire for the simple truth. It was of paramount importance that we should act quickly to avoid jurisdictional confusion and organized opposition at home or abroad. We, of course, recognized that the ship was under a foreign flag; but the lives of many of our own countrymen had been sacrificed, and the safety of many had been put in grave peril, and it was vital that the entire matter should be reviewed before an American tribunal if legislative action was to be taken for future guidance.

Learned Important Facts.

"Without any pretension to experience or special knowledge of nautical affairs, nevertheless I am of the opinion that very few important facts which were susceptible of being known escaped our scrutiny. Energy is often more desirable than learning, and the inquisition serves a useful purpose to the state.

"In the construction of the Titanic," continued the senator, "no limit of cost circumscribed their endeavor, and when this vessel took its place at the head of the line every modern improvement in shipbuilding was supposed to have been realized. So confident were they that both owner and builder were eager to go upon the trial trip.

"When the crisis came, a state of absolute unpreparedness stupefied both passengers and crew, and, in their despair, the ship went down, carrying as needless a sacrifice of noble women and brave men as ever clustered about the judgment seat in any single moment of passing time.

"We shall leave to the honest judgment of England its painstaking chastisement of the British Board of Trade, to whose laxity of regulation and hasty inspection the world is largely indebted for this awful fatality. Of contributing causes there were very many. In the face of warning signals, speed was increased and messages of danger seemed to stimulate her to action rather than to persuade her to fear.

Rushed On Her Course.

"The Titanic rushed onward on her true course—one recognized as appropriate and agreed upon by mariners as the international highway for westbound vessels, yet dangerous at this season of the year, when the Labrador current may be bearing vast masses of ice across the track of ships—scores of these towering glaciers planted themselves in the very pathway of this ship and were so large and so numerous that, in the absence of fog, they should have been easily discernible by the lookout, if, as he says in his testimony, he had been supplied with glasses.

"Capt. Smith knew the sea, and his clear eye and steady hand often guided his ship through dangerous paths; for forty years storms sought in vain to vex him or menace his craft. His indifference to danger was one of the direct and contributing causes of this unnecessary tragedy, while his own willingness to die was the expiating evidence of his fitness to live; those of us who knew him well—not in anger, but in sorrow—file one specific charge against him; over-confidence and neglect to heed the oft-repeated warnings of his friends; but, in his horrible dismay, when his brain was afire with honest retribution, we can still see, in his manly bearing and his tender solicitude for the safety of women and little children, some traces of his lofty spirit.

Mystery of Indifference.

"The mystery of his indifference to danger, when other and less pretentious vessels doubled their lookout or stopped their engines, finds no reasonable hypothesis in conjecture or speculation; science in shipbuilding was supposed to have attained perfection and to have spoken her last word; mastery of the ocean had at last been achieved; but over-confidence seems to have dulled the faculties usually so alert. With the atmosphere literally charged with warning signals and wireless messages registering their last appeal, the stokers in the engine room fed their fires with fresh fuel, registering in that dangerous place her fastest speed.

"Nature gave a warning of approaching peril so significant that passengers in stateroom and steerage shut out the chill and spoke to one another of the sudden cold. Sailors off the Grand Banks know the importance of the thermometer, which is almost as necessary to their safety as is the compass. Even the quartermaster, Hichens, who regularly took the temperature of the water from the sea, said: 'It suddenly became bitter cold,' and added that the first order received by him from Second Officer Lightoller at 8 o'clock Sunday evening was 'to take his compliments down to the ship's carpenter and inform him to look to his fresh water, that it was about to freeze.'"

Error In Order.

Senator Smith declared that the command of the officer of the watch to avert the disaster actually exposed the most vulnerable part of the Titanic to the ice when the shock came.

"Distracted by the sudden appearance of danger," said the speaker, "he sharply turned aside the prow, the part best prepared to resist collision, exposing the temple to the blow. At the turn of the bilge the steel encasement yielded to a glancing blow so slight that the impact was not felt in many parts of the ship, although representing an energy of more than a million foot tons, said to be the equivalent of the combined broadsides of twenty of the largest guns in our battleship fleet fired at the same moment, with a blow so deadly many of the passengers and crew did not even know of the collision until tardily advised of the danger by anxious friends. And even then, official statements were clothed in such confident assurances of safety as to arouse no fear."

Senator Smith said that the awful force of the impact must have indicated to master and builder that the ship was doomed. He commented caustically upon the failure of the ship's officers immediately to give general alarm or to establish some orderly routine.

Conduct of Officers.

Concerning the conduct of the ship's officers, he said:

"Haphazard, they rushed by one another, on staircase and in hallway, while men of self-control gathered here and there about the decks, helplessly staring at one another or giving encouragement to those less courageous than themselves. Lifebelts were finally adjusted to all and the lifeboats were cleared away, and although strangely insufficient in number, were only partially loaded and in all instances unprovided with compasses, and only three of them had lamps. They were manned so badly that, in the absence of prompt relief, they would have fallen easy victims to the advancing ice floe, nearly thirty miles in width and rising sixteen feet above the surface of the water. Their danger would have been as great as if they had remained on the deck of the broken hull, and if the sea had risen these toy targets with over 700 exhausted people would have been helplessly tossed about upon the waves without food or water.

Testimony of Survivor.

"One witness swore that two of the three stewards in their boat admitted that they had never had an oar in their hands before and did not even know what the oarlocks was for. The lifeboats were filled so indifferently and lowered so quickly that, according to the uncontradicted evidence, nearly 500 people were needlessly sacrificed to want of orderly discipline in loading the few that were provided. And yet it is said by some well meaning persons that the best of discipline prevailed. If this is discipline, what would have been disorder?

"Among the passengers were many strong men who had been accustomed to command, whose lives had marked every avenue of endeavor, and whose business experience and military training especially fitted them for such an emergency. These were rudely silenced and forbidden to speak as was the president of this company, by junior officers, a few of whom, I regret to say, availed themselves of the first opportunity to leave the ship.

"Some of the men to whom had been intrusted the care of passengers, never reported to their official stations, and quickly deserted the ship with a recklessness and indifference to the responsibilities of their positions as culpable and amazing as it is impossible to believe.

"And some of these men say they 'laid by' in their partially filled lifeboats and listened to the cries of distress 'until the noise quieted down,' and surveyed from a safe distance the unselfish men and women and faithful fellow officers and seamen whose heroism lightens up this tragedy and recalls the noblest traditions of the sea."

Praised Wireless Operators.

Tributes to the valor of Phillips and Bride, the wireless operators on the Titanic, were paid by Senator Smith. He said that the final exit of the Phillips boy was "not so swift as to prevent him from pausing long enough to pass a cup of water to a fainting woman." The senator showed that had not the underpaid wireless operator on the Carpathia prepared for bed with his receiver still on his head, the Titanic's distress signals never would have been received by the rescue ship.

"When the world weeps together over a common loss," said Senator Smith, "all nations should take steps wisely to regulate wireless telegraphy and see that operators are fairly paid." He condemned the "reign of silence" concerning the details of the disaster.

In condemning the failure of the Californian to learn all about the disaster before the Titanic sank, and go to her rescue, Senator Smith, said:

"The steamship Californian was within easy reach of this ship for nearly four hours after all the facts were known to Operator Cottam. The captain of the Carpathia says he gave explicit directions that all official messages should be immediately sent through to other ships, and messages of passengers should be given preference. According to Binns, the inspector, the apparatus on the Californian was practically new and easily tuned to carry every detail of that calamity to the coast stations at Cape Sable and Cape Race, and should have done so.

Scored White Star Officials.

"The course taken was singularly in accord with the reticence of the White Star company, who knew at 2:30 Monday morning," said the senator, "what was supposed to have occurred, and yet, at 7:31 Monday evening, a message from their own office, officially signed, containing the positive assurance of the safety of the passengers, was sent to a half-crazed father at Huntington, W. Va., nearly two hours after their admitted familiarity with the details of the disaster. It is little wonder that we have not been able to fix with definiteness the author of this falsehood."

Senator Smith reviewed the testimony of Capt. Lord, showing that the Californian came within four miles of the doomed vessel and that he went to his room to lie down while signal rockets were being fired.

"Failure of Capt. Lord to arouse the wireless operator on his ship, who easily could have ascertained the name of the vessel in distress and reached her in time to avert loss of life," said Senator Smith, "places a tremendous responsibility upon this officer from which it will be difficult for him to escape."

Praise For Rostron.

"Contrast, if you will, the conduct of the captain of the Carpathia in this emergency and imagine what must be the consolation of that thoughtful and sympathetic mariner, who rescued the shipwrecked and left the people of the world his debtor as his ship sailed for distant seas a few days ago. By his utter self-effacement and his own indifference to peril, by his promptness and his knightly sympathy, he rendered a great service to humanity. He should be made to realize the debt of gratitude this nation owes to him, while the book of good deeds, which had so often been familiar with his unaffected valor, would henceforth carry the name of Capt. Rostron to the remotest period of time.

"The lessons of this hour," said Senator Smith in conclusion, "are, indeed, fruitless and its precepts ill-conceived, if rules of action do not follow hard upon the day of reckoning. Obsolete and antiquated shipping laws should no longer encumber the parliamentary records of any government, and overripe administrative boards should be pruned of dead branches and less sterile precepts taught and applied."

Recommendations Made.

Senator Smith recommended that lanes of travel should be more carefully defined, strength of ships' bows increased, lifesaving equipment bettered, and discipline and practice made an exaction. He said buoys should be carried to mark temporarily the place of the ship's burial in case of accident; and men of strength and spirit there must be, won back to a calling already demoralized and decadent.

"But 10 per cent of the men before the mast in our merchant marine are natives or naturalized Americans," he said. "Even England, that twenty years ago had barely 7,000 Orientals on her merchant ships, now carries 70,000 of that alien race. Americans must re-enlist in this service; they must become the soldiers of the sea, and, whether in the lookout, on the deck or at the wheel, whether able or common seamen, they should be better paid for their labor and more highly honored in their calling, their rights must be respected, and their work carefully performed; harsh and severe restraining statutes must be repealed, and a new dignity given this important field of labor."

Report of Committee.

Just before delivering his speech, Senator Smith, chairman of the subcommitee that investigated the wreck, submitted the committee's report and its conclusions. The report largely is a review of the evidence and contains recommendations for legislation.

No particular person is named as being responsible, though attention is called to the fact that on the day of the disaster three distinct warnings of ice were sent to Capt. Smith.

J. Bruce Ismay, managing director of the White Star line, is not held responsible for the ship's high speed. In fact, he barely is mentioned in the report.

On the whole, the report is impassive, and Senator Smith in his speech went more fully into a discussion of the causes of the disaster than does the committee's report.

Compartments Not Water-tigh.

The committee agreed upon these principal conclusions:

The supposedly watertight compartments of the Titanic were not watertight because of the non-watertight condition of the decks where he transverse bulkheads ended.

The Californian, controlled by the same concern as the Titanic, was nearer the Titanic than the 190 miles reported by her captain, and her officers and crew saw the distress signals of the Titanic and failed to respond to them in accordance with the dictates of humanity, international usage and the requirements of law.

The committee concludes that the Californian might have saved the most passengers and crew of the ship which went down.

Eight ships, all equipped with wireless, were in the vicinity of the Titanic, the Olympic farthest away—512 miles.

Less Than 19 Miles Away.

The mysterious lights on an unknown ship, seen by the passengers on the Titanic, undoubtedly were on the Californian, less than 19 miles away.

The full capacity of the Titanic's lifeboats was not utilized, because while only 706 persons were saved, the ship's boats could have carried 1,176.

No general alarm was sounded, no whistle blown and no systematic warning was given to the endangered passengers, and it was fifteen or twenty minutes after the collision before Capt Smith ordered the Titanic's wireless operator to send out a distress message.

The Titanics crew only meagerly was acquainted with its positions and duties in case of accident, and only one drill was held before the maiden trip. Many of the crew joined the ship only a few hours before she sailed, and were in ignorance of their positions until the following Friday.

Warned of the Ice.

"Ice positions definitely reported to the Titanic," says the report, "just preceding the accident, located ice on both sides of the lane in which she was traveling. No discussion took place among the officers, no conference was called to consider these warnings, no heed was given them. The speed of the vessel was not relaxed, the lookout was not increased."

The committee comes to the conclusion that the Titanic lights were visible to the Californian before she struck the iceberg and that the Californian must have seen the distress rockets fired from the bridge of the Titanic. The report says:

"The committee is forced to the inevitable conclusion that the Californian, controlled by the same company, was nearer the Titanic than the 190 miles reported by her captain, and that her officers and crew saw the distress signals of the Titanic and failed to respond to them. The only reply to the distress signals was a counter-signal from a large white light flashed for nearly two hours from the mast of the Californian.

Conduct "Most Reprehensible."

"In our opinion such conduct, whether arising from indifference or gross carelessness, is most reprehensible and places upon the commander of the Californian a grave responsibility.

"The wireless operator of the Californian was not aroused until 3:30 a. m., New York time, on the morning of the 15th, after considerable conversation between officers and members of the crew had taken place aboard that ship regarding these distress signals or rockets, and was directed by the chief officer to see if there was anything the matter, as a ship had been firing rockets during the night.

"The inquiry thus set on foot at once disclosed the fact that the Titanic had sunk. Had assistance been promptly proffered, or had the wireless operator of the Californian remained a few minutes longer at his post on Sunday evening, that ship might have had the proud distinction of rescuing the lives of the passengers and crew of the Titanic."

The committee believes many more lives could have been saved had the survivors been concentrated in a few lifeboats, and had the boats thus released returned to the wreck for others.

Mysterious Message.

The only mention of J. Bruce Ismay occurs in a review of the messages to the White Star offices in New York reporting the disaster. The first official information, the committee says, was the message from Capt. Haddock of the Olympic, received at 6:16 p. m. Monday, April 15. Attention is called to the fact that in the face of this information a message reporting the Titanic being towed to Halifax was sent to Representative J. A. Hughes at Huntington, W. Va., at 7:51 p. m. that day. The message was delivered to the Western Union office in the same building as the White Star.

"Whoever sent this message," says the report, "under the circumstances is guilty of the most reprehensible conduct."

The committee does not believe the wireless operator on the Carpathia was duly vigilant in handling his messaanges after the accident, and declares the practice of allowing wireless operators to sell their stories should be stopped.

Makes Recommendations.

It is recommended that all ships carrying more than 100 passengers shall have two searchlights; that a revision be made of steamship inspection laws of foreign countries to the standard proposed in the United States; that every ship be required to carry sufficient lifeboats for all passengers and crew; that the use of wireless be regulated to prevent interference by amateurs, and that all ships have a wireless operator on constant duty.

Detailed recommendations are made as to watertight bulkhead construction on ocean-going ships. Bulkheads should be so spaced that any two adjacent compartments of a ship might be flooded without sinking. Transverse bulkheads forward and abaft the machinery should be continued watertight to the uppermost continuous structural deck, and this deck should be fitted watertight, the report says.

The committee deems the course followed by Capt. Rostron of the Carpathia as deserving of the highest praise and worthy of special recognition. His detailed instructions, issued in anticipation of the rescue of the Titanic, were "a marvel of systematic preparation and completeness, evincing such solicitude as calls for the highest commendation."

Orphans' Sunday School and School Receive Banners.

At an interesting social and business meeting of the Bishop's club last evening held in the club rooms, a handsome silk flag was presented to Bishop McGolrick for the St. James orphanage by the Women's Relief corps. Mrs. Sarah Pierce made the presentation on behalf of the corps.

Bishop's Club Meets.

The Bishop's club held a combined business and social meeting last evening at their club rooms. Miss Anna Foley gave an interesting talk on the work of the campaign for members for the guild of St. James, which has been going on for the past few weeks among the women of the various Catholic churches of the city. The work has been earnestly undertaken and many members have been added to the list, and this meeting was held to arouse the interest and bring the members into closer touch with the subject. The campaign will close July 4.

After a talk a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments were served. Assisting were four young women from the Y. W. C. A.: Misses Mabel Edmond, Anna Leighy, Beatrice Brophy and Evelyn Stack.

For Exiled Scots.

The exiled Scots in Duluth, and there seem to be many of them, will be given a chance to view some of the most beautiful scenes in their native land on Wednesday evening of this week. The beauties of "the land of brown heath and shaggy wood" will be portrayed by means of stereopticon views, and Past Chief A. G. McKnight will give some of the interesting historical events connected with the scenes set forth in the pictures.

The entertainment will be given at the regular meeting place of Clan Stewart, the U. O. F. hall on Fourth avenue west. The Clan proposes to give a series of such lectures, covering in detail all portions of Auld Scotia.

On Wednesday evening the trip will be through the Western Highlands of Scotland, the Caledonian canal, Inverness, Aberdeenshire, Perthshire, the Trossachs and back to Scotland's ancient capital, Stirling.

Interspersed with the lecture various songs will be sung, the writing of which was inspired by the scenes set forth in the pictures, and the Gibson instrumental trio will open and close the entertainment with selected Scottish airs. At the close there will be informal dancing.

Chief Alexander Macrae says that this innovation in Clan Stewart's entertainments is in line with the Duluth booster spirit. He believes that such lectures, being educational in their nature, are a splendid aid in making Duluth a better place to live in. "If this experiment proves a success," says the chief, "we will very likely accept some of the many invitations we have had already from those who knew of our plans, to present the lecture and the views in churches and schools in the city. If the idea proves catching and the societies representing other nationalities will follow our lead, much valuable educational work could be accomplished."

ACTRESS WEDS MILLIONAIRE

MISS GEORGIA O'RAMEY-GRIFFIN.

The latest star reported to have deserted the stage for married life is Miss Georgia O'Ramey, who came out of the West to star in "Seven Days" last year. She was married on May 23 to Robert Griffin, the millionaire wall-paper manufacturer of New York. To win Miss O'Ramey, Mr. Griffin had to compete with a very ardent French count and it took him several weeks to prove that the lovemaking of an American is more to be desired. Mr. Griffin was divorced about four years ago by his first wife. After the ceremony the couple will go to Europe on their honeymoon.

Tschaikowski's Symphony.

Tschaikowski's Symphony in E minor, which the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra will play at the first concert of the Spring Festival of Music on Friday of next week, ranks as one of the greatest symphonic works of the age. This symphony was writen in 1888 at Frolovski, Russia, where the composer had rented a country house in order to work undisturbed. The Moscow friends to whom he first showed the symphony were warm in their admiration of the work, and the only musician who did not approve of it was the composer himself. Later, however, he said to a friend: "I like it far better now, after having held a bad opinion of it for some time."

The first movement is not only one of the most popular, but likewise the most Russian of all the composer's works, many of its themes being based upon the folksongs of that country and the whole movement seeming to interpret Russian feeling and history.

The second movement—andante cantibelc—is a most melodious, impassioned romanza. Hunecker in his "Mezzotions in Modern Music" writes: "it is the very apotheosis of a night of nightingales, soft and seldom footed dells, a soft moon and dreaming tree-leaves.'

The third movement is a "valse' instead of the usual "scherzo"—a sorrowful jesting, quite in the Russion style.

In the last movement the veil seems lifted, the world weariness has fled, and a bolsterous Cossack dance is ushered in by a vigorous theme in the strings. Fiddles rush and cymbals clash; the whole movement is escuberant and at times frenzied in character. Such is a short outline of this great composition—one of the distinct features of the Spring Festival of Music.

The corps takes part in practice drills, makes its own camp, does stretcher work, and otherwise gets practical training for the regular service. When enlisting, the women accepted by the recruiting officer receive the king's shilling, which binds the bargain and makes them legally obliged to serve as part of the military establishment of the United Kingdom.

The National Women's Congress held in Berlin, Germany, last March, succeeded beyond all expectations. More than half a million people paid admission and total profits amounted to over 160,000 marks. Woman's suffrage was conceded to be the most absorbing topic of the many discussed and was presented by the veteran suffragist of Germany, Frau Minna Cauer, to whom a great ovation was given at the close of the meeting.

LEM'S BOY

By E. A. F.

"Lem's boy was scuddin' under bare poles when he come off the boat last night," said the postmaster from behind the small window designed for the distribution of mail.

"I wasn't down to the wharf," said Capt. Fenn, who was quietly meditating before the air-tight stove. It was a mild day in spring, but the captain was a man of habit, and he came every day before mail time to toast his legs by the cold chimney in his customary winter attitude. "I heard some one say he was meager clad."

"Not to say exactly meager, but pecul'ar," said the man at the window. "He hadn't any overcoat, and he was wearing one of them swaller tail coats and a tall shiny hat, but the thing that caused remark was his feet. He had on carpet slippers."

"Sho, now, I should a' thought he'd looked like a circus feller," said Captain Fenn, opening the stove door from force of habit and gazing into its sooty interior. "I don't know what could bring a man twenty miles on a steamboat in carpet slippers, blessed if I do."

"Nobody can figure it out. My guess is that the police was tother side of the gangplank," said the postmaster.

"Well, it looks kind of mysterious. Course, if a man come out of a camp in the woods kind of unprepared, you might say 'twas b'ars, an' if he come out of his own house on the run you might think, though you would be careful not to say, 'twas high-tempered pettycuts, but to come down here from civilization without takin' time to shift—well, it certain does look like doin's with the constabulary force. Did Lem 'pear to expect him?"

"'Bout as much as I expect nomination for gov'nor, an' he appeared to like his comin' 'bout as well as he would like a toad pie. The chore boy says he sighted him comin' and flew to the fore door an' got him in out of the way as quick as he could."

Capt. Fenn meditated. "I can seem to see reason in the tall hat," he said at last. "Lots of boys that go up to their city schools get a tarnation much in their heads that it takes a box hat to keep it from spillin', but I'm sure beat on the slippers.

"I guess the Godey's Ladies' Book would have some work to explain the style," said the postmaster, coming round the counter and reaching the door just as the lumbering stage coach lurched up to the steps. The driver threw out a heavy leather bag, which was deftly caught. The little store began to fill, and the postmaster behind the opaque glass could be dimly seen and flagrantly commented upon as he leisurely distributed the mail to the various boxes. In a few moments the window was thrown up, and he appeared in his official capacity. When the mail had been given out and only Capt. Fenn was left, the postmaster again leaned out and whispered: "Lem's boy has got a whole lot of mail."

Capt. Fenn came heavily to his feet and shuffled across the room. He allowed his eyes to run somewhat eagerly around the inner counter, and in doing his attention was caught by a postal card, face down. At the same moment both men read upon it: "No one suspects. Great work. Will bring down togs tomorrow night." The eyes of the men met and held, and the long hand of the postmaster covered the card. "By accident," he said, "we have read that card an' we must remember we are tamperin' with the sacred rights of the United States mail. Sense I been in office I never so much as showed the bottom of a postage stamp to anybody. U. S. M. is embroidered on my conscience. But sence we did see it what have you got to say?"

"Don't look to me as though Lem was studyin' his brains out," was the answer.

"Brains? Is he provided for dead sure? I question that when I think of them bow ties on his shoes that he wore last summer."

"It does seem to me bow ties is easier explained than carpet slippers. Do you think we better let on to Lem? This 'ere postal sounds kind of suspicious to me. Poor Lem. He's ter'ble fond of young Lemuel."

"I'm for goin' up to Lem's and talkin' it over."

"Let's wait an' see what kind of a pusson comes on the bo't," said Fenn. "I'll go up to the wharf an' take a good look around."

In the full glory of the sunset hour the little steamer frothed its irregular way between the islands, and as usual a crowd of young people of the town came in eager troups to see the arrivals. Among them came young Lem, wearing a pair of his father's heavy cowhide shoes, much to the merriment of two young girls, one dangling from each arm. Capt. Fenn, leaning against the corner of the freight house, was forced to admit that he looked little like a criminal as one could wish. As the gangplank struck the wharf a lusty "Rah! rah! rah!" sounded from the upper deck and was gally answered from the shore.

"Brazen as brass kittles," said the man by the freight house. Although the self appointed detective kept his eye open with suspicious intent he saw nothing to smack of secrecy. The young man who came stalking down the wharf carried a suit case and despite his handicap, relieved Lem of one of his companions with ease and grace.

"Lucy Pettycuts," exclaimed Capt. Fenn, as he stumbled away in the twilight to report to his friend, detained at the store by his government duty. Since the arrival of the so-called prodigal in his strange attire gossip had been rife. The town was somewhat divided in opinions as to whether to send a committee to wait upon their neighbor and offer sympathy. "Nandy" Judd was the only dissenting voice that dared vehemently disagree. He thought that sympathy was based upon a desire for information and that condemnation should wait upon confirmat'on. He spoke with effort, because his asthma assailed him when over-excited. He wheezed a sort of derision at the men sittin' on the "deacon's seat," as the settee behind the stove was called. "You are getting to be worse than a parcel of women," he wheezed. "Tarnation old gossips. It takes more than a pair of carpet slippers to upset my opinion of Lem's boy."

One morning some days later the father of the much discussed student joined the group round the stove. He broke the silence and awkwardness at once with the subject dear to his heart. "Lem has tuk one of them scholarships up to his school. Beats all how that boy gets his marks." Not a muscle relaxed in the faces round the stove. The speaker shifted his ground. "Capt. Fenn, if you ain't disposed of that tackle you had last spring I'll go down and take a look at it," he said.

"Well, I ain't done nothin' about it," said the man. "You allowed you wasn't able to afford to pay for it."

"Well, you see Lem's scholarship has let up on me a little," said the father taking a newspaper from his pocket and passing it into the group. "You see it tells there." Every man present crowded up and read the item in silence. The little town could not be accused of honoring its prophets. Capt. Fenn was more venturesome than the others. It was his habit to rush in where angels showed less courage.

"In that case," he said, deliberately, "perhaps young Lem can manage to git hisself a pair of shoes an' come a bit nearer to the style. When he come down here tother night he was rigged a good deal like a man leaving in a hurry." The small window beyond opened quietly, and they knew another listener had been added to their number. "Haw haw!" laughed the father. "Lem did play it on 'em up to his school. You see, he is president of his club or something, and they was to give a dinner. The other set was bound to break it up—regular school nonsense—an' when Lem was dressin' they come in an' stole him, an' just let him have only what he come down here in. They put him into a hack, and somehow in the skirmish he got away from 'em, an' as he was near the boat an' 'twas just startin' time, he come off down here. He stayed here in hidin' a while, an' then he had a proper plan for gettin' back just in time for the dinner tother night."

While he was talking he had moved toward the door. Capt. Fenn followed after. "And if you are coming along, Fenn," he added, "I'll take another look at that tackle." There was silence in the room, broken only by Handy Judd's asthmatic merriment. Turning back from the door he whistled, "Skunked, ain't ye?"

Two Good Fairies

By MRS. GEORGE B. WINTHROP

Energy and application are the good fairies of most successful lives. One of the most fortunate women in Europe attributes all her prosperity to the fact that she never puts off till tomorrow anything that can be done today; for often more time is wasted over thinking about the difficulties of a task than in accomplishing it.

Once it is resolutely tackled the obstacles have an astonishing way of disappearing. Whether it be in the home or in the place of business, the woman who cultivates the simple plan of doing the thing that is waiting at hand to be done is invariably the one who not only finds she has the most leisure, but also the one who accomplishes the most work.

C. M. KING GIVEN GREAT TRIBUTE

Deer River People Honor Their Fellow Townsman in Notable Manner.

Deer River, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.) — The reception and banquet given last evening in honor of C. M. King and to celebrate the favorable decision of the constitutionality on the Elwell law by the supreme court was one of the finest affairs of the kind ever held in Itasca county, epoch marking in the history of Deer River.

The reception was held in the auditorium of the M. E. church, and long before the appointed hour the church was filled to standing room. The Grand Rapids band, which had been secured for the occasion, played several numbers about town, and at 8 o'clock went to the residence of Mr. King and serenaded him, after which Mr. and Mrs. King, President Bried of the village council and C. C. McCarthy of Grand Rapids, who was the chief speaker of the evening, were conveyed to the church from Mr. King's residence by automobile.

The stage was occupied by Mr. King, Mr. McCarthy, Mr. Bried and Rev. Blackhurst, and Mr. Herreld, who presided over the meeting. The program opened with a selection of the band, after which Mayor Bried made a few remarks. Mme. Daix Des Pret of Grand Rapids sang delightfully two solos, and Mr. McCarthy was introduced. Mr. McCarthy's remarks were in a happy, optimistic strain laudatory of Mr. King and his work for the cause of good roads for Northern Minnesota. In conclusion, Mr. McCarthy congratulated Deer River on having so distinguished a citizen as Mr. King and congratulated Mr. King on living in a town that could show its appreciation of good work by providing so well appointed an affair for the purpose as the reception given Mr. King.

CYRUS M. KING.

Rev. Mr. Blackhurst briefly, but most pleasantly, voiced some sentiments on good roads and the appreciation of the good work of Mr. King which just hit the right spot with the audience.

Following Mr. Blackhurst, a delightful piano duet was rendered by Misses Blackhurst and Cook.

Mr. King Is Grateful.

Mr. King, deeply touched by the expressions and the large audience, expressed his thanks for all the kind feeling shown him by his fellow citizens. He touched briefly on the good roads subject, assured the audience that the board of county commissioners would strive to get the greatest possible benefit from the Elwell law for Itasca county, and incidentally did a little "electioneering" for the Dunn good roads amendment which if passed will create four times as much state road money as is now available.

Following the speeches, Chairman Herreid declared that there was the last, but not the least important, number on the program, and producing a splendid leather rocking chair, presented it to Mr. King with the compliments of his neighbors and fellow citizens. Mr. King called on Mrs. King, who was in the audience, to make the speech of acceptance, which she did in a most graceful manner.

Supper was then served in the basement of the church by the M. E. ladies and it was a feast fit for a king as some wit remarked. There were over 300 fed.

Much credit was due to the committee in charge, R. F. Beall, O. E. Hulehan and William Herreld, for the success of the event. The meeting will prove of inestimatable benefit to Deer River in bringing the people together and in harmonizing the community and making it more of a unit for the betterment of the village.

BLACKBERRY DISTRICT VOTES TO CONSOLIDATE.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 28.—The school board has for some time been wrestling with the proposition of supplying adequate school facilities in the township of Blackberry. The Mississippi rover runs through that town, and there is beginning to be settlement through all parts of the town, so that to thoroughly cover the township with school facilities has proven a difficult problem. The people of Blackberry voted on whether to have one small, one-room neighborhood school house, or to get a central consolidated school. The vote resulted in favor of the consolidated school, the people showing their progressiveness by a vote of 20 to 3.

This means that the proposition of a new, probably four-room school building for that section will be put up to the voters of the school district at the next annual school meeting, which will be held July 20 in Grand Rapids.

WARRING AGAINST BLIND-PIG EVIL

Brooklyn Disturbance Has Aroused Hibbing Authorities Again.

Hibbing, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fights attending drinking bouts at the Brooklyn and Kittsville locations Sunday have had the effect of arousing public sentiment and there is to be renewed vigilance in a campaign against the blind-pig evil. At Brooklyn a petition is being circulated asking the passage of a city ordinance which will compel people buying beer or whisky in quantities greater than six gallons in any single week to take out a special license. During the winter the Oliver police made several clean-ups at the Steel corporation locations and the conditions at these properties are much better than formerly, but frequent brawls and broken heads in police court attest the presence of intoxicants in quantities at a number of the other locations about the city. The police announce that extra effort is to be made to apprehend law breakers. Whenever the foreigners celebrate a christening, a holiday of any sort or have any kind of a house warming there is usually a big police court the next morning. Many of these functions develop bouts and brawls, and if conditions do not improve Chief Wring announces that he will appoint a chaperone for all such gatherings.

HIBBING PAVING JOB MUCH SOUGHT

Rivalry Keen Among Contractors to Land Piece of Public Work.

Hibbing, Minn., May 28. — (Special to The Herald.) — Bids for the paving of Second and Third avenues and portions of Center and Cedar streets will be opened at the meeting of the council this evening. It is also probable that the contract will be awarded at this time, although conditions may arise that will postpone the awards until some days later.

Competition for the contract is particularly keen between the representatives of the different paving material manufacturing concerns. The Creosoted Wood Block company, the Bitulithic company and several brick manufacturing concerns have agents on the ground. Public sentiment seems to be quite evenly divided between creosote block and bitulithic, while there is also a good deal of preference for vitrified brick.

Yesterday Mayor Weirick, members of the council and others motored to Virginia, where creosoted wood block and bitulithic have been put in and had an opportunity to see the two materials in service. Property holders and the interested concerns were given a hearing at a special meeting of the council last evening, but no particular kind of paving was designated.

Virginia, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Madrid mine, one of the Coates properties, located within four blocks of the business center of Virginia, is producing ore, about 800 tons having been shipped during the first week it was operated.

Mr. Coates has installed a washing plant on a small scale in the shaft house for the purpose of washing the part of the ore in this mine that is lean and bringing it up to grade.

AFTER TRACHOMA ON IRON RANGES

State Board of Health to Battle With Disease in This Section.

St. Paul, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.) — The state board of health will not concern itself over the prevalence of trachoma among the Indians on the White Earth reservation, the matter being left to the commissioner of Indian affairs.

This was decided upon following a report made by Dr. Taliaferro Clark to the executive committee of the state board. Dr. Clark is an expert sent out by the government to co-operate with the state officials and has just completed an investigation of the prevelence of trachoma in this state, not only among the Indians, but in the public schools.

To Tackle Range Problem.

The board, however, according to Dr. Bracken and members of the committee, will begin a campaign to stamp out the disease in the schools on the iron ranges in the northern part of the state early next fall. Dr. Clark says that while there is a great deal of trachoma among the White Earth Indians, it is rarely communicated to the white people, except where half-breeds attend the white schools.

WOULD AMEND CITY CHARTER

Two Harbors Council Wants Powers of City Enlarged.

Two Harbors, Minn, May 28.—The city council took the first step last night toward the proposed coal yard by passing a resolution asking the charter committee to propose to the citizens of Two Harbors several amendments to the city charter. The principal change which the council wants is one allowing them to go into the coal and wood business, the change wanted being so broad as to allow the city to enter most any commercial business whereby the people of the city could be benefited. In addition to these changes they also ask that a street improvement fund be created to be raised by a tax levy upon the property in the city and the proceeds to be used in improving the streets. They also want the office of city clerk made an elective instead of an appointee. Some objection was expressed to the calling of a special election for this purpose, but this was overcome by the argument that the regular election in November would be too late for the city to attempt starting a coal yard if that part of the proposed amendment carried.

The council also instructed the city attorney to draw a resolution raising the salaries of the chief of police and the chief engineer at the city water and light station. There is some question as to the resolution passing, however, since there has been some objection to granting the engineer the raise asked.

WET WEATHER IS HURTING MINING

Hibbing, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The continued wet weather is an obstacle to a number of the mining companies, as well as contractors and builders in Hibbing. Following a rain storm Sunday night that bordered on a cludburst in some of the open pit mines yesterday the water stood to a depth of several inches and in some places pumps were started to get the ground in condition to work. There is also said to be an abundance of water in some of the underground properties. Basements in the business district were flooded yesterday morning and the country roads are in a condition well night impassable. Automobile parties bring reports that the roads between this section and the western end of the range where the precipitation seems to have been heavier than in Hibbing are a sea of mud and to negotiate some of the spots is hazardous with any kind of a machine.

DEATH CHEATS PARENTS.

They Hurried in Vain Many Miles to Doctor With Child.

Hibbing, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.) — A tragedy of pioneer and frontier life closed here yesterday at the Hibbing cemetery when Rev. J. B. A. Idstrom pronounced the last rites for the 3-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. John Peavolo, Bear River settlers. They live remote from a physician and when their child was taken ill last Friday they harnessed up a team and hurried toward Chisholm, twenty-eight miles distant, hoping to find medical treatment for the little one, who was suffering from spinal meningitis. They reached there after a hard drive and hastened to the hospital but the child died in convulsions soon after entering the place. The body was brought here for burial and the bereaved parents returned yesterday afternoon to their home in the newly settled section.

The funeral of Alfred Benson, 20 years old, who died Saturday at a Duluth hospital, following a surgical operation undertaken as a last resort for a tubercular affection of the neck, was held yesterday from the Swedish Lutheran church. Rev. J. B. A. Idstrom officiating. Interment was in the Hibbing cemetery.

ADOPTS NEW RULES.

Two Harbors City Ball League Corrects Some Defects.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the city baseball managers at the Y. M. C. A. last night the following officials were elected for the 1912 season: W. B. Woodward, president; E. W. Conliff, Sr., vice president; O. G. Elben, secretary and treasurer.

Besides electing officers a code of rules to govern the league was adopted. In past years the league has been more or less weak in this particular department, and it is the aim of the new directors to avoid future trouble owing to unsound rules. This season if the new rules are recognized by each team the new officials are firm in their belief that the coming season will be a successful one.

The following are some of the more important rulings which were adopted: Each team will be allowed to sign fifteen men; managers will be allowed to sign temporary men on grounds in case of shortage, providing it is agreeable to opposing manager, and in case the opposing manager objects, the team will have to play short handed or forfeit the game; the names of new players must be filed with the secretary on or before 2 o'clock the day of the game in which he is to participate; there will be no restrictions as to the qualifications of players.

The president appointed Secretary O. G. Elbin to act as purchasing agent, and Messrs. Brickley, Lambert and Rose will constitute a committee on grounds.

The league games as scheduled will be played on Monday, Wenesday and Friday of each week, at 6:45 p. m. Each team will play fifteen games.

A farewell party will be given the former league president, J. C. Manville, Thursday night. Mr. Manville leaves June 1 for Boone, Ia., to take charge of the city Y. M. C. A. at that place.

RAIN

The time has come to use plain language about this weather, but it must be done in private. Far be it from anyone to shock sensitive ears with comment. Northeasters are northeasters and fog is fog. Any Duluthian who doesn't know that is ossified. More showers tonight, Mary Ellen, so keep the tan slip-on and the galoshes out of hock.

Beautiful weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 4:19 and it will set at 7:51 this evening, giving fifteen hours and thirty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A disturbance of considerable energy centered over the Upper Mississippi valley has caused light to heavy showers or thunderstorms over the lake region, Upper Mississippi, Red River and Missouri valleys, Alberta and Saskatchewan during the last twenty-four hours. Hot weather continued in Central and Southern states, temperatures averaging about 90 degrees as a rule in those sections Monday, but Abilene, Tex., reported a maximum of 102 degrees. The outlook favors further showers at the Head of the Lakes during today and tonight, probably followed by clearing weather Wednesday."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 28.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Upper Michigan—Unsettled with showers tonight or Wednesday; cooler tonight in central and east portions.

Wisconsin—Unsettled with showers and thunderstorms this afternoon and probably in east and north portion tonight; cooler tonight; Wednesday generally fair with cooler in southeast portion.

Minnesota—Cloudy and cooler tonight with rain in northeast portion; Wednesday fair.

Iowa, North and South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler tonight.

Montana—Fair tonight and Wednesday; cooler in southeast portion tonight.

Upper Lakes: Moderate northeast and easterly winds on Lake Superior; moderate to brisk southerly on Lakes Michigan and Huron, shifting to northwesterly by Wednesday. Thundershowers this afternoon or tonight, Wednesday showers.

President—"Chaplain, what words of Holy Scripture may refer to the navy?"

Chaplain—"They that go down to the sea in ships, that do business in great waters;

"These see the works of the Lord and His wonders in the deep.

"For He commandeth, and raiseth the stormy wind, which lifteth up the waves thereof.

"Then they cry unto the Lord in their trouble, and He bringeth them out of their distress.

"He maketh the storm a calm, so that the waves thereof are still.

"Then are they glad because they be quiet; so He bringeth them into their desired haven.

"Oh, that men would praise the Lord for His goodness, and for His wonderful works to the children of men.' Psalms cvii."

Selection—By chaplain or singing by corps.

"Float calmly over them, O flowers sweet and beautiful.
Emblem of Immortality and undying faith."

The children advance by sections and strew flowers uuon the water.

Then all recite in concert the following lines:

"O, heroes 'neath the ocean wave,
While life is strong and true,
With flags and flowers and hearts that love,
We will remember you."

Commander of post, if present, advances, casts wreath of flowers upon the water, and says:

"Comrades, in the name of countless thousands of the land and sea, who have shared your dangers and endured your sacrifices, this wreath is cast upon the waters that roll above you."

Sons of Veterans advance, casting flowers upon the water, and recite in unison:

"Heroes, who sleep beneath the ocean's wave, we strew these flowers in token that the nation does not forget, and that when danger calls we will remember our brave exemplars."

I was instructed by wire that Santa Monica probably would be chosen in the event he decided to move his home from Pasadena. This decision was not made hastily, but after much correspondence and deliberation.

PANAMA-PACIFIC MEN AT FRENCH CAPITAL.

Paris, May 28.—The Panama-Pacific exposition commissioners, under the leadership of John Hays Hammond, arrived here this morning from Rome. They were later taken by Myron T. Herrick, United States ambassador, and Robert Woods Bliss, secretary of embassy, to the foreign office, where they were presented to Premier Redmond Poincare. A luncheon was given in their honor by the minister of commerce, Fernand David.

Dream Comes True.

Yedora, N. D., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—By following instructions she received in a dream, Mrs. D. F. Olmsted recovered a gold watch which she lost some weeks ago. Mrs. Olmsted dreamed that one of her boarders told her the watch was behind the trunk in her own room, and on awakening she found the lost article in the pocket of a blue riding shirt.

KEPT WET BY WOMEN'S VOTES

Heard Busch Might Close His Sunken Gardens at Pasadena.

Pasadena, Cal., May 28.—The women voters of Pasadena saved this city from going dry, according to final returns received; they flocked to the polls and cast their strength, practically, for the granting of hotel and restaurant licenses in this city, henceforth.

The reason for their activity was the report that if the city went dry Adolphus Busch, the millionaire brewer, would close his famous sunken gardens and move his winter home to Santa Monica. Confirmation of this contemplated action by Mr. Busch has been given by Otto Mathie, the brewer's local secretary, who has charge of his estate here.

"I did not make known Mr. Busch's intentions because of the probable effect on the campaign, said Secretary Mathie. "We wanted to be fair, and did not wish to appear as trying to influence the election. But Mr. Busch felt that if the Prohibitionists won and he was deprived of the right to entertain his friends in his own home in his own way he would no longer care to consider Pasadena as one of his residence places. His grounds immediately would have been closed to the public, although Mr. Busch loves Pasadena, and his greatest pride is in the sunken gardens.

"Ten days ago I first received the word of Mr. Busch's decision regarding the election. Since then I have received several letters and telegrams, the final one telling me to close the gardens the day following the election in event the decision should be dry."

NEW ROW FOR REPUBLICANS

Plan to Change Personnel of National Committee Is Rumored.

Would Oust Penrose, Crane, Lowden, Vorys and Duncan.

Washington, May 28.—Rumors that attempts will be made to seat new national committeemen so they can serve on the Republican committee when it begins the hearing of contest cases in Chicago June 6, have stirred political leaders here more than any recent move in the presidential campaign.

In many states where the Roosevelt victories were pronounced, the delegates chosen to the Chicago convention were instructed to elect new national committeemen. It persistently has been rumored in Washington for some time that efforts will be made by many of these delegations to hold meetings in the near future, elect the new committeemen and demand that they be given seats immediately to take part in the hearing of the contests.

Aimed at Taft Leaders.

If such a movement is started, it will be directed against such members of the national committee as Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, Senator Crane of Massachusetts, Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, Arthur I. Vorys of Ohio and C. E. Duncan of North Carolina, all of whom are friendly to President Taft's candidacy.

The rules of the national committee and the procedure of former conventions are opposed to such action, it is claimed by Taft managers, and many Republican leaders here say that the delegates to the Chicago convention from any state have no legal standing and no authority to elect a national committeeman until their credentials have been passed upon by the existing national committee and later by the credentials committee of the convention.

STORM WIPES OUT SOUTHWEST TOWN

Three Known to Be Dead in Ruins of Skiatook in Oklahoma.

Tulsa, Okla., May 28.—Meager advices received here by telephone from a point near the town of Skiatook, fifteen miles north, say the town practically was wiped out by a storm early today and that three persons are known to have been killed. Many are reported injured. All wires now are down and details of the disaster will not be obtainable until news is received from a relief party that has gone to the scene.

TELLS PUPILS OF BOER WAR

Officer of Canadian Mounted Police Talks in Public Schools.

Serg. Maj. Gustav H. Schoof of the Alberta mounted police, who is in the city for several days on his way to Canada, spoke in several of the public schools this morning of his experiences in Africa during the Boer war. Maj. Schoof also took part in the Mexican uprisings as a soldier-of-fortune.

To the young school children this morning Maj. Schoof also gave a most interesting account of the boy scout movement through the world. Maj. Schoof has organized several companies in different parts of the United States and also organized the only mounted scouts in America. He has about sixty boys in Alberta who are constantly training on their horses, which Maj. Schoof supplied from his own ranch.

Maj. Schoof is now at the head of the boy scouts in Canada. He is closely allied with Col. Baden-Powell organizer of the movement, having fought under him in Africa during the Boer war. He believes that it is the biggest mistake in the world to condemn the movement.

"The Socialists claim that the movement tends to make soldiers of these boys," he said. "That is a most foolish notion to take and hardly worth anyone's thought. We are developing the body and soul of the boy by this work. Is there anything better that could be done for the young boy? The following oath which each boy must take before being allowed in a company shows the purpose of the movement, 'I will do a good deed to man or beast every day of my life.'"

Maj. Schoof warmly praised Theodore Roosevelt as a hunter and soldier. He believes that the present candidate for the Republican nomination is one of the most fearless men in the world.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY FORMALLY OUSTED

St. Paul, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The clerk of the supreme court today entered the writ of ouster removing St. Louis county from jurisdiction over the one-mile strip of land between it and Lake county, which has been in controversy. The supreme court recently held that St. Louis county had no right to spread the land in question on its tax lists, and that it was a part of Lake county.

ROCKEFELLER IS WITNESS

John D. Testifies in Suit Over Waters-Pierce Control.

Story of Scramble for Proxies Is Told By C. T. White.

New York, May 28.—John D. Rockefeller, organizer and former president of the Standard Oil company, took the witness stand here this afternoon in a suit through which the Standard interests seek to obtain control of the Waters-Pierce Oil company.

Proxies of shareholders of the Waters-Pierce Oil company were sought by agents acting directly for John D. Rockefeller to defeat the Pierce faction of the company last February and place Standard Oil interests in the control, according to testimony given yesterday before a commissioner by Charles T. White, secretary of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Mr. White testified that he was instructed by James A. Moffett, vice president of the Standard Oil company to gather proxies in the name of Walter E. Taylor and Michael Vanburen. He said Mr. Moffett told him at the time that he was "acting for Mr. J. D. Rockefeller and other large interests."

Asked No Questions.

Mr. Rockefeller, the witness said, owned one-fourth of the stock of the Waters-Pierce company. Mr. White got Mr. Rockefeller's proxy and those of William Rockefeller, Mr. Moffett, C. M. Pratt, Henry M. Flagler and many others, but of all whom he approached, none asked him for what directors Messrs. Taylor and Vanburen would vote. Vanburen is a son-in-law of John D. Archbald, president of the Standard, Mr. White said, and Taylor was employed in the Standard's legal department.

It was the first time in the history of Standard Oil, Mr. White said, that any official, so far as he knew, had canvassed shareholders of another company for proxies. He knew, he said, that the Pierce and Standard Oil interests were very hostile, and that the proxies he procured, would be used in the annual election last February.

Mr. White was in charge, he said, of the quest for proxies.

Miss Pressnell won against a field nine men, she being the only woman who was able to qualify for the contest. A feature of the contest was the fact that the students had no idea on what subject they were to talk until they had gained the platform. Miss Pressnell is a member of the junior class.

FREIGHT STRIKE ON AT ST. PAUL

Five Hundred Men Quit and Large Percentage Refuse to Go Back.

St. Paul, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Freight handlers and railway clerks numbering 500 quit work in St. Paul and the Midway today and a large percentage did not return at 1 o'clock. The walkout was in obedience to the card circulated yesterday by James Kelly, vice president of the International Freight Handlers' union, ordering a strike.

Just how many of the freight handlers disobeyed the order and returned to work it is impossible to learn this afternoon.

At a meeting last night of the railway freight clerks in the employ of the Minnesota Transfer Railway company, the men voted to abide by their contract with the railroad company, and refused to go on strike.

King Begins Criminal Suit for Libel Against Author of Slander

THE ROYAL FAMILY OF BELGIUM.

King Albert of Belgium has instituted a criminal suit for libel against the originator of a slander which has been in circulation for some weeks and which has as its motive the desire to create the impression that the good looking young king was developing along the lines of his predecessor, King Leopold. The story is that at a garden party the queen surprised the king in the company of a chamberinaid and that the queen shot the woman dead with a revolver. The incident has created a sensation and public opinion is greatly wrought up over the slanders and their authors. This photograph shows the king and queen and their children.

Senator Kern said today he could not say what his reply would be until he consulted als colleagues who also oppose the Illinois senator in the fight for his seat.

TRAIN FIRE IS LAID TO STRIKING FREIGHT MEN.

Chicago, May 28—Fire which destroyed a caboose attached to a wrecking train and damaged three refrigerator cars on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad tracks following the derailment of a box car in the yards of the company this morning, led to an investigation by the police in the belief that the damage might have been caused by striking freight handlers.

The box car was derailed shortly after midnight and the wrecking crew was summoned to replace it. While they were at work the caboose attached to the crane car caught fire.

WEARING OF LIVERY.

Le Journal des Debats: French footmen are rising up in protest against the wearing of livery. Yet it was once considered an ornament, almost a coat of arms.

When the marquis of Genlis found that one of his servants was a poisoner, instead of delivering him up to justice, he gave him notice, after having had him ceremoniously unfrocked. "Burn that suit," was his order; "no servant would care to wear it after him."

In those times the servants' hall jealously kept up a certain table of precedence, headed by the chaplain and descending to the footmen, who "were expected to do obeisance to the principal domestics." The Duchess de Rohan was given a little lesson in this table by one of her footmen. Coming back from a walk, she exclaimed, "I'm dying of hunger! Quick, bring me something to eat!"

A footman was present, but he only knit his brows. Not an inch did he stir. The duchess reiterated her command angrily. The footman stood as still as a statue. Finally he uttered these words with the solemnity of a judge: "The steward is not here." He knew his duty; the duchess had forgotten hers. She had to continue dying of hunger, as her steward was not present.

After dressing their master in the morning the valets found time hanging heavily on their hands, wherefore Abbe Fleury in 1688 advised them to study mathematics, music, drawing and surgery in their leisure moments. He considered that such pursuits were quite as congenial to their profession as the arts of hairdressing, tailoring and upholstering.

Tirewomen, observed the good abbe, should refrain from decorating the hair of their mistress more than they were positively ordered to. Besides this "let them avoid balls, comedies and especially the opera, if they are not obliged to accompany their mistress there; and if she does compel them to attend, and that often, let them not stay long in her service."

Valets and maids were not always content to wait for the castoff clothing of their masters and mistresses and sometimes anticipated the event. They felt that they made part of the family and were entitled to take the initiative. So it was that Abbe Fusee, thinking in 1775 that he was approaching the end of his life, had a leaden coffin brought into his room and then said to his valet: "Here is my last coat. I hope it will not enter your head to rob me of this one."

THE HOTEL VALET.

New York Sun: Every hotel of importance has nowadays a valet service for the comfort and convenience of such guests as may desire to avail themselves of it. In some instances this service is maintained by the hotel itself; in one case there is a valet on every floor to dust and press clothes, but the common practice is for the hotel to let to a tailor and cleaner space in the hotel in which he establishes himself, to become the hotel valet. He is prepared to clean, press, repair, make alterations, do any work that may be required on the garments of men or women.

The hotel valet prepares a price list for the work he does and this price list, when approved by the management, may be, in printed form, inconspicuously displayed in the hotel, as at the telephone booths. Charges for the work done are not made directly to the guest, but are sent to the hotel office, where they are charged to the guest's account and on collection turned over to the valet. The work done for men includes not only sponging and pressing clothing, but also the blocking and ironing of hats; and the work done for women includes, besides the sponging and pressing of suits, skirts and coats, the pressing of evening gowns and the cleaning of gloves of all sorts, colored as well as white.

Other work done by the hotel valet consist in unpacking and in packing trunks. He will, if that is desired, unpack the trunks of arriving guests and hang garments in the closets, or he will pack trunks for departing guests.

Most hotel valets confine their work to a single hotel, but some attend to more than one. There is one hotel valet concern that attends to the work of the guests of four hotels, having a work room in each.

In almost all large apartment houses and apartment homes also there is now maintained a valet service. In most cases the work is done by the management of the house, by its own employes, but in some cases space is let to a cleaner, presser and tailor who does the valet service for the guests. In some cases in apartment houses, cleaning, pressing and other work to be done is under the direction of the management, collected by the bellboys and taken to an outside tailor selected for the work.

WHERE IT IS LAWFUL TO STEAL WIVES.

Wide World: From the time that a Bedouin is 18 years of age until he dies of old age he is more or less looking out for new wives. By law Mohammedans are never allowed to have more than four at the same time, but they easily evade this regulation by divorcing one, which simply means sending her back to her parents. This is often because she has borne him no sons. So it happens that the old sheikhs almost always have young wives. It is considered effeminate for a man to show the least affection towards his wives, at least openly. One of the young sheikhs of the Adwans, Mouthafy, who recently lost his young and only wife, acknowledged to be the prettiest girl in the tribe, shed tears at her grave. For this he was much laughed at by his companions, who said, "If a man's wife die he can easily procure himself another." But for a deceased father, brother, or even a mother, they think it does not show weakness to mourn, because from where could he get another? This seeming indifference to women has undoubtedly grown out of the false idea the men entertain that to express appreciation of them would be weak and unmanly. From personal observation I know that the Bedouins, in private, treat their wives with more consideration than is generally shown among Orientals, especially so if they have borne sons. Bedouin women can go about alone and no one dare molest them on pain of death. Immorality is scarcely known among them, for should a girl go wrong her own relatives would put her to death. European women are not likely to be subjected to any indignity at the hands of these roving sons of the desert.

We treat our patients generously and fair, carefully studying each individual case in order to bring about as speedy a cure as possible, and at the same time a permanent one, effectually eradicating all reflex complications.

Specific Blood Poison

This most hideous of all venereal diseases can no longer be classed as incurable. The idea that the limit or medical aid is to keep the disease dormant by persistently dosing the system with mineral poisons is as incorrect as many other ancient theories to which many of the profession cling. Such treatment not infrequently results in the virus being driven deeper into the system, where it attacks and destroys even the very bones of the sufferer. Our cure is thorough and the disease vanishes forever. We use harmless blood cleansing remedies heretofore unknown in the treatment of this disease.

HIS SILVER ANNIVERSARY

Rev. Father Daniel Lynch Will Celebrate Jubilee June 23.

Was Pioneer in Priesthood of Church in Northern Minnesota.

Rev. Father Daniel W. Lynch, pastor of St. James Catholic church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Kinnear place, will celebrate his silver jubilee, the twenty-fifth anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood, Sunday, June 23.

The principal ceremony of the celebration will be a solemn high mass to be celebrated in St. James' church at 10:30 a. m. on the anniversary, with Father Lynch as celebrant. He has invited to join with him in the celebration, Rev. Father Lamothe of Little Falls and Rev. Father Carey of Red Wing, who were ordained with Father Lynch twenty-five years ago. They will be deacon and sub-deacon of the mass if they are able to come to Duluth.

Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, bishop of Duluth, will preach the sermon, Rev. Father H. A. Floyd, pastor of Sacred Heart cathedral, will be presbytery assistant at the solemn high mass, and the masters of ceremonies will be Rev. Father Begley, assistant at St. James', and Rev. Father Hogan of Hibbing.

A great many other church dignitaries and priests from Wisconsin and Minnesota will be in West Duluth to join with Father Lynch in the celebration. After the solemn high mass, they will be entertained at a banquet at St. James' parsonage, at which the felicitations of his brother priests and spiritual superiors will be extended to the West Duluth pastor.

The people of St. James' parish, to whom Father Lynch has become greatly endeared during the six years of his pastorate, will take part in the celebration, by attendance at the mass and at a reception, which will immediately follow. A presentation of a remembrance of the occasion will be made by the parishioners at the reception.

Pioneer Priest.

Father Lynch is a pioneer in the priesthood of the Catholic church in Northern Minnesota. He was born near Madison, Wis., Dec. 3, 1861, and took his course in theology at St. John's university, at Collegeville, near St. Cloud. He was ordained at the college on June 23, 1887.

The young priest's first charge was Hinckley and Pine City. He alternated Sundays between the two places and during the week visited mission charges in Pine county and in parts of Carlton, Kanabec and Mille Lacs counties. In the territory which he covered at that time, there are now five resident priests, at Sturgeon Lake, Sandstone, Hinckley, Pine City and Mora.

Father Lynch remained in his Pine county charge nearly five years, and on April 6, 1892, went to Brainerd, where the greater part of his twenty-five years of the priesthood was spent. He had besides Brainerd, mission charge of all of Crow Wing county, a territory in which four resident priests are now located. They are Father O'Mahoney and Father Crean at Brainerd, Father Lamy at St. Matthias and Father Quillien at Deerwood.

Father Lynch's pastorate at Brainerd was such that his transfer to West Duluth in 1906 was a cause of sincere regret among his former parishioners. He built a church and parsonage at Brainerd and built up a strong, flourishing parish. His work in the mission field was the forerunner of the location of priests to care for the ever-increasing flocks.

Father Lynch came to West Duluth on Aug. 12, 1906. He found the parish in debt to the extent of $15,000 and one of his first works was to clear that away. The church is now entirely out of debt and improvements to the extent of $5,000 have been made during his pastorate. The parish has grown during the past six years so that Father Lynch now requires an assistant to administer to it.

Father Lynch is a democratic, broad-minded churchman, who is popular among non-Catholics as well as Catholics in West Duluth. He takes a lively interest in secular as well as ecclesiastical affairs and his counsel is often sought in civic matters. His silver jubilee is an important event in his life and his non-Catholic friends will join with his parishioners in extending their felicitations on the completion of a quarter of a century of arduous effort in the work to which he was ordained.

RICH HAUL FOR THIEVES

Burglars Got Away With $465 From Safe in Saloon.

Evidently Knew Combination —Proprietors Were Away on Fishing Trip.

Exactly $465 was stolen from the safe of the saloon owned by James J. Fortune at 306 Central avenue some time between midnight Saturday and 6 o'clock yesterday morning. The thieves broke into the building by prying open the basement door and then walking upstairs to the saloon.

The robbery was discovered by Mr. Fortune, Joseph Gauthier, Paddy Lee, C. Winners and J. Smith, all of whom returned early yesterday morning from a fishing trip over Sunday. They discovered the basement door broken down and the loss of the money a few minutes later. The thieves did not break open the safe, but apparently knew the combination, which is now puzzling the police.

The robbery was reported to the police late yesterday morning, but the entire matter was kept quiet so that the possible clues could be followed up without any detection. A Herald reporter learned of the matter this morning and obtained the information through Mr. Fortune. The other members of the party could not be found. Mr. Gauthier is a partner with Mr. Fortune.

Just how the thieves knew the combination of the safe is a puzzle to Mr. Fortune. In speaking of the affair this morning he said that only he and Mr. Gauthier know the combination. The matter has been reported to the local police and Lieut. Wilcox is now working on the case. Of the $465 stolen, nearly $100 was in checks, which may possibly lead to the detection of the thieves, if they are cashed at any of the local banks.

The two proprietors of the store and their friends left a few minutes before midnight on a fishing trip a few miles out of the city. They were gone all day Sunday. The robbery could either have been committed Saturday or Sunday night. The thieves broke a large storm door in the basement and then pried open the entrance to the building.

Just how many took part in the robbery is a puzzle, but it is the belief that there were at least two thieves.

DULUTH POORLY REPRESENTED

Few Business Men Attend County Club Meeting at Chisholm.

The County club is holding a meeting at Chisholm today for the consideration of matters affecting the city and town affairs of the county.

Duluth is not well represented. In fact, the representation consists of only two or three men, although several others will be on hand for the closing session tonight. J. H. Hearding, president of the club, arrived in Duluth from Chicago this morning and will go to Chisholm this afternoon. He will be accompanied by several others.

Efforts to make up a big party representing the Duluth business interests failed. The first trade excursion of the year will be held for three days, beginning June 11, and will take about 150 Duluthians over both ranges. The business men felt that they could not give the time to a trip to Chisholm now in view of the fact that they would make a more extended trip over the ranges in about two weeks.

PLEADS GUILTY TO LESSER CHARGE.

Mane Pupavich, an Austrian, who figured in a cutting affair in front of a West Superior street restaurant on May 1, pleaded guilty to second degree assault before Judge Dancer this morning. He will be sentenced later.

Pupavich was indicted on two counts, each charging assault, first degree. The cases involved the same affray, but the complaining witnesses were different. The prisoner was allowed to withdraw his plea of not guilty to first degree assault and plead guilty to the lesser offense. The indictments against him were then dismissed.

The police say that Pupavich assailed a man whom he thought was making fun at his manner of eating. Pupavich followed the man from the Boston lunch, and when they were outside a fist fight started. A bystander stepped in to separate the pair and Pupavich is said to have drawn a knife, cutting him on the cheek and hand.

BARGE CRASHES INTO STEAMER

Frontenac Runs Into Marquette With Hole Through Her Hull.

Marquette, Mich., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The barge Chattanooga, coal laden, crashed into her steamer, the Frontenac, without cargo, in Lake Superior last evening and tore a big hole in the Frontenac's side. The boats arrived here this morning. Only the fact that the hole is above the water line kept the Frontenac afloat. Repairs are being made here, after which the vessel will go into dry dock at Superior.

Reports of Danger to Wheat Crops Sends the Prices Higher.

Duluth May Flaxseed Takes Another Sensational Upward Flight.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 28.—Continued reports of hot, dry windy weather in the hard winter wheat region of the Southwest sent prices soaring today on the North American markets. Duluth July wheat closed today at a gain of 1½c. Duluth cash wheat closed 1c over July. Durum closed 1c higher and oats ½c off. Rye and barley closed unchanged. Duluth May flax closed at a bulge of 9c, but July was only ½c higher at the close.

The morning started out to be somewhat bearish in the wheat markets of North America. This was owing mainly to bearish news that came from across the Atlantic. Liverpool wheat closed ⅝@1d lower. The main bearish factors were the heavy world shipments, the large increase in the amount of wheat on passage to the United Kingdom, heavy and cheaper Manitoba offers, the pressure of Platte offers for sale, the increase in the European visible supply of wheat and the generally satisfactory condition of the European crops.

The bearish feeling on the markets of North America, however, did not last. There were sensational reports of damage to the crops in Kansas, Nebraska and elsewhere in the Southwest by hot, dry winds. Rain is badly wanted in many parts of the Southwest. Moreover, there were reports of an excess of rain in some parts of North Dakota. It was reported that in some places wheat would have to be seeded over again, having been drowned out.

Duluth July wheat, which closed yesterday at $1.14⅛, opened today at $1.13⅞ bid, and at noon was selling at $1.15¾@1.15⅞. Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg wheat at noon today were also considerable higher.

Flaxseed Shoots Upward.

Flaxseed on the Duluth market today presented a most remarkable spectacle. Notwithstanding the big bulge it made yesterday, today before noon it had made a still larger bulge right on top of yesterday's rise. Shorts were thoroughly alarmed and there was a rush to cover within the few days there are left of May. Duluth May flax broke away from all influence by the Winnipeg market. It is now too late to bring any Canadian flax to relieve the Duluth May option and this the holders of that option well know. It is hard now even to get the flax off the car and into the elevators in time to satisfy the May option. Hence the bulge. Duluth May flax at noon today was 9 cents up at $2.53 bid. July went up in sympathy, being up 4½ cents at noon at $2.28 asked. At noon today Winnipeg May was up ¾ cents at $2.00½, and Winnipeg July stood at $1.98. Buenos Ayres June closed last night 4 cents higher at $1.32½, and London Calcutta May and June closed today 5½ cents up at $2.3.5½.

Comstock, Minn., wires: "We were just talking to a farmer from the North Dakota side west of the river. He says they are having too much rain. They had a very heavy rain Sunday night and also some last night. This is true of our own vicinity, although we have higher land. We can't stand much more rain or there will be lots of flooded fields. The weather is cloudy and cold. We need warmer weather with sunshine."

The following is from Grand Forks —"We had Fairdale, N. D., on the 'phone yesterday. They have had an excessive amount of rain along the Soo line and the acreage of wheat has been radically cut down. The same holds true of the country from Fairdale to Park River and Osnabrock. Farmers are putting in oats and barley instead. The ground has been so wet that it has been impossible to use tractors for plowing. This is fine country and they usually have a big acreage of wheat."

Houston wired from Kansas City—"We have no rain and no indications of rain. Dry and windy is the whole story. Serious damage has been done already and marked injury is being added each day."

Canadian visible—Wheat, this week, 16,030,000 bu; last week, 16,117,000 bu; last year, 6,384,000 bu. Oats this week, 6,699,000 bu; last week, 6,498,000 bu; last year, 6,227,000 bu. Barley, this week, 839,000 bu; last week, 845,000 bu; last year, 414,000 bu.

Minneapolis indemnities: July puts, $1.12⅞@1.13 bid; calls, $1.14½ asked.

American primaries: Wheat receipts today, 334,000 bu; week ago, 360,000 bu; year ago, holiday; wheat shipments, today, 566,000 bu; corn receipts, today, 383,000 bu; shipments today, 309,000 bu.

Broomhall today reported that the world's visible wheat supply had decreased 684,000 bu in the last week.

Clearances: Wheat, 407,000 bu; flour, 8,000 bbl; corn, 13,000 bu; oats, 2,000 bu; wheat and flour equal 443,000 bu.

A. M. Clarke of the Winnipeg Grain exchange, who happened to be on the floor of the Duluth Board of Trade today, stated that prospects for a magnificent grain crop in Western Canada were excellent. "There will be an increase in the acreage of wheat, notwithstanding the fact that very little fall plowing was done," said he. "Moreover, there has been quite an excess of rainfall this spring and that, too, has retarded the seeding of wheat. Hence the increase in the wheat acreage will not be what was expected a few months ago. But, for that very reason there will be all the greater increase in the acreage of oats, flax and other grains, and there is little doubt that the total grain yield will far exceed any that we ever before had."

The following was wired by R. W. Snow from Phillipsburg, Kan.: "Wind and blazing sun made yesterday a hard day. Late in the afternoon the dust storm obscured the sky and the wind was still blowing hard last night. There were thunder storms last night fifty miles east of the dry belt. I motored 150 miles today. Rush and Ellis counties with 220,000 acres have gone back rapidly. They show ten points off and are getting worse. Osborne and the south half of Rooks with 350,000 acres are still in splendid shape, but fired spots are showing up on thin uplands and a week more without full relief will ruin the best wheat in Kansas. The north half of Rooks county and all of Phillips county with 180,000 acres, reported a condition of 90 on May 1, but whole fields are fired and the present average is not 60. The situation is critical. Rain was threatening last night.

"I talked with ten towns in Northwest Kansas from Smith Center to Berlin this morning. All report hearty wind and dust storms but no rain. The weather is bright and warm. It is windy again today."

Foreign crop summary:

United Kingdom—The outlook for the wheat crop is fair. Oats and fodder are still in need of more rain.

France, Germany and the low countries—The crop outlook has improved and is now good with the weather seasonable. Supplies of native wheat are light. There are some complaints regarding the German rye crop.

Hungary and Italy—The crop outlook is favorable.

Roumania—The crop outlook is good for beneficial rains have fallen. Arrivals from the interior are light.

Russia—In the southwest the crop outlook is satisfactory with weather favorable. In the southeast the winter crops are suffering from want of rain and warm weather is needed. The outlook is unsatisfactory. In the west and central parts the rye crop is favorable. The spring wheat is backward. It is predicted that the arrivals will show some increase.

India—Prospects for large exports are maintained.

Australia—The drought continues.

Dornbusch of London says: "Recent statements that the Argentine exportable surplus would not exceed, if reach, that of last year receive confirmation from the report of the committee of the Bolsa de Cereales at Buenos Ayres, whose estimate is for only 400,000 tons. Thus far the shipments and stocks at the seaboard account for 290,000 tons."

Allen P. Allensworth, formerly of The Herald, sent the following wire from Bismarck, N. D.: "There has been an inch and a half of rain at Bismarck and two inches at Jamestown. Red river wheat is going back and will be drowned out if this keeps up. The same thing is true along the Great Northern from Devils Lake to Minot. The slope country is fine. The North Dakota acreage is 15 to 20 per cent less than last year."

Le Count wired from Ellis, Kansas City: "In the heavy wheat section in the north central part of the state in the vicinity of Mahska, Belleville and Mankota, wheat is heading and crops need rain very badly, but there has been no rain. There are large brown spots in most fields. In the vicinity of Waukeeny some patches in the fields are burning. Conditions are improving, but the crops needs rain badly. The northern and northwest parts of the state must have rain or wheat will be a failure. We are facing a very serious condition and there are no signs of rain."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Prices Are Depressed on Shipments and Crop News.

Chicago, May 28.—Liberal world shipments and generally favorable crop conditions had a depressing effect today on the price of wheat. Absence of rain in Western Kansas and Nebraska led to a rally, but the effect did not last. Slowness of cash demand counted against the bulls. The opening was the same as last night to ½c down. July started at $1.10½ to $1.10⅞, unchanged to ⅜c lower, rose to $1.11¼@1.11⅜, and then broke to $1.10⅜.

Hot winds in Oklahoma and Texas said to have damaged wheat not in head brought about another upturn, which was hastened by complaints of excessive rain Northwest. The close was nervous at $1.11¼ for July, a net gain of ⅜c.

Although good buying on the part of commission houses made corn recover from initial weakness, the market gave way to the bearish influence of wheat. The leaders in the purchasing turned to the selling side. July opened at last night's level to ½c off as 72c to 75¼c, advanced to 75⅜c and afterward dropped to 74⅜c.

Subsequently the market switched to the upgrade on account of improved shipping demand. The close was steady with July ⅜c net higher at 75⅝c.

Oats followed the course of other grain. Trade reached a fair volume. July started ¼@⅜c to ⅜@½c lower at 50⅜c to 50½c, touched 50¼@50⅜c, swung upward to 51c and later sagged to 50¼c.

The fact that buying was only of a scattered kind eased off the provision market. An increased run of hogs west exerted a similar influence. Initial sales ranged from 5c lower to a shade advance, with September options $18.37½ for pork, $10.75 for lard and $10.32½@10.35 for ribs.

Cash grain: Wheat—No. 2 red, $1.13½@1.14¾; No. 3 red, $1.11¼@1.13; No. 2 hard, $1.13½@1.14¾; No. 3 hard, $1.11½@1.13; No. 1 northern, $1.10@1.12; No. 2 northern, $1.10@1.9; No. 3 northern, $1.10@1.17; No. 2 spring, $1.12@1.18; No. 3 spring, $1.10@1.16; No. 4 spring, $1.04@1.13; velvet chaff, $1.10@$1.15; durum, $1.02@1.10.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., May 28.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: It is evident that the heavy spring demand is over for the season, and the market is gradually assuming summer proportions, and while dealers anticipate a fair call for agricultural horses during June, it will be light compared with the earlier spring months. Railroad contractors will undoubtedly use a good number of horses and mules during the next few weeks. W. H. De Lancey, G. M. Hughes and E. M. Williams, are on the market with carload shipments of general purpose horses. Dealers find ready sale for all the big extra quality draft horses received, but common and blemished classes find few takers. Values follow:

TRADING IS VERY LIGHT

Stock Market Is Visited By Period of Midsummer Dullness.

Many Ordinarily Active Traders Leave Floor Before Session Ends.

New York, May 28.—A 1 point decline in International Paper preferred was the only notable movement at the opening of today's stock market. The movement otherwise was irregular. Moderate gains were recorded by some of the more active issues, including Steel, Reading, Union Pacific and Amalgamated Copper.

The Hill issues, especially Great Northern preferred, were fairly active and strong in the first hour, as also were Lehigh Valley, Harvester and Rubber. Texas company and American Tobacco were heavy. Dealings were at a minimum.

Midsummer dullness affected today's stock market. During the early session nthe volumne of business was of minor proportions. With the exception of Lehigh Valley and Great Northern preferred no stock of speculative importance varied as much as a point and dealings in the specialties were in keeping with the movement elsewhere. Reading again was under pressure.

Bonds were steady.

The market closed steady. Many of the ordinarily active traders left the floor before the session ended and the final dealings were even more uninteresting than is usually the case on a dull day.

GLEANED ALONG THE POLICE RUN

For a complete review—or maybe reminder would be a better term—of about anything that has happened, as well as some things that haven't happened, cast an eagle eye over the dog license book in the city clerk's office.

Pay particular attention to the names. For 'tis to the names that reference is had. They cover about everything in the category. "What's in a name?" Look at the dog license book and see. Up to date but a mere fraction of the canines in our great and growing city have been listed. But "enough is sufficiency." Only the listing of the others would tell the rest of the tale. Imagination couldn't begin to be equal to the task, for a lot of them represent the height of imagination of many owners. And let it be remarked that some of those imaginations do not lack color. Bundles and stacks and bales of comments have been made upon the powers of writers of a certain tinge, which has a particular golden glow, but judging from the cognomens inscribed on the scroll of that special fame synonomized by the dog license book some acme artists have never broken into print. That is, outside of the dog license book.

Look in the dog license book and see. If your temperament is of the nervous kind maybe you'd better take a soothing powder along. If it's of the fidgity type a bottle of smelling salts may suffice. If it's of the phlegmatic sort it's hard to prescribe what would be best after the eagle eye has passed over the list. If the heart is weak or uncertain the best advice would be not to look at it at all.

In the dog license book you will see the names of all persons who have attained fame. It may be that you will find an exception to prove the rule, but a safe rule would be that if the name is not in the dog license book the possessor of the name could not really have done anything of much account. Historical events are recorded in the dog license book. If you desire to post up on current events without losing time, go to the dog license book. Or if you are getting rusty on Biblical lore, to refresh your memory go to the dog license book. "Who are the leading ball players?" did you say. Go to the dog license book and be informed. "And how about the presidential campaign?" did you add? Go to the dog license book and see. "Where did that expression, 'Look in the book and see' come from?" did you query? Go to the dog license book and see. It says "King Dodo." If you want the latest slang, all you've got to do is to go to the dog license book. Should you wish pointers as to the leaders of the theatrical world the dog license book will help you out.

There you'll learn the labels of the most delicious confections; the brand of the old man's favorite brew will be listed—or if he uses the distilled goods, they'll be present — milady's dainty perfume has not been overlooked any more than have the most modern freaks of the feminine fashion; fishermen's joys have not been slighted; the hunters' gems have been mentioned; patent medicines are not lacking; famous jewels have been accorded a proper place; race horses and racing craft of all kinds and descriptions have been duly recorded, and so has most anything of which the brain's gray matter can conceive.

Yet it's only a common, everyday, much-abused, nondescript, plain, ordinary and ornery dog license book. The only virtue with which it is credited is that every time a slip is torn from its voluminous interior it brings the municipality $1.25 for the name of each male dog which is inscribed therein and $5 for that of every female dog. And even millionaires in our beloved city have been heard to speak quite impolitely of that feature—when they owned a dog and had a conscience which would not allow them to dodge the tax collector, or wouldn't, if Duluth had one, as it hasn't. Who are the millionaires with consciences which direct the payment of dog taxes? Look in the dog license book and see.

P. S.—The names of about 'steen dozen dogs were copied from the dog license book but lack of space and other considerations—mostly other considerations, such as fears of some things called to mind by certain entries in the dog license book—prevent their publication as they are actually written.

The police have obtained no clew to the identity of the yeggs who blew the two safes at New Duluth and Gary Sunday night, securing about $550 in cash. The jobs do not appear to have been the work of experts. The tributary territory is being closely watched for suspicious characters but thus far no arrests have been made in connection with the safe crackings. They appear to have been "safe" jobs.

Ole Olssen, proprietor of a saloon at St. Croix avenue and the railroad tracks, was convicted in police court yesterday afternoon of having assaulted Edward Johnson last Friday night. Johnson stated that Olssen led a gang of four men, who knocked him down and robbed him of $18. Olssen was fined $100, with the alternative of three months in the county jail. The court granted a stay of twenty days.

Leo Brennan, 23 years old, was taken to St. Mary's hospital last evening suffering with a broken ankle. He was braking on the D., M. & N., and was injured when the sudden stopping of the freight train on which he was working pitched him to the ground.

Nick Burke was arrested last night on a charge of trespassing on the tracks of the D., M & N. It is asserted that he had been warned to stay away but had failed to do so. He entered a plea of guilty to the charge against him but was given a suspended sentence. He promised to be more careful in the future.

Barta Selva was arrested last night on a charge of trespass. A railroad "fly cop" claims that Selva was trying to break the seal of a box car back of the plant of a local packing plant. Selva pleaded guilty to trespass but denied that he had any intention of entering a box car. The case was set over until this afternoon for a further report.

David Niemi excited the suspicion of a policeman when he was seen roaming about the streets about 4 o'clock this morning. The officer searched him and found a loaded revolver in his pocket. Niemi pleaded guilty to carrying concealed weapons when he was brought into police court this morning. He explained that he was just coming into the city from the woods, and was given his liberty.

Andrew and Bertha Monson were arrested in a rooming house at First avenue east and Superior street last night on charges of being drunk and disorderly. The police say that the woman is immoral. Both pleaded guilty in police court this morning and each got $25 and costs or thirty days in the county jail.

* * *

Emma Star had one of those fighting jags when she was locked up in the women's department at headquarters last night. She tore the frame for the roller towel from its fastenings and smashed the mirror when she caught sight of herself. Whether it was from fright or not is not recorded. She pleaded guilty in police court this morning and got $25 and costs or thirty days in the county jail. The charge against her was being drunk and disorderly.

* * *

Matilda Sareault and Joseph Martel, arrested together late Sunday night, pleaded guilty to disorderly charges in police court yesterday afternoon. Each got a straight sentence of thirty days in the county jail. In the morning the woman's husband pleaded guilty to having been drunk and got a similar sentence. The Sareault children will be taken in charge by the state and placed where they will get better care.

RAILROADS

STRIKERS WORKING AGAIN.

Northern Pacific Section Men at Mandan Back on Job.

Mandan, N. D., May 28.—With the receipt of an order from the offices of the Northern Pacific to grant the demands of the strikers, twenty-five section laborers employed here have decided to return to their work. The strike was the first of its kind on the line. Orders were issued last winter that all section and common laborers of the road purchase their own fuel instead of taking it from the company's supplies. The Italians employed on the section crews out of Mandan had been using old ties for fuel, and when these were sold to an outsider they refused to go to work.

GRAY NEW PRESIDENT.

Chosen to Head Great Northern, Succeeding Louis Hill.

St. Paul, Minn., May 28.—The directors of the Great Northern Railway company met yesterday afternoon and elected Carl R. Gray president, to succeed Louis W. Hill, the change to be effective June 1.

It was said after the meeting that no other action was taken and that there was no further statement to make regarding the reported retirement of James J. Hill from the chairmanship of the board or the report that Louis W. Hill will be the head of the executive committee.

At the meeting were James J. and Louis W. Hill, William H. Dunwoody, R. A. Jackson, R. I. Harrington and Carl R. Gray.

Railroad Personals.

Fred Lyons, traveling passenger agent for the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad, was in the city today.

J. T. McKenny, traveling passenger agent for the Northern Pacific, was calling on local railroad men this morning.

W. G. Mitsch, district passenger agent for the Chicago Great Western, was in the city today.

F. W. Wolterstorff, traveling freight agent for the Burlington spent the day calling on local railroad men. Mr. Woltersorff succeeds A. R. Brown, who was recently transferred to Winnipeg, Man., where he is general agent for the same road.

COLORED MAPS.

The use of color on maps has now been reduced by the best map makers to a logical system. Not very long ago on maps of the United States each state was differentiated from those around it by a covering of color. A line along the boundaries would have answered every purpose and left opportunity to use colors throughout the sheet as part of the scheme of symbols.

Many map colors have now coupled directly from nature, and often those selected are particularly appropriate, as for example, the common use of blues for rainfall maps, the deepening blues of the sea as depths increase, the deepening buffs and browns as the heights of the land augment, the yellow tints for arid and sandy regions, and greens largely used on maps dealing with plant geography.

The map makers of the leading nations are approaching one another more and more nearly in their use of colors, and for public convenience, it is hoped, says a writer in Harper's Magazine, that some day there will be a uniform system of colors in all map symbolism.

The idea of a standard map of the world was first proposed by Prof. Albrecht Penck at the International Geographical congress, Berne, in 1891. He clearly showed the advantages that would result if the nations should co-operate in producing a world map on the comparatively large scale of one-millionth (1-1,000,000), or 15.8 statute miles to an inch. The project was heartily approved by this and later congresses, committees were appointed to promote the movement, and Great Britain, Germany and France began to make maps on the required scale.

Little practical progress, however, was made till after Dr. Gannett reported that the United States government could not publish the sheets he was preparing because no agreement had been reached as to the color scheme and other essential details. No general plan had been adopted for the uniform production of these map sheets. He therefore presented through Dr. Day of Washington a recommendation to the International Geographical congress at Geneva in 1908 to appoint a commission to work out a uniform plan for producing the map.

This plan was prepared by the Geneva congress and it was decided to submit it to a conference of the map making nations, which was accordingly convened by the British government in London in November, 1909. The conference was completely successful, its decisions were final and the map makers of all nations were at last in a position to co-operate in carrying out the plan.

This result involved mutual concessions, but the plan as perfected was heartily and unanimously adopted. Greenwich is to be the initial meridian. The metric scale for distances and for altitude above sea level will be used, but nations not employing metric measurements may add in parentheses their equivalents in miles, feet, versts and so on.

The symbols adopted to represent rivers, rail and other roads, towns, etc., practically include all the conventions used by the United States geological survey on its topographic survey sheets. The Latin alphabet alone will be used and spellings are to be those of the official maps of each country. We shall see Roma, not Rome; Wien, not Vienna; and the rule will discourage the tendency of German map makers to spell the name of the greatest American city "Neu York."

HOW A BEDOUIN CARRIES OFF HIS WIFE.

Wide World Magazine: Just as it is allowable with the Bedouin to steal camels, so the young men may help one another to steal wives from other tribes. For example, notice will be given beforehand by a youth to the parents of the girl that, since she has not yet been asked for, he wants her and is willing to pay such-and-such a price. Only the rich can afford to buy themselves pretty wives, for the price is sometimes considerable. Besides camels, goats, sheep, and clothing, a large sum in money must also be paid. It often happens that the parents of the girl refuse to give her at the price fixed, or declare that they wish to keep her longer or that she is too young. This may continue until the young man is exasperated and will not be put off any longer. He then forms a company of his companions, all mounted and well armed, while he also mounts on camels and horses ten women of his camp. They go secretly to the camp where the girl is, and while the young man and his companions wait with their rifles loaded and ready outside the tent, the women go into the apartment of the harem and bring the girl out by force. It is not allowable for strange men to enter the harem quarters, neither would it be proper for the father of the girl to resist or touch strange women. The women easily overpower the mother and women servants, and, setting the girl on a horse or camel gorgeously decked, they set off homeward with their company. She is then taken to the tent of the young man, who makes a feast, and with this the marriage ceremony is complete.

UNKNOWN LOWER CALIFORNIA.

Scientific American: The interior of Lower California is today nearly blank on our maps and is possibly less well known from a geographical and a geological standpoint than any other region of equal area in North America. The Mexican government has at last begun a thorough exploration of this terra incognita.

During the last autumn the Instituto Geologico equipped four parties, each comprising two geologists, to explore the northern part of the peninsula. The work will be extended to the southern part this year.

ACCOMMODATING.

The Housekeeper: Charles E. Bigelow, the comedian, is almost as bald as he can be. One day at the Lambs club he said to the barber: "I am in a great hurry. Can't you cut my hair with my collar on?"

"Sure I can," said the barber. "I can cut it with your hat on."

ADVERTISING is salesmanship—impersonal in character, yet when carried in evening papers that go directly to the home reading table it carries a force often more effective than the personal salesmanship behind the counter. Every retail merchant should be prepared to meet all demands created by advertising salesmanship. The most of the work of selling is done by the manufacturer. The dealer's selling expense is reduced accordingly.
